Touch Football Plan Ready for Action

How about a good game of touch football?

If you're a boy or a good, healthy male adult you can do just that by reporting to Ford Field this weekend, Recreation Director Robert From here.

From, who has been digging hard for volunteer officials for touch football programs for boys and men this fall, said the programs will go ahead even though few are volunteering to help officiate.

"If you got a few hours to spare, we sure could use you," he emphasized.

Meanwhile, preliminary plans call for formation of four separate programs

Punt 'n Kick Registration For Boys, 8-13, Underway

Boys age 8 through 13 in the Northville area can now register for the annual Punt, Pass and Kick Competition. Trophies and trips will be awarded to football-minded youths for skills in punting, passing and place-kicking.

Headquarters for registration in Northville is John Mach Ford, 530 West Seven Mile road, where entries will be accepted through October 6. Entrants must be accompanied by a parent or guardian. There is no charge as the entire competition is absolutely free to all entrants and all equipment such as footballs and kicking tees are provided. No body contact is involved in PPAK competitions.

When they register, boys receive a free booklet of competition tips written by Green Bay's star passer, Bart Starr, the Baltimore Colts' punting specialist, Dave Lee, and Los Angeles Rams' place-kicking leader for 1966, Bruce Gossett. The booklet includes exercises for physical fitness oriented to boys of PPAK's competition ages.

In addition to the booklet each registrant receives an attractive PPAK lapel pin.

The basic principle of PPAK underlines fairness in competition to give every boy an equal chance to win, pitting contestants only against those of their own age. Points are awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly, with points subtracted for each foot the ball lands to right or left of a center line.

Eighteen handsome trophies will be awarded locally by John Mach Ford to the top competitors. Area champions travel to division events in NFL stadiums in San Francisco or Philadelphia where twelve finalists are chosen - six from the NFL Eastern division and six from the NFL Western division. The twelve winners go, with both parents, on a "Tour of Champions" to Washington, D.C., and then to the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida.

Judy Fires 3 TD Passes

Passing for three touchdowns and running for another, Northville's Steve Judy led the Ypsilanti Vikings to a rousing 34-0 shutout over the Detroit Steelers Saturday at Willow Run.

The Vikings remain locked in a three-way tie for the Midwest Football League title. The Michigan Arrows triumphed the Pontiac Firebirds, 37-7, while Flint squeaked by Lansing, 8-0.

In completing 17 of 27 passes, Judy picked up 300 yards in the air. The quarterback, former MSU All-American, also straddled into the end zone for 10 yards out with another Vikings tally.

The Ypsilanti semi-pro eleven will take on the red-hot Flint Arrows at Mt. Clemens this Saturday night. The game will be broadcast over Station WJIA FM, 102.9 on the dial.

Extra-Point Kick Does It

Holly shoved 'em backwards 58 yards.

Combine a figure like that with a gain of only 86 yards on the ground and you come up with 28 yards net rushing—hardly the kind of statistics to write home about.

But those are the figures Northville carved out of the gridiron state last Friday night in dropping a 7-6 contest to the Bronchos at Holly. And if you subtract the number of yards lost by penalties, the Mustangs sculptured a minus seven yards on the ground in four quarters of football.

Coming on the heels of the Mustangs' superb showing against Plymouth, Friday's Wayne-Oakland league opener by Northville was a poor showing by a good team — no matter how hard you hunt for excuses or manipulate the statistics.

Yet, neither can Holly's victory be discarded. Coach Elmer Ross's eleven may not be the best in the league, but the Bronchos were tops Friday, repeatedly upsetting Northville's air and ground attack while at least maintaining an operative offense of their own.

Coach Alex Klusack sought no excuses in losing the contest, but he was quick to point out that "we've got a good

Commercial Permit Sought Salem Airport Hassle Revived

One of the hottest issues to flare up in Salem township last year will be revived on October 10 before the township board of appeals.
The controversy rages around Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Shoebrieger's plans to convert their private airport on Six Mile road (just west of Chubb road) into a commercial enterprise. Specifically, the Shoebriegers are seeking a conditional zoning permit to operate a commercial airport.
They made the same appeal in September of 1966, but the appeals board denied the request on the basis of a barrage of protests from residents living in the vicinity of the airport. Approached again during the summer, the board declined to review the application because no new evidence was presented.
Originally, four basic reasons were cited for denying the permit: the threat to safety imposed by inexperienced trainees flying aircraft, anticipated noise, possible deflation of township property values and lack of township control.
With renewed hope and added support, the Shoebriegers await the October 10 appearance before the board. They earnestly feel the tide of opposition will be turned to that of acceptance, that people will come to realize that a commercial airport would be a boon to the community.
"When my husband first approached the board," Mrs. Shoebrieger said, "we had no idea that there would be such stiff opposition. He was unprepared to answer questions because of lack of information." Now, however, Shoebrieger has documented his case and canvassed Salem residents to explain the situation and to obtain about 250 signatures approving of the commercial operation.
"There was very little opposition in his personal contact," Mrs. Shoebrieger stated. "A lot of it was educating people to the air age."
Actually, commercial airport status would mean more stringent regulations than presently apply to private airports and hence, bring about safer conditions, Mrs. Shoebrieger explained.
Under present regulations, she continued, student pilots are not supposed to land on the Shoebriegers' field, but they have. "We have tried to discourage them, but they still do it occasionally. We have reported the ones we could identify. Most people assume planes flying in this area are from our airport."
Under commercial regulations, the Shoebriegers say they would have more control over all pilots, daredevils and students. Without clearance, pilots would not be permitted to enter the field's flight pattern, which covers a five-mile radius of the field. Violators would be reported to the Federal Aviation commission for revocation of license and other punitive penalties.
Mrs. Shoebrieger doesn't feel noise is a factor, primarily because the planes will be small and make virtually no noise. "Trains on the railroad track (just down from the airport) make much more noise than our planes," she said. Although the Shoebriegers are contemplating expansion of their present facilities, she said the aircraft would remain small, generally the size of their present two aircraft. "They'll be mainly single-engine and small two-engine aircraft."
Regarding deflation of nearby property values, the Shoebriegers have a statement from the Michigan Aviation commission (MAC), the Michigan regulatory body, proclaiming that in no instance has an airport been detrimental to a community.
Indeed, the MAC says that industrial and commercial property values increase, that property owners' insurance does not increase and that surrounding residential property values are not affected.
In Mrs. Shoebrieger's opinion, the township would have power to regulate the operation of a commercial airport.

School Adopts 'Open' Lunches

An open lunchroom was adopted Monday by Northville board of education with walking students to be permitted to remain at school on a nominal fee basis.
At the recommendation of Acting Superintendent Raymond Spear, the board changed its policy for Amerman school, where all children are walking pupils, to allow children to eat at school if parents wish.
The policy, which will apply to walking students at Moraine and Main Street schools also, is that youngsters who stay regularly at school for lunch will be charged 50 cents a week. Those who eat at school occasionally will pay 15 cents each day.
As the policy was adopted board vice-president Stanley Johnston observed that he could predict a heavy lunchroom load on "get-your-hair done Fridays and during the Christmas shopping spree."

St. John's Seminary
Slates Open House
St. John's Provincial Seminary, where young men in Michigan become priests, will hold its annual open house on Sunday, October 8, from 1 to 5 p.m.
The students and the faculty will be on hand to show guests the interior furnishings of all the buildings. They feel that the Catholic people of Michigan, who built and furnished the buildings, should see them.
Located in the Northwest corner of Wayne county, at the junction of Five Mile and Sheldon roads, the seminary is maintained by all five Roman Catholic Dioceses of Michigan: Detroit, Grand Rapids, Marquette, Lansing and Saginaw.
The open house is also an opportunity for faculty and students to meet their neighbors, for many residents of the area drive past wondering "what kind of place it is." This is their chance to find out what "inside," officials emphasize.

MONSTERS—First there was that giant lily last week, now this week the Record-Novi News photographer had to sneak up on two more home-grown monsters. "It's a regular man-eater," laughs Mrs. George Whitesell, 16931 Franklin road, in describing this single tomato plant in her back yard that has lost a few branches because her children use it as a hiding place. And over at Perry Allen's place, 8639 Napier, a back-breaking pumpkin, one of the "smaller ones" in a patch, tipped the bathroom scales at nearly 150-pounds. There's no use weighing one of the bigger ones, he explained as he staggered to get this one on the scales. "I absolutely refuse to snap another picture until I've got more insurance," our photographer asserts. "Why, can you imagine the size of the worms that must feed on those monsters?"

ZIP Kits on The Way

Northville letter carriers have started delivery of 3,000 ZIP-1-1-LIST kits to every household in the area. No postage is needed, Postmaster Steimel said. The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make ZIP Codes more accessible to the mailing public and thereby increase the use of the codes in mailing addresses. In addition to the kit, which is folded like a closed accordion, a separate card is being delivered to remind residents of the local ZIP Code number.

The Lee Sizemores
Salem Couple Feted as Foster Parents

"The only unhappy moments are when we have to say good-bye, and even then we're glad for the children because they are being adopted," Lee Sizemore of Salem was speaking of the three years that he and his wife, Evelyn, have been foster parents for Michigan Children's Aid. The Sizemores were selected as Foster Parents of the Year by the society in Ann Arbor. They were presented with a plaque and certificate in recognition of their service to children at a picnic at the Dexter Huron park on Sunday. "It was all a big surprise to us," Mrs. Sizemore beamed. "I had wondered why the society made such a point of being sure we were going to be there, but I never thought of this." She said she and her husband had cared for seven or eight children since becoming licensed foster parents in 1963. Presently, they are caring for a four-year-old blind boy who has lived with them since he was 14 months old. "What's the Sizemore's motive, especially in view of the fact they have five children, age 13 to 19, of their own? Love. 'My wife had worked for nine years as a nurse's aid at the Northville State hospital and had seen so many little ones in need of care that she just wanted to help in this way and so did I.' An employee of Chrysler corporation since 1942, Sizemore is also pastor of the Bethlehem Temple church, which he helped to build five years ago about a half block from the Sizemore home. The Sizemores, who have lived in Salem since 1946, have taken an active part in community activities. Mrs. Sizemore was elected secretary of the Skyray PT-A last spring but resigned because of an injury incurred in a automobile accident. The foster children come from diverse cultural backgrounds and are prepared by the Salem couple for placement in adoptive homes. "It seems we seldom have them more than a few months before they are adopted," Sizemore remarked with a mixture of pleasure and sadness.

Housing Boom Sparks Plans for School Addition

Additions to Orchard Hills elementary school were expected to take a step towards reality yesterday or today as Novi board of education members met with representatives of the Lane architectural firm. The meeting, authorized by the board last week, was to place the work at the urging of Superintendent Thomas Dale, who contends population increases in student population will require additional classrooms by next fall. He urged board members to begin planning for expansion last spring, reaffirmed this position earlier this month, and then last week once again emphasized, "I feel that we must move on this and move rapidly." Dale noted that student population projections of October, 1962 estimated 534 students in grades 7 through 12. Meadowbrook Lake subdivision has 150 lots, and Thompson-Brown estimates that 25 to 30 homes will be occupied by the end of this year and an additional 75 to 100 homes will be constructed during the next year. Projected growth, Dale said necessitates consideration of six general classrooms, two special education classrooms and one teachers lunch-room at Orchard Hills.

Board members appeared to agree that selection of an architect is the first step. However, they pointed out that final consideration should be given Lane, since it designed the present building and probably is best qualified to draw and engineer an appropriate addition. They then authorized the superintendent to arrange a meeting with Lane yesterday or today. In discussing student population trends, Dale said he sees the addition at Orchard Hills of "top priority," with the addition of another elementary school and construction of a "middle school" or a fourth elementary school as the next steps in priority. He said he envisions the third elementary school locations in the general area of Nine Mile and Meadowbrook, between Echo Valley and Pioneer Meadow subdivisions or in the Clark subdivision. A general board discussion ensued concerning advantages of purchasing property now for future school sites. The "middle school" of which Dale spoke concerns sixth, seventh and eighth grades. He favors this kind of arrangement over the junior-high concept.

Wixom Boosts Grave Costs

Cost of dying jumped 300-percent in Wixom last week as the city council took action to insure sufficient funds for the perpetual care of Wixom Cemetery graves. Individual grave costs were boosted from $25 to $100, effective immediately, until after the council has surveyed costs of graves in neighboring community cemeteries. Results of the survey may or may not prompt rescinding action by the council at its next regular meeting. Previously, residents could purchase a six-grave site lot for $150, which, according to officials, isn't much more than persons elsewhere pay for a single grave. Without an increase, officials reason, insufficient funds will be available for perpetual care of the cemetery, thus adding another burden to taxpayers in the future. In other action last week, the council awarded a contract to the low bidder for a snow plow, approved the annual audit submitted by the city auditor at an earlier meeting, and approved a variance in construction of a drive at the union hall on Wixom road. Three bids for the snow plow—less hydraulic—were received, ranging from the low of $1,265.75 to $1,530.25. Low bidder was Shults Equipment Sales of Ithaca. The audit report, which was approved, shows a budget surplus of $85,162. Mayor McAtee has suggested the surplus be used to improve roads, and he has been authorized to procure the necessary engineering specifications and then seek bids for paving Flamingo, Fairbury and Theodore streets. Discussion or further action on the continuation of the road improvement program was postponed until the return of two councilmen who were unable to attend last week's meeting. Also postponed was the appointment to the board of appeals and a city engineering post for the same reason. In approving a variance at the union hall, the council added special stipulations of its own to insure future traffic safety along Wixom road. In a report to the council, the mayor had a letter read into the record from the General Telephone company explaining that preparations are being made for transfer of Wixom General Telephone users to the Walled Lake Michigan Bell system is nearing completion. It's not much to brag for years of concerted effort to bring about the transfer, said McAtee, but it at least indicates that the matter has not been dropped. Concerning another matter involving considerable time, City Attorney Gene Schmeitz reported that he had been assured that the city's long-standing court fight against the Detroit Edison company's transmission line through the city has not been overlooked or forgotten. Both the city and Detroit Edison have been waiting for a decision for nearly a year. Schmeitz also reported that efforts by the city to raise two vacant, condemned houses on Beck road apparently have been resolved, and that the city's fire department has been authorized to burn them down. Water problems continue to hound the sewer contractor, city residents and, consequently, city officials. Neil Taylor asked the council last week how long it would take water levels to return to residential wells after pumping by sewer construction crews stops. He indicated that some citizens, who have been without water, were told that the water supply would return within 45-minutes after pumping stops. Mayor McAtee doubted the accuracy of the 45-minute period and instructed DFW Director Robert Trombley to check with the council on determining the "normal" period in such cases. Trombley was to pass this information on to Taylor. Because of the high water table beneath the city, the sewer contractor has been forced to utilize an around-the-clock pumping operation, removing water from the ground where sewer lines are placed. As construction moved into residential areas, water supplies to homes were unexpectedly diminished or cut off entirely. Thus, while the contractor is faced with expensive pumping operations to remove "too much water", citizens face the problem of "too little" and, in some cases, none at all. Caught between this "too much" and "too little" conflict, city officials have been able to little but establish water delivery schedules, seek special permission for citizens use of water pumped from the ground by the contractor, and plead for help through Oakland county which is supervising construction of the sewers.

Firemen Plan Open House
Members of the Wixom fire department will hold an open house Sunday as its part in fire prevention week, October 8-14. Chief Robert Potter has extended an invitation to all Wixom residents to attend the open house to be held at the city hall from noon to 4 p.m. "We would like to have citizens of Wixom take advantage of this opportunity," he said, "to become acquainted with fire department personnel and the new equipment that the department has acquired in the past year."

With 'Skip City Plan' Detroit Mayor Stirs Protest
A plan to create a "city of Detroit" in Northville township, revealed in a page one Detroit News story Sunday, stirred a wave of resentment locally, while the accuracy of the story was challenged by certain sources in Detroit. Specifically, Mayor Cavanagh has called for a study on a plan that would create a "suburban satellite" with a population of up to 100,000 located at three to nine square miles in Northville and Plymouth townships. It was suggested that Detroit-owned property at DeHoCo on Five Mile road and at Maybury Sanitorium between Seven and Eight Mile roads would form the basis for land acquisitions around them. The city would be planned and controlled by the existing Detroit government but would be developed by private enterprise. Mayor Cavanagh stated that one of the basic reasons for planning such a city would be to provide housing for unemployed Negroes who cannot accept employment opportunities in the suburbs because they cannot find housing. He pointed to the Ford Wixom plant as an example, stating that the company sought unskilled labor in Appalachia when potential employees already living in Detroit were looking for work.

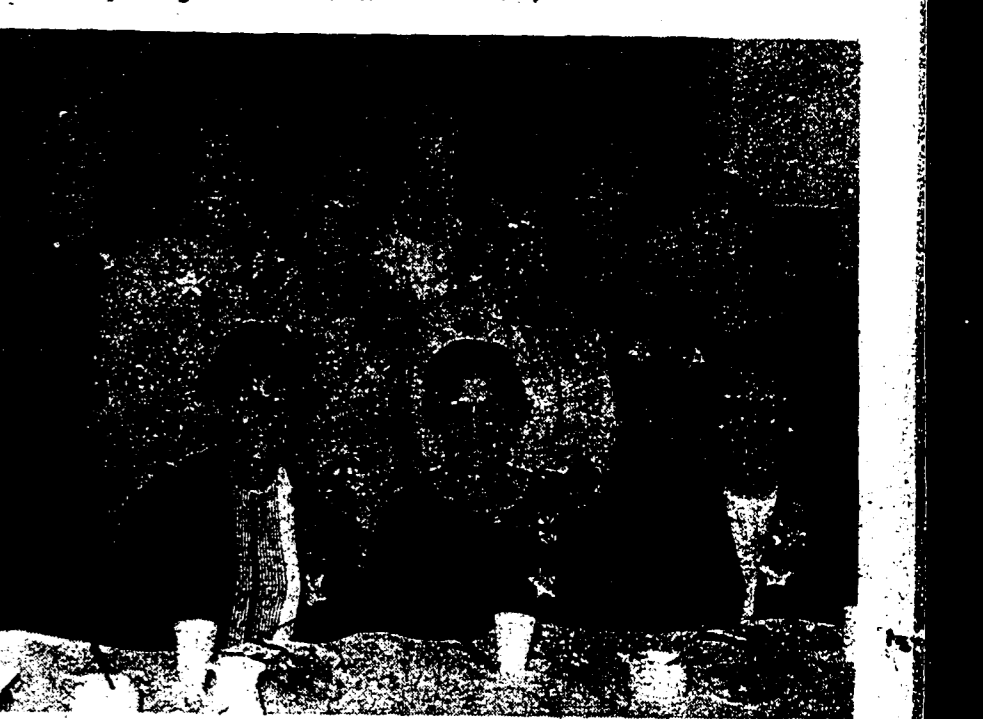

Novi Councilman Quits Over Sewer Fee Dispute
Novi Councilman Joseph Crupi tossed a verbal resignation at fellow Novi councilmen Monday night and stormed from the meeting as tempers flared over a long-simmering, complicated dispute concerning sewer tap fees. Although Councilman Leo Harrowood quickly moved to accept the resignation, President Philip Anderson suggested that the resignation would have to be in writing. And Councilman Raymond Harrison urged Crupi not to act hastily. For a brief while after he first "tendered" his resignation, it appeared that perhaps Crupi might reconsider as he continued to push his arguments over the objections of the other councilmen. But when someone asked, "How long are you going to keep this up?" Crupi retorted, "Until you stupid people will take it," and then repeated his verbal resignation, picked up his papers and left. Although it was a sewer fee policy amendment, later approved by the remaining councilmen, that sparked Monday's fracas the matter has been debated in one form or another for six months or more. Basically, during this period Crupi has waged a battle for what he terms were "equitable" methods of charging sewer costs to property owners. The arguments and counter-arguments finally led to the proposed fee policy amendment drawn up by Village Attorney Howard Bond. When the council prepared to adopt it Monday, Crupi objected, charging that the document is misleading and "full of glaring particulars" and unnecessary verbiage. As he pressed his objections to the document, firing questions at the attorney, Bond rose from his chair as if to leave and said, "I'm not going to sit in public and be part of this harangue."

Sewer Works Head Resigns Post, Too
In an unrelated action, Novi's water and sewer department superintendent has resigned his post. The written resignation of Duane Branch, head of the department for the past year, was accepted Monday night. It had been submitted earlier, but upon agreement between Branch and the council it was tabled until after an attempt was made to resolve the problems leading to his resignation. Neither the council nor Branch disclosed specific reasons, although Branch admitted it was a "personal matter." "Due to prevailing conditions I have no alternative but to reluctantly resign..." his letter said in part. In other action Monday, the council gave final plat approval for Westridge Subdivision, located on the west side of Novi road at the Novi-Northville boundary. Plans call for 37 houses. Two roads have already been constructed, site work is well underway and excavation has begun. The developer is William L. Roskelley.

Blue Star Mothers Recall 25 Years of Service

The war was eating away at the nation's economy and killing and maiming thousands of American boys when a group of 15 patriotic mothers joined together in a united effort to cheer lonely GIs. Last week, several of those mothers were on hand at the Novi community building as Chapter 47 of the Blue Star Mothers convened to celebrate its birthday after a quarter-century of service. Joining with them for the historic occasion were guest officers of Blue Star Mothers, including Evelyn Harris, Michigan department president, Nellie Leonard, past national president, and Betty Edelmeyer, second vice-president of the Michigan department. After the initial organizational meeting at the home of Mrs. Lancy (Riz) Henderson 25 years ago, the mothers met periodically at the Novi school and later in the homes of members. Of the original 15 women, five are now deceased and only four—Alma Johnston, Gertrude Lee, Ruth Pritchard and Mrs. Henderson—continue as active members of Chapter 47. With their sons off at war, it wasn't really a time for frivolity. Nevertheless, the mothers soon were raising money for a worthy cause but were having fun in the process. They sponsored bingo games, tag days, experience socials, card parties, bake sales and bazaars, served dinners to the board of commerce and school graduates and their parents, and gratefully accepted donations. "One early tag day we received $250 which was used to buy 143 gifts boxes as Christmas gifts for our men in the service," recalls Mrs. Henderson. The chapter also contributed substantially to the Michigan Blue Star Lodge at Indian Lake, where veterans re-located from war wounds and disease. Numerous other special contributions were made, including purchase of wheel chairs for Percy Jones Hospital, Easter cards for all Novi servicemen, gifts of cards for the hospitalized, games, fruit cake for Christmas, and plates of reading material. Chapter 47 headed up Novi's first

War Fund Drive, pushing the community's quota well over the top, and its members served at the Red Cross sewing center. In later years the Novi Blue Star Mothers worked at the Ann Arbor Veterans' hospital—where today they have established more than 4,000 hours of volunteer work in sponsoring bingo parties, Christmas parties, purchasing gifts for veterans such as a refrigerator, pool table, record players, radios, TV sets, drapes, pictures, nursing utensils and many others. Through the organization, servicemen receive going-away gifts, Easter and Christmas gifts. In addition, the chapter also contributes to community projects such as sponsorship of a girl to the cheerlead-
