

SPEAKING for the Record

It is beginning to dawn on most of us that the things we do in our personal lives, and as families, communities, states and nations have a bearing on others about us — on the job, at home, in the immediate area and finally, throughout the world. One day soon, if it has not already arrived, the activities of our world may directly affect whatever exists in outer space.

A psychologist might label this process of considering personal behavior on the basis of what our actions do to others as simply "learning to live together."

Actually, that's what the United Nations is striving to accomplish. Its success is a matter for debate; nevertheless, the effort continues.

THIS THOUGHT comes to mind as the result of two recent experiences. One concerns an area official who declined inter-community consideration of a problem with the words "what we do in our community is none of your business" (community business). His opinion did not prevail with fellow officials, however, and he was out-voted.

The second, not at all connected with the first, involves the problem between the Northville and Novi school districts. Full details of a joint meeting between the two school boards appear on page one of this week.

WHAT IS important here is that, like it or not, Northville school officials have had to involve themselves in Novi school business.

And they are taking a $100,000 gamble in an action that they believe is correct. But it remains for Novi to determine this.

Novi school board members are firm in this position: yet they do not want to be misunderstood. They have taken every precaution to stay out of Novi affairs.

Tuesday an assembly of Novi high school students was called and the problem explained. Superintendents of both systems were in attendance along with Northville Board Members Ed Angere and James Kipfer.

The Northville-Novii tuition student problem is a serious and delicate issue. Board members of both systems acknowledge this and have taken frankly, yet cordially, in an attempt to reach understanding.

In the face of rumors contradicting Northville's statement, this has been difficult.

Novi will be forced to look elsewhere for high school accommodations.

It's true that parents of high school students could deal directly with the Northville system and pay their tuition. But this seems like a poor solution.

Some 200 students are involved. Northville receives approximately $70 per student on the basis of $168 from the state, and $22 from Novi (of which Novi is reimbursed $10 per student from the state).

More accurately, however, it can be said that the education of all children of both systems is dependent upon the solution.

And this places a heavy responsibility upon the shoulders of the Novi school board. For suddenly they must realize that they are not acting for one system alone.

They are acting for the community, and support of their district voters, rests the future welfare of two school systems.

It is difficult, indeed, to live alone in our modern world.

Beware of Bikes

Warm weather months pose special problems to motorists. In addition to the increase in auto traffic, the strain of driving during warm temperatures, and the glare of pavement from the sun, children are a major hazard on the roadways, according to State Police Commissioner Joseph E. Childs.

Bicycle riding is a favorite youthful pastime from the first sign of spring to the first snowfall. On a bicycle a youth can forget his cares and be carried away with the power he controls.

This coffee afternoon for a bicyclist is the major concern of State Police, where traffic is involved.

During 1961, State Police records showed 20 persons were killed in car-bicycle accidents and another 1,817 were injured. A total of 2,207 accidents of this type were reported during the year.

The principal contributing factors of bicycle accidents include violations of law. Children, often entering the roadway without stopping, sudden starting or stopping, or riding on a single-track bicycle.

The violations which caused the most accidents included disregard of stop signs, which apply to bicyclists as well as to operators of motor vehicles, and riding at night without proper lighting on the bicycle.

The serious prevention of car-bike accidents lies on three parties, the State Police chief says.

Less than five years ago, more than 800 miles of state highways were gravel covered, and most were in poor condition.

Just recently, however, the Michigan Department of Transportation has announced the modernization of the last gravel road, an 18-mile stretch of State Highway 148 in Chippewa County, near Upper Peninsula.

College graduates in elementary teaching, science, engineering and accounting, very likely will find themselves in great demand this year.

In teaching, particularly, the demand is in smaller centers where the salary ranges are lower than the state average. Teaching pay scales are expected to be up again this year, somewhere around $100 higher than last year, Kinney says.

Increases in salaries from last year are also being noted in the other three general fields. He talks of a good time for cutting all her clothes up with a pair of scissors.

"I'm afraid she is going to do something to these kids and I want to know what I can do to take her back to Elsie's house," he just won't do anything about it.

Dear Willie:
I know of few situations so frustrating as having the knowledge of what should be done in a matter where you care and at the same time, being helpless to do anything about it.

There is a way to do this. My wife and I are in a similar situation. Theoretically, she could be hospitalized upon your petition to the Probate Court. But practically speaking, your petition would probably be denied if your cousin is not a doctor, in the eyes of the law.

Dr. Mudd Replies

Dear Dr. Mudd:
My cousin is having a lot of trouble with his wife. She has been kind of odd since I've known her. She is very nervous. You could never tell her what she would do. Sometimes you'd think she was crazy. I've been with her and everything would be all right. But other times she'd act real silly. After awhile you kind of get to expect it, and knowing just how she'd act, you can't help but laugh at her.

My cousin put up with an awful lot. Sometimes she'd get so mad she'd throw things, and mean throw things. Like one time she had to go to the hospital because she had her hand sewed up where she hit him with a hammer. She's been getting worse lately. Some days he comes home and she's sitting in the middle of the living room floor not doing anything. But just like a piece of wood, she'll be there. Then, then she'll be all right. O.K. again. Lately she's been saying she won't do anything but work and told him that she'd get scared and come right home and stay with him. She is filling the bathtub with water.

Things like that go on all the time. He can't do anything about them. Last Sunday she tried to kill him. I guess, and she was sitting in the middle of the living room floor not doing anything. But just like a piece of wood, she'll be there. Then, then she'll be all right. O.K. again. Lately she's been saying she won't do anything but work and told him that she'd get scared and come right home and stay with him. She is filling the bathtub with water.

Entertainment Galore Planned For School Fair

It'll be fun, frolic and plenty of entertainment in Novi this weekend.

Three o'clock Saturday afternoon is the planned time for all activities to get underway at Novi school children, teachers and parents once more, the annual school fair, to be held on the Novi school grounds.

Featured activities planned for the fundraising event include games, a greenhouse, a gift shop, a talent show, the customary rides and a "real" zoo with snakes and a number of other small animals.

"They thought of everything," the fair will even provide the evening's dinner.

Parents and children who are planning to attend the fair will be served spaghetti, hot dogs, sloppy joe's, ice cream, coffee and soft drinks. And the carnival atmosphere of the school fair will be complete with cotton candy and popcorn.

Take-home desserts will be available — for a lucky few — on the show, are teachers Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lohr, Mrs. Hagg, Mrs. Barber, Mrs. Westphal and Mrs. Barbara Christman.

Novi Schools Use Cowboy's Tactics

It's round-up time in Novi. Superintendent of Schools Tom Culbert said this week that the annual spring round-up for registration of new first kindergartners will be held Friday, May 18. He said the school's census predicts about 120 new kindergartners will be enrolled.

Novi youngsters who will be five years old or before next December 1 are eligible for school next fall by state law, Culbert said.

He explained that the annual round-up takes place in the spring to permit the schools to better organize for fall and to familiarize incoming kindergartners with the school.

Regular kindergarten classes will not be held next Friday. Parents and children who are planning to attend the fair will be served spaghetti, hot dogs, sloppy joe's, ice cream, coffee and soft drinks. And the carnival atmosphere of the school fair will be complete with cotton candy and popcorn.

Police Officer Attends Class

Novi police Patrolman Rick Faulkner was among police officers from 18 Michigan communities who recently completed an accident investigation course at Michigan State University's Burgoyne Center for continuing education.

The course was one of a series being presented by the MSU school of police administration and public safety to provide for better-trained officers in accident prevention and investigation.

The series of courses grew out of the need for better training in the face of an increasing number of drivers and accidents.

The Michigan State Police report that in the first quarter of 1961 there have been over 60,000 auto accidents on state highways — an increase of 29 percent over the same period last year. They say a total of 22,626 persons were injured by the end of last month, and 375 were killed in highway accidents.

Novi Graduation Set For June 15

Graduation exercises for Novi eighth graders will be held June 15, Superintendent of Schools Tom Culbert announced.

He said the event is slated for 8 p.m. in the community building. A party for the eighth graders will be held the night before, June 14.

The graduating class will have its annual trip next Tuesday, Culbert said. The Lansing exchange will start from the school at 8 a.m., he said, and return to Novi by train at 6:30 p.m. for the floor. He received only one letter from the floor. He received only one letter from the floor. He received only one letter from the floor.

Novi Village Councilmen Approve $187,500 Budget for 1962-63

Novi village councilmen Tuesday night approved a 1962-63 proposed budget of $187,500 following a sparsely-attended public hearing.

After mentioning through the proposed budget for over four hours, answering questions from the half dozen persons in the audience, the council voted to approve the proposals with only minor changes.

Included in the changes is a fund of $5,000 to provide a salary for an administrative assistant. This is an extra position which will help relieve some of the administrative duties of the village assessor. His salary would not be changed if he becomes an assessor, but if he remains an assessor, his salary would be $5,000.

Other changes include minor reductions of several non-personnel expenses to provide for the purchase of materials and a building for DPW headquarters.

Total revenues are anticipated at $187,000. Some $13,000 will be received from the sale of land and a building for DPW headquarters.

Values of Wixom, Novi Go Up, Down

Novi township valuation is up nearly a half million dollars over last year's figure, says Township Supervisor Fraser Staman.

He said the new figure is $11,463,400, up some $497,200 over the assessed value of $11,000,000 in 1961.

The police department is slated to receive $40,000 in salaries for six patrolmen, an auxiliary officer, chief and dispatcher.

Total non-personnel expenses will be $24,550, down some $900 from the proposed figure.

Councilman Donald Young suggested cutting five of the administrative items budgeted to provide $800 for the DPW street road program, which would cost nearly $80,000, but would complete present road building plans at least two years ahead of schedule.

In order to carry out the mental road program, which would cost $2,381 is slated for the fire department's non-personnel costs, while total DPW expenses amount to only about $8,800.

The plan is expected to total $24,550, down some $900 from the proposed figure.

School Board Petitions Due Saturday

No nominating petitions for candidates for the two school board positions are available in Novi's June school election have been filed as yet, reports school secretary Mrs. Helen Hagg.

"Deadline for filing of petitions is 4 p.m. Saturday. The election is set for June 12, 1962. The two board seats that will be open are those of Arthur Healy and Russell Taylor.

Meets Deadline

Charles Coers, 4245 12 Mile road, is a man who takes people at their word.

Several weeks ago village Councilman Joseph Crupi admitted, feeling that at 11 p.m. deadline should be set for council sessions.

And Monday night Coers appeared in council chambers to see if the council could do it.

The council adjourned just minutes before the alarm was set to sound.

Police Chief Warns Illegal Scooter Riders

Novi Police Chief Leo DeGole this week issued a warning to all persons who ride motor scooters.

DeGole said there have been a number of persons unlawfully riding scooters and warned that the police department is watching for them.

State law provides that motor scooters may be ridden only by persons who have either a regular driver's license or a special permit. Permits are available to those who have completed driver training but not old enough to obtain a driver's license. DeGole pointed out that the law also prohibits motor scooter riding on public roads.

Required by state law, the permit covers all parts of the state.

A four-member team is canvassing Novi and three township clerks are handling the census.

Village Plans To Exchange With Dundee

Novi's partner for the Michigan Week may exchange day later this month has been changed from Hastings to Dundee, says Village Clerk Mrs. Mabel Ash.

She explained that Hastings withdrew from the event because the mayor there is unable to attend. Novi's pairing with Dundee was settled last week.

Representing Novi at Dundee, which is some 20 miles south of Ann Arbor on US 24, will be Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi and President Pro-Tem Dean Zehner.

A committee composed of John and Mrs. Florence Harris is completing the arrangements for Novi's exchange program.

Methodist Women Travel To Port Huron Conference

Members of Northville First Methodist church's Women's Society of Christian Service, to the conference presidency (WSSC) played active roles in the 22nd Annual Meeting of the WSSC's Detroit conference at Port Huron May 1.

Highlight of the trip for the Northville delegation was the election of one of its members, Mrs. William Canfield, to the conference presidency and the election of another, Miss Ethel Cameron, as the conference's Wesleyan Service Guild secretary.

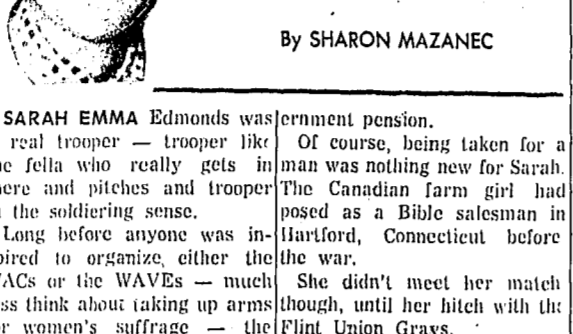

Attending for the Northville society were Mrs. Canfield, Mrs. Paul Beard, president,

Engagements Announced

SARAH EMMA Edmonds was a real trooper — trooper like the fella who really gets in here and pitches and trooper in the soldiering sense.

Long before anyone was inspired to organize, either the WACS or the WAVES — much less think about taking up arms for women's suffrage — the Michigan woman should a uniform and went to war.

Granted, she did it surreptitiously — joined the army, that is — nevertheless, the fact remains that she did respond to all those wartime slogans and billboard appeals about Uncle Sam needing you, the wife of those of a later, World War II vintage?

Regardfully, Sarah answered the call, she fought in the Civil War, shoulder to shoulder, with the soldiers of the First Union Cavalry, part of the Second Regiment.

And the punchline to this story is that it wasn't until she was 20 years after Lincoln had rendered his "Four score and seven years ago" rhetoric that Sarah revealed her identity to the First outfit.

There must have been more than a few shocked expressions when the boys discovered "Franklin Thompson" actually wasn't one of the boys.

A woman posing as a man going to battle with men and never being found out? That was Sarah.

She had gone through the Civil War and kept her sex a secret. Her gossamer might never have been known if she hadn't decided to apply for a government pension.

Of course, being taken for a man was nothing new for Sarah. The Canadian farm girl had posed as a Bible salesman in Hartford, Connecticut before the war.

She didn't meet her match though, until her hitch with the First Union Cavalry.

She recorded some of her war experiences in two letters that were recently acquired by the University of Michigan Historical Collections.

While the Second Regiment didn't get into the thick of the Battle of Bull Run, it covered the chaotic retreat.

SARAH WROTE: "Officers and men alike confounded, regiment after regiment broke and fled, and almost immediately the panic commenced. Companies of cavalry were drawn up in line across the road with drawn sabers, but all was not sufficient to stop the tide of fugitives. Then came the artillery hurled in two letters that were recently acquired by the University of Michigan Historical Collections.

Proposed Clinic Will Aid Area's Disturbed Children

Although it's still a long way off, initial ground-work for a child guidance clinic to serve mentally disturbed children in Western Wayne county was laid down April 26 by a committee headed by Mrs. Crispin Hammond, 47100 Timber lane.

Children from the Northville area will be able to draw on the services of the clinic, which will operate on an out-patient basis.

The 27-member steering committee that elected Mrs. Hammond its chairman pro tem was called together by a committee of the Western Wayne Planning division of United Community Services, consisting of Mrs. Hammond, chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Rehnkop, Romulus, and Miss Marjorie Lingenfelter, Livonia.

Studies that help determine how money from the United Foundation Parish Drive will be spent are sponsored by the planning division.

The proposed Western Wayne guidance clinic will be a branch of the Children's Center of Wayne county.

It won't be started overnight, emphasized Mrs. Hammond. It may take years before all the details can be worked out and the clinic opened for patient traffic, she said.

The important thing is that some headway is being made toward a much needed facility, judged Mrs. Hammond.

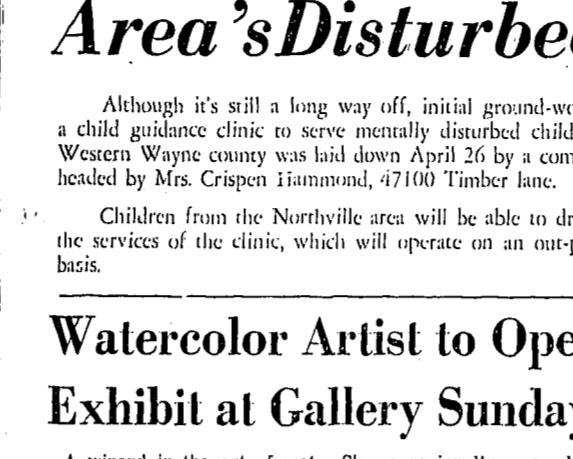

Mental health centers in the county currently have waiting lists of six months to a year.

Relationship of the steering committee to the Children's Center was explained at the April 26 meeting by John Sherf, a member of the board at the center. Bart Berg, well known for his interest in mental health and for having started National Mental Health week several years ago, outlined local responsibilities. General information about the operation of a guidance clinic was furnished by Mrs. Viola Gregg.

As a start, Mrs. Claude Werman, Northville, Mrs. R. H. Hermonson, Dearborn and Mrs. Churchill found a favorable climate for her water colors all over the state. Since May of last year she has shown her works at the Annual Michigan Artists exhibition, Michigan Regional exhibition, Western Michigan exhibition, Scarab Water Color exhibit, Michigan Water Color Society, Ann Arbor Art Association Annual and Detroit Society of Women's Painters, among others.

Dabbling in paints some 30 years now, the artist does the majority of her work in blue, Charles Yahnke are making the and green, her favorite colors.

Watercolor Artist to Open Exhibit at Gallery Sunday

A wizard in the art of watercolor painting, Mrs. Ruby Churchill, of Ann Arbor, comes to Northville Sunday to begin two-weeks' showing at the Hartley-Powers gallery, 115 East Main.

Mrs. Churchill doesn't mind figures, she says, but she doesn't like them cluttered.

Mrs. Churchill, who adds a touch of realism to her perspective drawings to achieve a fresh impression of both landscapes and figures, will be featured Sunday afternoon from 2 to 6 at a reception at the gallery.

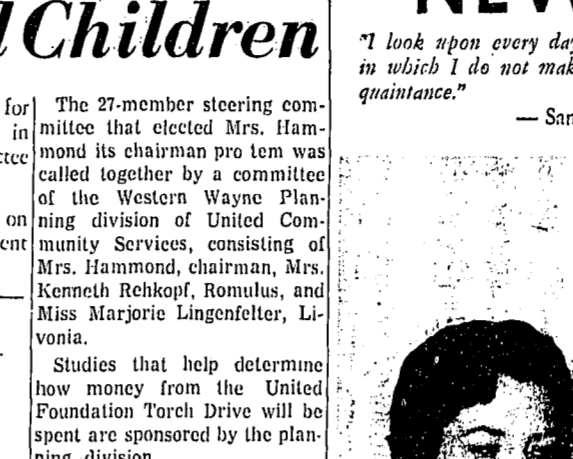

The artist's penchant for painting and art didn't come to the fore until after she had concentrated on mathematics and physics at Indiana University and the University of Chicago. Before her marriage to John Churchill, she was a mathematics professor at the University of Michigan — Mrs. Churchill taught grade school.

After the couple's two children started to school, Mrs. Churchill entered the U-A's School of Architecture and Design. In addition to her instruction there, she attended group classes in painting conducted by several artists.

Once on her way, Mrs. Churchill found a favorable climate for her water colors all over the state. Since May of last year she has shown her works at the Annual Michigan Artists exhibition, Michigan Regional exhibition, Western Michigan exhibition, Scarab Water Color exhibit, Michigan Water Color Society, Ann Arbor Art Association Annual and Detroit Society of Women's Painters, among others.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Slated

Northville First Methodist church's annual Mother and Daughter banquet is slated tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall.

Sponsored by the church's Women's Society of Christian Service, the banquet is open to the public.

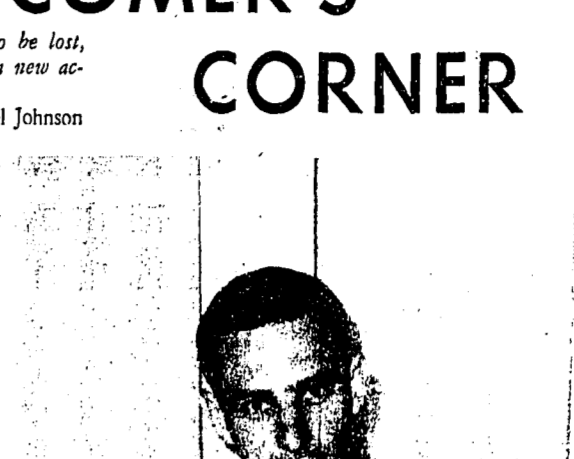

For program entertainment, Methodist youth have planned an original puppet show, "The Plague of the Plague," which will be presented at 8 p.m. The young people have made their own puppets and props with the help of some of the parents.

The day-long tour, offered by Wayne State university's Center for Adult Education, the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan university, has been planned with the Detroit Historical museum.

To find out more about it, phone TE 5-1400, Ext. 608 or 371.

Note to the Women's Club — Christine Paraschos, University of Michigan pianist, who came here for "An Afternoon With Music" in February, has been awarded the $1,000 Lucy Elliott scholarship by a university alumni committee.

Conference Reports to Top WILPF Agenda Tuesday

Reports of meetings recently attended by branch delegates and a preview of a coming international confab will top the agenda at next Tuesday's meeting of the Northville Plymouth branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF).

Mrs. Cy Frid, 515 Dubuar, will host the Tuesday meeting, slated to start at 8 p.m.

Miss Alla Powers and Mrs. C. E. Woodruff will report on their trip to Atlantic City for the annual meeting of the U.S. Section of the WILPF.

National president Dr. Dorothy Hutchinson presided at the session, opening the meeting with a statement on the growing worldwide concern for world order and disarmament, which have been goals of the organization since it was founded in 1915.

Plans were also made for the WILPF's International Congress at San Francisco and Astoria, California July 7-14. The U. S. Section will be the hostess branch at the California congress, welcoming delegates from 40 countries. Mrs. Woodruff, member of the national board of the U. S. Section, will attend the session as an alternate delegate.

At Tuesday night's meeting Mrs. Woodruff will also report on the U. S. State department's Regional Foreign Policy briefing by the Commodore Perry hotel in Toledo April 24 and 25. The briefing was called by George McGhee, Under Secretary of State for Political Affairs.

Not Stopping Brings Fine

Leaving the scene of an accident brought a $100 fine for a Detroit man in Novi Justice of the Peace Court last week.

Hobert H. Bell, 72, pleaded not guilty to the charge, but Justice Robert K. Anderson found him guilty and ordered payment of the fine. Bell had insured at the scene of the accident and then left without reporting his name.

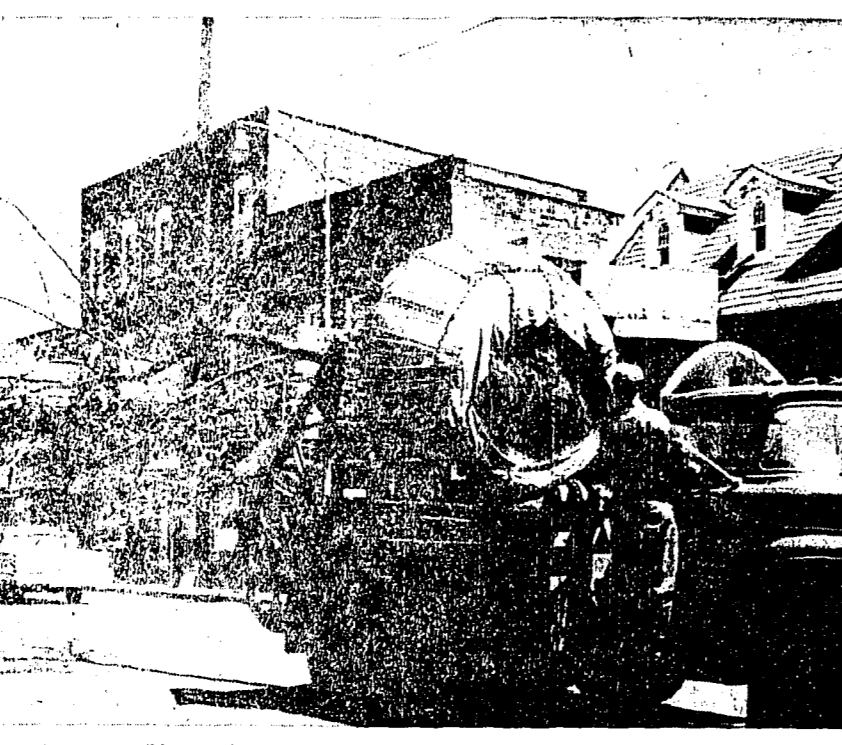

Two men who injured another when he attempted to break-up their fight were ordered to pay $25 fines each on charges of being drunk and disorderly. Raymond W. Kunkle, 48, of Dearborn and Marvin F. Rhea, 50, of Detroit both pleaded guilty and must pay the fines.

Harold Walker, a truck driver from Kalamazoo, was ordered to pay $105 after he pleaded guilty to a Michigan Public Services Commission charge of hauling for hire without an $110 permit.

John M. Wanko, 19, and David B. Borlace, 20, both of Detroit paid $15 fines after pleading guilty to being minors in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Fines of $25 each and sentences of three months' probation were set for Ronald J. Lattman, 19, and David J. Cruickshank, 19, both of Detroit after they pleaded guilty to being minors in possession.

Arnold G. Gornall, 47, of 341 East Main street paid $20 and was placed on one year's probation after he pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly.

MOVING — This huge tree changed sites last week — from Detroit Federal Savings and Loan to the city's Joe Denton Park. The tree was donated to the city jointly by Detroit Federal and Green Ridge Nursery. John Miller, owner of Green Ridge, said he'd like to plant the tree in memory of the late Mayor Claude Rie, who originated Northville's tree preservation program in 1930. Detroit Federal Savings and Loan is constructing a new 21-car parking lot next to its building and also adding a new touch around its offices by installing sidewalk planter boxes.

TRIBUTE TO PATRIOTISM — The American flag flew over Our Lady of Victory school for the first time Friday afternoon during an impressive outdoor ceremony that included an address by the Rev. Father James J. Conroy, pastor of the school, and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and other anthems by an all-school assembly. Eighth grader Michael Williams (left), who delivered a poignant eulogy, thanked the students for the stanzas, says thanks again to Miss Ruth Kopp, responsible for the school's new flagpole, and C. W. Myers, representing the VFW which donated the flag.

Two Firms Report Thefts

Vandalism at the Foundry Flask Equipment company, 455 East Cady, and jewelry of a fire and wheel from the Gih Bergstrom auto dealership, 200 South Main, were reported this week by Northville police.

Chief Eugene King said a pop bottle had been used to damage two pieces of glass at Foundry Flask Friday night.

The tire and wheel were taken from a car in Bergstrom's used car lot, King stated.

In justice court Saturday, Conrad Alrick, of Alma, was convicted of reckless driving by Justice Charles McDonald and ordered to pay a $50 fine and $15 cost and 10 days in the Detroit House of Correction. Alrick, who had earlier entered a not guilty plea to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor, took the jail sentence.

A Howell man, Burj Low, pleaded not guilty to being drunk and disorderly on a public street, but was found guilty by Judge McDonald and penalized $10 and $5 cost and two days at DeTouche. He chose the jail stay.

How Good Are 30,000 Mile CHASSIS LUBRICATIONS?

One of the many benefits in buying a new car these days, as the auto manufacturers have found a good job of pointing out, is the money you'll save with fewer chassis lubrications.

What has gone unnoticed though is that the new lubricating chemicals that made the extended intervals possible are "THE MAN WHO SHOT LIBERTY BELLS" — reducing wear on chassis joints. This is a real advance in auto engineering and it is due to a chemical called molybdenum disulfide that is added to the lubricating grease. The "moly" additive, as engineers call it, resists acid and air oxidation and clings tenaciously to metals.

It has improved the lubricating qualities of conventional grease so much that in extensive tests on trucks and buses receiving heavy wear, the "moly" lubricated parts showed one-half the wear of parts greased with conventional lubricants.

To their credit, since it is bound to reduce the sale of lubricants somewhat, much of the "moly" research was done by the major oil companies.

A word of warning is in order though. Moly lubricant in new cars is sealed in a grease cup attached to the moving joints of your car's chassis. Rutted roads or hard snow and ice can damage or break them off entirely, leaving the joint without lubrication.

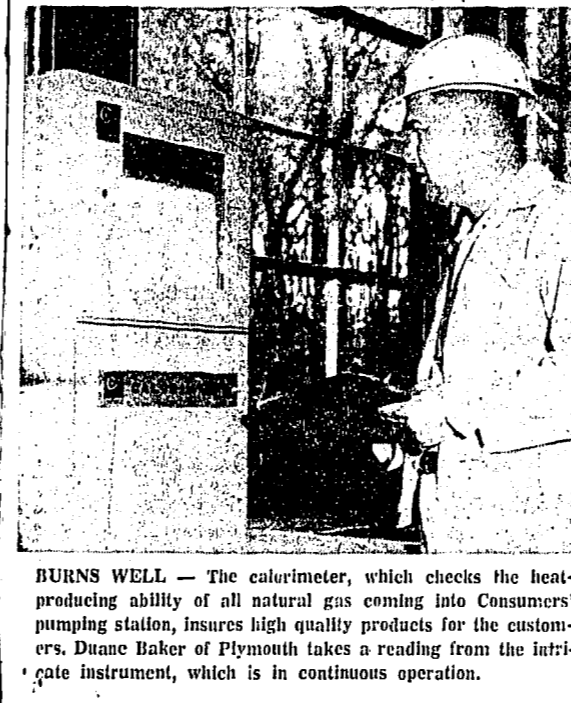

It is wise insurance to have your chassis checked periodically for grease cup damage, even though new grease is not needed. We'll be happy to perform this service in our garage at no cost to you.

But Not From Nearby Wells

BURNS WELL — The calorimeter, which checks the heat-producing ability of all natural gas coming into Consumers' pumping station, insures high quality products for the customer. Duane Baker of Plymouth takes a reading from the latrigate instrument, which is in continuous operation.

MAIN SUPPLY — The large valve Kenneth Evans, 2587 Beck road, is closing shuts off one of the three main natural gas lines coming from the Trunkline Gas company's line in Ohio. The Consumers Power company's pumping station also has two smaller lines feeding it. The Northville station is the only Consumers station which is capable of pumping gas in or out of all its lines. If pressure is down, making it difficult to accurately read, one or two of these lines may be shut down to increase flowage in the other line.

Northville Consumers Power Station Pumps Gas to Thousands

Few people probably realize which was completed just two years ago, dates back to the early 1950's, when oil was discovered in what came to be called the Northville field.

Oil discovered eight years ago on the Roy LeMaster farm on the west side of Napier road, near Seven Mile, set off a flurry of petroleum prospecting that ultimately led to the founding of the Northville pumping station.

That first LeMaster well was brought in by Mecosta county oilman William C. Taggart in January of 1954, and is still producing. More than 40 wells were drilled during the next year, with only a few of them proving to be of any exploitable value.

But the discovery of oil and natural gas resources interested Consumers in the area, and the resulting firm's purchase of land on the east side of Napier, just a short distance north of that original LeMaster well.

Oddy enough, however, the Consumers' installation has little to do with the Northville petroleum field.

According to Floyd Neff, superintendent of the pumping station, no natural gas from the Northville field is handled through the station.

Neff said the gas company purchased its property in the mid 1950's because of its nearness to the field. But in 1959, when local oil activity had dwindled to a minimum, Consumers decided to use the land to solve a pressure problem it had had in its Detroit-area natural gas distribution pipelines, he said.

A quick look at the Northville station's calorimeter—delicate instrument that continuously measures the BTU's of gas coming into the station—showed that the gas is averaging a rating of 1006 BTU's.

"We just raise the pressure a little and then pump it out," Neff explained at a row of dials outside his office door. By the dials he showed that gas last weekend was coming in at about 500 pounds of pressure and leaving at about 600.

When the gas leaves Northville, it goes either to local customers — which require nearly all of the station's capacity during the coldest periods of winter — or to Consumers' main storage facilities located in Marion, near Cadillac, and Overtown, near Holland.

Neff explained that Consumers has turned its new low-pressure gas into the wells at a greater pressure than what native gas is left would come out.

"We pump about 140 million cubic feet of gas a day," Neff said. "During the peak demand day last winter, Consumers provided about 280 million cubic feet, and we handled 200 million of it."

Little gas purification takes place in Northville, Neff said. The gas purification facilities at the station filter out moisture and small particles of dirt and then distribute the gas just as it comes from Trunkline.

But Neff was quick to point out that the gas is still of high quality. He said the Michigan public services commission requires all gas sold to provide at least 900 BTU's — British Thermal Units used to determine the amount of heat-producing ability of a fuel.

SAFETY FIRST — A twist of the wrist and Floyd Neff, pumping station superintendent, could shut down Consumers Power company's Northville station. The valve he's holding closes off incoming and outgoing pipe lines, shuts down the giant engines and compressors, disconnects the main power line and emergency generator and opens a blow-out valve to clear all pipes in the station. All operations except the blow-out require only 15 seconds. The blow-out would be completed within four to five minutes. Consumers has five such emergency stations located in its pumping facility. They would be used in case of a ruptured line, fire or other danger that could cause an explosion.

ENGINE ONE — Robert Visher, 2415 Napier road, prepares to start one of the giant engines that drive compressors for Consumers Power company's Northville pumping station. The panel of controls operates the huge 5,700 horsepower engines automatically. Any one of a half-dozen things that could go wrong with one of the engines would automatically shut it off. The engines burn the same natural gas that their compressors pump to thousands of customers. The cost of natural gas fuel conditions Consumers largest pumping station expense. To insure unhampered operation, over $53,000 worth of engine parts are kept at the station.

THE HEART of Consumers Power company's natural gas pumping station in western Northville township is this large metal building. It houses the four giant engines which drive the compressors that pump gas to Pontiac and suburban Detroit areas — Consumers' largest customer area. The two tall tanks and pipe lines in front of the building are called "scrubbers." They remove moisture and dust particles from all incoming natural gas. The small building houses delicate instruments that measure the amount of gas going to the compressors.

Built-Ins Provide Useful Storage

From the standpoint of functional, contemporary design, there should be a place for everything in the home... but "it ain't necessarily so."

There are so many things that you're likely to need storage place for - new acquisitions that must be accommodated, disorganized stereo components that simply have no place to go, etc.

Here are a few new-to-the-subject of better, more attractive and more practical built-ins which can provide a place for the "place-less."

Built-ins fall generally into three categories: Straight storage, living walls which are sometimes called entertainment walls, and furniture combined with storage.

Units built solely for storage are the easiest for which to plan. The most effective way in which to plan them is to list all household items that need storage, include general sizes and shapes, how they are arranged (side-by-side, vertically, etc.) and the areas of the house where the stored items will be near the point of use.

Balance this against available space in those areas, then combine the elements into the built-in you need.

Key Storage Areas

Key areas in which additional storage space might be used are: Kitchens, bathrooms, bedrooms and hallways.

In bathrooms, for instance, under-sink space often goes to waste. This area might be enclosed to accommodate linens or cleaning items.

Kitchen storage is often poorly organized, and additional

Large windowless areas may not be broken up by an individual plant or grouping.

A good way to start planning your landscaping is to place a piece of tracing paper over a photograph of your house and draw the lines for your plantings. It may take more than one sketch to get the result you want. Use the combination that best brings out the feeling the architect tried to express in his design. Within your chosen outlines of shapes, incorporate certain plants as accents. Others will serve as fillers.

Group plants of varying heights.

Plan for pleasing color harmony in foliage and flowers. Don't mix strong foliage colors in one grouping. Be subtle. Carry your plan to the sides and rear of the house. These areas generally serve the family's garden living. Hedges, shrubs, trees provide privacy. Your sketch should show a group of plants of varying heights.

Two-Sided Utility

In addition to creating distinct activity areas, a partition between living and dining areas, or between living and kitchen, may serve as well as a wall and its design is limited only by the family's interest. A wall can be designed with one special activity in mind, such as hobbies.

For instance, in a home workshop a wall might be devoted to drawer space, cabinets, racks, etc. to house tools, materials and blueprints for woodcraft projects.

Entertainment walls are self-explanatory and are geared to family interests as well. Such walls may feature television framing bookshelves, hi-fi or stereo components, vertical storage space for records, etc.

It is well to use a sturdy, heat-proof material like ceramic tile for the pass-through serving counter. The counter itself is a key element in the built-in category for serving - and plenty of durability to stand up under the constant abuse of hot dishes and steam, bunks, trays, bars, desks and headboards.

Since this type of furniture is usually stationary, special care should be given to planning.

Making Best Use of Space

IN PROGRESS here: construction of a storage unit under attic's sloping ceiling. Job is done without fancy carpentry. Flat plywood sheets cut to shape take the place of hard-to-fit framing.

FINDING TINY PARTS

To find a needed small nut, bolt or screw in a box or drawer of odds and ends, simply spread contents on a cardboard or newspaper. When you have what you need, staple paper in to a "trough", and pour the rest back into the drawer.

HANDY STORAGE

Circular saw blades of various sizes can be safely and conveniently stored in old photograph record albums, each blade slipped into a pocket.

Landscaping Increases Home Value

Whether your home planning agenda calls for a few shrubs or complete re-landscaping as part of your home improvement program this spring, it is advised that you follow a basic landscaping plan. For a well-planned property not only reflects the beauty and charm of your house, it provides outdoor living for the family, and increases its real estate value.

Plan with a purpose: trees for shade, screens, or accents in color and form - shrubs and evergreens to enhance the architectural lines of the house. Garden and shrub borders should be planned and not scattered. Don't miss about the proportion, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

Conform to Design

For instance, in planting around the contemporary house with its long low lines, keep planting under long picture windows low and conform to the lines of the house by using low material such as ground covers.

To add height and softness, place a flowering tree away from the house, not against it.

Step-Saver

The kitchen pass through could save you a lot of steps. It's simply an opening in the wall through which you can carry food, dishes or the like. Usually it is located between the dining room and kitchen.

SPEAKING for the Record

AN OPEN LETTER to Northville Merchants:
This message would be properly addressed to every business person in our community — retail, professional and industrial.

It comes not from this writer alone — but from numerous individuals who hold deep concern for the future welfare of our business center.

By all logic it would seem that this concern would originate chiefly from those among us who depend upon a thriving business atmosphere for our livelihood.

This is not true, however, it comes from elected officials and just plain residents equally aware of the importance of a shopping center as the hub to a well-balanced community.

They stand ready to provide both planning and financial assistance.

All that is lacking is an expression of enthusiasm and willingness to cooperate for those who benefit the most.

Past experience would indicate, however, that this enthusiasm does not exist in sufficient numbers among our businessmen to undertake a program that calls for two-party (city and business) responsibility.

Let's get down to specifics.

In recent weeks a parking committee composed of three representatives of the Retail Merchants Association and two council members has met to study the community parking problem.

Most important, this committee recognizes that there is a problem.

It knows that two of the most used lots in the business district are privately owned—and could be closed at a moment's notice.

It recognizes that additional ingress and egress must be purchased to the city lot when Methodist church plans eventually block the Dupont Street entrance.

It has looked closely at other key areas in the business district considered essential to proper development. In some instances condemnation has been proposed to correct conditions considered detrimental.

Committee members are also aware that parking accommodations for employees outside the central shopping area are also needed because these cars now take valuable shopper spaces.

They have also considered removal of all meters in parking lots combined with replacement of street meters with new machines and a program of strict enforcement on meter parking.

These proposals cannot be accomplished immediately. But it is conceivable under a three-to-five-year plan.

The council members on the program have pledged strong city financial support to such a program. They recognize the importance of all business interests and the threat of shopping centers to the order, established downtown areas.

It is proper, I believe, that the city should offer such leadership and financial help.

But it cannot be expected to undertake the program alone. A united organization representing business, professional and industrial interests must guarantee cooperation.

It should consider itself fortunate to have a city council that is interested in their problems to the point of offering heavy financial help.

It is impossible for any merchant representative on the committee to speak for such a group.

Today, for example, some $150 is still owed the city for parking lot acquisition and improvement. Businessmen who worked hard to promote that project are unwilling to try again.

There is an opportunity now for all business interests to join together and plan for the future — at a nominal cost in money and time.

Private interests — such as Kroger, A.P. Manufacturers, National Markets and DeWitt's Groceries and Lanes — have provided a giant stride forward with their improvements.

A united effort now — a fund-raising in contrast to a few dollars monthly in a fund that would be more than matched by the city — could solidify our business center, insure a prosperous future and serve notice to prospective shopping centers that Northville has beaten them to the punch.

Whether you have less than $100 or thousands — invest — learn about Mutual Funds — and what you can do for you.

Cadillac

Take it from us, you'd better not try to exchange confidences in a new 1962 Cadillac.

For the car is so silent in operation—even a whisper at the legal limit of the road—that even a whisper can be heard.

But while that wondrous quiet might make it difficult to trade secrets—it speaks volumes about motor car quality and goodness.

For the silence of the Cadillac car is as unique as the circumstances that produce it.

Cadillac cars, for instance, are built in only one place—and they are built by men who build nothing else.

They are crafted to unbelievably fine tolerances. Some engine parts must be machined to an accuracy of one ten-thousandth of an inch.

They are styled so scientifically that wind noise is reduced to a lullaby—and they are constructed so well and insulated so thoroughly that outside sounds are virtually eliminated.

They undergo more than 1400 inspections in the course of their manufacture and assembly—and are then subjected to the most authoritative final inspection in the industry.

You ought to visit your Cadillac dealer soon and sample the results for yourself. And while you're at the wheel—listen to the eloquent quiet.

It's one more example of why only a car that's designed like a Cadillac and built like a Cadillac can ride like a Cadillac.
