Child Clinic Gets Housing From County

Housing has been found for the proposed Northwestern Child Guidance clinic. It was announced last week.

The Wayne county department of health has offered the clinic quarters on the second floor of their new building located on Merriam road in Elioas.

Mrs. Crispin Hammond of Northville, recently re-elected president of the clinic's board of directors said the board accepted the health department offer because the building is "a central point in the northwestern part of the county."

"Besides being handy transportation wise," she said, "the building is worth several thousand dollars to us since we won't have to purchase quarters now."

Mrs. Hammond reported that the county department of health has also offered to maintain the proposed clinic's second floor quarters.

She said the clinic, now assured of financial support from six school boards serving Northville's, is now moving into its second phase.

"We're going to local P-T-A's and service groups to tell the clinic's story in an effort to raise money to furnish the quarters."

Mrs. Hammond said the money given the clinic by school boards, some 25 cents per resident pupil, will not be used for furnishings. She reported that when the school boards turn over the money to the clinic in July, it will be used to hire staff members.

The clinic, a branch of Children's center of Wayne county is scheduled to open this September, according to Mrs. Hammond.

It is estimated, she reports, that more than 800 children enrolled in public schools need child guidance in the northwestern portion of Wayne county.

Mrs. Hammond estimates that the proposed clinic could diagnose and treat about 200 to 250 children a year.

Elected vice-president of the clinic's board of directors at the clinic's annual meeting was James E. Olin of Dearborn township. William C. Holt of Inkster was elected treasurer.

Newly-elected members of the board include John Pappas of Dearborn; Mrs. Eben King, Mrs. Clyde Hamlin and John Boyle, all of Dearborn township; Mrs. John Yori of Garden City; Hiram McNeely of Inkster; Mrs. Miriam King and Neal Van Popper of Livonia; William Thomas of Nankin township; Mrs. A. E. Valler of Plymouth; Mrs. John F. Brown and Mrs. G. T. Etheridge, both of Redford township, and Forrest Woodward of Wayne.

FIFTEEN YEARS OLD - Fifty members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's club of Northville celebrated another birthday Monday night at the VFW hall - the organization's 15th. Dinner was served and a program followed. Cutting the cake is President Kathryn Gilmer, while looking on are: (l. to r.) Mrs. Mary J. Wagonschutz, district nine director, and Mrs. Ada Watson, state membership chairman, both of Plymouth; Mrs. Ben Carlson, organizer and first president, and Vice President Mrs. Marion Kellings.

AAA to Open New Offices

Nearly 30 leading civic officials from Plymouth and Northville will join with Auto Club of Michigan representatives next Tuesday to formally dedicate Auto Club's new Plymouth division office.

The move to the new home at 788 Pennington Avenue, corner of Main, is taking place today with all facilities available the following day. Offices were located at 479 S. Main.

This newest of 56 Auto Club offices in Michigan, which will serve as area headquarters for some 4,600 members in Plymouth, South Lyon and Northville, is housed in the same building with the First Federal Savings of Detroit's Plymouth branch.

Plymouth Mayor Robert Simpson and Northville Mayor A. M. Allen will join with Auto Club president Mervyn G. Gaslin and Robert Cain, manager.

In addition to tours of the building, a newly published map of the United States, normally available only to AAA members, will be given to all who attend. Coffee and doughnuts will also be served.

Dr. Jane Schwarfager of the University of Michigan's school of education will speak at the guest night of the Northville Co-Operative Play Group Monday.

Car Colors

Almost everyone can remember the days when the standard color for automobiles was black. You expected a car to be black just as refrigerators today are white. Twenty years ago, black was the color of 75 percent of the cars made; today only 10 percent of our cars are black.

Likewise shades on automobile bodies only became practical in 1939 when the development of titanium and cadmium increased the durability of auto paint by 400 percent.

Now that almost any shade of exterior finish is possible, psychologists are starting to develop theories about automobile colors - and I'll pass them along for what they're worth. You can try them out on your own car, or on the cars at our lot.

First of all, two-tone color jobs are supposed to make a car look longer and lower. Colors at the red end of the spectrum make a car look bigger, the psychologists say, while colors at the blue end make it look smaller. At the same time they say that dark colors tend to make a car look smaller and heavier, but light colors make a car look larger and lighter.

The durability of car paints that came with the application of titanium and cadmium has been a great boon to the used car buyer. That showroom shine lasts a lot longer these days, and especially on cars that have been given reasonable care.

Services Held For Mrs. Kerr

Bertha I. Kerr, 81, well known Northville resident, died last Friday in the University hospital, Ann Arbor. She had been ill for the past three years.

A Northville resident for 43 years, she was a member of the First Presbyterian church and a past matron and chaplain of the Northville Eastern Star Orient chapter 77. She was also the mother advisor of the Rainbow girls, a young peoples Eastern Star group.

Born in Bedford, Massachusetts, she was the daughter of George and Etienne Leonard. She was preceded in death by her husband, Archie Kerr, who died March 26, 1937. A former Royal Canadian policeman, he moved to Northville where he worked as a night watchman at the Ford plant.

She is survived by four sons, Dr. Donald of Ann Arbor, Dr. Richard of Caracas, Venezuela, and Kenneth of Detroit, and one daughter, Mrs. Clare Stutz of Plymouth and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Catherine Funeral Home with the Reverend Lloyd Braune, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. Services were also held under the auspices of the Eastern Star. Burial was at the Thayer cemetery, Salem.

Canterbury Wins Top Citizen Award

A Northville man was among seven Ford Motor company employees who received "Citizen-of-the-Year" awards at a banquet Tuesday night.

John S. Canterbury of 204 Randolph, Northville city councilman, was honored for his work in public office and citizenship groups.

The banquet was held in the Ford central office building, Dearborn. Principal speaker was Governor George Romney. Thomas H. Reid, director of Ford's civic and governmental affairs office, served as toastmaster.

"Citizen-of-the-Year" awards went to Ford employees whose service to their communities was singled out by a special non-Ford committee as exceptional. The award was a cast bronze bell engraved with the employee's name and the symbolic figure of the town crier.

Also honored at the banquet were four employees of the Wickem Assembly plant.

Nominations in the awards program were based on participation in governmental, political, civic, educational, youth and other community activities.

Judges were Dr. Samuel L. Brownell, Detroit superintendent of instruction; James M. Hare, secretary of state; Harry Richard C. Hertz, Temple

It's Easier to Learn! Students Live Shakespeare

Dolls transformed into Shakespearean actors are (from front clockwise) Portia, Helena, a lady, Desdemona and Shyllock.

Using a razor blade and water colors, Ted Jacques fashioned a scale-model Globe theatre out of balsa wood - in 60 hours.
Bob Parmenter and Janice Waugh made this cut away of the Globe theatre, where Shakespeare's plays were performed.

THE NOVI NEWS

Thursday, March 28, 1963 Section Two - Page One

It took Kris Proger (above) and Roxanne Atchison a week-end to make this authentic Elizabethan dress and hat.
The 16th century comes alive for the ninth graders as Miss Dorrian (right) and Kris Proger discuss Elizabethan dress.

For ninth graders at Northville high school, learning Shakespeare is a little easier. They live it.

At least, this is the philosophy of teachers Pat Dorrian and Anne Hipperger.

Under their guidance, the students analyzed the Merchant of Venice and voiced their opinions in class.

Through various projects, however, Shakespeare's world was brought into sharper focus. Thus they learn by experience.

Some spent as many as 60 hours reconstructing buildings and clothing of the Elizabethan age.

They also read other Shakespearean plays - on their own time - and gave synopses in class. Here, they made the presentations more vivid by using illustrative materials.

High point of the five-week unit on Shakespeare was a trip to Ann Arbor to see the University of Michigan's performance of Mistummers Night's Dream.

The future is even more promising. The English teachers plan to make a September trip to Stratford, Ontario, with hopes of making this an annual event.

It all helps to make Shakespeare more palatable.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By The Reverend Paul M. Cargis, First Methodist Church of Northville

"Let no one make trouble for me, for I bear the marks of Jesus branded on my body." Galatians 6:17. Paul the Apostle can be called the Hercules of our Christian faith. After we have read the list of perils, pains, and persecutions he can see that, in effect, he says to his critics, "Don't try to worry me!" Paul was very good at arguing questions, but when it came to the question of his loyalty to Christ, he simply said, "I bear the marks of Jesus branded on my body."

The Greek word for "marks" is stigmata. From this word we have the English word, stigma. "Stigma" has the suggestion of infamy or disgrace about it, but originally it meant the cut of a sharp instrument or the burn of a hot iron. Branding and trademarking is very old, dating from antiquity. Slaves were branded with the letter O, Oesimus was Philomen's slave by the mark that Onesimus bore. Paul speaks graphically of his scars in the servant of Christ. Who are the marks which he bears? They are the scars of persecution.

In effect, Paul could say, "If any man asks for proof of my apostleship, I have no parchments to show, no diplomas from the University of Jerusalem, no testimonials from Peter or John, no recommendations whatever. I was not an eyewitness of the mighty works of Jesus. I was not elected to the college of apostles, as was Matthias. I was born, as it were out of due season, so I cannot point to any of these things."

Three things to which Paul did point were, (1) his call to preach, (2) his conversion on the way to Damascus, and (3) the sufferings he endured for Christ's sake. Behind the scars in the flesh were Paul's spirit of dedication and the works thereof. The brands he bore in his body gave testimony to the marks of the Master which he bore in his soul. Therefore, these freshly branded scars were dearer to him than any honor man could bestow upon him; for they identified him as the servant of Christ. We may never be called upon to bear the marks of Jesus.

Tell Passion Baptists Plan Missionary Series Story Sunday

At the 8:45 and 11 a.m. services on Passion Sunday, March 31, the Sanctuary choir of the Northville Methodist church will present the "Passion Story" by Heinrich Schuetz.

Toward the end of his long life, Schuetz set the Passion story to music by the same name. The story is based on the Gospels of St. Luke, St. John and St. Matthew. The St. Matthew setting, the last of the three, dates from the year 1656 when the composer was 81 years old.

The work — the model for Bach's later work by the same name — is characterized by the alternate use of choral-like recitative and short choruses. The recitative part is used for the parts of Jesus, the Evangelist (who narrates most of the story), Judas, and other characters, while the choruses of the multitude are put in chorus form.

In the Northville performance, John Hyde, *Alpha Hines, Herman Toussaint, William Cargis and Mrs. Leland Mills will sing the choruses. The recitative part will be sung by the Rev. Paul Gies of the Oriental Missionary Society, Kalamazoo.

Romney, Lawmen Still Hold Hands

The honeymoon between Gov. George Romney and the Republican-dominated Legislature is lasting longer than many thought possible. As expected, the Governor meets his biggest problems in the House of Representatives. But difficulties also have cropped up in the Senate where his party holds a 23-11 margin.

Despite the problems, however, Romney's tactics of extensive personal contacts with the Legislature have won him many friends. The biggest question now is how much longer he can win his battles. Romney lost a little ground when his bills to further Olympic bid chances reached the House of Representatives.

The traditional "Mayors Exchange" and open houses in government offices also will be emphasized for the 10th consecutive year as primary functions of "Our Government Week."

Michigan teachers may soon be required to have more extensive training in their field to be licensed by the state. A proposed revision to the Michigan Teacher Certification Code has been in the works for about six years. The Commission on Teacher Education and Certification consulted nearly 1,000 professional and educational organizations in drawing its recommendations for code changes.

The proposed code is definitely a compromise measure representing as best it can all the beliefs and convictions of the hundreds of people in Michigan who are striving to improve the quality of education, said State Board of Education President Chris H. Magnusson.

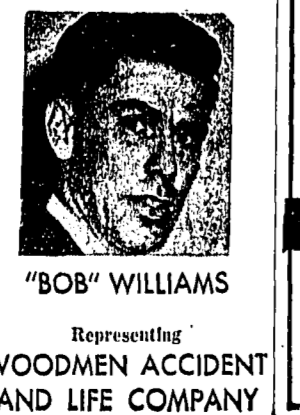

Revision of the code was proposed because it was felt the present regulations, written in 1938, could hardly set the minimum qualifications for teachers nearly a quarter-century later, said the Board President.

The vast explosion of knowledge since then; the enormous increase in our population; public pressure to educate everyone to his limit of learning; and the realization that the continuation of a free society will depend on a totally educated populace demand a concerted effort to keep our standards for teaching at the highest possible level.

In addition to raising the educational requirements in fields related to teaching, the proposed revision would require administrative school personnel to be certified.

Bipartisan Support Shows Increase As Constitution Vote Draws Near

"Michigan needs the new constitution. It holds the promise of the future. It is the state's escape from the shackles of the past and our means of reversing the trend towards dependence upon Federal government for answers to purely state and local problems."

So said Gov. George Romney this week, just four days before next Monday's election when Michigan voters will go to the polls to pass judgment on the proposed new state constitution.

Michigan support for the new document has become increasingly evident as Election Day approaches. Not only have more than a score of bipartisan organizations in the state endorsed the proposal, but in recent weeks leaders in both political parties have been outspoken in their support.

Early this month Prentiss M. Brown, Democratic elder statesman and former U. S. Senator, announced his intention to vote for the new constitution. He is a member of the Michigan State University board of trustees and has introduced a "check" to companies of this type. (2) There is usually a basic source of earnings in the form of surface leases, water rights, etc. (3) These companies operate with little in the way of plant and equipment investments. (4) Their labor and other operating costs are at a minimum.

One of the largest domestic land trusts is Kern County Land Company. It owns nearly 2 million acres in California, New Mexico, and Arizona; and participates in development of oil and gas properties in Western Canada, Louisiana, and even Australia. Another large land company is Texas Pacific Land Trust, owner of about 1,700,000 acres in Texas. In 1954 this company transferred to TXL Oil Corp. most of its oil, gas, and other mineral rights on its land producing property. It retained title to virtually all the surface land, a small percentage of royalty interest in 65,000 producing acres, and a one-eighth royalty in future mineral production from 37,000 acres.

Mining issues provide another hedge against inflation. In a sense, mineral deposits are sort of underground bank deposits. The world's largest copper mine is the world's largest copper mining company. Its Utah and Chile operations are exceptionally low-cost. Its reserves of the company are substantial. It includes a 67% ownership of Quebec Iron & Titanium and a 10% interest in Kaiser Aluminum. The world's second-largest copper producer is Anaconda. More than two-thirds of its copper is mined in Chile. In addition, it has mines in Montana, land in Africa, Mexico, Canada, and South America. Domes-Anaconda is also a leading fabricator of copper, and processes uranium and aluminum. Operating costs of its foreign mines are low. Second-largest domestic copper producer is Phelps Dodge, which is a favorite of mine. Nearly all of its ore output, the bulk of which is mined in Arizona, is used by its fabricating plants. It has a 10% interest in Southern Peru Copper, and sizeable investments in Amerada Petroleum, American Metal Climax, and Newcrest Zinc. A very interesting article on Arizona appears in the March National Geographic.

Copper Range is an important copper producer in the Lake Superior region. Though it is medium sized and a relatively high cost producer, it is fully integrated from mines to market. Turning to the base metals, the United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company is a leading producer of lead, zinc, copper, silver, gold, and even coal. Most of its mining properties are in New Mexico and Utah. The company is increasing its emphasis on oil and gas development.

Among the significant improvements over the 1962 constitution are: 1. Abolition of Spring elections, saving an estimated $1 million each two years. 2. Four-year terms for elected state administrative officials permitting the time needed to establish a program. 3. Reorganization of Michigan's 105 legislative districts into 125 boards, bureaus and commissions into not more than 20 departments. 4. Tools to help the legislature solve the problems of mushrooming urban areas. 5. Coordination of the state's educational system through an enlarged 8-member state board of education who would have authority to appoint the superintendent of public instruction. 6. Expanded provisions on civil rights, including a new anti-discrimination clause which is to be enforced by the state's first constitutionally established state civil rights

SPEAKING for The Record
by Bill Sliger
Next Monday Northville voters will elect — for two years — the political noises that have echoed throughout the city in recent weeks.
They'll decide in whose hands the immediate future of our community should be entrusted.
I hope each voter fully realizes the responsibility that he faces.
In this writer's opinion the election of a mayor and two city councilmen on Monday is one of the most important single events in the recent history of our community.
Regrettably, only those closest to current city affairs and those familiar with Northville's past history clearly recognize the significance of the election.
I sincerely believe that failure to return Mayor A. M. Allen and Councilman John S. Canterbury to office would be a serious blow to the progress of our community.

The challenge to these candidates is being championed by a voice from the past seeking to regain power. It is well planned and not without its hard core of supporters. It is in the opinion of this writer, a challenge that, if successful, would lead to the breaking-down of city manager form of government as we know it.
Slowly, perhaps, but with the certainty that past performances can bear out, our city government would return to the status of former days when each "commissioner" ruled his own individual domain and special favors were sought through personal contact with "your man" on the council.
The manager would become a figure-head and the office pass by default.
To those who recognize the progress that has been made during Northville's eight years as a city, this would be a sad day, indeed.
More important is the outstanding record achieved by Mayor Allen and Councilman Canterbury and the vote of confidence it deserves.
It is no mistake that Northville's assessments are now equitable to all property owners; that we have a modern water system and overhead supply; that our new subdivisions were constructed to high standards with paved streets and concrete curbs and gutters; that our business district has prospered with two new supermarkets and a modern drive-in bank; that steady progress has been made in acquiring off-street parking and that support of the businessmen has been gained through voluntary financial contributions; that our school district could pay a much-needed community building facility at a fair price to all taxpayers; and that this money could then be matched by a federal grant to provide our community with a new city hall and library without one penny of additional tax; that our police department can attract and retain men of high ability and character to carry out this important responsibility that numerous men and women of keen ability and integrity volunteer to serve on the city's numerous boards, commissions and committees; that a plan for improving city streets offering a fair compromise to all citizens — new and old — and accelerating the program without placing undue burden on the budget was devised; that city relations with school and township officials are at their highest level; and that all this, and more, was accomplished without an increase in taxes.

I do not believe there is a single member of the present council who would not gratefully admit that Mayor Allen and Councilman Canterbury — more than any others — deserve credit for this record of progress.
Their hard work, devotion to office, consideration of the welfare of the entire community is truly outstanding. Quite by coincidence (and by pre-conceived plan) a story elsewhere in The Record reveals the fine success of Northville's economic development group.
The expansion of a local industry through the efforts of this committee further emphasizes the contribution to the welfare of Northville by Mayor Allen and Councilman Canterbury. While the former was a leader in the formation of the infant group, Canterbury spearheaded its progress and secured its organization as president.
Before discussing the second position of the city council I'd like first to briefly touch upon the "hospital" episode.
There are few citizens of the community more familiar with the details of the hospital affair than this writer. From the outset it was doomed through a series of events, not the least of which was bad management. When all seemed lost it was tossed at a "community" board for salvation.
To say that the financial arrangements were complicated would be a monumental understatement.
But I know of no single person who worked harder to save the facility at the expense of those who now criticize him — than Mayor Allen.
The hospital failed because it lacked doctor support. It's as simple as that, there is no other answer.
(And if a benefactor ready to pour $150,000 into such a project existed, why in the name of common-sense would any responsible board member working on behalf of the hospital show him a letter of conditions that the board member considered unreasonable? Why wouldn't he return to the council and attempt to reach a compromise before upsetting the anonymous donor?)

I do not intend in these few words of recommendation for the second seat on the city council to deal in the personalities or capabilities of all the candidates.
As nearly as is possible in this succinct statement of sticking out one's neck, I consider each of the candidates a friend.
But my vote goes to Fred Kester.
I choose him knowing full well the capabilities of each of the aspirants (except one, Hiram Pacific) through personal experience.
Kester would bring a "dose" to the council. He's head-headed, quiet, competent and hard-working. His judgment is always fair and considerate. And he has demonstrated to me, and others who have worked with him on the economic development committee and in retail merchant affairs, that he can do a job thoroughly and well.
He would be a strong addition to our council.
It's the fervent hope of this writer that Northville voters will go to the polls Monday in record numbers. The road to our future rests in your hands.

Swing into Spring Through the Doors of Northville Merchants

New Slacks Slim, Trim

Trim, slim and comfortable describes the look in new men's slacks for spring. Both belt loop styles and self-supporting models share the fashion spotlight, with pleated and single-pleat styles dividing the honors.

For early spring, lightweight worsted flannels, gabardines and bengalies set the pace. With warmer weather, look for tropical weights, wash-wears.

Grays, olive-tans, pewter shades and variations on the new yellow tones called "Bama" will be among the most wanted spring and summer colors. There is also a big swing to whites, especially in the wash-wear types.

This is the Year Of 'Vines - Roses'

If you ever desired to have a beautiful rose garden this year is the year to plant it, advises the American Association of Nurserymen. There is a generous supply of roses in most parts of the country, says the association, but it will not last beyond this year as growers do not keep over mature roses for one season to the next. There are roses for every purpose in gardens, as specimen plants, climbers and flowers for the house.

The types of roses to be planted include:

1. Hybrid teas. These generally offer the most perfectly formed blooms for the formal garden or for cut flowers to decorate the home. The colors are magnificent.
2. Floribunda roses offer many blooms on a single plant. If you are most interested in the quantity of blooms, many of which also are of good quality, these plants are for you. They are excellent as living fences and landscape decoration. Floribundas are more plentiful than ever this year and because of their quantity of bloom are always a bargain.
3. Climbing roses grow vigorously against a post, fence, arbor, porch, garage and similar supporting structures.
4. Polyanthas are known as "candy bushes" because they bear clusters of small flowers and they bloom profusely. They are colorful when massed in beds.
5. Tree roses are usually specimen plants used to set off a walk, porch or some particular spot on the home grounds that may need a little "dressing up." They usually are around four to five feet in height, giving the effect of bouquets of lovely roses as guests walk between them to the front door, or elsewhere on the property.
6. The Grandiflora rose is named because of its large size and wealth of blooms. It makes a fine accent plant, either in gardens or singly to add color where needed.

Guide for Home Buyers

Experience is a dear teacher when it comes to buying a house. Many homes have flaws in design that make them poor buys.

Before you buy, check this list of common flaws to avoid:

1. Bathroom window facing a view from living room or entrance hall.
2. A picture window without a good view. Have the picture window facing a patio or any good view, rather than overlooking the street and the neighbor's house.
3. No glass in the front door.
4. No outside basement door. You'll need one to get such things as screens and storm windows in and out.
5. A basement stairway door that opens toward the basement. This is a hazard.
6. Walls so cut up by doors and windows that furniture placement is limited.
7. No room for expansion. Sometimes there isn't a large enough lot, or zoning restrictions may bar an addition.

Create Master Plan For Home Improvement

Home improvement activity, which has grown steadily in importance for the past five years, promises to accelerate to an all-time high in 1955, as more home owners than ever before launch programs of modernization, remodeling or repair.

Even the owners of comparatively new homes are increasingly showing an active interest in home improvement, usually because the growth of their families has created an urgent need for more living space, or the expansion of existing service facilities via the installation of an extra bathroom, more storage capacity, new laundry equipment and the like.

The most common complaint against the post-war house is that it is generally too small to meet the family's current needs. All of the rooms as well as the closet space were reduced to a minimum. Hence, the most successful solution is often to add new rooms, either by finishing off unused attic, basement or other space, or by even adding a new wing.

The "Master Plan" Approach

Homeowners contemplating extensive remodeling should adopt the "master plan" approach used by city planners, advises the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

The basis for this technique is to create a well-integrated overall plan which meets future as well as present needs. Without it, remodeling can become a piecemeal project, costly in terms of both money and time.

A master plan should have as much individuality as the family which makes it.

For example, is there enough space to accommodate a family's growth and increasing possessions? If not, it may be possible to convert the basement by gradual stages into a storage area and recreation space.

The growing family that expects to do more entertaining in the future should pay particular attention to its living room. Before investing money in short-term decorating, the possibility of removing a wall to provide more space for entertainment should be investigated.

Consider Existing Structure

In addition to individual tastes and needs, the nature of the existing structure must be considered in creating a master plan.

What are the "right sort" of improvements? Basically, they must substantially protect or improve the basic livability or utility of your home, must have a readily apparent use or worth to a prospective homebuyer.

Now what is meant by keeping the cost of your improvements within logical bounds? Just this: ordinarily people will not spend a great deal more for a home than others means, for example, that if you own a $20,000 home in a neighborhood of comparable values, you would do well to keep your improvement costs within $5,000, if you hope to get your money back, should you ever sell.

Re-Sale Factors

According to the American Bankers Association, the final price you will get for your home will depend largely on (1) the kind of improvements you make and (2) the price range for homes in your neighborhood. So make sure the improvements are the "right sort."

And keep the cost within logical bounds.

The coat checks in for spring. In a variety of silhouettes, this black and white checked wool coat is highlighted by a convertible collar, 3/4-length sleeves and cuffed pockets.

Young, sweet and lovely for spring, hairstyle features soft bang, upswung sections caught with rosebuds and back swept down into a small outward flick.

Shrubs, Trees Need Special Care After Hard Winter, Expert Notes

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter from John Miller, owner of Green Ridge Nursery, offers advice to area homeowners on what they may do to avoid damage to shrubs, trees, vines and evergreens.

Many of the shrubs and evergreens that may have been caused by the long cold winter.

The widespread damage, if it is close to the ground, is caused by mice foraging for food beneath the ice-encrusted snow, and by rabbits if it is a foot or so above the ground. The plant may die if the bark is chewed completely through to solid wood in a band 1/4" wide or more, encircling or girdling the trunk.

Even though the buds may open and new growth start, the plant is apt to die within a few weeks unless the flow of sap can successfully bridge the gap in its normal circulation path between root and leaves. In some instances, the plant may not be completely girdled or the band may not be wide enough to seriously impair the flow of sap. The treatment for this is to paint the injured area with a tree pruning compound (obtainable at hardware, nursery or garden centers) and prune the plant back severely, thereby enabling available energy to heal the wound.

The "Rock-or-Swivel" mechanism is now incorporated in chair styles that blend with every type of room, in a wide array of platform, high-leg and low-leg rockers.

Old rocking chairs' got me" is, figuratively at least, the theme song and more people are singing this season. With rocking recommended as a healthful form of mild exercise and relaxation, the rocking chair continues its strong comeback in fashion and comfort.

News for spring is a wide array of mechanically equipped styles that provide not only smooth, silent rocking action but free and easy swivels combined in one fixture with resilient metal springs.

Protect door knobs and hardware from splattering paint by coating them liberally with damp soap. Paint after soap brush. Roller cover should be clean and dry.

Shaped for show and carved for comfort, high and hand-sewn chair combines smooth wood with ribbed fabric.

Brook British stripes score

The Northville Record—Novi News—Thursday, March 23, 1952
Section Three — Page Three

For business or dress-up wear, this hat comes in blend of rich brown with a subtle blue cast.

Big, Bold Stripes Take Spotlight

Stripes make major fashion news in men's shirts for spring and summer. Tearing from the big, bold, British stripes in deep shades of blue, gray, brown and red, the new shirts are also available in narrower stripes and pin stripes.

Next news note is the "look of more collar." A bit lighter, a little wider in the spread, these styles have a dressier look without sacrificing summer comfort.

Any and all of these styles are made in short as well as long sleeves to meet the demands of all men for warm weather comfort.

Sport shirts come up in an even wider array of fashion than usual this year. The "Nautical Look" so popular last year is due for a return engagement with no diminishing of its popularity in sight. The salty motif shows up in knits as well as cut-and-sewn shirts, and the styling is authentic enough to suit the most ardent sailor.

Stripes are "in for spring" in sport shirts! This bold linen striped number is in triacetate and cotton.

Fabrics Make the News In Spring Fashions for Boys

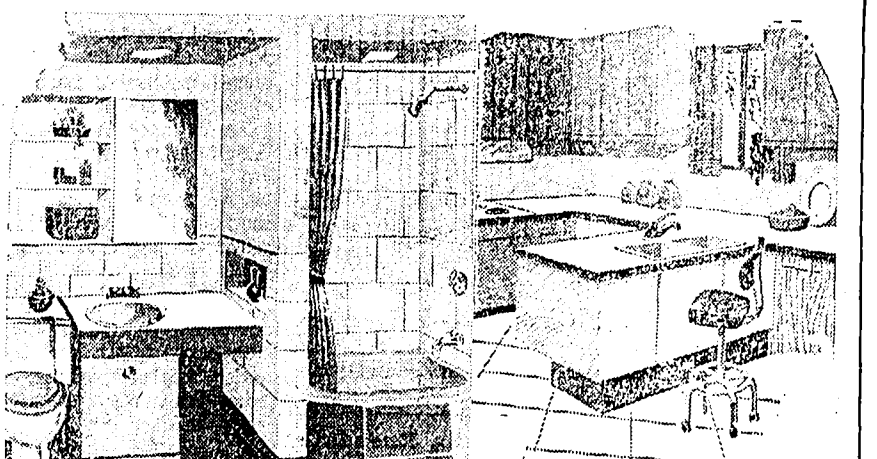

Fabrics tell the fashion story for boys' wear this spring. From the very young man in an especially dashing look, cut in sports jacket and slacks or suit, the news is not in styles, which continue on the "borrowed from Dad" theme, but in the novelty of fabrics and fabric combinations.

Denim is top favorite. In faded solids and teamed with white. Faded blue or brown and white stripes show no less.

Knits, both dressy and casual, keep climbing in popularity, fitted for the way they combine comfort and neatness. In wools, cottons, miracle fibers, the knits appear in everything from sports shirts to suits.

The red-white-and-blue nautical look is strong again, especially in boys' sportswear.

Roses Make Nice Trim

Whether planted in a garden at the rear of a lawn, or along a side property line, roses make one of the loveliest backdrops to green grass in the whole world of flowers.

After many years of planting roses in such a garden, some owners are more enamored of them than ever. From every viewpoint, roses are one of our most satisfactory home gardening plants.

The blooms can be used indoors from spring to frost, to bring to family living a distinct sense of untroubled natural beauty. Roses have warmth, brilliance, loveliness with colors and aromas that are in a class by themselves. You can select them by their color, their aroma, their habit of growth without going wrong.

They'll grow better in a soil of considerable extent, though medium fertility, with ample water.

Try this. Mark out a narrow bed about three or four feet wide at the rear or side of your property. Plant the roses about three feet apart, staggering them to allow the most room to grow that is possible for the space you have. Plant according to instructions on the packages or as your nurseryman suggests for your particular soil conditions and area.

Check flooring for needed repairs or replacement of boards in one or more rooms with special care for the kitchen and bathroom.

Check door frames and windows for deteriorating caulking, and replace it where necessary.

Outside paint should be checked for signs of peeling or flaking. Bare spots should be scraped clean, then touched up promptly to keep moisture from entering the wood. If the condition is widespread, a complete paint job is probably needed as soon as possible.

A close check should be made for possible signs of termite entry. Wooden members that are in contact with the ground should be treated with

Spring's Best Season to Buy Washing Machine

If you plan to buy a washing machine this year, you may find your best buy in the medium-price range. These machines are more flexible than deluxe models, enabling you to select stores feature annual sales in March and June. Most models provide clearance sales in late June. Prices range from as little as $120 to as much as $300.

Consumers often ask, "What is the best brand of washing machine to buy?" Almost all washing machines wash clothes clean if you follow manufacturer's directions. Your final choice will be a compromise between your needs and your pocketbook.

You are likely to find your dealer does not service the appliance, who do you call for service. Ask about installation costs.

3. Read the guarantee and give your bill showing purchase date. Most models provide a one year guarantee on both parts and labor.

4. Ask how much water the machine uses. This may vary by as much as 20 gallons per machine. Can you regulate the water level for small or large loads?

5. How much water is extracted from the clothes? The faster the spin the dryer the clothes. Water extraction affects drying time, cost of drying, and weight of the clothes as you lift them from the washer.

6. What is the load capacity? Washer capacities vary from 8 to 12 pounds. Studies show that you get cleaner loads with less water if you start with a full load.

7. Is the machine easy to use? Controls should be easy to see and understand. Top-loading washers require less bending than front-loading washers.

8. What about durability? Porcelain enameled tubs are less expensive than stainless steel, and both are satisfactory. Most washers have porcelain tubs and baked enamel sides. The porcelain finish is but you must provide a tub ditioner.

9. What features do you want? Some machines have "wash and wear" cycles which help make wash-day decisions for the homemaker. You may want to consider buying a new machine instead of a "wash and wear" cycle which helps make wash-day decisions for the homemaker. You may want to consider buying a new machine instead of a "wash and wear" cycle which helps make wash-day decisions for the homemaker.

There is really a fine way to close in the end of a carpet to break the wind with a very serviceable storage wall. This separate unit can be fitted for garden tools, play gear for children, or other storage needs. The unit is made of red cedar to match the siding of the home.

Kitchen cabinet that solves storage problems neatly. A long on looks and short on upkeep is the theme of this attractive kitchen. Cabinets are pine with handsome hardware to add ornamental look and pegboard for convenience.

You Can Improve Home With Little Cash on Hand

Home improvement projects like installing new roofing and siding, building a garage, carport or porch, and laying out a patio, are ideally done in the spring, according to the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

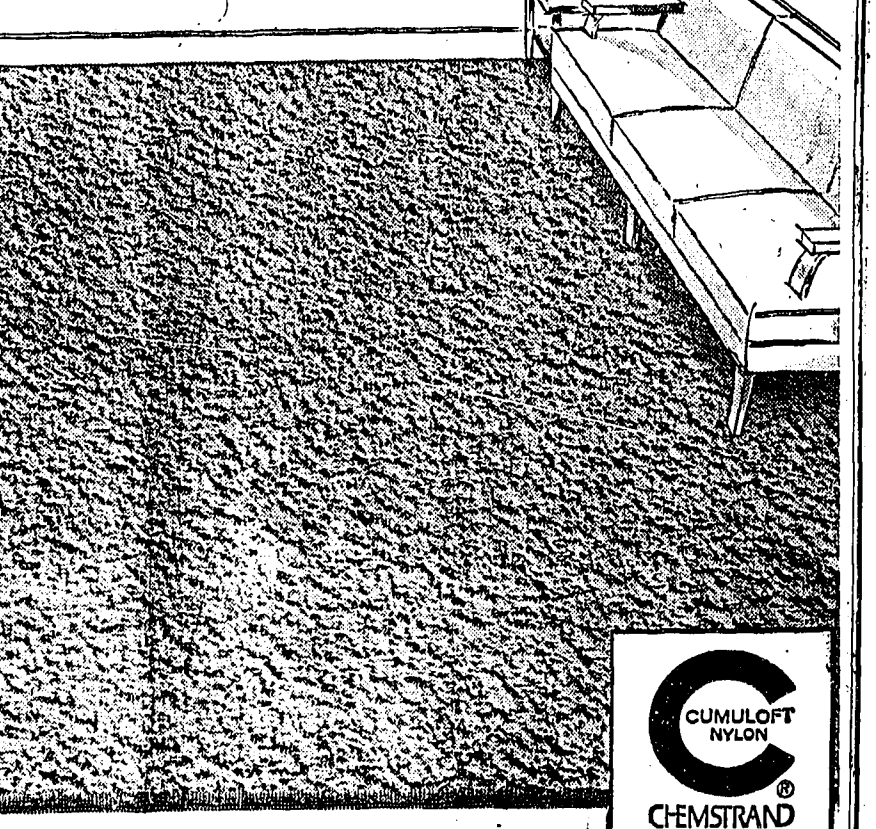

As the weather warms up, jobs of this nature can be done faster with few or no interruptions. Thomas T. Sneddon, executive vice president of NRLDA, explains, "There is an increasing interest on the part of homeowners to up-grade their homes." Sneddon said, "The home is now the number-one status symbol — when people have extra income to spend, most want to spend it on the home first."

"Actually," Sneddon continued, "a lot of extra cash is not needed for even the more extensive home improvements. An increasing number of commercial banks, savings and loan institutions, insurance companies and consumer finance organizations are anxious to make home improvement loans, especially since FHA liberalized its loan interest on the part of homeowners to up-grade their homes." Sneddon said, "The home is now the number-one status symbol — when people have extra income to spend, most want to spend it on the home first."

Readers Speak

To the Editor:
Like many other local residents, I basked in complacency as community after community in the metropolitan Detroit area began to have water shortages. Certainly Northville with its smaller population and numerous streams would never experience such difficulties. Now, suddenly, there is no room for complacency. As the summer months approach, Northville too may well be on a brink of a serious water shortage.

The situation here only reflects what is rapidly becoming a nationwide problem. Because of the lessons taught us in the 1800's, land and forest conservation have taken great strides. Yet conservation of water and air is practically non-existent. Although Mr. A. H. Kemmer, chief climatologist for the state, recently reported that rainfall for the last thirteen months has been 40% below normal, it begins to look as if there would have been little reserve water even during a year of normal rainfall. A new University of Michigan study tells us that even these seemingly inexhaustible sources of fresh water, the Great Lakes, are in danger of serious pollution. Despite these warnings and many others of a similar nature, we still tend to take our water too much for granted. I believe the long range answer lies in a strict conservation of the water we have. The time when we could turn our wastes into the local streams or leave a summer sprinkler on during a lawn shower is now past.

Unlike the dollar debt we incurly when we use water resources, a national debt which we can never repay to future generations.

Council President Issues Ultimatum To Village Police

Village President Joseph Crupi vowed to the council Monday night that it's going to have "no straighten-out-the-police department."

Primary point at issue was the police department's failure to comply with a suggestion made by Administrative Assistant Harold Ackley.

Ackley said he had asked the department to stop the burning of old vehicles at Harwood's Grand River-Novi road station. Ackley noted such burning is prohibited by village ordinance.

Ackley told the council that if he is going to remain in his present position he wants "re-ordination." He said he wants to know what the police chief is expected to do, what he's expected to do.

"I don't want to be in the position of being blamed for things I don't have the power to correct," Ackley said.

"What's the sense of pounding my head against a brick wall if I'm not able to do anything?"

"Whatever you want to call someone like me — administrative assistant, flunko or manager — I should have enough power so I can give an order and make it stick," Ackley told the council.

Councilman Donald Young suggested that in cases such as the Harwood vehicle burning, the council sign a warrant. "If we take the responsibility, this would make things a little easier on the police chief," he said.

President Crupi's reply: "This council is too — soft."

"The police chief has to enforce the law," he declared. "Either the police department is straightened out or the council has to take a stronger hand."

President Crupi told Ackley to list all complaints which Police Chief Lee DeGole does not take action on within "a reasonable time" and turn them over to him. "I, as president, will take care of them," he promised.

The president's ultimatum and observation that the council spends "too many nights bickering over things that should be handled at a lower level" triggered off a discussion about the advisability of hiring a manager.

Councilman Ray Harrison said "we can't continue to have all these little things coming up before the council and sitting here until 12 or 1 a.m. talking about them."

"Our charter calls for a manager and I think we should get someone in here to take over the job," Harrison added.

Earlier, the president advised the council to think either in terms of a manager for Novi or a trustee to work with present officials.

Councilman Dean Lehnertz said that if the village can't pay a manager $9,000 or $10,000 — "then I don't think we could pay a manager."

"I'm just not in favor of a $3,000 a year man."

What he should do, Lehnertz continued, "is get the authority to say this is it, boys. If you want to turn in your badge, O.K. It's his very reason."

Young said, "that we should get someone to work with Ackley. It would be hard for him to assume managerial duties with his past associations."

Councilman Philip Anderson declared: "that 'if we're going into a manager set-up, I'm voting for Harold."

"I don't think we can find anyone in the country who does a better job than Harold Anderson here. Novi owes the telephone company, the electric company and Ackley pulled us out of the hole."

The council took no action on the managerial question. It was decided, however, that President Crupi talk to two Novi policemen who had earlier been proposed for the position of administrative trainees.

Not completely escaping council criticism in the story, three-and-a-half-hour session was the village department of public works.

A letter to the council from a Novi resident claiming personal injury from a snow plow accident came as a complete surprise to both the council and the administrative assistant.

The council also learned that at least two other accidents in which the DPW was involved this winter had not been brought to its attention. In all three cases, reports had been filed directly with the village insurance agent, Franzer Stamen.

The council decided, after prolonged discussion, that DPW workers must report all accidents in which they are involved to the administrative assistant as well as to the insurance agent.

Okay Taft Drain, Draft Ordinance

In rapid-fire order Monday night the village council approved a Taft road drainage plan.

—Approved a separate fire department radio band.

—Discussed a proposed dance hall ordinance, and;

—Decided to cooperate with the township in designing property tax assessment cards.

Administrative Assistant Harold Ackley presented a Taft road drainage plan prepared by Johnson and Anderson, Inc., of Farmington Hills, Mich.

The plan calls for 850 feet of new ditch on Taft road in front of Salvo's Walnut Hills subdivision where water is now collecting.

The plan would require replacement of two culverts on Taft and diversion of the water from the new ditch into an old one just before 10 Mile road crosses Taft. The water would then drain by natural elevation into Thornton creek, according to the engineers.

The council approved the plan and directed Ackley to obtain cost estimates from local contractors.

The feeling was that it might be cheaper to contract the work since Novi's DPW men do not have the equipment for such a job.

The council decided to provide a separate radio band on the same radio length. Novi has tri-county mutual aid agreements.

Ackley said that if the village put the two together, "we could only talk with ourselves."

Largo amount of refuse has been dumped on Meadowbrook road between Nine and Ten Mile roads, between 11 Mile road and Grand River, and between Dixon and 12 and one-half Mile roads.

In each instance, the individual is subject to a $100 fine and/or 90 days in jail, Novi police said.

The city supported the new constitution 886 YES to 423 NO.

A total vote of 1,510 set a record for a city spring election. The ballot was 55 per cent of the registration.

In the township Republican ward all seats on the board, R. D. Merriam became the new supervisor defeating Arthur E. O'Leary, Democrat.

The township voted 575 YES to 286 NO for con-con. A total of 900 votes were cast — a 54 per cent turn-out.

Widening of the trail through the central business district, Mayor Wesley McAttee said Monday, is a state project which will be turned over to the township of Novi.

Howard Hendrian, local bus in-nessman and president pro-tem of the chamber of com-merce, told the council that unless parking provisions are made on the improved trail, the possibility exists that Wixom businesses will be driven out.

The local concern has arisen from reports that the proposed four-lane road will utilize one of the parking area now available along the storefronts in Wixom, leaving businesses "stranded" from their customers.

Also adding to the concern have been numerous rumors to the effect that the county and state are unwilling to take Wixom's case under consideration.

Specifically, Hendrian and several other citizens asked for the council's official backing if they as a group and the chamber of commerce raised a "bess and cry" to gain state and county attention for the Wixom problem.

The council sympathized with the complainants, but refrained from ruling officially because as yet no clear-cut plan for Wixom parking has been formulated.

Mayor Wesley McAttee also assured citizens of his support. He said that a preliminary alternative to the road limitations was drafted by the township. He said that if the township officials would be in a position to make an official assistance, the study will be completed and ready for use whenever possible.

Three dumping violations have been reported in Novi during the past week.

In each instance, the individual is subject to a $100 fine and/or 90 days in jail, Novi police said.

Allen Wins Close Race In Northville

Northville voters turned out in force to decide a hot city race for mayor and council Monday.

Incumbent Mayor A. M. Allen squeezed by Earl L. Reed, 742-294; Fred P. Kester, a newcomer to city politics, surprised everyone by defeating eight-man battle for two council seats with 666 votes.

Incumbent John S. Canterbury won the second seat with 670 votes. Quincy Frid finished third in the council race with 449 votes.

Reed topped Mayor Allen in both precincts one and two in Northville. But Mayor Allen ran up a 215-144 margin in the Oakland county area which is considered the "new residential section" — squeeze-out a 48-vote victory.

Trailing Frid were William Bingley and Joseph Denton, each, Ed Welch, 212, Peter Gross, 148, and Hiram Pacifico, 100.

The city supported the new constitution 886 YES to 423 NO.

Goers Wins Easily In Contest for Clerk

Novi went all the way yesterday, voting "yes" for the new state constitution, a township library and a $985,000 secondary school construction bond issue.

Despite cloudy skies threatening rain, 54 percent of the township's registered voters turned out to cast a ballot. Only 43 percent of the township's voters went to the polls in 1961's spring election.

Wixom, with no local issues, recorded a 44 percent vote in Monday's state election.

Township voters gave the state the Republican candidate for clerk, Charles E. Goers, and approved Republican candidates down the line on the state ballot.

Goers, appointed clerk last December to fill a vacancy, swept into two-year office with 885 votes. His Democratic opponent, Herbert Koester, garnered only 359 votes.

Wixom maintained its Democratic complexion, voting down the proposed state constitution, 194 to 121.

A total of 886 Novi school district voters showed opinions on Propositions 1 and 2:

—Favorable renewal of a 2½-mill tax levied for operating expenses for five years; —Establishment of an educational program beyond the eighth grade.

Some 543 votes were polled for Proposition 1, 226 against. Proposition 2 received 518 favorable votes, 277 unfavorable.

The third proposition on the school district ballot — a bond issue for $985,000 to erect, furnish and equip the first stage of a new secondary school building — received 436 "yes" votes. Voting "no" were 314 property owners.

Monday's township election saw 62 voters approving establishment of a township library and an $8,000 — levied for four years to support the library. Voting against the proposition were 566 electors.

Four incumbent Republicans and three Republicans are on the ballot. They are: Charles E. Goers, 181; Marshall W. Noecker (R), 171; Whitaker (R), 175; Michael Perence (D), 471; and Woodcock (D), 482.

Wixom Merchants Fear Parking Loss

Discussion of the planned widening of Pontiac trail in the Wixom business district and the possibility that it might eliminate existing customer parking highlighted last Thursday's Wixom city council meeting.

Widening of the trail through the central business district, Mayor Wesley McAttee said Monday, is a state project which will be turned over to the township of Novi.

Howard Hendrian, local bus in-nessman and president pro-tem of the chamber of com-merce, told the council that unless parking provisions are made on the improved trail, the possibility exists that Wixom businesses will be driven out.

He said that if the township officials would be in a position to make an official assistance, the study will be completed and ready for use whenever possible.

Hear Report On Sewers

Donald W. Ringler, deputy director of Oakland county's DPW told Novi last week that the preliminary plant design for a sewer to serve the village around Walled Lake area will be completed in Mid-April.

Ringler said that as of March 15, the Oakland county DPW had spent $2,941 in the survey. He estimated that the preliminary plant design would cost an extra $4,100 and be completed by July.

He said the final plant design and trunk survey would cost approximately $12,320.

The Novi village council last November approved an agreement with the county DPW for a $14,000 engineering and financial study for a sewer to serve the Walled Lake area.

At the same time, the Walled Lake council approved a similar agreement for $24,000.

The agreements call for the county DPW to wrap up the engineering details of a $2.3 million sewage disposal system to serve the entire city of Walled Lake and the village area abutting the lake.

Included in the disposal system would be a chemical treatment plant to be located southwest of the lake, trunk sewers from the plant and lateral lines branching into the city area around the Novi portion of the lake.

The Novi council approved the original agreement on the basis that even though immediate initiation of the project may be impossible without local assistance, the study will be completed and ready for use whenever possible.
