SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Just for a change of pace I thought it might be a good idea to start the New Year on the lighter side by writing a column that criticizes no one, makes absolutely no recommendations for improvement and leaves the reader wondering why he read as far as he did (which wouldn't be unique).

New Year's resolutions might be appropriate. But Jack Hoffman did that last week in "Top of the Deck". And besides, I've observed that his resolutions wear about as long as his hair.

I might have a few words to say about the rash of gridiron clashes on television during the holidays, but Ronnie Peterson's "Loose Leaf" column picked off that plum for its change of pace.

The new short skirts might also be a subject worth exploring, but I hesitate to pass judgment until there's been more time for observation.

And I've heard a lot of people complaining about the silly TV commercials, but I've got to admit that the gag line on the deodorant skit where the guy in the locker room asks "what would you have done if I had asked for money?" and then gets a towel in the face, leaves me laughing.

Another very important topic these days is the slump of the Red Wings. But that's a slippery subject, and could lead to this ice.

Then there's the trials of George Hamilton, what with the draft board and Lynda Bird both under a name like Mohammed Ali, for example? Think that that might do to the morale of our fighting men.

And all this talk about conducting the draft by lottery scares a fellow. What if they should pull out a name like Mohammed Ali, for example? Think that that might do to the morale of our fighting men.

It does seem that the government and the medical profession should adopt a new approach in its fight to reduce lung cancer. Statistics show that a record 542 billion cigarettes were consumed by American smokers in 1966. How about a campaign connecting cigarette smoking with motherhood, good books, exercise, peace and attending church?

Did you know that Hacke is another name for chipmunk? Or that an acre is 160 square rods in square measure?

Only 10 more days and we'll all know the answer to the question of which pro football league is superior, AFL or NFL? The big clash is being staged in Los Angeles. Bet on the team with side-line oxygen masks.

I read somewhere recently where a man under fire said that it wasn't the voices of his critics that bothered him, but the silence of his friends. You've got to say this for Jimmy Hoffa. His friends aren't silent.

As a closer, a resolution: never again to wait until Tuesday morning to write my column.

New Year Resolutions: curb crime, Peace, Freedom, Civil Rights, Housing Problems

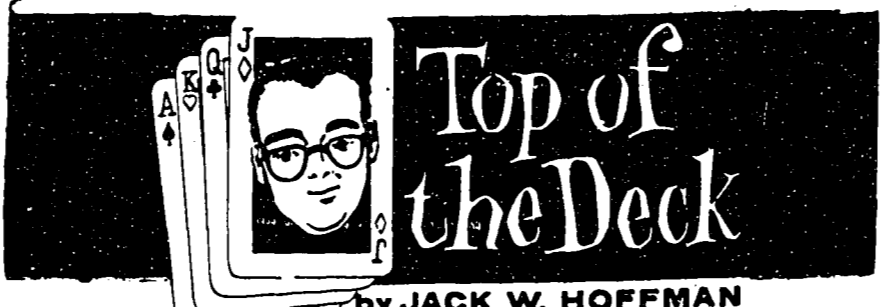

A LOOSE LEAF By ROLLY PETERSON

"After the Fox" is cinematic champagne - clear and effervescent. No more, no less. But it lacks the substance which makes it a delicate treat.

Playing now at area theatres, this spoof of movie-drama spunkies, to be sure. What else, with Peter Sellers, the original martini man in the lead as Valachi, super crook. He's as cool and dry as they come, squeezing every drop from every line and delivering them with the usual mug of mirth.

International police finger him as the man who will smuggle gold stolen from Cairo into the continent. They're right. Valachi is a master mind and escape artist, a camellion who assumes disguises at the twist of a lemon and escapes the obtuse police. As Valachi, Sellers upstages super sleuths 007 and even the latest addition to the ranks of the violence syndrom, Dean Martin.

That's the plot that doubles the swipe at double-fourteen flicks, but there are complications. Valachi is with family, a crook with a heart. He must save his 16-year-old sister, Gina, played by Britt Ekland, a lithe starlet who fits into the pussy cat role. She's a mini-gri, a swinger who idolizes stars and thirsts for stardom. Her brother feels she is falling prey to lascivious sound-records and comes to the rescue. It leads to a lot of slapstick and a barrel of slaps at convention, particularly, Hollywood and its synthetic promise of stardom. When Sellers assumes the role of Frederico Fabrizio,

Top of the Deck by JACK W. HOFFMAN

"The bridegroom was handsomely attired in a black Hildago tuxedo of Dacron Polyester/worsted, two-ply abrasion tested. It featured a satin framed shawl collar of molded construction, firm shoulders, lined sleeves and break-resistant buttons with locked in color. The coat was tastefully decorated with flap pockets double-piped with satin, and the vest complemented the collar. A silk cummerbund, a family heirloom given to him by his grandfather, was accented with lace and contrasting blue velvet ribbon. The all-wool, pleated trousers, which featured hidden seams and stripes to match the ensemble facings, fell to the heels of his black patent slippers, revealing as he knelt at the altar the jet black stockings held in place by matching garters. His silk, white on white shirt featured flounced cuffs, and he wore a silver-grey cravat to highlight the entire outfit."

That's just part of a story that someday I'd like to write, emphasizing the role of the male in the wedding ceremony.

It often has occurred to me that the male is relegated to a second-class role in the wedding ceremony. Where and why this gross injustice originated escapes me, but the male - whether out of ignorance or indifference - has accepted his miserly role without a whimper.

Show me a stout-hearted man who claims his rightful share of the ceremony and I'll show you 100 who think their "I do" is sufficient evidence of equality.

Yet, these same cowards will thereafter beat their chests as heads of the family, force their names upon the woman, brow-beat their wives, angrily protest woman's entrance into business, politics, space ships and poker parties, claim first right to the family bank, and begot children to carry on in the same ridiculous tradition.

Oh, the incongruity of it all! "But," argues the wife of the writer, "the bride's parents are the ones who pick up the tab. Besides, who wants to read about what the groom is wearing?"

NEWEST TITLE HOLDER - Michelle Lynne DuFort, here in the arms of her mother, is the 1967 First Baby winner, taking over the title held last year by Ronald James Hesse.

Meet First Baby

Like many people the Arnold DuForts of 344 Ely Drive North stayed awake New Year's Eve - but for a little different reason.

Instead of ushering in the New Year at a spirited party or in the quiet of their home, they did their celebrating in the confines of New Grace Hospital in Detroit.

And why shouldn't they? It was there they became the proud parents of a baby girl, their first, and the winner of this year's First Baby Contest.

The baby, named Michelle Lynne, was born at 3:29 a.m. January 1 - not the earliest time for a first baby in the 11-year history of the contest, but certainly one of the earliest. The attending physician was Dr. Philip Pevan, Michelle Lynne, who weighed 7 pounds and 2 ounces, returned home with Mrs. DuFort Friday afternoon.

Actually, there was a time when the DuForts thought their first child might be the last born in 1966. They left for the hospital from their Northville home about 9 p.m. Saturday, December 31, but the baby waited two "several" more hours.

Even so, Michelle Lynne now accepts the title from Ronald James Hesse, 1966 champ and earliest arrival ever. Ronald, now a 22-pound bundle of energy, was born at 12:50 a.m. January 1, 1966.

Mrs. DuFort, both graduates of the University of Michigan, Dearborn campus, moved to Northville in October "because we liked the community - a kind of happy medium between the small and large towns we grew up in."

The beaming father is a native of Fairgrove, a small community east of Bay City, and his wife hails from Redford township. They were married June 6, 1964 in Redford.

The DuForts met while attending the university, from which he was graduated in February, 1964, and she in June, 1965. Following graduation, Mrs. DuFort taught kindergarten for one year at Jackson elementary school in Livonia. He joined the Chevrolet Motor Division as a cooperative student in 1962 and now heads a financial department for Chevrolet in Ypsilanti.

With Mr. Stork's presentation this year, he put the girls in the lead in the annual contest - with five boys and 6 girls.

Because their daughter is the First Baby this year, the DuForts will receive the following gifts from sponsoring merchants:

Adopt Supporting Resolution Incorporation picked up old friend last week as the Novi Board of Commerce gave its support to the city of Novi movement.

A resolution endorsing city incorporation of the village and recommending a "yes" vote on April 4 was adopted unanimously by the dozen members attending the monthly dinner meeting at the Rosewood Restaurant.

Introduced by Board Member Philip Anderson, who also is president of the village, the resolution reads: "Whereas, we, the members of the Novi Board of Commerce, wish to see this community prosper and grow and become one of the leading communities in the metropolitan area, and "Whereas, we wish to assure all

Industrial Park Zoning Wins Village Approval

Three strikes doesn't always mean you're out. That became apparent Monday night as the village planners and councilmen approved a manufacturing classification for some 60 acres of property on the west side of Novi road, adjacent to the railroad tracks and Novi Heights subdivision.

Three previous attempts by the owners, B. J. Pollard and Paul Boscoe, to gain a heavier manufacturing classification for 46 acres in the area had been defeated.

At this point, the planners upon their own initiative, recommended that they considered was a more desirable manufacturing classification for a still larger area.

Originally, Pollard and Boscoe requested M-1 (light manufacturing) and an M-3 (heavy manufacturing) classifications for their property. Because officials believed the M-3 classification was too permissive, they suggested M-1 and M-2 (restricted manufacturing).

Although this revised classification proposal drew approval of all planners and councilmen present at Monday's joint meeting, it met stiff opposition from Mrs. Ann Nichols, who previously had voiced opposition to the requests of Pollard and Boscoe. She attempted, without success, to delay a decision pending a meeting of representatives of the Novi Heights association and planners.

Explaining that she had been asked by the association president, William Lovett, to request a delay until after association officials had an opportunity to negotiate a mutually satisfactory zoning solution, Mrs. Nichols fired a barrage of protests against the zoning change. Her main arguments were that the manufacturing zoning would be detrimental to the adjacent residential area, that vacant manufacturing properties already exist in Novi, and that the zoning will "ruin" the central part of Novi.

William Skeltis questioned the village's capability of regulating industrial wastes, taking the position that the municipality should adopt regulating laws before providing for additional industrial development.

In answer to Skeltis, officials noted that the village already has regulations governing industrial wastes. And concerning the charges of Mrs. Nichols, Planning Chairman Raymond Evans noted that the village had not been officially notified by the association concerning either its objections or its desire to meet with planners. "If I thought the whole subdivision opposite it," he said, "it might be a different matter."

The planners subsequently recommended the zoning change by a 7-0 vote, and the council then adopted the rezoning by a 4-0 vote.

Originally, the position of the planners in recommending the change was in part due to its desire to protect adjacent property owners. However, by substituting a more restrictive manufacturing classification, they picked up complaints of the original manufacturing petitioners.

A spokesman for Pollard and Boscoe told The News later that "we're not entirely satisfied with this thing, it's manufacturing, alright, but not the kind we wanted."

Planners and councilmen also approved rezoning of some 20 acres of property on the west side of Novi road at the southern boundary, thus paving the way for a residential home development expected to get underway next spring.

The zoning change request was made by Marc Allen and William Roskelly. While the preliminary plat for the subdivision has not yet been formally introduced to the planning commission, the development is expected to include some 40 homes.

A petition of George Schreiber to rezone the southwest corner of Ten Mile and Meadowbrook road from C-1 (local business district) to C-2 (general commercial) was resolved without actually making a zoning change.

Upon hearing that the present C-1 classification covers his entire parcel and that this classification would be adequate for a possible supermarket development, Schreiber withdrew his request.

With that withdrawal, the planners also withdrew their own proposal to change the zoning for the existing gasoline station property at the corner of 28th Street and Novi. Presently, the station is a legal non-conforming use in a C-1 district.

Township Fights Incorporation

Expected opposition to the latest bid for city incorporation became a reality Monday night as the Novi township board authorized court action to contest the election slated for April 4.

Attorney Emery Jacques was directed to seek an injunction in Oakland county circuit court on grounds that Novi cannot legally incorporate because it does not meet state laws on population.

Supervisor Hadley Bachert said Jacques will make his appeal because a reality Monday night as the Novi township board authorized court action to contest the election slated for April 4.

Subsequent to legal proceedings before Judge Moore, new petitions were introduced and Circuit Court Judge Charles Thoburn ruled that it was not mandatory for Novi to meet the statutory population requirement.

For Wixom Sewers Groundbreaking Slated Monday

Ground breaking ceremonies signaling the beginning of construction of the Wixom sewerage disposal system will be held at 11 a.m. Monday, Mayor Wesley McAtee reported at Tuesday's meeting of the Wixom city council.

Ceremonies will take place in front of the Holloway Construction company, 28250 Wixom road. Holloway has been awarded the contract for installing sewers.

About 70 persons, including city officials from Wixom, Walked Lake, Novi and Wolverine Lake and officials from Oakland county, Villacast-Leman Associates and Hubbel, Roth and Clarke, Inc., are expected to attend. The public is also invited, Mayor McAtee announced.

A luncheon will be held for special guests at the Camelot Inn in Walked Lake, following the ground breaking.

Although a public hearing on the remainder of the Docksey property was to be held Tuesday, it was postponed until the next meeting of the council. Ralph Docksey had requested that the remainder of about 33 acres be rezoned from residential to multiple.

The postponement was recommended by the mayor who advised that action could be more appropriately taken during a public hearing at the next council meeting on January 24. At that time, the council was to act on amendment to the zoning ordinance pertaining to multiple dwellings.

Two other matters were scheduled to be aired at a public hearing set for February 14.

The first is consideration of a petition asking that property owned by the Detroit Finnish Cooperative Association be rezoned from RA2 to RA3 for a proposed summer camp.

The second matter to be aired is the expansion of the board of appeals from five to seven members.

Plan Meeting For Goodfellows A reorganizational meeting of the Novi Goodfellows will be held Saturday at the Rosewood Restaurant, 46077 Grand River. Letters to key organizations have gone out inviting representation at the meeting. In addition, all former members of the organization and any Novi citizens interested in reactivating the Goodfellows are invited to attend.

Exemptions

Novi residents were reminded this week that they can fill out their senior citizens and veterans tax exemption forms at the village hall and at the 40250 Grand River office of Township Supervisor Hadley Bachert.

Businessmen Back Cityhood

Now, therefore, be it resolved, "That we, here assembled, do endorse city incorporation for Novi and recommend a "yes" vote on April 4, 1967."

Interestingly, it was this same Board of Commerce that sparked village incorporation when Wixom became a city and grabbed the tax plum - the Wixom Ford plant. Until then a large part of Wixom, including the Ford property, was part of Novi township.

In other action Thursday night, President Russell Taylor named Philip Anderson chairman of the Industrial Development committee, which is being reorganized. Hadley Bachert, as a representative of the township board, and Harold Ackley, as a representative of the village, are each to appoint two members to serve on Anderson's committee, which has been charged with the responsibility of encouraging new industry and business to establish in Novi.

Taylor also appointed Kenneth Bas-

Novi, Wixom Dimes Drive Needs Help

A meeting of volunteer leaders is scheduled to take place this morning (Thursday) to map plans for the upcoming Mothers' March later this month.

The meeting will be held at the home of the Novi Mothers' March chairman, Mrs. James Wilenius of 28386 Clark Street.

Meanwhile, Mrs. R. W. King of Walked Lake, chairman of the Wixom campaign, issued a "call for help" for assistants in conducting the Mothers' March in Wixom. "So far I haven't been very successful in recruiting help," she said, "so if anyone is willing to lend a hand it certainly would be appreciated."

Interested persons are urged to call her at 824-3022.

According to Mrs. Wilenius, who also can use help, a related program on the March of Dimes campaign, which is being conducted throughout the month of January, will be held next Monday night, beginning at 6 p.m., at the Novi community building.

Sponsored by the Novi Mothers Club, the March of Dimes program will include a film and a talk. Novi mothers are encouraged to attend.

Planning Chairman Raymond Evans noted that the village had not been officially notified by the association concerning either its objections or its desire to meet with planners.

The planners subsequently recommended the zoning change by a 7-0 vote, and the council then adopted the rezoning by a 4-0 vote.

Harrowood Recovering

Novi councilman and businessman, Leo Harrowood, was reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday in Botsford General Hospital, Farmington.

"He's up and walking around," a hospital source said.

What was originally thought to be a heart attack was later determined to be a blood clot, it was reported. While in the hospital, Harrowood reportedly suffered strokes resulting from blood clots and was then said to be in critical condition.

Planners also were discussed for the board's annual Ladies Night program, which has been scheduled for Saturday, February 4 in the community building.

The program is to include a dinner, to begin at 7, entertainment and probably square dancing.

Authorization was given for repair of two public address systems owned by the board, and Presnell reported that the signs have arrived that will be posted at the major entrances to Novi, welcoming visitors to the community.

Charged with holding up the Northville Camera shop, three youths were bound over to Wayne county circuit court for trial during their examination Tuesday in Northville Municipal court.

Bond on brothers Melvin and Marvin Morrow, both 20 and Jimmy Frame, 19, was continued at $15,000 by Judge Charles McDonald. The suspects are officially charged with robbery armed.

Chief examination witness was Robert Weber, proprietor of the camera shop, which was robbed of $1,000 in merchandise and cash on the night of December 20. Robbers wore masks and used a shotgun to hold Weber, who was alone, at bay, it was reported.

Historians to Meet Tuesday

A talk on early Michigan surveying techniques together with related stories on the subject will highlight a meeting of the Northville Historical Society Tuesday night.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the home of Miss Linda Edgerton, 571 Randolph. Place of the meeting was switched from the basement of the old library building for convenience of members and guests.

Wynn Wakenhut, who has a surveying office at 124 North Center street and who lives in Conemaugh subdivision at 22351 Conemaugh drive, will be the guest speaker. He is president of the professional chapter of surveyors in Southeastern Michigan—largest in the state.

In his talk, Wakenhut will describe how early surveyors "chained" Michigan in laying out townships in the "virgin wilderness. He will show that Northville and Novi are significantly located on one of the first lines run through Michigan by these early surveyors.

Of special interest will be his explanation for the various instruments used by surveyors in laying out the townships. Among these are the Gunter chain and magnetic compass. The chain of standard length was used by these

The auditorium was one of eight noteworthy projects displayed at the Theater Architecture Exhibition in Chicago.

Selection of the top designed buildings was made by the American Institute of Architects and the American Education Theater association.

Attendance Up At Kensington

Kensington Metropolitan Park had all four parks in the Huron-Clio Metropolitan Authority in attendance during 1966, Kenneth L. Ballenbeck, director of the authority, announced this week.

Kensington Park, a 4,300 acre site off I-94 near New Hudson, had more than 2,100,000 visitors in 1966 to top the previous high of 2,140,000 set the previous year.

The park was opened in 1948 and quickly became one of Michigan's most popular parks.

Metropolitan Beach, a 550-acre tract along Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens, had 1,585,600 visitors in 1966 to also set a new attendance record there.

Court Ruling May Spark New Jury Setup

LANSING—NEAR REVOLUTION in Michigan's most commonly used court level may be taking place these days as the result of a higher court decision regarding jury selection.

In November, the State Court of Appeals handed down an opinion in St. Clair County Circuit Court case stating that the base for selecting a panel in jury trials should be as broad as possible.

Since that decision, several counties have been challenged on jury selection lists and were found falling short of the desired balance.

IN INGHAM COUNTY, for example, an attorney was successful in getting a criminal trial delayed pending new selection of a jury panel. He contended the panel originally presented did not contain a good cross section of the county population.

The Appeals Court ruling said that the jury need not contain representatives of all the economic, social, religious, racial, political and geographical groups of the community, but that there should be no intentional or systematic exclusion of any of these groups.

In other words, a jury list should not contain only retired citizens and housewives. Neither should it include only factory workers, or Negroes, or any other single classifiable group.

In other words, a jury list should not contain only retired citizens and housewives. Neither should it include only factory workers, or Negroes, or any other single classifiable group.

To comply jury panels from one or two groups based on age, employment or other factors does violence to the basic idea that juries represent a cross section, the Court said.

STATE LAW requires that a jury be selected at random from persons listed on tax assessment rolls or voter registration lists. The law specifies that individuals may not ask to be placed on jury panels.

"Jury service is a duty as well as a privilege of citizenship, and this a blanket exclusion of wage earners, either young or old, however justified by prior actions of trial judges, must be counted among those tendencies which undermine and weaken our respected institution of jury trial," the Court said.

PUBLIC REACTION to proposals to tear down Michigan's 90-year-old State Capitol building has been most surprising to all concerned.

This is primarily so because officials fully expected a real furor to arise in all corners of the state when various alternatives were first announced for improving and adding government office space.

Instead there was an almost deafening silence.

Indeed, even after a second round of publicity was given to the possibility that it might be wise to raise the figurative center of state government there was still a surprising lack of concern expressed.

A few citizens did take the time to write their opposing views, and one even sent the Governor a "stop" sign to express his discontent with the idea.

Teachers attending the annual "Y"

Youth Legislature wrote their sentiments on the matter.

CONSIDERABLE TIME and newspaper space have now been devoted to the various proposals.

Many state officials feel the short supply of public sentiment on the matter indicates they can now rule out one proposal: that of spending the money required to restore and renovate the present structure and then move from there to provide space for the government which is so much larger than it was 90 years ago.

One of the forthcoming legislative proposals worth watching in Michigan was submitted twice before by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley.

Kelley has gathered considerable support during the last two years from legislators for providing some method to help persons who are the victims of violent crimes.

One idea would provide financial help to crime victims who need it and would require convicted criminals to contribute to a fund for this purpose.

Nation's Growth Poses Fiscal Problems

BABSON PARK, Mass.,—The tremendous growth our nation has enjoyed since the end of World War II poses new fiscal and other challenges for the states. On the one hand, their role has been diminishing steadily as the federal government has gathered into itself more power. On the other hand, the prestige of many states has been deteriorating steadily as their largest metropolitan areas have expanded to great size and complexity.

The decline of our states and of their effectiveness in government has been a long time coming. It is traceable to pre-World War II years when the federal income tax law was first enacted. But it was not until the great depression of the 1930's that the ball really got rolling. With the coming of the federal social security system and other broad social welfare programs — enacted by Congress, administered by the President, and financed by taxes collected by Washington — the shadow cast over the states by Uncle Sam grew longer.

Then came World War II, a protracted and costly conflict from which America emerged as banker and creditor to both victors and vanquished. The rebuilding of shattered European nations and their economies, of a badly beaten Japan, and the servicing of our own deferred needs — together with the financing of a long and very expensive "cold war" — put new pressures on our fiscal and natural resources. Federal government costs soared.

During these two decades that have followed World War II, we were to discover the high price that must be paid for defense, for the type of social progress which the majority of our people had chosen, and for the leadership of the Free World to which we had fallen heir. We were to discover also that the federal government had grown so much and so fast — and was taking in so large a percentage of the country's total tax dollars — that the states were hard put to carry on their own functions with what was left.

Pushed by rising costs of administration, labor, and materials, and by the expanding need for services triggered by the postwar population explosion, the states — which had hitherto relied mostly on fairly nominal personal and corporate income levies — greatly increased these taxes on income; in addition, they turned more and more to sales taxes as revenue sources. And the end is not in sight.

OUR PROSPERITY of the past twenty years has compounded the problems of the states. There is too much reliance on federal grants and too great a disposition to let an eager federal government monopolize planning and control the administration of social welfare programs, of highway development, and of the expansion of some types of educational facilities.

Also, by and large, the states have not faced up to the fiscal problems of their cities. Often state legislatures have imposed intolerable fiscal burdens by making the cities assume responsibility for the cost of programs they had no part in enacting. This has forced many cities — some of which are as large as or larger in population than certain states — to seek more and more direct federal aid. Thus far, our birthright of home rule and local government being whittled away.

TAX FOUNDATION, INC. — a leading compiler of data in its field and noted for its careful evaluation of such data — reports that the fiscal future of state and local government is "much better than generally realized." Tax Foundation believes the states can finance their expanding programs during the next decade without extensive tax increases. However, we are not so sure. For the next year or two at least, you would be wise to expect — and prepare for — mounting state taxes, spending, and debt. And you would be smart to take more interest in your state government and arouse public opinion to demand that your state officials grapple squarely and persistently with these fiscal problems.

Consumers Power Reports to Your Community...

The many hats of... Consumers Power Company

CP-Careful Planning
Count all the uses of natural gas in your home - cooking, drying, cooling and heating - and you'll realize that you do enjoy life more because of it. Fact is, the average Consumers Power customer is paying only slightly more per unit today for his gas service than he did way back in 1947. Any way you look at it, this half of value from Consumers Power is one of the biggest gains in your family budget.

CP-Customer-minded Personnel
New tools and techniques constantly are being employed to improve customer service and safety. Flexible plastic-coated gas pipes now can be inserted into the ground without messy trenching. Electronic computers are being used to speed customer inquiries and requests for service. Other computer developments will enable us to monitor our entire statewide natural gas transmission system every two minutes, to avoid service interruptions or irregularities. For at Consumers Power, our first concern is always what we can do for you.

CP-Community Participation
Taxes payable... however you figure it... Consumers Power expansion means more money in circulation... more natural gas for a growing Michigan. Our 1965 state and local tax bill of more than $22 million helped support the activities of schools, hospitals, and other public services. And $80 million in payroll dollars went for houses, food, clothing, charities, etc. Consumers Power, through extensive area development, conservation and other programs, also continually seeks needed improvements for a better economic, social, and cultural life for all.

CP-Continuing Progress
It means a lot to know that natural gas is on top wherever it's required. It takes the combined skills and efforts of some 3,970 Consumers Power employees to provide that dependability. And to insure sufficient gas to meet all future requirements, the total volume of gas being purchased by Consumers Power is being increased 50% in the next five years. This long range planning and day-to-day efficient operation is your guarantee of the best possible gas service at the lowest possible cost.

See The Lively Ones... Your Ford Dealers

When Kathy prays

When Kathy prays I can almost hear angels wings flutter. Her simple conversations with God are so full of trust and confidence, I feel as though I am standing at the doorstep of heaven.

After prayers, I tuck her into bed, turn out the light and go downstairs. And I find myself continuing the conversation she has started. My prayer is always the same... that as she grows, and her needs and wishes change, my little girl will continue to develop her understanding and love of God.

How grateful I am for my church. It has been a constant source of inspiration for my own religious growth. I know it will be ready to help me answer Kathy's questions. It is wonderful to know that I do not have to tackle the religious education of my daughter alone.

Attend your church. Let it help you as you guide your child's religious thinking.

Wrestlers Drop Squeaker, 21-22 To End Streak

Ring out the new and bring back the old.

That could easily be Coach Jack Townsley's cry after his wrestlers greeted the 1967 portion of the wrestling season on a losing note and fell before North Farmington last Thursday, 22-21.

Yep, 1966 was much kinder to the Mustangs. They had won five matches in a row - the best record in Northville's history - and there was every indication that Northville was gaining momentum while gaining experience. But then, along came 1967 and Northville's first loss.

Chuck Shonta Named to AFL All-Star Squad

Chuck Shonta, former Northville teacher and coach, has been named to the American Football League's Eastern Division all-star squad for the January 21 game at Oakland.

One of the few remaining original members of the Patriots, Shonta will be making his first All-Star Game appearance. He is a former Eastern Michigan player. He joined the Patriots in 1960 while teaching social studies and coaching wrestling here.

A graduate of Detroit Pershing High school where he was an all-city football and baseball player, he played four years of football at Eastern, Captain of Eastern's squad in his senior year, and he was named an all-conference end in 1958.

Undeclared Marty Richardson, a 127 pounder, posted another decisive victory, 5-0, although he was wrestling out of his weight class.

Curt Olewick preserved his unbeaten streak, but he was held to a 1-1 draw. Lance Oak, North Farmington's "best boy" registered a 4-0 decision over Don Sasse in the 138-pound class. Sasse was wrestling out of his weight class.

The lead hung precariously in the balance as Dale Ashby, at 145 pounds, posted a 4-0 decision, and Rick Suckey, at 154, lost 7-1 in the "widest match" of the evening, Bob Beason won his fourth match in six outings this year with a "11-2" decision in the 154 pound class.

That set the stage for Conklin, who went after his man, posted an 8-0 decision, but fell short of a pin. Victory had eluded Northville's grasp.

THE FINE ART OF SALESMANSHIP

Anyone who has ever been confused by a complicated new car purchase will know what I mean when I say that appearances can be deceiving.

Occasionally new car shoppers, for instance, may see a number of sales clerks, in the sales lot to Northville until they get the best offer (by about $50.00). Then and up buying a different model or a much higher price.

How does it happen? They simply get talked into it by the salesman. The $50.00 they are "saving" just got lost in the shuffle of different model prices, optional equipment, accessories and finance terms. The trade along for this type of high powered selling call it "egotism" the program.

Out of the confusion of the final deal, the buyer clings to the thought that dominated his mind during the whole transaction. That he was "saving $50.00" in case he is ready to scold, let me add I've seen many educated and intelligent people fall into this trap! It's not so surprising though when you realize most folks aren't even aware of the exact rate or amount of finance they are paying.

An ethical and reliable dealer will plainly state all the facts of the sale. Be sure you check them. Check the EXACT model and optional equipment if you are comparing price quotations. And buy where you can count on honesty in guarantees and warranties.

First in Four Years Mustangs Speed Past Barons

The Rabbits beat the giraffes Friday night.

That may sound like something out of the wilderness passages of Jack London or the fairy tale books of Dr. Seuss, but it isn't. It took place on the basketball court here in Northville.

The giraffes were from Bloomfield Hills, a team that towered over the smaller but quick rabbits from Northville. Northville ran and scrambled on the boards to scratch out a 60-54 victory, Northville's first over Bloomfield in the past four years.

And it took some doing. Coach Dave Longridge's cagers blew a 14-point first half lead and had to come up with a frantic last quarter spurt to salt this one away.

The two Jims, Peterson and Zayti, provided the sorely needed punch in the dying moments. Peterson flipped in a layup dangerously close to the whistle and converted a subsequent free throw in the game at 51 seconds. Then Peterson came back with a jump shot and two free throws and Zayti cashed in on a rough go this season, they could spend the Mustangs from Northville.

It all depends. West Bloomfield's top player, Tim Molner, has not played this year because of injury. Should the jumping jack return, Northville will have its hands full of Lakers raring to get back on the winning path.

Backboards, again, might tell the story as it did against Bloomfield Hills. "I was surprised we rebounded as well as we did," Longridge said after his team's victory. "Peterson did the job and he got help from the rest of the team."

Just 6'11", Peterson is hardly a big man, not even on a high school court. Bloomfield Hills had all the giraffes, including Bruce Hall, a 6'9" veteran center, who has scored as high as 39 points in one ball game this year, and Bob Calhoun, the 6'2" quarterback, a burly boy at around 200 pounds.

"We kept the ball away from Hall," Longridge said. "He was forced to shoot over our outstretched hands and he didn't have too much success." Calhoun had one of his best nights, hitting 12 points.

The Barons looked sluggish after the Christmas lay-off, trailing by a wide margin through the second quarter. But then the Barons tried what has worked so successfully against Northville in previous years, the all-court press. It worked as Bloomfield eventually forged ahead in the third quarter.

Hurling Northville's backcourt play was the absence of Joe Andrews, the youth whose dribbling ability usually discourages opponents from pressing. Andrews was benched for the game, but will be ready for action against West Bloomfield.

FREE BALL-Three Bloomfield Hills cagers close in on the ball that was butted away by Jim Zayti (24), Northville forward. Zayti led all scorers with 27 points. Behind him (34) is Jim Peterson who was runner up with 15 points.

Cold Colts Edged, 57-55

The Colts were unable to overcome a "lousey first half" Friday night and went down to defeat at the hands of Bloomfield Hills, 57-55.

With 30 seconds left in the game, Northville took time out to map out strategy that would gain them the tying bucket. But a shot in the final seconds fell short, bounced out of bounds and Bloomfield stalled away the remaining few seconds.

The loss gives the jayvees a 5-4 overall record and a 3-2 mark in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

Forward Jeff Taylor led the local scorers with 22 points.

"We shot only 35 percent for the game," Coach Bob Kucher pointed out, and it was the second-half spurge that hiked the field goal mark that high. Northville trailed at halftime, 39-26, primarily because Bloomfield, with its

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The wave of protests recorded last week at the Northville planning commission's public hearing on proposed CBD and CBP zoning of the business district might be assessed as a setback in some quarters.

In reality the response was the biggest boost planners have received since they started working on a plan for revitalization of the local business area some four years ago.

Granted, weak spots were pointed out; but the idea of a plan was accepted. And for the patient planners, that's progress.

Further, and more encouraging, the town is talking about "its plan" and key people throughout the community are beginning to point out refinements that could be made, methods of implementing the plan and what areas should be undertaken first.

They're being caught up in the excitement of a plan that has long excited the planning commission. And they are beginning to accept the fact that something must be done and that we already have the makings of a good plan that can become a reality.

Until now there has been little more than recognition from the public that a plan was being developed. They had heard that the planners were working on something that included a mall, a circular drive and a plot to tear down a lot of buildings. To many the plan was a dreamer's creation.

At last week's hearing the master plan for the city's business district didn't sound like a dream. Parts of it were very practical, as a matter of fact. Other parts were either premature or in need of revision.

The CBP (central business parking) zoning brought the strongest protest. Why couldn't such zoning be postponed until each site is specifically needed? Why couldn't the entire proposed 20-acre central business district be zoned CBD, and CBP zoning eliminated entirely?

The planners listened and took notes. Undoubtedly, they had wrestled with many of the same questions in their own examinations of the plan. But they would re-examine and re-open the hearing before making any recommendations to the city council.

Without doubt the conduct of the planning commission's hearing before many concerned, and some irate, citizens brought new stature to the body.

They convinced a majority that they were motivated solely by a desire to first save, then improve an important service and tax-producing "industry" in our community -- the central business district.

Appraisal of the public hearing would indicate that planners do have serious questions to consider. One cannot be unsympathetic to property owners who sincerely believe that a parking zone classification will depress the value of their property.

Still another important question would be the matter of holding to a minimum the number of existing buildings earmarked for parking sites.

As planners explained, the initial step in the total plan is zoning. This gives authority to preserve an area so that development detrimental to the plan cannot take place. The application of the zoning gives recognition to a plan for the future. It does not say that it will include a mall, or that the circular drive will be located exactly as drawn.

It does, however, designate exactly where planners believe buildings and parking should be ideally located. How much flexibility can be introduced into this portion of the plan remains for the planners, and eventually the city council, to decide.

It is an important step because for the first time it gives the community something to sell -- a plan for development that can be used to attract new business and encourage existing businesses by serving notice that the future holds promise.

The hum of activity that has accompanied the introduction of the CBD zoning is one of the most encouraging demonstrations of cooperative effort in my decade in Northville.

A citizens' committee has an idea for a north-south route that relates to the CBD plan the Chamber of Commerce has decided to make a closer study of the proposed CBD plan and make a few recommendations of its own; numerous property owners and merchants within the business district are taking a second, more objective look at what planners propose.

We have now come to realize what planners have felt for years: a plan for Northville can succeed, in fact, it must.

Let's Stay Quaint

To the Editor:

The recent proposal presented by the Planning Committee has me completely baffled. All we are hearing about is parking lots. The city will soon be an asphalt jungle. It seems to me that being concerned about parking lots as far away as Mollema's and Folto's property is providing free parking for the Race Track and nothing more. Unless by some miracle they suppose business is going to boom in Northville and people would be willing to walk from Wing and Cady to Main and Center to make a few purchases which they would be paying about 20% more for, somehow doesn't make sense. In this day of automobiles a shopping center 15 miles away isn't far.

The newcomers to this area are for the most part accustomed to shopping in our community -- the central business district.

Don't Blame Gilmer

To the Editor:

It is unfair for Mr. Gilmer to take such savage criticism for this failure. The Lions are professionals; they are paid to play and it is their job to win. Blaming a coach is the excuse of a "fair weather fan" or a poor loser's way of staying a hero.

A change might be the answer to the morale problem the Lions are suffering, but it is certainly not fair to place the entire blame on the man who is head coach.

The publicity has been cutting and cruel. Of course, this is one of the pitfalls of professional life. It is also very sad.

I feel that Mr. Gilmer and his family would like to know that not everyone feels that the Lions' slump is his personal deed. Perhaps, a cheer for him and his family would be of some help. Our best wishes and regards.

Fund Reminder

To the Editor:

I refer you to the story which appeared in your paper Thursday, December 1, 1966, following the death of Harold S. Hartley.

As mentioned in this story, a memorial fund has been set up for the purpose of publishing some of Mr. Hartley's poems. The Writers' Group believes there may be a number of people reached by your paper who would like to contribute to this memorial. If you could find space for a brief article advising them of the opportunity, checks may be written to the Harold Hartley Memorial Fund, and mailed to Mrs. Roland Boswell, 639 Hartough street, Plymouth, Michigan, 48170. Thank you.

Sincerely, Dorothy A. Jewell (Mrs. Donald R. Jewell)

It seems like a long time ago when winter and I began to part company -- about the same time a piece of my tongue, glued to the cold steel of a sled, went sailing down the hillside without me.

Since then there have been many unhappy experiences with this season, all of which have convinced me to join the ranks of those who get their kicks out of the warmth of a fireplace. I think it was a frozen pipe that finally severed my relationship with winter.

And I'll wager that few who have ever tried to coax fuel oil through an ice-clogged pipe could speak kindly of winter. It's enough to crush the spirit of a ski lodge operator after a foot of snowfall.

I recall, and many of the college students in our trailer park were having difficulty. But for one reason or another the icy problems seemed to hug me tighter than they did our neighbors. The copper tube from the fuel tank out back to the stove inside continued to freeze, cutting down the heat to our little home.

I tried everything -- accused the dealer of spiking the fuel with water, banged the pipe with a hammer, wrapped it in rags, attacked it with a blowtorch, slept with two or three extra blankets, and got mad.

Someone suggested that I wrap the pipe with an electrical heating tape. Besides not working, it nearly electrocuted me. In desperation, I removed a 12-foot section of the pipe and took it indoors and kept it there until it thawed out. It worked but it was a little messy.

Finally, I was told that because water settles to the bottom of the fuel tank I should have a filter installed at the tank connection. Too stubborn to ask one of my mechanically inclined friends to assist me, I undertook the task myself, enlisting the aid of my reluctant wife. The tank was nearly full.

"Don't grumble," I told her, "it's a simple job. All I have to do is screw out the plug here and then screw in the filter. Your job is simple. When I get the plug out, you clamp your hand over the hole until I'm ready with the filter."

"Will I be able to hold it?" "Certainly. Look, it's only a small hole. Nothing to it." So when the plug came out, she clamped her hand over the hole. It was like stopping Old Faithful with a shovel.

"Hold it," I screamed as the oil gushed out over her, washing my glasses. "I can't," she cried. "My hand's frozen." And then she fled inside, muttering something about an imbecile while I bathed.

All of which is why I was cheered just a little this week upon receiving a release from my alma mater. It hinted of better things to come: "As the month progresses... there will be a slight increase in the length of the day. By the end of January we will have nearly an hour more of daylight."

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

"The Caucasian Chalk Circle," which will play through January 23, is the first of the John Fernald company's six plays to be presented during its premiere season at the new Meadow Brook theatre on the Oakland University campus. Michigan's first repertory theatre group, the company will also present "Love's Labour's Lost" (February 1-28), "You Never Can Tell" (March 1-26), "The Imperial Nightingale" (March 28-April 1), "The Waltz of the Toreadors" (April 5-30) and "The Three Sisters" (May 3-28).

He's capable of the most heinous acts and the most stirring deeds of gallantry. One moment he's a king, the next, a pariah stoned by all men. That's the man and the way he appeared last week at the new Meadow Brook theatre on the Oakland University campus. Clearly, the focus was on man.

Front and center moved a host of actors, members of the newly formed John Fernald repertory company, for their scintillating performance of Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle." It's largely through their talents that we who did our neighbors.

For bringing these professionals together on the stage, the credit lies with another man, one of unquestionable talent both as teacher and director, John Fernald. To say he is the Johnny Appleseed of the theatre is no hyperbole. As principal and moving force of London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, he has fashioned a who's who of acting, theatre for a new challenge brought John Fernald to Michigan to establish the Meadow Brook theatre.

The occasion demanded a play that would test the virtuosity of the actors, a play that would titillate the audience and a play that would stamp Michigan's first repertory company as first rate. Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle," a three-hour magnum opus, fits the bill. It was all of these things, and more.

Brecht, the man, is a challenge himself. The German playwright does not mince words or ideas, for he believed the theatre was a vehicle for conveying messages. In short, the theatre had a didactic, as well as dramatic purpose. This concept led Brecht to the development of what is called "epic theatre."

To jolt the audience out of its fanciful lethargy, he framed his plays in the fabric of a narrative. Action is interrupted and the audience snapped back to reality by a narrator who comments directly on and interprets the action.

As a result, "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" is an explicit, scathing commentary on our times, even though it is set in the 17th century. The written text, with its strongly pro-communist slant, is political. But Fernald chose to delete the prologue and to focus on the human, or man as he essentially is today. A human first, Brecht would not have demurred.

This is, indeed, a study of man. The common man, the men of Grusnia in Maybe our '67 Pontiac is breaking sales records because people don't want to wait until '68 for a copy.

Our engineers have become used to seeing their ideas show up on other cars. Two years later. And apparently so have a lot of car buyers. Because 1967 Pontiacs are selling faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And '66 was a record year. When you think about it, why should you wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers? Or for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach? Especially when you consider that our engineers wouldn't turn a Pontiac loose with anything less than a standard 400 cubic inch V-8. Or a Tempest with anything less than our revolutionary Overhead Cam Six. (Not to mention all those new safety features like GM's energy absorbing steering column and a dual master cylinder brake system with warning lamp.) In short, our engineers seem to have done it again. They may even start asking for royalties on the copies.

Court Stops Township From Blocking Election

For New Subdivision Council Approves Slatkin Unit Plan

Novi township's court attempt to block the April incorporation election here ground to a halt Friday as officials were slapped with a temporary restraining order.

Circuit Court Judge Farrell E. Roberts issued the restraining order against all township officials and their agents Friday, pending a hearing on whether or not a preliminary injunction should be issued preventing them from interfering with the election slated for April 4.

The surprising turn of events quickly followed a decision by township officials last week Monday to block the election in court on grounds that the election is illegal. Their intention of gaining an injunction had not yet been realized when they themselves faced the possibility of an injunction.

Quick counter action to block the township was taken by Charles A. Smith, chairman of the citizens incorporation committee.

Acting upon Smith's petition, Judge Roberts ordered Supervisor Hadley Bachert and other township officials to appear in court January 30 to "show cause why a preliminary order of injunction should not be issued" as requested by Smith.

In handing down the order, Judge Roberts instructed township officials—and "their agents and employees"—to refrain from interfering with the election pending the January 30 hearing.

Explaining his action, Smith said he was convinced that township officials are trying to prevent Novi residents from voting on the city incorporation question.

"It is my desire and intention," he said, "to give Novi residents an opportunity to decide themselves the form of government they desire. To deny this opportunity to the residents of any community is not a democratic method, and resolution outlining its position on cityhood for Novi was adopted by the incorporation committee Saturday afternoon in a meeting at the Rosewood Restaurant.

Introduced by David Harrison, supported by Mrs. Florence Harris and subsequently adopted unanimously, the resolution reads in part:

"Be it resolved that this committee wishes it to be known that we feel it is time the citizens of Novi realize that the matter of cityhood should be considered in the light of the public good, and further that most of the principal opponents to cityhood are acting in their own private interests and ignoring the rights and well being of the public and the community as a whole."

"We plan various programs to illustrate the advantages of cityhood, and inform the public as to the various aspects and methods of incorporation so that they will be better informed and that they may better decide this important issue at the polls."

"(Village officials) assured us here," Downey said, "that they would proceed with the sewer proposal.

Cityhood Backers Slap Interference

In other business Friday, the committee began preparations for a number of programs aimed at acquainting Novi residents with the advantages and disadvantages of incorporation. Richard Bingham was named chairman of the educational subcommittee, assisting incorporation Chairman Smith, Vice-Chairman J. F. Buck, Secretary Mrs. Herb Farah, and Treasurer Edward Vahlsbusch.

GROUND BREAKING—Not even brisk winds and freezing temperatures could put a damper on Monday's groundbreaking ceremonies, marking the official beginning of construction of the Wixom sewer system. About 70 persons gathered in front of the Holloway Construction company on South Wixom road to witness the ceremonies which included introduction of Wixom city council members, (top left), Donald Nissen, Mayor Wesley McAtee, Oscar Simmons, Mrs. Lottie Chambers and Howard Coe, and the traditional turning of the turf (above) by Mayor McAtee and R. J. Alexander, director of the Oakland County DPW. Later a dinner in celebration of the event was held at the Camelot Inn in Walled Lake. Among those attending (top right) were (r-l) Harold Ackley, Novi village manager, Alexander, Ted Carlson, Mayor McAtee, Dan Holloway, Nissen and Bill Sedlar.

Novi Goodfellows Elect New Officers

Reorganization of the Goodfellows after a three-year period of inactivity was sparked recently by the Novi Rotary club, which Bingham also serves as president. Rotarians joined with past members of the Goodfellows in providing food baskets for needy families at Christmas time.

A total of 36 baskets were distributed at a cost of $525. Purchase of clothing was not included in this year's project because of the late start.

The Goodfellows have a bank balance of $490.82, it was reported.

To help raise additional fund for forthcoming projects, a three-member committee was named to develop ideas for fund raising. Members include Leon Dochet, Raymond Harrison and Kenneth Bassett.

Those attending Saturday's meeting included Bingham, Dorothy Farah, Edwin Presnell, Harold Ackley, Staman, Mrs. Harris, BeGole, Gertie Trotter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller, Bassett, Eugene Choquet, Dochet, Frank Moharak, Philip Anderson, Charles Smith and Lloyd George.

The next meeting of the Goodfellows was set for February 11 at the Rosewood beginning at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons are invited to attend.

For Walled Lake Project $1 Million Sewer Grant OK'd

Hope had all but died Tuesday when Senator Philip Hart's office announced that $1 million has been reserved for construction of the joint Walled Lake-Novu sewer disposal system.

Because of the flood of applications for federal funds, admittedly in short supply, officials of both communities had just about ruled out the prospect of securing any portion of their request for $1.7 million in aid. But then the Housing and Urban Development committee took action.

Construction of the sewage disposal system will thus begin this year—barring the unforeseen. This was the prospect, even before the federal announcement was made. It took a dovetailing of events.

First, the Walled Lake city council authorized Manager Royce Downey to be financed through connection charge and service fee.

Target date for letting bids on construction of the plant and trunk line is June 1, it was reported. But Village Manager Harold Ackley suggested that construction of laterals will begin in "a minimum of eight months."

Having cleared its own deck, Walled Lake now awaits action by the Novi council. In a future meeting, the council will probably weigh these details to be embodied in resolutions:

- determine the necessity of the proposed sewer system.
- determine limits of the district.
- direct the engineer to prepare detailed plans and specifications.
- determine the service charge and the amount of special assessment.
- and application for approval of the
