

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

There's a little bungalow at the corner of South Main and Beal streets that's shining with a new coat of white paint.

It's neat as a pin inside, but the exterior had become weather-worn and gray.

Mrs. Lottie Stockman owns and lives in the house. She was born there 80 years ago.

One day recently a young man called at her house to ask if she would like to have it painted.

"I'd love to have it done, but I can't afford it," the little white-haired lady replied.

"It won't cost a cent, I'm from the Northville Jaycees and we want to do it for you free of charge," the young man explained.

Naturally, Mrs. Stockman was surprised. And, as she tells it now, she really felt she should pay something. "I'm proud, you know. It's alright to accept welfare, but only if you need it," she pointed out.

"Well," said the young man, "we know you've lived in Northville all your life, been a good citizen, and always paid your taxes. We just want to honor you by painting your house."

Mrs. Stockman was pleased. This week she inserted a "card of thanks" in The Record classified ads to express her appreciation.

She was also amused and amazed at the way the six Jaycees pitched-in and painted her entire house Saturday between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

"Their wives brought them coffee and cake at noon. I never thought they'd get done so fast."

Mrs. Stockman has been a widow since 1952. When her husband was ill during the war years, she surprised him (and herself) by getting a job at the Ford Vaux Plant. She worked there from 1944 to 1949. She's always wanted to "pay her way" and still does.

And although she could have sold her home many times as a desirable piece of commercial property, she continues to live there because "it's home."

The Jaycees, explains President Karl Knoth, want to do something besides "July Fourth parades."

"We want to do something worthwhile . . . to help people . . . to help the community. We thought this was a good idea."

I agree. So does Mrs. Stockman.

Legislature Faces Long Session

By BILL SLIGER

The prospect of a long fall session of the Legislature is strongly indicated when one views the subject matter to be discussed.

First and foremost, the Governor's special call to the Legislature sometime after Labor Day will ask for consideration of fiscal reform. This vast project has been an aim of the two Democratic predecessors of GOP Gov. George Romney.

There is still no real indication that Romney will take full cooperation he needs from legislators in his own party for his fiscal reform program, still to be spelled out in detail.

Secondly, the Legislature will have before it a number of bills designed to bring Michigan law into conformity with the federal income tax.

Naturally, Mrs. Stockman was surprised. And, as she tells it now, she really felt she should pay something. "I'm proud, you know. It's alright to accept welfare, but only if you need it," she pointed out.

Michigan given bipartisan credit for the Legislature's tax report has been studying the Constitution this summer.

Only primary measures will be taken into the Legislature by the Legislature's tax report has been studying the Constitution this summer.

Then during the 1964 session bills will be introduced. Finally, in 1965 the Legislature will likely complete most of the statute revision needed to implement the new Constitution.

With tax reform and law changes required by the Constitution on the Fall docket some Capitol observers are predicting the special session could easily run until mid-December.

... Voters who ask for or deliberately fail to cast ballots on machines at compared with tallies in paper precincts showed many machine voters consistently fail to cast ballots for minor offices and special questions.

The reason for this sharp difference is not known, of course, but Hare and many others think lack of familiarity with the machines could be a major factor.

Normally, when a person first votes on a machine, a precinct worker will demonstrate on a sample ballot. The succeeding elections, however, often find the voter not looking at the sample machine which shows the various offices to be filled and questions to be decided.

The Ann Arbor legislator said a number of other cities expressed interest in getting a full explanation of how to create industrial parks, business development corporations, or other industry-drawing plans.

As a result of the widespread interest, Bursley said his economic expansion committee would spend much of the time before the Fall session visiting with officials around the state about procedures and ideas.

... A refresher course in operating the voting machine at each election likely would increase the percentage of votes cast for the ballot questions other than major offices.

The Secretary of State said a study of the Constitution would last April indicated one substantial fact: in most of the voters who failed to had cast their machine ballot on the

about WOMEN

The Northville Record—Novi News—Thursday, August 8, 1953 Section One — Page Two

Mitchell — Lanning

Mary Margaret Mitchell and Donald Jay Lanning, Jr., both of Northville, exchanged wedding vows at the Northville Methodist church on Friday evening, July 26.

Officiating at the candlelight ceremony was the Rev. William Richards, pastor of the Clarkston Methodist church and uncle of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin P. Mitchell, 1935 Fry road, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Lanning, Sr., of 1022 West Seven Mile road.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of white French imported tulle with a white satin sash and a white tulle train. A tulle cascade bouffant veil was attached to a pearl tiara-type crown.

She carried a white orchid, encircled by feathered carnations and ivy.

The maid of honor, Pamela Kay of Northville, wore a light green lace over green tulle, bell-skirted dress. Patricia Mulligan of Livonia, Mary Lanning, sister of the groom, wore a light blue lace dress. The bridesmaids were Patricia Mulligan of Livonia, Mary Lanning, sister of the groom, and Anne Richmond Thompson of Hubbard Lake, were brides-dresses of pink, blue, yellow lace over bell-skirted satin. Shoes matched the ensembles.

Each of the bride's attendants wore a short nylon veil attached to a white bow clip. The bride's bouquet consisted of white carnations, white and pink roses, and white and pink lilies.

McKarns — Lohrey

In a candlelight setting at the Alumni Memorial Chapel at Michigan State university, Sharon Lynn McKarns and Dennis Robert Lohrey were joined in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Ervin Seldin, pastor of St. Stephen Lutheran church of Wausau, Wisconsin, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKarns of 1039 West Six Mile road, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willbur Lohrey of 310 Park Avenue, Wausau, Wisconsin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore silk organza over white tulle, featuring hand-clipped and patterned lace. A ruffled bodice, accented with the lace below the bustline, continued to the back extending down into a deep V-shape where a small bow was attached. The short sleeves were of lace, and the portrait neckline was trimmed or framed with the lace. Long organza mitts were worn.

The A-line skirt was trimmed in front with appliques of the lace, starting from each side and curving down to about knee depth. Unpressed pleats, which fanned into a wide chapel train, highlighted the back, and a platoon of organza petals from which fell a shower of white and pink roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McKarns wore a white silk organza over matching tulle. Princess sheath with lace was accented at the waist with deep points of all-rose lace extending upward. The gown featured a modified scoop neckline, cap sleeves and harmonizing accessories.

The groom's mother wore a cocoa sheath dress of lace over tulle. It included a scalloped neckline, elbow sleeves and harmonizing accessories.

Both mothers wore corsages of spartan roses.

Following the wedding, 100 guests attended a reception in the Alumni Chapel Lounge, Wisconsin, Duluth, Minnesota, Bryan, Ohio, Birmingham, Lansing, Troy, Livonia and Northville.

For her wedding trip to the Southwest and the west coast, the bride wore an egg-shell linen jacket-dress accented with burnt orange.

Some 23 dealers from throughout the area, according to show officials, will exhibit a variety of desirable models running the gamut of old, old postal cards to fine, warm colored American furniture from fragile European and American china to sturdy stoneware; and jewelry, jugs, jugs, coins, clocks, and guns.

Mrs. Dennis R. Lohrey

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Austin of Northville announce the birth of a baby daughter, born July 10 at the Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

The baby, named Kristina Karen, weighed 7 pounds, 14 ounces at birth.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Dyer of Plymouth, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Austin of 404 Beal street, Northville.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Halon, of Commerce Lake, on July 10. Mrs. O'Halon is the former Karen Austin of Northville.

Named Jack Steven, the baby weighed 7 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces at birth.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will move to Wausau. A reception dinner will be given by the groom's parents at the Hotel Wausau upon their return August 24.

Area Women's League Plans September Show

The show is part of the Plymouth Fall Festival, a three-day event which will include a fish fry on Friday, pancakes and sausages on Saturday, and the traditional chicken barbecue on Sunday.

Members of the show committee are: Mrs. Ray Hulce, general chairman; Mrs. Thomas Adams, refreshments; Mrs. Wilson Augustin, dealers and publicity; Mrs. S. L. VanAntwerp, dealers; Mrs. Robert Jenkins, properties; Mrs. John Moelle, publicity; Mrs. Carl Schulz, properties; Mrs. David D. Wood, decorations; Mrs. Margaret Hugh, publicity; and Mrs. Donald Whitehead, general.

Plan Picnic

Northville's Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold its annual picnic on Sunday, August 11 at Cass Benton Park "under the willows".

A picnic dinner will be served, along with free refreshments. Members and guests are asked to bring their own place settings.

They'd Stay If They Could

Netherland Couple Praises Northville

A pair of Netherlands visitors would move into Northville tomorrow if they could. For, say Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maas of Tilburg, Holland, "everything's cleaner here and the living's cheaper."

"You probably think of the Dutch as an exceedingly clean people," observed Mrs. Maas, here visiting her son and his family, the Jack Maas' of 128 Walnut.

"And it's true we wash everything — our houses, our streets," she continued. "But we wouldn't bother to throw anything in a trash basket. Cigarette papers, candy wrappers and the like get tossed on the ground."

As for the prices, the senior Maas' raise their arms in despair at the very mention. Mr. Maas explained that everything's about three and three fourths more expensive in Holland than in the United States.

He, as a foreman in one of Tilburg's famous textile factories earns a good wage, but not one big enough to permit him to own a car, a washing machine or an electric dryer.

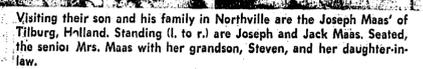

With the average Dutch wage set at 90 gulden a week, or about $25, there's no room for luxuries, Mr. Maas reported.

He noted that in his own case, it took plenty of skimp-ing to save 1470 gulden, the price of a television set.

Now that the senior Maas own the T.V., they're still paying 36 gulden a year to defray the cost of programs. "There are no commercials in the Netherlands," according to Mrs. Maas.

But neither are there the light programs like in this country, she said. "The Belgian and Dutch programs are either newscasts or concerts featuring 'chamber music.' We watch, we see American programs such as Bonanza, Perry Como and Perry Mason."

News Around Northville

Visitors on Clement road this week are a former Northville, Mrs. Marjorie Chase Crawford, and her family, the Crawfords will be spending two weeks with Mrs. Crawford's brother and his family, the Philip Chases, and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Chase.

Their three boys traveled here from their Coalinga, California home via the western national parks, camping out along the way. The Crawford boys: Steve, 11; Jimmy, 10, and Tommy, 8.

The Wynn Wakenhuts of Conemara drive spent last weekend at Interloch, visiting their son Gary who's a recording supervisor at the camp.

Highlight of the visit was a performance of H.M.S. Pinaree.

Word comes from Western Michigan university that Michael Adams is among the 109 university students on the high scholarship list for 1953.

Michael, the son of Mr. H. A. Adams of 2171 Stanstead, is a junior in the liberal arts curriculum, majoring in political science. He graduated from Northville high school in 1951.

Home from a two-week camping trip in Maryland are the Clarence Jeromes of DuBois street.

The Jeromes lived in their house trailer in Elk Neck State park near Baltimore.

While there, they spent some time with their son, Gerald, who's stationed at the Bainbridge Navy base.

The granddaughters of Mrs. James Spagnuolo of 113 East Main have returned to their Ypsilanti home after a four-week stay in Northville.

The young Melbourn misses, Joanne, 9, and Tony Marie, 10, explored the city from end to end during their vacation.

A Northville native, Jesse Bybee, has been appointed instructor in electrical engineering in the University of Cincinnati's college of engineering.

Mr. Bybee, who resides in Fairfield, Ohio, with his wife and two children, is a project engineer for the Cincinnati division of the Bendix corporation.

Off for five days of fun in St. Louis, Missouri, are the Macy Princes of Mayo court. Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Price, who left last week, were their three youngsters: Brian, Macy and Jimmy.

The J. F. Grems of East Cady street were houseguests in Grosse Pointe last weekend. Their hosts: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Monroe.

Members of the Ralph Foreman Jr. family were guests recently at a Hawaiian Luau at North Lake in celebration of the birthday of Louis Foreman of Chelsea, formerly of Northville and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor of Plymouth were co-hostesses of the gala event.

Guests from the area included the Earl Merrimans and the Frank Kellers of Plymouth, the Jimmy Ottens of Detroit, and the Ralph Foreman.

The two young Hannabarger boys, Gregg, 11, and Cross, 9, will be traveling with Mrs. Hannabarger.

While she's busy planning in-

Area Women's League Plans September Show

The show is part of the Plymouth Fall Festival, a three-day event which will include a fish fry on Friday, pancakes and sausages on Saturday, and the traditional chicken barbecue on Sunday.

Members of the show committee are: Mrs. Ray Hulce, general chairman; Mrs. Thomas Adams, refreshments; Mrs. Wilson Augustin, dealers and publicity; Mrs. S. L. VanAntwerp, dealers; Mrs. Robert Jenkins, properties; Mrs. John Moelle, publicity; Mrs. Carl Schulz, properties; Mrs. David D. Wood, decorations; Mrs. Margaret Hugh, publicity; and Mrs. Donald Whitehead, general.

Plan Picnic

Northville's Fraternal Order of Eagles will hold its annual picnic on Sunday, August 11 at Cass Benton Park "under the willows".

A picnic dinner will be served, along with free refreshments. Members and guests are asked to bring their own place settings.

Plumbers to Play at Wayne Class E Champs Eye Tourney

The Panthers and Athletes wrapped up league championships in Knottsole softball and baseball, respectively, this past week. Although the Athletics had one game remaining this week and the Panthers two, there is no mathematical chance of upsetting them.

Winner of the district title last year, the Panthers are the number one champs, 10 a.m. August 20 at Jackson. The state championship game will be played 2:15 p.m. the same day.

Class of '41 Enjoys First Reunion

IS IT REALLY YOU? asks Barbara Ross as her husband, Robert, and James Funk look over some forgotten pictures of high school activities — 1941 style. The picture exhibit attracted plenty of attention at the class reunion here Saturday.

Surprise, sentimental memories, and conversation played key roles in a long-awaited get-together of more than 40 former Northville high school classmates this past Saturday.

The joyous occasion marked the 22nd anniversary and the first reunion of Northville's Class of 1941.

Forty-two of the 66 members of that class, which stood in 1941 on the threshold of the world's most tragic war, were on hand at the community building as the class president, Mrs. Robert Casady (the former Marilyn Cavell) of Novato, California, officially opened the program.

The program, which took on a light, humorous tone (because we didn't want to get too sentimental), followed a delightful buffet dinner.

Highlighting the event was the presentation of awards to distinctive class members. These included:

- An aspirin to Donald Wilbur, father of the greatest number of children (10).
- A baseball bat to Harold Martins for being the most recently married member of the class (two years).
- A rolling pin to Mrs. David Hay (the former Betty Verkes) for being married the longest (25 years).
- A toothless comb and a cap to Harold Fritz and Fred Walker for possessing the "highest foreheads."
- A box of cotton to Mrs. Robert Einheuser (the former Jean Behen) for having the youngest child (six months).
- Mrs. Casady, who was instrumental in arranging the reunion, read an original poem for the occasion, Mrs. Ben Williams (the former Betty Stillwell), secretary, read correspondence from those who were unable to attend, and Bill Widmer, vice-president read the report of the absent treasurer.
- E. V. Ellison, now director of administrative services for the local school system, gave a report as to the whereabouts of former teachers of the class, and G. M. Mollen, class trip to Washington, D. C.
- Former teachers of the Class of '41 who attended the reunion were Mrs. Ila C. Book (E. C. Mollen, E. V. Ellison, L. G. Lee, Miss Jean Palmer, Mrs. Leitch (Gladys Ludwick), and Charles Yates.
- According to Mrs. Casady, some of the former classmates were unable to attend, while the whereabouts of others is unknown.
- Only two class members, Joe Medina and Jack Holstrom are known to have died. Mr. Medina was killed during World War II and Mr. Holstrom was killed in an automobile accident, Mrs. Casady said.
- Former classmates who attended the reunion were: Russell and Anderson of Columbusville; Mrs. Virginia (Ault) Oman of Farmington; Allan Barnard of Detroit; Mrs. Richard Bruner (Betty Barry) of Portsmouth, Ohio; Mrs. Roger McNamee (Margaret Baughman) of Northville; Mrs. Robert Einheuser (Jane Behen) of Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wooley (Valera Wheeler) of Wayne.
- Art Brettmeyer of Plymouth; Mrs. Carl Hozer (Mary Elie Burgess) of Wayne; Mrs. Donald Merritt (Gertrude Catton) of Northville; Mrs. Robert Casady (Marilyn Cavell) of Novato, California; Miss Barbara Curtis of Northville; Dr. and Mrs. Louis Eaton (Ila Marie Walker) of Howell; Mrs. Francis Clinton (Jane Ely) of Rogers, Arkansas; Edward Erwin of Novi; Lewis Foreman of Chelsea; Mrs. Robert Parmeter (Ruth Frank) of Grosse Pointe; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fritz (Margaret Bell) of Northville; Mrs. Arthur Procter (Betty Lou Hollis) of Northville; Don and Kimmel of Ann Arbor; Lawrence McArthur of Plymouth; Harold Martens of Detroit; Mrs. W. H. Stephenson (Joyce Morley) of Northville; Mrs. Harold Hutches (Jeanne Smith) of Plymouth; Mrs. Herman Esch (Elaine Sommer) of Plymouth; Joe Spagnola of Northville; Mrs. Barbara Luker (Spicer) of Farmington; Mrs. Ben Williams (Betty Stillwell) of Plymouth; Fred Walker of Northville; Bill Widmer of Northville; Don Wilbur of Northville; and Mrs. David Hay (Betty Verkes) of Northville.

OLD FRIENDS MEET — Saturday was an important day in the lives of former Northville high school students, who enjoyed a reunion at the community building. Above Mrs. Richard Bruner (Betty Barry) serves Arthur Procter while Mrs. Robert Casady looks on.

Two Injured In Collision — Two Madison Heights women sustained minor injuries Tuesday afternoon when the car in which they were riding collided with a truck on Grand River near Meadowbrook.

Driver of the car, Florence Jones, was scratched and bruised and a passenger, Ruth Peterson was bleeding from injuries to the head and neck. Both were taken to St. Mary's hospital, Livonia, where they were treated and released.

Lab's Jim Kolak and Dean Nitzel put singles back to back in the seventh to spoil Sorenson's chances for a one-hitter. In their victory over the Merchants, the Angels picked up only four hits off Walled Lake's left-hander, Carl Scharf. However, they made the most of five walks and four Merchant errors to walk off with an 8-3 decision and their ninth straight victory of the season.

Pitching Aids Angels' Win — In Men's Softball league competition last week, front running Angels and second place Northville Lab emerged with two victories apiece to strengthen their positions.

The Angels' victories came at the expense of the Walled Lake Merchants and Lapham Men's Shop.

Against Laphams it was the pitching of Charlie Sorenson that enabled the Angels to pile up an 8-1 decision. He allowed only one hit through the first six innings of play.

In New Enrichment Program

48 Youngsters Learn to Ask 'Why'

Forty-eight Northville elementary youngsters are participating in an unusual summer recreation program these past six weeks.

Instead of bouncing around the playground, they've been inside the Main Street school asking "why" and answering themselves.

The youngsters, fourth through sixth graders, are part of the city's first elementary independent study program, planned and directed by Robert Prom on a tuition basis.

Purpose of the program, according to Prom who's also a sixth grade teacher in the Northville system, is "to encourage curiosity."

It all started a few months ago when Main Street School Principal Harry Smith and Prom were talking over a cup of coffee. Prom was lamenting the number of youngsters who lost the ability to ask "why" as they grew older.

Prom declared something ought to be done with Smith agreeing. Finally, the two came up with the idea of a summer independent study program at the elementary level. The two went to Superintendent of Schools Russell Amerman; he approved.

It was decided, with the approval of the school board, that Prom would conduct such a session this summer. He would be allowed to use school facilities, but would absorb all responsibility for financing and directing the program.

Prom says he set up the program so that a youngster had "a chance to do whatever he wanted and to go into it as far as he wanted."

Mostly, the youngsters were left to their own devices. Occasionally, everyone joined together to take a field trip to the University of Michigan museum, Cranbrook or the Kensington Nature trails.

From reports that a wide range of projects have come out of the program, which ended Friday. The more outstanding ones, he said, include several rock collections and a high voltage direct current power supplier.

Most of the youngsters preferred to spend their three-hour sessions each day working in the areas of science, from said. Others delved into arithmetic; still others into reading, dramatics and social studies.

One group of youngsters began conversational German under the direction of Mrs. Inga Knuth.

Now that the program's over, Prom has only one regret: the lack of creative writing and poetry produced by the youngsters. "I think the elementary child becomes so afraid that he might make a mistake in grammar that he won't try to write."

"Perhaps, he adds philosophically, "there'll be some creative writing in next year's program."

THE NOVI NEWS

Section Two — Page One Thursday, August 8, 1963

INTELLECTUAL CHAT — Teacher Bob Prom discusses the Van de Graaff generator (background) with Kurt Glaser, who designed his own generator. The generator gives off sparks which can turn baser metals such as lead into gold by increasing a metal's atomic weight. Kurt's generator, although it illustrates what would happen, is not completely operative because it lacks a rectifier.

Woods, Water, Industry Seen in 440 Mile Trip

Editor's Note: How to Make the most of a trip of 440 miles is the title of a series of articles prepared by this newspaper and the Automobile Club of Michigan. They are dedicated to making the 1963 travel season more enjoyable for motorists and more profitable for Michigan's tourist industry. Following is the fourth of seven articles.

The motorist who wants different places can have them all on a trip of 440 miles. He can see the blue hills in Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay, the state capital and educational centers, to name a few.

By way of contrast with the sparsely populated Thumb area are the cities and counties to the west. This segment of Michigan, headed by Flint, the home of General Motors' Buick and Chevrolet cars, Saginaw was the timber capital of the world before the turn of the century. Today it is a leading producer of sugar beets, beans and wheat.

The Chevrolet Grey Iron foundry, one of the world's largest, is typical of Saginaw industry.

A point of interest in Owosso is Curwood Castle, work shop of the late novelist James Oliver Curwood. Owosso also is the home town of Thomas E. Dewey, former New York governor and twice Republican presidential candidate.

Several sizable oil refineries are found in Gratiot county, the site of the Michigan State Chemical company pioneer of the DDT field.

Bethany Indian cemetery, two miles north of St. Louis on the Pine River, was originally built on a bluff with picnic tables and trees.

Robinson moved, supported by the Board of Resolution No. 63-3 is adopted, as written.

Supervisor Merriman asked for further comment or question.

Inasmuch as both Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth were to be considered regarding water supply for the purpose of adopting a resolution ordering the Township Engineer, Master Associates, Inc., to prepare plans showing the improvement, the location thereof and estimates of the costs of water mains to be installed in the Bradner-Five Mile area.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

My knowledge of William Shakespeare extends only slightly beyond the fact that his namesake plays a reasonably good game at halfback for Notre Dame in the late thirties or early forties.

But last week end (with some encouragement from my wife) I attended two performances of Shakespeare's works at Stratford, Ontario. We saw "Comedy of Errors" and "Troilus and Cressida".

One does not have to be a student of English literature or the Shakespearean theater to recognize that there is a highly professional production. And I am not confining this observation to the magnificent theater and its expert Thespians alone.

Instead, I refer to the undertaking as a community project. Thousands of people from throughout Canada and the northeastern United States flock to Stratford.

They see Shakespeare, as well as other classics, performed at its very best—in a theater that must approach perfection in its design and accommodations.

They pay up to $5 for their tickets. And, in what must have been the long convincer to the merchant who couldn't care less about Shakespeare, they stay in town to eat, sleep, shop and spend thousands of dollars.

I have never seen such a small community so busy. There was not a single motel or hotel room available; the restaurants, gift shops, soda fountains and drug stores were filled with customers.

In short, the town hums with activity during the June 17 to September 28 season, the eleventh in the history of the theater.

Stratford, however, is not allowing itself to become a commercial, carnival-like attraction. It gives as well as receives.

Its community is clean, its shops neat and attractive, the curbs courteous, its rivers and parks meticulously landscaped. What's more, it is not complacent. It is planning further improvements to a $750,000 renovation of an existing Avon Theatre in the business district of Stratford to provide a wider production of musical and dramatic plays and better accommodations for its attractive visitors.

The Shakespearean theater productions were the idea of a local man who rallied community support. I can only guess that they had their share of cynics at the outset. Their voices were undoubtedly silenced by the ringing sound of the cash register.

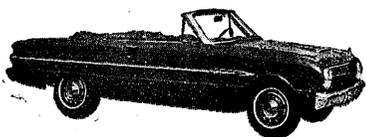

I have looked at Stratford with the eyes of a businessman who appreciates the conception of an idea, its planning and eventual financial success. The nature of the attraction matters little—it could be flower gardens, band concerts or girls' softball championships. Yet to the connoisseur of Shakespeare, it's sure the "play's the thing" and the commercial aspect only an unimportant by-product.

While I applaud the performances and recognize the genius of the players and producers, my hat's off to the promoters and teamwork of those who are responsible for the Stratford Festival.

It's amazing what a town can do for itself when it tries.

Highway Deaths Climb Alarming

What was feared early in the year is now becoming a daily nightmare to State Police officers. This year's highway death toll is very likely to be the worst in the state's history.

Traffic fatalities counts seem to follow patterns of high incidence interspersed with a few low death years. This year, another peak will undoubtedly be placed on the charts.

The last peak occurred in 1955 when 2,016 persons were killed. Rapid action by the legislature in bolstering safety efforts that year dropped the toll in 1956 and decreases were recorded the two succeeding years also.

Since 1958, however, charts have shown relatively steady, but minor rises in the fatal accident count. This year's high rate of deaths is a problem just as it is on the roadways.

Enforcement of the water laws is being stepped up by county sheriff patrols on the inland lakes. On the Great Lakes control because federal laws are in force.

One of the most important sections of the new law specifies that all motorboats must be equipped with a Coast Guard-approved life preserver, vest, ring buoy, or buoyant cushion for each person on board.

Fire extinguishers are also required on all water vehicles of closed or semi-closed construction. The number depends on the size of the boat. Good boating dictates the presence of a fire extinguisher on open vehicles too. The new law also spells out requirements for whistles, horns, lights and mufflers. Additional sections deal with "rules of the road," safety precautions for water skiing and diving, and accident reporting requirements.

Spelled out in a booklet called "What Every Boater Must Know," being circulated by the Secretary of State, the new law is designed to protect lives and property on the water.

Roger Babson Explains Best Time to Buy

Babson Park, Mass., Not far from a long time ago I did go in for such a program. Personally, under most conditions I would prefer to do my own buying, taking advantage of seasonal bargains.

Dairy Products and Eggs The heaviest laying season for hens is still March, April, and May. This means that egg prices are at their seasonal low point usually during the spring. Readers should also note that spring eggs are the most successfully stored.

Prices of dairy products generally are closely related to the milk flow, which reaches its seasonal high about June. If you are interested in storing dairy products, the best buys in butter can normally be expected in June or July. Cheese buying opportunities are delayed because of the long curing period; November seems about the best time for this commodity.

Fuels & Miscellaneous Items In fuels, seasonal factors also play an important part in terms of prices. If you are heating with coal, you will save money by taking advantage of summer reductions. Heating oils and kerosene are usually cheapest during the summer because of mounting refinery stocks, low demand, and intensive competition. Gasoline prices generally dip lowest in mid-winter.

Just down the best seasonal buying time for a few other items: canned peas, June; canned corn, July; canned tomatoes, August; canned salmon, usually August and September; dry beans, November and December; potatoes, late August or early September; lard, December; citrus fruits, January or early February; saffron, August; and soft goods, at January "white sales." But most important of all: Study the advertisement in your local newspaper. I wish every high school would have a compulsory course on "Studying Newspapers Ads."

First, let us take a look at seasonal trends in meat and poultry prices. The best time to buy is usually during November and December when the average family heavily emphasizes meat. Of course, you cannot get really big savings unless you have a freezer. Otherwise, you will probably find a unit in a public freezer storehouse, although that is not so cheap in the long run as to have your own. An emergency generator is probably a good idea, too, to protect your food in the event of a public power failure.

Along with the sale of freezing units today, there are often food-buying programs that will arrange to keep your freezer stocked at prices well below the prevailing retail rate. Some of these systems are genuine cost-savers, especially if your family is large; but others are not.

119-YEAR-OLD HOMESTEAD — The Detroit Edison company recently awarded this centennial marker to the Hopkins sisters, Renne and Avis, whose family has owned the farm at 2910 Leon Lake road for approximately 119 years. Edison, which awards markers to homesteads which have been in one family for one-hundred or more years, only recently learned of the farm's age and promptly made the presentation. According to the sisters, the farm house was the first frame house to be built in the vicinity. It was constructed about 1835. Calvin Hopkins, great-grandfather of the Hopkins sisters, first lived in the house in 1844. Later occupants were Greenleaf and Rufus Hopkins, grandfather and father, respectively, of the sisters.

Wixom Planner Explains Urban Renewal Program

Evolution, purpose, and requirements of the urban renewal program were described to members of the Wixom Chamber of Commerce last week.

Meeting at the city hall Tuesday, members heard the talk of urban renewal given by Lee Dalgren, representative of Vilcan-Leaman & Associates, Inc., planners for the city of Wixom.

Urban renewal, Dalgren explained, is offered in two distinct programs. One entails urban redevelopment, which means removal of all or most of the buildings in a blighted area and the sale of the land to private developers for new construction.

The second is considered a conservation program in which all or most of the building are retained with removal of only those which are found to be in bad condition.

For those communities with populations of less than 50,000, which qualify for federal assistance, the government will pay three-quarters of the net cost of the program with the local community contributing the other one-quarter.

To qualify for federal assistance under urban renewal, communities must satisfy the government "seven prerequisites are followed: 1. Adoption of adequate codes and ordinances. 2. Preparation of a comprehensive community plan. 3. Completion of a neighborhood analysis, showing location and extent of the blighted conditions.

According to Dalgren, Wixom meets these requirements, although he pointed out that the communities must continue to improve upon these requirements through the years if they are to receive aid later.

September Trial Set On Landfill As Novi Waits on City

The landfill dispute between the city of Wixom and Gas McCreey, operator of a landfill which will culminate early next month, City Attorney Gene Schmeiz announced Tuesday's meeting of the city council.

The trial is slated for September 5 in the Oakland county circuit court before Judge William John Beer.

Complaint in the case will be filed by the city of Wixom, asserting that the operation was unsanitary and generally a nuisance.

The problem came to a head when approximately 10 petitioners from the area submitted a written complaint to the council in July.

At that time, investigations of the landfill were instituted by the city and the aid of county health officer Larry Lamont, was solicited.

The city stopped the operation. Schmeiz said that McCreey obtained a court injunction restraining the city from interfering with the dumping.

At present, dumping is still going on under the supervision of Lamont unit court time.

The council also disposed of other old business in quickfire order.

The council postponed action on a study of the downtown business district until September 10 at which time the Planning Commission will include a dinner.

Persons interested in attending are asked to contact Mrs. Paul DePodesta, or Mrs. Lloyd Preston.

Plans also are underway for a Millionaire Night of entertainment. Details and dates have not yet been revealed.

The next regular meeting of the board of directors meeting will take place in two weeks.

Liz Spurns Gussie But Mort Neff Beckons

Spurred by an ungrateful Liz Taylor and her lovers, a rising young star may make his television debut tonight.

And Liz, Richard Burton and Eddie Fisher probably won't get much more than supporting roles.

Gussie McQuack — a handsome, colorful duckling — is slated to make a guest appearance this evening on Mort Neff's popular TV program, Michigan Outdoors.

Sharing his billing will be Charles and John Genittis. It just couldn't happen to a nicer fellow.

Few have made the big jump to stardom so quickly as this youngster whose story of success is a tragic yet tender biography.

It all started last month when Liz, a raven-haired beauty, began entertaining some of her old friends in Northville — near the aptly named romantic apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Don-ald Ware of Burton street.

Eddie and Richard were regular visitors of course. But there were others too — "mystery" fellows who letted in daily from over by Northville's Ford plant.

Liz, who liked all this attention and, like any tickle-feather, had difficulty choosing her next husband. Her suitors, competing for her love, took her out for dinner for walks around the apartment lawns, and together they went sailing.

Finally, Liz decided. She picked Richard and they were married.

Five weeks or so later, Gussie and six brothers and sisters were born to Liz and Richard. All were ordinary, dark-colored ducklings — all save Gussie, who emerged from his egg fluffy yellow.

Then, because a baby duck "needs the love of children," Gussie was given to the Wares' nephews, Charles 13, and John 16, of 16356 Edmore drive, Detroit.

'Sewers' in Dry Dock As Novi Waits on City

A Walled Lake decision on the proposed sewer system affecting the lake portion of the village of Novi is not expected for another two or three months.

That's the word from Walled Lake's city manager, Frank Darby, who indicated this week that detailed engineering plans and costs are slated for completion within five weeks.

Once these plans and figures are completed, he said, the information will be passed on to the Walled Lake property owners so that they are aware of the details.

Darby predicted that the Walled Lake city council will make a decision on whether or not to go ahead with the sewer system.

Working with the engineers on the project is the county department which is slated to direct the construction of the system if it goes ahead.

Novi adopted a resolution calling for planning of the sewer system under the new ruling on Walled Lake's intentions and upon a satisfactory contract with the engineering firm, Johnson and Anderson, Inc.

The proposed sewer system, which would include a disposal plant in Novi — south of the village had to repeat the application was finally approved in February of this year.

Other road work authorized by the council includes replacement of four bridges along Nine Mile road.

The bridges are located at Nine Mile and Center, north of Center and Nine Mile, east of Novi road on Nine Mile; and

General tree cutting and brushing along roads throughout the village is to start "as soon as manpower permits,"

Blacktopping Completed On Willowbrook Streets

Except for minor details, installation of new asphalt paving in Willowbrook subdivision, north of 10 Mile road, has been completed.

According to Village Coordinator Harold Ackley, "for all practical purposes the paving is complete except for some minor jobs here and there."

The newly paved streets include LePost, Willow Lane, Border Hill, and Mill Stream. Cost of the special assessment paving program is shared by property owners in the affected area and the village on a 10-90 percent basis — with property owners assuming the greatest cost.

Ackley, who said the average cost to each property owner is $24.18, payable over five years at 5.58 per cent year plus six-percent interest, predicted that property owners may receive some refund.

However, he said the exact amount of the refund won't be known until after "all figures are in."

The refund, he explained, will result from the difference between the estimated $14,000 cost of the project and the low bid of the Oakland Asphalt and Paving company, contractor for the project, plus contingencies.

Those property owners who paid their share of the cost in cash, or in installments, and those who are paying over the five-year period will receive the reduction in the final installment.

Property owners originally petitioned the council for paving more than a year ago, but the council had to determine the need for the project, to actually approve the use of the county garage for storage of equipment and to finally approve the roll and make application for bonding permission. But before the finance commission had considered the application, the state supreme court threw out all pending special assessments when it ruled a portion of the special assessment statute unconstitutional.

Method of financing this proposed project has not yet been determined, he said.

A ditching project on Taft road, just north of 10 Mile road, was awarded to Bower of Walled Lake. A $2,500 performance bond, furnished by Bower's father-in-law, was signed by Barchert, he said.

In accordance with the contract, Barchert said that $1,500 had been forwarded to Bower in advance of assessment and $500 will be paid each month until completion, January 31.

Bower is still in the process of drawing up a final value map which is preliminary to assessment of individual properties.

After waiting for more than a year, requesting blacktopping, property owners along four Willowbrook subdivision streets are finally enjoying smooth driving. Only a few minor cleanup jobs remain.
