Studies for Adults

To the Editor: Residents of Novi have, from time to time, suggested an adult education program for the area. Since we do not have a high school, we obviously cannot offer shop courses, high school credits or subjects necessitating elaborate equipment. However with a library to become a reality in the near future, we could sponsor a series of discussion groups and lectures of interest to residents. The Educational and Cultural Development Committee of the Citizens Development committee would like to organize such a program.

We contemplate what might be termed "an intra-Adult education program" in which we would draw upon residents with special skills or talents to act as lecturers, instructors and discussion leaders. Provided there is sufficient support, we will also arrange for local units of interest. Discussion programs, such as for instance the "Great Decisions" recently sponsored by the Detroit Free Press, would be of great interest. We are bringing in outside lecturers where warranted by local interest.

Using the library building we can keep costs to a minimum, but we would expect to pay lecturers modest fee and would make small charges of students to cover fees. We would only offer one or two classes which there is sufficient enrollment to keep fees modest. Little or no charge would be necessary for discussion groups.

We would not expect to offer any program before September, but at present we would like to know what topics interest residents most and what classes are discussed. We would like to see a questionnaire program and circulate a questionnaire to gauge interest and support. Consequently we ask that respondents who are participating — either as student or teacher — attend the meeting and be counted.

Veterans Pension Plan To be Explained Here

A very important subject in the Veterans' world today is the new pension law. Public Law 86-211 which goes into effect July 1, 1960. Affected will be more than 47,000 Michigan veterans and their beneficiaries. Also concerned will be widows of World War II and widows of Korean conflict veterans who for the first time become eligible for pension benefits. The complicated new law provides higher benefits for some veterans and imposes new restrictions on others. A feature of the law is that beneficiaries must decide whether to continue to receive payments under the present pension law or transfer to the new program. A decision, once made, cannot be changed. It thus becomes essential that beneficiaries be fully informed in order to avoid a costly mistake.

A meeting explaining in detail the many features of the new pension law will be held at 8 p.m., Friday at the American Legion building in Northville. The meeting is scheduled to aid local veterans and their families. The changes included in the new law. Widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

A BETTER WORLD

Many new organizations have sprung up since the war and have pledged themselves to a better world. All of us will agree that many things are very different from what they were before the war. Some of these changes, however, are in the method of operating the present system. Some advocate programs of reformation; others recommend legislation; some — like us — think that the best way to improve the world is to become more aware of the fact that the Word of God declares that this world is destined as a fast-aging vessel? If Peter 3:12 declares, "Looking for and hasting upon the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being in fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?" Nevertheless we according to His promise look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. If we are looking for a better world here, we will be disappointed — but we can fix our eyes upon a distant shore where our dreams of a better world can be realized. Do you, dear reader, want to enjoy that time? Then turn to the Lord Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour for He is appointed of the Lord to be the "Way, the Truth and the Life."

Cora Made the Opener For 25th Time

Friday, April 22 was a beautiful day for 84-year-old Cora McDonald. She was shining the temperature of the high 80s and she was right there — with 53,652 seats, like this year, it usually ranges from 60,000 to 100,000. The opening game was with the Yankees — Lou Gehrig, Babe Ruth, Crosetti and Lazzari. "I guess it's been about 25 years," she recalled. She attended Friday's game with her friend, Mrs. Alma Krenner of Novi. For a while there were some doubts about making it to the stadium this year. Mrs. McDonald had been ill — confined to bed — for nearly two months. "I wouldn't be 'seriously surprised' if the Tigers did. They look like a ball team — full of pep and eagerness." There was one disappointment, however. "I didn't see Dykes come out and argue with the umpire. Oh, how that used to amuse me!" Another problem are those "bums" who are out there and before she knew it Cora was on her way to her seat via a wheelchair, courtesy of the management. "By golly, what a crowd. Never seen so many people. And even there usually more women at game," she concluded.

Village Adopts Long-Awaited Plat Ordinance

Adoption of the long-awaited village plat ordinance Monday night climaxed nearly five months of study and debate by members of the village planning board and the council. The plat ordinance, with its last-minute changes, received unanimous endorsement by both village bodies in a joint meeting held at the village hall. The planners voted 5-0 (four members were absent) to recommend adoption. Both the council and the planning board had stepped up their work on the ordinance in the past month so as to complete it before the start of spring construction. The plat ordinance, as envisioned by the planners, has six primary purposes: — To provide for orderly growth and development of the community; — To provide for a street framework adequate for good traffic circulation within the village and with its regional surroundings; — To provide for adequate provisions for water supply, sanitary sewerage, drainage and other health problems; — To provide for adequate provisions for public facilities such as schools, libraries, recreation areas and municipal facilities; — To provide an orderly method for processing and achieving of these purposes. Three of the most significant provisions of the ordinance (Number 20) are the minimum lot size requirements. They are: — On properties with all improvements installed, including sewers and water, the minimum lot size is 10,000 square feet or greater with a minimum width of 80 feet at the front or rear building line. — On properties that are unfurnished with either sewers or water, the minimum lot size shall be 15,000 square feet or greater with a minimum width of 100 feet at the front or rear building line. — On properties with neither sewers or water, the minimum lot size shall be 20,000 square feet or greater with a minimum width of 100 feet at the front or rear building line. One of the most controversial subjects discussed by the planners was the drawing up of the plat ordinance of subdivisions along major thoroughfares. As originally proposed, the ordinance provided four methods by which a developer might erect such a subdivision. After considerable discussion and three votes Monday, however, one method was deleted and another was changed. "Scratched was the provision for subdividing the plat contained within the rear of the houses facing the thoroughfare. And changed was the number of feet a lot must be set back from the thoroughfare where turn around for autos are required. It was changed from 100 to 80 feet." Another matter, which was discussed at length by the planners and finally tossed into the waste basket, was the provision for "Committed" areas located on major and secondary highways shall have access to major and secondary highways not nearer than 200 feet from the right of way line of public highways."

'Novi Park Indefinite' -- Clarkon

Representative S. James Clarkson gave a cautiously optimistic report to members of the Novi Citizens' Development committee Friday in reviewing efforts to win a state park for Novi. A bill sponsored by Clarkson providing for a park here was passed by the House two weeks ago and currently is resting in a Senate conference. Clarkson said a new amendment has been tacked onto the bill which might not satisfy Novi residents. The amendment, he explained, provides that the park be either established in Novi township or in a contiguous area outside the township. The Democratic representative indicated that if this new amendment is the only obstacle in the way of the park, it might be better to accept it than lose everything. "He thanked if you can get it done," he said. He added: "It's up to you people now to put on the pressure. There is little time left." Clarkson drew up his original amendment to the 1960-61 capital appropriations bill, which was passed by the House in 1959. It provided for the purchase of a state park in Novi. "My amendment," Clarkson said, "will feature that the park be not be spent until they are spent. It is not until they are spent. It is not until they are spent. It is not until they are spent." Clarkson concluded his remarks by reporting some of his personal experiences and appraisals of legislative action as a new member of the House. Other matters before the development committee included reports on school education, possible formation of a Novi parent-teachers association, the proposed Novi library, and the appointments to fill several vacant city commissions.

Sewer Survey Cost Revealed To Novi Heads

If Novi sewers it may have to pay up to $8,000 for its share of the preliminary study of the Rouge and Huron river water shed officials of the village and township were told last Thursday evening. R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland county department of public works, estimated this cost while outlining the steps for securing sewers. He waived aside any alarms by saying that this figure could possibly be reduced to $3,000 with the aid of the Housing & Home Financing agency. But even before a definite commitment of financial support, Novi must first discuss the cost with the department of public works that it desires and is willing to support sewer program, Alexander said. The majority of communities, which eventually would be served by the sewers, have notified the department, he continued, the multi-step process is to discuss the cost with the board and then submitted to the county board of supervisors for its consideration. Alexander said he was "pretty sure" the board of supervisors would give a good share of the cost for the estimated $8,000 preliminary studies bill — provided of course it could be shown that Southwestern Oakland county communities wanted sewers. While before, during or after these overall preliminary studies are made, it is very likely that Novi could be served temporarily by the extension of the Farmington Interceptor, the director explained. However, the extension of this system is predicated upon plans by Wayne county for its own sanitary sewer interceptors. If Wayne county plans to construct such a system within the next 10 to 20 years — and can assure the state health department that this sewer system will be large enough to handle Oakland county sewerage — the Farmington Interceptor could be used temporarily until Detroit's plan is materialized, Alexander said. Wayne county officials reportedly are studying two or three different sewer plans and probably will decide to adopt one of them within six months. Although Wayne county has been unable to make a definite commitment as yet, Clyde Palmer, Detroit sanitation engineer, has stated that his department "would look with favor upon accepting the sewage into the Farmington Interceptor from the areas outside of the original district, knowing that a solution will be forthcoming at some future date to remove the connections from the Farmington system."

New State Home-School Clinical Director Appointed

Dr. Robert Jaslow, formerly of Chambersburg, Penn., has been appointed clinical director of the Plymouth State Home and Training School, school officials announced this week.

As clinical director Dr. Jaslow will be responsible for the development and supervision of the institution's medical program. Dr. Jaslow received his undergraduate training at Lehigh university and his medical training at Jefferson Medical college in Philadelphia where he specialized in pediatrics. Following completion of his medical training, he was assigned to Camp Kilmer, New Jersey as post pediatric officer. After completing his army service at Camp Kilmer, Dr. Jaslow was appointed clinical director of the Pennsylvania State school Annex I, a 400-bed unit for custodial mentally retarded children located in Chambersburg. He served as clinical director for four years prior to coming to Northville.

Plans for Library Move Ahead Swiftly
Plans to establish a library in Novi moved ahead by giant steps this past week with the announcement that the public facility probably will be ready to start operation in September. Sanford Sawyer, chairman of the self-appointed library board, announced that members of the Citizens' Development committee Friday that the library would be opened for several months but that it is certain to be ready during the first weeks of the new school year. Library committee members met Monday night to coordinate their plans and discuss ways of assuring a successful library. Although the dates have not yet been set definitely, the proposed library would take place there within six weeks. During this week, all persons interested in the library will be asked to solicit donations throughout Novi. "We desperately need money as well as books," Sawyer explained. Anyone wishing to donate either is asked to call him at FI-2600. The purpose of Paint-up Week is to attract help in painting and decorating the library building. Sawyer said, "We could offer a varied program of lectures, discussion groups and instruction, granted interest and support from Novi residents. The program could offer opportunities to meet new people, broaden our scope and develop new skills. With real participation it would be a credit to the community." Under the preliminary plans as outlined by Sawyer, major charges would be made of students in the "go ahead" signal. The township has agreed to make "needed" repairs, including reinforcement of the building floor, Sawyer said.

Citizens' Subcommittee Eyes Education Program

Plans for an adult educational program here were under review at the general meeting of the Novi Citizens' Development committee. According to Don MacBride, a member of the education and cultural development subcommittee, his group is attempting to establish an educational program in conjunction with the proposed Novi library. "Although our limited facilities preclude courses requiring elaborate equipment," he said, "we could offer a varied program of lectures, discussion groups and instruction, granted interest and support from Novi residents. The program could offer opportunities to meet new people, broaden our scope and develop new skills. With real participation it would be a credit to the community." Under the preliminary plans as outlined by Sawyer, major charges would be made of students in the "go ahead" signal. The township has agreed to make "needed" repairs, including reinforcement of the building floor, Sawyer said.

The William Schulz's are newcomers but not strangers to Northville. Mr. Schulz is a brother to Mrs. John Northup of Clement road. Furthermore, in one of his several business interests, Mr. Schulz is associated with his brother-in-law in the home construction field.

So, naturally, the Schulz's new tri-level home at 4700 West Main street was constructed by the John Northup firm.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Schulz are career people.

While her husband is busy being an executive engineer for Continental Motors, an associate in the building business, and a registered stock broker, Mrs. Schulz could be traveling throughout the country performing her duty as buyer of junior dresses for the J. L. Hudson company.

Mrs. Schulz (Betty) has been with Hudson's for six years. She is a commercial art graduate of Michigan State university and enjoys copper enameling and making the family Christmas cards as hobbies.

Next Sunday the Schulz's home will be featured on television's Builders' Showcase.

Mrs. Schulz holds three degrees in mechanical engineering, automotive engineering and business administration. He was graduated from the University of Michigan and received degrees from the Chrysler Institute and the University of Detroit.

The Schulz's moved to Northville from Detroit in December. After apartment living, they are enjoying the spaciousness of their home and lot — which will keep them busy this summer in their spare, after-work hours.

The Citizens' Curriculum Study Group will open the next meeting to the public.

A special speaker, Dr. William K. Durr from Michigan State university will discuss "Trends in Education of the Academically Superior Child". Dr. Durr teaches a methods course to teachers on how to teach the gifted child. Questions from the committee have been provided Dr. Durr as a basis for his talk.

Because of the widespread interest in the problems of education of the academically superior child, the committee decided that the opportunity to hear Dr. Durr should be extended to all interested persons. The meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the junior high school library.

Easter Seal Collections Lag as Drive Nears End

The crippled children and adults of western Wayne county are counting on late returns to bring the 1950 Easter Seal campaign goal closer. Just four days before Easter, contributions were running somewhat behind those of last year, when less than $30,000 of a $50,000 goal came in.

The local program of the Easter Seal Society of western Wayne county is based on this once-a-year campaign for funds. Although special events and contributions for special purposes come in throughout the year, the Easter Seal campaign, always geared to the Easter season, measures the interest of the general community in maintaining services in western Wayne county for our physically handicapped neighbors. The placement of canisters in business locations, and in some communities school campaigns, or Lily Parades, the person to person appeal supplements the mail distribution of seals.

According to Gill Glasson, local chairman for the sponsoring Northville Rotary club, $68,49 has been collected to date from mail and the parade solicitations. In 1950 Northville area residents contributed $1,978.49.

The program in western Wayne county includes the maintenance of the Easter Seal Center, headquarters for individual and group services; classes and clubs for physically handicapped young people; a Day Camp for crippled children; a loan clinic containing wheelchairs and crutches; information and consultation concerning resources for special help; assistance in arranging transportation to hospitals and clinics; proper for diagnostic examinations, braces or other special equipment when no other resource is available.

Those who did not receive Easter Seals in the mail may send their contributions directly to the Easter Seal Society, Box 101, Inkester, Michigan. Seals are available for packages and letters, on requests to the Easter Seal Society.

Parents, Students Forming Proper Conduct Committee

More than 50 junior high school students and parents interested in developing certain standards of conduct for youngsters of this age level met Monday night in the Community Building and decided to organize a proper conduct committee. The idea came about as the result of a questionnaire dealing with various aspects of student conduct submitted by the school to parents of Junior High students earlier this year.

Principal Harry B. Smith and David Jerome, president of the Junior High School Student Council, presided over initial discussion. David indicated the students had expressed a desire for some pattern to which all parents and students could refer to as a guide to proper conduct in various home, school and social relationships. Principal Smith stated this was to be a student-parent effort, and the school was only providing an opportunity for the group to meet, organize and develop mutually agreeable tenets in the subject. The success and enforcement of any program devised will be directly related to acceptances and practices of the program in each participating home.

Findings and recommendations will be reported to the group as a whole at a meeting planned for the Community Building Tuesday, May 17 at 7:30 p.m. All interested parents and their student youths are invited to attend and participate.

NEWS FROM THE LEGION Bob Colquhoun - Reporter POST 147

Last Friday night a meeting was held at the American Legion Home concerning the new pension law which becomes effective July 1, 1950.

The meeting, arranged by our post service officer, Bob Miller, was informative as well as beneficial to everyone who attended.

Dr. Wilbur H. Johnston, the state service officer and also a member of our local post, was the speaker. Dr. Johnston explained the difference between the present law and the new law. In some instances the veteran or his widow is better off under the old law and in other cases the new law is the better.

Under the new law widows and children of deceased veterans of World War II and the Korean war become eligible for pension protection on the same basis as those of World War I veterans.

This means that the veteran did not have to be suffering from a service-connected disability at the time of his death, or the widow that she was unable to make his family eligible for a pension.

The Lloyd H. Green Post would like to make sure that any widows and children in our community who need financial help know about this new pension and make application. The new pension, like the old one, is awarded strictly on a basis of need, with income limitations in effect.

Anyone interested should contact Post Service Officer Bob Miller.

1800 See Young Artists' Exhibit

The paintings exhibited by the young artists included modern, abstract, realistic and portraiture studies and lined the walls in the lobby and cafeteria section of the Community Building—as shown above and below.

THE NOVI NEWS

This group is typical of the young art students who exhibited at the two-day art show in Northville last week end. Each had exhibits on display — and each "pitched-in" to help arrange the displays. Shown (l. to r.): Ruby Curry, Beth Farley, Dennis Schommer, Theo Wajcik (kneeling), Walter Chmura, Show Promoter Delores Teskha, Cornelia Shaw (kneeling), Carolyn Morrison, Annette Duquette, Sally Treppa, Gloria Farley and Dennis Plankner (kneeling).

A group of 45 young artists proved last week end that people will turn out to see exhibits of good art. And because one of these students of the Detroit Society of Arts and Crafts happened to be a local girl, Delores Teskha, Northville was chosen as the "proving ground".

The two-day showing at the Community Building attracted 1,800 registered visitors. Perfect weather helped make the experiment an overwhelming success.

For Delores it marked her debut as a "promoter". The entire show was her idea. She will graduate this spring, having concluded her fourth year at the Detroit art school.

The exhibit included more than 200 pieces including works in oils, water colors, sculpture, commercial illustrations, lettering, metal craft, jewelry and ceramics.

Delores reported that 10 of the items on display were sold. Incidentally, two of Delores' own exhibits were among those purchased.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Teskha of 215 West Main street.

Her "all student suburban art show" is believed to be the first of its kind. From its success here, undoubtedly it will not be the last.

GROUPING THE EARLY GRADES

This is another in the series of articles on education prepared by C. E. Becker and John W. Swain, both members of Northville's Citizens Curriculum Study Group. This week's article concerns "Grading Early Elementary." At educational sessions, the claim is often made by the school administrators that present their comments and explain current practices in the local school system.

One of the most interesting administrative devices in current educational practice is the "Ungraded Early" system. This is a type of school organization that has become popular in many parts of the country. The theory behind it is that children who enter the first grade at a certain age, such as five, have not developed enough to handle the first grade. A few may be able to do so, but many will have to be held back for a year or longer. This is a costly procedure, both in terms of money and in terms of the child's development.

Proponents of this method claim that the education of these children is improved since they move at their own learning pace and so learn better with fewer emotional problems. The people in favor of the "Ungraded Early" system say that it helps both the student and the teacher. The teacher of a given class of children of the same mental age whether lower or higher than their chronological age, is better able to teach them. The superior child in an ungraded class, where acceleration is practiced, would have a sense of accomplishment at his own level and be mentally challenged. It has been said that this grouping of the superior children forms an elite with consequent snobbishness. James J. Gallagher, of the University of Illinois, in a publication of the National Education Association, states, "Another important contribution of these studies has been to indicate that the gifted children do not become snobbish or develop attitudes of superiority from special classes."

Indeed, the realization that there are many other children of equal or superior ability to his own often has a humbling effect on the gifted child. If this is true, the opposite would seem to be true. That is, in the slow learner group, a child would not have to struggle as hard and be free of a feeling of failure and so would have a well balanced feeling of achievement. This claim is often made by the school administrators who present their comments and explain current practices in the local school system.

Farming Players In 'The Hasty Heart'

The Farmington Players, whose "Players Barn" is located on 12 Mile road in Farmington township, have chosen John Patrick's comedy, "The Hasty Heart", as its next production. It will open Friday, May 6 and will be given again Saturday, May 7 and the following weeks end on May 13 and 14. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Described as "a comedy about a tragedy," "a war play which is not about the war", the play is set in a British hospital in Burma and depicts the conflict between a bitter, lonely young Scottish sergeant and his fellow-patients along with the hospital nurse who tries to give him the friendship which he wants but which he does not know how to accept.

As the soldier learns how to take and give friendship for the first time in his isolated life, he discovers that he is afflicted with a disease from which he must inevitably die in a few weeks.

According to all advance reports the atmosphere of the play is not somber, it is that of a heartwarming comedy.

MAP EXPERTS - Eighth grade students at Novi school grasped the "feeling of land surface" last week as a result of a project started by their teacher, Mrs. Bella Bowers. The students selected maps of various countries, drew them on a board, and then proceeded to build land contours with the use of a salt, flour and water mixture. The maps were then colored. Two of the students, Jim Marez and Dawn McCallum, are shown above working on one of the maps.

A SENSE OF VALUES

At a very recent meeting of laymen who gathered on the sabbath to study and to share their experiences of life, there was introduced into the discussion a very worthy thought that helps us to understand the teaching of the Master, "What shall I profit a man, if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

Here is the thought: "A man is poor when he has lost the confidence of his friends; when people who are nearest to him do not believe in him; when his character is hated by others; and when he is despised by the world." Here is the thought: "A man is poor when he makes money at the expense of his character; when principle does not stand up supreme in his ideals. When ideals are clouded he is in danger of the worst kind of poverty. To be a poorhouse is not necessarily to be poor if one stands four-square to the world. If one has not been the knee of principle to advance he is not poor though he may be compelled to beg."

Mayor, Supervisor Urge Residents To Join in Campaign

Northville Mayor A. Malcolm Allen and Township Supervisor George L. Clark this week proclaimed April 30 to May 30, beginning Saturday with the traditional "scrub-down" of the business district streets, as Beauty Northville Month in the third annual official event in a community wide beautification and betterment program.

"During the next month every citizen should devote himself fully to the Clean Up Program at home, at work, in his neighborhood and wherever needy projects need manpower. By concentrating on beauty and betterment exclusively during this period we can make this community the best in Michigan."

"For yourself, your family, and your friends and your community we urge that you Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up, Plant-Up, Light-Up and Keep-it-Up," the Mayor and Supervisor requested.

PAINT STRAINER
To improve a paint strainer tie a piece of a discarded nylon stocking in a double thickness over the top of a clean paint can. Be sure to permit the material to sag slightly in the center in order to form a small well.

SETTING A GOOD EXAMPLE—Being chairman of Northville's annual clean-up campaign this year undoubtedly had something to do with John Swain's activities last week end. With the help of his sons, Brian and John (left and right), and their cousin, Mike Swain (center), the "Beauty Northville" chairman gathered an accumulation of trash from his neighborhood for disposal at the city dump. Swain hopes that every resident will do his individual part to help beautify and keep Northville clean and attractive.

YOU CAN HELP...

Saturday our community will begin its third annual Beauty Northville campaign.

As most residents know, our two previous "clean-up drives" have been tremendously successful. In both instances Northville was awarded first place in the National "Cleanest Town" contest for the evidence of effort made to improve the community.

The "Beauty Northville" campaign, as emphasized in the proclamation by Mayor Allen and Supervisor Clerk elsewhere on this page, represents more than a "committee" effort. Actually, it is a project for the improvement of our community that every resident and businessman can contribute toward.

The collective result of our individual efforts — small as they may seem — can be momentous. Coupled with the organized committee projects, they add up to a finer, cleaner, more wholesome community in which to live.

So we urge you, as individual citizens of our community, to take part in this campaign. Whatever your contribution — a neatly trimmed yard, trash removal, re-painting or tree planting — it all helps to "Beauty Northville".

Errors Plague Mustangs Lose 2nd I-Run Game In 7th Inning Mistake

There's no real joy in Northville today as Coach Al Jones prepares to send his baseball team onto Milford's diamond this afternoon. The coach isn't trying to hide his disappointment over the 2-2 record compiled by the Mustangs to date. Both losses, Jones insists, were sure winners last for a number of fielding "blunders".

Lanky Dan Brown, who is credited with one win and one loss, probably will be Jones' choice for mound duty this afternoon. Wade Deal will be behind the plate.

Jones' latest disappointment came Monday afternoon at Bloomfield Hills where the Barons broke up a tie in the seventh inning with an unearned run to grab the victory, 2-1. Craig Bell, who was relieved in the seventh by Brown, was tagged with the loss. But it was a throwing error by Brown which resulted in the Barons' winning run.

Fred Jaynes led off in the last half of the seventh with a single. Tom Maron gained first on an error by the first baseman in handling a bunt to set up the game winning situation. Jim Gerhardt then laid down a bunt to Brown, who scooped up the ball and fired late to third to force Jaynes.

The ball bounced off the head of Jaynes who tripped on the base. Knocked dirty by the throw, Jaynes allowed only three hits, walked five, and struck out seven.

Last Friday, the Mustangs finished on top of a 16-1 slugfest — clouded with errors — here against West Bloomfield. Northville collected 12 hits with 31 batters going to the plate before the seven-inning contest ended. Tom Swain, who relieved Brown in the fifth, was credited with the victory. Left fielder Roger Atchinson collected five hits and scored three runs to lead the Mustangs back at the plate.

The Lakers sent 36 batters to the plate in collecting nine hits. They committed five errors to Northville's eight.

Shonta to Trade Books For Pro Football Uniform

A 22-year-old teacher will trade his books for a football this summer in an attempt to join the ranks of the professional gridder.

Charles "Chuck" Shonta, the young junior high school social studies teacher who coached Northville's first wrestling team this past season, has signed a "pending" contract to play with the Boston Patriots in the newly organized American Football League next fall.

Shonta received his invitation to join the Patriots from Lou Saban, the Boston mentor who coached at Western Illinois a year ago when Shonta was playing with rival Eastern Michigan University. The new Boston coach was impressed with Shonta's stellar performance with Easterns as an all-conference end. So when he was handed his "pro" job he gave Shonta the nod.

However, the Northville teacher has not clinched a position — or the job as yet. His contract stipulates that he will receive no pay until he can show Saban that he's ready for professional football. Training starts in July so Shonta should know by fall whether or not he will return to his books. Northville has granted Shonta a

SPEAKING for the Record

By Bill Silger

Saturday a crew of Northville businessmen will scrub-down Main and Center streets in the shopping district as the traditional kick-off to the month-long Beauty Northville campaign.

Something more permanent than a mere "face-washing" will be subtly suggested by this year's committee when a group of young prospective architects and commercial artists (at both high school and college level) visit town and draw their impressions of what should be done to redesign (and modernize) the shopping area.

Some definite thought has been given to this subject by the city planning commission and its consultant, as well as a number of businessmen.

Ideas have been tossed around for years and undoubtedly several of these suggestions will arise again in the drawings submitted by the young artists.

One of the most frequently discussed plans for Northville's shopping district parallels very closely the rejuvenation of a two-block area in Kalamazoo (see picture).

The last edition of The Michigan Journalist, official publication of the department of journalism at the University of Michigan, carried this picture along with an interesting article concerning the rejuvenation of downtown areas.

As can be noted by the photo, Kalamazoo eliminated all vehicular traffic in the heart of its downtown shopping district creating a "mall". The experiment was introduced last August 19 and has met with great success. Actually, it is merely the first step in a long-range plan.

How would this work in Northville? Let's toss out some of the ideas already advanced, add a few, and for the moment dream along with young planners who will take drawing board in hand later next month.

First, let's imagine a mall, similar to Kalamazoo's, starting at the intersection of Main and Center streets and continuing eastward on Main street to Hutson.

A traffic circle would be formed around the mall with Center, Cady, Church, Hutson and Dunlap streets forming the circle.

It's obvious that some problems would be posed by this plan, but assuming that Dunlap and Cady streets would eventually develop commercially, these streets could be widened.

So far the plan is relatively simple and could be tried on an "experimental" basis.

Creating a mall opens more avenues for development. Assuming again, for the moment, that the proposed re-location of the A&P supermarket should take place, an entire new lot for commercial buildings would be opened up to further enhance the "shopping circle".

With the modern supermarket on Cady facing the mall the area between Mainville's drug store and the Presbyterian church along the Main street mall would be off-street parking.

The business buildings now standing in this area could become a part of a new row of structures facing the mall and parking area and in line with the supermarket, extending eastward toward the church.

To bring the Dunlap area into the circle more lightly, approximately 18 feet of the present A&P building could become an "arcade" leading from parking areas behind the Main street stores to the mall.

The present A&P building could become one large store with entrances on Main street, in the rear, and in the arcade, or could become a series of smaller stores with their show windows and entrances lining the arcade, similar to those found in metropolitan office buildings or hotels.

Meanwhile, plans could be continued to develop parking and alley facilities behind the retail stores on the west side of Center between Main and Dunlap. Access to the lot is now gained from Dunlap and Main street, however city councilmen have indicated an interest in acquiring Wing Street property for another entrance and exit.

This face-lifting would provide adequate parking facilities, attract new businesses, encourage proper and full use of available land in the present commercial district, save the business district from possible deterioration and give the growing population a complete and convenient center in which to transact business.

A word of caution to all such plans is extended by John W. Hyde, professor of planning at U of M, in the Michigan Journalist article referred to earlier. In commenting on redevelopment plans in smaller cities he points out there is a "real danger that lack of planning may permit some cities to be 'mailed to death'."

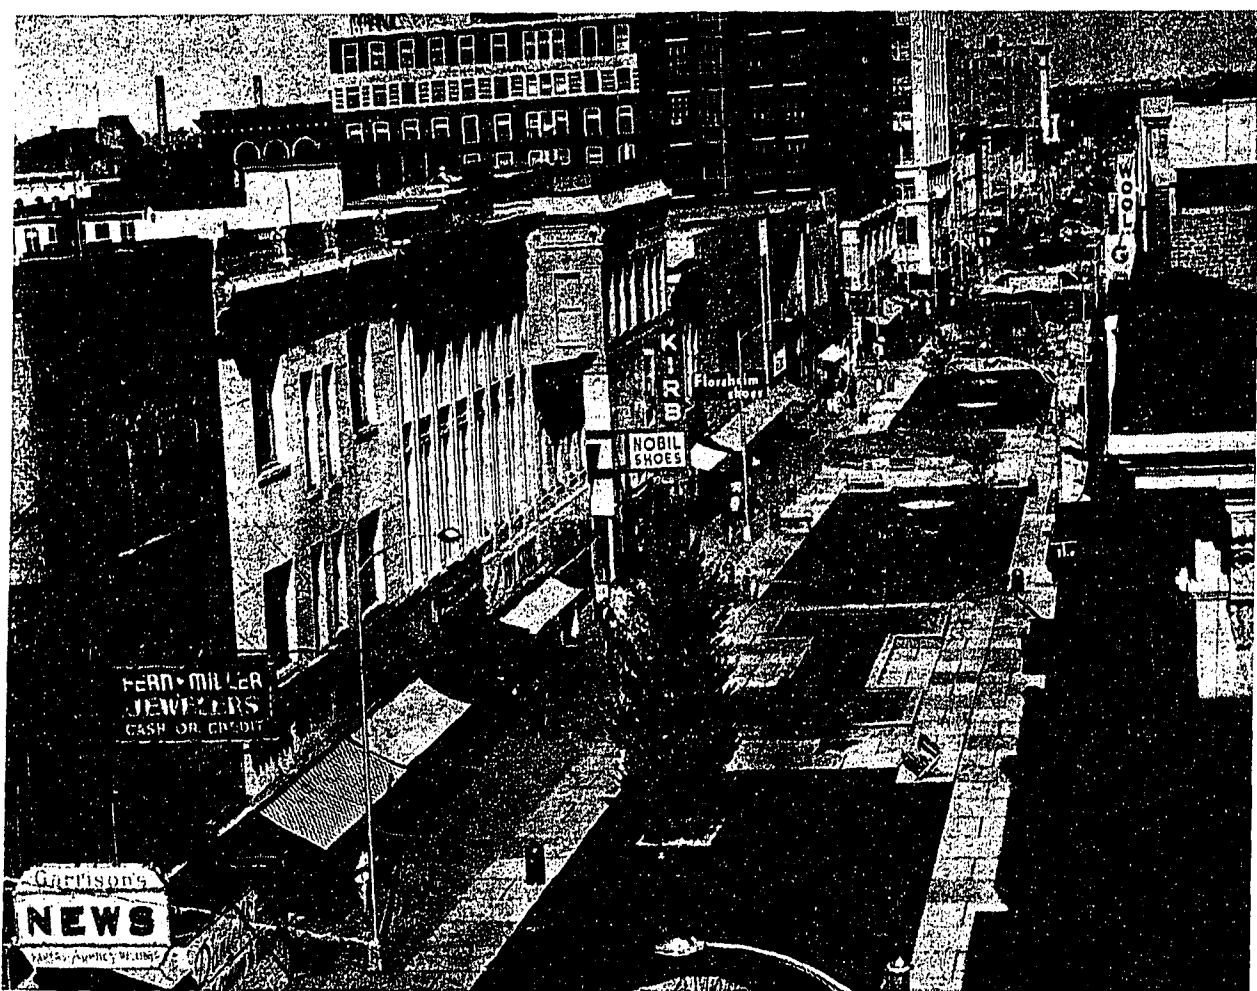

But he emphasizes that the business center of a community is really a "cultural center, a place where people like to meet, where they like to shop." He adds that "downtown businessmen, as well as public bodies, haven't enough of their capital for redevelopment."

In short, he places heavy emphasis on planning with a common approach to the problem of the entire business district.

While nearly every merchant and city official will tell you that "something must be done" to rejuvenate the business district, nothing specific is being done.

A major accomplishment of "Beauty Northville" month could be the formation of a study committee by the Retail Merchants Association to tackle the problem.

With city assistance this committee could examine the conglomerate of ideas that represent the thinking of experts and laymen and come up with a program tailored for Northville.

A mall for Northville's Main street? Kalamazoo created a two-block mall, as shown above, in the heart of the downtown district.

You, Too, Can be Candidate for Governor

IF YOUR political tensions are soaring during this election year, take heart, Michigan law makes it possible for the average voter to take an active part in many areas of politics.

First, state law opens the nominating process to all voters through the direct primary. Secondly, state law makes every effort to see that the average citizen can vote and even take part in running the election machinery.

Under Michigan's primary election law voters nominate the governor, lieutenant governor, members of the legislature, United States senators and representatives in Congress, and all county officials.

No one needs party sanction — nor the approval of any group — to run for office. Any qualified voter may become a candidate and circulate nominating petitions.

All you need is a few signatures and your name will appear on the primary ballot. The number needed is small. For governor, for instance, a candidate needs signatures equal in number to only one percent of the vote cast in the last general election for his party's candidate for secretary of state.

A party which was in the ballot in the general election might receive so few votes that it would be dropped from the ballot in the next election. This happened to all the minority parties in 1958, but they can get back on the ballot just as if they were a new party.

However, since none of the minority parties polled as much as five percent of the total vote cast for all for county officials or for the state candidates for secretary of state in 1958 general election, they can't take part in the August primary this year.

Instead, they must nominate all their candidates at conventions or caucuses and certify the names to the secretary of state. Then, if they petition to get their party on the ballot, their candidates can run in the November election.

This may seem like a tedious process, but it guarantees that minorities, no matter how small or unsuccessful, can always appeal directly to the voters in a general election.

It has kept minority parties such as the Prohibition party, Socialist Labor and Socialist Worker parties on the ballot in election after election.

So much for candidates and parties. If you as an individual want to help out with the election process you can.

You might ask your township or city election board to appoint you to the board of election inspectors. These inspectors are the workers who actually conduct the election and count the votes in each precinct. By law no more than half of the precinct inspectors may belong to one party so even in precincts dominated by a particular party members of another party must assist in the election.

You might also serve as a challenger for your party. Challenge a vote if you see irregularities. Keep an eye on the voting on election day and may challenge the right of person to vote if they think they are not qualified.

And of course any voter may watch the election inspectors count the ballots after the polls are closed.

This may seem like a tedious process, but it guarantees that minorities, no matter how small or unsuccessful, can always appeal directly to the voters in a general election.

Look at the Bright Side

Babson Park, Mass. — I am a statistician — not a politician. Most statisticians promise the impartial truth; while most politicians appear to promise what will get them the most votes. As a result of the latter, the following facts are entirely true. People allow themselves to get scared and vote foolish sums of money, thinking that they will thereby have security, freedom from accident and unemployment.

Note These Figures: Although the daily newspapers feature crime, yet only one in 10,000 will tomorrow suffer or witness any crime. When a man is killed by lightning it is reported all over the country, yet only one man out of every 5,000,000 will be killed by lightning in the next very bad storm. Business failures are increasing, but they are decreasing on a percentage basis. The stock market is going down before it can turn up. If it goes down any further there will be no more money.

What 40 Years Have Taught Me: Every Sunday I read a chapter from the book "A WAY TO PEACE, HEALTH AND POWER" (published by Scovel & Scrip, 78 Chestnut St., Boston, for $2). At the end of the book are several blank pages on which I write a line each month about something I had learned that day. The book is constantly being read by me. The same optimism is needed in business. Things run on about the same from generation to generation. Human nature is not changed. We continue to spend one third of our life in sleep; and the less we eat, the longer we live.

JUST ONE YEAR AGO these two Northville children, David and Bethie King, were seriously burned when a jet plane crashed into the heart of the city near their home. The pilot of the jet, Major John Moulter, was killed.

An Anniversary Recalls Tragedy

For two Northville children, the memories of a sickening crash, flaming wreckage and painful burns have not been dimmed by the passage of time.

So long as the scars remain, Bethie, 4, and her brother, David, 11, will be reminded of the silver jet which plummeted from the sky and into their Northville backyard one year ago this week.

But Bethie and David are not the only persons who remember these memories. Their parents, Police Chief and Mrs. Eugene King, 47 South Rogers, remember them as well.
