

SPEAKING for the Record

By BILL SLIGER

Probably one of Eisenhower's biggest boosters for re-election last fall was Charles Trickey, III. His father, Novi township treasurer, promised him a trip to the inauguration if he won. Young Chuck wasn't disappointed.

If you hear strains of Hawaiian music when you pass Northville Refrigeration these days, it's because Owner Chuck Hall is conditioning himself for a visit to the islands. His salesmanship won an all-expenses-paid trip for he and his wife in a contest sponsored by a national appliance manufacturer. The Halls leave February 1.

Since its first tumble to Plymouth, Northville's local lads will march easily to the Wayne-Oakland league title. Meanwhile, Plymouth is also leading its league and should finish on top. A return game between these two friendly rivals seems like a natural for some worthy charity. Perhaps a banquet for the teams could climax the game.

What's more, if we are inclined to play a small war, we'd bet that Coach Stan Johnston's boys would vindicate themselves for their season opening "off-night."

Employees of Northville's downtown area who are tired of feeding nickles into meters every hour or so can look for relief. Commissioners have decided to install a number of all-day meters (the 25c variety) at lots on Dunlap and on Center at Dunlap.

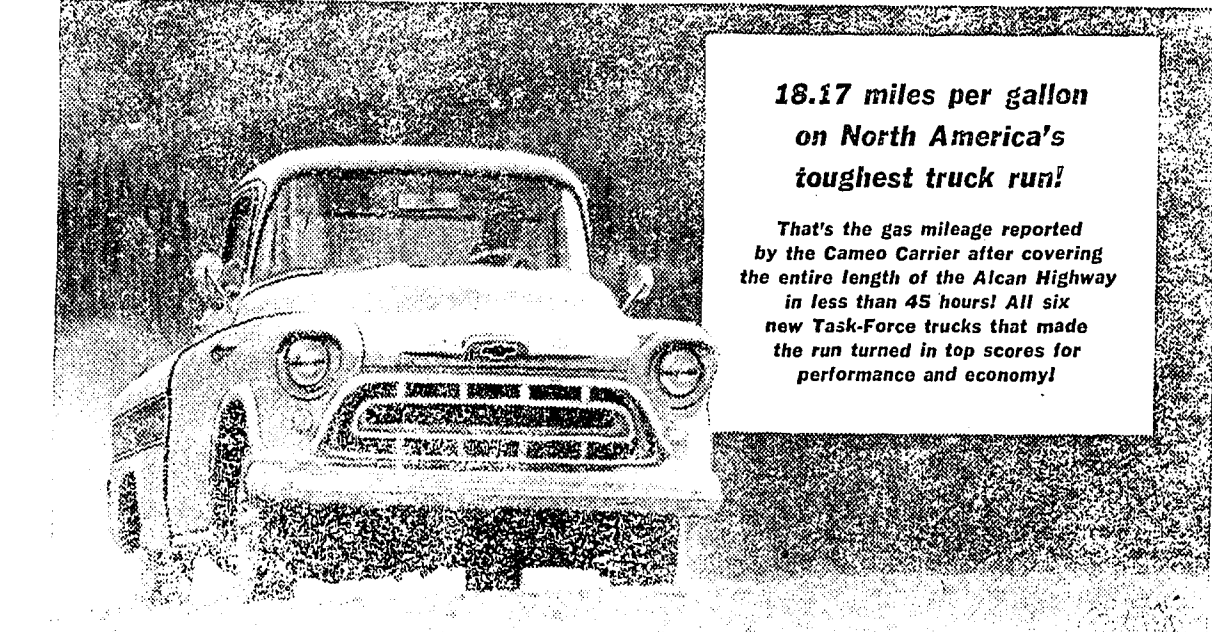

C. N. Dickey of Five Mile road was surprised one recent evening when he answered the door to find a teen-age boy, fighting back tears, holding a dead dog in his arms. The boy had struck the dog while driving past the Dickey residence. It turned out to be a neighbor's pet, but, said Dickey, "it proved to me that all teen-age drivers are not irresponsible, as we are sometimes led to believe."

18.17 miles per gallon on North America's toughest truck run!

That's the gas mileage reported by the Chevrolet after covering the entire length of the Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! All six new Task-Force trucks that made this run turned in scores for performance and economy!

Supervised and certified by the AAA.

New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks

Six heavily loaded Chevy trucks ran all the way up the Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! This cutting-edge run was a full day off the normal running time! They ran right around the clock, stopping only to refuel.

But the important fact about this run is that it proved new Chevy trucks through and through. The Alcan Highway is a supreme test of every truck component. Engines had to prove their power up, high-climbing grades and through washouts. Frames and suspensions flexed their muscles over all-day runs and miles of punishing gravel. "And not a single truck turned back or dropped out due to mechanical failure," states the official AAA report of the test. Every model proved its over-all economy by its frugal ability to stay on the job! Stop by, we'll talk about it.

Proved on the Alcan Highway

Michigan Mirror Births Lead Deaths 3 to 1 in Michigan

DO YOU HAVE more neighbors now than you did 15 years ago? It's entirely probable according to statistics released by Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner.

Michigan's population passed the 7 1/2 million mark in 1956, says Dr. Heustis. What's more, the 8 million mark should be reached by 1960.

More births — less deaths are the biggest factors in the state's spectacular population increase. For each recorded death there are now more than three new babies entering the world in Michigan. In 1936 the birth rate was approximately 27 for every 1,000 residents. At the same time deaths continued below nine per 1,000.

The birth rate continues to grow according to Dr. Heustis. In 1941, the report states, "births surpassed 100,000 for the first time."

Medical advances continue to make inroads in the death rate. Maternity deaths decreased 90 percent in the past 20 years. The death rate for newborn infants is down 53.8 percent.

Among adults, heart disease and cancer continue as the No. 1 and 2 killers.

The "up-and-down" of medicine's fight against disease are recorded in the report. On the "good" side of the ledger, the fight against infantile paralysis makes the most dramatic showing. With the first full year of immunization this year, the Conservation Department asked Michigan State University researchers to conduct an extensive survey. The MSU study showed that 85 percent of the users were willing to pay a fee.

Yearling stickers are finding the most favor within the Conservation Commission. Wayland Ogden, deputy director of the Commission states that stickers would entail less administrative costs. Individual fees would require that collectors be on hand at all state parks.

The Automobile Club of Michigan was one of the first groups to support the Conservation Department on their fee program. The Michigan United Conservation clubs also are backing any plan the legislature adopts.

A jammed playground areas are forcing a decision. Park attendance swelled alarmingly after World War II and now reaches 12 million patrons yearly.

While a penthouse differs from the conventional concept of a state mansion, it possesses some important advantages, says James W. Miller, state controller. "It is the only way a residence can be built adjacent to the capitol without the expenditure of approximately $350,000 for land," Miller states.

The proposed mansion would be used to provide facilities for visitors and rooms for official functions as well as living quarters for Michigan's Governor and his family.

"PAY-AS-YOU-PLAY" proposals to fund additional revenue for the upkeep and improvement of state parks and recreational areas are gaining adherents both in the legislature and among sportsmen.

Several proposals, outlined in Michigan Mirror several weeks ago, now seem destined to be placed before the legislature early in the present session. Basically, the Michigan Conservation Commission wants to levy an admission fee to state parks or sell year-long stickers to park users. All fees would be used exclusively on park expansion and upkeep.

Opponents of the idea charge that a fee program would be an unfair levy on a few persons. To check the attitude of the people most affected if the plan becomes law — the park patrons themselves — the Conservation Department asked Michigan State University researchers to conduct an extensive survey. The MSU study showed that 85 percent of the users were willing to pay a fee.

Porchlights to Glow for Mothers' March Tonight

Some 20 members of the Novi Mother's club will stop at every light pole to accept contributions for the 1956 March of Dimes campaign.

The struggle for a safer school crossing at Novi road and Grand River ended in a draw this week with state officials approving safety flashers but refusing to lower speed limits.

The club will now investigate financing of the flashers, half of which cost will be paid by the state highway department.

Novi's Stake in Wixom Vote

When Wixom residents vote on incorporation as a village Tuesday, they will be making a decision that could vitally affect the growth and development of Novi township for years to come.

The Lincoln plant and offices alone will bring thousands of dollars annually to the local government. As world headquarters of the firm, it very likely will attract other industry and possibly hundreds of homes to the area.

Observers think, however, that it will go through. They say Wixom residents would face a higher tax incorporation regardless of the hardships that may occur.

Readers Speak Up: Condemns Action Of Board Member At Basketball Game

To the Editor: Mothers and fathers of Northville, this is an open letter to you.

I attended the two basketball games last Friday night in Brighton as I attend every home game in Northville. But Friday night I was really ashamed to see and hear what happened after the varsity game ended—while we were going to keep the game going.

The game at Brighton filled the gym. After all, this was a key game. Then the game ended and we started across the gym floor toward the exit. A lot of arguing was going on near our coaches, so I went up to listen and this is what I heard and saw, as a lot of people did.

A member of our school board, Mr. Robert Coolman, and his son, who I understand doesn't reside in Northville at present, giving Coach Stan Johnston a going over.

Here is what went on and very loud Mr. Coolman and son said Mr. Johnston was "nubbed from the shoulders up," he didn't know how to run the basketball team," he was "dumb from the shoulders up the way he ran the team tonight."

When Coach Johnston tried to reason with Mr. Coolman, he opened his mouth very loud and said, "remember, Stan, I got you your job."

When a coach with a record like Stan Johnston's, and other coaches we have here, are doing the job, win or lose, have to be talked to, or scared by some school board member, then I don't want my boy playing high school sports.

I have been in sports all my life. I was in charge for three years of 4500 boys for the Chrysler recreation program in Detroit. I showed Coachman Bill Rogell how to start his baseball school in Detroit throughout the summer vacation and I worked for him one year. I was always a believer in good sports make good men later on in life.

What does school board member Robert Coolman want to do, coach the basketball team? Then let him, I know if we lose a coach like Stan Johnston, who I know is one of the very best, I would hate to see him pop up at some other school and play against Northville.

Mr. Joe Krutch, 370 Rayson Northville

A Northville nurseryman served last week as program chairman for "Hortiarama," the 1957 convention of nurserymen and landscapers in Detroit.

- Different Denominations -
Some people seem to be overly exercised by the number of different denominations found in Christendom today. Through the New Testament Churches did not bear the variety of names that we have today, we need not suppose that over churches believed everything exactly alike. Nor need we suppose further that they all conducted their services just alike. Since God has created such a variety of human beings who vary in likes and dislikes it would not be any wonder that there were some difference among them, even as there is today. However, we must be careful not to carry this toleration for differences to the place where it denies or compromises the clear teaching of the New Testament Scriptures. We are allowed no latitude on the one way to heaven through personal faith in Jesus Christ. Many scriptures teach us how we ought to conduct ourselves after we become Christians, with these plain passages there can be no difference. But as to the order of our services, the time of meeting, whether formal or informal are left to individuals in the local Church to decide. People ought to choose their place of worship by carefully comparing what they teach with the scriptures. Then their choice will be one of convenience rather than of convenience.

Novi Home, Barn Damaged by Fire

An expensive Novi township ranch home suffered $20,000 damage last week when insulation between its walls began smoldering.

In a second blaze, a barn was totally destroyed by a fire believed started by transients.

The ranch home at 41528 Eight Mile was damaged Saturday morning when a fire broke out around a defective air clean-out door caused three layers of insulation to start burning, according to director of public safety Leo BeGo.

Three Novi fire trucks answered the call and firemen put out the fire after ripping out the wall around the smoldering area.

The home was recently remodeled by its owner, Jan Reef. Reef told BeGo he thought at first the fire was started by defective wiring in the electrical heating system.

In the second fire, firemen were unable to save a barn at 23713 Meadowbrook road, but did save two smaller buildings on the property.

The barn was owned by Sam Siollman of Detroit. A state fire marshal investigator reported to BeGo that the fire probably was caused by transients living in the barn.

End of a Flight from Fear

PREPARING FOOD TRAYS at Eastlawn is one of the jobs of "Jim" Cser. Helping him through the first days is the rest home's director, Mrs. Opal Imonen. Margit and Joseph have similar jobs at Eastlawn.

Three young Hungarians have ended their long flight from fear and cruelty by finding a home in Northville.

They came last week, less than two months after leaving their revolting homeland amidst threats of slave camps and starvation, of deportation and even death.

A ticket-seller, a miner, a truck driver — they are typical of the thousands of their countrymen who fled to avoid reprisals from the mighty Soviet machine that was all but pushed out of their country.

From their separate backgrounds, they have joined in a common present. All are working as orderlies at Eastlawn Resthaven, the extensive convalescent home high on a hilltop overlooking Northville.

There is Joseph Iles, 23, a former truck driver in the village of Level. A light is on his happiness, however, for Joseph had to leave his young wife, Maria, and their two children behind. Maria's mother wouldn't let them leave.

There is Imre Cser, 28, who worked as a miner. "Jim", as the people of Eastlawn have dubbed him, worked under the Russians in his village of Eged before the revolution hit.

There is Margit Lipardi, a pretty young woman whose mother is still in Debrecen. Though well-educated, Margit had been given a job as a ticket-seller in a Budapest railroad station.

They spend their days working under Mrs. Opal Imonen, a registered nurse who is the home's director. They hang mirrors, help unload trucks, push food carts to the cottages in back, clean rooms. They appear content in their work, knowing it will take time to learn the language and become accustomed to American life, so that they can find other ways to put their abilities to work.

Over meals, they gather with Mrs. Louise Nagy, one of the home's supervisors and a Hungarian by birth, to begin their studies of English—studies which they pursue eagerly. Long after Mrs. Nagy leaves, they can be seen in the dining room, pouring over an already dog-eared English-Hungarian dictionary.

Says Lawrence Keller, owner of the home and the man who arranged for them to come to Eastlawn:

"I've seldom seen such eagerness. They work hard, are anxious to learn, and have a spirit and friendliness that is hard to match. It's a very happy relationship for all of us."

The three have harrowing tales to tell of the revolution and their flight to Austria. But they speak casually and offhandedly, apparently seeing nothing remarkable in adventures which were shared by thousands of others during those several months.

For them, the important thing appears instead to be blotting out those days. They fled to forget, Margit and Joseph have similar jobs at Eastlawn.

Northville Council Proceedings

Regular meeting of Northville City Council was held at City Hall Monday Eve, Jan. 21, 1954, at 8:00 P.M.

Present: Mayor Claude N. Ely, Councilmen Allen, Reed and Stubevold.

Absent: Councilman Cantor.

Minutes of last regular meeting were read and approved.

Bills amounting to $6,221.25 from the General Fund and $254.65 from the Water Fund were presented. Moved by Reed, supported by Stubevold, that this recommendation be adopted. Carried.

The question of using parking meters after 6:00 P.M. on Friday was tabled until the next regular meeting.

The financial report for the period from July 1st to Dec. 31st, 1953, was presented to the Council.

Regarding the purchase of the Manning & Looklin property for a well site, Mgr. Robertson reported that he had talked with Mr. Manning and he wants the City of Northville to make an offer for this property. Mr. Robertson has also talked to Mr. Chase, who indicated that he did not want to sell. A well site on the property of the D & R Building Co. has been contemplated, and if a water supply can be located on this property it may not be necessary to negotiate for the Manning & Looklin property.

As to the date of meeting on the BOCA Building Code, Stanley Waterloo, Building Inspector, will be able to be present Monday Eve, Jan. 28, 1954, at 8:00 P.M., where the meeting is set for that time.

A request was made by Essie Nridar that a fire inspection of the business district be made, which matter will be brought up at the next meeting.

Councilman Reed again referred to the matter of the acquisition of the Hill property. The acquisition of this subject is included in the call for special meeting to be held Thursday Eve, Jan. 24, 1954.

Mayor Ely then asked if anyone in the audience wanted to bring anything before the Council. Residents of Oakwood Subdivision, Richard Martin and Sydney Fied, stated they desired if the sanitary sewer system in that location was adequate to take care of future expansion in that area if it is planned to use only a 10" sewer main and suggested that this matter should be considered in planning future development.

No further business appearing, meeting was adjourned at 11:20 P.M.

Mary Alexander, Clerk

About two-thirds of the students at the University of Michigan are residents of the state of Michigan, and it is anticipated that this will continue to be the pattern.

The next item to be taken up on the agenda was the division of assets committee report. After talking the Township proposal over at some length, it was decided to reject same, and the committee was instructed to arrange another meeting with the Township Board to see if an agreement can be arrived at as to the proper division of assets.

May Ely requested that Mr. Alder and Mrs. Wagenschutz, of the Wayne County Library Board, be present at this meeting.

The next item of old business was going over the contract between the City of Northville and the D & R Building Co. as prepared by the City Manager and Attorney. After same was read by Mgr. Robertson, some slight changes were suggested by Mr. Benackie, representing the D & R Building Co., and after careful consideration of several changes and additions proposed, it was decided that the contract should be revised, and Mayor Ely arranged for a special meeting to be held Thursday evening, Jan. 24th, 1954, at 8 P.M. for the purpose of acting upon the revised contract.

Regarding the parking in the two lots used by the City of Northville for municipal parking located at the corner of Center and Dunlap Streets and at 118 E. Dunlap St., the committee recommends that these two lots be met-

SPEAKING for the Record

By BILL SLIGER

The fate of the proposed 200-home subdivision on the Yorks Farm hinging in the balance of a decision rendered Thursday evening by Northville city councilmen.

"Due process of law" being what it is the 100-acre site annexed from Novi township by the City of Northville last June has been tied up in litigation since that time. Developers of the area, the D & R Building company, have been patiently waiting a decision so that subdividing could begin.

The company, with a great deal at stake, reached the deadline for assurance from the city that sewer and water facilities would be available to the subdivision. Without this assurance, necessary financing could not be obtained.

Originally, there was no question. City property is entitled to city facilities. But what if the court rules that the property belongs to Novi township?

The developers plan to build approximately 200 modern homes on paved streets with sidewalks, curbs, gutters and water and sewer systems ready to be hooked-up to the city's.

The homes, councilmen reasoned, are vitally needed. In addition the area will be an attractive improvement. To turn thumbs down on the request might result in a less desirable use of the land in the future.

And, there was still the strong possibility that the property would officially become a part of the city.

With all these points on the favorable side of the ledger, councilmen agreed to provide needed facilities. Cost to the subdivision, should it not be a part of the city, would be determined later.

Councilmen do not deny that the additional homes may make it necessary for the city to expand its sewer facilities. So may a new high school and an addition to the American school. So will the future, regardless of what happens today.

The strange set of circumstances required councilmen to set something of a precedent by their decision. It was done, we believe, with the welfare of the community in mind. Their thorough investigation and consideration of the many problems involved deserves to be recognized. Even those who may oppose the decision should not deny that Northville's council acted deliberately, and with an eye to the future and a better community for everyone.

Last week end we attended the 89th annual convention of the Michigan Press association at Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

Like all other conventions, it gives representatives of the 360 member newspapers a chance to exchange ideas and renew old acquaintances. The latter activity generally takes half the night.

Grayling Bids for Boys' Vocational School

A "SCHOOL THAT NOBODY WANTED" in the state Boys' Vocational School at Lansing now finds it has many friends.

BVS, an institution caring for boys with criminal records, has been a controversial issue the last few years in attempts to find a new location.

Pressure mounted beginning years ago to move the school out of Lansing. In 1952 some land was purchased for this purpose, but later diverted to other uses.

A site at Whitmore Lake was selected by the Department of Social Welfare. The controlling officer, Director Maxcy, a department director, explains that the choice was directed by a desire to be near the extensive medical and psychiatric facilities located in Ann Arbor, and also within a reasonable distance from the Detroit—where most of the boys live.

Whitmore residents immediately protested the decision. They point out that their present resort area is developing rapidly into a community similar to the present site, that reasons which make Lansing undesirable will exist soon in Whitmore. They also point out that BVS already over crowded psychiatric facilities, with the suggestion that BVS be located in the present site.

Many express valid reasons for not locating BVS at Whitmore Lake. They have placed considerable pressure on their state representatives to bring the matter before the legislature during the current session.

The city of Grayling now enters the picture. There, the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce and the County Board of Supervisors passed resolutions asking for BVS.

Both Hayes, secretary-manager of Chamber of Commerce, says "The whole town is for it. We'd like to see it we couldn't help these kids."

Several advantages for a site at Grayling are pointed out by Hayes. "It does not try to cost less than at Whitmore Lake. In fact, its main power after BVS.

Unlimited space is available. Cost per person a day is lower. Vocational training is available through the Conservation Department. Professional psychiatric help is available 45 miles away at Traverse City.

One important factor is missing for members of the Social Welfare Commission. A location near the city of Detroit is highly desirable. According to C.H. Turner, director, vice-chairman of the Commission, one of the greatest influences in rehabilitating the boys is regular visits from parents.

Since most of the boys in BVS come from the Detroit area, a move to a location would make weekly visits impossible for most families, Runniman says.

Many Michigan crimes could not be solved without the one man grand jury, say supporters of the law. They point out that it is the only way possible to protect witnesses from intimidation.

"What I did say" Staman commented, "was that a federal court could order the election somehow should get that—probably would rule against the incorporation. State courts are not the proper place to go for a township's territory and assets to be taken away without giving the entire township a right to vote on it.
