THE OLD AND THE NEW

"It's in the Bible!" says the stalwart defender of his convictions. He thinks thereby to quell all arguments by his unbelieving foe. But wait a moment, have you considered that while "All the Bible is for us, not all the Bible is to us..."

Chances are that the approaching political campaign received more than casual mention in conversations of this quarter of leading Republicans. Guests of C. E. Langfield (seated at right), president of Northville Laboratories, last week aboard his 43-foot Constellation were Donald S. Leonard and George Boos, former Detroit Police Commissioners (at left) and Sterling Eaton, former publisher of "The Plymouth Mail." Boos is candidate for state senator and Eaton state representative from this district.

School Vote Set for October 30

Voters will decide on October 30 whether four Novi township school districts should be consolidated into a single district. The election was called last week by the Oakland county superintendent of schools after petitions for the vote had been submitted several weeks ago by residents of the districts.

Three Proposals Placed on Ballot

At a meeting Monday, committee members agreed on a stepped-up advertising and personal-contact drive to get across arguments in favor of consolidation.

THE QUIET HAPPINESS of a little girl and her new pup reflects on the face of Carol Ann Donnelly, a three-year-old leukemia victim. The pup, which she named "Lucy," was given to her recently.

Little Pup Named 'Lucy' Helps Cheer Carol Ann

Carol Ann Donnelly is happier than ever. She has her own dog now—one that's just about the right size for a three-year-old girl. It's a toy terrier and the pretty little leukemia victim has lost no time in naming her, Carol Ann's choice: "Lucy."

Northville Police Have Quiet Time During September

September was an exceptionally quiet month for Northville police as only 129 calls were answered in the entire period. Police had no incidents in at least seven categories: grand larceny, juvenile cases, missing persons, stolen autos, stolen bicycles, interfering and publishing and forgery.

Compared with September of last year, police work was slightly lighter. But in total arrests, the number climbed from 12 to 22. Eleven accidents were investigated in September this year as compared with eight last year. Parking violations soared from 27 last year to 289 this September, as local motorists forgot to insert nickels into parking meters installed since last year at this time. Some 83 summons were issued and 22 court cases were heard. Two persons were bitten by dogs, three dogs were destroyed and two dogs were placed under observation. Total fines amounted to $860 as compared to $137 last year.

New JCC Plans To Elect Officers, Approve Charter

The newly-formed Northville Junior Chamber of Commerce will elect permanent officers and approve its charter at its next meeting today.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Scout hall at Hutson and Dunlap. Sixteen Northville men attended the JCC meeting last week, almost doubling attendance at the group's organizational meeting two weeks ago.

A slate of temporary officers was named, including chairman, Fred Kestler; secretary, Marie Parsons; publicity chairman, Paul Polino; membership chairman, Charles Lapham; charter committee, Charles Ely, William Wilson, Robert German and Hugh Black.

Status of Township Faces Court Test

The question of whether a township can legally be considered a "citizen" will be argued in court a week from Monday.

That is the question at stake in a current motion for dismissal of a suit brought by Novi township to stop the annexation of its territory to Northville.

The dismissal motion was to be heard last Monday before Oakland county circuit court. But Novi township Attorney Archie Leonard had been at a state bar convention and was unprepared to argue the case. Then Monday, Leonard was ordered to the hospital by his doctor and will not be able to be present in court until October 15. Northville Attorney Phillip Ogilvie said the key issue in the case is whether Novi township can legally bring suit.

TO NAME CITY MANAGER MONDAY

Special Session Called To Approve Final Choice

Northville's days under government by city council alone became numbered Monday evening with the announcement that a city manager would be named next Monday evening.

Mayor Claude Ely called for a special session of the five-man council after John Canterbury, chairman of the committee to select a city manager, announced that a final choice was near. Mayor Ely stated that the council will meet Monday evening to approve the newly named city manager. Approval by the council will require only the appointee's acceptance to complete a seven-month study by Councilman Canterbury's committee.

Northville school officials this week were continuing work on revising plans for a new high school, with hopes of getting state approval in the near future. At its regular meeting Monday night, the Northville school board heard revised estimates of school needs and agreed to incorporate them into present studies.

No further action was taken at the meeting, partly because Superintendent Russell Amerman and board member Nelson Schrader were not present. Amerman was ill and Schrader was out of town.

The board had agreed several weeks ago to expand facilities in the proposed high school so as to meet the needs of the estimated 1,100 students. It is now determining exactly what facilities must be added or enlarged to meet the needs of the new campus.

Meanwhile, the board is looking further into acquisition of property for the school site—planned within the city limits on property owned by the Manning & Locklin Gravel company and two private owners.

'Copper' Returns to Playmates

"Copper" came home last week and everyone is happy again—especially the dozen or so neighborhood children who had looked on the big Irish setter as their special friend.

Copper—named for his glowing coat—was struck by a hit-and-run driver two weeks ago in full view of his companions as they waited at a school bus stop.

Not knowing if he was dead or alive, the children ran for help. It came, and the gravely injured dog was taken to a veterinarian. Township Hears Trailer Complaints

House trailers caused Northville township board members most concern Tuesday evening as they discussed routine business in a brief meeting at the Township hall.

Carl Zinnecker and R. M. Van Baer of Ridge court both complained to the board that house trailers were being used illegally in their neighborhood. Zinnecker stated that three trailers are being used at the residence of James O'Brien. Van Baer complained that another neighbor is living in a trailer "inside a garage" while he builds a house. Van Baer stated that it was not a pleasant sight from the kitchen window of his residence.

After Zoning Chairman Robert Shaffer informed the board that no permit had been issued for use of trailers, Supervisor Mollie Lawrence directed the building inspector to determine if these trailers are in violation and report to the board.

The assignment became the first duty of Wilbert Peltz, who was appointed by the board to replace Donald Nutten as building inspector for the township Tuesday evening. Nutten, inspector for nine years, said the job was becoming too big to handle on a part time basis.

In other business the board moved to allow an audit of their books by the City of Northville next week. The audit comes as a completion to details of the incorporation of the village as a city. Board members set their next meeting date as Monday, November 19, to avoid conflict with the November 6 election.

'Vinegar Barrel' at Stake For Mustangs Tomorrow

The undesired "Vinegar Barrel"—a traditional symbol of defeat in the Northville-Clareville football series—will be at stake tomorrow night at the Mustangs' open their home grid season. Northville possesses the trophy now as a result of a 21-7 loss to Clareville last year. The Mustangs—and especially Coach Ron Schipper—are willing to hand the unwanted barrel back to Clareville on a moment's notice. Schipper has been selling his team hard all week, hoping to snap them out of the lethargy that cost them a disappointing 7-7 tie against Milford last Friday.

Ralph E. Lye, District Governor of Rotary International, will visit Northville next Tuesday to address the local club and confer with President Leland V. Smith and other officers.

Bathey Concern To Produce Parachute Packs

A $1,878,584 Navy contract for parachute pack parts has been awarded to the Bathey Manufacturing company, it was announced this week.

President of the Plymouth company is Douglas Bathey of Northville, nationally known engineer. The order calls for production of 10 components that go into a parachute pack mechanism. Further description was classified by the Navy.

Company engineers will coordinate development of the mechanism with the Bureau of Ordnance and the Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Maryland. Present employment at the Bathey plant is 200 persons, of which 90 percent live in the Northville-Plymouth area.

For running into a stop sign, Peter Fairchild was fined $5 and costs and required to pay damages, the cost of replacing the sign.

William Gug Wickersham was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $50 and costs. Costs and a $50 fine were also charged Don E. Arthur, 47480 West Ten Mile, for purchasing beer for four minors, three aged 18 and one 17.

THE SONGS WE SING!

Some weeks ago, Mrs. Gardner Halverson of Fargo, South Dakota, sang, "These things will so firm and stout."

As she was singing, there was a crashing sound as the plaster fell off the walls and part of the ceiling of the basement caved in.

Nuclear Engineer Addresses Rotarians

Progress of the atomic power plant at Monroe was revealed to members of the Northville Rotary club Tuesday noon by Joseph T. Kelly, Jr., nuclear engineer working for the Atomic Power Development Association.

Kelly stated that the huge plant would be tested in 1959 and completed for use by 1960. Cost of the project will run into $5,000,000, he said. Showing slides and movies of the potential of atomic power, Kelly said that electricity generated by atomic energy would not be competitive at the beginning. "It is necessary to make these expensive experiments now, however, to provide a new means of power," he added.

Preceding Kelly's address, C. E. Langfield introduced George T. Kelly, Jr., nuclear engineer working for the Atomic Power Development Association.

Rotary will hold its annual Rural-Urban dinner at the Presbyterian church October 23. The chairman of the event is Roy LeMaster.

Downs Boasts New Barn Area

$250,000 worth of buildings were constructed this summer at the site of the Northville Downs' new barn area, seen here from a cemetery overlooking the grounds. Built in the hills just south of Northville, the new barns are hidden from view in answer to criticism of other barns adjacent to the track.

Tucked away in the rolling hills just south of Northville is a $250,000 complex of buildings that most residents of the area have never seen. The neat collection of buildings is accessible only through two narrow roads. And for the only other view, it's necessary to walk to the edge of a hill-top cemetery.

The new buildings are horse barns, and their out-of-the-way location is significant. By constructing the buildings so they are separated from the city by hills and woods, owners hope to have answered one major criticism often voiced against Northville Downs' horse year-round in Northville: that of nearness to the city.

In the past, other protests have risen against the possibility of keeping Downs-raced horses at their quarters near the track. Reasons have ranged from "undesirable elements" to lack of space.

To answer these criticisms, the Northville Driving Club leased the outlying land and Northville Downs put up new barns there. Construction began in April and was completed during the 1956 meet. The new barn area consists of 15 buildings: three winter barns, nine summer barns, a utility building, a restaurant and a blacksmith shop.

At present, the new barns area is vacant and quiet. Northville zoning regulations prohibit the quartering of horses except shortly before, during and shortly after each year's racing meet.

But Driving Club officials have indicated they hope eventually to receive permission from the city to quarter horses year-round in the new barns.

There are further signs that other expansion and improvement plans are on the drawing board. An announcement of these is expected shortly.

Uninspired Mustangs Struggle to 7-7 Tie Against Milford

Only Last Period Livens Dull Game

Playing their most uninspired game of the season, the Northville Mustangs barely managed to gain a 7-7 tie with an underdog Milford team last Friday night. Except for two quick fourth period touchdowns, neither the Mustangs nor the Redskins could put together a strong drive in a game that was as dull for fans as it was frustrating for players.

LACK OF DOWNFIELD BLOCKING is shown here as Gary Holman, Northville fullback, is swarmed upon by three Milford tacklers.

FINALE TO A SPECTACULAR PASS PLAY comes as Dick Biery, fullback, is brought down by a pair of Milford safety men.

Friday's Sidelights:

Injuries Give Mustangs Some Uneasy Moments

The fate that controls the destinies of a football team must have overheard Northville Coach Ron Schipper before the current season began, when he said that "barring injuries" Northville could have a good season.

FROM A NEW 'INNER CAR' PROVED IN ACTION. came the magic that made possible so wonderfully different a Ford. In the toughest on-the-road tests ever given to a car, this 'Inner Ford' demonstrated that a '57 Ford rides you sweet and low... that it takes the bumps without a jolt, the curves without the pitch... and, that in power, it 'takes nothing from nobody!' Nothing on wheels hurries, handles or holds up like a Ford.

National Newspaper Week
Your Newspaper... FREEDOM'S KEY TO BETTER LIVING!
OCT. 1-8 1956

Newspaper Week

October 1 to 8 is National Newspaper Week — seven days set aside to salute the nation's press.

In our new position as publisher of the two newspapers serving our growing area this observance has a special significance. It offers an opportunity to tell our readers what this responsibility means to us and what we believe constitutes a fair definition of a newspaper.

Most important, a newspaper is the reflection of the community it serves. Physically speaking, a newspaper should be clean, easy to read, interesting and full of local news. It should hum at the same speed at which the community is moving and not blame its news at an over-accelerated tempo.

The columns of stories, pictures and advertisements which fill the pages of a community newspaper are not the work and ingenuity of the paper's staff alone. They are the thoughtful citizens who phone in a news item, suggest a feature article or remember to report a club meeting; the proud new parents, or grandparents, who tell of the community's newest arrival.

The public officials—school board member, supervisor, councilman — who take time out to explain details and background of their group's activities; the local merchant who uses his community paper to advertise his merchandise; all play a vital part.

A good newspaper is the image of its community. It reports the good... and the bad. It uses its news columns to report the news as it happens. It reserves its editorial page for opinion. It opens its pages for letters from readers who may agree or disagree, commend, or, as long as the content of the letters remain in good taste.

Most of all a good newspaper does not cringe from its duty. Communities, like human beings, cannot be all good. Unpleasant happenings occur; people make mistakes; differences arise with growth.

To report these activities is as much the duty of the community newspaper as it is to report that Johnny Smith is the valedictorian of his class.

And just like the community, the newspaper makes mistakes. Its errors are sometimes as simple as a misspelled word. Other times mistakes in judgment are made. Whatever the error, the newspaper goes to every home for discriminating eyes to evaluate.

If we were to make a pledge for National Newspaper Week, it would be to provide our readers with as fine a publication as our ability, coupled with their help, will allow.

Parties Seek Big Vote For Victory at Polls

THE "LITTLE" VOTER is a mighty big man in the coming election. Both parties believe their best chance lies in getting a big turnout for the November 6 election. This is less strange than it seems when the situation is analyzed.

Key politicians keep continuing tab on the political atmosphere. Results from surveys are evaluated almost daily. Leaders in both parties are convinced that they have a chance to win at the polls.

Republicans, who hope to hold outside Michigan by as large a majority as last time, figure that a bigger GOP vote in Wayne County will swing the state solidly their way.

Democrats, who hope to gain outside, are anxious to get a higher percentage of their people to the voting booths.

If a million new voters can be registered by October 8, the Republicans think they would half support their ticket. They are working hardest in traditional favorable areas where the vote fell off last election.

Democrats think there are more candidates to be registered; hope to overwhelm the GOP with the million votes they think would result if all of these people were to vote. The press box is heavy on industrial areas, where labor leaders are pumping openly for the Democratic party.

General result is that Mr. Childers is being registered by nearly everyone that he should be registered. Labor groups, trade associations, churches, service clubs and even Cub Scouts are telling him that he is mighty important in this election.

A MICHIGAN minority group is embarking on a program to better its situation. Almost overlooked in the battles of racial segregation and campaigns for racial tolerance is the plight of the state's Indian citizen.

Within the last 30 days steps were taken to remedy this situation. In a meeting at the Capital the Michigan Indian Study Affairs Commission was established.

For this huge task only limited means are now available but the study committee is anxious to make its efforts effective. Starting with $300 furnished by funds available for "minor" commissions, the group hopes to begin a foundation for expanded operations.

Listing their major problems as economic security, welfare, education and unsettled legal claims against the government, the commission decided to work first in the realm of education.
