BEGINNER'S LUCK?-Mrs. Louise Angove never fired a gun at a deer until last Saturday. The result is this eight-point beauty bagged at Nelson C. Schrader's in Gaylord. In first day competition at the Schrader's, Nelson won honors for shooting the first buck, but Mrs. Angove took first place for the biggest. Jeff Goodrich also shot his buck the first day at Schrader's. Other Northville hunters also reported kills. Word was received from Houghton that both the Reverend S. D. Kinde of the First Methodist church and his son, Kurt, had shot bucks Monday

News Around Schoolcraft

Wednesday, November 22, 1967

Schoolcraft college officials have renewed a four-year-old request for the installation of traffic lights at the intersections of Seven Mile road and Six Mile road with Haggerty road by asking the Wayne county road commission to conduct a traffic study at the two crossings.

At their meeting Wednesday night, November 15, trustees of the college expressed concern that the volume of vehicle traffic from the nearly 4,000 commuting students was creating a growing traffic hazard that warranted the installation of stop and go lights at the two intersections through which pass all vehicles approaching the

The college first requested installation of light at Haggerty and Seven Mile roads in November, 1963, nine months before the college opened its doors. The request was renewed a year later and a flasher signal was put up at the intersection.

In 1965 the college again requested a traffic study be made to establish the feasibility of installing a stop-andgo light. In November, 1966, a delegation of parents and students petitioned the board of trustees for a light at the intersection. The petition was forwarded by college officials to the county road authorities with a request for action.

The talk turned to the traffic lights after a discussion by the Trustees of the proposed rezoning of property at the southeast corner of Six Mile and Haggerty roads from the present residential and commercial to light industrial.

Trustees took no official position on the proposed rezoning but instructed Schoolcraft President Dr. Eric J. Bradner to attend a public hearing on December 11, called by the Livonia Planning Commission.

In other matters at the meeting, Trustees by motion indicated they "preferred to exchange property-with the State Highway Department, providing an equitable arrangement can be made," when the SHD acquires rightof-way for the route of the proposed I-96 extension.

College officials expect the SHO to take about 14 acres along the east edge of the college campus for the route.

Dr. Bradner informed trustees that a three-member accreditation visitation team from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, will be on campus Monday and Tuesday, January 8 and 9. The report of the team will have a direct bearing on the college's application for accreditation by the regional association.

The visitation is the last major step in the lengthy procedure which Schoolcraft officials are hopeful will lead to accreditation in March. Construction of the 32-room Liberal Arts classroom building is five percent ahead of schedule, Vice-President for Business Affairs W. Kenneth Lindner told Trustees. The 39,400 square foot building is slated for completion in July. Construction began in April on the $1,009,284 building. ***** A one-man show of photographs by Harry Callahan has been scheduled by Schoolcraft college for one month starting Saturday, November 25. The exhibit will be hung in the gallery in the lower level of the Lois L. Waterman Campus Center and will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on weekdays Born in Detroit in 1912, Callahan studied engineering for two years at what was then Michigan State college and began making photographs in 1938. He worked as a processor in the General Motors Corp. photo lab and later began teaching photography at the Institute of Design, Illinois Institute of Technology. He is presently living in Providence, R.I., and is Professor of Photography at the Rhode Island School of Design.

Callahan has exhibited throughout the world, and his work has been reproduced in a number of publications and books. The 25 photographs in the exhibit at Schoolcraft were made between 1941 and 1949, during which period he traveled and made photographs in Europe.

Feather's writing isn't exceptional. As a matter of fact, much of his material is lifted and sometimes it's difficult to know when you're reading Feather. And frequently, I find the point either dull or missing in the variety of anecdotes that he choses to fill his eighttimes-per-year booklet.

But still, I enjoy Feather and somehow his writing has created an image.... I'm certain he writes for several trade magazines, submits late copy, threatens to express dissent.

There are two kinds of success. One is personal, the other is social. Millions of people think that they are successful, although in the opinion of others they are half dead and haven't even begun to live. Others, enjoying fame and fortune and doing splendid work, may consider themselves unsuccessful because they have missed out on something.

From the point of view of the community, a man is a successful member if he produces more than he consumes.

In writing the original epigram, however, I had in mind that every man is struggling to satisfy himself. We all have ideas about ourselves. Some expect a great deal from themselves; others expect little. Therefore, when a man feels satisfied, he is successful. He enjoys a sense of personal fulfillment that is denied the man who is dissatisfied with his achievement, however great that achievement may be. I suspect that millions of humble people enjoy a genuine feeling of success that is denied the President of the United States.

Manpower Shortage Demands Ingenuity

while manpower shortages have been a way of life for employers in many parts of the country. Some of the smartest labor relations men looked early in the game for ways around the problem. But too many simply let things slide, thinking the picture would change if they waited. Demand for men and women of high skills, however, continues to increase, and managements both large and small are having to face up to the dilemma. Industrial executives have plenty of difficult questions to answer, perhaps more than ever before. But when top businessmen get together today, the talk almost always settles down to the best methods of finding employees to man the production lines. Most localities have plenty of jobless people, but these are usually entirely without training,-and too often without ambition That is why business schools and colleges are being besieged by job "prospectors" offering contracts and pig pay to boys and girls even before they have completed their education There are only limited numbers of such potentially top-drawer job aspirants. The most successful personnel officials are those who uncover manpower sources where there don't seem to be any, who have the ingenuity and drive to learn from others how they have managed to staff their plants and offices. This is an excellent time to note how some of the more forwardlooking firms are maintaining adequate crews in areas where others are searching in vain. Upgrading already established workers from within has proved an effective way of strengthening the quality of a company's position. Then comes, of course, the necessity for filling in again at the bottom. Most establishments have what is known as and enroll immediately in a company training program. The percentage of successful breakthroughs may be small, but they are worthwhile where skilled job aspirants are virtually non-existent. One large concern has 10 plants in critical labor shortage cities. It

More efficient organizational planning is being emphasized in some cases to meet manpower deficiencies. One leading manufacturer stresses a perfect attendance record, granting bond each year; still others spur attendance perfection via gifts and trading stamps. Superintendent Spear pointed out that the "retirement grant" is not calculated in any retiree's contracted salary but will be paid in a lump sum at the end of the contract year to enable this pay to become part of the employee's total earnings for the 1967-68 school year. This should benefit the employee on the State retirement

No discussion or action took place relative to the Northwestern Child Guidance Clinic by reason of previous action of the board in Motion No. 104. Motion No. 106 by Mr. Froelich, supported by Mr. Johnston, that raises totaling $8700 be granted all Administrators, said raises representing an increase of $2000 to the Superintendent, $1500 to the Business Manager, $800 to each principal and the assistant high school principal, and $400 to the assistant junior high school principal.

(Appendix III to these minutes). In considering an agreement with Ritchie Brothers Laundry, prepared for presentation to the board, it was the consensus of the board that the district refrain from involvement in enterprises or services which, according to Mr. Froelich and Mr. Johnston, have no "educational implications or value," thus re-emphasizing the desirability of obtaining from private sources those services not germane to the instructional program. Mr. Martin suggested that laundry service might well be extended to other requirements of the school program in addition to the athletic program requirements. Motion No. 108 by Mr. Martin, supported by Mr. Froelich, that the agreement between the Northville Public Schools School District and Ritchie Brothers Laundry, for laundry service to the Northville Public Schools, be

Vice President Johnston and Superintendent Spear gave an oral report relative to the Junior High sewer. Mr. Johnston indicated that, following consultation with City Manager Ollendorff, he was satisfied that the special tapfee of $6880 to the School District is correct, based on a formula of 43 dwellings (4.3 dwellings per acre) times $160 per unit cost. Superintendent Spear explained an increase in construction cost over the original quotation was the result of an additional expenditure of $35,000 for back-fill sand, the need for which was not indicated when test bores were

Mr. Spear pointed out three alternatives relative to Junior High sewer

1) The District establish an agreement with the city to pay the regular tap fee of $1000 plus the special tap fee of $6880, plus $6000 in advance for all eligible taps on the line with a guaranteed return from the City for each tap made on the line thereafter; there being no surety of the number of taps or the time when they might be made. However, if all-eligible taps were used, the District could recoup up to $15,000 of its sewer construction costs. 2) The District retain ownership of the sewer, thus guaranteeing financial returns when the sewer is tapped. In this case, the District would have maintain all sewer repairs, etc. 3) The District pay the regular tap fee of $1000 plus the special tap fee of $6880 and grant easement rights to the city for maintenance of the sewer, permitting the city to attempt collection of future tap-ins to recoup

President Cook referred same to Mr. Froelich's committee or administration for further study.

Motion No. 110 by Mr. Johnston, supported by Mr. Kipfer, that the new Junior High School be named the 'Ida B. Cooke Junior High School." Motion carried, with Mr. Froelich and Mr. Martin registering "no" votes. Following action relative to naming the new Junior High School, Superintendent Spear commented on the continued progress being made toward completion of the total Junior High building facilities. Mr. Busard, Business Manager, expressed the administration's appreciation for the outstanding performance of the moving crewduring transfer to the new building. The Superintendent indicated plans are under way for a formal dedication.

Mr. Busard informed the board of his attendance at a State Labor Board hearing in Detroit on Thursday, October 5, 1967, relative to naming of a bargaining unit representative for maintenance and custodial employees and one bus mechanic of the Northville Public Schools. Mr. Busard indicated that School Board Attorney Schwarze requested time to prepare a brief to the State Labor Board setting forth the administration's position on the community of interest of all non-certified employees, excluding clerical personnel with suggested union representation of all or none; the Labor Board to render final decision following receipt of the brief.

that the city's recreation program and the school district's educational program are separate undertakings which. in essence, should derive from their own bodies of government. Mr. Johnston pointed out that the city and township recreation programs are already involved with the school district through the use of school facilities and the like. He further pointed out that the city will proceed with its proposal for acquisition and development of the Fish Hatchers property regardless of the school district's participation or non-participation, and in the event the city succeeds without concrete support from the board it may restrict resulting resources and facilities to city residents only. Mr. Kipfer and Mr. Froelich concurred on the desirability of the District's participation, with the extent to be determined by subsequent evaluations of the program and the district's ability to share the cost. They cited a trend in certain communities to tie projects similar to the Fish Hatchery development into the educational program for nature and science studies. Superintendent Spear suggested the Superintendent Spear recalled board action earlier this year which endorsed the Superintendent's proposed utilization of the second floor of the old junior high school for board and central administrative offices. Mr. Spear indicated he had preliminary drawings prepared by Mr. Wilfred Becker, former president and secretary of the Board of Education, ready to submit to the board for review. The superintendent requested and received authorization to proceed with plans for renovating the second floor of the old junior high school building by partitioning (floor to ceiling), paneling, and painting three rooms to accommodate three administrators and their secretaries office-wise. The superintendent indicated the cost of materials would be approximately $2000, with the work to be done by men of the school custodial and maintenance staff. Old Business: 1. Pension Plan - A letter was read regarding the proposed pension plan for township employees, and Merriam said he would set up a date to meet with the insurance company agent.

2. Old Library Building - Mr. Merriam stated that the city of Northville has agreed to rent their share of the Library building to the township for $1 per year, with the township to assume the insurance and cost of maintenance. If the township does not rent the building, there are several other organizations that are interested in using it. There is also the possibility that the township could move in and then have to move out again within a year or two. The township has been offered a four room house which could be moved to the present property and attached to the old school building. Approximate cost of moving and renovating would be about $7000. Also, Thompson-Brown has offered the township acreage on Six Mile road at a future date, to be used for a new township hall. If unification does not take place, there will be a need very soon for more adequate quarters for our township business, as present office space is insufficient right now. Baldwin asked that we get some estimates on the actual cost of moving into the city as opposed to the cost of adding on to this building. Supervisor Merriam said he would get estimates on the moving of the house, the moving of our equipment and the cost of the partitions and equipment belonging to the school board in the old Library building. He will also inquire if we can have space in the old junior high building for the voting machines which are now located in the township hall. Mrs. Hammond had expressed concern over lack of space and access for these machines in the library building. 3. Drainage problem: - Mr. Merriam and Tellam have met with city officials regarding the problem of drainage in the sink hole area near Main and Rogers streets. There is to be no more building allowed there. Some thought has been given to condemning this property

🥦 How much corn in a cornfield? 💘

Bobby was raised in the city. It wasn't until recently that he had ever set

Oh, he'd seen hundreds of cornfields from the window of a speeding car. And, shopping with Mother at the market, he'd seen the golden ears peeping through their green jackets.

But when we visited the Stoner's farm Bobby actually set foot in a cornfield. And Bobby looked at our host as though he were a millionaire. "Gosh, Mr. Stoner," he said, "God sure gave you a lot of corn."

The other day we had a note from the Stoners inviting us to have Thanksgiving dinner with them.

"Please bring Bobby along," they wrote. "He helped us appreciate just how much corn there is in a cornfield—and where it comes from."

PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. Father John Wittstock Our Lady of Victory Church

Many teenagers seem apathetic and unenthusiastic, apparently because they feel there are no challenges facing them. Has modern American society really run out of exciting yet worthwhile ventures for youth or are we just overlooking them? Well I think that American society today doesn't have the obvious challenges of the 1930's. Sure there is still a lot of suffering and injustice in America but it is not as obvious as it was then. People today, not just teenagers, generally lack the moral vision to realize what needs to be improved. For example, youngsters in a given community ride a school bus through a slum district everyday to reach their high school, yet they can be completely oblivious to the conditions that surround them. If one's moral sensitivities are so dulled, then we see nothing wrong. What has dulled our moral vision this way? One reason perhaps is cynicism, brought on by a great depression and two major wars. So people today have few illusions left. They say to themselves, "Why try to improve society, since it's obvious we can't?' The other reason, I think, is "our tummies are full". It's difficult to be angry at anything on a full stomach. It is my observation that many teenagers are apathetic about their studies, their social life, but those who are not are among the most dedicated people the world has ever seen. For example, look at the young people going into the Peace Corps. In my day, teenagers were no so apathetic but none of us were so dedicated as these articulate youth who today volunteer their services even in heroic dimensions. However, there doesn't seem

Teenagers have markedly formed their own culture or society because they either feel that adult society has failed or because there is no significant role for them to play in today's adult world. In so many families the teenager doesn't feel at home. He doesn't understand his parents and they do not understand him. Family life then becomes a matter of coexistence. From the teenagers viewpoint, this is often the problem; you cannot talk to your parents. One reason is that you're afraid of them. You're afraid of telling them what you are doing for fear they will try to stop you – to frustrate you. Such a situation then leads to a breakdown in communications between youngsters and their parents. But there must be dialogue and reasonable dialogue if family problems will be resolved. This dialogue will only be successful when parents have begun to have a close relationship with their children from infancy, not when the child becomes 14 or 15 years of age. By that time a boy doesn't want to go fishing with a dad he doesn't know. Instead he wants to find all his social life with his friends whom to be that middle ground today.

We, the leaders of education in the community, have a significant role too. We must be the motivating force behind parents by giving them the necessary encouragement, guidance and most of all, leadership in dealing with their youngsters. We used to talk at parents as a captive audience. It is more important to talk with them in leading them, showing them how, by guiding their PTA, in a way that will produce

In making his 35 catches this past season, he picked up 529 yards and notched four touchdowns. Hubbert came up with eight catches good for 226 yards and three touch-

Hicks, another two-way player at a tackle position, demonstrated some bruising blocks and tackles throughout the season. But perhaps his most unusual contribution was a tackle eligible play against Clarkston that produced a key first down and led to the Mustang's 7-0 upset victory over the Wolves. Andrews, of course, continued to shine as a quarterback in his final year of football here. And Asher and Conklin

Another problem discussed by the council was filling vacancies on the board of canvassers and the board of appeals. Ackley pointed out that Kester and Bittner would complete their terms on the board of canvassers on December 31, 1967 but that Bittner was ineligible for re-appointment because election. Consideration was given to the possibility of advertising for candidates for openings on such appointed village

ing increased costs, Manager Harold Ackley reported, that Johnson and Anderson, village engineers, have notified him of a new method for computing engineering charges. Instead of an hourly rate for work performed, the firm now will use a "percentage of construction costs" formula. Present construction costs are running $100,000 Ackley said.

The effect of the change is to increase cost per mile of road work for detailed plans from $1,200 in the case of the last work done, to an estimate of $17,000 for a proposed set of drawings covering three miles of Novi streets.

Upon questioning from council members. Manager Ackley offered a copy of a Civil Engineering Manual explaining the system now in use by all such firms in computing charges for plans. Ackley cited the $3,750 paid by ABC Photo for sewer plans covering only one-half mile on Nine Mile road as typical of such charges and, as he said, "After seeing this bill, I don't feel so bad about the $17,000 estimate." With only $12,000 in the present budget for such planning work, the Council decided to wait until the December 4 meeting and a full board to consider problems raised by the unexpected engineering costs.

Council members discussed the continuing and growing need in the village for paving improvements along Nine mile road on both sides of Novi road and on Meadowbrook between Nine and Ten Village Attorney Howard Bond reported on conversations held with Novi Township Attorney Emery Jacques rement around the perimeter of the base might be prohibited. However, General Coburn said he "didn't know what the isolation factor might be," according to Ackley. "Certainly, there's a debit and credit side to a development of this kind for a community but I'm not in a position to say which is greater at this time," he said. One official outside both Novi and New Hudson suggested that New Hudson might have the 'best chance' to get the missile base. The Chrysler corporation - a major Army contractor reportedly still has ties to a large tract of property in Lyon township upon which it once actively considered a development of its own, the official said. He suggested a "horse trade" is conceivable. General Coburn has stated that the manpower involved in manning the proposed base would be sufficient to mean about $2 million a year to the economy of the area where it is housed.

About 400 to 500 civilian jobs are involved, he said, both for technical backing and for unskilled labor.

Specifically, the missiles involved in the system are the Spartan, which will intercept targets outside the earth's atmosphere at a range of several hundred miles, and the Spring, which will intercept those inside the atmosphere at ranges of 15 to 25 miles.

Both are armed with nuclear warheads. General Coburn said the system would give the Detroit area almost 100 percent protection against Chinese missiles, their primary target.

The Army spokesman explained the thin line defense system had been conceived as a defense against any missile attack the Chinese might launch by mid-1970s.

Detroit that are being considered for Manager Ackley said he would detail the proposed missile base are: Learborn, Grosse Ile, Springfield towisship

Stolen Loot; 2 Men Held

Two men face examination in Novi justice court today following their arrest and recovery of more than $1,000 worth of stolen property early last week. Held in Oakland county jail in lieu of $5,000 bonds each, awaiting the examination, are Curtis Slusher of Highland Hills Trailer Park in Novi and William M. Neeley of St. Clair Shores.

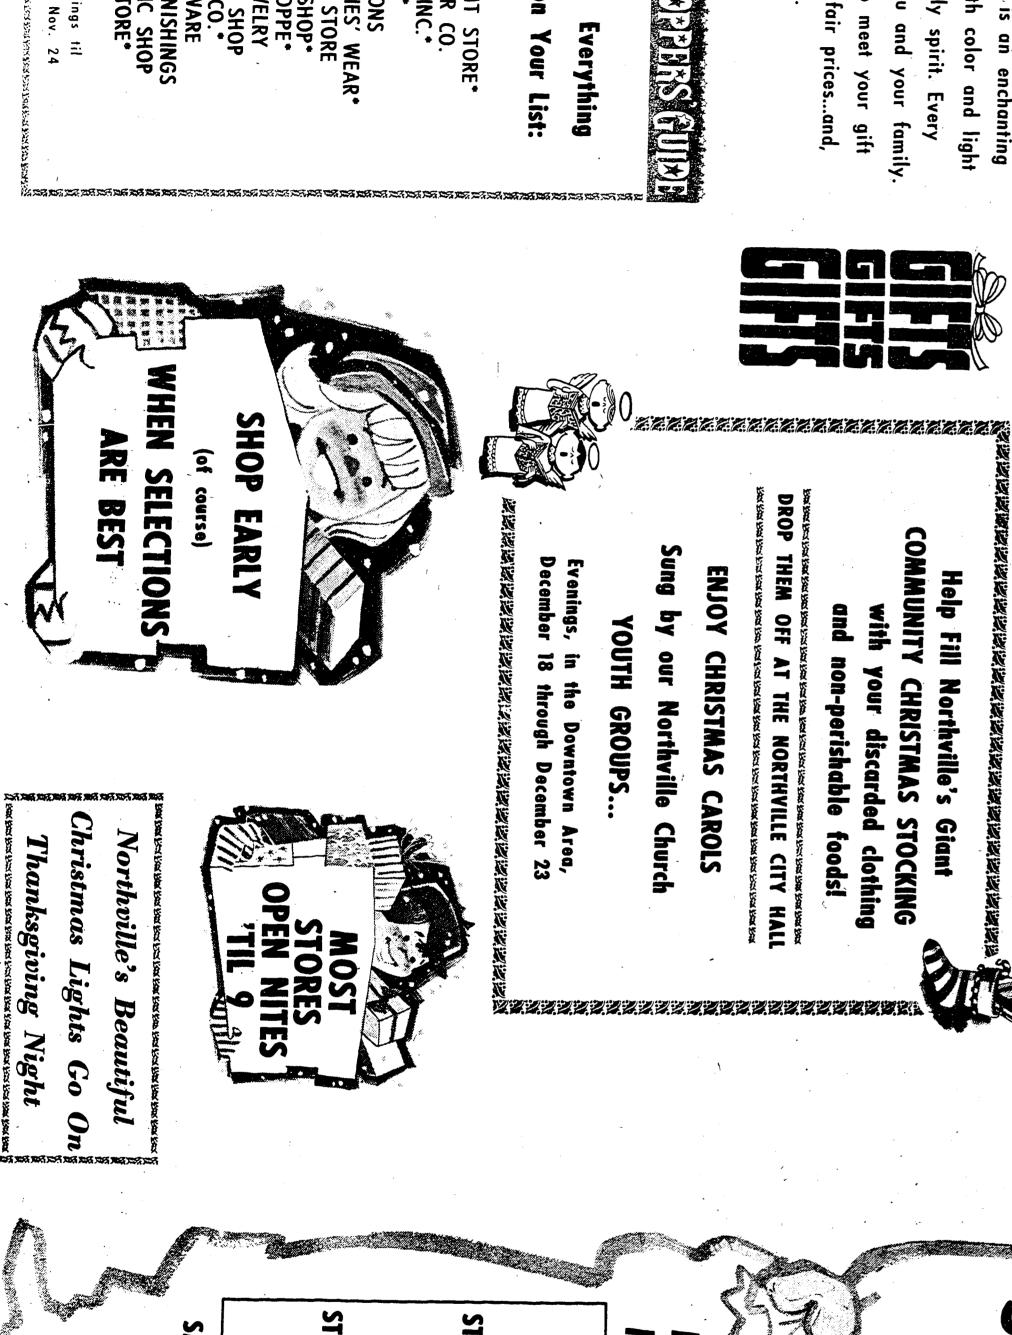

The property, reportedly stolen from cars, was recovered and the men subsequently agrested by Novi police upon a tip by Slusher's wife.

In response to a "family trouble" report from Slusher's mother who lives nearby in the trailer park, police questioned Mrs. Slusher who said her husband and Necty had a stolen doctor's bag containing valuable instruments and drugs that they planned to sell.

Pleading with her husband to return the property, Mrs. Shusher said her husband struck her and she then ran from the trailer to per mother's home: By the time policarrived and heard the woman's story the two men and the doctor's bag had disappeared. But discovery of sales slips found in a shopping bag inside the trailer led police to identify other loot a stolen from a car owned by F. T. King of St. Clair. Shores while it was parked at the E.J. Korvette store in Roseville

After picking up addition stolen property found inside the traile, police were called to assist another a Grand River and Novi roads where had apprehended both men. Although susher escaped from the arresting officer he returned later and both he and Nej were taken into custody.

Another search of the trailer turn up the doctor's bag, which was trace to Dr. William D. Hinsberg of Warren
