On behalf of the city, Schnelz filed a petition in Oakland county circuit court, asking for a permanent injunction to stop Watkins from operating a garage in violation of the Wixom zon- granted. ing ordinance.

Although Judge Frederick Ziem de-nied Schnelz's original motion during Monday's hearing, all was not lost. Ziem granted a motion to advance the pretrial and trial dates. Open court dates must now be selected, Schnelz said. "This will knock four or five months off (the usual hearing date)," Schnelz stated. "The case may be heard in the นอล่า จังนุ่มไอ นี้ เกเงคนเอก

Watkins, in turn, took action to upset the city's case. His attorney, Howard Bond, filed a counter claim against the city to seek rezoning of the property in question. Bond is the Novi village and Walled Lake attorney.

Question of ownership was also clarified in court. It was confirmed that Watkins holds title to the 1.55 acres on which the garage is located. Buck Greenlee or John Doherty were first thought to own the land. Watkins contends that the property should legitimately be rezoned commercial which would permit operation of a service garage. Under non-conforming use, the parcel is presently zoned M-1 for storage. Surrounding property has been rezoned residential.

Triggering circuit court action, Schnelz explained, was Watkins' refusal to recognize a citation issued by the city. Normally, a citation is issued, the violation is explained and corrective action is taken, Schnelz said. "But they bluntly ignored us," the attorney added. Operation of Johnnie's Garage as a service station has been a subject of controversy ever since a board of appeal's ruling of November 7. Over the protest of citizens, the board granted a request for expansion of a garage for storage. Vote was 3-1.

The vote was later declared null and void when it was discovered that state sent. (Board membership was increased announced this week.

Despite a township board decision to decline participation, a public forum for the purpose of explaining advantages and disadvantages of city incorporation will take place here Monday

Sponsored by the Willowbrook Civic association, the public meeting will be held in the Novi community building beginning at 8 p.m. Residents throughout the community are urged to attend. "We're sorry the board sees fit not to participate," explained Association President Robert J. Pohlman. "We've asked them on several occasions, but for some reason they do not care to discuss. They (the board) refuse to make public their position on the incorporation at our meeting.

"Naturally, we'd like to have a local representative on the opposing side, but since we can't we've got the cooperation of one of the top township officials in the nation to carry their argument." Taking the position of township government will be Joseph A. Parisi, Jr. executive director of the Michigan Townships association. Representing the proponent's side of the incorporation question will be Village Manager Harold Ackley and former Township Supervisor Frazer Staman, who now is chairman of the Oakland County road commission.

The initial speaker will be Professor Arthur W. Bromage, University of Michigan specialist in municipal government and administration.

According to Pohlman, the meeting will be conducted in an "orderly manner", with Professor Bromage setting the stage for the ensuing discussion by making some generalizations concerning municipal government.

Talks by Staman, Ackley and Parisi will follow, in that order, with Parisi being alloted extra time since he is the only speaker on behalf of township government. During these presentations, members of the audience will be asked to write questions on 5 x 8 cards furnisif ed by the association. Upon conclusion of the talks, Moderator William R. O'Brien of the association will select the most important questions and direct them to the speakers in question.

If time permits, following the answering of these written questions, O'Brien may ask for questions from the floor. However, it will be the written questions that will receive priority. "We want to emphasize," said Pohlman, "that the association will be strictly neutral in this forum. Our purpose is to have all sides of this question (an incorporation election is slated for April 4) answered to the satisfaction of not only the residents of Willowbrook but the residents of all sections of Novi." Pohlman explained that Staman's appearance will be primarily to explain matters dealing with the county road department as they affect city and township government. However, he is expected "to plug" incorporation as well.

Staman is a well-known opponent of Supervisor Hadley Bachert, chief adversary of city incorporation. He was named to the county road department four years ago after serving many years as supervisor of the township. Upon his resignation as supervisor, he was succeeded by Bachert.

Just last month Staman was named chairman of the three-member commission. He has two more years to serve in his six-year appointment to case is open for argument next Monday. the commission. Staman lives at 26850 subsequent ruling of Judge Charles Thornburn that the election is legal in view of Judge Moore's earlier position.

With that declaration by C. A. Smith, chairman of the citizens' Committee for City of Novi Incorporation, members of the committee last Saturday afternoon decided to hold public meetings on the incorporation question on March 16 and again March 30. The meetings are tentatively scheduled to take place in the Novi community building, and Richard Bingham, chairman of the group's educational subcommittee, is to make arrangements for speakers for these two meetings. Meanwhile, the committee reminded citizens to attend next Monday's meeting on incorporation, sponsored by the Willowbrook Civic Association. In addition to planning the two public meetings in March, the committee is preparing a brochure on incorporation which will be mailed to homes throughout the community. Also, plans are

"We're in this thing to win, but underway for a telephone-your-ques tions program in which citizens may ask questions pertaining to city incorporation simply by dialing a telephone number

Presently, the major function of the committee, according to Smith, will be to get citizens of Novi registered to vote in the April 4 election. Committee members were assigned various areas of the community to encourage registration (the deadline is March 6) and attendance at the upcoming public meetings.

Smith also emphasized that the incorporation movement supported by the committee is not being financed by either township or village monies. "We're doing this as concerned citizens of the community and even though the township is using township monies to fight us, we're going to stick to support through donations by Novi citizens."

The next meeting of the committee is scheduled to take place in two weeks.

Deadline Nearing Here For Village Registration

With the deadline for filing nominating petitions for the city charter commission less than two weeks away, Village Clerk Mrs. Mabel Ash reported this week that only one petition had been filed.

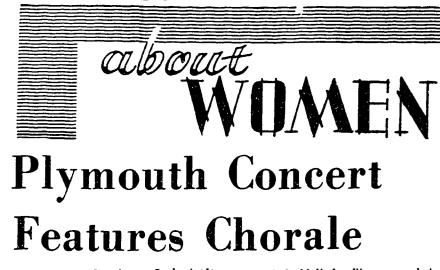

The single petition nominates L. Roy Crites of 120 Rexton in the Walled Lake area. Several other petitions have been picked up at the village offices, she said. The deadline for filing is March 6. Petitions must contain the 20 valid signatures of Novi citizens before the nominee's name can be placed on the April 4 election ballot.

The nine charter commission candidates receiving the largest number of votes in the election will become members of the commission charged with the responsibility of drawing up the charter for the proposed new city. However, if incorporation fails the election of commission members becomes meaningless.

The clerk also reminded village residents that they have only until March 6 to register to vote in the April election. Persons who voted in the last village election - in March of 1966 are eligible to vote and need not reregister.

City, School Letters

Northville School Board Northville Public Schools Northville, Michigan

Gentlemen:

Enclosed for your information are copies of statements regarding the regrettable differences which have developed between school and city officials concerning disciplinary action with your Board before final action is taken, or to be taken, against three students.

We can appreciate that there are many complications involved in these cases and that the School Board and School Administration, as well as the City Government, have been put in a difficult position. Indeed, there may be no solution that is altogether satisfactory to all parties concerned. However, we earnestly ask that you give careful consideration to our sincere conclusion that the overriding issue is one of moral integrity. The keeping of one's word or promise is of utmost long term importance in its effect on our citizenry, most especially on our young people. This is particularly significant when it involves elected and appointed officials who are expected to set the highest example and when it involves the question of trust and respect for police officials.

Compared with the central moral issue involved, we suggest that other questions or issues, while of immediate concern, are in the long run clearly subordinate. Such include: (1) Should the Police Department have asked for a promise in behalf of the accused in the first place? (2) Should any promises have been made by the Superintendent? (3) What would be the best and proper punishment for the offenders? We regret that we find ourselves involved in differences with other elected officials of the community. But, as stated above, we believe we are inex-

February 19, 1967 John S. Canterbury

Mayor Pro Tem Dear Mr. Canterbury:

This letter is in response to yours of the 18th, addressed to the Northville Board of Education. Although there is considerable disagreement and misunderstanding over the committment which Mr. Nelson made to individuals who felonicusly vandalized the buses, as is witnessed by examination and comparison of the statements of the accused, Chief Elkins, Sgt. Westfall, and the City attorney, Mr. Ogilvie, the Northville Board of Education is prepared to take the following steps in the interest of preserving harmony between the City of Northville and the School District:

1. "Live up" to the alleged promise made to the (3) boys - names deleted-(one returned to school on Monday February 13, after it was determined that his part consisted only of knowledge of the proposed destruction. He was placed on probation following a conference involving the principal, the student and his father. He has in fact, been in attendance at school for five

2. The students will be re-admitted under a reasonable contract of behavior standards, reviewed by the board and agreed to by both the parents and the student 3. Work out alternative measures for the benefit of the students and their parents on an individual basis. It is indeed regrettable that the City Council and the City Administration thrust themselves into the administration and resolution of school problems before becoming informed as to the status of the individuals involved. It is my understanding that the two seniors will earn credits so that they may qualify for a diploma from Northville High School this year. The other, a junior, may return to Northville High School next fall, if his behavior in the meantime indicates that he really desires an education. The fourth student has already violated the terms of his suspension. In view of the fact that Chief Elkins indicates that no promises were made to him, the District feels free to take whatever action seems necessary in his case.

While the behavior of these individuals has co-mingled the concerns of the School District and the City, confusion as to jurisdictional rights should not exist. The School has not, and does not intend to direct the city's efforts at law enforcement. Rather, it is in the interest of both governmental bodies to cooperate for the benefit of the total community.

Since the Northville Board of Education is prepared to readmit the students on an individual basis, there is no longer any necessity of involving city officials any further in what is clearly school business. As I stated to you earlier this morning on the phone, it is our intent to try to make the parents and the boys realize that their chances for success will be extremely small in a school situation where they will daily face hostility from their classmates, and a microscopic examination from the teaching staff. It would be far kinder to encourage the students to continue their education in an atmosphere which is less pressured and more conducive to a successful outcome for them. Such is the case in the evening school program in which they are presently enrolled. (The Board has a copy of a letter signed by thirty-one teachers at the high school which requests both suspension and a psychological examination for the boys involved, the suspension to last for the rest of the semester). In closing, it is the opinion of the Board that its superintendent, Mr. Nelson, had full authority to take whatever steps he felt were necessary in the original situation as it existed Thursday evening. His intent, I'm sure you realize, was to cooperate with police officials to resolve the problem at hand. Your attorney, Mr. Ogilvie, and Mr. Ollendorff suggested to Mr. Nelson, Mr. Holdsworth, and me last Wednesday afternoon that perhaps Mr. Nelson had not been properly advised of the situation and that he had been unfairly requested to commit himself in a situation before all of the information was at hand. (As to the nature of that committment - the evidence you supplied is still inconclusive, except that a promise of no expulsion was made to (3 boys named.) While the intent of the School District will continue to be harmonious cooperation with law enforcement officials, it must be stated here that in the future the District will not expect to be asked to bargain away their rights to disciplinary action to help secure the City's legal objectives.

We hope that the course of action outlined on page one will resolve the problem which is our mutual concern. to your satisfaction. Our major concern at this point is the effect of any action which would make the continued education of the individuals involved more difficult.

Sincerely, Wilfred C. Becker President, Northville Bd. of Education

Northville's history will move into the regional tournament tomorrow and Saturday at Flat Rock and Coach Jack Townsley holds high hopes for his bovs.

"There's no reason why we couldn't end up in the first four if we wrestle well," Townsley said. Beyond that, he wasn't willing to commit himself. Understandably.

Sixteen other teams will be competing in the regionals, including tough outfits from Clarenceville, Flat Rock and River Rouge. The top three winners in each weight class will qualify for the state tournament next week at Lansing.

Unlike the regular season duel matches which require team balance. tournament success calls for strong individual performances. That's why Townsley is optimistic.

Two of his wrestlers, Marty Richardson and Dale Ashby, were seeded first in the tournament on the basis of their season records. Richardson, 120 pounds, is unbeaten in 14 matches, while Ashby has been defeated only twice in 16 triès.

Furthermore, three Mustangs were seeded third, including Chuck Kregan, 95, Curt Olewnik, 127, and Heavyweight Dan Conklin.

Although seeding does not mean fewr matches, it does mean that these vrestlers will not be meeting other top wrestlers early. That's the purpose of seeding. Townsley explained - to pit the two best wrestlers in each weight class against each other in the final match of the tournament.

Townsley has other reasons for welcoming the tournament. All season long, he has beenforced to use lighter wrestlers in heavier weight classes because of a shortage of beefier matmen. In the tournament, boys wrestle in their proper weight class.

Despite weight mis-matches, this year's Northville mat team has won more games than Northville did in its first five years of wrestling. North-ville's record this year: 12-4. Only last year's team, which posted are holdovers. (Northville has had wrestling for seven years.)

To what does Townsley attribute this year's success? "We have gotten a lot of mileage out of our good boys," the coach said, "and others came through to surprise me."

"The kids have improved very much since last year," he elatedly continued. "Their attitude has been exceptional and they're willing to work."

Of course, Richardson and Ashby were singled out for special praise, but there was also Bob Beason, Rick Suckow and Don Sass, who, Townsley added, wrestled over their weight throughout the year. "They did a great iob." he said.

Northville finished strong, winning its three final matches within the past 10 days.

First, the Mustangs trounced Lutheran West, 33-13. In the process, they lost only three of 12 matches. Heavyweight Conklin, Ashby, 145, and Al Earehart pinned their men. Winners by decision were Dave

Then it happened. Northville's Barry Deal was fouled the same instant the game was over, thus setting up a oneand-one situation. As in the varsity contest with Clarkston, the free throw bounced off the rim. The loss dashed Northville's hopes of claiming a second straight mythical junior varsity championship in the Wayne-Oakland league. With one game remaining, Northville is 10-3. Clarkston is 11-2.

The Colts actually lost where they had been strong all season long - at the free throw line. They converted only 17 of 32 tries for 53 percent. West Bloomfield was a fraction worse, however, hitting on only 10 of 23 at the foul stripe for 37 percent. West Bloomfield's victory was no fluke. Mustangs vs. Broncos

In Season's Final Game

Uppermost in Holly's mind will be the most recent reversal at Northville. The Mustangs beat Holly, 61-54, as Forward Nelson Hyatt and Guard Ken Boerger came off the bench to supply the punch Northville needed to dispose of the always pesky Broncos.

In that one, Northville succeeded in holding high-scoring center, Greg Averyhardt, to just 11 points. But Guard Mike Beelby broke loose for 24 points, most of them from the outside. These two cagers, along with Forward Ron Ranger, are the nucleus of this year's Holly team. And on their home court, before partial home town fans, they figure to give Northville a tussle, if, for no other reason, than

The following night, Saturday, Northville played the same brand of uninspired basketball and was soundly beaten, 54-39, at Bloomfield Hills. Fortunately. Northville had second place tucked safely away in its hip pocket, out of the reach of third-place Bloomfield Hills.

two baskets was the only bright spot to seven points at 29-22. But Bloomfield in an otherwise lackluster 64 minutes of basketball the Mustangs played during the weekend. With only one game remaining in conference play. Northville has a 9-4 mark. Bloomfield Hills is 7-6. Northville was handicapped in its game with West Bloomfield. Captain Jim Zayti was benched for his involvement in a fracas the week before with Clarkston. What difference Zatyi would have made is purely speculation, but it was clearly evident that Northville was in the doldrums. The hot hand of Glenn Deibert kept Northville alive in the first quarter Friday. He scored nine of Northville's 13 points in the period to give Northville a 13-12 lead at going into the second quarter

Northville then spurted into a 20-13 lead. Doug Swiss, who replaced Zayti in the starting lineup, scored on a jump shot from the corner, Deibert dribbled half court to score after an interception. Andrews hit on a set shot and Deibert followed with a free throw Pecking at the lead, West Bloomfield outscored Northville 7-2 in the next few minutes and went to the dressing room trailing, 28-27.

Plagued by violations and cold shooting, neither team could open up a substantial lead in the third quarter. Northville held the widest margin at 40-37, but West Bloomfield dumped in a rebound at the buzzer.

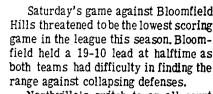

Through better than four minutes of the final period, the two teams continued playing ragged basketball until the score was deadlocked at 46-46. Then Northville made its move. Peterson tallied on a rebound and converted a free throw for a 49-46 lead. Coach Dave Longridge called time out with approximately three minutes remaining in the game.

Northville came out in a stall to set up the sure bucket. Finally, with West Bloomfield pressing out court, Andrews found daylight up the lane and dribbled through for an easy layup and a 51-46 lead. Forward Nelson Hyattadded a free throw for a six-point lead. Again Longridge signalled for a time

When play resumed, Northville played deliberate ball. And it worked. Andrews broke loose, duplicating his previous bucket to shoot Northville into a 54-46 lead.

West Bloomfield outscoredNorthville, 7-4, in the closing seconds, but the margin was too great to overcome.

Northville's switch to an all-court zone press, however, opened the game That brief flurry which produced up. It also cut Bloomfield's lead from 12 rebounded to take a 35-26 lead at the end of the third period.

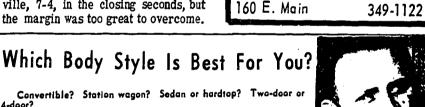

Northville continued its press at the outset of the fourth quarter and cut Bloomfield's lead to 35-30 as Peterson flipped in a rebound and Hyatt hit from the corner.

Convertible? Station wagon? Sedan or hardtop? Two-door of The perpiering question is one of the pleasanter burdens facing as citizens one of the richest economies in the world. And the iccision is much too personal for experts armed with calculators

o help us much. For the record, though, here's what your fellow car buyers, cluding this area have decided over the last six years: JOHN MACH Convertible sales have remained the same at around 4.8 percent of the market; statio vagona have declined from 15.4 to 10.6 percent; 4-door sedana have declined from 40.2 to 9 percent and 2-door sedans from 16.4 to 6.5 percent of the market. The big winner in popularity has been the hardtop. Four-door models have increased sales from 11.4 percent of sales to 12.5 percent currently. But 'way ahead is the twoor hardtop which jumped from 11.9 to 37.6 percent of the market last year as compared with six years ago. All the increases and decreases were gradual with the percentages changing evenly over the years. How come? Best guess is the influence of women buyers on the market But while women are responsible to an important degree for the aporty and femini yling of today's cars, they demand equal emphasis on mechanical reliability. To be sure that you continue to lave your new car after the excitement of new styling as worn off, keep in mind that competent and reliable service is a must and buy with that in mind.

ANIMALS DESTROYED-Fire of undetermined origin raged through a barn on the Monroe Fraser farm at 50000 Six Mile road late Wednes-day night last week, trapping 12 calves, 17 pigs and 300 chickens inside. All the animals were des-troyed as the raging flames leveled the 15 by 45-foot frame building. Firemen from Northville and Salem fire departments could do little but prevent flames from spreading to adjacent farm buildings and the Fraser home. By the time the family discovered the fire shortly before 10 p.m., flames were shoot-ing from the building out of con-trol. Fortunately, Wednesday's windstorm was blowing eastward away from adjacent buildings, Fraser reported, otherwise adja-cent buildings and perhaps the house might have been destroyed as well. It was the second farm fire within a week. The previous Sunday, flames destroyed a barn filled with hay in the northern part of Novi.

Clifford Smart have been named as representatives to the state's commis-sion for the Sequicentennial of the University of Michigan. Representative Schmidt reports that his fiscal reform mail is "running a distant second" to Eastern or Day-light Time. Among the bills that Schmidt is sponsoring are: A bill to enable Mich-igan to secure benefits available under the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966; a bill which would permit censuses between Federal Census years; and a bill to amend the Fireworks Lawin cooper-ation with John Bunk of the Livonia fire department.

Voicing great concern at the rapid-ly rising crime rate in Michigan, Sen-ator George W. Kuhŋ who represents the Novi - Northville area, has introduced a package of four bills designed to strengthen the hand of law enforcement officers in their battle on crime.
"Society must be given the same, if not better, protection as the crim-inal is currently receiving in terms of law enforcement and justice," Sen-ator Kuhn said.
One of Kuhn's bills would make it unlawful to sell, give away or loan to any minor a knife with a blade more than three inches long and would prohibit persons under 17 from carry-ing razor blades, straight razors, knives of any description or ice picks in schools or any public place.
Another bill would empower any peace officer to stop a person he "reasonably suspects" is committing, has committed or is about to commit a felony. The officer could demand his name, address and an explanation of his actions. The bill would per-mit the officer to "search the person for a dangerous weapon" if he "reason-ably suspects that he is in danger of life or limb."
A third bill would strengthen the authority of officers to combat riots or potential riots and the fourth bill would require children to remain in school until they are 17, instead of 16 as at present or until they have grad-uated from high school.

Observations of Representative Schmidt: Fiscal reform continues to be the major topic of business in the Legislature. Republicans in the House have created a "climate" for fiscal re-form by passing a schedule that takes up tax matters before acting on appro-priations. At present, the state is said to be going behind by $10 million a month, and will be in serious trouble by next December if prompt action is not taken.

As of Wednesday last week, 262 bills had been introduced by the House of Representatives and this number is identical with the number of bills in-troduced in the House last year at the same time. Some of the bills intro-duced included a bill which would allow Grand Jurors to discuss with each other information gained in their investiga-tions. The bill would be of parti-cular significance in a large metropo-litan area such as Wayne County, Oak-land County and Macomb County. Cur-rently, Wayne and Oakland Counties are conducting Grand Jury investigations. The bill has the support of both the Governor and the Attorney General as a necessary tool to fight crime in the safe.

governments formed for the purpose of fostering cooperation in resolving problems, policies and plans that are common and regional. All cities and villages, counties, school districts, and townships in the six Southeastern Mich-igan counties of Macomb, Monroe, Oak-land,St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne will be eligible for membership. Each local government will select it's own representative to sit on the Council. This committee is attempting a con-solidation of services. Mr. Merriam noted that most of the communities in the area had signed. A repre-sentative of all local governments will sit on the general assembly of the Council . . . the primary policy making body. Township Planning Consultant's recon-mendation. Mr. Littell outlined all that had transpired to date, regarding the pro-perty in question, specifically the con-struction of the sewer in reference to the construction of the Convales-cent Home Complex. He noted that at none of the meetings with the Plan-ning Commission had there been any indication of deleting the back portion. Mr. Littell noted that since the Med-icare program has been established, the need for the elderly has been increased considerably, with the gov-ernment becoming increasingly con-cerned with the type of nursing homes available. He feit that it would be a great asset to the community . . . the entire cost would be approximatelyfive million dollars. After lengthy discussion, Mr. Law-rence moved that the Planning Commis-sion be advised that the Township Board deems an amendment to their recommendation of Dr. Gizynski as originally published rather than as presented to the Township Board, and that the Township Planning Commis-sion submit a report to the Township Board, by the next regular meeting, March 7, 1967, on this proposed amend-ment and setting forth their reasons for recommendation being for or again-st.

The House committee on judiciary reported out a bill which would correct a portion of the Michigan Vehicle Code. The bill was designed to correct a sup-pression of the news on accident re-ports. Under Public Act 171 passed by the last Legislature, accident infor-mation would apparently not have been available to the news media or anyone having a legitimate interest in the in-formation. This bill would make acci-dent information and the opinion of the investigating officer public information, The current act is scheduled to take effect March 10th, unless this bill is passed and given immediate effect.

LANDS An analysis on "Equalized Valua-tions" sent by the State Tax Comm-ission was mailed to members on the board. Mr. Merriam recommended the re-assessment of land, noting that the land in Northville Township had not been re-assessed since 1958. The vacant land was reviewed in 1961 and 1962 Mr. Merriam noted that the equaliza-tion factor for this year was 1,28 and under the new State Constitutionall property must be based on 50% of true value; if they are not the state adds an equalization factor. Mr. Merriam suggested that someone familiar with land values in the area be retained by the Township to help with the re-assessing. It was moved by Tellam that Re-solution No. 6795 be adopted - said Resolution to be prepared by Mr. Ash-ton, Township Attorney, providing for the re-assessment of the Township and the re-assessment of the Township and the re-assessment of the Township and the presence of a representative of the Township and the Wayne County Bur-eau of Taxation. from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Father Edward Battersby, Pastor St. Joseph's Church, South Lyon

In the gospel for the First Cunday of Lent we see Christ locked in combat with Satan. As we might expect, victory was Christ's.

The whole life of Christ is a victory over Satan. But in this Gospel we see how persistent the devil is; he is defeated but he is not chained. Man is free and he has to use this freedom to choose Christ permanently, lovingly. So it was with the people of Christ's time, so it is with us.

Christ tells us that even though we have been redeemed by His death and ressurection and even though He drove Satan out of us at baptism, we still have to endure his attacks. We have to expect a relentless battle all our lives, especially during Lent. There can be no halfway service, now of Christ, now of the devil. We have to take sides. "He who is not with me is against me, and he who does not gather

We sometimes weary of the struggle against satan and self. It seems so permanent, so constant. One of the great temptations of life is discouragement, despair. What Jesus says in the Gospel about the evil spirit coming back again and again - who of us has not experienced that attack? What can we do? We can say, "To you I lift up my eyes, who are enthroned in heaven ... our eyes are on the Lord our God till he have pity on us."

Such earnest prayer cannot but bring an answer from Christ Himself intoour lives. The same Christ who drove out the evil spirit then is at hand to drive him from us again and again. He drives him out by his word and by his action in the Sacraments."

Meet Your Policemen

Chief Lee BeGole Novi's first and only police chief,

Lee BeGole, holds the peculiar distinction of having served two communities_ on opposite sides of the state - as chief police executive at the same time. It occurred back in 1960 when BeGole resigned from the Novi department and accepted a similar post at Cheboygan. However, BeGole's resignation was never accepted by the Novi village council and, after nearly six months as chief in Cheboygan, he returned to Novi at the urging of local officials and citizens.

At the time, dual roles were nothing new to the now 45-year-old chief. In 1954 while serving as city clerk and assistant city attorney at Plymouth he became the unpaid police chief of Novi township.

Serving with him as an unpaid patrolman was Wixom's present police chief, D'Arcy Young. Upon BeGole's official appointment as a salaried police chief in January, 1955, he hired Young as the department's first full-time patrolman. With the incorporation of Novi, his department became a village unit.

Trial of the two brothers accused of cruelty to animals in Novi has been postponed until March 2.

Novi Justice of Peace Robert K. Anderson adjourned the case, originally scheduled for last Thursday, until Thursday, March 2 because the defendant's attorney had to appear in court elsewhere.

The brothers, David and Orville Hamilton, were accused of cruelty to animals and for failure to bury dead animals early this month after Novi police and County Humane Officer Marshall London found a dead ponyandfour dead goats on their rented farm at 23633 Taft road, just south of 10 Mile road.

Last summer Justice Anderson tossed out similar cruelty charges against the brothers because London had failed to secure a search warrant before searching the farm. London charged last summer that

It has been standard procedure to set a May or June closing date, although in recent years this self-imposed deadline has rarely been met. Sessions have been extended on a day-to-day basis

Democrats argued that the legislature is now a full-time body and should act like one. They loudly protested the June adjournment as Romney's way of providing time to take to the presidential campaign trail.

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD-NOVI NEWS Don't Look Now . . .

SPEAKING for The Record

Officials representing the cities and townships of Northville and Plymouth and Canton township met as a committee recently to discuss the possibility of establishing an area "incinerator authority"

The thought is that, although sanitary landfill is the most economical means of disposing of refuse, limitation of sites (among other reasons) makes it imperative that consideration be given to incinerating of refuse within the next five to 10 years.

A possible site on Detroit House of Correction property providing desirable high elevation has been proposed. But committee members must first gain permission of their respective governing bodies before exploring this possibility with the city of Detroit. Northville township board members declined permission, at least until more information is available. The city council approved exploration of the site purchase, but also wanted more details before entering into the proposed official authority.

The idea has several attractive features. Refuse from the participating communities could be deposited at the incinerator site by truck, then the ash removed by nearby railroad facilities.

It would eliminate, eventually, numerous landfill operations and would reduce the volume of refuse at least in

But the 50 per cent remaining - the ash – creates problems, too. It is not pleasant. Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam, who visited the Western Wayne disposal plant with other incinerator committee members, describes the ash as a "gooey mess".

Nevertheless, a process that would reduce mounting refuse problem by 50 per cent is one well worth exploring.

The inter-community study effort should be given support.

Do these proposals sound familiar?

- Creation of a municipal parking authority - A full-loop circular drive around the central business district.

They were made last week in a report resulting from a six-month study by the Central Business District Implementation Committee of Plymouth.

They're almost identical to those proposed by the planning commission in Northville nearly two years ago.

The city council has instructed Manager Frank Ollendorff to write the secretary of state urging consideration be given to re-establishment of a local auto license bureau.

One local applicant for the agency was informed by the state that for the present a new office was not planned.

The Northville council takes the position that it has continued to provide driver license service, whenother surrounding communities have dropped it because of expense of operation.

"If we can cooperate with the state by providing this service for area citizens, it seems as though the state could agree to permit opening of an auto license bureau for citizen convenience", one councilman commented.

The following came from Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware of Northville. It was clipped from Readers Digest. It applies to Northville, just as it did in Chevenne...

A 15-year-old boy stood with his downcast father before a municipal judge of Cheyenne, Wyoming. The boy had been charged with breaking and entering a local school at 2 o'clock one morning. After advising the boy that he would be required by law to make full restitution for the damage, the judge said. "Because I want this to be a lesson you'll never forget, in addition I sentence you to walk around that school at 2 a.m. every morning for the next 30 davs."

Turning to the boy's father, he continued, "And because you didn't know where your son was at that hour of the morning. I sentence you to accompany him to that school and walk around it with him every morning for the next 30 days. When parents are aware of the whereabouts of their children at all times, half the battle is won."

Readers Speak Are Churches Filled?

To the Editor:

I was born in your fair town and lived there until very recently. The town and its people molded my life, shaped my future and guided me to maturity: I was very fortunate and am sincerely grateful for it. Now that I am gone, I find myself in partial omnicience--no longer a member but being able to observe from afar with an intimate reflection on the former town I once knew. Things have changed. Dope. Theft. Vandalism. Words -no, symbols of those things we used to read about in the Detroit papers. The evil, the sinful, the distasteful has moved from the inner city to suburbia--to my home town--to Northville.

I am sure that the parents of Northville--to whom this letter is intended --feel a deep tormenting anguish tearing at the inner walls of their hearts: for all generations love their heirs verv dearly.

Your youth is on a rampage. They are going somewhere--but do not know where? They are looking for something--but do not know what? Do not condemn them for what they do. For it was a truly great man that said: "The good that I would, I do not, the evil I would not, that I do."--St. Paul. But it was truly the greatest man of all that said: "Suffer little bid them not."

Are your churches filled? Do you merely send your sons and daughters or do you take them? Showing by example is the only way to show. The younger generation is weak, as all younger generations have been since the beginning of time. They need the guidence that only their parents can give. They are looking for Life and Truth. Won't you show them?

Communication To the Editor:

What has happened to the promises made last year before the school board election?

At that time, many candidates - including myself - expressed a desire for better communication between the school board and the public. One subject that generated a lot of comment was the publication of school board minutes. But I noted in the February 16issue of the Northville Record that the official school board minutes for December 12 and 19, 1966, meetings were just being published. That's a lapse of over two months. Why? Donald Bauerle

On hand to explain the application, embodied in resolution, was Edward Hustoles, a representative from Vilican-Leman associates, planning consultant to the city.

Projected net cost of the project is $1,578,000. Hustoles said. Of this amount, he explained the city will have to shoulder one-quarter or $437,000.

There are other steps, however, that the city must follow, he pointed out, before actual execution of the project. Public hearings must precede final work.

The representative said that if the city declines to approve execution, then the city will not have to repay any monies it receives for studies. However, if the city proceeds with final approval, it would be obligated.

Actually, Hustoles said, the city will not have to pay out any money. Credits, in the form of utilities or improvements contributing toward the project, may be substituted in lieu of the $437,000, the city's share of the cest.

Wixom would be granted a $400,000 credit on sewers now being constructed. If the Ring road project, now on the drawing board, is carried out, the planner said, this would mean another $62,000 credit.

In other words, Hustoles explained Wixom would actually have a surplus of $25,000 which could be used in any future project, involving federal money. the city should wish to undertake. Approval of the city's formal application, Hustoles said, is not expected

The Novi incorporation election for April 4 is all but dead. A decision by Circuit Court Judge William Beer upholding an earlier ruling of Judge Arthur Moore labeling first-class city incorporation for Novi as illegal was issued Monday. His decision represented a victory for the township board which contested the election. In making his decision, Judge Beer also stated that the election called for by the village legally could not be held. However, until the council takes action - probably Monday night - the election remains in effect.

Judge Beer left the door open for either Citizens for Novi Incorporation or the village - or both - to appeal the decision to either the circuit court or to the court of appeals within 20 days. Appeal to circuit court probably would be heard by Judge Beer. C. A. Smith, chairman of the citizens group, told The News that the "decision definitely will be appealed. However, he said he was not yet in a position to say whether or not both the village and his group or just one of them will make the appeal. Furthermore, he said he doesn't know yet to which court the appeal would be made. A meeting of the village attorney, the citizens' attorney, Village Manager Harold Ackley and Smith will take place in Pontiac Friday at which time the court ruling will be reviewed and the next course of action considered. Meanwhile, the citizens group continues its election campaign in boosting incorporation for the community. The group still plans to hold public meetings on the cityhood question on March 16 and again on Trias ch 30.

tween opposing forces over the question of cityhood failed to materialize at Monday's public forum, sponsored by the Willowbrook Civic association.

Joseph Parisi, executive director of the Michigan township association, was unable to appear because of illness. He was the only spokesman, opposing cityhood, scheduled to appear on a panel. Efforts to draft a township spokesman from Novi as a formal member of the panel met with failure.

And the impact of the forum may have been lessened by the latest circuit court ruling, upsetting the scheduled April 4 vote on cityhood. (See story on

But during the over two hour program, a near capacity audience of 102 people heard three slated panel members and a volunteer speaker for the township give their views on the advantages and disadvantages of cityhood. > But, when asked who was so eager to annex property in Novi, Staman said: there had been three annexations by Northville already and that there are two possible Novi areas that could very well be annexed, primarily on the southern end of Novi road.

> Central concern of many present was whether taxes would be increased if Novi were to become a city. Generally, the three men agreed that cityhood itself does not mean increased taxes, but, as Dr. Bromage pointed out, cityhood means a "larger municipality" vices are greater."

"I would say," Bromage said, "that people have made demands for services from a city council and they go up to the charter limitation. But you have to recognize," he added, "that many small cities live on modest taxes. And most cities in Michigan are small."

"When a township, or village or city has to meet the functional cost of ur-'banization," Bromage said, "the city is the only organization administration wise able to meet these demands." After the scheduled panelists had made their formal presentations, Turner spoke. Since Novi is not a city, and does not have to become one, he said, things could remain as they are and let Wixom, Farmington and South Lyon take parts of Novi.

In this eventuality, he said, citizens would not have to bear the expense of becoming a city. He cited Westland as an example. Recently incorporated asa city, Westland did not have equipment to remove snow from its streets, Turner said. The county told Westland, he said. to take care of its own streets.

He wound up his presentation with: "We would have higher taxes." Later, during a question and answer session, Staman explained that the county would maintain the roads it is now servicing if Novi became a city. The county would provide the same road service, he said.

Bromage kicked off the evening'sactivities. Every place is different, he said, each has its own special problems. "You, as sovereign electors must decide," he said.

He told the audience that if you want to keep the area together as a corporation "over the long pull", he advised incorporating as a city. "Sometime or another," he said, "You will have to incorporate as a city."

He cited five, state mandatory duties Novi would have to assume if it incorp-

erty for county and school taxes; (2) become a tax collecting agent of city, county and school taxes; (3) conduct all elections; (4) appoint a representative to the county board of supervisors; and (5) create some form of municipal

These are not expensive operations. Bromage said. The amount of monies spent, he said, would depend on the demands made for services by the people and, of course, the charter limitation. "We should take whatever legal steps necessary to protect our boundaries," Staman said during his presentation, "and that step is cityhood." "We will be tempting neighbors," he said, "if we do not take action." City government, he said, would cost no more than Novi's two governments (village and township) cost to day, no more than seven mills. "The village," Staman said, "is not a primary unit of government. It is an incomplete government." City incorporation, he said, would stimulate government. There would be no registration mistakes as under the present governments, he said. As the head of the road commission, he urged people to vote for cityhood. Ackley asked that the people have he right to decide, at the polls, what kind of government they want. This is the democratic way, he said, not going through the courts. "If we don't have the right to go to the polls," he said, "we don't have much." During the question and answer session, Superintendent Thomas Dale was asked what affect incorporation as a city would have on state aid to bus transportation. After consultation with other educators in the state, Dale said, he was of the opinion that there would be no change in state aid to schools for bus transportation.
