

Methodists Slate Annual Holly Mart November 30

A gay, pre-Christmas market with shoppers' booths and a holiday decor of green and red will spring up in the fellowship hall of Northville's First Methodist church Thursday, November 30, when the Woman's Society of Christian Service unveils its fourth annual bazaar.

Appropriately named "The Holly Mart", the bazaar will be an all-church, all-day affair lasting from 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Sparkling overall preparations include: STUFFED TOYS, Mrs. Kenneth Coker; CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS, Mrs. Floyd Gray and Mrs. Andrew Gray; Mrs. Wilson Clark, chairman.

From all indications, the Holly Mart promises to be a shoppers' holiday. A bounty of booths, each well stocked with handmade and homemade treasures, will welcome all comers. Booth wares and chairmen include: APRONS, Mrs. Allan Peterson; LINES AND KNITTING, Mrs. Oscar Hammond; Mrs. Marit Meaker and Mrs. William Casfield; CANNY Mrs. Phelps Hines; THE PASTRY SHELF, Mrs. Merner Eber; DOLLS AND DOLL CLOTHES, Mrs. Richard Jen-

MAYBURY OPEN HOUSE — Chattering at the third annual open house given by patients and staff of Maybury sanatorium's Rehabilitation Center a week ago Wednesday are (l. to r.) Mrs. C. E. Woodruff, official hostess, Dr. W. L. Howard, sanatorium superintendent; and Mrs. Anthony Frank, personal representative of Governor John Swainson.

Plymouth State Home Tour Next for University Women

An informative talk dealing with the program of the Plymouth State Home and Training school and a tour of the facility are planned for tonight's (Thursday) meeting of the American Association of University Women.

A social hour is scheduled to begin at 7:45 p.m. in the lobby of the training school's main building. The institution is located at 1250 Sheldon road.

Guest speaker will be George E. Rieling, community relations director of the training school.

Librarian to Review Children's Books

Mrs. Agnes Pauline, children's librarian at Plymouth's Dunning-Hough library, will review contemporary children's literature, with an eye toward Christmas gift giving, at tomorrow's (Friday) meeting of the Woman's Club.

The meeting, a guest day affair, is slated for 2 p.m. in the Northville library.

It's a Woman's World

'Gardening for Joy It Brings'

Northville branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association is recognized as just about the most active, energetic garden club in the state — and the branch has awards to prove it.

This spring, for example, officers from the local branch went to the annual meeting of the Michigan division and came home with no less than four citations — first place honors in education and flower show categories and second place ties in horticulture and marketing.

Most prized of all, however, was the coveted Orchid Award, captured by the Northville branch for the second straight year. This award is the state division's special way of citing a club for its outstanding work.

What makes the local branch tops in the state? Several factors figure in the answer, but two key traits in particular seem to keep the club in the front running position: ambition and optimism. Every project is a new challenge, and profits from the undivided energies and attentions of the entire group.

Also significant is the club's refusal to shy away from new endeavors. "We're not afraid to try something new," pointed out Mrs. David Hurd Clark, president.

This is evident in light of a new first which the branch is the largest of its kind ever held in the state, estimated Mrs. Clark.

Participating branches will contribute their specialties, and demonstrations on how to make Christmas arrangements of all kinds will be included, said Mrs. Clark. Materials used in making the arrangements will be on sale.

Other firms initiated by the Garden Club this year are its largest of its kind ever held in the state, estimated Mrs. Clark.

Mrs. David Hurd Clark, WNF & G A

There are 65 active, four honorary, 7 associate and two life membership candidates — women interested in gardening and flower arranging — are customarily sponsored by a member of the club.

In both its monthly meetings and its special activities, the club is guided by one dominant aim: "Gardening for the Joy It Brings".

NEW IN NORTHVILLE ESTATES — Former Dexter residents Frank and Ruth Whitmyer and their children, Alan, Joan and Jan, are now at home at 4693 Dunsany.

The Frank H. Whitmyers arrived in Northville just in time for their two older children to start school. Alan, 11, a Junior General Motors Detroit high schooler, and his sister, Joan, a student at Main street elementary, have a younger sister, Jan, almost 3.

After living 10 years in Inkster, the family moved into a more spacious house at 4693 Dunsany, Northville Estates, on September 8.

Frank Whitmyer, a University of Michigan graduate, is employed as a design engineer at General Motors Detroit Transmission division. Away from the drawing board, he turns to books for reading and relaxation. Ruth, his wife, gardens and is a past president of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association in Inkster.

Two Siamese cats, Sil and Koko, get a lot of attention from all the Whitmyers.

NHS Students to Stage Prize Winning Comedy

"You Can't Take It With You", the comical, laughter-evoking play that won a Pulitzer Prize for Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night, November 16 and 17, in the Northville high school auditorium. The curtain will go up at 8 p.m. for both performances.

Admission is one dollar for adults and 75 cents for students.

Student managers, under the direction of Miss Florence Panettoni and Miss Pat Dorrian, will portray the delightfully amusing members of the Sycamore family and their whimsical friends that whisk in and out of their hectic homelife.

A different cast will stage the all-school production each night. Characters and those who entertain them appear below with Thursday night performers listed first.

How Mom Made Stuffing

Sharing her culinary know-how for the benefit of Record-News readers this week is a woman whose genuine interest in homemaking is reflected by her 30 years as a member of the Wayne County Home Economics extension.

Mrs. John A. Ling lives with her husband and two of their six children at 521 Randolph. Her recipes for bread stuffing and lemon cream pie (with variations) should prove helpful to housewives planning their Thanksgiving Day menus.

That the recipes are tried and true is attested to by the fact that one bread stuffing, originated with Mrs. Ling's mother, goes back for lemon pie, goes back to the home-ec's high school home economics days.

New Officers Take Oaths At 71st OES Installation

Officers at the installation of the Eastern Star, held its seventh-annual installation ceremony Friday, November 3, at Northville Masonic Temple.

Accepting their offices as worthy matron and worthy patron were Juanita Smith and J. Earl Smith. Retiring matron was Marion Sterling, retiring patron was Lawrence Miller.

Other new officers included: Edna Tremor, Ruth Adeline Borkowski, Esther; Elsie Carey, Martha; Frances Tewksbury, Electa; Frances Fanninger, warder; Herbert Fanninger, sentinel. As auxiliary officers: Leon Boltz, past patron; Arthur Thomas; Charles Wilson; Roy Van Valkenburg; Bessie Goodale; Matthew Boring; Orpha Mosheimer; and Beatrice Bold, past matron. On the Bible degree: Marjorie Wainwright, Orpha Mosheimer, Irene Tiffin, Edna Francis, Arlene Thomas, Bertha Tiffin, and Meta Schroder. Mabel Stensmo took care of flower arrangements.

Homemakers' New Slate Takes Office

Northern Lites, the Northville chapter of the Wayne County Home Economics Extension, has elected the following women to direct the club's activities during the coming year: Mrs. Robert Horner, president; Mrs. George Mairs, vice president; Mrs. Andrew Orphan, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Harold Seden, reporter.

Installation was held at a meeting held last month at the home of Mrs. George Mairs, 4302 Grand River, Nov. 1.

The extension meets again on Monday, October 13 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Florence Hart, of Detroit, is hostess.

WOODMEN ACCIDENT AND LIFE COMPANY

Roy McLean, of 24509 Orange Lawn road in Redford township, swerved to miss a dog on Eight Mile road, between Napier and Beck roads, and this upturned car was the result. Northville Mayor A. M. Allen, a witness to the accident, said McLean lost control in the gravel on the shoulder of the road, zig-zagged about 100 feet, rolled over several times and landed upside down in the middle of the road, about 30 feet from where Allen had stopped his car in order to avoid a crash. Allen took Mrs. McLean and her two daughters to the office of Dr. L. H. Dyer who said he treated the entire family for various scrapes and bruises. The younger daughter also suffered a broken finger he said. The accident occurred Sunday afternoon.

Obituary
NELLIE B. JOHNSON
Former Northville resident Nellie B. Johnson, 63, died Sunday, November 12, at University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor. She had been in ill health the past five years. What a difference a year makes!
If anyone had told him, a short while ago, that his 1961 Cadillac could be improved on—he would have regarded them with disbelief.
And yet, after only half an hour in the newest "car of cars", he knows that a year of Cadillac progress has made a world of difference.
In fact, the list of Cadillac advancements for 1962 embraces each of the great motoring virtues.
For, added beauty, there is a lower, longer silhouette . . . greater simplicity and dignity of line . . . and new interior elegance and luxury.
For improved comfort, there is increased spaciousness . . . new convenience of appointments . . . and a ride that is unbelievably quiet and smooth.
For finer performance, there is greater power . . . more responsive handling . . . and a degree of all-round road ableness that is new even to Cadillac.
For increased safety, there is a new dual braking system . . . a new three-phase rear warning light system . . . and new cornering lights that illuminate your way around turns.
And we would like to say that even Cadillac quality has been enhanced for 1962. But the truth is simply that the car continues to be built to the highest standards that can be brought to the production of an automobile.
Stop by your dealer's showroom soon, won't you? He'll be happy to demonstrate to you what a difference a year can make—when the year is this one and the car is Cadillac.

Dr. Mudd Replies
Jealousy won't Wed-away

Dear Dr. Mudd:
I have been going steady with a boy for about two years. I think I love him but I get upset because he gets so jealous.
I used to kinda like it, but now it's getting so bad I can't go anywhere without his accusing me of sneaking around with some fellow behind his back.
When we are at parties, he says I dance too close with other fellows, and says if I really loved him, I wouldn't want to dance with anyone else but him. I think he needs help, but he says I'm crazy to think so and that the only reason he is jealous is because he loves me so much.
He wants me to marry him and I think I love him, but I don't know how I can stand his always checking up on me.
C.F.

Jealous people are immature and unfortunately, little disposed to see anything odd or unusual about their attitude. A sick man, to be cured, must first recognize that he needs help and those who are ill of jealousy seldom recognize illness in themselves.
I can't advise you as to whether or not to marry this young man, but I can tell you that despite all, he will not change except for brief periods, his basic suspicious and untrusting attitude toward you.
It is not, of course, his fault, but that should not blind you to facing the facts beforehand. If his jealousy annoys you now, how will you feel about it ten, twenty, or thirty years hence?
Sander Mudd, M.D.
