Florida shooting spurs student to pack knife

BY BRENDA DOMINICK
Clarkston News Staff Writer

A student at Pine Knob Elementary brought a knife to school last Thursday, telling school officials he was scared of school shootings.

"One of our students brought a pocket knife to school for fear of what took place in Florida could happen in our school," Principal Jodi Yeloushan said in a letter to PKE parents and students last week. "Another student was aware and bravely told a teacher.

Quickly and willingly, the student gave the teacher his pocket knife. The student was immediately remorseful and I have no reason to believe there was any intention of injuring another person. In his young mind, he felt he could keep himself and others safe."

Seventeen students and teachers were shot and killed, Feb. 14, at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland, Fla. In the letter, Yeloushan suggested parents take a cautious approach when explaining or informing their child about Florida, as some students were not yet aware of it at the time. She also reminded parents to reach out if their child needs any assistance with coping.

More public comments

A new meetings policy approved by City Council, Feb. 12, allows public comment during discussions as well as comments on non-agenda items at the beginning of meetings.

Council voted unanimously to approve the policy, as set forth in the meetings pamphlet. Mayor Steven Percival said the city's parliamentary training recommended against public comment during council discussions, however.

"It's more orderly," Percival said. "We want everybody to be heard (but) not open debate, open discussion with the public throughout the entire agenda."

The city approved $1,500 for parliamentary training for City Council, Planning Commission, and other city staff and officials this past August.

Council member Susan Wylie, also a member of the Communications Committee, said decorum at meeting is up to the chair and could be easily controlled.

Public comments on non-agenda items at the beginning of the meeting lets speakers leave early, Wylie said.

"It's a disservice to the community to have comments on non-agenda items at the end of the meeting," said Karen Eckert, communications committee member.

The pamphlet as proposed limits public comment to five minutes per person, but the final version approved by council sets it at three minutes.

"I like five minutes," Wylie said. "It's not the public comments that make meeting long. It's a benefit to residents to talk to us."

Catallo said most communities allow three minutes.

"I don't want to limit discussion time on council," Catallo said. "I have always liked comment from audience during agenda items. They really hit home sometimes."

Buffalo Street to go one-way

BY PHIL CUSTODIO
Clarkston News Editor

Parking on Buffalo Street is a problem for residents, and City Council went one way to fix it.

"Can two cars pass on that street without any problems? Probably no," said Mayor Steven Percival. "If two-way is not wide enough for two vehicles, it's an issue."

The council voted 5-2, Feb. 12, to approve a motion by Council member Sharron Catallo for one-way traffic on Buffalo Street from Church Street to Waldon Road. The direction of the one-way traffic will be determined later, based on advice of the city engineer. Voting "yes" were Catallo, Percival, and council members Eric Haven, Jason Kneisc, and Scott Reynolds. Council members Rick Detkowski and Sue Wylie voted "no."

An earlier motion to remove parking on S. Buffalo was defeated, 4-3. Voting against the motion were Catallo, Haven, Kneisc, and Reynolds. Voting "yes" on the motion were Detkowski, Percival, and Wylie.

Buffalo resident Rene Sanger said she and neighbors were surveyed by the city, and favored removing parking from that stretch of Buffalo Street.

Cars are parked too close to both sides of her driveway, making exiting dangerous, she said.

"I can't see cars coming - I'm fed up," she said.

Also, cars are parked there until 2 a.m., and vehicle owners leave trash in her yard and wake people up with music. The problem started in recent years, when new restaurants opened downtown.

The city Parking Committee recommended a no-parking proposal as a "bandaid" until funds are available to create more parking by removing curbs to widen the road, said Detkowski, a member of the committee.

"Doing nothing constitutes negligence," he said.

Catallo, who owns a home on S. Buffalo and whose son, Curt Catallo, owns one of the new restaurants, said there has always been parking there.

"These places have always been parking spaces," she said. "Now all of a sudden, because there's more parking than before, it's a problem?"

Some of the residents park their vehicles in the street. Also, parked cars slow traffic, which is a benefit, she said.

"I agree, though, we need parking signs - they're too close to the end," she said. "I think we can do a lot with signs. We haven't tried that."

Removing parking from this area would just push cars into another neighborhood, she said.

"Now it's being used and it benefits downtown businesses, but it was meant to do some of that, to carry the overflow," she said.

Wylie said removing parking would make the road comply with American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) safety standards, which calls for at least 18 feet in width.

"Parking does take away from the charm, the quaintness of the city," she said. "It still comes back to, it's a safety issue. I don't see how we have a choice."

"People are asking to get their streets back - they're choosing safety over business," Reynolds said.

Kneisc called for more creative solutions to the problem.

"My worry is we're taking parking spots off again," he said. "Do we get another Washington Street (parking problem) somewhere else?"

Downtown resident Cara Catallo said she would like to know more details about the neighborhood survey.

"I would be curious to see a list of everybody you say is in agreement - I can name one person not in agreement," said Cara, who is the daughter of Sharron Catallo. "I like having some parking there - it prevents it from becoming a bypass through town."

Property split

City Council voted 7-0, Feb. 12, to approve a property split request for 33 Miller Road.

The split lot would be 13,383 square feet with an 80-foot front, and a 20,260-square-foot parcel.

City zoning calls for lots to be at least 16,000 square feet. Planning Commission voted, Feb. 5, to recommend approval of the exception.

"I think it's a benefit to the city," said Council member Susan Wylie. "Rather than one structure, we'll have two structures there producing taxes for the city."

"It sort of solves the problem with that parcel - makes more sense than what we've ever seen before on it," said Council member Sharron Catallo.

Council member Jason Kneisc said, mathematically, the lot could be split into two, 16,000-square-foot lots.

"Let's make sure we're doing this for the right reason, or else others will come forward," Kneisc said.

Mayor Steven Percival said lake lots typically have irregular, pie-shaped lots.

Wendi's Word

A column by Wendi Price

Stay to the right

With my 2-year-old vocalizing to get out of the meat department in the grocery store, I turned the cart to the right. I understood. He needed to move and see something different.

I could have gone to the left, going into the produce but here I was in the bakery section teasing my son and myself. I lingered over the chocolate glazed donuts which is quite funny. I don't like donuts. I don't seek them out. I just happened to look down and there they were.

I may have craved one for a second but it was a second.

I am 36 days into my plan with Nuview Nutrition and was on a steady flow for the first month. I hit a wall as my body recovered from the stomach flu. Nasty little bug but as I try to get back to 64 ounces of water, my weight hit a stand still it normally doesn't on Shape Reclaimed.

I remained on track, it's really the only thing you can do on Shape besides wonder if it's time to get off and are the drops working any longer. The pounds did budge on Sunday as the thoughts also budged.

I am 36 days coffee free. The goal is a latte on vacation. Though I might just begin with black coffee since my tolerance has dwindled. Come on, vacation. It will be the first vacation with a toddler.

The countdown is also on for March is Reading Month. My progress with reading is... Well, I finished one book. I hit a high of reading 150 pages between two days. But reading slowe down because I discovered the story continues in not only one more book but three books. I don't have the second book and the third and fourth aren't released for another 6-12 months.

JD's progress in reading is much better. Maybe because his toddler books are much shorter. Grammi read ten to him on Friday night. We read a couple of pages of Harry Potter and the Sorcerer's Stone and read Horton Hatches an Egg, both on Sunday. I long to get him more Dr. Seuss books when I pass them on store shelves. But I know I have more in storage as well as some other books from my childhood like a few Richard Scarry collections and of course all seven books from Harry Potter.

If you are excited about March is Reading Month and want to share how you are celebrating, let us know!

A call to check into contradictions

Dear Editor,

Today in America we have the Open Meetings Act, which allows closed meetings, a Freedom of Information Act that hides information from citizens, and "gun free zones" where mass murders take place.

Strangely, many Americans don't see the madness in these obvious contradictions. How will our freedom survive the strain of national psychosis?

Maybe the FBI could investigate.

Only Don can 'Rush' to judge so listen before opining

Yeah.

It has been pretty darned depressing watching the world spin into a hazy, crazy vortex of emotional reactions and bullying commentary by . . . oh . . . everybody.

And, to set the record straight, as bearer of the name, only I, Dandy Don is allowed to "rush" to opine about stuff. Remember, I am a salty veteran of the opinion sharing wars. My skills of surmising have been honed sharp by the blood spilled after over 30 years of observing and writing. By giving my conclusions, rightly and wrongly; by lifting up and crushing down; of enlightening and, sadly at times, adding to the malaise resulting in my words unintentionally hurting some folks. Just so you know, I don't mind upsetting or angering people, just not a fan of hurting anyone.

Yup. I've learned the hard way, by getting knocked down into the mud and slime. The Don't Rush Me columns of the older Don are far different than those of the younger, cocksure and arrogant Don. With righteous indignation, I was fast to grandstand on any old soapbox that needed stomping on (I kinda' just smiled to myself thinking back to that time).

Living by the sword and dying by the sword and the pen is mightier than the sword — those two statements I have held in my heart since before I able to produce an excess of facial hair and testosterone. It has been both interesting and sad to watch not just the national tone of hyper-partisanship via social media but also of the bullying remarks locally. To the point, our words wield power.

It seems, we have taken the whole "you are either with me 100 percent, or you are dead to me" attitude and, like mad scientists mixing in ingredients that

Don't Rush Me

A column by

shouldn't go together, added she/he who screams the loudest wins.

The court of public opinion now trumps the whole notion of due process. Allegations once were just assertions until substantiated — and if they were proven unsubstantiated, thrown out. Not today. Today is almost like the witch hunts of old Salem. Point your finger at someone and level your claim, "WITCH! Burn him!"

Evidence be damned.

We all better hope that we are, at all times on the "right" side of any issue or tide of opinion, or we all may be subject to the fires of societal mentality-dejour. Individual liberty be damned. Due process be damned. While I know the United States Constitution only protects the individual from government abuses and not abuses from other individuals, I think folks forget about the 14th Amendment.

To refresh your memories from eighth-grade government class, the 14th Amendment to The Constitution of These Here United States, in part states, ". . . No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law . . ."

We are 'sposed to be a nation living by the rule of law; with the concept it's better to let 10 guilty men free than to imprison one innocent. Unfortunately, mob rule seems to be the new rule, these days.

Due process. Locally, the social network bullies were out in full force when then Clarkston Superintendent Rod Rock resigned for having a relationship with a 19-year-old girl, after she had graduated from Clarkston High School. I am not debating the merits of a 49-year-old man having an affair with a 19-year-old. It may not be the most well-thought-out affair, but it ain't illegal.

Supposition is an uncertain fact. Conjecture is an opinion or conclusion formed on the basis of incomplete information. And, yet with only incomplete and uncertain information Rock was found guilty of nothing less than pedophilia and/or sexual assault in the court of social media and public opinion.

While I did not agree with all of Rock's actions during his tenure as superintendent, I do believe he put the district in a good direction. I believe he put his heart and soul into the job, for the community, parents and for the kids. I think the correct course of action was for him to resign, even though it looks like he did nothing "wrong."

It was concluded, "the Superintendent's resignation was voluntary and was not a result of a violation of any law or District policy; the conduct that prompted the Superintendent's decision to resign was an isolated incident; the conduct that prompted the Superintendent's decision to resign at no time compromised student safety."

On Monday, I confirmed the Oakland County Sheriff's department, from their investigation, has received no calls or complaints from members of the community in regards to this case.

So, in light of this information and understanding everybody has opinion, was the online bullying warranted? Was the online bullying by adults and parents setting a good example of how to behave as a responsible citizen of this community and country, or was it something else?

And, if it is something else, what can we expect of our future — your kid's future? Nobody is perfect, but unless you are you walk with a target on your back. My words of caution are, be careful of the noose you put around your neighbor's neck today, for it may be the same one around your neck tomorrow.

Those are questions folks, got any answers? E-mail, DontRushDon@gmail.com.

Bicycling under influence

A deputy on patrol pulled over to check on a man riding down Dixie Highway on a bicycle, wearing dark clothing with no lights on him or the bike, 12:16 a.m., Feb. 13. The man, a 55-year-old Waterford Township resident, yelled at the deputy, "you have no ... right to stop me." The officer followed the man as he rode around parking lots and across the road a couple times until he fell over onto a snowbank. He appeared intoxicated and was unbalanced on his feet. He was cited for equipment violation for having no light and obstructing police.

Hit and run

A witness called the Oakland County Sheriff's Office after watching a car hit an SUV and flee the scene, leaving vehicle parts all over the roadway, 3:29 p.m., Feb. 13, at Dixie Highway and White Lake Road. The driver of the SUV said he was stopped for a school bus when he was rear ended by the car. The witness took down the license plate of the car, which was traced to a Fostoria woman. After she was contacted, her son, a 20-year-old Fostoria resident, came to the Independence Township substation and said he was the driver. He said he fell asleep behind the wheel and crashed into the SUV. He was cited for leaving the scene of an accident, no insurance, failure to change address, and unable to stop assure clear distance.

Suspended license

A 35-year-old Pontiac man was stopped for pulling out of a gas station on Sashabaw Road and driving south in the north bound lane, 11:10 p.m., Feb. 15. He was cited for driving with a suspended license and given a warning for no insurance.

Expired plate

A deputy on patrol stopped a car with an expired license plate registration sticker, 2:07 p.m., Feb. 15, on Dixie Highway at Waterford Road. The driver, a 57-year-old Davisburg man, said his license was suspended and he was driving to the hospital to pick up his wife. The car was owned by his son, who was at home sleeping and didn't know he had taken the car. He was cited for driving with a suspended license and expired plates.

Fugitive arrested

A deputy on patrol stopped to check on two vehicles in a parking lot of a liquor store at Oak Hill and Sashabaw roads, 12:35 a.m., Feb. 16. The men in the vehicles said they all got off work recently from different jobs and were meeting up to hang out. One of the passengers, a 50-year-old Oxford man, was found with a warrant for absconding parole in Pennsylvania on a burglary charge. He was jailed pending pickup by Pennsylvania police.

Bike donations

Oakland County Sheriff's Office is accepting donations of new, used, or in need of repair bicycles and bicycle accessories and parts in its Re-CYCLE for Kids Program. The program refurbishes used bicycles through the use of inmate labor, giving back to the community, and make them available to children and adults in need. Bring donations to the Oakland County Sheriff's Independence Township Substation at 6560 Citation Drive, or any other substation. The program was created in 2006.

Chief Judge honored by U.S. Marshals Service

Outgoing Chief Judge Nanci Grant of the Oakland County Circuit Court was honored by the U.S. Marshals Service in a ceremony at the Marshals Service Headquarters for the Eastern District of Michigan in December.

The U.S. Marshals recognized Judge Grant's dedication to the Fugitive Apprehension Team, Detroit and Oakland, by making herself available 24/7 in order to expedite the process of obtaining search warrants for cases in which the teams were actively on track in apprehending fugitives.

Judge Grant's willingness to address their needs at any time directly contributed to the apprehension of several dangerous felons at large. At the award ceremony, Judge Grant, who served eight consecutive years as Chief of the Oakland Circuit Court, which includes the Clarkston area, acknowledged the hard work of the teams and the unsung heroes among them.

"I am humbled to be part of the amazing work you all do in order to keep our community safe," she said.

This was the first such award given to an Oakland County circuit judge.

Wins after snow break

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE
Clarkston News Sports Writer

It wasn't a pretty win, but the Wolves topped another OAA Red opponent as they defeated Troy last Friday, 58-49.

"It was a good win for our kids late in the year," said Clarkston Boys Varsity Basketball Head Coach Dan Fife.

He added he has seen both teams play better.

"We had a long time between games," Fife explained. With the boys game against Southfield Arts & Technology being postponed due to weather on Feb. 9, they had gone two weeks between contests. "Maybe I didn't work them hard enough in practice over break."

He added the tough win will help as the Wolves go into the last two weeks of the regular season and get ready for playoffs in March.

"For them to realize you can't just come out, show up and beat people," Fife said. "Everyone wants to beat you."

Troy was the first to score as they put three points on the board in the first 30 seconds. The lead didn't last for long as seniors Foster Loyer and Taylor Currie scored one basket each. Troy took the lead back with a basket to be met with a field goal from senior CJ Robinson.

The quarter closed with the Wolves holding onto the lead after Currie scored four more points to put the lead, 11-8.

Clarkston kept ahead of the Colts as they battled the pressure and tight guarding by the Colts' defense. They outscored their visitors 15-9 with contributions from Loyer, Currie, Robinson and senior Hank Schemmel, closing the first half, 26-17.

The Wolves opened the second half with four points from Loyer and Robinson with Troy meeting the challenge with two baskets of their own. Both teams battled back and forth with shots, closing the third stanza with Clarkston still in the lead, 36-27.

Troy closed the gap to five points with 98 seconds left in the fourth quarter after working on scoring more. Loyer and Robinson met it with six points to close the game, 58-49.

Loyer led the team to 30 points, going 7-for-7 on the free throw line. Robinson and Currie contributed 12 points each. Robinson scored on two field goals during the night.

Senior Leon Ayers led the Colts with 17 points.

Clarkston Freshman Basketball improved their record to 12-3 as they defeated Troy, 50-48. JV also won their game 43-36 to put their overall record at 14-1.

The Wolves (14-1, 8-0 OAA Red) opened the week against Romulus. They head to North Farmington on Friday. JV begins at 5:30 p.m., varsity follows.

They travel to Southfield Arts & Technology on Saturday to make up their cancelled game from Feb. 9. Freshman start at 2 p.m., JV plays at 3:30 p.m. and varsity plays at 5 p.m.

Skiers state bound after regional races

BY CATHERINE OSBORN
Special to The Clarkston News

Racers are heading to the state finals after both the Clarkston Boys and Girls Varsity Ski teams qualified during their regional race at Pine Knob Ski & Snowboard Resort, Feb. 14.

"Both the girls and boys teams had a great day," said Mike Foyteck, head coach. "I couldn't be happier for them seeing their hard work pay off."

During the Michigan High School Ski Division 1, Region 2 race, the regional scoring uses the top four racers scores per team. The goal is to achieve the lowest overall score.

The girls team stormed back from a deficit in the morning Giant Slalom race to finish third overall and advance to the state finals for the first time in six years.

Senior Captain Katie Bayley led the girls team with medals for Top 10 finishes in both GS and Slalom races. Bayley had qualified for the state finals individually in her last three years.

"This is a really special end to my senior year," she shared. "It is so exciting to make it to the state finals and even better to have my entire team with me. The girls team performed well at regionals, and I couldn't be more proud of them."

The girls were led by Bayley in the Giant Slalom race as she earned the Bronze medal for third place followed by Annika Karlstrom in 21st, Allison Osborn in 24th, Olivia Foyteck in 26th, Chloe Swanson in 27th and Megan Ford in 39th.

In the afternoon Slalom race, Bayley skied to seventh, followed by Osborn in 13th, Swanson in 20th, Karlstrom in 22nd, Foyteck in 31st and Ford in 33rd.

"We couldn't be happier or prouder for the Clarkston High School Varsity Girls accomplishment at this year's regional race," said John Sych, girls coach. "They were the classic underdog going into this event. Through their hard work over this entire season, their focus on the day's task and commitment to a team effort, this young team of four sophomores, two juniors and one senior found success in a close, competitive contest. It truly was a team effort of 'together we are strong.'"

The boys team finished second overall, with three Wolves medaling in the morning Giant Slalom race. Senior Captain Max Wiedemann earned the Silver medal for second place. Cameron Brown was fourth and Hunter Hambrick was ninth. Other Wolves results were Ryan Nicosia in 19th and Evan Raddatz in 25th. Senior Assistant Captain Justin Osborn also raced, despite a knee injury.

At the afternoon Slalom race, the same three Wolves medaled, with Wiedemann earning the Bronze medal for third place, Hambrick in seventh place and Brown in ninth place.

The boys finished strong, with Nicosia in 13th as freshmen Gunnar Karlstrom and Andrew Roeser participated in their first regional event.

"The boys team has not raced to their potential this season but have been working hard," said Foyteck. "Things seem to be coming together at the right time. Losing senior Justin due to injury put a lot of pressure on the team. They stepped up to the challenge and took care of business."

MHSAA State Finals is at Boyne Mountain on Feb. 26.

The girls compete against Traverse City West, Marquette, Traverse City Central, Adams/Stoney Creek, Birmingham Unified, Milford/Highland, White Lake/Lakeland and Walled Lake Central.

The boys compete against Marquette, Traverse City Central, Forest Hills Northern, Adams/Stoney Creek, Bloomfield Hills, White Lake/Lakeland and Hartland.

"The weather forecast looks grim for ski racing or training prior to our MHSAA finals. Our Athletic Boosters have jumped in and helped the team," said Foyteck. "We will get some much-needed training up north."

Shutouts to end regular season

Clarkston Varsity Hockey finished the regular season with two shutouts last week against OAA White foes.

"We had a hat trick from Danny Milano," Karl Daiek shared for highlights from the two games. "We had two shutouts for our goaltenders. They played well. We didn't have one or two guys dominate. From my perspective that's good."

They posted a 8-0 win over Oxford/Avondale on Saturday. Austin Burrum made 12 saves in the win. Milano led the team with three goals. Also scoring, Austin McKay, two goals, one assist; Brent Bachusz, one goal, two assists; Brendan Tungol, one goal, one assist; and Trevor Gilman, one goal.

Daniel Tremblay had three assists; Nik Highducheck had two assists; and Austin James, Brandt Botterill, and Yuri Karpushenkoff had one assist each.

They defeated Bloomfield Hills in their final home game of the season last Thursday, 6-0. Goalie Brendan Borawski had 22 saves. Bachusz scored two goals and had one assist. Milano scored two goals, and McKay and Botterill both had one goal and one assist. James had two assists and Karpushenkoff and Drew Stark had two assists each.

The Wolves (15-8) head to the MHSAA Hockey Pre-Regional 8 game against the Waterford Mott/Orchard Lake St. Mary's winner, March 1.

"We can fine tune some things and be ready," said Daiek about using time to prepare. "Put some things in and perhaps see how it goes."

Though anything could happen, St. Mary's looks to defeat Mott in the first round.

"St. Mary's is one of the top programs in the state," Daiek said. "We will have to play our best. We've got kids who can compete - and that's the key. They want to go out and compete. We will go and we will battle."

Basketball blowout

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE
 Clarkston News Sports Writer

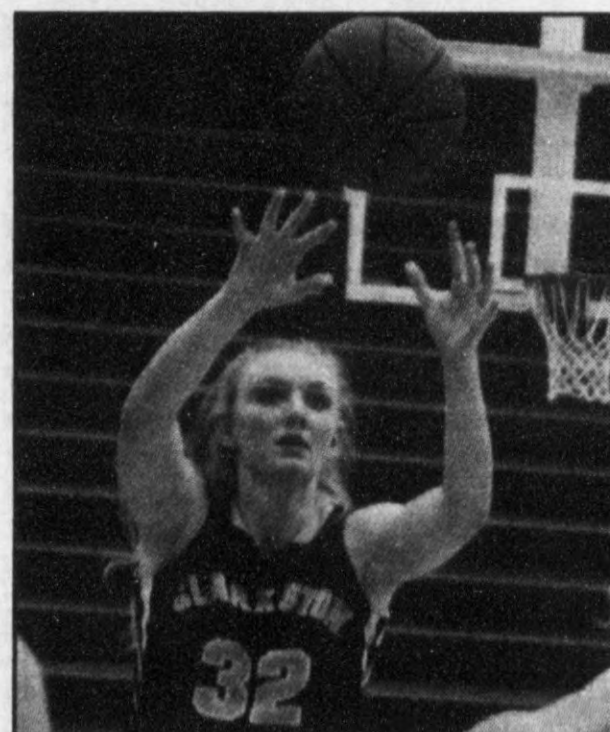

The game was close the first time Clarkston Girls Varsity Basketball faced crosstown foes Lake Orion with one free throw point deciding the win.

Last week it was a different story as the Wolves closed the game with a 51-19 win.

"We played really well," said Christine Rogers, head coach. "We watched some film from the last game and fixed things we could do better. Their offense is really big and solid inside - that's a problem when a lot of our offense runs through the middle. They watched some film and saw the openings. We moved the ball in the middle high/low and it worked fantastically."

The Wolves finished the first quarter with a 8-2 lead with three baskets from Kayla Luchenbach and one from Kaelyn Kaul.

They opened the next stanza with an 11-point run starting with two points from Molly Nicholson. Lake Orion fought back scoring off two field goals, but it wasn't enough as Clarkston closed the half with a basket from Maddie Beck to put the score 25-8.

"Kayla, Maddie and Molly were taking the ball to the hoop which changes the game," Rogers said. "Instead of just trying to body up somebody who is as big as you or maybe bigger than you are, they were able to take everyone off their dribble. We got a lot of production from our young point guard Kaelyn and had great defense. I am really proud of how they played today."

The Wolves opened the second half with a basket from Nicholson before Lake Orion scored two points on the free throw line.

Clarkston continued to build onto their lead with nine more points including a 3-pointer from Kaul. The Dragons scored three points to put the score at 38-13 with less than two minutes in the third quarter.

Heaton scored two points after a steal and in the last 40 seconds of the stanza, Beck sank a field goal, putting the score 43-13.

Prior to the win over Orion, the girls had lost two consecutive games and had a 8-day break.

Rogers said it felt good to come back with a win over the Dragons.

"It was a really good win to get us motivated for Saturday's game over North Farmington, who also has a big player on the inside," she added. "I think we had to reassess some things after our losses. We came out stronger."

Luchenbach led the team as she scored 16 points and had six rebounds and five assists. Nicholson scored 11 points and had six rebounds. Beck had nine points and four assists while Kaul had eight points and six rebounds.

The Wolves played North Farmington on Saturday and posted a big 53-17 win. Taylor Heaton led with 15 points. Beck had 11 points and three steals. Nicholson had nine points, seven rebounds, three assists and three steals. Luchenbach had eight rebounds, six assists and two blocks. Linton had 11 rebounds and Sam Aris had eight points.

They head to Bloomfield Hills on Wednesday and host Rochester Adams on Thursday for their game of the regular season. JV begins at 5:30 p.m., varsity follows.

Seven Wolves Ford Field bound

BY WENDI REARDON PRICE
Clarkston News Sports Writer

Clarkston Varsity Wrestling qualified seven as they hosted regionals for the MHSAA Wrestling Individual Finals at Ford Field, March 2-3.

"It was one of the better days I have been involved with in wrestling in general," said Joe Wood, head coach. "We took eight and got seven through. It speaks volumes to how big hosting an event like this is in your own gym. Our kids felt comfortable. More than anything our kids outworked people. They were ready for it. Our kids worked hard and they prepared. Our coaching staff did a good job of getting those kids prepared. We have a great team so that really helps."

Jake Billette finished as regional champion in the 140-pound weight class, going undefeated for the day. He opened with a fall over Lapeer's Kyle Fenner before defeating Bay City Western's Alexander Simmons, 10-4. He posted a 6-4 win over Lake Orion's Noah Smith, who is ranked fifth in the state, in the final round.

Mac Hanselman (125) and Cole Wiegiers (119) went 2-1 for the day to take second place.

Hanselman posted wins over Grand Blanc's Jackson Turnbow, technical fall, 21-6; and Traverse City West's Damien Ballen, fall at 3:20. Wiegiers defeated Lapeer's Gavin Monschau, fall at 5:15; and Midland's Mateo Diaz, 15-10.

"Wiegiers won a semifinal match against seventh in the state," said Wood. "Just wore him out. He beat him by wearing him out."

Houston Hemingsen (140) finished in third place going 3-1 for the day. He defeated Traverse City West's Elias Sanchez, 14-0; Lapeer's Fenner, 6-0; and Bay City Western's Simmons, technical fall 20-3.

Ethan Polick (135), Jacob Jones (215), and Rocco Spindler (285) went 2-2 for the day, finishing in fourth place.

Polick posted wins over Swartz Creek's Joe Carpenter, fall at 5:34; and Oxford's Joe Vackaro, 9-6.

Jones finished in fourth place going 2-2 for the day. He defeated Traverse City West's Zac Masiewicz, fall at 3:35; and Romeo's Gavin Miller, 5-1.

"Jones pinned Masiewicz who was 42-2 coming into the weekend," Wood added.

Spindler posted wins over Alpena's Noah Cannon, 1-0; and Flushing's Conner Melancon, 5-1.

Anthony Welch (130) did not place and finished the season at the meet going 1-2. He lost to Lapeer's Hunter Hohman. He moved on with a win over Oxford's Dalton Myers, 8-3. He lost to Bay City Western's Austin Hale, 8-1.

"We were pretty dang happy with how they wrestled," Wood added.

The Wolves also hosted the team regional meet and lost to Oxford, 36-24.

"Considering the first time we wrestled them we lost 45-12, it was a vast improvement," Wood said. "Our team has gotten a lot better throughout the year and it showed."

He added the atmosphere with all the excited, energetic fans was amazing.

"The gym was pretty full and it was pretty cool to have that many people out to watch a wrestling match," he said. "It was loud. It went from zero to 100 in a second. It was pretty great. It was great to have the community support."

Polick started the scoring for the Wolves with a 5-4 win over Vackaro who had beaten him earlier in the season. Hemingsen was next with a pin on Jack Wandrie, 1:16.

Billette (145) not only pinned Ryan Miller, who is ranked fourth in the state, but posted his 100th win at home.

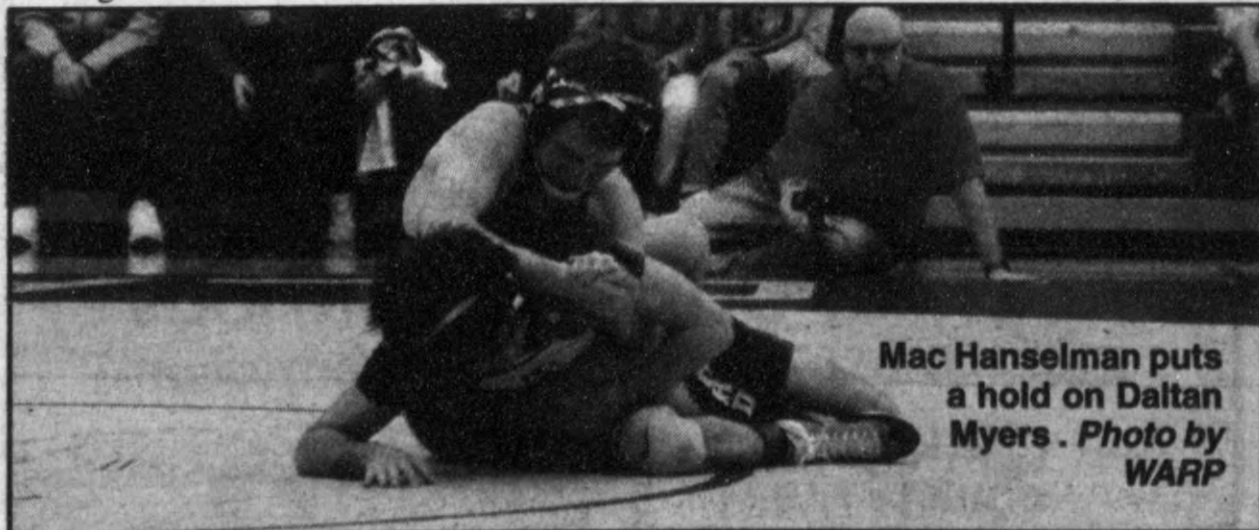

Cameron Pass (215) lost to Austin Schlicht but Wood added he did a nice job.

"He came out for us half way through the year. He was in anticipation of that dual," Wood said. "He saved a bunch of bonus points for us. It was a big deal for us. He may have lost, but he did what he was supposed to do for the team. He has been great. He has a positive attitude. He is a good motivator for the guys. We are glad to have him. Then, to follow it up with Rocco's huge pin."

Spindler held control during his match against Jason Green. He scored two points in the third period and with 27.5 seconds remaining won with a pin. The win put the Wolves five points within Oxford's 26-21 lead.

"It wasn't mathematically over until two matches to go," Wood said. "We were right there."

Wiegiers posted the last win for the Wolves with a 6-4 defeat over Liam Hillary.

School safety work funded by bond

"Pine Knob staff will continue to work hard to provide your child a safe emotional and physical environment," she said. "If you know your child may need to talk to a social worker while at school, please contact me at jlyeloushan@clarkston.k12.mi.us or 248-623-3900. I will make sure one of our social workers comforts your child in order to help them as needed."

Interim Superintendent Shawn Ryan also offered consoling words to Clarkston families who might be fearful of a similar situation here.

"We are coordinating training with our local and county law enforcement to prepare our staff and students as much as possible for emergency situations," Ryan said. "Our entire staff is versed in crisis response procedures, and we have a plan in place to engage in additional training in this area over the next year. A district crisis team also meets with law enforcement and emergency responders on an ongoing basis to discuss new standards and practices, and we are working to plan a simulation for multiple districts to be trained later this year. Regularly scheduled lockdown and evacuation drills are also conducted in each building with students and staff."

School security is a top priority for the school district, and security was a major part of the $76 million bond approved by voters in 2016, said Mary Ellen Rowe, marketing director for Clarkston Community Schools.

Improvements funded by the bond include new, secure entries, already constructed at Andersonville and Bailey Lake elementary schools, Rowe said.

"All other elementary buildings and Clarkston Junior High School will be completed this summer," she said. "Sashabaw Middle School and Clarkston High School will begin construction on new entrances in 2019. The new entrances are designed to limit the ability of visitors to walk into our schools without stopping first at the main office. As is the case right now, all buildings will remain locked during the school day, and visitors must identify themselves to be granted access by office staff."

Clarkston Schools have also installed upgraded surveillance and communication systems for additional layers of security in and around the campuses.

Dedicated to showcasing the reasons this is a great area to live and work!

Harper Drouin, Gage Heslip, and Owen Poole are ready to fly away in her hot air balloon.

People Poll What should schools do to prevent shootings?

"When Israel made their schools hard targets, like military bases, incidents of attacks were reduced to zero, last I heard. Schools were fortified and protected. Armed guards. This protects the schools from both outside and inside attacks. It sucks that we have to come to this, but we live in a society that wants to be armed, and because of that, we must make hard choices to protect our squishy center. We can't have both."

— Joel S. Kolodziejczak

"Hire armed military veterans to be stationed at each school."

— Terra Durnen

"Armed security!"

— Jeannie Thibault

"Pass universal healthcare and start taking mental health seriously. You can't propose to cut Medicaid and then tweet you are concerned about mental health care. We aren't morons."

— Jason Nolan

"There is a company called Templar Life Safety. They have a locked up set of bullet proof vests that come with communications equipment and guns attached to them. They train a handful of staff on how to access them, use them and respond to a situation. I would like to see Clarkston look into this."

— Chris Drouin

"Every single one of the people who were responsible for those shootings were on some kind of medication for depression or some other mental disorder. All of the medications pose a potential side effect of thoughts of suicide or some kind of psychosis. I think with that being the common denominator in every one of these tragedies, we should be examining the over medication of our children."

— Lacie Grieves

"How about we eliminate all gun free zones, install and use security equipment in our schools and hire armed/trained personnel in our school at a proper ratio to the population of the school. I guarantee shooters will not approach these former 'soft targets!'"

— Vicki Alexander Navarre

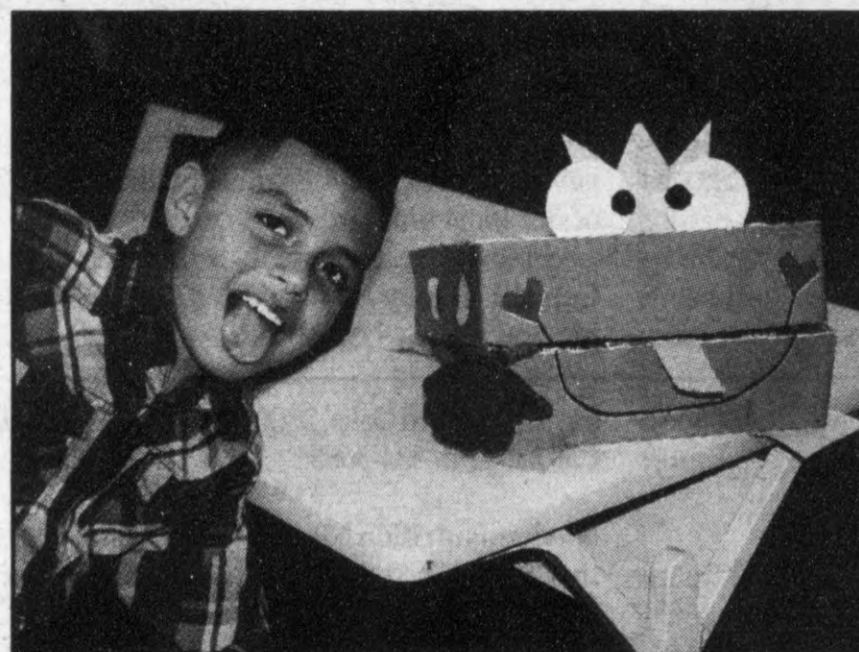

"Metal detectors would be a great start. There are several schools with them in place already."

— Sarah Smith

"Definitely armed presence. No backpacks should be allowed anymore. Kids can hide crap in there and no one would know. Not just weapons, but they are hiding drugs and things they just don't need in school. Go back to kids carrying their books and being transparent so they can't hide anything."

Athletes' example for how to treat others

I really enjoying watching the Olympics. Every few years these global events break into the ordinariness of our lives and transport us to another land.

I love to watch the excellent athletes compete and to learn some of their background, too.

I also especially enjoy watching all kinds of sporting events I probably would not usually tune in to. For example, the other day I found myself captivated by mixed doubles curling. They were great with that little broom and all.

We also hear some amazing stories like how there came to be a Nigerian bobsled team. And how about the Geico ad featuring a sumo figure skater ice dancing.

My favorite Olympic story, I learned recently, is only partly true, but its point still stands, and is even more profound than in the original version I saw years ago.

The story goes like this: A number of years ago, at the Special Olympics in Seattle, nine contestants, all physically or mentally challenged, assembled at the starting line for the 100-yard dash. At the gun, they all started out with a determination and desire to finish and win.

But, as the story goes, one boy stumbled and tumbled over a couple of times, and began to cry. The other eight heard the boy cry. They slowed down and looked back. Then, they all turned around and went back ... every one of them.

Then, they all linked arms and walked together to the finish line. Everyone in the stadium stood, and went wild cheering for several minutes.

I love this story. It is touching and lifts up the best in people and something about who we hope to be.

Well, here is the rest of the story: According to folks at the Special Olympics Washington office, the incident happened at a 1976 track and field event held in Spokane, Washington not Seattle.

There a contestant did take a tumble, and a number of the other athletes, but not all of them, turned back to help the fallen one and then crossing the finish line together, while the others continued to run the race.

Whether it was all, or just some, of the contestants who set aside their own dreams of going for gold in favor of helping a fallen competitor, I believe the point is clear.

Deep down I think we all sense that life is more than just winning for yourself, and it also involves helping others win, too. And that we do have a choice in how we respond to others around us when they fall.

I really don't know what I would have done in that race. I like to think I would have gone back to help. More likely I would have finished the race I had trained so hard to run and then maybe gone back to see if I could help.

A more important question is what will I do in life to help others get across the finish line of life and faith together. Recently our Men's Ministry Group gathered to work through some great material called Just Walk Across the Room.

The premise is not complex, but as simple as just walking across the room to build relationship with someone, to hear their story, and to share your story with them, so that God can use it.

Thank God our lives and our faith are always bigger than us and how we happen to feel on any given day. It always involves inviting those who have fallen or gotten lost along the way to lock arms with us and with Jesus - and move, better together, into the future God has in store for us all.

During the season of Lent at Calvary we will be focusing on how we see "God's Story in Our Story. How God breaks into the ordinariness of life to transform us to become more concerned about crossing the finish line together - that is, to become more Christ-like.
