

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Sliger

Next Monday night the Northville city council is making plans for a full house meeting.

They've moved the regular meeting place from the city hall to the municipal building to accommodate the expected crowd.

The big attraction is a public hearing on a proposal to impose 25 per cent assessments to property owners for street improvements in front of their property.

The remaining 75 per cent, plus costs of intersections, would be paid from general funds. In addition, it is proposed to lower the assessment to 12 1/2 per cent along sidelet and lanes.

Public hearings are rarely pleasant affairs. Often citizens, who singularly would be most polite and considerate, act in strange ways when banded together in a common cause.

Generally they are frustrated by what seems to be the red tape of government; actually, they are more often handicapped by a lack of information.

They are uninformed because:

1. They do not attend council meetings;
2. They do not read their newspaper carefully;
3. They believe what others, also uninformed, tell them.

There is nothing wrong with citizens finding fault with what their elected officials propose; it isn't even ungentlemanly to raise one's voice to protesting to emphasize a point.

But charges completely unrelated to fact — or made before the facts are explained — are difficult for the most tolerant body of elected officials to swallow.

It is the opinion of this writer that Northville's city council is trying to do something that has been left for many years for the following council to do.

And they have certainly taken a moderate approach when one considers that neighboring communities impose assessments up to 100 per cent.

We do not adhere to the theory that race track revenues should or could be expected to pay for all street improvements. In fact, we believe this is a waste of tax dollars.

In a low tax-rate city (and Northville's city tax is low by comparison) it seems especially important that if such a rate is to be maintained, the property owners benefiting most by improvements should pay a share of the improvement — regardless of past history.

There are at least two other points that should be considered, however.

One is the belief that a 25 per cent assessment will appreciably speed up our street improvement program. Theoretically, it would advance by 25 per cent. But even this is optimistic when one considers other pressing public improvement projects.

This is the second point. Streets are not the city's only consideration — and perhaps not the most important.

It is my understanding that assessments would be imposed on streets where improvements are deemed necessary as a public need, not where residents have requested the improvements. In the latter instance, no permit paving even there is a proper use of funds.

It is significant to note that Northville's council is split 3-2 on the matter of assessments.

Sixty-five per cent of the city's streets are paved. As a priority of the primary work on a street improvement project, they could be paved ahead of the issue. It is required that any assessment approved by a majority of the street's property owners must be approved by a two-thirds vote of the council.

These individual residents who are interested in the matter must now decide what is best for the entire community.

Roger Babson Business Bright

Babson Park. There are many reasons why we should be greatly interested in Christmas business. Whether we are clerks, storekeepers, manufacturers, or consumers.

The feelings of the nation are usually revealed in the volume and the tempo of Christmas buying. A number of years ago it was of the opinion that statistics indicated the nation's business, particularly as regards retailing and workers' wages. But now I have come to realize that Christmas is not only a figure, but also very much a feeling.

It is encouraging to note at this time that an impartial study of the probabilities for 1961 Christmas business indicates that people throughout the country are feeling good. Even at a time when the credit situation is dark, our people seem ready to honor Christmas in a traditionally happy style. Let us all do whatever we can to do our jobs and our work.

The present rush to build full dollar shelters poses another question for business. Too much credit is being extended to consumers. Manufacturers must be careful. "If this fallout continues, why work so hard?" is the question. And workers may give more thought to the problem of finding better jobs.

For what is a better job? If he shall gain the Whole World and Lose His Own Soul? There is a danger that the Christmas buying that immediately greets the eye. When you select a present for a relative or a friend, you actually begin an individual business cycle. Not only do you give pleasure to the person receiving the gift, but you give material help to the retailer, providing him with the cash that he requires to conduct his important distributing operations.

Remember, too, that your money not only gives him his capital to purchase his stock, but also moves along in part to the producer, the clerk, the hauler, the art designer, the artist, and others directly or indirectly involved.

Of special significance is the fact that the storekeeper's payment to the manufacturer permits him to employ more people. The manufacturer's work is not done in a factory, it is done in the store, thus completing the complete cycle. When the eye described work smoothly, the entire nation enjoys prosperous times. If the cycle breaks down at any point, his profit is few cents out of his gross. If the cycle breaks down, they are two barometers that always move together. Then, unless something is done to repair the break, we are likely to slide into a depression.

All signs thus far point to a good Christmas buying season for 1961, even though it is always possible for some last minute occurrence to change

Michigan Mirror

Form 'Absentee Counters'

Election workers in Michigan have a new tool to prevent votes cast by absentee voters from being counted.

A new law passed by the 1961 Legislature, it permits the naming of "Absentee Counting Boards" by the election commission of any governmental unit other than a county or the state.

These are, however, some requirements in the law which are aimed at preventing any possible abuse or chicanery.

All sections of the country, of course, will not be equally happy this Christmas. The thousands of families in Texas and other areas which have suffered damages and lost homes from hurricanes and floods cannot be expected to forget their losses. On the other hand, states which have been drought-stricken are rejoicing over recent rains.

The weather could still be a big factor in this year's Christmas buying. In the market place, it is not unusual to see a store which is closed for lack of stock. It is a situation which is not unusual to see a store which is closed for lack of stock.

It is encouraging to note at this time that an impartial study of the probabilities for 1961 Christmas business indicates that people throughout the country are feeling good. Even at a time when the credit situation is dark, our people seem ready to honor Christmas in a traditionally happy style. Let us all do whatever we can to do our jobs and our work.

Suddenly, at the gesture of the turn signal, the whole area is bathed in a brilliant flood of light—and the driver negotiates the corner smoothly, surely and safely.

This is Cadillac's new cornering light in action. And it is yet another reason why owners tell us the car is worth its whole price in safety.

Consider, for a moment, the safeguards that attend you in this latest "car of cars"...

- ... performance that is so rewarding and so effortless that the driver remains fresh and alert at the wheel over even the longest day's drive
- ... a dual braking system that gives both front and rear wheels their own power to stop
- ... safety power steering ... padded instrument panel ... three phase rear lighting system ... and a myriad of other features.

If you haven't driven a 1962 Cadillac, you've been missing something very special.

You can buy the car just for safety, if you wish. But you'll also discover a dozen other wonderful reasons for wanting to make it yours.

Mustangs Trampe Clarkston 52-0

JUST INTERESTED SPECTATORS? No, these are some of the parents of Northville Mustang football players as they watched their sons struggle over the Clarkston Wolves' 52-0 last Friday night. The parents were honored as traditional dads' night activities were enlarged to include father's mothers. Each mother received a long stemmed rose from her son, and each father wore his son's number on his back.

Jr. High Footballers Win, Lose Games The Northville junior high football team closed out its season last Wednesday afternoon by losing 28-0 to Plymouth's junior high team.

Mustang JV's Tie Clarkston Northville's junior varsity Mustangs scored three touchdowns and stayed ahead of the Clarkston JV's until the final minutes of their game Tuesday night, when Clarkston was able to tie the score and the game ended in a 19-19 tie.

Big Upsets Upset Mustang JV's Football Contest

This was the week of upsets. Our previous football contest was Dick Costeau, who had a perfect score. But the big upset was the Mustang JV's tie with Clarkston. The Mustang JV's second score was a surprise to everyone that our winner this week had four mistakes, and second place goes to Clarkston who had five mistakes.

SPEAKING for the Record

For a change of pace — no opinions, needles or crusades this week. Instead, a few brighter and lighter items observed during the course of the week.

D. J. Stark, former township clerk who now keeps busy by selling real estate hereabouts, tells me that our long fall season has given business a boost. House sales in Northville are definitely up, Stark says, pointing out that usually slow-moving older homes are selling better. Local real estate agents have had more inquiries from people wishing to move into the community as well as an upswing in residents moving from one house to another within the community.

This story came to me secondhand from Artman school. We like it because it just proves that the family of the youngster involved had been reading this newspaper.

It happened in Miss Margaret Sours' fifth grade class. On October 24, United Nations Day, she asked if any youngster knew what important event was being observed that day.

A hand shot up immediately with the reply: "the new Kruger store is opening!"

Speaking of youngsters' remarks, the other night I heard a series of chuckles and finally outright laughter coming from our living room.

Curious, I looked in to see my wife — usually quite normal — breaking up over an article she was reading in McCall's.

It turned out to be a preview of Art Linkletter's new book, "Kids Still Say the Darndest Things". It's a copyright story in the October issue. We'll risk a suit to pass along a few of the remarks that soon had me joining in the laughter.

How would you describe a kangaroo?

"Like a great big mouse with a pocket in its stomach."

A seven-year-old boy said he'd like to be a big mouse. "I'd like to be a big mouse because you could fly anywhere you want to, and you never have to stop, not even to go to the bathroom."

Why do you suppose seals have whiskers?

"Because they don't shave."

What's the bravest thing you ever did?

"I saved my cat from strangling to death."

How did you do that?

"I didn't give him some chicken bones."

What's the most important thing to remember on a farm?

"Don't milk a bull."

(To a little boy who wanted to become a doctor) What would you do if somebody broke his neck?

"The main thing when you get the head back on is to make sure you get the nose pointed in the right direction."

A little boy told his mother he had won a prize at school.

"Teacher asked me how many legs a hippopotamus has, and I said three."

"Three?" said his mother. "How on earth could you have won the prize?"

"I came the closest."

And an assortment of answers that teachers get:

Who was Joan of Arc? — "Noah's wife."

What was George Washington known as? — "George."

Who defeated the Philippines? — "I don't know, if they don't play the Dodgers, I don't keep track of them."

Who led the Children of Israel out of Egypt? — after long silence the teacher finally pointed to a boy in the back of the room who answered — "It wasn't me, ma'am, we just moved here from Tulsa."

And finally, "what vision did Saul have on the road to Damascus?"

After a long silence, a boy spoke up timidly:

"Twenty-twenty."

Roger Babson Get Bank Habit

Babson Park, Mass., My colony in the 1830's practically all the weaker banks were done away with, so that financial institutions today are to a safe and profitable position. This brings me to the question of the stock of your local bank, which you do business with. Practically any local bank could be liquidated for more than its published assets, so that you as a stockholder would probably get more than you paid for your shares. Five or ten shares of one stock would probably be one of the very best investments for a young married couple.

If you are going to put more than a moderate sum into bank stocks, it would be wise to get the Annual Reports from at least two or three banks and go over them carefully. Any bank will give you an Annual Report, whether you are a customer or not, and in most states these reports must be published in the papers every year.

After my father's death, I recall finding a scrapbook which were pasted all the Annual Reports of our hometown Gloucester banks, clipped from the Gloucester Daily Times. Most people look for the bank's reputation for thrift, honesty, and hard work than by starting a bank account and making regular deposits. Become acquainted with an officer of the bank and speak to him every time you go in, so that he will come to know you and will be able to give you a good reference if you need one.

Getting to know bank officials can be as valuable to you as your bank account interest payments. During the bank-closing emergencies, there is no better way of building up a reputation for thrift, honesty, and hard work than by starting a bank account and making regular deposits. Become acquainted with an officer of the bank and speak to him every time you go in, so that he will come to know you and will be able to give you a good reference if you need one.

Michigan Mirror No Veterans in Con-Con

The state constitutional convention adopted a great many of its rules for procedure from practices followed in the Michigan Legislature, but one deviation, due to the nature of the Con-Con, was both a blessing and a burden.

This is the problem of committee chairmanships. In the Legislature a complicated seniority system, built up through long practice and more or less strictly observed, determines who shall preside over various committees.

But, as Con-Con president Stephen S. Nisbet often said, all the convention delegates are freshmen. Committee chairmen, therefore, were rather arbitrary selections made by Nisbet and his three vice-presidents, George Romney, Edward Hutchinson and Tom Downes.

Since no delegate felt he could claim a chairmanship as a matter of right, there were few complaints about the men chosen to lead the committees, although there was some grumbling about committee assignments in general.

The potential danger in the Con-Con method of selecting chairmen was that when action of the convention is readied for voters. Almost sure to be raised by somebody is the question of whether different decisions on the basic law subject matter.

Generally speaking, the State of Michigan has plenty of everything. Except, of course, money to run its government. Few would find fault with the "land of plenty" concept as applied to Michigan because an abundance of manufactured goods, agricultural products, scenic and recreational areas, water, skilled workers and investment capital is all around.

But once, some 50 years ago, Michigan was in trouble because of a shortage of one of the most common items known to man: stone.

Nowadays, the only major lack that makes a splash in the Water Wonderland is lack of jobs. Or, as during the famous "cash crisis" of 1959, lack of money for government.

But in order to get a state feeling of thought of criminal action. Obviously there was no, or any real intent to break the frame building which had existed prior to 1871 were complete, a search was undertaken for materials.

CHEVROLET THE NEW CHEVY II GOING GREAT GUNS!

See the Chevrolet Golden Anniversary Show—
988-15—9:30am, Nov. 2, 8:30-9:30pm, E.S.T.

This one was on the road to success right from the start. You get a new kind of solid simplicity blended with the economy and dependability you know you can count on from all the Chevrolet family. Beneath the hood... a frugal 4- or 6-cylinder engine (here's a choice in most models) that's downright miserly on gas. Nine new-sized different models... sedans, wagons, hardtop and convertible. Like to see and try one? It's easy... Just follow the crowds.

If you're looking for sensibility at its Sunday best—drop in at your Chevrolet dealer's and join the celebration. It's Chevrolet's golden anniversary year, and this new Chevy II is making it a year to remember. Comment Sparks Public Reaction, Sunday Meeting

A brief comment made in the closing moments of a school board meeting last month has stirred up a turmoil of controversy which reached a high point at an afternoon meeting held Sunday in the Baptist church.

The controversy started October 11 when school board President Walter Ambinder ended the meeting with a statement in which he said he was not a member of the Baptist church.

Another person questioned Ambinder about the statement, asking how much there had been in the past. He replied that he was unaware of more than one instance of embarrassment, but pointed out that he had never been in the school building.

Ambinder opened the meeting with a 10-minute statement in which he described what he thought were the duties of the school board and the school board in relation to the religious issue.

He said the law prohibits the school from teaching any particular religion, but he said he was not a member of the Baptist church.

Ambinder States Religion Policies

"The school has always had a responsibility, along with other institutions, for inculcating moral and ethical values in youth."
