

SPEAKING for the Record

by Bill Slicer
Last week 10 of Northville's more active citizens were asked what single project they considered of great importance for undertaking in the coming year.

At first thought it seemed curiously possible that at least half of the answers would deal with the same subject.

Naturally, this would have made good reading. And while we were tempted to "assist" ideas, we played it straight and let the replies fall where they may.

There were 10 different "most important" projects. They include:

- a schedule for street improvements in the city;
- formation of a community economic development committee;
- consideration of a hospital authority;
- a new library;
- tighter zoning and building regulations in the township;
- an expanded recreation program;
- reorganization of the city DPW;
- determination of community goals;
- more diversified shopping facilities;
- and lighting for the new high school athletic field.

Three of these proposals are strictly departmental and depend upon the governing body in charge to initiate and complete (street schedule, tighter zoning, etc., and DPW change).

While the others may have a close relationship to either the city, school district or township, they involve the entire community and have a direct bearing on the welfare of all residents of the area.

They are projects that could find help, if not complete direction, from a chamber of commerce composed of interests with a real stake in the future of Northville.

A chamber of commerce would be a Siamese twin to the economic development committee.

Therefore, we propose the addition of number 11 to the "most important" project's organization in 1962 of a Northville chamber of commerce.

To these residents of Northville Heights who have been concerned about the "sinking house" - City Attorney Philip Ogilvie reported to the council Monday night that government wheels are turning, though slowly, to have the house removed.

Now the property of the Federal Housing Authority, Ogilvie said that part of the delay is "probably due to the efforts of officials to explain why they financed such a house".

Slowly sinking, the vacant house has brought complaints from neighbors who fear injury to adventurous children. Ogilvie said that the house and lot would be advertised for sale by the government with the stipulation that the house must be removed and the land leveled.

Roger Babson Our Busy Future

Babson Park, Mass., Only a few years ago automation was little more than a trickle with only a trickle of workers in the economy, but today it is a river and tomorrow it will be a flood. The great question is whether its obvious benefits will be outweighed by the problems that it raises - such as mass unemployment.

I have said before and I will say again that there has never been any indication that more machinery means fewer workers.

Look back over the industrial history of this country, and you will find that there has been an unending outflow of more efficient machinery and yet employment has soared from one step from raw material to finished product could be turned out by a handful of people at push buttons.

The sheer volume of machines to run machines is today almost incredible, and still employment keeps reaching ever higher. For the most part, unemployment is due to an exploding population, a rather impressive group of people who would rather live on charity than work.

Some wish to see automation in its infancy, and some wish to see it in its maturity. It doesn't seem to me that we are going too fast, every day we are going faster. It is the machines that have helped to bring about this prosperity, and newer and more amazing machines will bring still more in the years to come.

I am particularly impressed by the fact that high-velocity machinery and all forms of automation mean - and will continue to mean - steadily more spare time for workers. There will be a greater opportunity for enjoyment of the home and the family, for pleasant and healthy do-it-yourself pursuits.

Even more important: Perhaps we can all employ some of this increasing spare time to cultivate the spiritual values which we may have been neglecting while building up purely material prosperity!

The business community now contemplates loudly and with agreement in both parties that its taxes are already too high. Many Republican lawmakers have been heard in recent weeks to say an income tax might be the lesser of several undesirable.

Gov. John B. Engler, who proposed this method to the 1961 legislature as part of his fiscal reform program, said he welcomed this stand by some members of the opposition party.

Michigan Mirror Parties Agree on This: State Needs More Funds

Money to operate state government, where said when it will come from, still looms as the largest problem facing Michigan lawmakers.

The problem reached its peak during the year-long 1959 session of the legislature when state employees faced one pay raise and there is no sign that the financial picture has improved since then.

A $71.5 million deficit was on the books at the end of the fiscal year in July and there is no sign that the financial picture has improved since then.

Legislators this year will be hard pressed to find new sources of revenue to meet the demands for government services.

In the 1961 budget-writing process, the Democratic administration and the Republican legislature were far apart on estimates of how much was needed and the amount which would be available for operations.

It is still a matter of conjecture as to which side is right and the two sides now appear to be closer together on at least one point: that more money is needed than is available.

Recent meetings of both parties brought forth general agreement that Michigan's citizens want services that are available under the present revenue pattern.

If new money is to be forthcoming, the only unanswered question remaining is to find the most equitable means to tax Michigan citizens to provide it.

Some Republicans feel minimal opposition to the income tax which were allowed to expire last July indicated there might be desirable areas to impose new, permanent taxes.

The beer and liquor, telephone and telegraph, and cigarette and tobacco interests, of course, contend their products and services are already taxed beyond reasonable limits.

There is some justification for their stand. Presimists predicted last year that the state's tax revenue would be boosted again and again. There were no indications from any quarters that this was being considered.

The business community now contemplates loudly and with agreement in both parties that its taxes are already too high.

Many Republican lawmakers have been heard in recent weeks to say an income tax might be the lesser of several undesirable.

Wixom Council OK's Federal Planning Aid

The Wixom city council last week approved contracts that will bring the city nearly $100,000 in federal aid for the development of a master plan.

Authorization for Mayor Don Brooks to sign the contracts which were prepared by Vilcani, Lemay & Associates, the city's planning consultants, and for payment of the city's one-quarter share of $3,478, will bring the city $9,572, Planning Consultant Charles Lemay told the council.

Lemay said the city's participation in the federal government's "urban planning project" will mean the completion of the city's master plan, including a thoroughfare plan, a utilities plan and a public improvements plan, can be accomplished within two years.

The total cost to the city for the plan will amount to about $117,000, he said.

He explained that more than 200 of the city's contractors, including Vilcani-Lemay, are preparing a master plan for about $16,600. This, he said, was done before "my" was available in Michigan. After about a year the largest part of the increase.

Whew... Wixom Ends Old Issues

Wixom city council members, who were wading through a muddle sea of technicalities on two pieces of legislation for several months, last week reached the older of the two acts, which has popped up at council meetings for nearly five months.

Last September, the council decided it would be best to get rid of a portion of the street which had been on the plat since 1871, but had never been developed. As planned on the plat, the street would extend from Wixom road down to the present location. But it would go beyond the C & O tracks where the present street ends, across private property, and on to city property behind the city hall.

By last week Utley had completed his investigations, and he presented the council with his proposed motion. The council passed it.

Lathi also figured in the other act. Mayor Don Brooks had suggested the chamber make, that the money be governed by a joint committee of the council and the chamber, would be illegal if the city accepted the money, because the council cannot delegate its spending powers to another body.

Last week the chamber again presented the council with the money, with only the stipulation that it be used for playground development and equipment. The council thankfully accepted the donation and created a special account for the playground fund.

When buyers line up for plates at the Northville office, they'll be able to get a variety of paintings, pottery and other goods.

The office will be open daily, except Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The complete list of items will be open until 9 o'clock.

Area residents may now purchase their auto license plates at what probably ranks as the "most cultured" secretary of state's branch office in Michigan.

Harley said the "decor" of the office is Early American - and the plates will be the same.

THE NOVI NEWS

Village May Have Surplus Cash

Council Considers Possible DPW Uses for Extra Year-End Funds

Novi village councilmen Sunday night considered a possible surplus of cash at the end of the fiscal year, 1961.

Financial projections show a possible surplus of $43,000 at the end of the fiscal year, 1961. Novi may have a rather healthy balance by the end of the year if the future rate of expenditures is maintained, said Village President Joseph Crupi.

Administrative Assistant Harold Ackley was quick to point out, however, that two or three more storms similar to those of the past few weeks could easily wipe out any surplus funds the village now has.

Councilman Walter Tuck suggested the surplus be used to purchase land for storage of DPW road sand and salt.

"We'll always need these materials," he pointed out, "and we could use the money for preparing the land for storing sand and salt."

Township Trustee Emery Jacques suggested the surplus be placed into a special fund for DPW site cleanup.

He said that once the surplus is placed into a special fund, it should be used for DPW site cleanup.

ALL THE FACTS - Members of the Novi board of commerce listen intently as John J. Hunnewell discusses various aspects of city incorporation at the board's Tuesday evening meeting in incorporation. The board members are (left) John Eskrow, Herb Dryer and President Russell Bunton. Hunnewell is manager of the research and publication division of the Michigan Municipal League.

Speaker Outlines City's Advantages

City incorporation eliminates an overlapping of governmental services that exists in a village-walled lake area, Hunnewell pointed out.

Since a community cannot be incorporated without ratifying the city charter, he said, incorporation procedure provides an opportunity for reviewing the village charter and making any necessary corrections.

Hunnewell mentioned that a city's bonds are often more tempting to purchasers because the village's tax base is not as high as the city's.

He explained that the township must assess property, provide school, county and township services, collect these taxes and hold township, county and state elections. The village, he pointed out, must also make assessments, levy and collect taxes, and keep voter registrations for its elections.

This is a duplication of services which the city eliminates, he explained, because the city takes over the township's duties in these areas.

Boundaries, which Novi knows are all too well are safe in the village, are protected from annexation and disconnection by the village charter.

"At the same time," he said, "the voters must select members for the charter commission to draft a new city charter." Bond said, "the village would continue to operate as normal."

"Between the time of the March election and the possible ratification of the newly-drafted charter," Bond said, "the village would continue to operate as normal."

Explore "Air-Chair" Television

Northville Parent-Teacher association will literally look at television "from the ground up" next Thursday at a meeting slated for 8 p.m. in the high school.

Guest speaker Dr. John Barson, of Wayne State university, will discuss "Airborne and Chairborne TV." The topic has been selected, said a P-TA spokesman, to prepare association members and the public for possible use of educational television locally.

The program committee hopes to be able to tune in a special television TV broadcast scheduled for that night during the meeting if suitable equipment is available and reception good.

Although Northville public schools do not use educational television for regular instructional purposes, a school committee headed by Board of Education trustee Wilfred Becker has been studying educational TV.

Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman recently attended a conference on the topic at Purdue university.

TOPS Officers Installed Monday

Northville Eater Beaters branch of the TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) club installed new officers Monday, January 8. Mrs. Williams Schick, past leader, presented a corsage of carnations entwined with a tape measure to the club's new leader, Mrs. Jeff Baker.

Eater Beaters trimmed a total of 250 pounds in 1961, according to the yearly report.

A contest is now under way with Millard TOPS chapter. The group losing the most weight by the end of this month will be treated to a low calorie supper by the other chapter.

Information about TOPS can be obtained by phoning FI 9-2086 and FI 9-2441.

For Listening Post

Professor and Mrs. Fred E. Dohrs, who traveled in the Soviet Union last summer, gathering material and sketches for a new book, will visit Plymouth Wednesday, January 31 for the second program of the Plymouth Listening Post series. They will be introduced by Russell Ishberger, superintendent of Plymouth Community schools.

Listening Post lectures are held in Plymouth High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Community schools.

The series was planned by the AAUW "to provide a further dimension in the cultural life of the community." Topics were chosen to offer intellectual stimulation for men and women interested in exploring the arts and sciences and keeping abreast of current world happenings. A large donation has been given to the AAUW Fellowship fund from proceeds of the first year's series.

Masked Man Knocks First, Then Strikes

Reuben Peterson, 109 East Main, suffered a broken nose and black eye when a masked intruder entered his home about 8 p.m. Sunday.

Peterson told police the man knocked at his door. He said he opened the door and the man reached in and struck him twice in the face, then fled. While he could not identify his assailant, Peterson described him as about five feet, five inches tall and of slim build.

He said it could have been a case of mistaken identity.

Sunday night police answered a call from a citizen who reported a man acting suspiciously at the bridge that spans the river on South Main.

The caller said the man, later identified as John J. Doner, a grocer at Northville Doors, had taken to his coat and put it on the fence.

Doner was picked up and committed to Wayne County Jail on a charge of disorderly conduct by authority of the County Prosecutor's office.

Elham, 28, married and has two children. He is a member of the Northville Yacht Club and is employed at the Ford Motor Company as a body shop mechanic.

Local Matmen Win "Finest"

Northville wrestlers won their finest mat of the season Monday evening when they pinned a 27-20 defeat on Farmington's Our Lady of Sorrows, says Coach Jack Kreiner.

"They were in fine form, and so were we," he said. The meet was all-around best on performance by all the Mustangs, he said.

Tonight the local matmen travel to Redford Union, where Kreiner expects to have a fairly even meet. He says he's never seen Redford before, and doesn't know exactly how strong they are.

Next Tuesday the Mustangs play hosts to North Farmington in a match for which Kreiner has very favorable predictions.

The meeting out with decision was won by Doug Nichols, Ron Rebiske, Dick Price and Gary Nichols. The local club won the heavyweight match by forfeit.

Parochial School Plans Second Wrestling Clinic

Grade school youths from Our Lady of Victory school in Northville will participate in Farmington's Our Lady of Sorrows' second annual wrestling clinic and tournament, which starts Saturday.

The six-week event is open to parochial school students in the Northville, Livonia and Farmville areas. Last year approximately 220 boys participated in the activity, and between 70 and 100 Northville youngsters are expected to enter this year.

Coach Dan Potter, of OLV, will direct the clinic-tournament. He expects to have high school wrestlers demonstrate various holds and escapes during the first meeting this week-end, and then will have three weeks of training.

The event will be capped by a two-week tournament among the entrants, who will do battle in competition for ribbon prizes.

The invitational event was organized to provide youngsters with directed training in the growing sport of wrestling, says Bob Byrd, of Willowbrook, who has helped Potter in some of the arrangements.

OLV Cagers Defeat Linus

Our Lady of Victory's junior high cagers checked up their first win of the season Sunday by defeating St. Linus of Dearborn 18-16. Forwards Mike Turnbull and Michael Harlan each scored six points to lead their team.

Last week OLV dropped their opener to St. Robert Bellarmine, of Redford township, 17-7. All the local players suffered stage fright except guard Norbert Parent, who swished in six of OLV's seven points. Methodist coach Clifford Bunker, of Willowbrook.

Cager of the Week

CONSISTENT HIGH SCORER - Steve Judy takes all as he goes into his favorite jump shot a few steps from the key. Steve, a 5' 11", 100-pound senior, has scored well for most of the season from his position as right guard. He also quarterbacked the Mustangs through a championship season this year, and will be wearing the basketball all-around when the snow clears. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Judy of 384 Lake street.

Mustangs Outdistance Holly 38-30 With First Half Lead

Northville's league-leading Mustangs piled up a 14-point first half edge over Holly last Friday night and then coasted to their sixth straight Wayne-Oakland win. Second-half drags slow play by their opponents and a lack of called fouls held the local cagers to a 38-30 win, their lowest score of the season.

Northville started well, and was leading 5-2 by the end of the second minute of play. From then until the end of the second stanza the local club steadily climbed ahead, building up to a 26-12 lead.

In the third quarter, Holly's stall held the Mustangs to eight points, and jarred their confidence during the first half, they sunk only 40 per cent in the third quarter and 14 per cent in the fourth.

"Our shooting was cold, especially in the final quarter," Longridge said, "and we weren't working well as a unit. It suggested that the slump could be attributed to Holly's stalling play, which frustrated the Mustangs because they couldn't get their hands on the ball."

In preparation for their home game with Milford tomorrow night, the Mustangs are working to improve their shooting.

By mid way through the last quarter the Broncos narrowed the score gap to nine points, but a tightened Northville defense held them to three points during the final four minutes.

"We normally pick up at least 10 points a game on free throws," said Coach Dave Longridge, "but last week we were only given three foul shots."

Longridge pointed out that the Mustangs are working to improve their shooting.

Northville Matmen Down Oak Park in Close Match

Northville matmen struggled to a 24-21 victory over Oak Park last week, in their closest win of the season.

Mustangs coach Jack Kreiner said the win should have been more decisive, because several of the local cagers have developed a habit of receiving a pass and the shot.

Mustangs who lost their matches were 103-pound Russ Nichols, 112-pound Doug Nichols, 133-pound Terry LaRue, 138-pound Jim Jiggins and 165-pound Joe Hay.

What is Your Treasure?
"For where your heart is,
there will your treasure be also." Matt. 6:21
If you were to ask a group of people what they considered as treasure you would receive various answers. For the most part those questioned would refer to something of a material nature, such as money, a car, a house, etc. In 1 Peter the Christian faith is described as "being much more precious than gold." The most precious treasure a person may gain is the assurance of the Forgiveness or remission of sin.
God's Word plainly states
"the wages of sin is death" and that "all have sinned" and also said "without shedding of blood there is no remission." The Christian is in 1 Peter 1:18-19 he is "not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold."
But with the precious blood of Christ.
In the light of God's Word
we have seen two treasures.
One earthly one heavenly.
One wrought of self effort and perishable the other wrought by another's efforts and everlasting. The heart of man must be fixed on a treasure or the other. This leads us to the two masters mentioned above. Lord Jesus is the Master of the Heavens, one may enter His Kingdom by repenting and accepting Him, "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved."
Romans 10:9.
Staten is the master of this world system. In God's Word he is called the "god of this world." One may remain in his power and eventually be cast "into everlasting fire, prepared for the devil and his angels", by rejecting the Lord Jesus Christ. "HE that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God."
Unbelief is caused by Satan the "god of this world" who blinded the minds of them which believe not." What is your treasure? Which master are you serving? If your heart is fixed upon material things and the message of the Cross of Christ is of no importance to you, look up for the day of redemption draweth nigh. "For where your treasure, is there will your heart be also." May each reader be richly blessed with heavenly treasure in Christ Jesus
our Lord. Amen.

Directory Lists Area Names, Jobs

R. L. Polk & Co. has just finished delivering to subscribers the 1951 Plymouth-Northville City Directory, which includes one entirely new feature.

According to the publisher, records, 8,943 personal and business names are listed.

For the first time, the telephone numbers are shown after the names of householders in the street (green) section.

A city directory may strike the average citizen as a dull, matter-of-fact compendium. Really, however, it is a masterpiece of planning and organization. The development of the community can be traced, and where one can read, not only of workaday lives, but of the rise and fall of men and families in the struggle for wealth, fame, and social position.

Eighteen was continued as the minimum listing age in the directory, and the aforementioned count considers a combined number of man and wife as only one name, the publishers stated.

Special regular features of the directory include the designations of owners-occupied and rented homes, marital status, wives' names and heads of households, and descriptive sketches of the two cities.

The directory people counted them up and stated that Plymouth and Northville now have 280 distinct categories of enterprise, which they catalog alphabetically from "Accountants" to "Yarns" in the classified pages.

"Book-ending" all the other names on the new Plymouth roster are Roger L. Aaron and Victor C. Zwickler.

In Northville they are Elaine M. Abbott and Mrs. Elaine B. Zankler.

As it takes all kinds of people to make a world, so it takes all kinds of names to make a people. The directory shows that this community has its quota of unusual names. They include: Purse, Milk, Price, Druggie, Gun and Hood.

LET'S TALK CARS . . . The Seasonal Used Car Market

Any time is a good time to buy a used car if you buy it correctly. It is subject to the possible depreciation that a new car is not. But this depreciation factor that makes the next six months the best period of the year for a used car purchase. Here's why:

Annual depreciation, which chews away constantly at the value of all used cars, knocks prices down in a series of declines starting in July, when the Spring rush has subsided; again in September, after vacation buyers have made their purchases; and again in November when the new models come on the market.

The fourth annual price decline is caused by the widespread demand due largely to November snow and cold. Then prices firm up during the January cycle.

The used car you buy NOW will lose little, if anything, in depreciation in the 4 months between now and February. The value you now realize in transportation most buy it wisely from a dealer who can put your confidence in.
