

The city and township of Northville and the city of Plymouth have decided to get together in Northville with representatives of the Detroit city water board and talk.

The subject of course, will be the possible future use of Detroit water, which will soon be pouring through the middle of all our communities through new lines.

First, however, officials of the three communities have decided it would be best to set forth a set of questions for the Detroit board to answer. These questions will be forwarded to Detroit weeks in advance of the proposed meeting so that there can be little reason for half answers.

Local officials are naturally concerned with such items as rates, supply, pressure, etc. And it appears that they have not received satisfactory answers to date.

The idea sounds good. But I think Novi should be invited, too.

Novi officials are anxious to obtain Detroit water. And chances are that at least one of their taps to the Detroit line would be within the city of Northville.

With Novi gaining sewer service through connection to the Wayne county interceptor through Northville (which has now, incidentally, reached the point of advertising for construction bids) and Detroit water near, new development in the Nine to 11 Mile area is a certainty.

Such development is certain to bring about mutual planning programs for our communities.

And Detroit water seems like a good place to start working together.

Forty-five years ago next Monday World War I ended.

Some 27 years later the curtain fell on World War II.

Then came the Korean conflict and finally a decision that the old November 11 "Armistice Day" would henceforth be known as "Veterans Day," a time to pay tribute to veterans of all wars of our nation.

You can pay tribute in many different ways.

A moment of silence, a thought; a glance at the flying flags; a visit to a grave of a friend or relative; a pleasant exchange of remembering old times, old friends.

Aside from the flying of flags, the only official observance in our area will be the annual pancake breakfast at the American Legion hall.

You can pay tribute to our veterans by just enjoying good food and fellowship at the Northville post Monday morning.

I'll see you there.

Many people have wondered why the "flags have been flying" in Northville all week.

It's the Legion's reminder that November 1-10 is their membership drive.

View Gresham's Law

Babson Park, Mass., — During my travels I have watched for a long time how the gold prices and I found one in Scott City, Missouri. His name is Edson E. Shrum, who wrote for me most of the following. Another example was the great crash of the 1929-30 period, when people distributed bank deposits and began hoarding cash, and later shifted to hoarding gold. This so depleted the gold reserves of our country that the resulting monetary crisis resulted in the moratorium when nearly every bank in the United States closed for about two weeks.

One of the oldest and most generally accepted monetary theories is known as Gresham's Law. The principle that "bad money tends to drive out good money." This means people tend to hoard the "good money," that is, the money they have confidence in — and tend to pass on the bad money. The term "bad" money refers to money which is less valuable than the so-called "good" money.

The remarkable validity of this law is demonstrated in the extremely interesting example of what happened to England's money in the period from 1683 to 1700. Prior to that time, English coins were of the hammered variety, with milled edges. This made it easy for the edges of these coins to be often ground off.

Years ago a nurse armed with a needle bent over my perspiring body and anointed me with a mixture. "You have rolling veins," he said.

The pronouncement came as no surprise since I had already arrived at a similar conclusion; my veins had begun to roll with the touch.

"This medical terminology, if it really can be classified with such distinction, is really a kind way of saying I am a coward when it comes to having a needle jabbed into my arm, or for that matter, into any other part of my anatomy."

Psychiatrists probably would have a field day trying to analyze the cause of this apparent inherent fear. Maybe it could be traced to my childhood when, running across a field one day, my feet became entangled with a nail protruding from a board. Or maybe it was that thimble I picked up one day in a jewelry store.

Whatever the cause, one thing is certain: the effect has been staggering.

"Take for example the physical examination I was required to have a dozen years ago."

"I was shortly after the outbreak of the Korean war. I had just entered college and, because I was one of those fortunate students to gain a deferment, I missed being swept up in the first wave of draftees."

I applied for a part-time job as a truck driver and was sent to a doctor's office on the sixth or seventh floor of a downtown Flint building for the examination.

Now, the ensuing episode may be the product of my wild imagination, but it nevertheless, was a real life nightmare.

"You certainly look healthy young man," Dr. Jaykic smiled as he glanced over at my chest. "Let's see, you're..."

In less than 15 minutes I was enjoying a hot cup of coffee, glowing over the fact that just one job of the needle was all that was required. So to that sweet bundle of mercy, go my everlasting thanks.

It was I ever made a mistake that I did it.

Election Fever High

This isn't an election year, but activity in the legislative halls would tend to dispute this fact.

The majority of Republicans are hoping to be able to work with a compromise to please both Gov. George Romney and all GOP members on fiscal reform.

Many Republicans have long opposed a statewide income tax, which forms the backbone of Romney's fiscal program.

With the so-called "moderate Republicans" fully supporting the program, Romney will still need a considerable number of Democratic votes to accomplish his aim.

The Dearborn Democrat said she hoped "this time and voluntary effort by the bowling industry will set an example for others to follow."

The annual battle against Michigan's "silent killer" — carbon monoxide. This invisible, odorless, colorless poison is present wherever there is combustion.

Carbon monoxide poisoning claims lives throughout the year but is most common during the fall and winter months.

The dragging out of the special session appears to be working against Romney.

Senior citizens who are in poor physical condition probably will have only kind words to say about the bill.

By now my eyes were glassy and the room began to dance in a monotonous circle.

When finally I returned to my senses, the doctor's arms were wrapped firmly around my waist and I was looking out an air window.

Now I ask you, what would be your reaction under similar circumstances? A doctor has just used your arm for a dart board. You've said something that might very well have made him angry.

When I finally returned to my senses, the doctor's arms were wrapped firmly around my waist and I was looking out an air window.

It's Hootenanny Time

Northville's jazz band, shown in rehearsal here, will perform tomorrow in the Jaycee-sponsored hootenanny. The band is directed by Robert Williams.

Jaycees Sponsor Musical Jamboree

Folk music, spiced with the blues, will fill the Northville community building tomorrow (Friday) when the Northville Jaycees present a "Hootenanny."

An estimated 1,000 or more teenagers and adults are expected to be on hand when the musical jamboree opens at 8 p.m.

Fashioned after the popular television program of the same name, the event will feature a half-dozen different musical acts.

Members of The Villageers, a four-piece band, are Bob Cole, Gary Sullivan, Rick Bowen and Tom Lamb. Performers at Gray this year for the National Guard, the Villageers are featured at Wards in Wausau.

Cuban Freedom Fighter Replaces Missing Rorke

So far Northville's Town Hall lecture series is hitting 1,001.

In its first two lectures of the 1963 season neither of the scheduled speakers has been able to appear.

Because of a conflict Walter Rorke couldn't open the series on Oct. 17. Miss Magdalen Strach had March 19 date with Slocak.

Now Alexander Rorke, Jr. cannot appear. But his excuse "he absence" may be much more serious.

According to information forwarded by the agency handling Rorke's lecture appearance, Rorke and his pilot were enroute to Managua, Nicaragua. They landed, either to make repairs or refuel, at Cozumel Island off Yucatan and have not been heard of since.

Substituting for Rorke on Thursday (November 21) at 11 a.m. at the PVA Theatre will be Major Pedro Diaz Lanz.

Major Lanz is a former friend and co-worker with Rorke in the under-ground anti-Castro fight in Cuba.

Major Lanz was the first commanding chief of the Castro regime. He was also the first high-ranking Cuban publicly denounce Castro, a few weeks after he took office.

Lanz attempted to escape to make repairs or refuel, at Cozumel Island off Yucatan and have not been heard of since. Substituting for Rorke on Thursday (November 21) at 11 a.m. at the PVA Theatre will be Major Pedro Diaz Lanz.

Legalities Snag Action By Township

Two matters of jurisdiction between village and township were discussed at a relatively short meeting of the township board Monday night.

Both are to be referred to attorneys for study and recommendation.

Under discussion were these questions: — What to do in cases of fire in township areas not included in the village?

— Can the township issue a liquor license to an establishment that is located within both the township and the village?

The latter matter came up when a representative of the proposed motel and restaurant, to be located between Grand River and East of a zoning change is granted, requested a class C liquor license from the board.

Under the law, the population of the township warrants a single license (liquor by the glass). However, all but a small part of the township is included in the village, and no liquor license can be issued in the village.

Concerning fire protection, the board decided to seek legal advice before making any agreement with the village.

Billed as the biggest and best event of its kind sponsored by the church, the bazaar will be held from 11 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to complete work on the church and church grounds.

According to officials, the various booths will feature Christmas articles, toys, linens, clothing, doll clothes and baked goods.

Gravel Firm to Move Its Office to Wixom

Holloway Sand and Gravel company, 10930 Six Mile, Northville, has indicated it will move its central office to Wixom property purchased at auction from Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company last Saturday.

Mayor Wesley McAtee reported to Wixom city council Tuesday.

The 20-acre piece of railway land and a building valued at $38,000 were sold for a reported $150,000.

McAtee said it was his understanding that the Holloway firm, which operates from several locations in the area, will make the building its headquarters and will dispatch trucks by a telephone system.

During prior business the council heard a complaint from Sam Mastich, 2894 Wixom road, about the 12 ft. deep sand pit located adjacent to his home. He felt circuit court restrictions were not being followed. Mayor McAtee reported to check immediately and take steps necessary.

Youth Committee Urges Novi Recreation Program

There's a recreational need in Novi, but it ought not to be the responsibility of the Youth Protective committee.

That's the conclusion of the committee in its recent written report. Two recommendations followed:

1. That the recreational committee within the group study past experiences and formulate plans for an overall program in terms of program, facilities, equipment and cost.

2. That the general citizens committee then, having accepted the plan, consult with the state department of recreation and then submit the plan to Novi municipal and school officers for the purpose of soliciting their support toward operating such a program.

The committee noted in its report that the summer recreation program that it sponsored ran for nine weeks, with activities including swimming, golf, arts and crafts, softball and tennis.

Some 200 children participated in these activities. — Children, by and large, presented no major disciplinary problems and there were no cases of truancy.

Under the law, the population of the township warrants a single license (liquor by the glass). However, all but a small part of the township is included in the village, and no liquor license can be issued in the village.

Concerning fire protection, the board decided to seek legal advice before making any agreement with the village.

Proposal For Museum Explained

A proposal for an automotive museum in Novi was discussed Monday night in an informal meeting of the village council and planning board.

Explaining the plan was B. J. Pollard of Detroit who, if granted a zoning change, proposes to establish a museum for automotive equipment on some 60 acres of property adjacent to the north of the cemetery at the corner of Novi and 12 Mile roads.

According to Pollard, the unique museum would be operated by a corporation made up of members of his family.

Because Monday's meeting was an informal one, formal request for zoning will be presented to the planning board at its meeting on Monday, November 25.

The request will ask that the property be changed from the C-2 (commercial) classification to C-4 (community) classification.

Total cost of the program was $27,121. An insurance policy was purchased for the program, but this cost was not included in the estimated budget.

Among the comments in the report were these: — A thank you note to those persons and organizations who contributed to the summer recreation program for youth.

— Children, by and large, presented no major disciplinary problems and there were no cases of truancy.

The young people of the church will furnish Christmas wreaths, candles and table decorations.

Quiet Season

More hunters, less hunting success, and far fewer complaints — that was the word of local police on the pleasant season ended Sunday.

Despite an increase in the number of hunters in Novi, police pointed out that they had received fewer complaints this year.

Approximately 90 hunters were checked, police said, either for hunting without a permit or hunting on private property. No injuries or cases of damage to property were reported.

THREE KINGS OF ORIENT are destined to appear in at least 30 area homes this Christmas season — in a striking conversation-piece wall decoration. Mrs. Gene B. Cushing, of Dunsany road, spent last summer with scissors, glue, bits of fabric and trimming fashioning the appealing wall hangings on colored burlap.

These will be her donation to the 1963 Christmas Magic market to be staged by 12 branches of Garden association December 7 at the Northville community building. Mrs. Cushing's bright sampler art will hang in the inkster branch booth as she retains her membership with that group.

THE GIRL-BRINGING kings were displayed at Mothers Club meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. Gordon R. Forrer, West Main street. Mrs. Cushing demonstrated Christmas arrangements for different rooms. She also created a Thanksgiving turkey of a pine cone, colored pipe cleaners and feathers, which even a Brownie or Cub Scout could assemble.

Mrs. Essie Nirder, Mothers Club president, introduced and welcomed to the group two new members, Mrs. Bernard Bach and Mrs. H. O. Evans.

THE FORRER FAMILY enjoyed a reunion with former Northville residents, the Robert Beerbower family, last week end. Mrs. Forrer and the children drove to Dayton, Ohio Friday, and Dr. Forrer flew down Saturday.

THE DISTAFF BOTANISTS, a small Northville-area garden club, is going on a Christmas "shopping spree" today for holiday workshop supplies. For December, Mrs. William Kelly, president, has scheduled a Christmas cookie recipe exchange and sampling along with a workshop.

A WEDDING ANNIVERSARY and the orient provided themes for two parties last week end. Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Schwendemann were honored at a surprise party Friday evening marking their 15th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Schwendemann's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Brueck, (who also are Northville Estates neighbors), gave the midnight supper surprise at their home on Dunsany road.

An Oriental meal with SukiYaki cooked at the table set the theme of the dinner party given Saturday by the William B. Cumps at their Timbertane road home. Women guests even accepted the invitation to come in Fur East garb, lending additional atmosphere to the choptick meal.

The hostess was given an assist in keeping arrangements authentic by Dr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Basel, who lived in Japan for 11 months. They supplied the beautifully inlaid and decorated chopsticks — so elaborate that guests merely admired them and used the "everyday" wooden variety to juggle rice.

DEER HUNTING SEASON opens tomorrow — and the Nelson C. Schraders, Edward F. Angoves, Dayton Deals and the Cass Hoffmans already have plans set to spend the next few days at the Schraders' lodge, set in the midst of 1500 acres near Gaylord.

There's still room for more on the bus, Mrs. Grunheid said, so any interested group or individual is asked to contact her at FI-9-2452 for additional information.

The trip will begin January 10.

Alkire-Merrow Say Vows
In Farmington Ceremony

Patricia Merrow of Farmington and Richard L. Alkire of Northville were united in marriage on October 12 in a double ring ceremony in Farmington's Orchard Methodist Church.

Officiating at the 7:30 p.m. rites was the Rev. Frank Coak. The church was decorated with two altar bouquets of white carnations, white roses and ivy.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Merrow of 30324 Gladstone, Farmington, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otten Alkire of 19708 Fry road.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of lace over tulle, square scalloped neck and sleeves. Sequined pearls decorated the neckline. Her flowers were stefanotis, white orchids and ivy.

Kathleen Wakeman of Fowlerville, cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid. Friend Kathleen Newton of Detroit was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joyce Mitchell of Fry road, Northville, sister of the bridegroom, and Diane Thrush, 2009 Tack, Farmington, friend of the bride.

Lynn Merrow, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and James Alysworth, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The maid of honor wore pink and carried dusty pink carnations, while the bridesmaids wore seafoam blue and carried light pink carnations.

Serving as best man was Gerald Stowell of Garden City, friend of the bridegroom, while ushers were Lee King of Northville, friend of the bridegroom, and Diane Thrush of Farmington, friend of the bridegroom.

A cousin of the bride, Kenneth Wakeman, sang because of "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Merrow wore a dress of blue chiffon over tulle with matching accessories and a pink simulated orchid. The bridegroom's mother wore a gold and white dress, featuring brocade with matching accessories and a green simulated orchid.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the American Legion hall on Grand River in Farmington. From there they left on a honeymoon trip to Upper Michigan, arriving home on October 20.

The newlyweds are now living at 12 Hillcrest road, Northville.

A graduate of Farmington High school, the bride is employed by Consumers Power company and her husband, a graduate of Northville high school, also is an employee of Consumers.

Another Look at Landfill

To the Editor:

This letter is addressed to the good people who reside in Northville Township. And I think they are all good, all 1600 who are registered as voters in the Township. It is merely to suggest that we all back off a little and take a good look at ourselves as individuals. Such as saying to ourselves "Am I really doing out there as well as I would have them do unto me?"

Several times in the "last year or so" I have been to Township meetings at which the problem of the so-called Haystack development has been discussed. Each of these meetings emotions rather than calm discussion of the facts have led to several hours of recriminations, distorted facts, disparagement of the character of Mr. Hayes, members of the Planning Board and the Township Board and others. Experts on water pollution, land use, laws and ordinances, etc. have been billeted, brushed aside in the stress of unbridled emotions and the result has been a problem has dragged on and on and is not settled yet.

I moved into the Township of 1957 and I have lived in eight acres of land bordering this Hayes project which is the subject of a controversy over Mr. Hayes' request to use sanitary fill from the City of Detroit in this extra acreage some day as it is of no use to me. When Mr. Hayes started on his development there were a number of us residing on it's border who saw a chance to sell the land we did not wish to keep.

I am sure most of us know what Mr. Hayes plans are for this rather large area of green hills, swamps and run down acreage so I will not bore you with repetition. For some months since Mr. Hayes started this development I have, with his very ready permission, visited it on an average of every two weeks. I have asked him any question I wished to ask and honestly feel that he gave me the best answer he could each time and the most honest answer. At the same time I have inquired at the Planning Board and the Township Board and others. Experts on water pollution, land use, laws and ordinances, etc. have been billeted, brushed aside in the stress of unbridled emotions and the result has been a problem has dragged on and on and is not settled yet.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

I'm writing this column on Monday, the day before the Northville township board is scheduled to make its final decision on the now-famous Hayes' landfill request.

It's almost a certainty that the permit will be granted; and if the odds were right, I'd bet the vote would be unanimous.

At any rate, this section of the paper will be printed before the Tuesday night action so any observations made here will have been of many weeks standing. A page one news story reveals the board's final decision.

Personally, I have mixed emotions about the whole affair. I'm sure others who have followed its progress feel the same.

At the outset we must accept the fact that the problem will not go away. It must be faced and solved, regardless of how unpleasant it may seem in the eyes of many.

Sheldon Hayes has attempted for many months — now running into years — to gain permission to deposit rubbish in the rock-marked area between Seven and Eight Mile roads where the Manning & Locklin gravel mining operation is conducted.

Initially, Hayes wanted to fill some of the pits. In the face of strong opposition he modified the plan to apply only to naturally swampy areas. His long-range plan is to convert the ugly acreage into an exclusive development of homesites around a series of six or seven lakes.

It is a tremendous undertaking and final realization would undoubtedly take more than a dozen years. Just how long remains unclear to me. Although Hayes owns the land, Manning & Locklin retains mining rights for 19 years. I've been told, however, the operation will peter-out long before this time.

So what do we have? Assuming Hayes is granted dumping permission, we must look to Hayes and the township board for our answers. First, Hayes must be sincere. He must fulfill his pledge to develop this land for the benefit of the community. If the proposed project is merely a disguise to make money dumping rubbish, then we have been duped.

If it is as represented, the community should be grateful that an eyesore will be converted into property that would become both a credit and a tax source.

Next, the responsibility for control of the landfill operation falls squarely upon the shoulders of township officials. If the privilege is abused or regulations ignored, the permit should be cancelled immediately and the evidence recorded for any ensuing legal action.

I sincerely believe that township officials have made every effort to provide for the protection of its citizens, while not infringing upon the rights of free enterprise.

The ordinance and regulations are most rigid; and rubbish fill of gravel pits is specifically prohibited — a constraint most important to me. As one member of the planning commission stated, the time for experimentation is here.

Now for the mixed emotions. While I am satisfied that the township has taken proper steps legally to cope with the landfill problem, there are many maneuvers surrounding the case of which I do not approve.

I resent the last-minute rush; the unannounced meetings; the obvious and admitted preference of discussing, and even acting upon, matters surrounding the request without a public audience. And official minutes published after-the-fact fails to justify the act.

When any elected official begins to prefer privacy because the ability of the public to comprehend or sympathize is doubted . . . when the public becomes a nuisance to the office-holder . . . then it's time for that official to re-examine the principles of democracy.

The lobbying that accompanied the entire affair became nauseous at times. Specifically, I refer to the appearance of an influential community leader before the planning commission on the evening of its recommendation.

In an obviously rehearsed statement, the praises of Hayes were twice requested giving the impression that perhaps this individual was speaking for the organization he represented.

It is my contention that none of the above was necessary. The public can comprehend and will accept conscientious action of its elected officials. But it is their democratic right to know what's going on and to disagree if they wish.

In short, I'm saying the township board has suffered from poor public relations' policy. But it's my belief that it has been a mistake in judgment, and nothing more.

In conclusion, I believe a solid opportunity now exists for the board to show good faith and win public support and assistance.

I refer to the proposal to purchase land for a new township hall. This is a big project. The land alone will apparently cost in excess of $13,000.

I believe that it is politically unwise for the board to merely toss this project on the agenda as a matter of fact. It's possible that there are taxpayers who believe construction of a township hall would be a waste of money. There may even be taxpayers who envision the day that the township will find it wise to become a part of the corporate limits of the city and a new township hall could become a white elephant. (I'm sure this thought makes the hard-core politicians shudder.)

Others may have different ideas on the proposed location. I believe this project offers the township an excellent opportunity to appoint a citizens' study committee to: (A) decide upon the desirability of constructing a new building; and (B) determine the best location.

Further, I'd be certain that the proportion of the committee accurately reflected the Republican-Democratic ratio as recorded in the last election in the township.

Let UN Run Whaling

Whales are killed and the female whales are allowed to reproduce. This would seem a legitimate work for the United Nations, and one which would bring the UN a definite income. I can imagine it making good contributions to world peace and general well-being.

When I was a boy, it seemed as if the ocean was full of whales. They apparently lived at the bottom of the sea where they would not be harassed by whalers going out from New Bedford, Mass., and other seaports which made a specialty of getting whales.

Gradually, the number of whales was depleted. Finally, an international agreement was arranged whereby the nations were given quotas; but these have never been honored.

Therefore, I have a definite proposal, namely, that whaling industry be taken over by the United Nations, which would take only the male whales and allow the females to reproduce.

Whales are mammals, and intelligent, but have gradually been driven away from civilization ports and killed, irrespective of whether they are male or female, and even when they are pregnant.

The whaling industry could be brought back and become almost as great as the cattle industry for the world which is being run by an organization like the United Nations.

Each of the students must earn money for the customary operating deposits on dorm and tuition fees and be willing to borrow and work to help himself through college.

University officials said the rapidly increasing problem of the students was aimed at insuring that the students who receive aid are sincerely interested in earning a degree.

The fund, started just two years ago, is continuing to build up as members of the MSU faculty and staff are invited to speak at public meetings, high school commencement, and other occasions.

The official state tree, the white pine, once covered much of Michigan. Historians note that this was before the coming of the white man.

Much of the forest stands were destroyed in the latter part of the last century and early this century.

The State Agriculture Department now notes that the state tree appears to be staging a comeback. A recent aerial survey showed stands of more than 12 million acres of white pine concentrated in Chippewa and Mackinac counties. Other stands are sparse throughout the state but total about a quarter million acres, department officials said.

Children and windows on "heavily automated" automobiles are being considered by State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis warns.

Several recent incidents, one of which resulted in a death, pointed up the danger in a child using an automobile for "plaything."

"Children should never be left alone in an automobile under any conditions," Heustis said. "A car with automatic windows is no exception."

An admirable effort to provide quality education to persons who most likely could not get it on their own is underway at Michigan State University.

With little fanfare, University officials found 23 young men this fall who had the scholarship ability but no monetary means to attend college.

All 23, from five Michigan high schools, are now studying and working at the East Lansing institution.

The rather unique program which got these 23 into MSU was known as "Operation Edible." University officials said this name was selected to denote "an educational additive."

Funds for the expenses incurred in attending college were derived because a number of MSU educators decided to contribute earnings from public speaking appearances to a special fund. These monies were earmarked for use by talented youngsters who don't have the money needed to attend college.

High school officials are called upon to find deserving students for whom college attendance is financially impossible.

Each of the students must earn money for the customary operating deposits on dorm and tuition fees and be willing to borrow and work to help himself through college.

University officials said the rapidly increasing problem of the students was aimed at insuring that the students who receive aid are sincerely interested in earning a degree.

The fund, started just two years ago, is continuing to build up as members of the MSU faculty and staff are invited to speak at public meetings, high school commencement, and other occasions.

The official state tree, the white pine, once covered much of Michigan. Historians note that this was before the coming of the white man.

Much of the forest stands were destroyed in the latter part of the last century and early this century.

The State Agriculture Department now notes that the state tree appears to be staging a comeback. A recent aerial survey showed stands of more than 12 million acres of white pine concentrated in Chippewa and Mackinac counties. Other stands are sparse throughout the state but total about a quarter million acres, department officials said.

Children and windows on "heavily automated" automobiles are being considered by State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis warns.

Several recent incidents, one of which resulted in a death, pointed up the danger in a child using an automobile for "plaything."

"Children should never be left alone in an automobile under any conditions," Heustis said. "A car with automatic windows is no exception."
