SPEAKING for the Record

The American Association of University Women - locally and state-wide - is making a determined effort to win approval of two bills filed in the state house of representatives and

One would provide funds for separate children's units at state mental hospitals; the other would increase operating funds for greatly improved care and treatment programs and school programs for children already in these hospitals. The capital outlay bill calls for $1,550,000 for children treat ment centers at four state hospitals (including Northville). Additional operating funds requested total $458,600. The latter would not completely staff units at each hespital but would provide care and treatment improvement.

AAUW concern stems from the fact that there are over 500 children in state hospitals — and another 200 on the waiting list - and most of these children must be housed in ad

The urgency of the mental health program for children wa expressed at a December public hearing conducted by AAUW by Dr. Douglas A. Sargent, president of the Michigan Council of Child Psychiatrists, who said:

"All of the children who are presently occupying beds in our State Mental Hospitals are receiving sub-standard care and treatment.

"To be successful, psychiatric treatment for children requires that all of the child's normal needs for comfort, recreation, education, affection, etc. be met, just as they would be met in a normal home. These are basic human needs. Yet we force our State hospitals to act as though mentally sick kids need less of these life-enriching experiences than do their normal counterparts.

"The fact is, the child who is mentally III needs more love, more fun, more comfort, more of everything than he would if he were well,

"Every thinking citizen should insist that we provide these hospitals with the tools they need to treat our sick As every Michigan citizen knows, appropriations are one thing; finding the money another. It is freely predicted by many legislators will face a deficit of 90 million dollrs by June. And at this same public hearing where Dr. Sargent se forth his appeal Senator Farrell Roberts was sympathetic, but

"The problem is not appropriations, the problem is axation. Citizens and organizations who support appropriations for such urgently needed services as we are discussing here today, should state clearly their willingness to be taxed in order to provide money to pay for these

Clearly, we cannot hide from the problem of mentally ill children. It is said that one out of 12 children born each year faces hospitalization for emotional or mental trouble. If nothing - or not enough - is done, they become mentally ill adults. new or higher taxes on the present jumble is not the answer. The public will pay if it knows the waste has been pared from expenditures and some order of equity brought into the system

Despite the problem of money, however, the AAUW remains firm in its convictions. Their group takes this position: "The AAUW is asking for increased appropriations at a time when the State is operating at a deficit. But we also support measures to provide a more equitable and adequate tax structure. The services for which we are asking are minimum, essential services. There must be funds provided to care for these mentally sick children."

Mrs. B. W. Second is president of the Northville-Plymouth AAUW organization. She's spear-heading the appeal for public at a special program attended by members of the Patient Council and hospital staff. Mrs Elaine Rabidoux and Walter Williams, Sr. were accorded the honor, an annual presentation since 1954. Williams won the award for the first time in 1957 and his wife was similarly honored in 1959. Coincidentally, Mrs. Rabidoux's son, Clayton, is also a psychiatric aide and was honored as aide of the month earlier this year. In the photo (I-r) the putient council president looks on while Medical Superintendent Philip N. Brown, M.D., presents $25 bonds to Mrs. Rabidoux and Williams.
