

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The illustration of the multi-armed cleaner-up above was submitted by John Wortman, a member of the beautification commission and has made it his business to point out eyesores.

John displayed a few of his "eyesore slides" taken at various residential, commercial and industrial areas around the community to members of the beautification campaign committee last week.

They revealed that there's plenty of room for improvement (by city, school, business and private citizen) both in unsightliness and in conditions that could cause accidents.

The beautification commission is appealing to local organizations to undertake individual projects, such as purchase of attractive trash containers for the business district, landscaping of the South Main street entrance to the city and tree planting.

One of the best projects was proposed by Paul Folino. Thanks to his initiative, planter barrels are now being planted by junior high school students and the retail merchants associations have already pledged itself to placing them throughout the business district with appropriate greenery.

Probably unique in all the state (and very possibly the nation) is an agreement reached by The Record and the school administration and teacher negotiation teams.

We've been asked to sit in on negotiation meetings.

Our state press bulletins have discussed these closed sessions and noted that, like all labor-management contract meetings, there's little likelihood of the press being invited inside during arguments.

Ray Spear, assistant superintendent and chief negotiator for the administration, and Pat Babel, chairman for the Northville Teachers Association, met with Jack Hoffman and myself to discuss the possibility of press coverage of the private sessions.

It's been our position that we could do a better job of explaining both sides if we were thoroughly backgrounded in the individual positions.

The negotiators point out that more harm could be done by premature reporting, however, as both sides jockey for position. Sometimes opening offers and demands appear unreasonable and could cause damage to negotiation progress if improperly reported.

Yet it's no secret that the press (and public, for that matter) has ways of finding out what happens at the most secret of sessions. And sometimes second-hand interpretations can be misleading.

After a meeting and an exchange of letters it was decided by both negotiating teams that sessions would be open to the press "based on our faith that you will use discretion in what you publish."

We have made it clear that we will not forfeit the right of the public to know, but that we will consult with both chief negotiators before publishing information obtained at the sessions.

It is entirely possible that no reports of proceedings will be made until agreement, or hopeless deadlock, seem apparent. But the opportunity to hear firsthand the positions of both sides is

Readers Speak
Wants Stop Light Now

To the Editor:
There is a very deplorable situation in Northville called the Eight Mile Center street intersection. In the morning, as our bus approaches the high school drive, there is a long line of cars coming from the other way. Usually, we have to wait for someone to give us a chance to make the turn. This I shall say is not too often, but have often asked people if our city knows that a need for a stop light exists here. They say yes.

I strongly believe that our city is totally ignorant of this fact. With gravel trucks, rubbish trucks, and cars moving down this road, someone is going to get killed before this needed light is put up. Before Cobo Hill got more protection, a boy had been killed. It would be sad if a little kid crossed here and got hit. The facts are here, the danger is evident, WHERE IN THE WORLD IS THE LIGHT?

Respectfully,
Kurt Glasser
Student of Northville High
Editor's Note: Neither city or school officials have ignored the situation at the intersection. Both bodies have approved a stop light and have agreed to split costs. However, actual installation awaits the approval of the road commissions of both Wayne and Oakland counties. Traffic engineers of Oakland county have been reluctant to grant approval, according to City Manager Frank Ollender.

Who is Best Undressed?

To the Editor:
The only list of magnitude that I have ever made.
Was the list of cookie donors for my son's third grade.
I might never have bothered by such a small slight,
But, last week I learned, tennis shoes have dimmed my right,
To shine as a star on Northville's best-dressed list.
So please give me another chance in fairness I insist.

Consider if you will all poor other gals like me,
In a state of great depression, cause their name they did not see.
There must be a lot of us, with clothes sense so unblest,
Won't you please a new list make and call it BEST UN-DRESSED.

Slaps Doctor's Policy

To the Editor:
On Friday evening about 7:30 p.m. April 28th my little boy Mark was bitten by a neighborhood dog. The owner of the dog called his family doctor, who refused to treat the child because, he wasn't a regular patient even though the dog's owner was. My doctor wasn't available at the time, I was at a loss as to what to do. The only choice I had was to go to St. Mary's emergency ward which used up valuable time. The blood was pouring out of his face. He ended with EIGHT STITCHES in his face and treatments for infection which developed the next day.

Maybe if he had had immediate treatment the infection would not have set in or at least it might not have gotten out. It seems to me that the state of affairs when a child is injured under these circumstances because his parents aren't "REGULAR PATIENTS". What has happened to the days when you could count on a doctor in an emergency?

Conceding the recent sightings near Dexter, he maintains the so-called "swamp gas" was definitely a UFO. "Similar to the one seen a few minutes later by those sheriffs down in Texas and the same type that has been reported many times."

Spooking the swamp gas theory, he says if it was a swamp gas the Dexter people saw "then it was swamp gas with windows."

Asked about the UFO reportedly photographed by the space agency and published in his book, Edwards admitted he obtained it by "devious" means. "I knew they'd (space agency) never give me a print so I put a couple bucks in an envelope and told them that the copy I had was not suitable to what they please send me another. Apparently, they figured if I already had a print it wouldn't hurt to give me another one."

Shortly after the book was published, Edwards said the space agency was swamped with requests for prints. Everyone was told it was not their picture, that no picture had been taken, and that the author was therefore a liar.

"Well, I'll tell you something, I'm going to use the print in my next book coming out this summer. It's about the back side of the picture. There you'll see the agency's own notion of the date the picture was taken, by whom, and the signature of the guy who sent me the picture."

"They're not going to like me after that."

One of the biggest disappointments in your book for me, I told him, was that most of the pictures of UFOs were of such poor quality.

Whereupon, he barked that his new book would have plenty of good pictures. Pictures, he said, that were taken with professional type equipment. Some of them, he noted, were taken by a couple of college professors.

"I'm going to show them tonight so if you stay for the program you'll see what I mean."

We stayed, and sure enough we did see the pictures. Real beauties. Landing on the moon, a saucer, and then the back side of the picture. There you'll see the agency's own notion of the date the picture was taken, by whom, and the signature of the guy who sent me the picture."

For anyone else that fact probably would mean little. But for Kochoiko and I it had special significance because we fish that strip mine area each spring.

And a couple years back we too took some pictures in that area to supplement an article for an outdoor magazine. We needed one of a fish leaping from the water, but the fish wouldn't cooperate. So we rigged up a transparent line with a dead fish dangling just above the pond, tossed in a rock to splash the water, and snapped the shutter.

That picture was a beauty too. But the story wouldn't sell.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

CBS television did something last week that was long overdue. It reckoned with young people as individuals, not as mere extensions of parents or adult society, not as children to be tolerated. "Inside Pop" — The Rock Revolution, "came across as a serious, sympathetic and sensitive program that gave the younger generation a voice and a face."

The approach itself was unusual and appropriate — a look at the hopes, frustrations and dreams of young people as expressed through pop music. Pop, or more familiarly, Rock music is strictly theirs, an inviolable part of freedom, untouched by adult hands. Rock music thinks, breathes and shouts youth.

Until CBS' hour-long production, however, this fact went unheeded. The music has been much maligned as downgrading noise, the stuff that screams over the radio, sending dad into the cellar and mom off her bean. And youth, the champion of rock, has been derided for its bad taste. While "Inside Pop" didn't necessarily gain any converts, still it planted a seed of respectability, both for youth and music.

The program was divided into two parts, first focusing on the music. An adult analyst of stature was called for, and Leonard Bernstein, the many-splendored conductor-teacher-critic, stepped forward. He proclaimed the originality of the conglomerate rock sounds — rock 'n' roll, folk-rock, blues-rock and just plain rock. Not all gained distinction as being original, just five percent. That alone, however, was a concession.

Of course, the Beatles came in for their share of praise as the precursors of the newest movement. They can take their place in the annals as having contributed something unique to the music world. What? Mixed rhythms, abrupt tonality, ingenious instrumentation. Bach and oriental sounds, making for a unique musical cake, spiced with surprise.

One starlet in particular created a stir. She's 15-year-old Janis Ian, a versatile creative pop poet. She wrote and rendered "Society's Child." Hair hanging long in the typical, bedraggled folk-fashion, she prowled her guitar as her muted cat voice broke the pattern of normal pop phrasology, like cutting against the grain and across registers. They were unusual, exciting sounds.

Rock lyrics were likened to poetry. They tell of the human condition in the vein of folk literature or music, a highly personal and heart-felt narrative. The words do not overly satirize or protest deplorable human conditions. Rather, they comment on the condition of mankind, drawing on topical and universal situations. And the words are delivered with sincerity.

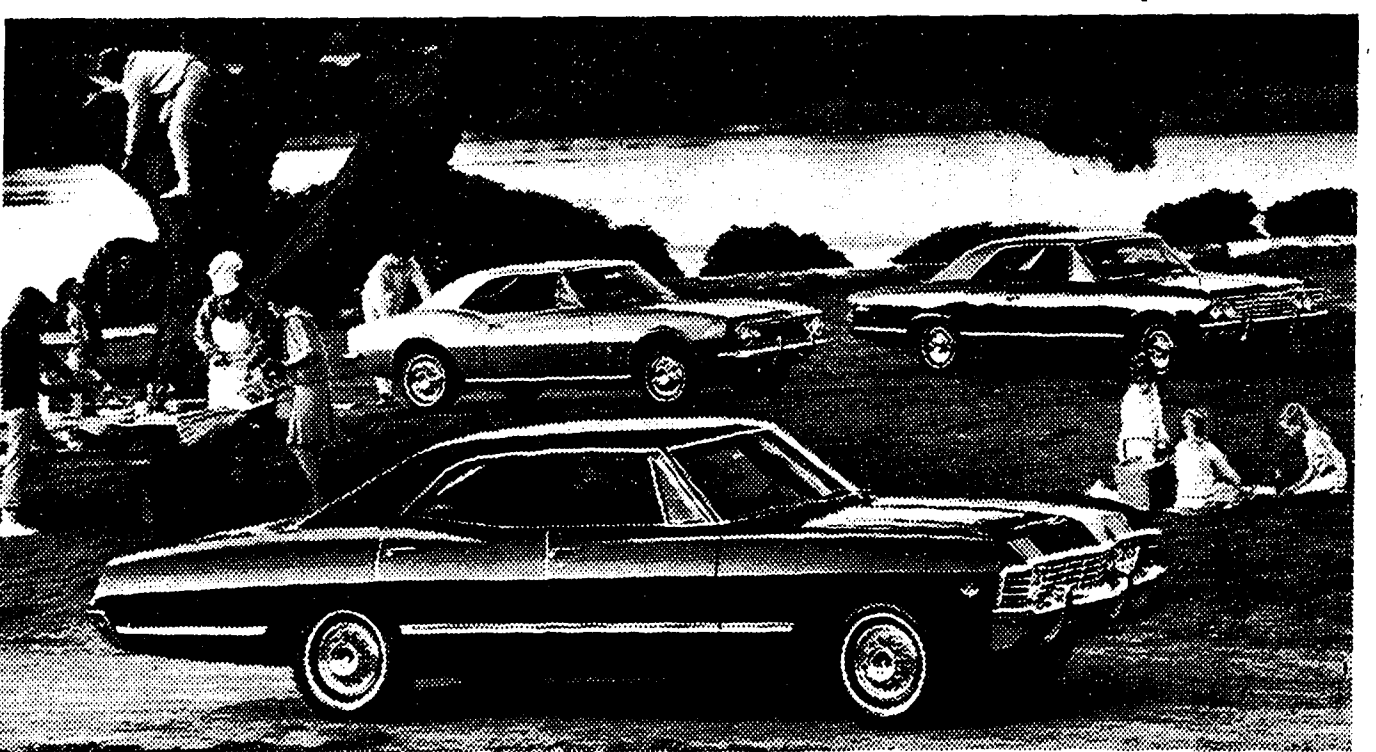

Surpassing Bernstein's serudite comments was the second half of the show,

McAtees Cop 1st
In Race for TV

Battling a surprising and determined last-week effort by Steven Baluha, the Wesley McAtee family of Wixom took first place in The Northville Record-Novis News subscription contest that closed Saturday.

The McAtees took home a Coronado color television console for their efforts, while runner-up Steve took home a black and white portable television set.

Other top winners and their prizes were:

Richard Alsbaugh, 601 Reed Court, a power lawn mower; Ian Dingwall, 225 Ely Drive, AM-FM clock radio; Verne Biddle, 4700 Nine Mile road, fishing rod and reel; and Debbie Arlen, 4450 Country Lane, and Mary Egeert, 20910 East Chigwidden, each won transistor radios.

In his final week's effort, 14-year-old Steve, who lives at 463 Maplewood, turned in 31 new one-year subscriptions, eight two-year subscriptions, and 19 two-year renewals for a total of 585 points.

The McAtees, who live at 3031 West Maple road, turned in 15 new one-year subscriptions, 19 two-year renewals, and four two-year renewals for a total of 355 points.

Steve's final drive fell short of the mark, however, as the McAtees took first place with a grand total of 1,455 points compared to Steve's 1,395 points.

Altogether, the McAtees sold 30 one-year subscriptions, 53 two-year subscriptions, one four-year subscription and seven two-year renewals, while Steve sold 70 one-year subscriptions, 17 two-year subscriptions, and 58 two-year renewals.

The third-place winner picked up a grand total of 555 points, while the fourth-place winner came up with 500 points.

McAtee, who is mayor of the city of Wixom, said his family's effort served a dual purpose. It helped them win a color television, he said, and it helped to build up the Novi News subscriptions in Wixom. "That's important because it's our official newspaper and the people ought to be reading it."

In addition to prizes received by the top contestants, all contestants will be

THE NOVI NEWS

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE VILLAGE AND TOWNSHIP OF NOVI, AND THE CITY OF WIXOM

Vol. 13, No. 51, 18 Pages, Two Sections • Northville, Michigan—Thursday, May 11, 1967 • 10¢ Per Copy, $4 Per Year In Advance

Novi OK's New Budget
$337,370 Outlay
To Hike Millage to 5

The Novi village council approved a record $337,370 budget early Tuesday morning, but not before a strange turn of events triggered by police demands for increased salaries.

Outstripping last year's budget by $29,370, the 1967-68 budget calls for a one mill increase to taxpayers. It raises the total levy from four to the charter limitation of five mills.

The one mill hike places $32,000 in the fund for capital improvements, notably for eventual acquisition of a site and building for a garage for the department of public works.

Although police demands for an improved pay schedule were not met, the council set aside $7,500 in a salary contingency fund. Monies from that account will be used according to the findings of a salary study committee yet to be appointed.

The committee will evaluate jobs and pay and draft a new salary scale for all village employees. If the committee does not finalize its recommendations by the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1, salary increases will be made retroactive as of that date.

Backing Novi patrolmen to a man in their salary requests were approximately 18 residents. There were representatives from Novi Heights subdivision, Willowbrook subdivision and other interested home owners.

In letters addressed to councilmen and various citizens, eight patrolmen said that the weekly newspaper, the Novi News, was a valuable asset to the community and that they were proud to be part of it.

The hearing is considered important, even though the election was not held, because any decision now reportedly will affect any new election that the village might call.

The council did approve, however, incremental raises specified in the present pay schedule. A corporal was raised $600 to $6,900 and five patrolmen received a $600 boost to $6,600 apiece. The police chief at $8,000, a sergeant at $7,500 and a patrolman at $6,000 did not get pay hikes.

Three motions were voted down for lack of mandatory four votes. The roll call each time was 3-1. The deadlock was finally broken by calling Councilman Raymond Harrison on from his home where he was recuperating from a severe cold.

Shortly after Harrison arrived, he motioned that the proposed budget be adopted and that $5,000 be transferred from the Dutch Elm Control fund to the salary contingency fund. Councilman Joseph Crup immediately amended Harrison's motion, Crup called for the transfer of $7,500. The amendment and the amended motion both passed by unanimous 5-0 votes.

Earlier, it was Crup who motioned first. He proposed the adoption of the revised budget of $337,370 spread over five mills, with the exception that $15,000 be transferred from capital improvements to a salary contingency fund.

He also moved that the council select a study committee to evaluate each job classification and salary for each job classification. The council would then act on the committee's recommendations. Pay increases, if advised, would be made retroactive as of July 1, 1967.

Crup's motion failed 3-1, with President Phil Anderson dissenting. Councilman Leo Harrowood then motioned that the original budget be accepted which provided across-the-board pay increases of four percent for employees above $7,000 and six percent for those below that amount. This time Crup voted "no" and the motion failed.

A five minute adjournment was called at 11:05 p.m. and when the council reconvened, President Anderson proposed adoption of the original budget, a five mill levy; and placing of $32,000 in the capital improvement fund. Furthermore, he proposed that a study committee of two councilmen be appointed and their findings be incorporated in the 1968-69 budget. Crup again voted against the measure.

Then, Harrison was called and the schedule: starting salary of $5,500; $6,800 after six months; $7,200 after one year; $7,600 after two years; $8,000 after three years; $8,500 for a corporal after three years; $8,800 for a sergeant after five years, and $9,000 for the chief.

Patrolmen asked for the following schedule: starting salary of $5,500; $6,800 after six months; $7,200 after one year; $7,600 after two years; $8,000 after three years; $8,500 for a corporal after three years; $8,800 for a sergeant after five years, and $9,000 for the chief.

Instead, the council voted unanimously to rebid. In addition, specifications will be tightened and a performance bond will be required.

Actually, the council faced a dilemma because of the discrepancy be-between bids submitted by the Great Northern Oiling company of Highland Park and Edward Road Oiling Service of Detroit.

Great Northern quoted a figure of 7.4 cents per lineal foot; Edwards quoted 10 cents per lineal foot.

That amounts to a $337 in light of the fact that the city has 20,876 feet of road to be oiled.

"Rejection would be in the best interests of the city," Mayor Wesley McAtee said. He added that in previous years the lowest per foot bid was nine cents.

Both bids met the city's specifications.

To gain additional assurance, the city asked Great Northern to letter whether it would respond as often as necessary to keep roads dust free and perform on 24-hour notice. Great Northern replied by letter, saying it would render "24-hour service."

Asked for his advice, Robert Trombley, superintendent of the city's department of public works, was reluctant to commit himself. Like the councilmen, he was wary of the low bid. Furthermore, he vouched for the work of Edwards Road Oiling Service, the company which has oiled Wixom roads in the past.

Mrs. Lottie Chambers, councilwoman, suggested that the city honor Great Northern for a one-year trial period. But she later withdrew from her position. The council did award one bid Tuesday night, that of Bernard M. Robinson for rubbish pick-up. He presently handles Wixom's rubbish collection.

The Birmingham firm was the lowest bidder at $6,000. Also bidding on the project was G & C Disposal of Bancroft, Michigan, at a yearly cost of $9,300. Acceptance of the Robinson bid was made in the form of resolution and it was unanimous.

The council also adopted an amendment to the trailer coach park ordinance. The amendment set forth more stringent restrictions on trailer parks.

It's Too Low!

Wixom Rejects Oil Bid

The possibility of "inviting trouble" prompted the Wixom city council to reject the low bid on road oiling Tuesday night.

Instead, the council voted unanimously to rebid. In addition, specifications will be tightened and a performance bond will be required.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAVY

THE LILACS, AZALEAS and dog wood are in full bloom in the East; so the garden should be a treat to Northville in about two weeks. That's the encouraging prediction of a foursome just back from the national Quilters convention in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Charles Ely and Mrs. George Miller attended the convention May 1-3 as delegates from the Base Line chapter of the antiques society. They were accompanied by Mrs. Orson Atchinson and a former Northville resident, Mrs. William Seibert of Birmingham.

In addition to touring Society Hill and Chester county homes the group made a stop at Peddler's Village in Lahaska, Pennsylvania. The charm of this community of colonial and antique shops was enhanced, the travelers report, by the colorful flowers.

Undoubtedly 1967 is Mrs. Ely's Travel Year. Last month she and her husband took a flying three-week trip to Mexico, visiting Mexico City and Puerto Villarta, a native town on the coast which is growing in popularity. There they stayed at the El Prado del Villarta and browsed in tiny Mexican shops.

Next the Elys are looking forward to visiting Expo 67, combining the visit to Montreal with a cruise along the seaway on the South American. Their plans also include a late summer trip to Europe.

FLORAL HOW TO DO IT demonstrations of pressed flowers on note paper and spring flower arrangements are planned for a workshop meeting of the Northville branch, Michigan Farm and Garden association, at 10 a.m. Monday in the V.F.W. hall.

Mrs. Kinsey Bell will demonstrate her technique of pressing flowers on note paper. (On her own stationery she even places a miniature "signature" arrangement at the bottom of the back sheet.)

Mrs. E. O. Whittington will show members how to create the floral arrangements step-by-step. Members interested are asked to make reservations by calling 349-0387 so that sufficient flowers will be available. Those attending should bring needleholders, containers and a sandwich. (Coffee will be provided.)

ONE OF THE SPECIAL pleasures that many young teachers find in their profession is the interest of their students in their lives. This proves to be especially true for Elsa Couze who teaches biology at Bentley high school in Livonia. Her students were so excited about her marriage to Richard Shuber, which will be at 2 p.m. this Saturday at Northville Presbyterian church, that they "couldn't wait" to give her the towel gift the girls themselves chose.

Elsa, the daughter of Mrs. Walter Couze, has been feted in a round of showers and teas given by many long-time friends. Friday evening parents of the bridegroom-to-be, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Smith, will entertain at a buffet dinner at their home on Orchard drive following the rehearsal for members of the wedding party and out-of-state guests.

Last month Elsa was honored at a tea given at the Martha Cook dorm at University of Michigan by Mrs. Ellen Scott and Mrs. E. H. Wood. Mrs. Scott, who formerly made her home in Northville, is assistant director at Martha Cook. Each guest brought the bride-elect a favorite recipe. Elsa also was entertained at a tea given by Mrs. Harry Wagenschütz and Mrs. Theodore N. Kampf, at the latter's home on Haggerty road.

Dick and Elsa, who were Northville high classmates, were given a couple shower April 28 by the Thomas Hensons of Westland. Following the "something old" tradition, guests first gave the couple an old "fun" item, followed by the new gift.

Earlier the bride-to-be was honored at a linen-kitchen shower given by Mrs. Orson Atchinson, Mrs. D. Harper Britton and Mrs. Elroy Ellison at the Atchinson home. Mrs. W. J. Howard and Mrs. C. Harold Bloom hosted a kitchen shower at the latter's home on West Main street.

MOTHER'S DAY is this Sunday, but many mothers of Our Lady of Victory church were "appreciated" a week early as men of the church served breakfast to $50 at the annual mother-daughter breakfast following Mass last Sunday.

For the third year Ted Marzonia was chairman of the event which brought fathers to the church at 8 a.m. to prepare the breakfast. Co-chairman was Dr. Arnold Koncel.

A Northville Estates father who "helped" by staying home was Earl Egbert, who cooked breakfast for eight neighborhood youngsters so that their mothers could attend the OLV event. In addition to his own sons, Jim and John, he invited Chuck Karer, Ted, Tom, Doug, John and Robbie Marzonia to breakfast and an outing in the park.

NORTHVILLE TOWN HALL tickets for the 1967-68 season already are more than half sold and are selling "so steadily," the committee expects they will be sold out as early as they were last year.

Mrs. Fred Tuck, publicity chairman, said that the first report session in April revealed more than 250 sold of the 550 available—and now about 300 are gone. The Tucks, who spent April in Sarasota, Florida, tell rain weary Michigan citizens that Florida is in a dry situation with water rationing a possibility.

MOTHERS' CLUB MARATHON bridge tournament is in its final month of play. Mrs. Blake Couze, chairman, reminds that all games must be played by May 20 with scores reported to her. Evening players will play their league games individually. The afternoon league is to complete play at an afternoon play-off at the Couze home in Edenderry at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 17. Dessert will precede the play.

PAST MATRONS club of Orient Charter school met at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Dunsford in Detroit.

Blood Bank Means 'Savings' for Future

It's something you don't think about until something like this comes up. Then it can mean the difference between life and death.

Those are the sentiments shared by J.R. Potter, 724 Spring drive, and Robert T. Flattery, 24367 LeBost drive.

Thanks to the Northville and the Our Lady of Victory blood banks respectively, they were given blood upon request for major surgery. No red tape was involved; there was only the moral obligation to promote the donation of blood for others in need.

They'll Teeter To New Record

Students of Northville high school will get their share of ups and downs this weekend when the senior class sponsors a teeter-totter marathon at the A&W Rootbeer drive-in on Northville road.

The students will launch the marathon today (Thursday) with the close of school and, barring complications, will wind it up Monday with a new high school record of 85 hours.

The Marathon is the brainchild of Seniors Narda Foreman, Sue Bosak, Doug Guido, Ron Jones, and Juniors Pat Henschell and Sue Hamlin, who said they wanted to get their share of ups and downs this weekend when the senior class sponsors a teeter-totter marathon at the A&W Rootbeer drive-in on Northville road.

Enthusiasm for the project was instantaneous, they report. Upperclassmen had the teeter-totter schedules filled in less than two days, with many students signed up for double and triple shifts.

One senior commented, "It's amazing how something like this can catch on!"

Kick off time is 3 p.m. today. The public is invited to drop in anytime during the marathon to lend encouragement.

B & E Suspect Faces Circuit Court Trial Today

Three youths suspected of being involved in two breakings and entering episodes were brought into Novi justice court recently for examination and were bound over to Oakland County circuit court for trial.

Two other breaking and enterings were also reported in Novi during the past week.

James L. Martin, 20, and Varnell Hannah, 17, both of Detroit, stood mute before Justice Emory Jacques May 5 on a charge of breaking into Wards Service station on May 3. Bond was set at $500 apiece.

Roderick C. Snyder, 18, of Farmington appeared May 2 before Justice Jacques. Snyder, who waived examination, was placed on $1,000 bond and returned to Oakland County jail pending posting of bond. His trial date in circuit court before Judge William Thorburn is scheduled today.

Two juveniles, implicated along with Snyder for stealing from a tractor-trailer on Haggerty road, were referred to juvenile authorities.

The three youths were reported to have stolen a supply of lubricant, warning lights, materials, fan belts and a radiator, amounting to $233, by breaking a lock assembly on the trailer.

Owned by D. J. McQuestion and son, Inc. of Dearborn Heights, the tractor-trailer was parked on Haggerty road between 13 and 14 Mile roads. Suspects of the youths' actions, a nearby resident reported them to Novi police, who found the youths with the stolen goods in their possession at the scene.

Fourteen cartons of cigarettes and six lighters were reported stolen from Jensen's Buttermilk stand at 39700 Grand River on May 1.

Furniture Auction Set for Carnival

Some 150 pieces of school furniture will be auctioned during the upcoming 1967 P-TA Carnival, William Heffner, general chairman, announced Tuesday.

Heffner reported that the Northville board of education Monday night decided to give discarded furniture, now stored in the basement of the junior high, to the P-TA Carnival committee.

Board action left no strings attached. The committee, free to do with it as it wishes, decided to auction it off to the public. Nearly all proceeds from the carnival revert back to the school system anyway, Heffner noted.

While plans for the auction are being made, Mrs. Fred Schwarzer is lining up the door prizes for the carnival, which this year has been titled "Space Fantasy". Two grand prizes will be offered, she said, including an original painting by Milt Kemnitz of Ann Arbor. The artist has displayed his paintings locally and in shows throughout the state. His works are in high demand, she said.

The second grand prize, still not announced, will be especially useful to children. Altogether, 28 door prizes will be offered.

The carnival will be held at the junior high school and Main street elementary school on May 19.

News Around Schoolcraft

A total of 18 members of the 1967 graduating class at Schoolcraft college were singled out for academic honors during commencement ceremonies on Sunday, April 30, as 152 students received degrees and certificates of completion.

Vice-president for Instruction John H. Brim presented the Schoolcraft College Science Award, offered by the science department to Danny Larkin, 505 North Center. The award is made for academic excellence in science subject areas.

Local graduates on the winter semester dean's list, with grade point averages (top of 4.00), were:

Danny Larkin, 3.571 and Mrs. Betty Willis, 3.10 North Dunlap.

Schoolcraft college was host to area service clubs last week as six organizations held regular luncheon and dinner meetings in the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center and toured the campus.

On Monday, May 1, Livonia Rotary heard Dr. Eric J. Brader speak on the history and future of the college, before inspecting campus buildings and facilities. Club members brought their secretaries as special guests.

On Tuesday evening, May 2, Vice-President for Instruction John H. Brim was the speaker at the Northville Chamber of Commerce held its annual election of officers and Ladies' Night meeting.

The policy also establishes responsibilities of school personnel, of students and of parents in maintaining good student behavior.

Concerning suspensions, the policy provides that the principal may suspend a student for up to three days on his own prerogative or up to 15 days with the approval of the superintendent "when behavior exceeds acceptable limits."

When suspension up to 15 days proves unsatisfactory as a means of disciplining a student, the principal may recommend "exclusion" or expulsion from school to the superintendent, who after thorough study, may recommend the same to the board of education.

The policy states that students under temporary suspension or who have been excluded from school are not to be permitted on any school property, in any school building, or be admitted to any school function.

In cases where recommendations for exclusion have been made, the board is to discuss the matter in private. Vote on the matter in the regular meeting is to be limited to the motion without discussion.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Charles F. Berger
St. Paul's Lutheran, Northville

The Skipper and the Mate were taking turns keeping the log of their ship. One day the skipper ended his account with the words: "Mate was drunk again." The mate protested, "Please strike that last sentence," he said. But the skipper refused.

"It's true, isn't it," he asked. "Being true, it stays in." Next day it was the mate's turn to write the log. He ended his account with the words: "Skipper was sober today."

The skipper didn't like it a bit. "Cross out that last sentence," he said. "You know I never drink!" "I didn't say you did," the mate answered. "I only said you were sober. It's true, isn't it? And being true, it stays in."

Some things can be true and still not be the truth. And this unfortunately can happen even in our religion, and even when we fully intend to speak the truth. "God saw you when you cheated," says Tom's father. "God always sees us when we do wrong." It was true, wasn't it? But since Tom had heard such words often, and never heard much about the love of God, Tom began to think of God as an angry, suspicious snapper who tries to catch you in some sin and then punishes you hard. What the father said was true, but it wasn't the truth. It had the effect of a lie.

"I prayed hard for rain," said the neighbor. "didn't want my lawn to dry up. But as you can see, it didn't rain." Every word was true. But in Bill's mind it had the effect of saying: "I never helps." The neighbor's words were true, but they were not the truth. "I told my son he wasn't doing right," said Mrs. Brown. "I told him, 'You make God sad when you do wrong.' I scolded him hard." The words which Mrs. Brown said may have been true. But any heathen mother can scold. What she said was not Christian. It was only law, not Gospel. Therefore, though it was true, it was not the truth.

This leads us right into the middle of the difference between the Law and the Gospel. Suppose my child sins, and he is sorry he sinned. What shall I tell him? Shall I tell him God's threat of punishment or God's promise of forgiveness? Both are true. But if at that point I tell him only God's threat of punishment, I am not telling him the truth.

In fact, I am hiding the blessed main truth of the Gospel from him—that God will forgive us when we are sorry for our sins and confess them.

We can of course be wrong the other way, too. Suppose I am careless. He does wrong things but his conscience never reproves him. Suppose I tell the boy who doesn't care: "Don't worry, Tom, God forgives our sins!" Then haven't my true words given him a wrong impression?

It is not always easy to be a careful Christian parent. Getting to know the Bible can help us here, too. It can make us wise unto salvation, as Paul says, and well equipped for every good work—for instance, the work of being a Christian parent. 2 Timothy 3:15-17.

Vandals Strike Twice in Week

Playground equipment valued at $200 and owned by St. Paul's Lutheran church was wrecked by vandals last week Wednesday.

Vandals also slashed the canvass top of a late-model convertible parked at 102 North Cady street.

The equipment, which consisted of a series of pipes used for climbing, was dismantled, carried off and thrown in a creek near the church playground at 201 Elm street.

The cement base that anchored the pipes was dug out of the ground, but it was apparently too heavy to easily carry away, police reported.

The slashing took place between 10 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday. Making the report was Mrs. Jean Bingley, owner of the car. She told Northville police that previously a set of golf clubs and a radio speaker had been stolen from cars parked at the same address.

School Board Minutes

but this is in no way possible. Discussion followed: Member Froelich suggested the pattern of the easement be changed and that the Salvation Army be contacted. Member Martin directed attention to the fact that if this was to continue for any length of time it would create a public right to the easement. Member Johnston volunteered to call Col. Cohn.

SUBCONTRACTOR PAYMENT
A letter from the steel subcontractor regarding balance of payment by the General Contractor was referred to the Board. Superintendent Nelson informed the Board that the Architect says this request has been satisfactorily met.

LIGHTING/HIGH SCHOOL, JUNIOR HIGH/MORALINE
The parking area and walkway at Moraline are in need of adequate lighting. Recommendations from the Detroit Edison Co. Motion No. 548, by member Johnston, supported by member Cook, and unanimously carried that the Superintendent have the Architect evaluate the lighting and make recommendations for Moraline, Junior High and High School.

PAYMENT NOVI/DRIVER EDUCATION
Motion No. 549, by member Johnston, supported by member Martin, and unanimously carried that the Board of Education pay to Novi Schools $581.12 as agreed; for the fifty-five students participating in their Driver Education program during the summer of 1966.

ADJOURNMENT
Motion No. 550, by member Cook, supported by member Froelich, and unanimously carried that the meeting be adjourned at 9:30.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. ## Newsmen Puzzled by Pre-Trial Concern

LANSING — Is it much ado about nothing — or very little? This is the question in minds of many newsmen in discussions regarding pre-trial information.

The State Bar of Michigan arranged a May 2 meeting of lawyers, police and court officials, and representatives of newspapers, radio and TV to discuss this topic. Earlier Attorney General Frank J. Kelley called a small group of media representatives for a similar discussion. The only thing certain is that there will be more meetings between bar, police and media groups before the subject is considered closed.

There is no problem. This is the opinion of many newsmen and some from other fields. The Attorney General stated on several occasions that his office has no record of complaints that news coverage was involved in an unwarranted verdict.

U.S. Court of Appeals Judge George Edwards says that he has yet to see a trial which could not be fair if basic procedures now in effect are followed by courts. Judge Edwards warns that proposals by the American Bar Association which limit information which could be released are vague. He urges lawyers "not to throw the baby out with the bath water," stating that there really isn't much of a pre-trial information problem. He warns further that efforts recommended by the ABA constitute a dangerous form of threat to freedom of speech.

Some attorneys argue that pre-trial news does deprive defendants of a fair trial. No one would name a specific case where this was true when challenged to do so at the May 2 meeting.

NEWSPAPER REACTIONS VARY. At other times and places various newsmen have expressed themselves strongly. One editor said he is sick of discussing this topic in generalities and resents the implication that media have been doing something wrong.

Another argues that the courts are the key. If judges will use machinery now available to them, a fair trial can be guaranteed to any defendant. Still another points out that the discussion shows a lack of confidence in jurors. There is no reason to assume, he states, that a juror has to be ignorant of a case in order for him to make a fair judgment at a trial.

"Proposed orders which would restrict the release of information by law enforcement officers are an unwarranted judicial invasion of the executive branch of government," stated Norman C. Rumble, managing editor of the Midland Daily News and president of the Michigan Press Association. In addressing the State Bar meeting, Mr. Rumble questioned the basic concept that there is evidence to show that pre-trial publicity in the presence of sound judicial operation has limited a fair trial. He reported that The American Newspaper Publishers Association has a grant of $150,000 for an independent study to determine whether there is basis for claims that crime news reporting prevents fair trials. Mr. Rumble suggested that results of this study would better define the need for more discussion.

"GOALS OF THE PRESS and the bar should be the same, Mr. Rumble stated: 'protect the public, acquit the innocent and convict the guilty.'"

Want to guess how many newspapers there are in the state? Here's the answer. There are 55 daily newspapers and about 300 weeklies.

Their combined circulation, according to figures at the beginning of 1967, is 3,680,594. This is an increase of three percent over the previous year. Circulation ranges from the Detroit

News with a Sunday circulation of nearly one million to the Fair Haven Journal with a circulation of 387. In between are some of the finest newspapers in the world, each serving its community. There has been little variation in the number of newspapers in Michigan over the last 25 years. As economic changes have brought about new communities, local newspapers have been quick to spring into existence. At the same time, those communities which grew smaller and smaller found that the newspaper which served them either ceased publication or was merged with one nearby.

Circulation grew rather steadily over the past quarter century, a remarkable trend when it is realized that the Detroit Times and Grand Rapids Herald, both large dailies at the time they suspended publication, left a large total which had to be offset by smaller increases in many newspapers all over the state.

AGRICOL Weed Control kills dandelions and plants. Dandelions usually give you the first warning you have weeds in your lawn. As soon as you see them, it's time to apply AGRICOL Weed Control with Fertilizer. Weeds die easiest when they are growing fastest. So hit them when they're young and vigorous. They just curl up and die. AGRICOL Weed Control contains two weed killers to assure complete control of the usual lawn weeds. There's a complete fertilizer in every bag, too—that keeps your lawn strong to ward off weeds.

Municipal Court

An accident in which four cars parked at a Northville curb were damaged resulted in a heavy fine and stiff probationary sentence for a 40-year-old Plymouth man.

Lewis E. Robb, arraigned Monday before Judge Charles McDonald, was fined $100 and placed on one year probation to the court.

The judge further ordered that Robb stay away from liquor completely and that he report twice monthly to Northville Municipal Court. Violation of the court order would mean a 90-day jail sentence.

Robb pleaded guilty to the added count of reckless driving. A count of leaving the scene of the March 6 accident was dismissed because he voluntarily returned to the scene.

Besides the front end of Robb's car, four cars parked on the West side of Center street in front of Northville Lanes were damaged, evidently from a chain reaction. Robb was reported to have collided with the end car.

Woodrow Stidham of South Lyon was fined $38.50 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly in a parking lot at 113 South Center street.

Delfino Guevara, Jr., of Wayne pleaded guilty to speeding 50 miles per hour in a 35 zone on South Main street. He paid a $25 fine and $5 costs.

William E. Kohler, 40, of 505 Grace street was assessed a $15 fine and $5 costs for careless driving on Eight Mile road.

James W. Darnell, 18, of 400 Ely drive was found guilty of speeding 35 in a 25 zone on North Center street. Judge McDonald handed down a verdict of guilty Monday, but suspended fine and costs.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Brighter nights are here for Northville's business district. Installation of 24 mercury vapor lamps in the shopping area has been completed. They'll provide more than double the previous illumination.

The new lighting has been a pet project of Councilman-Merchandise Black, who started promoting the idea more than two years ago. Initially, it was believed that there would be an installation charge for the new lamps. So Black obtained pledges from fellow merchants to cover the anticipated $1,000 charge. It later developed that the city's lights were old enough to be replaced without cost by Detroit Edison.

Free or not, the lights were still mighty slow in coming. It was first announced that they would be installed for Christmas.... 1965.

But patience and perseverance have paid off and congratulations are due Councilman Black. Well-lighted streets, parking lots and alleys are important improvements. And while it was slow in coming, the improvement was a well-timed addition to the community's "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up... light-up" campaign.

It was probably all in a day's work to Bud Hartner, Northville's director of public works. But one of his unpaid "reliable sources" relates the following experience that took place Monday night.

Hartner was called by the police dispatcher when it was reported that two small youngsters were stuck in mud at the creek behind the new Fairbrook apartments.

When he arrived he found one boy had pulled himself out, but the second was hopelessly stuck, waist-deep.

Bud plunged into the water and rescued the kid, who was deeply grateful. As he was taking the boy home, the one he had pulled from the creek asked "what is your name?"

Whereupon Hartner replied, "It's Bud, but if I catch you in that creek again, your name will be mud."

(Incidentally, the boys were both Clement road township residents. Bud probably never thought to ask first if they were city residents, which might indicate that city-township cooperation is possible and contrary to some reports at official levels, the city isn't all bad).

Northville was well represented in the recent 40th anniversary celebration of the Michigan Seamless Tube Company in South Lyon. The occasion also marked the official dedication of the expanding company's corporate offices.

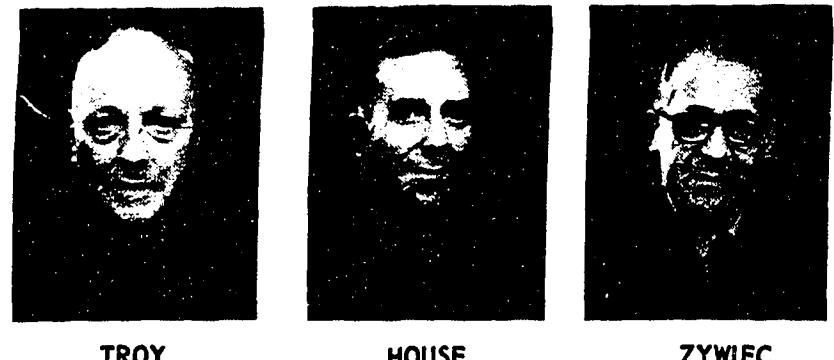

William G. Troy, vice president in charge of purchasing, Production Manager M. F. House and Chief Engineer E. A. Zywiec are all Northville residents and were principals in the planning and staging of the open house observance.

Michigan Seamless Tube began operations in South Lyon 40 years ago and now has grown from annual sales of a few thousand dollars to more than $50 million. The company, headed by William A. McHattie, also owns Gulf States Tube Company in Texas and Standard Tube Company of Detroit and Shelby, Ohio.

The open house ceremonies included tours of the plant as well as the modern, two-floor office building which provides some 6,000 square feet of space.

Perhaps the highlight of the official dedication was a gift of appreciation from the city of South Lyon. Presented by the city's general manager, John E. Noel, the gift was the renaming of Lawton street, which ends at the new corporate offices, to "McHattie street."

Later Mayor Noel bestowed the fact that he had forgotten to plant a little star in his speech to the effect that "if I had a street with my name on it, I'd sure see to it that it was named."

He's a little fellow; 60 pounds packed into an 11-year-old kind of frame that Norman Rockwell would paint with freckles around the nose, with curly black hair, and with a smile that winds up like a clock at five after eleven. He's a jack-in-the-box; bouncing up when the lid's off to chase a butterfly, to race around the yard brandishing a willow saber, to swoop up giggling pollywogs from the pond down the street, and to shimmy up a skinny Elm.

He's a walking question mark; wondering always why the grasshopper flits and falls while the bird dives and soars, why stars shine at night and not during the day, and why some people have a different "Christmas" but always the same Halloween.

And he's a faunt; dripping with hurts and happiness. Danny's a good deal like the boy in your neighborhood, in your home. But he wasn't always that way. A year ago he was a loner, a boy who waited for someone to open the lid, and a boy who held back a tear because there was no one to catch it.

He's a boy without a father. "The first few times he came to the house, he'd stand around with his hands in his pocket instead of sitting, walk instead of running. 'Danny, would you like a bottle of pop?' I'd ask him. He wouldn't reply or he'd say, 'Rogel' to him I was a stranger and, well, I guess he was a stranger to me. You couldn't blame him. He saw me as just another guy giving him a pitch about wanting to be a friend but who probably would shove him out of the way like a used-up toy. His life was full of guys like that. His real father was gone and he had a couple of others who didn't care and who didn't last."

Carl Johnson of Northville was speaking. He was telling about the boy who "wormed his way into my life and took a piece of me. But I've got part of him, too, so I guess it's a fair trade."

Carl and Danny are brothers—not in the real sense of the word, but brothers in the boy-man relationship offered by the Big Brothers of America. Boy and man were introduced a year ago through the BBA office in Pontiac.

Danny was one of the hundreds of

"I guess the first inkling that I had that he was changing was when his mother told me he was doing better in school and that whenever some question came up at home, Danny would say, 'Ask Carl.'"

The boy and man spent about four hours a week together, going to basketball games, touring the airport and just strolling away time at the Johnson home.

"Everything was going along just fine until I got a telephone call one day from him. He was crying. He said his family was moving from Northville over near Detroit. He was afraid I'd drop him for sure."

"I told him it wouldn't change anything, that we'd be pals no matter where he went. 'What I didn't tell him was that I couldn't drop him if I wanted to. You learn to love a kid like that.'"

So the relationship continued, and the bond that tied them together grew tighter. But a new problem is developing, explains Carl, even though the problem is really a gauge of success. The Big Brother organization figures the boy-man relationship has served its purpose, that the Big Brother has done his job well when the boy starts preferring companionship with boys his own age.

Danny's not a loner anymore.

"But," says Carl, "it hurts a little when I call and ask him if he'd like to go to a game or something and he says, 'I'd like to Carl but Steve and I are going on a hike.'"

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

As much as Arthur Miller would like to think that his play, "The Crucible," transcends the ages, it doesn't quite span the gap. Nevertheless, it was a rousing good show in an entertaining historical piece. This was evident when CBS rang up a first last week with an unexpurgated version of the Salem witch hunt play that did span an unheard of two and one-half television hours.

The mere fact that Miller wrote additional dialogue for the television performance with hopes of convincing the audience of the play's relevance is a concession that something is amiss. Either Miller thinks the viewer is too obtuse to appreciate the play's pertinence or he is admitting that the play has lost its vitality.

Miller's particular problem is the contemporary milieu that give birth to the play, American had just shrugged off a hunt of its own—the McCarthy investigation of Communist conspiracy in the United States. Miller was one of those suspected and implicated in the Communist plot. This prompted the playwright to search out an objective vehicle through which he could comment on the McCarthy persecution. Thus, "The Crucible."

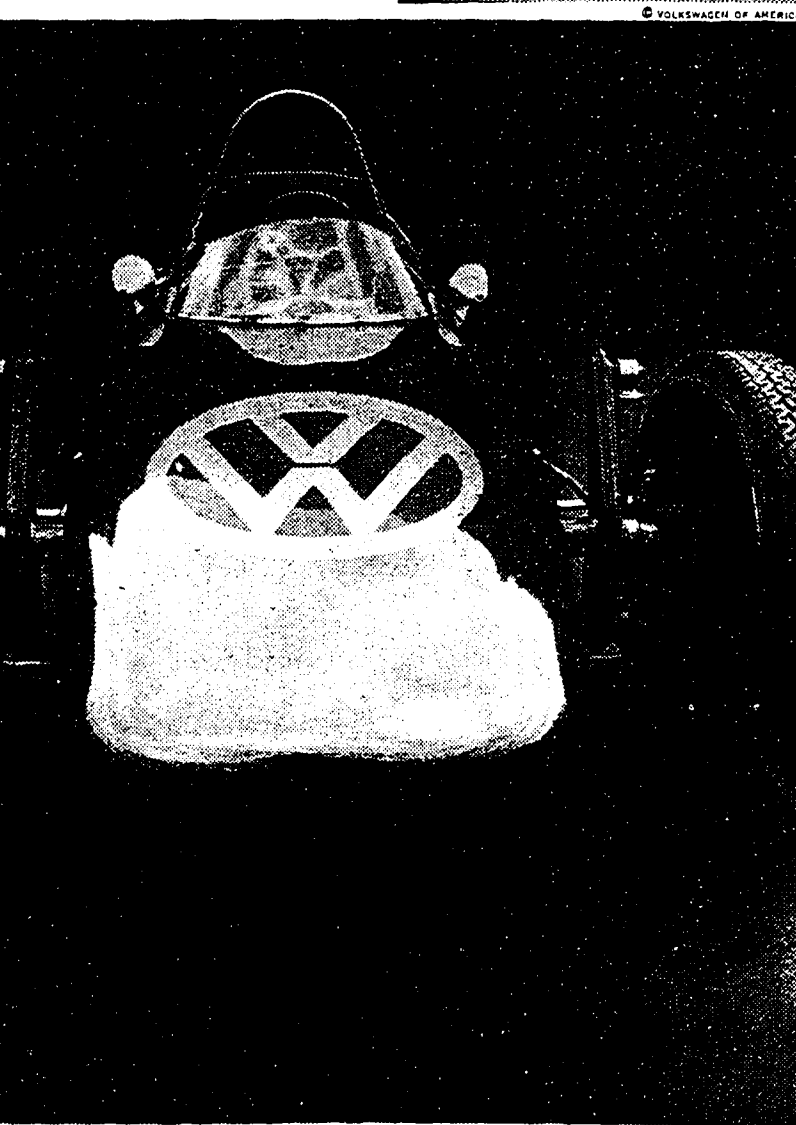

Today, the McCarthy hearings that ruined more than one man have largely faded from memory, although some scar tissue remains. Where before the Crucible could be evaluated as a cogent comment on our times, it is now more valuable for what it reveals of the grim Puritan spirit. In this respect, Miller's play can take its place alongside Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter."

The facts upon which Miller based his story are these. Salem, Massachusetts of 1692 was gripped by hysteria. It began when 10 young girls accused a slave and two old women of bewitching them. Within four months, hundreds were whimsically jailed, 19 hanged and one pressed to death. The persecution stopped only when the governor stepped in.

Last week's performance proved that the play can stand alone, thanks to a strong cast, well chosen. Taking the lead was George C. Scott as John Proctor. This is basically his story and Scott made it come to life. Proctor is a fallen man, having committed adultery with his former house girl, Abigail Williams. She has since been dismissed by John's wife, Elizabeth, who knows of her husband's infidelity. When she is accused of witchcraft, her husband takes her part. He stands by her—and the truth—and goes to the gallows.

This is Scott at his best. He projects the image of independent, guilt ridden, uncompromising, yet human, John Proctor. He turns to his wife for advice.

There's a bit of the beast in every bug.

It doesn't take much to unleash the savage fury of a Volkswagen. Take almost any old VW, replace the body, make a few simple adjustments, and you've got a Formula Vee racer.

Now you can a formula Vee racer, practical, everyday Volkswagen convert to something something so delightfully impractical?

In the words of the Formula Vee International Manual: "Volkswagen components seem to have been made expressly for use in a racing car."

The engine, air-cooled and mostly aluminum, is light for its power output and already adapted to the rear-engine concept of modern racing cars.

"Rugged construction provides a power plant which seems to be practically indestructible, even at racing speeds."

Operating characteristics are amazingly low. One set of tires will ordinarily last more than a season and one oil change a year is sufficient."

It seems that the same things that make the VW a sensible car for people who aren't in any particular hurry to get somewhere also make the Formula Vee a sensible car for people who are in a big hurry to get nowhere.

Residents Plead for Help Dogs Threaten Willowbrook

"We're scared to death to let our kids go outside. And with kids getting out of school in a few weeks, we're really alarmed."

"The other day I walked out to my car. A German Shepherd stood there, hair bristling and teeth bared. I threw a garbage can at him. But what about a child? He wouldn't know what to do."

"Dogs are running in packs of six and seven."

"Nobody has been bitten yet, but there's always the danger as long as this condition prevails."

Speaking was Mrs. B.C. Temple, secretary of the Willowbrook Civic association and one of many alarmed Willowbrook parents who have been seeking an answer to their dog problem since last October.

And it is a problem. During the three month licensing period from December through February, Novi Township Treasurer Duane Bell reports that he issued 1,000 licenses, 400 more than last year. He estimates that approximately 15 percent were for dogs outside of Novi, but there are Novi residents whose dogs are not licensed.

"We know the owners of most of the dogs running loose in Willowbrook," Mrs. Robert Hamilton said, "but we have to catch them in order to get action. Nobody's about to. And people are reluctant to report their neighbors."

In other words, she reflected, the problem is personal as well as public matter. The only dog catching services available are offered by the county, but days and weeks might elapse before the understaffed county dog warden department is able to respond.

Mrs. Hamilton also lauded the Novi police department for the efforts it puts forth. But as things stand, the problem is not being resolved.

On May 8, eleven Willowbrook residents met for the last chance for local relief. They brought their problem before the Novi township board.

They were informed by Township Attorney Emory Jacques, however, that the township had no jurisdiction in the matter. The township, it was explained, does not have a dog ordinance, and if one were enacted, it would apply solely to township areas.

"This is the first time we were aware of it (the stray dog problem)," Mrs. Robert Hamilton said, "but we have to catch them in order to get action. Nobody's about to. And people are reluctant to report their neighbors."

as the township is within 20 miles of a city (Detroit) with a population of 250,000 or more, the township is not obligated to provide a dog ordinance or services.

the first year would amount to $20,000 to $30,000. The township budget for the fiscal year 1966 is estimated at $76,500. One mill on Novi residents is levied.

Before approaching the township board as a last resort locally, Willowbrook representatives sought help from Novi village and Oakland county.

"The village told us to go to the township," Mrs. Temple said.

In response to a letter, Dr. Frank R. Bates, director of the animal welfare division of Oakland county, wrote:

"There is no Oakland county dog ordinance. The law we enforce is a state law which, when not enforced by the township—and in your township it is not—we answer complaints to the best of our limited manpower."

Financing Stymies Novi Sewer Action

With little adieu, the Novi council accepted the bid and approved the sale of special assessment bonds, amounting to $245,000. Cost will be spread over the 155 subdivision lots.

Submitting the low bid of $267,880 was Canzano Excavating company of Dearborn. Engineering fees of $21,953 and legal fees of $2,174 brought the total project cost to $291,907, $12,000 more than the original project estimate 18 months ago.

Subsequently, the council voted 5-0 to finance the village share of $47,000 by floating general obligation bonds. The motion was later rescinded, 4-1, with Councilman Joe Crupi voting "no."

Prompting the council to reverse itself was Village Manager Harold Ackley. He advised that the two issues—special assessment and general obligation—must be marketed concurrently. Furthermore, since the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission had not approved the GO bonds, sale of both issues would be delayed approximately 90 days.

Crupi, who originally favored the GO bond sale, balked at dipping into allocated reserve funds. He did motion, in form of amendment, that the $22,000 allocated for capital improvement in the 1967-68 budget be applied to Canzano's sewers. The amendment died for lack of support.

Unable to resolve the dispute, the council delayed final action.

Five firms besides Canzano Excavating company submitted bids. Nick Mercur and Son, Inc. of Detroit quoted a figure of $380,765; Bentley and Yager of Beaverton bid $347,567; Beam company of Livonia bid $363,059; S&S Excavating company of Wayne bid $369,157 and Ben P. Fye and Son, Inc. of Berkley bid $401,880.
