Newcomer on council

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Scott Reynolds joined Clarkston City Council this week after a successful campaign, earning 191 votes in last Tuesday's election.

"I was pleased with the results. It shows that hard work, dedication and persistence pay off," said Reynolds, who ran for council for the first time and received 25.92 percent of the vote. "We were able to attract a very diverse group of voters by delivering an open and transparent message."

Three seats were up for a vote in the Nov. 7 election. Incumbent Eric Haven received the most votes, with 197 ballots cast for him, 26.73 percent of the total.

"I appreciate those who voted for me and promise to serve to the best of my ability," Haven said. "As I said in various statements during the election, I will work to serve the community as a whole and preserve the safeguards of our historic city."

Those safeguards include city-hood, good zoning, and the historic district, he said.

"Many stalwart men and women have worked diligently over the years to establish the quality of our community. I will work and encourage others to build upon their solid foundation," Haven said.

Incumbent Jason M. Kneisc was returned to City Council with 174 votes, 23.61 percent.

"When you really dive into the numbers it gets very inter-

Finalists work to make world better

BY JESSICA STEELEY

The life of a National Merit Scholar Finalist differs from student to student, but their academics and extracurriculars ensure one commonality: an involved lifestyle.

Clarkston High School has two finalists this year, seniors Andrew Dimmer and Max Anderson. Out of 50,000 qualifying students, Dimmer and Anderson were chosen as two of the 15,000 finalists.

"It's pretty exciting, it shows the hard work that I've put in at the high school has begun to pay off," Anderson said.

He is currently enrolled in five Advanced Placement (AP) classes, in addition to the five he took in previous years, and is on the Varsity Basketball team. He's also been in Clarkston's Science, Mathematics and Technology (CSMTech) Academy since 8th grade.

"That obviously has really helped me in terms of the math and science portions of these standardized tests and just teaching me in those areas," Anderson explained. "I really like it, I've really enjoyed it."

A score of 1480/1520 qualified Anderson for the merit scholar program. He said his classes prepared him well for the exam material and he prepared with practice PSAT tests as well. He hopes to get accepted at University of Michigan, studying data science.

"Michigan actually offers their data science degree through the engineering department," Anderson said. "I thought that was really interesting, that's what I want to do, so that's why I think Michigan is my top choice, just because they have that specific degree."

Anderson has on occasion been up until 2 a.m. completing school work, and during basketball season he practices for over two hours every weekday after school.

Though he isn't involved in athletics, Dimmer participates in almost everything else. This semester he has three AP classes, two classes in the International Baccalaureate program, and he takes Calculus 3 at Oakland Community College.

He is also president of Business Professionals of America, the National Technical Honors Society and DECA, and an officer of the Optimist Club.

"I'm very excited, this is a great opportunity for me," Dimmer said of being a finalist. He scored a 1500/1520 on the PSAT.

"The summer beforehand I was doing every day basically a practice test or two just to go see the material," he said.

Through his membership in several school organizations, Dimmer is also incredibly active in the community.

"I do a lot of stuff in the community through National Honors Society, National Technical Honors Society, Optimist Club, I usually run our soldier care package project each year, so I've been doing that, I also like volunteering a lot at the local library, I was on their teen advisory board last year," he explained.

Dimmer has yet to decide on a college, but he hopes to find a program involving a mix of Information Technology and Computer Science.

"I'm looking to go to college for a computer science degree and see which direction that takes me," Dimmer said. "Now that I do have more options in terms of being recognized by this National Merit Scholar Program, I think I've got better chances with maybe some larger universities if they still teach the classes I'm looking for."

Dimmer and Anderson are in the running to receive one of 7,500 National Merit Scholarships. Winners will be named in the spring of 2018.

esting," Kneisc said. "For instance, there were 336 total voters, but of those, 268 were undervotes, meaning they only voted for one or two individuals, which definitely points to some divisiveness. Another interesting data point is that only 24 votes separated all four candidates."

Incumbent David Marsh fell short of reelection by one vote, with 173 ballots cast for him, 23.47 percent.

Reynolds' campaign included walking all over the city to meet as many residents as possible.

"It proved to be a great history lesson," he said. "People in our town are very talkative and the notion of being an independent candidate resulted in some very good discussions. I actually think that having made this investment in our town better prepares me for the City Council position that I was elected to. I am looking forward to getting to work."

Discussions about historic preservation and the FOIA lawsuit, especially those led by Mayor Steve Percival, residents like Cory Johnston, and The Clarkston News seemed to resonate with voters, Kneisc said.

"Whether you voted for me or not, I am always open to healthy discussion about the village. The best way to move forward is together," he said.

Election day was a long and cold 13 hour day, but was enjoyable, Reynolds said.

"I really appreciate the people that voted for me. Many came out into the parking lot to meet with me after they had voted," he said. "For those that did not vote for me - I have no issue with that - it's the natural part of our democratic process. As I have stated many times, I ran as an independent meaning I am open to listening to good ideas regardless of who presents them. We may not always agree on every issue but it is my sincere hope that we can always maintain a high level of respect for one another."

Voter turnout in Clarkston was 40.93 percent, with 336 voters participating out of 821 who are registered.

Countywide voter turnout was 19.85 percent, according to the county clerk.

"Voting is taken seriously here - I love it," said city Clerk Sandy Miller.

Junior high heads 'Into the Woods'

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE

Clarkston News Staff Writer

Fairy tales come alive as the Clarkston Junior High School Drama Club presents "Into the Woods," junior version, this Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m.

"It's one of my favorites," said Veronica Trapani, stage manager, about choosing the musical. "It's something different from the realism of 'Annie' last year to something more into the fantasy realm."

The musical centers around different stories including Cinderella, Jack and the Beanstalk, Rapunzel, and Little Red Riding Hood as the characters' lives intertwine.

"They all want to get their wish," said Grace Delasko, who plays Little Red Riding Hood. "Everyone has their own goal and they want or need something."

Brady Stewart's goal as the baker is obtaining certain items to lift a curse off him and his wife made by the witch played by Sierra Bonser.

"My character is kind of a coward for the first half of the play," Stewart explained. "He isn't courageous and kind of dumb. He doesn't know what to do a lot of the time. As the play progresses, he learns how to take control of situations and do things right. He grows as a person."

Bonser explained her character of the witch wants to make herself beautiful.

"I am a self-absorbed, protective mother," she added. "I start out as the ugliest character in the show. I have this motive of becoming beautiful again. I am manipulative to get my wish and get what I want. The story unravels from there."

Little Red Riding Hood is curious about everything, Delasko said about her character.

"She finds everything interesting," she said. "If something gives her a hint you aren't supposed to do it, she doesn't pay attention to it. She just goes and does it anyway."

The cast invites the community out to see the performances and enjoy a night out.

"If you have children and they love fairy tales, they can experience something greater than the fairy tale," Stewart said. "It's magical. It can be interesting to watch."

"I think everyone should come see it,"

Delasko smiled. "It's very fun to act and learn."

Bonser agreed.

"I have really enjoyed getting to know everyone and working with everyone," Bonser added. "I am being exposed to new people and new experiences, and I am really loving it. Also, you can see what our school can provide."

Trapani added "Into the Woods, Jr." is more kids orientated than the other versions.

"For little kids it's definitely a show they can come see," she said. "It's not scary. There may be some jumpy moments."

General admission is $5 per ticket at the door.

Curtains for computer

There's nothing like a dead computer to focus one's priorities.

I kept everything on there, despite the nearly constant advice of just about everyone who knows anything about data management.

The laptop suffered a fall to the floor. It was balanced on the arm of a recliner, but I maintain the incident is mostly due to the actions of a cat named Emma who wanted to rub her face on it. I slowly started to go into shock when I pushed the button to restart it and it didn't.

The button light came on, but nothing appeared on the screen. I drew upon decades of computer experience in formulating a response.

I pushed the button until the light went out. Counted to 10. Then I pushed it again. I might have done this 5-6 or a dozen times until accepting the truth.

The machine was dead. How dead, I didn't quite realize until I took it in for repair and was told the hard drive was probably destroyed.

If it is completely gone, I will have lost more than four years of photos of celebrities, me and celebrities, and fellow comic and anime fans, pictures I took at conventions across the country since 2013.

Also, three years of Clarkston News photos, which I used to burn onto CDs, but stopped because they were much more conveniently located right there on the hard drive.

Six years of my webcomic, Living Room Wars, which is almost to number 600 and counting.

So now my old, battered laptop from the early days of the 2010s has come out of retirement in service to this week's edition. I have to use a thumb drive because anything on the hard drive is immediately lost when it loses power, which it does regularly because it has no battery capacity and its wheezing fan can barely keep it from overheating.

Hopefully by next week my new laptop will be up and running.

It's not all that bad. I uploaded my favorite convention photos to Facebook over the years, and webcomic archives are available on its website. Newspaper photos are on the Sherman Publications servers in Oxford, so I can still get those if needed.

Anyway, heed my tale of woe. Back up your stuff.

Support of Friendly Forest appreciated

Dear Clarkston News,

On behalf of Independence Township Parks, Recreation, and Seniors and our event partner the Clarkston Area Optimist Club, I would like to thank you for your support of the 2017 Friendly Forest.

The event was a huge success, with over 1,070 kids walking through the trail! After the children collected candy from the array of costumed characters, they enjoyed a hay maze, photo stations, wagon rides, train ride, and juice and donuts.

Families had the opportunity to have a meal from the Hero Vs. Villain food truck. Even with so much to offer at this event, we were still able to charge an affordable ticket price that hasn't increased.

This was made possible, in large part, by your sponsorship. Again, thank you for your support and we greatly appreciate your devotion to our programs and this community. Sincerely,

Amy Laboissonniere
Friendly Forest event lead

A call to slow down on Sashabaw Road

Dear Editor,

I travel on Sashabaw Road every day between Waldon and Maybee roads because of my job. Why on earth is the speed limit 50 mph with Pine Knob Elementary located on the street, a hospital, and various businesses?

There is an accident almost every day! Also, even though the speed limit is 50, people speed and do 55 and 60, sometimes higher.

I travel on Ormond Road as well, where we have a 50 mph speed limit.

Something needs to be done? What can be done to change this "death trap" road? Please pass the word to our city managers.

Thank you,

Jennie Coughlin
Independence Township

P.S. I am aware of the 35 mph school speed limit that no one ever observes.

A Look Back

From The CNews archives

15 years ago - 2002

"Birdland up in arms - want to purchase property to stop development" The Concerned Citizens for Independence Township were taking a proactive approach to keep their neighborhood how it was. The group was looking into the option of buying a 25-acre parcel of land, at the northeast corner of Dixie Highway and Maybee Road, to preserve the land.

"The Days of World War II" Veteran Robert Morse, a 81-year-old Clarkston resident, shared his experience and what he learned being in the United States Army during World War II.

"Area seniors are treated to turkey and all the trimmings" For the second consecutive year, Knights of Columbus in Clarkston held a Thanksgiving dinner for 154 area seniors in early November.

25 years ago - 1992

"Wintry weather" Snow made for a wet weekend in downtown Clarkston. Temperatures hovered around 32 degrees as the ground was alternately white with snow or brown with mud. The wind, however, was calm.

"A sign of the times" Alyson McChesney signed her name on plenty of papers at Clarkston High School but her signature on Nov. 10 was extra special as she signed her letter of intent to play basketball at Oakland University following graduation.

"Imagination and music" Sounds of a saxophone softly came from Sherril Bailey's fifth-grade class at Clarkston Elementary where students sat poised with pencils and paper while listening to the music. Their ultimate goal was turning the music into words to express their feelings.

50 years ago - 1967

"Named Jaycee of the month" Art Ripley received the Jaycee of the Month trophy. He had served as co-chairman of the membership orientation and Road Races. He also served as chairman for ladies night.

"Round the town" Ron Gray of Middle Lake Road hosted a party for 24 of his friends. Games ranged from ping pong to bumper pool with refreshments including hot dogs, chips, punch and candy.

"Ancient art process revived by local woman" Mrs. Keith Leak, a Clarkston resident, was making a name for herself with her work on many exquisite pieces which were on display in a Main Street store. She used an art which originated in the 17th century called decoupage.

Their journeys led them to write

Recently, two locals and I communicated about the books they recently published. One, Jim DuFrense, is a veteran writer of travel books; the other, Ann Margaret Johns, is a newbie to the publishing world. Jim likes to hike and be out on the trails, this love has led him to publish 20 books. Ann's journey wasn't so much fun, however it has led her to join the Lowly Scribe's Club.

Welcome Ann!

It's good to hear from you again, Jim!
Now, let's plug your books!

***

"Clarkston's Curse: one child's quest to make sense of the tragedies in her home town," is a work of love based on Ann's recollections of local tragedies — tragic deaths which, when freshly wrote about in the "local paper", (yup, the ever-lovin' Clarkston News) would give her

Don't Rush Me

A column by Don Rush

incomprehensible murders struck residents of this rural community."

Every weekend for four years, Ann would go to the Clarkston Independence District Library and spend about five hours researching the stories she remembered. She poured over Microfilm versions of The Clarkston News to verify her facts.

(I just did some quick math, 52 weeks times four years equals 208 weeks times five hours equals 1,040 hours of research. Yikes.)

Her style is kinda' fresh in its first hand accounting of life in the Clarkston area — how her parents, grandparents, her brother Patrick and friends all lived and played. From Walters Lake where her grandparents lived, to the little farm her folks built on Allen Road, clear on the other side of Independence Township.

Ann is a year older than yours truly, she graduated from Clarkston High School in 1980, and I bounced out CHS' doors in 1981. Many of the stories she writes about I, too, remember. (But apparently, since I was just a testosterone juiced boy, things which happened around me that did not directly involve me, I didn't dwell on long. I think I was still in the "the World revolves around Don" school of thought.)

What was really shocking is the list of headlines in the back of her book — almost five full pages of boy dies, girl drowns, crashes, fires, falls, kidnapping and murder. Wow, we did report on a lot of death.

Ann's book is for sale at Essence on Main, and she is having a signing party at The Gateway on Dec. 9, from 4-7 p.m. If you cannot wait til then to get your hands on a copy of her book, hop on the internet and check out her website, www.AnnMargaretJohns.com/clarkstons-curse. It's an easy read at just over 200 pages.

***

I have written about big Jim DuFrense before and I like his hiking books. The latest release is a 176-page exploration of the Upper Peninsula's Porcupine Mountains Wilderness State Park.

This is actually the 4th edition of the book, but this newer, updated version is pretty sweet because the pictures and maps are in full color. I was geeked.

Jim packed the book with trail information, and attractions for all seasons: hiking, biking, skiing and snowshoeing. If you dig getting out and in the wilds, check out www.MichiganTrailMaps.com. Click on the Books and Guides link for this and other books Jim has written.

***

Thanks for sharing guys. I think these books will make great stocking stuffers. And when I write my book, I will be sure to get you complimentary copies!

Man talked down off downtown roof

A 21-year-old Brandon Township man's brother called the Oakland County Sheriff's Office to inform them his brother was on the roof of a downtown Clarkston Restaurant, feeling suicidal, 11:59 a.m., Nov. 9.

Deputies found the 21-year-old on the roof of the Union Woodshop restaurant, a two-story building. He had climbed a ladder and scaled a locked gate to access the roof.

According to reports, deputies established a rapport with him and got him to climb back down the ladder, where he was checked by Independence Township paramedics and taken to Common Ground for treatment.

Deputies receive extra training in suicide prevention, said Lt. Larry Perry, commander of the Independence Township substation.

"We have two deputies with training in crisis intervention, and both were on the roof," said Lt. Larry Perry, Independence Township substation commander. "We're fortunate to have them. They did a great job, talking him down and getting him some help."

Sheriff's deputies issued 67 citations in September, according to the Independence substation monthly report, including 45 for prohibited parking, eight parking violations, four for impeding traffic, two each for no driver's license on person, speeding, no proof of registration, and defective lights, and a failure to stop and traffic signal infraction. Thirteen warnings were issued.

"As previously communicated, we are stepping up parking enforcement throughout the city," said City Manager Jonathan Smith in his report to City Council, Nov. 13. "Business employees and patrons need to be aware that the 30 minute and two-hour parking limits are being strictly enforced and will result in a $25 ticket. We are also working with the Secretary of State to recover payment for previous unpaid tickets. Lastly, we are seeking a second enforcement officer to patrol evenings and Saturdays."

On to division final four

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston's gridiron heroes overcame a 16-point deficit in the final stanza of their MHSAA Football Division 1 Regional game at Holland West Ottawa. The 29-22 win propels them to the Final Four.

"The ending was just fun. Everybody was out on the field taking pictures with the trophy. It was cool," said Kurt Richardson, long-time head coach for Clarkston Varsity Football. "It was a great fourth quarter. It was a pretty good second half. We didn't play good the first half. I don't know if it was the 2-hour bus drive, but we were kind of flat. Second half, we got it going. Josh Cantu and the offensive line were outstanding."

Cantu scored within the first minute of the final quarter off a 1-yard run. Before West Ottawa could score, Wolf Garrett Joseph recovered a fumble putting Clarkston at the Panther's 15-yard line. Seconds later Cantu would add another 15-yard touchdown run to the board.

Quarterback Nate Uballe followed each touchdown with a 2-point conversion pass to senior Tieler Houston, tying the game 22-22. With just over three minutes left in the game, Cantu scored again on a 29-yard line.

"Anytime Josh is doing well that means the offensive line is too," Richardson explained. "They are the one who really took command of that game."

He added defense turned things around in the second half as well.

"We started putting pressure on the quarterback," he said. "We started flying to the football like we have been doing. We didn't do that in the first half. We were playing real cautious. We caused a couple of turnovers. We did some good things in the second half, the fourth quarter especially."

The Wolves opened the game with a 2-yard touchdown run from Cantu.

"We came out and scored right away, and I thought 'okay, we are good,'" Richardson shared. "Then, we just, I don't know, flat there for a little while. I don't know what the reason was."

The Panthers closed the first quarter taking the lead with a field goal and a touchdown. They scored 12 more points in the second quarter to lead 22-6 at halftime.

Uballe went 8-for-14 in passing for 94 yards with two interceptions. Houston and Zach Scott caught two passes each. Cantu was the leading rusher with 201 yards on 34 carries. Jermaine Roemer was 1-for-2 on PATs with his first attempt blocked.

Scott led defense with six tackles and blocked one of the Panther's PAT attempts. Josh Luther and Anthony Simmons had five tackles each. Gino Paese had four tackles, two with loss of yards for West Ottawa.

"Paese was outstanding," Richardson added. "He was really good at the end. Tieler had a good game."

The Wolves (10-2) play Detroit Catholic Central (8-4) in the MHSAA Division 1 Football Semifinals on Saturday. The last time Clarkston faced DCC was in 2013 when they beat them for the state championship.

"They are big, strong and run orientated," Richardson said. "They are a great program with a rich history. It will be a good game. It will be a good battle."

Kick off is at 1 p.m. at Walled Lake Western, 600 Beck Road, Commerce Township.

Undefeated

The Clarkston Chiefs JV Blue team celebrated the end of their season, winning the Northern Youth Football League Superbowl, Nov. 4.

They finished their undefeated 10-0 season with a 20-12 win over Avondale for the championship win.

During National Division playoffs, they posted two shut outs as they defeated Lapeer in the first round, 26-0; and Lake Orion Green in the second round, 6-0.

It was the last season for coaches Pat Paterscak and Desmond Stephens, who had their first season together in 2013, which ended in a loss in the Superbowl to Oxford Gold. The 2014 and 2015 seasons didn't go as planned, but during the off-seasons players like Desmond Stephens II, Cole Kortman, Jadon Zaviski, Mason McGuire, Caleb Trigalet, Luke Toderan, Landon Chamberlain and Tanner Kupp worked hard to prepare for their final season this year and their last shot for the NYFL title.

The end result was going undefeated with one of the toughest schedules in the league and setting a record for the fewest points allowed in a season. The Chiefs defense only allowed 50 points scored on the JV Blue.

The Clarkston Chiefs JV Blue team is Landon Chamberlain, Evan Day, Zachary Fenton, Trent Greene, Evan Holler, Colin Kortman, Tanner Kupp, Luke Leiendecker, Khyin Leys, Sawyer Maday, Cody Mattson, Christopher Metzler, Mason McGuire, Corey Pittman, Isaiah Rumball, Jason Santiago, Desmond Stephens II, Luke Toderan, Mason Thomson, Caleb Trigalet, Nick Waszczenko, Nash Vanvelzen, and Jadon Zaviski.

Luke Baylis, Frank Piana and Jacob Burkett were named All-League, which was voted on by league coaches. The top 22 players within the league's seven teams earn the award.

Baylis was named to the All-State First team. Piana and Burkett received All-State Honorable Mention. All-State honors are voted on by Coaches Association Board of Directors. The top 25 single players in the state make the first team.

The Wolves finished in ninth place in the MHSAA Division 1 Boys Tennis Finals with nine points.

Burkett finished in second place on Singles No. 3 court. Baylis went 2-1 on Singles No. 1 court; and Piana went 1-1 on Singles No. 2 court. They will be back next fall.

Season ends at regionals

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE

Clarkston News Sports Writer

Spikers battled as they finished their season to Marian in the regional finals last Thursday at Bloomfield Hills High School, 3-0.

"I told them it hurts tonight, but hopefully they will look back on the season and these last couple of weeks," said Clarkston Varsity Volleyball Head Coach Kelly Pinner. "It's been great to coach them all year long."

Marian opened the first game with a two point lead. The Wolves caught up and tied the game before taking the lead with points from Corrin Gualtieri and Abbey Malinowski.

Both teams stayed neck and neck on the scoreboard until Marian took the game, 26-24.

Marian led by 11 points during the second game as the Wolves closed the gap quite a few times and had close saves to keep Marian from scoring before the Mustangs took the game, 25-20.

"It's a testimony to what was mostly seniors out on the floor," Pinner said. "They didn't want it to end. We are a talented team. We were just a little off tonight."

The third game finished the same way as the Mustangs won the game and regional championship, 25-20.

"Marian played an outstanding game," she added. "They brought everything. Lauren Wenzel was hard for us to stop. Their outside hitters were just banging it. Their defense is amazing. We struggled on serving. We never really got anything going offensively. That's not a good combination to win regionals."

Malinowski had 13 kills and Kayla Luchenbach had four blocks and three kills. The Wolves defeated Troy in the regional semifinals on Nov. 7, 3-0; 25-17, 26-24, 25-19.

"Troy is a great team," Pinner said. "They have outside hitter Jessica Robinson. She was hard for us to stop, but we played some great defense. We were able to get an offense going and be able to use Abbey and the other hitters."

Malinowski had 19 kills and two blocks. Claire Nowicki had eight kills and Jennifer Chupinsky had two aces and 15 digs.

"It's obviously disappointing to end your season that way," Pinner said. "As a varsity coach and being part of a varsity team, the girls have to realize you are going to end the season unless you are the one team that wins the state championship."

The team said goodbye to nine seniors: Jennifer Chupinsky, Kayla Daly-Seiler, Corrin Gualtieri, Olivia Johnson, Shaelyn Koleber, Grace Kraft, Kayla Luchenbach, Abbey Malinowski and Kristen Marani.

"We are definitely going to miss those nine seniors," Pinner said. "There was a lot of leadership out of those kids and a lot of experience. They were all around a great group of girls to coach all year."

Wolfpack Update

Clarkston Varsity Hockey defeated Dearborn Unified in their first scrimmage of the season, 8-2, making 26 shots on goal.

The Wolves open the season against Bay City at Bay County Civic Arena on Saturday, 3 p.m. They head to Birmingham Ice Aren for a Thanksgiving Tournament, Nov. 24 and 25. They host their home opener against Farmington at Detroit Skate Club, Nov. 30 at 5:30 p.m.

Swimmers set for states

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Voices sang out from the Clarkston High School natatorium as the girls swim and dive team took a break between laps while preparing for the state championships this Friday and Saturday.

They qualified in 11 events including diving, three relay events and eight individual events.

"It's exciting to take that many athletes," said Coach Amber Miller. "It's a move in the right direction for Clarkston Swimming. Each year we just build a little more - keep building and hopefully not too long from now we are fighting for the state championship."

Sophomore Abby Line qualified for diving, finishing in ninth place at regionals last Thursday with 312.05 points.

They qualified in the 200-yard medley relay, 200-yard freestyle relay and 400-yard freestyle relay.

Senior Ashleigh Allen, junior Caroline Hughes and sophomore Haley VanBuskirk qualified in multiple events throughout the season. They can only compete in two at the state championship and at time of press, the psych sheets weren't available.

Freshman Alexis Moon qualified in the 100-yard breaststroke event during the Oakland County meet.

"It's fun," Miller added about seeing them succeed during the season. "It's nice to see all the hard work pay off. It's been rewarding not only for me but for them and for their parents, who run the meets and are in the stands. To see the success come together feels like a blessing."

Miller has a saying the swimmers followed throughout the season - Give, Live, Be Great.

"It's our theme we introduced," she added Miller explained, for giving, it's looking within themselves on how will they give to their teammates, give to each other, support each other, swim for each other.

"We say there's strength and power in doing something for someone else rather than yourself, far surpasses anything you can do if you are just doing it for your own gain," she added.

For live, how are they going to live what their goals are for each meet and what will they do if things don't go perfectly.

"Are they going to take advantage of every moment they have to train to achieve their goals? Are they going to remain humble in victory? Or are they going to go against what we have talked about and worked for this season," Miller said.

How they choose to be great extends past what they do while in the pool, but also what they do during a meet for their team, parents, and community.

"Being great does not come by simply doing what's required, it's going above and beyond," Miller said, adding they listen to motivation speeches. "It's a long season. These girls practice nine times a week, plus meets and competitions are three days and all day. It's a different beast. It's keeping them inspired through that last push."

Many will continue to swim with their club team after the school season finishes, but the Wolves said goodbye to 10 seniors as they honored them in October.

"It's hard to see them go," Miller said. "It's nice to see Ashleigh close her senior year with the Wayne State University announcement - knowing she is committed to them and see dreams continue. I feel happy for her and her family's accomplishment."

The MHSAA Division 1 Girls Swim and Dive State Championship is at Oakland University. The ticket office and doors open at 9:30 a.m. The swim preliminaries and finals start at 12 p.m. Tickets are $10 each.

Alumni Marine honored for service

BY JESSICA STEELEY
Clarkston News Staff Writer

For ninth grader Sierra Bonser, honoring Veterans Day is personal – her father served in the U.S. Air Force when she was growing up.

“It gave me a personal connection to what all these people are going through,” said the Clarkston Junior High School student. “I understand what it’s like to walk on base and feel safe behind all the wires and all the protection and knowing that you’re with all of these strong people, and you see them go away and you don’t see them for a long time, and that’s really heartbreaking.”

She and her classmates honored veterans, and Clarkston alumni Adam Dickie in particular, with a decorative stone in the Jenna Beno Memorial Courtyard, Nov. 10. The stone, engraved with Dickie’s name and unit decorations, now sits in the rock garden of the courtyard, named after Beno, a Clarkston veteran who passed away in 2012.

“This whole day was incredible, not only for me, but for my family, it’s an honor to be here, to be given this opportunity and that stone by the classmates, words can’t describe. I was actually getting into tears a little bit,” Dickie said.

He served in the Marine Corp for four years and was deployed to Iraq and Afghanistan from 2009-2011. After his time in the service, he earned his Bachelor’s degree from Ferris State and now works as a police officer in Grand Blanc Township.

Bonser and a few classmates spoke about their feelings and experiences with veterans and Veterans Day in the school’s auditorium before the stone’s presentation.

“It’s been kind of hectic, but we pulled it together and set up all of this reception and had students do the speeches,” said ninth grader Caitlyn Pittman.

It was an honor to recognize a veteran and a privilege to have Dickie come to their school, Pittman said.

“There were a lot of people really dedicated to this, so it was really nice, it really came together,” she said.

Bonser, whose father still serves as a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force Reserves, said being able to honor a veteran will be a memoorable moment for her and an experience she can take with her from junior high to high school.

“It was really important to honor a veteran, because they really don’t get enough, and I think it’s important to take time out of our day to just represent them for an hour, just understand what they’re going through and respect what they’re saying and doing for everyone else and for our protection as a country,” she said.

The event was put on by one of Erin Shaw’s ninth grade classes. Dickie also had Shaw as a teacher when he was attending Clarkston schools and he was glad to come back to help out one of her classes.

He first decided to become a Marine because of the events of Sept. 11, 2001.

“I was in eighth grade, in class actually, when the World Trade Center towers had fallen, so ever since then as a young kid I wanted to join the Marine Corp and go overseas and fight for what was right,” Dickie said. “Ever since the towers fell, I wanted to go over there and be a part of getting back at the evil that hit us on that day with the two terror attacks.”

Clarkston Junior High students made a decorative stone in Adam Dickie’s honor.

Events Preaching

Reach beyond ordinary for something more

Recently, we watched as another great tragedy unfolded in a small community outside of San Antonio, Texas.

A crazed man went into a small church and killed 26 men, women, and even children. Who would have imagined you could go to church in the morning and such a tragic event would take place.

Many people will say, "Where is God?" "Why wouldn't God stop this horrible event?"

To those who read the Bible and believe that God is the all-powerful God, there is no doubt that He certainly could have intervened in this situation.

Unfortunately, with regards to this event, and many other circumstances where people have asked where God is, He has not chosen to do so.

However, we can see where God, in His providence, intervened in human history when He sent His Son to reconcile mankind. The center point of the Gospel declares, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

This is an example of God intervening in the affairs of men, to rescue us and to fulfill His divine purpose. Yet, when we read the scriptures, we should understand that when God created man, He created us to have dominion over the works of His hands. This means that He has created us with certain responsibilities, including self-government...leaving many things in our hands.

As the details of the attack came to light, we learned of a heroic neighbor who heard the commotion and got his gun to fend off the intruder, in turn saving many lives.

This exemplifies an unselfish human response; he laid his life on the line for others.

While being interviewed, the man said he was not a hero because he was scared throughout the event.

We often think a hero is someone who is not human. In fact, a hero is a very human person willing to overcome human responses to fulfill an altruistic goal.

This is indeed the fulfillment of God's goal for us, a willingness to overcome the human condition to live a step higher. This step higher takes us into the realm of life that God is calling us to.

Christianity is the call to live a life above what we can live under just our normal circumstances, to the life of extraordinary circumstances.

When we make this choice, God says He will be with us to help us. The Apostle Paul declared, "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me."

This should be the declaration of all Christians. We are not living in an ordinary time, so it will require us to do extraordinary things.

Let's live about our natural inclinations!

This is quite different than the present philosophy of our time. Most of the call today is to bring expectations down to the human condition, rather than to take the human condition to a higher level.

This is promoted as the loving way, where we accept one another for who we are, rather than placing expectations on one another. Throughout human history, we have always understood the need to live above our natural inclinations.

Role modeling for fathers and mothers are a good example of this. Although there is a natural side to both paternal and maternal instincts, many of the actions require self-sacrifice to be fully accomplished.

This does not happen if we only think about what is convenient, or satisfying, for ourselves personally.

Therefore, we need support, as well as guiding encouragement, from others who will motivate us to the life we are called to live.

I have committed myself to the church, because I see the church as a vital and necessary support to live the good life. It is also the place to find the help we have need of, the help of Jesus Christ, who said, "Come to me all you who are weary and I will give you rest, take my yoke upon you, for my yoke is easy and my burden light."

Will you join me in finding the best part of you, through a commitment to seeking Jesus Christ and His transformational power for your life? Let's not settle for selfishness when Christ is calling us forth as heroes, to live selfless for the kingdom of God!

Community grants

Independence Township approved $20,000 for the Public Road Improvement Project—Neighborhood Road Improvement Program. Under this program, neighborhoods can apply for funding from the township for improvements made to their streets.

The township will cover 10 percent of the project's cost, up to $20,000. The Green Acres Neighborhood applied for their road improvement project, which was completed in 2016 by the Road Commission for Oakland County. Township Treasurer Paul Brown said the program applies to neighborhood public roads, and funds are gathered from tickets issued to trucks that are overweight on township roads.
