ANDRA McLAUGHLIN is famed for her interpretative skating. She does such favorites as the hula and the Charleston in her fifth annual appearance with the 1956 Hollywood Ice Revue, coming to Olympia for 26 performances Feb. 3rd through Feb. 26th, The Scotch-Irish lass was born in New York, grew up in Colorado Springs where she leveloped her skating ability, starring both as a speed skater and a igure skater and even playing on a boys' school team at one time. Step Into A Wallpaper Garden

The decorating trick that fools your eye in the above photograph is a scenic wallpaper. Flowering branches bid you welcome as you enter. They are backed by delicate traceries of mountains, a pagoda, bamboo bridge and a quiet stream.

Against this Oriental background, the contemporary furnishings—a settee, table and chest of Far Eastern design, gain dramatic emphasis. While designer-artists have surpassed any previous creations in scenics and repeat patterns with a scenic effect, the great diversity in wallpapers of all types makes it easier than ever to find designs to fit any background, whether traditional, provincial or modern. Supposing your problem is a jutting protrusion or dreary structural beam. Wallpaper won't do a Houdini and whisk away the ugly jog, but the right paper can give an optical illusion of a continuous wall. Many current papers have widely-spaced designs on light backgrounds. These designs can open-out a cramped, hemmed-in room and give the illusion of open-airiness and space.

With a few strokes of a brush, wallpaper can do more than any other single thing to beautify a room.
