

SPEAKING for the Record

On June 13 voters in Northville and Novi will elect new members to their respective boards of education.

Tomorrow, Friday, is the deadline for registration for the election.

Most residents, of course, are registered. To be a registered school voter one must only be recorded as a voter with his township, village or city.

For those who haven't been voting in their municipal elections, and are therefore not registered, or for those newcomers who have not yet bothered to register — Friday is the last day.

But no matter how many residents of the school district have their names listed, it's of little consequence if they do not bother to go to the polls on election day.

The small turnout at the last school elections in both Northville and Novi is disgraceful. Especially when one considers the often-heard criticisms of school taxes, etc.

In Northville this year the largest field of candidates ever for the school board has entered the race. Monday night, before a sparse crowd of about 100 persons these candidates spoke at a P.T.A. sponsored open meeting.

At the same meeting Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman and City Manager John Robertson explained the proposed community building sale, which will also appear on the Northville election ballot.

I am sure that, like myself, the audience at the P.T.A. meeting was greatly impressed by the remarks of the candidates. It is no thing to have a great number of candidates; it is even more gratifying to know that each possesses high qualifications and abilities.

These people are taking time and effort from their private lives because they want to help make our community and school system the best possible. They know that the job is demanding and thankless, yet they have volunteered their service.

The very best that we can do as voters is become acquainted with the candidates and then VOTE.

Next week pictures and biographies of all candidates will appear in the newspaper. Look them over — then go to the polls June 13.

State Needs 'Playroom'

Hitler said Germany needed living room, but what Michigan needs is a playroom.

Increased demand for outdoor recreation will outrun available facilities unless new land use policies and investment programs are adopted.

That's the national picture and Michigan, the "Water Wonderland," is highly concerned because it is to top them for tourists.

The state took a step toward providing more parks, beaches and recreation areas with the so-called "sticker fee" bill which became law in May. The law permits a 10 million dollar bond issue for land acquisition and park development.

However, the Conservation Department says complications in getting the program into effect mean no real significant gains can be registered at least until next year.

This is when national authorities predict a 7 percent yearly increase in visits to federal and state outdoor recreation areas.

At that rate, there will be a 13-fold increase in tourism by the beginning of the 21st century. Three ways have been proposed to take care of the campers, picnickers and hikers.

The first is adding more acres for recreation. But that costs money and raises other problems.

Another way is to intensify the use of existing facilities. More camping places, picnic areas and sanitary facilities can be added so that large numbers of people can use the parks.

This method takes away some of the wilderness qualities of the area and can be expected to cut down wildlife populations. The competition for living space — or playing space — between animals and humans has already caused some concerned nature lovers.

Schleigh categorized rumors as wishful thinking, fear rumors and hate rumors. He said a way to combat falling victim to rumors is to check all things heard for accuracy, source and credibility.

The Baltimore policeman also offered one piece of advice — but only for law enforcement men — but for everybody.

"Don't be gullible," he said.

Storm warnings. During blizzards of flooding that marked the beginning of Michigan's spring, a new problem faced those who report bad conditions. It involved whether to follow the procedure of muting weather reporters. When things get really rough in the state, should they issue a small car warning?

Roger Babson Analyzes Summit Split

Babson Park, Mass. — It does not seem reasonable that the Summit Conference of the four largest world governments broke up suddenly in a tumult without a cause.

Khrushchev must have known for a long time that we were flying spy planes over Russia and that it was a routine thing with our Intelligence Service. Surely it could not have been the real reason for the Summit Conference breakup.

Something else must have happened to cause Khrushchev to give President Eisenhower an ultimatum and demand that the subject apology which Khrushchev, of course, knew he would not get.

It also was a general surprise when President Eisenhower indicated that the U-2 spy plane would be suspended, at least for the time being, increased demand for outdoor recreation will outrun available facilities unless new land use policies and investment programs are adopted.

One site for a future park was all but gaged when the Legislature approved money for the Park and Recreation Department to acquire a 100-acre tract near Tawas City.

Voting machines have a row of levers that look almost like teeth, and they are gobbling up the "paper ballot precursors" in Michigan like so many peanuts.

Secretary of State James M. Hare reports four out of five Michigan voters will cast their ballots on machines this year.

Voting, like other facets of life, is becoming automated. The advantage of using mechanical means for casting ballots are many, however, spread and accuracy, both in counting the votes and recording them if necessary are two chief ones.

The human fatigue factor never enters in when the voting machine is doing the counting automatically. And there is never any doubt about what a person means as he marks his ballot.

The danger of spreading rumors was pin-pointed recently by a speaker at Michigan State University.

What may have made Khrushchev so ugly and insistent on an apology from Eisenhower is that

Olson Blasts Public Officials Then Resigns

But before the council meeting ended at 1:30 a.m. — almost five hours after it was begun — the manager was forced to resign again in the face of outright dismissal. His second resignation was promptly accepted by the council in a 4-1 vote. The resignation became effective Tuesday.

In light of the resignation, the council will meet Monday to (1) possibly interview an unemployed city manager, namely Larry Savage — formerly of Cheboygan and Saginaw, to learn whether he will accept a "temporary" position; (2) accept the resignation of Fred Olson if Crupl should fill the manager's office until a permanent appointment is made; and (3) take action to advertise for a manager.

Olson apparently withdrew his resignation because supporters rallied behind him, presenting petitions to the council urging the officials to keep him on the payroll.

Soured by this support, which included at least half of the crowd of 225 people who jammed into the building, Olson launched an attack on two public officials — Police Chief Leo DeGale and Councilman Eugene Chiswick. He read the charges, which ranged from breaking and entering to using profanity, in a prepared statement and then himself as well as between the council and the people.

From out of his bedlam came several suggestions — all of which appeared to be welcome as the charge, Olson was asked to prove or disprove misconduct of public officials; another attempt to bring about a city improvement association to bring about a method of combining the township supervisor; and finally, suggestions that Olson be both fired and retained because of his "inability" and his "ability" as an administrator.

Council action which prompted Olson's resignation, which he said was "a poor way to judge a man" and indicated that he was not a manager, but that he would vote with the majority.

It was then that Olson verbally submitted his resignation for the second time. Tuck again dissented as the council voted to accept it.

Baby Survives 'Drowning' Following Rescue by Father

The father of 13 children nervously spotted her in a water hole he had dug where just five days earlier his baby daughter lay half submerged and near death.

His voice broke as he spoke: "She looked just like a doll floating there. Her head under the water. I screamed for my boy. He held my hand and I reached into the water to get her. She was cold and I knew she was dead."

But somewhere in her little body there was a spark of life — and her father, Daniel Kenny, 2953 West 12 Mile road, found it.

Little 18-month-old Peggy had ridden in the cab of her father's truck as he drove to the rest of his pig farm to help remove a bulldozer stuck fast in the wet, black earth.

Kenny left his daughter in the cab, walked yards a little while later. Kenny started back up the hill. He saw the truck door open, his daughter gone. Frantically, he raced back checking each hole as he ran. He spotted her in a water hole he had dug where just five days earlier his baby daughter lay half submerged and near death.

Three Area School Elections Monday

R-3 Rezoning Case Takes New Twist

An odd twist to the Pontiac trail rezoning case prompted the Novi council to sidestep the rezoning of its farm land to a special election Monday night.

As expected, Clerk Mary Wallace reported that more than enough of the signatures on a petition presented to the council were legitimate to call for the election. Of the 392 signatures on

"I understand there is considerable opposition to this rezoning," he wrote from Florida. "I certainly did not intend to create a problem in the village or contribute to one, and I am agreeable that the property should be rezoned for zoning purposes as it was prior to the rezoning."

According to Village Attorney Howard Bond, who indicated that the village has 30 days from Monday in which to set the election date, the council has two courses of action — change the zoning back to an agricultural district and set an election date and let the people decide the question.

Rather than act on it immediately in light of Buffry's letter, the council decided to turn over the matter to the planning board for study and recommendation.

The referendum move sparked by the village manager and the Novi Citizens Association followed the council's action in April approving the rezoning of the village's property located on the trail between Beck and West Lakes. The 34 council vote came after a 5-2 decision by the planning board to recommend the rezoning.

Another unexpected development in the rezoning case was the resignation of Fred Olson's suggestion that major village roads be widened by 20 feet, said, was made because an examination of the present budget and the newly adopted 1960-61 budget showed that some "extra money" would be available.

His suggestion naturally drew support from Councilman Paul Anderson who has long advocated widening of all village roads. But the mayor and Anderson were not in their opinion.

In other business, the resignation of Mrs. Mary Wallace, village clerk, was accepted "with regret" by the council. Mrs. Wallace submitted her resignation, effective July 15, because she desired to spend more time with her family.

Five Novi Candidates Seek Two Board Seats

Area voters will go to the polls Monday to fill 10 vacancies on three school boards in Novi, Walled Lake and Northville school districts.

In addition, electors in the Walled Lake and Northville school districts will be asked to vote on three proposals, two in Walled Lake and one in Northville.

In the Novi school district, two incumbents will tangle with three newcomers in a battle for two three-year seats. No proposals will appear on the ballot.

The incumbents are Jack Crawford and Dr. Harold Morris. Crawford, currently treasurer of the board, has been a member for 11 years. His fellow board member, Dr. Morris, was elected to a one-year term last July following his appointment to the board in January to fill the vacancy created when Kenneth Bernard resigned and moved to California.

Seeking to unseat the incumbents are: William Deane, a budgeting-accounting specialist at Wayne State University; Walter Ambinder, Ph.D., an assistant professor of clinical and educational psychology at Wayne State University; and Jack Crawford, a clinical psychologist for Detroit Recorder's Court.

Novi board members holding posts not up for election are President Arthur Heip, Russell Taylor and Edward Ewing.

Persons living in Walled Lake and Northville school districts will be asked to vote for four members, two for two three-year terms and two for four years. Normally, only two seats would be up for election as in Novi, but this year the boards are being expanded from five to seven-member boards.

The two Walled Lake incumbents are John Clark and Dwight Wiseman — both seeking four year terms. Four other candidates seek to fill seats resulting from the increase of the board membership are: Mrs. Barbara Sully, Samuel W. Burnley Jr., Julius M. Beals and Samuel J. Gardner.

Both incumbents are virtually assured of election since they are seeking the two four-year terms and the newcomers, three-year terms.

Two propositions also will appear on the Walled Lake school election ballots. They include: (1) a proposition to authorize the board to borrow money and issue bonds not to exceed $250,000 for improvement of elementary, junior and senior high schools; and (2) a request for permission to levy one mill to pay off the new bonds.

In Northville, voters will elect four members to its expanded seven-member board from a field of 13 candidates. The only incumbent is Dr. Waldo T. Johnson. The newcomers are:

Appearing on the Northville election ballots will be a proposition in which voters will be asked to approve or disapprove purchase of the community building by the school district from the city.

Only property owners may vote on the Northville proposition and the first Walled Lake proposition.

Last year, 286 Novi voters went to the polls in returning incumbents Heip, Morris and Taylor to office. Although only 17 percent of the qualified electors cast their ballots, the percentage was nearly seven percent greater than in the previous year's school election. Officials hope for a better turnout Monday.

This year, 1,400 citizens are registered to vote in the Novi school election as compared to 1,350 last year, Township Clerk Hildy Bacher said.

"In an effort to save money," he said, "the village will not chlorinate its water this year. However, the village will cooperate with the property owners as to how and where the services can be obtained."

The road department also will cooperate by preparing the roads before the laying of chloride, he said.

Novi residents will have an opportunity to appraise the quality of the five school board candidates Sunday when the Novi study group will sponsor a panel discussion at the community building.

The discussion, which will begin at 2 p.m., will center around four basic questions to be asked of the candidates. They are:

— Should Novi have a high school — and if so, when?

— Are there any changes you might make in budget allocations?

— What are your views on the current movement for a return to basic education in the schools?

— Would you like to see any basic changes made in the curriculum of the Novi schools?

Faculty sponsors of the graduation exercises are Miss Gloria Soulliere and Kenneth MacKay.

In preparation for the new school year next September, a number of projects will get underway this summer, according to Nov. Superintendent of Schools William McCollum, and Dawn McCollum, treasurer.

Classes ended yesterday for students at both Novi elementary schools. However, students will return to school tomorrow morning to pick up their report cards and the Novi school system next fall. They will receive their diplomas from Arthur Heip, president of the Novi school board.

Two students, unnamed as yet, will be presented annual citizenship awards by a close friend for 40 Novi students when they receive their diplomas at the community building.

The commencement exercises are scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. sharp.

Dr. Roy J. Alexander, dean of students at Michigan State University's Oakland campus, will deliver the commencement address.

Alexander is one of the authors of a graduate textbook on educational administration, co-author of several publications on educational administration, and author of several monographs on the problems of elementary and secondary education.

Announce Winners In Flower Show

Nearly 400 residents who attended the Northville Women's National Farm and Garden association flower show last Saturday were amazed at the transformation of a large bare gymnasium into an Oriental setting for a wide variety of beautiful and interesting floral arrangements.

The central feature, a golden Buddha in a Chinese pagoda, was designed and decorated by Mrs. George Kohns and Mrs. Ernest Wood, who were in charge of staging. Huge paper butterflies hovered over the flower displays, and hand-painted panel posters added an Oriental touch.

The eight judges were impressed with the fine quality of flowers and plants exhibited by members and others. Awards were granted as follows:

Section A — "Down the Garden Gate" for best iris shown, first awards went to: Mrs. Roy Matheson (2), Mrs. T. C. Ford, Mrs. Hubert (2), Herb Frogner, Mrs. R. G. Nelson, Mrs. W. B. Crump, Mrs. George Liden and Mrs. Ellen Scott. For specimens of other perennials first awards went to: Mrs. R. J. Wright, Mrs. H. W. Fuller (2), Mrs. Clyde Whittlesley, Mrs. E. O. Whittlesley, Mrs. Roy Matheson, Mrs. C. A. Lida and Mrs. J. Samali. Flowering house plants awards: Mrs. Roy Matheson (2), Mrs. T. Ely, Mrs. Albert Myers.

Baptists Call for Volunteers

By Mrs. Charles Ware — Market 4-1601

The members of the Wixom Baptist church are asking for volunteers to help them get the ground ready for a lawn at the new Baptist church in Wixom next Saturday. Volunteers are asked to bring pickup shovels, wheelbarrows, or any implements that will help them to get the ground ready.

Memorial Day guests at the Wendt residence were Walter E. Wendt, Sr., the William Bradleys and family, the Gordon Gas family, the William Krumm family, and the William Bentley family. The occasion was the annual family picnic.

Peter Crofts returned June 7 from a 7 week vacation in England and Wales. He was most impressed with hospital facilities there.

Miss Hilda Purman spent two very enjoyable weeks in California. She, along with Miss Eva Parks, flew to California by jet plane and while there they visited San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Pasadena and Monte Vista.

Twelve members of the Explorers club and four adults spent Saturday in the Irish hills.

The Sunshine Social Service group will have a June 15 meeting at the home of Mrs. Delbert Geyer on West Maple road.

Mrs. A. Allen has been a patient at Northville Community hospital. Mrs. LaRue Bogart is a patient at Northville Community hospital.

THEY WANT YOU TO REGISTER — These two Northville seventh graders are shown with one of the posters urging Northville residents to register for the August 2 primary election. The posters have been placed in downtown store windows. Krista DeBart, 1225 Napier, designed the poster, and Jerry LaRoque is chairman of the student committee called "Voters of Tomorrow Encourage Registration."

CORVAIR GIVES YOU BOTH!

What better proof could you ask (official United States Automobile Club observers were aboard every mile of the way) of Corvair's rare combination of light-fingered steering, sure-footed traction and tight-fisted economy? Drop down to your dealer's and see for yourself what it took to make a gallon of gas look so big and 14,110 feet of mountain look so small.

Students Launch Drive to Register All Area Voters for Primary Election

If Northville city and township residents don't turn out for the August 2 primary election in record numbers there will be some mighty unhappy seventh graders.

But right now, Northville seventh graders have room to try for optimism in their campaign to get an "idealistic 100 percent registration" of Northville voters.

Under the guidance of their teacher, Michael Abbott, and with the cooperation of both the Democratic and Republican clubs, the students, who call themselves the "Voters of Tomorrow Encourage Registration" committee, have launched a drive to spur citizens to register.

Every resident in the Northville area with a Fieldbrook telephone exchange will be called before the July 5 registration deadline.

In addition to telephoning all area residents, the students have: — given stacks of pamphlets to both the A&F and Kroger stores for distribution to all customers. — had newboys place pamphlets in their newspapers. — placed pamphlets in many downtown stores under signs labeled "Juicy Gossip" to ensure readability.

In connection with the campaign, Manufacturers National Bank has donated its facilities to the township for registration purposes on Friday, June 17. The students expect many township residents to register on that day since the bank facilities make a more convenient central location. On all other days, township registration will be handled at the township hall, 145 p.m. and after hours by appointment.

City residents may register daily at the city hall, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The V.O.T.E.R. student committee, which meets nightly after school to coordinate and analyze its activities, was organized at the suggestion of Mrs. C. E. Woodruff, president of the Northville Democratic club. Mrs. Elin Northing, president of the Greater Northville Republican club; Mrs. William Milne and Mrs. George Bennett, also have given their enthusiastic support and encouragement.

In summing up the project, Abbott said: "Even if the students don't get one new registration, their efforts will have been worthwhile. It will be a vivid lesson in citizenship and its responsibilities."

It also will be helpful in such things as reading and speech the students practiced their telephone speeches on a tape recorder for two days and wrote their message to make the greatest impact."

"AT THE END OF THE SCHOOL YEAR"

*A teacher builded a temple
She wrought with skill and care
Forming each pillar with patience
Laying each stone with prayer
None saw the unceasing effort
None knew of the marvelous plan
For the temple the teacher builded
Was unseen by the eyes of man.*

*Gone is the builder's temple
Crumbled into the dust,
Pillar and groin and arches
Food for consuming rust.
But the temple the teacher builded
Shall endure while the ages roll
For the temple the teacher builded
Was a child's immortal soul!*

I write that each may know the other's heart and I can hear, at any time, the echo that comes to youth from the mature heart: "Build ye more stately mansions, O my soul!"

Hungry Borer Becomes Nuisance

A hungry leaf borer is attacking street maple trees in "nocturnal proportions this spring," according to John Miller, owner of Green Ridge Nursery.

The "maple leaf borer" has been causing away in the Northville area for four years, but this is the first year he has become a nuisance. The nursery owner has received numerous calls this spring.

According to Miller, the tiny borer drills into the stem, chews off the leaf and then, his hunger satisfied, drops to the ground. The insect then bores into the ground where he waits until next spring for another meal. He does not stay around in the summer months.

The most effective method of eliminating him is to treat the soil beneath the tree with an insecticide. However, in heavily wooded areas, spraying is necessary, Miller said.

Want a Summer Vacation Home? Build Your Own for Only $1500

If you have a lot at the beach, up a lazy stream, or in the mountains, you can build a vacation home for as little as $1,500.

Last year 75,000 American families built second homes, and in 1960, housing experts say 100,000 will be built. They'll range from a modest chalet to a $100,000 second home mansion.

But for the ordinary U.S. family, the second home or vacation spot must be inexpensive but attractive. It must be big enough to shelter both family and guests. It need have only minimum plumbing and such conveniences. It must be livable so all the family will look forward to spending week ends, vacations and summers there.

What is the basic minimum structure recommended for a second home? Floor space of 2,500 to 3,000 feet is adequate for a starter summer home. The simple A-frame design is probably one of the least expensive to build.

The A-frame is low cost because the roof and floor walls are one sturdy timber either 2x6 or 2x10 inches and 24 feet long and spaced at four-foot intervals from the frame ends. Floor joists can be at four-foot intervals with two-inch decking for floor.

For finishes that are 2x2 and four-foot spacing is adequate. To insure a sturdy structure which will withstand wind and stress, only fir shiplap should be nailed to the frame for sheathing. Shingles or shakes can be nailed directly to the sheathing or fir or western red cedar bevel siding can be used. The slope is sufficient to permit adequate runoff of rain water.

This simple A-frame design allows for wide variation. You can have one or both ends of the house open, using large areas of glass. You can install windows between the framing members of the roof-wall to face the best view of ocean, stream or mountain.

To get added mileage, you can add a simple sleeping deck inside the cabin seven feet high, reached by a retractable ladder. This will give you full use of the main floor for living, cooking, eating and lounging. The sleeping deck also serves as extra bracing for the cabin.

The floor space can be greatly expanded by extending it to make an outdoor deck. These are easy to build. On a sturdy frame you can apply deck boards of 2x4 fir spaced to allow rain runoff. These can not be stained or painted for they buy a particular "packaged house" weather to a lovely silvery grey from a manufacturer.

The system has approval of the Federal Housing Administration, Nowels' officials point out. The Lu-Re-Co system differs from prefabrication in that it can be used to build any number of house designs, while in prefabrication one must be satisfied with a particular "packaged house" from a manufacturer.

Nowels Lumber and Coal company will erect the house at 758 Grace for Rodney Dahlager. The Lu-Re-Co pre-assembled house parts are manufactured by Nowels at their Rochester lumber firm location and include such parts as wall sections, roof trusses and sheathing.

Builders and interested residents are invited to watch the operation which will get underway at 8 a.m.

The new Dahlager home will have three bedrooms. The basement and flooring has already been completed. The designs for the component parts were developed by the Lumber Dealers Research Council of Washington, D.C., and come in a variety of home plans.

IF YOU STARTED a business making "wig-gins" and you wanted lots of people to come to your shop, how would you advertise? Skywriting? No, it wouldn't work in rainy weather. Smoke signals? Maybe, but certainly not on windy days. The Yellow Pages! Of course! Everybody - or to be completely truthful, 94% people out of 10 - use the Yellow Pages. So if you're making or selling anything, just advertise in the Yellow Pages, set back and listen to the phone and the cash register ring.

MINUTES COUNT when a doctor is treating a child who has swallowed something he shouldn't have . . . especially when that something is an unknown liquid or chemical. Today, your family doctor or local hospital can receive immediate information about any known poison and its antidote by calling a Poison Information Center. Located in six cities here in Michigan, these Centers are manned by qualified technicians. Thanks to the telephone, the specialized knowledge and information at these Centers are available to all doctors without delay.

Bass Season Calls Fishermen Next

Michigan's 1960 fishing season moves into full gear June 18 when black bass - the largemouth and smallmouth - join other game fish on the state's legal catch list.

These newcomers to the state's fishing scene are cinches to give anglers their share of bass-sized trophies and sporting thrills through September 11 on trout lakes and streams and December 31 on all other waters, including the Great Lakes. They rank among the top ten species of fish taken from Michigan's inland non-trout waters.

Much of their popularity stems from dogged scrappiness, a true challenge for the best of fishermen.

The smallmouth has been hailed as "the toughest fish to catch" because of its resistance to license sales this spring.

A number of dealers have reported that many fishermen are not buying licenses because they think fees have been raised. The Conservation Department's six-point proposal to upgrade the state's fishing license fee structure failed to rally support and was never introduced in the legislature. It was aimed at alleviating a critical situation in Michigan's Game and Fish Protection Fund.

The annual resident license remains at $2 while the annual non-resident fee is still $5. Also unchanged is the state's $2 trout stamp and the $4 non-resident 15-day license.

As was the case last year, no license is required for taking perch, cottid, bullheads, blue pike, sand pike, ciscoes and carp by hook and line from state waters of lakes Superior, Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Erie and the St. Marys, St. Clair and Detroit rivers.

Fishermen generally find that casting by plugs, spinners or live bait in moderately deep water to be most effective for taking smallmouths. Night bass fishing is often highly rewarding later in the season.

There are several ways to tell whether you've landed a largemouth or smallmouth. Check the upper jaw of your fish. If it extends behind the eye, it's a largemouth.

The largemouth also has a deep notch between the two parts of its dorsal fin. There also is a marked difference in the color pattern of these two fish. The smallmouth is brown to greenish-brown and may have a series of dark, vertical bars along its side. The largemouth is greenish with a broad black band running the length of its body.
