Speaking for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

An important leader of area community activities called me recently to object to something that had appeared in this newspaper.

"He took particular care to point out that he had not seen the item" because I do not read your newspaper." But a friend, less selective in his choice of reading material, had called to report the article.

Needless to say, we did not resolve our difference. I maintained our position was accurate; he was equally convinced it was not.

It may come as a surprise to those who know me as an easy-going, even-tempered individual to learn that I become irritated at non-newspaper readers . . . especially during National Newspaper Week (October 13-19).

From a newspaper man's standpoint, I guess you could compare it with the frustration of a housewife who has worked all day planning and preparing a delicious dinner only to hear her tired husband say he's "not very hungry".

Probably the most difficult task a reporter faces is maintaining his objectivity in reporting activities at meetings and reflecting accurately the position of the participants.

It's especially true when you strongly disagree with a member of a public body. Add to this the knowledge that a particular official is talking without benefit of all the facts—because he does not read his local newspaper and does not know what is going on in areas relating to his area of responsibility—and you have a problem.

Regrettably, I must report that there are many times when I know that public officials have not kept themselves abreast of local conditions. They may be members of the city council discussing problems that involve cooperation with the township. Yet they are unaware of current township action. I use this only as an illustration.

But if it would surprise me, pleasantly, if all members of our elected bodies could even name all other officials within their communities.

Do you, for example, know the members of your city or village council, township board, school board, justices of the peace?

It has always been the honest effort of this newspaper to report news as accurately and completely as possible; to keep opinions where they belong . . . in editorials; and to keep its readers informed on what's going on within their respective communities.

You cannot attend all public meetings, but you can read about them in your newspaper. Keep informed—write "letters to the editor" when you object to or agree with council or board actions.

A faithful reader of its daily and weekly newspaper is reading history when it happens. He's informed. He's a good citizen.

From Senator Philip A. Hart comes a release this week concerning No. 1 white Michigan beans.

Henceforth, says the senator, the senate restaurant menu will specify Michigan beans as the chief ingredient of its bean soup recipe.

Newspaper Role In Free World

RABSON PARK, Mass.—This is National Newspaper Week, an ideal time for me to talk with you about how tremendously important I feel newspapers are in our daily lives. In fact, I believe the future of the Free World depends on four equally fundamental features of our democratic way: (1) Our role as responsible parents, (2) our churches, (3) our schools and colleges, and (4) our newspapers.

Ever since I can remember, I have urged people to support and encourage our newspapers in every way.

Ten years ago I completed at Babson Park the World's Greatest Revolving Globe, which I unhesitatingly dedicated to the newspapers of the Free World. My attitude toward the value of the press is the same today.

Newspaper publishers often are not given the regard and consideration that they deserve. This lack of appreciation is especially unfortunate since, in many ways, these publishers are even more important to the future of America than are bankers, manufacturers, or shopkeepers.

Newspapers are a key factor in helping the people elect the right leaders, and then in guiding these leaders along the difficult and treacherous political paths of today.

The advertising columns of papers like this one you are reading right now greatly influence employment conditions.

Editorial writers pretty well determine what the preachers and teachers are going to talk about, and, sometimes even, what they actually say in order to arouse what newspapers really mean to a city, you need only have been living in New York last winter during the strike that closed up the dailies for many weeks.

In no time the theaters were reporting a terrific slump in attendance; restaurants and other service establishments watched in dismay while their business dried up.

Finally, it seemed that practically all New York City citizens, I however, have one weapon for newspapers: circulation. When the power and circulation of newspapers was greatest, the leading journals were run by strong, hard-hitting individualists. This day must remain!

As the pounds accumulated over the years and the belt became increasingly taut, I found myself substituting sensible appraisal of the steady growth with a sort of "it's natural and certainly not alarming" attitude. But some time ago my wife joined me to my senses. Mentions to her that maybe I ought to do something about it, she peeked me on the check and whispered amorously, "I like that man."

I can't survive on this, I pleaded. You can and will, she said.

With my stomach howling for more, I finally persuaded her to purchase some of the dietary soups and fruit which advertisements flung at me against them. Unless you have a cast-iron stomach, you won't be able to keep them down.

Catching my breath on the heels of her subtle admission, I demanded her help in shedding the excess weight. No more, said I, do you starve me in the morning only to stuff me in the evening. No longer are you to ambush me with stimulating pies and glistening chocolate covered cakes purposely placed in the open to entice me to eat!

For that brief season of bravado I paid dearly.

Gentlemen, let me assure you that a wife who controls the kitchen can, when whimsy overtakes her, send you on a frenzied dieting program to amuse her with stomach beyond endurance.

Michigan Mirror Highways or Die-Ways?

Lansing—Every month this year, with the possible exception of September, has shown an increase in the slaughter on Michigan's highways, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

September could be an exception only if delayed reports are low, Childs said. Preliminary reports to the Department of East Lansing indicated 166 persons died in highway traffic accidents during the month but delayed reports usually boost the preliminary figures somewhat.

During the same month of 1962, Childs said 170 persons were killed.

The preliminary report at the end of August showed an apparent drop, but the delayed notices of deaths boosted the figure and has been estimated at between 75 and 80 percent, he said.

The number of ARA projects in Michigan since the first was offered in May, 1962, totals 48. Barlett's records showed about 2,000 persons gained training under these projects.

In the current fiscal year alone, 21 new projects have been approved for Michigan under the two programs. They include training for out-of-work, out-of-school youth and adults for employment as police station house clerks, technicians.

High federal programs initiated within the last few years have been very meaningful to Michigan's unemployed workers, according to Superintendent of Public Instruction Lymin M. Barlett.

Barlett has had a part in administering the Area Redevelopment and Manpower Development and Training Act provisions in the state. Both are jointly administered by Barlett's office and the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Wixom Citizens Complain

Residents' complaints concerning land use, dust and noise occupied Wixom city council in a routine session Tuesday.

Mrs. Nora Steinberger, of 2224 Beck road, Wixom, and her attorney, Emory Jacques, Jr., appeared before the council to ask clarification of a non-conforming use of land. Mrs. Steinberger's concern was agricultural use of property immediately to the north of her home.

The council moved to accept Attorney Gene Schneck's offer to meet with Mrs. Steinberger and her attorney to discuss points of alleged violation.

Schneck emphasized there was no point in having a zoning ordinance if it is not enforced.

Schneck also reported on the seven points of a circuit court decision regarding the Land-Use Ordinance. The Land-Use Ordinance is a question from Mrs. Lotie Chambers he explained that manner and method of land use, such as daily construction and weekly cover dirt now were under the direct supervision of Larry Lamont, chief of the Oakland county health department.

Mrs. Chambers also questioned the parking of trucks overnight on weekends at the extreme east end of the city hall lot, which she said, had caused complaints from residents whose views were blocked. Mayor Wesley McAtee said they were parked there with permission of the police department as it was lot to be used for the city hall.

The police department was asked to see if the two or three trucks parked at the city hall could be angled differently.

Councilman Oscar Simmons said he had received complaints regarding the illegal use of the city hall. Residents complained, he said, that the dust from other gravel areas, Maple and Chestnut streets, had been called on this problem.

Village Council Adopts Ordinances

Court Buries Wixom Fight On Landfill

A long-standing dispute between the city of Wixom and Gus McCreehy, operator of a landfill, apparently has been settled by court decree.

According to City Attorney Gene Schneck, both parties have formally approved a seven-point order of the circuit court, which calls for completion of McCreehy's landfill operations on or before July 31, 1964.

The landfill is bounded by expressway 196 on the north, Wixom on the west, and by 12 Mile road on the south.

In taking his fight to the court early in September, McCreehy contended that the landfill was in operation before Wixom was a city, and therefore the city could not govern his dumping operation.

A few citizens in the 12 Mile road area aired many complaints over the past few years, asserting that the operation was unsanitary and generally a nuisance.

The problem came to a head when approximately 100 persons from the area submitted a written complaint to the council in May.

At that time, investigations of the landfill were instituted by the city and with the aid of the county health officer, Larry Lamont. Following the investigations, the city stopped the operation.

McCreehy then obtained a court injunction restraining the city from interfering with the dumping.

Among the provisions in the circuit court order recently handed down are these:

—On or before September 30, 1964 McCreehy must cover the landfill area with 24 inches of compacted dirt to the established grade level and seal it;

—On or before July 31, 1964, a drainage system—approved by the county—must be installed by McCreehy to drain off water now flowing or threatening to flow into the fill area;

—All remaining operations at the landfill will be conducted under the supervision of the Oakland county health officer;

—That the topographic survey establishing grade levels be accepted and that McCreehy share the costs of this survey.

Votes to Buy Tractor For Road Department

Adoption of two ordinances, selection of an insurance agency and purchase of a new tractor topped the village council agenda here Monday night.

All three actions drew the unanimous approval of all of the councilmen present.

The ordinances, which were introduced to councilmen at an earlier meeting, pertain to electrical and heating regulations. Both became effective upon publication today.

The electrical ordinance provides for inspection of installation and maintenance of electrical wiring. It also provides for an electrical inspector and an electrical board, and for penalties for violation of the code.

Similar provisions are included in the heating ordinance, regulating design, construction, installation, maintenance and use of oil, gas and coal burning heating equipment, hot bath water supply and steam generating equipment.

Under the heating ordinance, the council also voted to purchase an all-weather cab for the tractor at a cost of $300. The tractor is to be used for road department work.

In his report to the council, Village Administrator Harold Ackley said a hearing on necessity for the proposed sewer system was scheduled Wednesday.

The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the city hall.

WATCH FOR OUR ANNOUNCEMENT Next Week

Pumpkins for the venture were grown at the Nagler road home of Troop Leader Mrs. Glenn Delbert, who is donating the whole acre of them to be sold at bargain prices — 10, 25 and 50 cents!

INDIAN LORE BADGES are being earned by a group of Girl Scouts from Troops 209 and 407. They performed a harvest ceremonial, the green corn dance last Sunday in a program at St. Paul's Lutheran church under the direction of Mrs. George Whitefield.

TODAY IS "FLY UP" for the former Brownie Troop 407 of Amerman school. The group of 26 girls will become Junior Scouts under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Guido.

Their Brownie leader was Mrs. Donald L. Nicholson, who will be saluted at the ceremony. Parents are to be guests at the program as well as Girl Scout officials and members of the Jaycees, who will sponsor the Junior Scouts. Co-leaders of the troop are Mrs. John Rogers and Mrs. Ruth Chadwick.

"One hundred-twenty little girls waiting in a row Envy, meeny, miny, mo — Tell us, which can Brownies be?"

In poetic language, that is the very real problem facing Mrs. Philip H. Nauman, Northville Brownie troop organizer, these days.

Early this fall, notices were sent to all seven-and-eight-year-old girls at Amerman, Main Street and Our Lady of Victory schools to see who were interested in becoming Brownies — and which mothers would be leaders. More than 120 little would-be Brownies sent in applications — as did TWO mothers.

THERE ISN'T A SINGLE BROWNIE in Northville at this moment. This is because Amerman Brownie troop "flies up" to Junior Scouts today as did the Main street troop last week.

A major reorganization of the Girl Scout program being carried out this year caused this situation, as well as the large supply of potential Brownies.

Under the new-plan of "open end" troops, seven-and-eight-year olds become Brownies (in brown uniforms). As soon as a girl becomes nine and knows her Girl Scout laws, aims and history, she may become a Junior Scout (in green dress-type uniform).

When she reaches 12, and passes requirements, she goes into a Cadet troop (in a white blouse and green skirt uniform). Three years later, she may become a Senior Scout (in a green suit-type uniform).

Although they have a year to make the transition to the new program, Northville's 11 Girl Scout troops already have moved smoothly into it. Except for the leader shortage, all signs are "GO."

Readers Speak Up ... Mostly on Library Flying Gravel

Dear Mr. Silber:
In the issue today of the Northville News, I read your article regarding the possibility of setting up a historical commission in Northville to preserve for the future citizens some of our remaining examples of early Mid-West architecture. However, it does stand as a monument to the state of society dictated by the rugged life of the early settlers.
We feel that although we represent only roughly 200 families, there are undoubtedly many more who have come to make their homes in our community because of the per- vading Early American charm of Northville. A place to give children a feeling of having roots in an established order that will go on after us. To lose all our old buildings and erase this feeling of continuity of the society in which we live is to do our descendants a grave disservice.
We would like to issue a call to all organizations in Northville to see what may be done before such a tragedy occurs.
Let's start NOW to preserve our precious heritage!

Sincerely yours,
Mable Ash, Clerk

Dear Mr. Silber:
I am concerned about the future of the Wing street building and its history. It is my hope that the building will be retained as a part of the town's history and preserved as a museum for the community.
I suggest that we try to plan some program that will either preserve the building as a historical museum or that the community form together a historical museum of the type which you have mentioned. There would be many arrangements to be made in either of these ideas, but I do not think it is an impossibility.
Our Government, through a charter by Congress, has set up a National Trust for Historic Preservation. It has been formed to facilitate public participation in preservation of sites, buildings, and objects of national significance or interest. Persons interested in the effort to save historical and architectural treasures in their own areas are invited to join as either organized groups or as individuals by writing to the National Trust for Historic Preservation, Inc., 1014 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20042.

Defense Falters As Mustangs Lose

Football spirits descended on the gridiron at West Bloomfield last Friday night and all scored the living day lights out of Northville.

The Orange and Black took the ensuing kick-off and rolled 61 yards in 15 plays to pay dirt. No play consumed more than nine yards, with Fullback Ron Rice, French and Tailback Dave Cummings carrying the ball.

Another tumble recovery led to the second Laker tally short by before halftime.

With the ball resting on the 47 yard line, a one yard plunge by Allen Oop pass to French in the end zone covered most of 44 yards.

Later in the fourth period, the Mustangs drove from their own 20 to the opponent's six. An intercepted pass on the goal line ended the drive. Less than a minute remained in the game.

Results of games last Friday night juggled the W.O. standings. Clarkston walked off with a 13-0 victory over Northville. West Bloomfield quickly scored touchdowns back-to-back to take the game early in the second half. Northville scored on a 22-yard kick-off and marched 60 yards for a TD. The Green and White, spearheaded by all-league Quarterback Dan Greg, scored four times against a Northville defense which was touted as the toughest in the league.

Time after time a Laker would twist away or run over a defender for long yardage.

In fact, West Bloomfield rambled for 239 yards on the ground and 67 through the air. His four touchdowns were scored on aerials of 43 and 17 yards and scampers of one and 22 yards.

Northville marched at will, too. It scored the first six early in the second quarter when right Halfback Jerry French scored the first of his two TD's on a five yard plunge off right tackle accuracy.

French also made a circus catch of a five yard toss in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter to end all Northville hopes in moving the ball with abandon between the two goal lines. Northville amassed 213 yards rushing and including its highest output of the season.

Quarterback Gary Stobbe threw with uncanny accuracy as he connected on 11 of 16 attempts, especially in the late stages of the game.

But with the exception of two touchdowns, the Orange and Black just couldn't push the ball over.

Fumbles on the West Bloomfield 15 and 47 — which led to Laker rallies — the clock and an intercepted pass from goal line thwarted any Mustang TD bids.

The Lakers were never headed as they exploited for TD's after they had the ball.

The first recovery a Mustang fumble on their 15 to stymie his opening drive. In fact, Northville, the Lakers drove to the Northville 43. Then Greg unleashed a lolly pass to End Rich Hatch, who strutted into the end zone with the ball. Try for the extra point was no good.

The Age of The Automobile

Some traffic researchers have come up with figures to show that motorists slacken their high way speed for two main reasons: (1) When curves on the roadway with reduced sight boom up ahead; and (2) the appearance of built-up areas of commercial and residential areas. They never mentioned the appearance in the rear view mirror of that red flasher door most police cars carry. We may all now adjust our hair.

At any rate, the researchers reached the conclusion that "Drivers respond logically and rationally to changes in the roadway and surrounding area so speed limits should be established on the basis of actual road conditions, rather than the traffic" — which may be a worthwhile point at that.

More automobiles are born in the country each year than people but they die faster than people (I'm happy to say). This being so, the rate of rise of the car population over the next twenty years will be slightly under the rate of rise of the human population.

The British have come up with an idea that could solve two problems at once — parking and the shortage of time. Getting your haircut takes about the same amount of time as getting your car lubricated. To make customers telephone for a single appointment for car and hair.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

By the Rev. James F. Andrews
Full Salvation Union Chapel

That their understanding of how to work out their own salvation is not their own but that it is God that worketh in them both to will and to do His good pleasure. However, I should be constantly remembered that no one knows how to do this — work out his own salvation — unless and only as God reveals it unto him.

The natural tendency of the human mind is to under-estimate the things of the spirit in a carnal way. When this is done we go about to establish our own righteousness and do not submit to the righteousness which is of God by faith. We seek to understand our own salvation in the way of the understanding that fills us instead of allowing God to work in and through us; we will and do of His good pleasure. This is the mistake that has produced so much vain and fruitless effort in religion. Every sect or religious group feels that they know how to work out their own salvation, and they are sure that if you will accept their understand- ing of the way, you will be saved. This is why so many are compassing sea and land to make them- selves proselytes and when they have succeeded they make them- selves to be the child of hell that is not discerned by the simple because they do not recognize in deep, spiritual consciousness the need of God opening up the eyes of their understanding; that they might know how to work out their own salva- tion according to God's understanding rather than according to their own.

We recognize as we write this, we look into the lives of the world would claim that their understanding of how to work out their own salvation is not their own but that it is God that worketh in them both to will and to do His good pleasure. How- ever, I should be constantly remembered that no one knows how to do this — work out his own salvation — unless and only as God reveals it unto him.

George Clark Buys Oldest Realty Firm

George Clark, founder of Clark Insurance Agency, has announced the sale of his business to George L. Clark, Carl Bryan and L. M. Eaton, former owners of the oldest realty firm in Northville.

The building, located at 150 East Main street, is owned by Eaton. It was constructed in 1856 and houses offices on the main and second floors as well as the real estate and insurance offices.

Bryan and Eaton formed their real estate partnership in March, 1945. Their first office was in the old Burgess home, located near to Northville Drug but torn down four years ago and now a city parking lot. In 1949 they moved next door to the Merrill home, which was torn down in 1956 to make room for the new office and parking.

Since opening 18 years ago Northville Realty has handled some $15 million in real estate sales.

The firm holds a charter from the Michigan State Bar and is a member of the Wayne County Board of Realtors, an organization which Eaton was instrumental in forming. The Realtors organization has become a part of the United Northwestern Realty Association and Multiple Listing Ser- vice.

Clark has prepared himself for the new undertaking by attending seminars involving real estate and appraisals. He will be assisted in the operation of the real estate and insurance business by his wife, Wilma. The Clarks live at 849 West Main street.

Delinquency In Adults

Dear Editor:

In regards to your Editorial some weeks back about our teenagers only wanting to do certain types of work and wanting to pick their hours and wages, I would like to say a few words for the many good teenagers who are more willing to do any kind of work.

Why is it when anything is brought out in any of the papers about teen agers it is always the bad points — never the good things? Hardly ever do any of our so called mature adults say anything about the juvenile delinquency problem.

Bus Route And Safety. To the Editor: The request for Bus 2 to pick-up children at a point other than on Main Street, was made by a group of parents who were just with one factor; the safety of all the children boarding the school bus at this point.

Bus Route And Safety. Anyone observing the large group of children gathered on this heavily trafficked road (particularly at this time in the morning) could easily imagine what eventually would take place.

Bus Route And Safety. Unfortunately, there is no point for pick-up that would suit everyone involved but the major consideration here is not a matter of convenience for any particular group but the safety factor involved in allowing a large group of children to mill about in a decidedly dangerous area.

Bus Route And Safety. Bringing the bus off this spot and up to a relatively safe pick-up point, certainly reduces the risks involved.

Bus Route And Safety. Sincerely, Mrs. John J. Walden, 2219 Woodhill.

Speaking for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

This week my mail box runneth over. Among others, four letters (one a poem) from four ladies all concerned with our old library building. (See page six, section one.)

I suspect conspiracy, but I'm happy. These citizens are genuinely concerned and they represent countless other residents who value old landmarks and want examples of America's architectural heritage preserved.

Some weeks ago I had reason to expect that the library building might become a subject of public concern. Attorney Ed Yerkes, a life-long Northville resident and authority on local history, took exception to my casual regard for the old building.

He returned with an article by William Pahlmann of the American Institute of Interior Designers entitled "They're Tearing Down Our Landmarks".

Included with the article were instructions from Yerkes to "pin this on your wall and read twice a week".

Pahlmann points out that, while our legacy as a young country may not be enormous, "there has been no civilized nation with so little feeling about its heritage and so little insistence on wisdom in the construction of new monstrosities."

He also says that the wrecking of these architectural monuments for gain is a "challenge to every woman in the United States. No one is in a better position to cope with city councils and high commissions and others in authority than the woman voter."

True, Mr. Pahlmann. And, I suspect your article has found its way into the hands of many Northville women.

"I'll admit that when I take a long-range look at the business block in which the library building is located I find it difficult to fit into the pattern for future planning."

Yet I hate to visualize myself as a self-seeking commercial monster, as Mr. Pahlmann would have one believe. He calls present planning in cities "an offense to the eye and spirit." (I wonder what George Zerbel and his planning commission would have to say about that.)

Maybe the library building could be moved (I'm hedging, now).

Presumably, the decision will be reached by the city council and township board. The city and township share in ownership of the building with the city holding approximately 54 per cent title.

But before these officials take any action, I suggest they read this week's letters. I think it would be my guess that they will take the route usually followed by elected officials when such issues arise: appointment of a citizens' study committee.

Meanwhile, why not follow the suggestion of Beth Lapham?

"What should we do with the old library building?"

Send your ideas to: LIBRARY, Bill Sliger, Northville Record. You don't have to sign your name . . . particularly, if you're a male with a contrary opinion.

In a week or two, I'll report the results.

We might have had a page one headline this week: "Youth Killed By Shotgun Blast".

It would have happened this way. A city resident would have heard an explosion in his backyard. When he ran outdoors there would have been another explosion . . . near his porch.

He would run back into the house thinking someone was firing at him. He called police, turned off all the lights, huddled his family into the living room and returned to the backyard with a shotgun.

There was another blast and the man returned to the fire with his shotgun. True, he was careful to fire into the ground. But he was frightened and protecting his family.

The police arrived and the pranksters had vanished, undoubtedly badly shaken by the gun blast.

Police are investigating remnants of firecrackers that are reported to be "giant size and power," comparable to a good portion of dynamite.

Fun . . . at Halloween or any other time of the year . . . should be just that.

As parents, it is our responsibility to see that our children do not flirt with tragedy under the guise of "happening fun".

The unpleasantness of enforcing discipline does not approach the unhappiness of injury or death.

Some might have considered it a pest, but not I. In my book it was the symbol of determination despite overwhelming obstacles. And save for the opposition from the distant side of my family, it was a welcome guest.

Max came to visit, our home during the five months of summer (two years ago when he was beginning to sag, in anticipation of a summer of unemployment with an uncanny ability for sensing the moods of the household, his presence probably would have been unnoticed but for his singular flair of keeping late hours.

"Although some might classify him as an introvert, he nevertheless had a curious habit of ignoring the clock. When most were resting their tired bodies, the still water within him bubbled over, and he became an incorrigible extrovert."

Do Schools, Parents Cause Drop-Outs?

LANSING — A bad attitude may not be entirely to blame for a youth's decision to drop out of high school before he completes the four years.

This is the conclusion of Ken T. Bement, Burroughs Corp. vice president. Bement notes that a youth who concludes that the school will not adequately use his potential to prepare him for the next half century of his working life may be right.

"Our schools, reflecting the wishes of parents, emphasize rote learning, glorify the undisciplined virtues of higher education, and under-stress self-respect, under-program, and under-value vocational training," he said.

Bement has expressed his view to educators on a number of occasions so it is not being thrown to the wind as criticism without a certain merit.

"We have been and still are victimized by the fixed idea that our schools are intended to produce college students," he says. He urges that "equal time" be devoted for vocational training of the 70 per cent of high school graduates who do not go on to college.

Bement contends that unlike the "old days" when a young man would spend most of his life in a workshop, today's schools train more technical and scientific workers.

Realistically, Bement admits the cost of adequate vocational training facilities is beyond the means of the vast majority of schools even with federal aid.

He said one alternative to this problem could be the creation of "area schools equipped to train and offer specialized training and technician training for a large geographic unit."

"Men must keep pace with his invention," said Bement. "We can neither afford nor tolerate a tomorrow in which a skilled elite dominates a technologically illiterate mass."

"Our only assurance that future generations will live as free men in a peaceful, abundant society is our ability to teach and to train this and future generations in the technical skills and sciences that make the master of his creation."

Liquor is a big business in the forthcoming year-end holidays for the annual holidays sales spirit. Commission Chairman Don S. Leonard said this year's purchases recommended for the first time in the last two years were sold in the last two months of 1963.

"We had a record of 379,000 cases, this was about 23,000 more than were sold in the same period of 1962."

"The liquor control commission report which showed that late last year we had sold up more than 7 percent over the same period of 1962."

Something for Nothing Government

"BABSON PARK, Mass. — My very good friend, Fred Conn of Tampa, has sent me an interesting little book entitled "The Cat Can Yield But Not Its Skin". This was written by Currie B. Witt and Lavania Lee Witt. Its purpose appears to be to change the present tendency in Washington to help more people in this country "get something for nothing".

The book is based on the life and days of Benjamin Franklin. Its authors seem to feel that the nation could turn back to the time of Franklin. But the history of all nations shows that this is impossible, or at least, very improbable. History and governments have always from abroad come in to take possession in the case of the United States. It was the English who took the eastern seaboard from the Indians, and the Spanish, the southwestern part of the continent. It was France who took the Louisiana territory from the British, and the Adamses of France who took the rest of the continent from the British.

It shows that the trend with people in every nation has been to get something for nothing; but they have never far different from the form of

Council OK's Rezoning

For Novi-12 Mile Property

A zoning change request was approved Monday night at a joint hearing of the village council and planning board. Originally, the planning board had included a larger area to be rezoned, but because objections were raised to changing the zoning of additional property, officials decided to eliminate it.

The request involved the property of Stanley Wilson, located at the southwest corner of Novi and 12 mile roads.

Action by the council changes the property some 200 feet deep and with some 200 feet of frontage along the 12 mile road.

Harrowood's Garage Moves to New Quarters

Leo Harrowood this past week purchased the vacant commercial building at 6400 Grand River, near Novi road. With that purchase — from Mrs. Leona Fralick — the new owner announced that Harrowood's Garage has been moved into the building from across the street.

The building greatly increases garage business space, Harrowood said, and will permit more servicing. Recently, Harrowood moved his standard service station at the northeast corner of Grand River and Novi road to Herb Dryden.

Besides the automotive repair garage, Harrowood also operates a dealership for Century Mobile Trailers.

W-O Football Crown Up for Grabs Tomorrow

Two pre-season dark horses, the game will determine the winner of the Wayne-Orchard conference crown. Both teams are tied for first place with 51 records.

Neither Northville or Clarkston, however, was considered a serious contender for the W-O title before the season began. The favorites were Milford and West Bloomfield with lots of talent returning.

Clarkston, an also ran last year, came out of nowhere with a solid defense which, added to a good running game, made it a solid grid squad.

Proof of the Wolves' improvement is found in the past. They could do nothing right as the Mustangs shakkled them last year, 6-6. But that was one year ago.

Last week, the Wolves proved their mettle by dumping a good West Bloomfield eleven, 20-13. It was no accident.

The Wolves ran over and around the Lakers who had defeated Northville in a convincing fashion the week before. Their two speedy halfbacks, John Williams and Dan Jenks, skirted the Lakers ends for big yardage. When the "West Bloomfield" offense spread wide to turn in the running plays, Clarkston worked up the middle.

Two of Clarkston's TD's were called back, and West Bloomfield saved face when it scored in its last 30 seconds.

With the visitor's feet back in mind and a big line that is especially big because of the tackles, Mustang Coach Ron Howard's yarders will try to control the ball by chewing it up.

Mustangs have utilized the short game throughout the season. However, Fullback Ric Rice and Tailback Dave Cummings, the Mustangs power runners, may find it rough going up the middle.

If such is the case, Northville will have to turn to the throwing arm of Quarterback Gary Smith. Only in one game has he hit his receivers consistently — against West Bloomfield — and that was in a losing cause.

The Black and Orange are set physically. With the exception of the loss of Bill Wilson and End Jim Bruck, the Mustangs are in good condition.

Teenagers Hold Dance For Mother

A benefit dance in memory of the late Carl Neely, Jr., was held at the Walled Lake Casino Wednesday night.

From 7:30 to 11:00 p.m. the casino was the scene of a tribute to the popular teenager.

Proceeds from the affair were given to his mother, Mrs. Carl Neely, Sr. of Novi. Friends and associates of the 17-year-old youth, who was fatally injured by an automobile this past week, staged the dance.

When it was learned that he had been contributing to the support of his mother and a sister, July Neely, many outstanding performers in the Detroit area donated their talents to the evening.

The board voted to pay $11,267 to the general contractor for work already completed.

An the other action taken, the board awarded a hardware contract to the Russell WXYZ radio donated five hours of broadcast time to the benefit dance, devoting the Lee Allen show, Joe Sebastian and Dave Prince, WXYZ disc jockeys, led the evening entertainment, and several guest singers and Detroit bands joined in.

'Goblins' March Tonight for UNICEF

Goblins and other Halloween creatures will combine party activities tonight with a concentrated effort to aid underprivileged children of the world.

Highlighting the annual Halloween trek through neighborhoods of Novi will be the solicitation of funds for the UNICEF program. Local youngsters will ask for donations to help feed and clothe underprivileged children through the United Nations organization.

Of course, homeowners can expect the goblins to ask for treats for themselves.

And after the solicitation and the usual "trick or treatings," boys and girls in and out of costumes will have an opportunity to attend two parties.

For children who will be soliciting for UNICEF, a party will be held at the Willowbrook Community Church, located on 10 Mile road, after they have completed their canvass for funds.

Another party — this one the annual event sponsored by the Novi Board of Commerce — will be held at the Community Building for all children of the community.

According to Herb Dryer, chairman of the Novi Board of Commerce sponsored party at the community building, elementary and pre-school age children will be entertained from 5:30 to 8 p.m., while teenagers are invited to attend a record party between 8:30 and 11 p.m.

Prizes will be awarded in numerous categories for costumes.

Children participating in the UNICEF program — and all boys and girls of the community — are invited to participate in the Willowbrook Community Church or at the Novi Methodist Church located on Grand River near Novi road at 6 p.m.

At the churches they will receive their UNICEF identification cards, including little collection boxes, and their instructions.

Although children may meet at either church, those living west of Novi road are encouraged to meet first at the Novi Methodist Church, while those living east of Novi road are encouraged to meet at Willowbrook Community Building.

According to Rev. Marcell Rickett, pastor of the Willowbrook Community church, the Fund, which is the world's largest international effort on behalf of children, has been working to improve their lot since UNICEF currently is giving assistance to over 500 projects in 118 countries.

Planners Eye Proposal For Motel, Golf Course

Plans for a large motel complex, including a nine-hole golf course, restaurant, recreation area and a swimming pool, were revealed to the village planning board here Monday evening.

According to representatives of Builders Land Service, Inc. of Birmingham, the "motel" (tentatively has been named the "Wixom Motel") is planned for construction at the southwest side of Novi road, near the intersection with the expressway ramp.

The plans were submitted to the planning board as the first step in seeking rezoning of the proposed building site.

Presently, the area is partially zoned for commercial purposes, including a manufacturing use, and the village officials stated Tuesday evening, "The rezoning will require a CT (conditional) classification."

In other action Monday, planners and councilmen decided to meet informally on November 11 to discuss the village master plan as well as zoning between the expressway and Grand River, from Haggerty to Novi road.

Last Saturday, the planning board held an informal public hearing on the proposed master plan of the village in order to acquaint the public with the plan and to answer questions pertaining to it.

An estimated 30 to 35 persons were present at one time or another during the four-hour session. And, according to village officials, most seemed satisfied with it, many said they were impressed by it.
