'What in the World's Going On'

To help fill the "news-void" created by the Detroit newspaper strike, The Record-News presents the following national and state news briefs. Television program listings appear on pages 3-B and 4-B.

Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of Defense for the past seven years and a former Ford Motor president, quit his Cabinet post to accept a $40,000 a year job as president of the World Bank.

Senator Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, critic of President Johnson's Vietnam policy, plans to formally announce his candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination today.

Despite recent signs of peace in Cyprus, fear of an invasion by Turkey mounted Tuesday as a Turkish naval task force appeared off the north coast of the island.

Michigan Blue Cross medical insurance program filed a request for increased base rates for 600,000 of its members. The request, if granted by the State Insurance Bureau, would hike rates by 4.5 percent.

With contracts completed at Ford and Chrysler, the United Auto Workers union turned its sights on General Motors, charging that the world's largest corporation has replaced union jobs through machines operated by non-union workers.

Packages Off to Vietnam

CHRISTMAS GIFTS - Norman Summers, Novi Jaycee, took a bundle of Christmas packages to the post office last week, thus completing the Jaycees' hurried first efforts to bring cheer to 37 Novi soldiers and sailors in that war-torn country. Each package included a magazine and a copy of The Novi News.

Detroit Forces Increase

Novi Hikes Local Water Bill Rates

Establishment of new water rates, reflecting the Detroit Water Board's recent price hike, headlined action taken last week by the Novi village council.

As the result of an 11-cent per thousand increase in cost of water procured from Detroit, Novi water users will pay 10 cents with the village absorbing the extra penny.

Another effect of the cost increase will be a jump in minimum water bills from $6.00 per quarter to $8.25.

The new rates were set by means of amendments to present village water ordinances.

In another item of business concerning increased costs, Manager Harold Ackley reported, that Johnson and Anderson, village engineers, have notified him of a new method for computing engineering charges. Instead of an hourly rate for work performed, the firm now will use a "percentage of construction costs" formula. Present construction costs are running $100,000 Ackley said.

The effect of the change is to increase cost per mile of road work for detailed plans from $1,200 in the case of the last work done, to an estimate of $17,000 for a proposed set of drawings covering three miles of Novi streets.

Upon questioning from council members, Manager Ackley offered a copy of a Civil Engineering Manual explaining the system now in use by all such firms in computing charges for plans. Ackley cited the $3,750 paid by ABC Photo for sewer plans covering only one-half mile of Nine Mile road as typical of such charges and, as he said, "After seeing this bill, I don't feel so bad about the $17,000 estimate."

With only $12,000 in the present budget for such planning work, the Council decided to wait until the December 4 meeting and a full board to consider problems raised by the unexpected engineering costs.

Council members discussed the continuing and growing need in the village for paying improvements along Nine mile road on both sides of Novi road and on Meadowbrook between Nine and Ten Village Attorney Howard Bond reported on conversations held with Novi Township Attorney Emery Jacques regarding an agreement between the two municipalities to cover fire protection services for both. He reported that Township Attorney Emery Jacques wanted to discuss other matters as well, such as annexation, building permits and inspections, police services, election costs and assessment increases.

Councilman Raymond Evans said that he felt that these requests from the township ought to be presented to the village council in writing so that councilmen can consider them formally, rather than in continuing conversations. Bond was directed to make a request of Attorney Jacques that a letter be prepared by the township officials and forwarded to the village council.

Councilmen Evans and Donald Fuller discussed the possible value of their attending a township board meeting as private citizens. There they could press for a letter stating what the township is willing to agree to in the way of cooperating with the village on police and fire services, they suggested.

Another problem discussed by the council was filling vacancies on the board of canvassers and the board of appeals. Ackley pointed out that Kester and Bitter would complete their terms on the board of canvassers on December 31, 1967 but that Bitter was ineligible for re-appointment because he had not voted in the last village election. Consideration was given to the possibility of advertising for candidates for openings on such appointed village boards.

Manager Ackley requested the council to consider William Ray of Plymouth for appointment as superintendent of the sewer and water department. The council voted unanimously to appoint Ray to the vacancy.

2 Clubs Plan Treats for Kids

Members of the Novi Jaycee and Rotary clubs will cooperate in providing special treats for under-privileged Novi youngsters here Saturday, December 16.

A party for some 30 youngsters is planned by Jaycees, from 3 to 6 p.m. in the community building, following a shopping spree of youngsters under the supervision of Rotarians.

Novi Goodfellows To Meet Tuesday

An action meeting to formalize plans for this year's "No Kid Without Christmas" project will be held by Novi Goodfellows here Tuesday evening.

All Goodfellows and friends of the organization are urged to attend the meeting at the community building beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Army disclosure that Novi and New Hudson are two of six sites being considered for a nuclear missile base drew mixed reactions this week from local officials.

Novi Village Manager, Harold Ackley, who attended a special briefing by Major General Melville Coburn in Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's office Friday, came away with the position that "it's too early to conclude whether such a missile base would be good or bad for our community."

On the other hand, Lyon Township Supervisor William K. Smith cited three basic reasons why he believes the base might have a detrimental effect on New Hudson-part of Lyon township.

Chief among these, he said, is the loss of a tax base because government-owned property is not taxable. "If we had a tax base with it that would be fine."

Smith stressed that the township was trying to attract industry to the area for taxes to help underwrite the

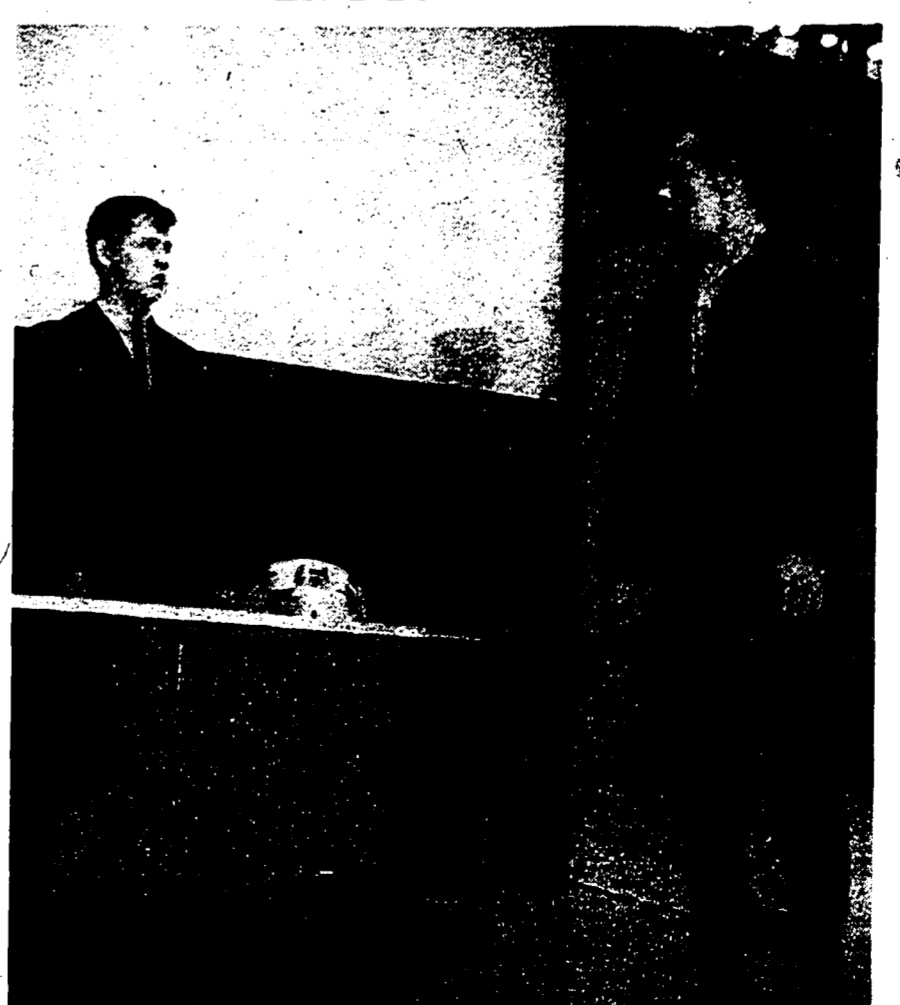

Curtain Rising On Novi Play

Novi high school students, under the direction of Calvin Schmucker, will present the play "Dino" by Reginald Rose at performances on Friday and Saturday evenings, beginning at 8:15 P.M.

"Dino" is the story of a teen-ager from the slums of a large city, his growing up amid crime and filth, and what happens to him after he is placed in a settlement home with other juveniles.

His background, his hang-ups and his methods forgetting what he wants out of life make for an exciting evening on stage at Novi high school this weekend.

Eighteen students are in the cast, both boys and girls, and at least 25 other students have been working behind the scenes to make it a dramatic success, according to Schmucker.

DRESS REHEARSAL-Tension is apparent in this scene from "Dino" to be seen at Novi high school this weekend. Chuck Hatcher in the title role meets Mr. Sheridan, played by Pat Haley, counselor at the settlement house.

Secondly, people might object to such a missile base because "it might have some blight effect on development."

Another reason-and a very important one, according to the supervisor, is the danger involved in having nuclear war heads in the area.

"Personally, I would have confidence it would be taken care of so it wouldn't be dangerous. But I won't go out on a limb in saying I speak for the people. I would hold a public meeting to get the people's opinion," he told this newspaper.

The supervisor observed, however, that should the government subsidize the development, as it has done in the south, Federal monies could be provided to the township to offset the loss of tax revenue that might occur.

Ackley, who was one of two municipal officials to quiz General Coburn Friday, was told that the community able to provide sewer and water and adequate highway and railroad communication probably would receive special consideration during the next five months when the government studies possible locations.

"I'm sure," said the manager, "that they've already made investigations as to possible sites within our community but nothing of this kind was revealed. He just told us we'd have to wait for the final report."

Ackley indicated some persons have misinterpreted part of the missile site plan. They really want two sites, he said, "one for the missile base itself and another for radar. He said the sites need not be contiguous and there is a possibility that the two sites could be located in two different communities."

The manager said the general told him there probably would be an "isolation" factor involved with the installation. But that, he explained, development around the perimeter of the base might be prohibited. However, General Coburn said he "didn't know what the isolation factor might be," according to Ackley.

"Certainly, there's a debt and credit side to a development of this kind for a community but I'm not in a position to say which is greater at this time," he said.

One official outside both Novi and New Hudson suggested that New Hudson might have the "best chance" to get the missile base. The Chrysler corporation - a major Army contractor - is reportedly still has ties to a large tract of property in Lyon township upon which it once actively considered a development of its own, the official said. He suggested a "horse trade" is conceivable.

General Coburn has stated that the manpower involved in manning the proposed base would be sufficient to mean about $2 million a year to the economy of the area where it is housed.

About 400 to 500 civilian jobs are involved, he said, both for technical backing and for unskilled labor.

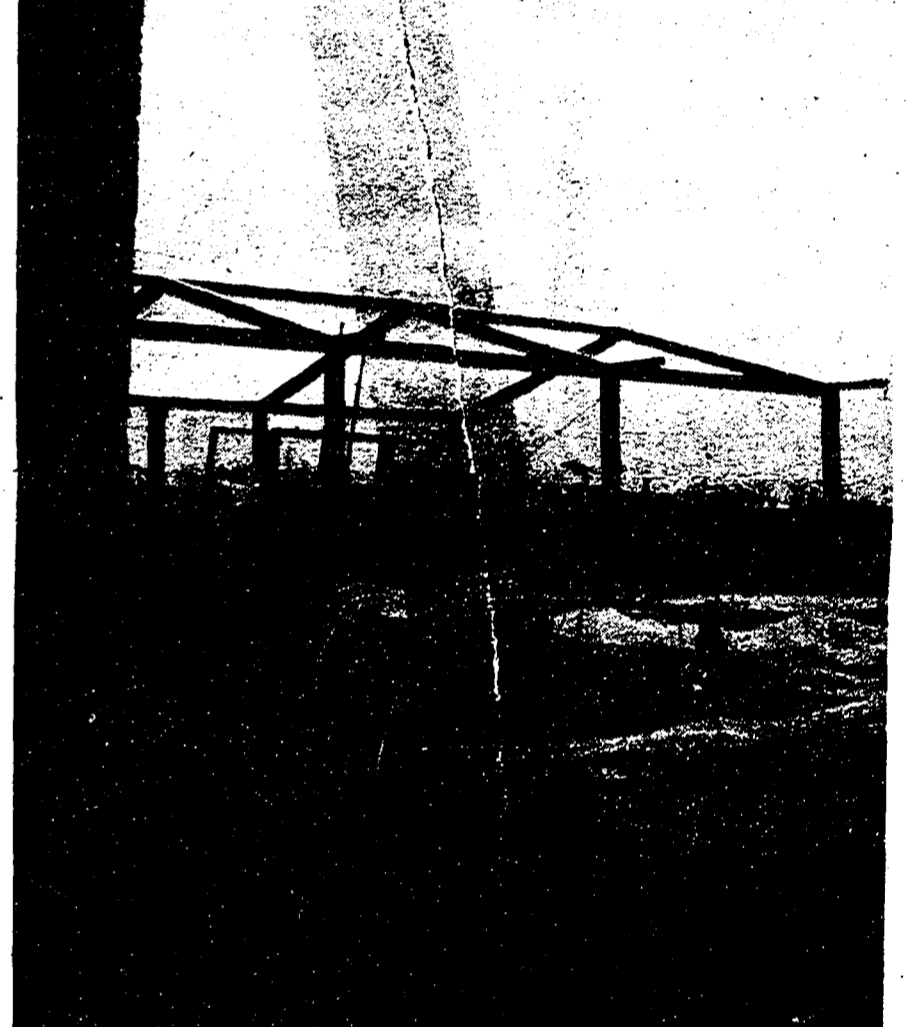

Specifically, the missiles involved in the system are the Spartan, which will intercept targets outside the earth's atmosphere at a range of several hundred miles, and the Spring, which will intercept those inside the atmosphere at ranges of 15 to 25 miles. Both are armed with nuclear warheads.

General Coburn said the system would give the Detroit area almost 100 percent protection against Chinese missiles, their primary target.

The Army spokesman explained the thin line defense system had been conceived as a defense against any missile attack the Chinese might launch by mid-1970s.

Among other communities in the Detroit area that are being considered for the proposed missile base are Lyndon, Grosse Ile, Springfield township and Waldenburg. Manager Ackley said he would detail his findings to the village council Monday night.

Police Grab Stolen Loot; 2 Men Held

Two men face examination in Novi justice court today following their arrest and recovery of more than $1,000 worth of stolen property early last week. Field in Oakland county jail in lieu of $5,000 bonds each, awaiting the examination, are Curtis Stuser and William M. Neeley of St. Clair Shores.

The property, reportedly stolen from cars, was recovered and the men subsequently arrested by Novi police upon a tip by Stuser's wife.

In response to a "family trouble" report from Stuser's mother who lives nearby in the trailer park, police questioned Mrs. Stuser who said her husband and Neely had a stolen doctor's bag containing valuable instruments and drugs that they planned to sell.

Pleading with her husband to return the property, Mrs. Stuser said her husband struck her and the then ran from the trailer to her mother's home. By the time police arrived and heard the woman's story the two men and the doctor's bag had disappeared. But discovery of sales slips found in a shopping bag inside the trailer led police to identify other lost items from a car owned by F. T. Kirk, of St. Clair Shores while it was parked at the E. J. Korvette store in Roseville.

After picking up additional stolen property found inside the trailer, police were called to assist an officer at Grand River and Novi roads where he had apprehended both men. Although Stuser escaped from the arresting officer, he returned later and both he and Neely were taken into custody.

The public is invited to come and join in the singing of Christmas songs and to share in the refreshments.

Another search of the trailer turned up the doctor's bag, which was traced to Dr. William D. Hinsberg of Warren

Nine Novi Cagers Brace Northville Wrestlers For 1st League Season Eye Conference Battle

CAGE MINUET-Except for the presence of the bell, South Lyon's Bruce Taylor and Northville's Bob Hubbert (right) could conceivably be turning through the minuet in somewhat less than perfect form. Hubbert blocked Taylor's shot and helped Northville to a 60-55 opening game victory Tuesday night.

The stakes are bigger this year but so are Novi's high school cagers who will open the 1967-68 season Tuesday in their first year of league competition. Coach Jim Ladd and his varsity quintet will travel to Hartland for the season opener and then invade Manchester next week Friday for their first Lakeland "C" contest. Like Novi's football team which just completed its first season of league play, the basketball players and their coach must "play it by ear" in bracing for competition with schools of unknown athletic talent. Without a senior class, Novi feels the pinch of manpower, according to the coach, who pins his hopes on just nine players, all Juniors. Meanwhile, Junior Varsity Coach Milan Ovesovich is working with a larger but greener crew of 24 candidates. Of the 24, 18 will dress for the games. All nine of the varsity hopefuls are likely to see action this season. Unlike its opponents in the Lakeland "C" league, Novi is a high school of grades nine through 11 only. It will graduate its first senior class next year. Presently a Class "C" school, Novi anticipates becoming a Class "B" school by the 1969-70 school year. Returning from last year's squad of sophomores, who compiled a 2-10 record competing against older varsity teams are Jon Van Wagner, state Class "D" high jump champion, Gary Boyer, who quarterbacked the Wildcats' first league football squad this past season, and Lee Snow. Van Wagner and Boyer led the Wildcats in scoring last season, with averages of 13 and 9 points, respectively. Coach Ladd points out. Mark Gilbert, a transfer student from Syracuse, New York, will help the team at a guard position, says Ladd with his fingers crossed. The varsity players, not necessarily in order of their starting positions, are: David Bingham, forward, 5'10", 152 pounds; Boyer, guard, 5'10", 150 pounds; Gilbert, guard, 5'9", 148 pounds; Doug Keith, guard, 5'9", 178 pounds; Ken O'born, forward, 5'10", Jim Prole, forward, 6'1", 175 pounds; Snow, center, 6'3", 215 pounds; Van Wagner, forward, 6'1", 275 pounds; and Joe Morrison, center, 6'1", 200 pounds. For the first time since its inception almost eight years ago, Northville's wrestling team will be competing this year on a conference basis. Six of the eight Wayne-Oakland league schools will have wrestling teams and a schedule of dual meets will culminate in a league tournament the last Saturday in February. In addition to the conference schedule, Northville mat-men will compete in several non-conference meets and tournaments, it has been announced by John Townsley, who is starting his third year as the Mustang wrestling coach. Townsley is optimistic about his team's chances this year. Several first-year wrestlers, he believes, will support the veterans of previous years. He expects to be strongest in the middleweights where experience is greatest. Although Chuck Keegan, co-captain, will be unable to wrestle this year at the 165-pound weight, three other veterans are already getting into shape. Senior Bob Baber, who took a third place in last year's regional tournament, will be back in the 112-pound or 120-pound weight class. Carl Okowal, at 127-133 pounds and also a third place winner at last year's regionals, is shaping up fast, says Townsley. Marty Richardson, regional champion at 120 pounds last year, is a senior now and co-captain of the Mustangs. Running 165 and up, Seniors Bill MacDermald, Dale Price, and Greg Wikaryasz should see some action this year. Juniors Pat Cayley and Kim Marburger are already in shape from the recently completed football schedule. Sophomores Steve Bagdon and Randy Marburger and Freshman Brad Cooklin help fill out the roster. At 90 to 95 pounds as they get into condition in the heat of the practice room are sheet-rockers Jeff Porth and Pete O'Hare. These first-timers as well as the more experienced mat veterans of previous years should put Northville in a good position going into the first year of a regular conference campaign, the coach says. The season's warm-up meet will take place here tonight at the high school at 7 p.m. against South Lyon. First conference meet will be at Bloomfield on Tuesday evening, December 5.

City Approves Leasing Of Private Parking Lot

In an attempt to better regulate the parking turnover in the rear of stores on the north side of East Main street, the city council Monday night voted to lease the Stone's Gambles store private parking lot.

Besides authorizing the mayor to execute the $1 per year lease, the council also approved a format for a standard lease agreement that other businesses may wish to sign.

Two private parking lots of Manufacturers National Bank and one behind Leone's Bakery reportedly are being considered for leasing.

By leasing the lot to the city, Gerald Stone authorizes the city to establish parking time limits and to enforce these restrictions, which probably will be of two-hour duration.

Specifically, Stone sought the lease agreement, City Manager Frank Ollendorf explained, because employees of other businesses were parking throughout the day in his lot, thus cutting down available parking spaces for his customers. Stone sought immediate action on the agreement because of the increasing Christmas traffic, the manager said.

While all city officials attending the special meeting agreed city control of the lots is desirable, Mayor A. M. Allen was reluctant to enter into the agreement on a single lot without similar agreements on the others.

Concerning Stone's lot, he was particularly concerned that citizens must drive through private alleys to reach or leave the lot. If these alleys are blocked by unloading trucks, he noted, parkers will be unable to leave the lot. And their first reaction, he said, will be to storm the city which enforces the parking restrictions.

Their only way out, he quipped, would be by helicopter.

Finally, however, the mayor reluctantly agreed to the lease with the proviso that it contain a written clause noting that the city has no responsibility for entrance or exit from the lot.

Councilman Charles Lapham, who voted for the measure, questioned the Joycees Wes Klocke (left) and Dick Koziara constructed a "Community Christmas Stocking" that's bigger than both of them! Northville Joycees are joining with local merchants in sponsoring the community stocking project. It's now stationed at city hall where residents can deposit gifts and foodstuffs for needy youngsters in area institutions. Klocke and Koziara are co-chairmen for the Joycees. They built the giant stocking with the help of Ed Metrali, contractor, and the cooperation of Cal's service station, where the stocking was stored. It will be lighted at night and have a drop-door for gifts. Joycees will remove contributions daily and make delivery of the gifts before Christmas. Deadline for dropping off gifts is December 16.

At Amerman Dinner

Kindergartners Play Pilgrims' Role

Thanksgiving dinner - Costumes that kindergartners had been make-believe but the dinner was nothing of the kind last week as Amerman youngsters sat down to a table of turkey with all the trimmings. It was one of the ways that kindergartners and children cooperated in teaching the children the historical aspects of Thanksgiving.

Kindergartners at Amerman elementary school learned first-hand the traditional meaning of Thanksgiving by donning costumes of Pilgrims, and Indians last week and sitting down to a classroom dinner of turkey and all the trimmings.

The Wednesday Thanksgiving climaxed a study of autumn, the harvest, and how animals and people get ready for winter under the supervision of teachers Mrs. Marilyn Kaestner and Mrs. Virginia Kriczins.

Pupils visited the Roper's turkey farm in Livonia to pick out their trimmings.

The Wednesday Thanksgiving climaxed a study of autumn, the harvest, and how animals and people get ready for winter under the supervision of teachers Mrs. Marilyn Kaestner and Mrs. Virginia Kriczins.

Meanwhile, other groups of youngsters made costumes and jewelry worn for the special occasion. Still others planned the construction of a birdfeeder to be placed outside one of the classroom windows.

Finally, last week Wednesday, the morning and afternoon sections each dressed in costumes fitting the occasion and sat down to the table of Thanksgiving food.

Following is the Northville school menu for the week of December 4 through December 8:

- Monday - John Marzetti, lettuce wedge, rolls and butter, pineapple and milk.
Tuesday - Chop suey on rice, tossed salad, bread and butter, rainbow fruit cake, and milk.
Wednesday - no lunches.
Thursday - Meat loaf and gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered green beans, apple sauce, rolls and butter, and milk.
Friday - Tuna casserole, perfection salad, muffins and butter, cherries, and milk.
- Alternates for these days will include hamburger on bun, French fries, salad, dessert and milk.
- Scheduled in the soup line, together with sandwich, is chicken soup on Monday, beef noodle on Tuesday, bean on Thursday, and clam chowder on Friday.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Unless citizen reaction at the December 18 public hearing is adverse, it appears now that the Northville city council will take a "get tough" stand on the matter...

lem must be solved at the local level" ... where, if further points out, "members of your township board will sit down as normal persons must arrive at an equitable and just solution."

The council is inclined to remove the responsibility for making such a decision by an arresting officer by making it mandatory in the city ordinance that the vehicle "shall be impounded for a period of 24 hours."

For many years the treasurer has elected to conduct his collection services... for the convenience of township taxpayers...

There's full knowledge on the council that this could lead to "testy" situations.

It is hoped that Treasurer Lawrence will also consider his responsibility to accept and carry out actions approved by majority vote of the township board.

But an adult will be reminded that when his car is being used by a minor, he is responsible for the conduct of all minors in that vehicle...

Obviously, it is the opinion of his fellow board members that township residents will be better served by the facilities offered in the old library.

City Manager Frank Olenoff favors a longer impounding period. Aware that incidents of minors-in-possession are increasing, the manager remarked that a penalty which inconveniences the parent might help reverse the trend.

We can recall many board decisions reached by 3-2 votes with Treasurer Lawrence voting in the majority. We cannot recall a single incident of one of the defeated board members refusing to comply with that majority decision.

The decision by the Northville township board to move its offices from Franklin road to the city-located old library building leaves the threat by Treasurer Alex Lawrence hanging.

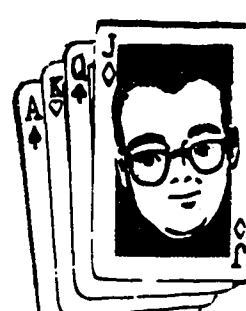

Never underestimate the power of a woman.

Absent from the special meeting Monday night when the move was given unanimous board approval, Lawrence had left word that he opposed the move and would set-up treasurer's offices in his home before moving into the city-located offices.

Township Clerk Elie Hammond demonstrated this edge when she proposed an appointment to fill a vacancy on a township commission.

An opinion rendered by the executive director of the Michigan Townships Association appears to support the treasurer's right to do so, although the opinion notes "that the question posed is absolutely new and without precedence in the thousands of questions we have answered in the past fourteen years."

Her all-male board associates agreed this was superior to personal approval.

Publishing a newspaper is a fantastic accomplishment. But over at Fort and Eureka, temporary home of the temporary daily newspaper called DETROIT'S DAILY EXPRESS, newspaper publishing is much more...

While some may question the journalistic ethics of those who sponge up the lost revenue of the two struck dailies, most must admire the daring of a guy who, risking a multi-thousand dollar investment, rents a building, buys stock and equipment, hires employees, and successfully produces a newspaper in the face of unimaginable difficulties.

The guy in this role over at the EXPRESS is Frank J. Beaumont, a handsome young man who owns a piece of the weekly newspaper, The Wyandotte News-Herald.

Unless you know the location of the EXPRESS office you'll probably drive past the place. It's located inside an abandoned automobile dealership, the giant corner sign still signaling customers to good buys. Used cars have been replaced by a regiment of employees' cars, strung out in an irregular formation along the side of the dying, pasty building.

door and the knob comes off in your hand. Then you're inside. You've been told what to expect. But your primed imagination falls short of reality. First, the unintelligible noise of mongrel English words, not unlike that of any daily editorial room, and then your eyes wander past a stack of unopened cardboard boxes, beyond the switchboard operator who sits in a hastily erected cage, to rows of church social tables cluttered with newspapers, typewriters, telephones, cigarettes and people.

It is a single, large, unpartitioned room, the ceiling held up by iron poles and the light furnished by naked bulbs, discolored windows and beautiful, new offset light tables. To the rear is the teletype machine that links this smoky room with the far corners of the world. Apparently broken, the machine refuses to cough up words from its lifeless mouth. Up front in the alcove that probably once housed a gleaming new car, a bevy of women punch the keys of typesetting machines that bounce on wooden tables while a salesman uncrates and assembles the new metal stands that arrived a week after the machines.

Unperturbed by it all in his fresh, crisp white shirt and tie, Frank Beaumont flits back and forth between his desk and the typewriter in his temporary building and appears temporarily to enjoy himself, smiling even when his little daughter enters the room carrying a single, long-stemmed rose. The newspaper day has only begun. By early morning his shirt probably will be soiled with sweat and grime. But now, as the strike moves into another day and another edition of the temporary newspaper miraculously takes shape, he smiles.

It's then that you remember that gamblers cannot afford the luxury of crying.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

To put it paradoxically, "Cool Hand Luke" is a pleasant surprise. With Paul Newman in the lead as Lucas Jackson, the movie sears the screen with a burning intensity that should brand it as one of the best movies of 1967. Simply, it's that good.

As a portrait of a man, it could qualify as the sequel to "Hud." Newman is the mysterious wastrel who finds himself at odds with the world and perplexed by his own actions. Inexplicably, he indulges himself, like a man bent on his own destruction and helplessness himself.

There are no rules in Luke Jackson's world, just as there were none in Hud's world. Rules are a temptation, to be broken, not out of any maliciousness, but out of some deep-seated, demonic passion that grips man by the seat of the pants and buris him headlong into a blind abyss.

Appropriately, the action takes place in William Faulkner's south, a teaming jungle of human emotion, where elemental humans harbor deep prejudices and set their own rules. The prevailing symbol is the sun, hot, unquenchable, that sweats the lives from men drop by drop.

We might say Luke walks into a hell of his own making. No explanation is ever given why we first see him in the municipal parking lot of a southern town, decapitating rows of parking meters with a pipe cutter.

Not that Luke is any less wild or spirited. Again he files the coop in daylight after satisfying the guards that he has indeed, changed his mind. And there is a change in attitude. Where before he defied man and God, now he only defies man.

Free once more, Luke runs to a vacant church, rather than running away from his captors. He seeks an answer. "You made me like I am," he says, kneeling in the church. "Just where am I fit in?" But his questions are met with silence.

Vacationing Legislators Escape Open Housing Heat

Car Repairs Stir Public Ire

BABSON PARK - Better Business Bureau and local law enforcement agencies all over the nation are receiving complaints about the poor performance or overperformance of mechanics at repair garages and service stations.

These complaints range from beefs about carelessness in auto repairs to howls from those victimized by the fraudulent practices of some repairmen who con motorists into buying repairs or replacements not actually necessary and sometimes not even desirable.

"Pop says you wear a zipper because you've lost all your buttons!"

But the politician also hears from the prejudiced people in his constituency. There seems to be a high percentage of these, especially in the ethnic groups. The hard fact is that when it comes to civil rights, leader's churches, labor and business are not followed with enthusiasm of repair, by many of those within their groups.

One legislator defined what might the problem faced by many. He said, "I've got to decide on this vote whether to be a Christian or a politician."

The open housing question will face legislators when they return from their recess in mid-December. How they face up to this problem will be a mark on their own records and that of the people they represent. The issue will not go away; it must be dealt with.

A PARTNERSHIP between Michigan and Belize, better known as British Honduras, was formed early in 1966 amid high expectations and little fanfare.

Called "Partners of the Alliance," the program is similar to many already formed between citizens of various states and their counterparts in 15 Latin American countries. All are run by private citizens who volunteer to help underdeveloped nations promote socially, economically, and culturally.

Michigan's Partnership program is one of the few in which a single state cooperates with an entire country's citizens. Independence will be granted to Belize by Great Britain whenever the Michigan committee on public health, for example, communicates directly with the Belizean committee on public health.

This system has worked well in the short time the Partnership has existed, but much more needs to be done in the areas of agriculture, education, public health, business development and other important fields.

A membership drive is underway in Michigan to develop higher interest in the project and stimulate greater citizen participation. A small part of Belize's gratitude and respect for this state was reflected in the naming of three Belizean cities: Mount Pleasant, San Luis and San Ignacio. The Michigan flag is flown in Belize's Central Park, further demonstration of that country's appreciation.

On School Buses

Tickets in Store For Unruly Kids
 Unruly school bus students may find themselves "ticketed" under a new disciplining program that the Northville school system will put into effect next week.
 According to Business Manager Earl T. Busard, children who are found unmanageable while riding buses will be issued violation tickets that must be signed by a parent before they will be permitted to ride buses again.
 The tickets must be delivered signed to the business manager—not the bus driver—who issues the ticket to the student nor to Busard via the bus driver. Should the violation occur while enroute to school, the student will be bussed home at the end of the day but will be unable to ride the following day.
 One-half of the ticket will say: "Dear Parent: We are experiencing a discipline problem with your children on the bus. Problem: (description of specific violation) Your child will not be allowed to ride the bus again until this card has been signed by you (reverse side) and returned to Earl T. Busard."
 The card will include the name of the bus driver issuing the violation ticket, the number of the bus and the date. A duplicate will be turned over to Busard, while the original will go to the student who must give it to his parent.
 "We should have little problem with children not giving the card to their parents," explained Busard, "because under no circumstances will she or he be permitted to ride the bus until the parent has signed the card."
 The reverse side will read: "I have reviewed with my child the

'Hi Mom' Project Underway Again
 "Hi Mom"
 These two tender words will be shared by 15 families in the Northville, and surrounding area with servicemen or women stationed outside the continental limits of the U.S.A. during the holiday season.
 In cooperation with USO, Local 4015 of the Communications Workers of America in Plymouth is sponsoring the free overseas telephone calls as part of the union's 11th annual "Hi Mom" program.
 Gerald S. Greer, president of Local 4015, said anyone with a loved one stationed overseas is eligible to be given top priority.
 Persons wanting to enter the contest or submit the name of a person should send a letter or postcard with their name, address, and telephone number to: CWA Local 4015, Box 141, Plymouth.

Deadline for entries is December 15. Winners will be announced December 20, Greer said.
 In addition to local participation, Greer said the union is increasing its role in the program this year. CWA will finance 150 calls for servicemen and women with selections to be made by the U.S.O. in cooperation with the military commanders. CWA will finance another 50 calls to wounded and injured military men and women confined to hospitals. The hospitals in which American GIs will be permitted to call home are in Okinawa, The Philippines, Japan, Guam, and Hawaii.
 Greer said local winners will be selected by a drawing at the Detroit downtown USO on Wednesday, December 20.

For Wixom County Pledges Road Support

Top officials from two of Oakland County's most important departments met with Wixom's mayor and city council last week to discuss down-to-earth subjects that will have far-reaching effects on the city's future growth.
 Fraser Staman, chairman of Oakland county road commission along with that agency's director of engineering, William Fogdini told officials of the county's plan to cooperate with municipalities in planning and financing street paving and maintenance.
 The discussion that followed was mostly exploratory with little specific information being offered. Staman said the county expected to share costs of such proposed paving within the city on an equal basis with the city. He said that between $2 and $3 million dollars would be refunded to Oakland county from the recently levied state income tax. The road commission's plan was to use some of these funds for road and street improvements according to a formula based on equalized valuation, he said.
 Staman and Fogdini urged the council to support this proposed program when it comes before the board of supervisors.
 In a brief meeting with the council, James Porter and John Albrecht of the Oakland county department of public works answered questions on the proposed sewer ordinance and operating agreements.
 Mayor Mcatee suggested that, because of the complexity and importance of the ordinance, that a special meeting be called for discussion and possible adoption. The council then voted to hold such a meeting on January 2.
 Three other items appeared under the heading of "old business."
 The problem of Justice Court workload was referred to the next regular council meeting.

Novi Council Okays Employee Salary Hike

A new salary schedule providing across the board raises for its village employees, was approved by the village council Monday night.
 The raises take effect immediately and are retroactive to July 1, 1967.
 All departments were affected by the new schedule that increased payroll costs to the village by $10,410. The raises ranged from $500 per year for Police Chief Beckole to 10 cents - 25 cents per hour for hourly employees.
 The new schedule was the work of a "blue ribbon" committee headed by J. Fred Buck who was present for the discussions before a nearly full house of spectators. Also present were several police officers and interested citizens who felt that the present salaries paid police were totally inadequate.
 Chuck Collins of Willowbrook agreed that Novi needed to pay competitive rates to keep its men and thanked the council for his support. He added, however, that until enough citizens felt the same way to get a millage increase, the council was forced to continue to operate within the budget available.
 Because current budget allowance for employee salary increases is pegged at $7,354, the council appropriated $7,076 from the emergency fund to cover the increase.
 Administration of the police department was discussed after Patrolman Dale Gross complained that he had never received the salary boost promised him upon completing his first year last May 1.
 In a brief report, Attorney Schmelz reviewed the letter from the Oakland County Ambulance Association regarding citizen payment of ambulance charges. He reported that he had written to the corporation council and suggested that the subject be tabled until he gets a report back from that office.
 Preliminary plan for the "Highgate on the Green" subdivision on Loom Lake road was presented to the council for consideration. Along with the drawings of the planned unit development, Douglas Caldwell, the subdivider, offered certain stipulations that he wanted the council to agree to regarding paving and water supply to the area. These included paving specifications for full concrete instead of asphalt, curbs and gutters and the assurance that the city or some public authority would operate the water system upon completion rather than the developer himself. This last request reflected a requirement by FHA before that agency would insure home mortgages in the new subdivision.

Layman School Boards Win Tom Dale's Support

Should the educational structure be revised so that professionals take complete charge of schools?
 No, says Thomas Dale, superintendent of Novi schools, who discussed this subject with members of the Novi Rotary club recently.
 "No matter how unproductive and erratic a board may be," declared Dale, "we must remember that specialization brings its own dangers—a professional left unchecked is liable to become a dictator—a school superintendent is no more exempt from becoming a Hitler than the most pompous and arrogant person who ever headed a school board."
 Dale reminded those who may believe that laymen hamper education and schools that laymen who are the men who built and paid for these schools.
 "Considering the sacrifices that laymen have made and continue to make and will continue to make in behalf of education, I say they have done a good job."
 Too often, said Dale, who also is a member of the Rotary club, people live in the past, remembering "the good things about being a kid."
 "But times change—and it has been said that you can't stand in the way of progress...Today times have changed—the teacher is a specialist in her own area...depth and concentration in a given area (has) often been achieved at the sacrifice of breadth. This form of specialization may be

Schools Take Biggest Bite Tax Bills Higher than Ever

A larger number of taxpayers will be forced to dig deeper into their checkbooks than ever before when the postman arrives with their winter tax bills.
 That's the word from Wixom and Novi township officials who reveal that taxes and taxpayers have climbed to record highs.
 The total winter tax bill in Novi township has zoomed past the $1 million mark, from $925,120.86 last year to $1,235,871.46 this year, while the winter tax bill in Wixom also has climbed over the $1 million figure, from $850,029.98 to $1,258,192.31.
 "Winter tax bills include neither the Wixom city taxes nor the Novi village taxes, which are collected in the summer."
 While the total tax levy is increased so too are the number of tax bills. An estimated 5,000 will pay bills in Novi and close to 1,300 will do the same in Wixom.
 Nov 100, is the equalized valuation, with Novi climbing from $25,501,236 to $32,893,100 and Wixom from $26,631,035 to $38,709,500.
 Much of the increase in the total tax bill, officials explain, results from this increased valuation. And the valuation, they point out, has increased primarily because of new or enlarged industries. However, new construction of homes and businesses also accounts for part of the increase, they note.
 Still another factor in Novi's increase is the increased assessments, which under state law must now be pegged at 50-percent of true market value. Wixom last year was already at the 50-percent level and hence its equalized and assessed valuations were

Bulging Planning Agenda On Deck Monday Night

With the year rapidly drawing to a close, Novi planning board has piled up a heavy agenda for its next regular meeting, December 11.
 Public hearings on re-zoning requests and a preliminary plat are the key items to come before the planners next month. In addition, the board directed its consultant, to report to planners on two proposed subdivision developments that same evening.
 A lengthy repeat of clashing viewpoints highlighted Monday's meeting. James Michael, new owner of the Durllee property on Meadowbrook road south of 10 Mile road, presented his revised preliminary plat for planning board approval. He had asked the board to change the 80-acre parcel from AG, agricultural to R-1-A and R-2-A, a single and multiple residential. He said he was anxious to get approval on the preliminary plat before the January 1st deadline for the new, more complex revised State Plat Act.
 In addition to the Michael developments, the agenda will include public hearings on two other zoning changes.
 A Christmas outdoor decorating contest, featuring trophy, plaque and cash award, will be sponsored by the Willowbrook Community Association.
 An award, a association spokesman revealed, will be given to resident who displays the most original and unusual ideas which express the true meaning of Christmas.
 A panel of three judges will tour the area on the evening of December 28. They'll award a trophy that will rotate from winner to winner each year, a plaque that will remain with the winner, and a $25 cash award.
 Persons wishing additional information are asked to call James Chertoff, 476-6191.
