Ft. Knox, Kentucky—Ronald L. Deaton, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie J. Deaton, 2524 West Wixom road, was promoted to Army private pay grade E-2 upon completion of basic combat training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

The promotions were awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

As many as half the trainees in each training cycle are eligible for the early promotion, based on scores attained during range firing, high score on the physical combat proficiency test, military bearing and leadership potential.

The promotion was awarded two months earlier than is customary under an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

Long Binh, Vietnam—William W. Rinesmith, 20, son of Mrs. Eram Davy, 260 Glenmore avenue, Whitmore Lake, was promoted to Army specialist four December 13 while serving as an ammunition storage specialist in the 60th Ordnance Company near Long Binh, Vietnam, December 13.

Private First Class Paul M. Suobank, who entered the service on August

10, received his basic training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky.

He is presently stationed at Ft. Rucker, Alabama, where he is being trained for helicopter. He is the son of Walter Suobank, 2383 West LeBost, Novi.

Eighteen-year-old Michael D. Utley, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Utley, 777 Grace street, left this past week for the naval air training station at Jacksonville, Florida following a 10-day furlough.

Utley entered a special six-months Marine Corps program shortly before Thanksgiving. He recently completed boot training at Paris Island, South Carolina.

Following his active enlistment, he will enroll in a police administration course, beginning at Schofield and finishing probably at Michigan State university.

Ft. Knox, Kentucky—Army Private Michael J. Nagle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Nagle, 5613 Caribart avenue was his company's high scorer on the physical proficiency test held at the end of his basic training cycle at Ft. Knox, Kentucky, December 15.

The rised test, based on skills that require coordination and endurance, is designed to evaluate a soldier's physical capabilities and to determine whether he has the stamina needed in battle.

Draft Board's Back in Business

Plymouth Local Board No. 102, whose office was destroyed by fire last week, has resumed operations from temporary quarters located in the Post Office Building at 860 Penniman avenue in Plymouth, it has been announced by Colonel Arthur A. Holmes, state director of Selective Service.

The office staff headed by Mrs. Lucia M. Fedeli, chief clerk, is on the job to accept registrations and transact other essential draft board business. The board office may be reached at the same telephone number as previously—GL 3-0223.

All men who registered at the old local board office during the month of December 1967 are requested to return to complete their registrations as soon as possible. These registrants can then be issued their registration certificates which they are required by law to have in their possession.

All men becoming 18 years of age since December 31, including the week before the fire, are also requested to report to the local board to complete their current registration and arrange to receive their registration certificates.

The Selective Service Act requires all young men to register on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter. Thus all males becoming 18 will report to a draft board on a continuing basis to be registered.

Records of Local Board No. 102 are now being reconstructed based on duplicate copies at the state headquarters in Lansing. As Selective Service files are reconstructed in the future, registrants will be advised by letter of any additional records required.

Members of Local Board No. 102, who will review all classification actions as the records are reconstructed, are Judge John L. Mokorsky of Inkster, chairman; Leonard Broquet of Northville, secretary; and Vernon Becker of Detroit, Joseph S. Griebel of Livonia and George P. Manoles of Northville.

Northville Enters 'Cleanest' Contest

Northville has entered the 1967 National Clean Up Contest. Its entry has been received at Contest headquarters in Washington, D.C.

The National Clean Up Contest, which is the oldest and largest competition of its kind in the United States, is sponsored by the National Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Bureau.

"The progressive, civic-minded people of this community are to be congratulated for their accomplishments," said Bureau Director R. H. Hachenshah. "The results they achieved show that these citizens have accepted the challenge to work in partnership with organizations and departments of city government to attack the problem areas of their community."

The contest entry, in scrapbook form, will be judged with entries from other cities and towns of the same size throughout the country. All entries are judged in one of the three following population categories: Under 25,000 people; Between 25,000 and 250,000 people; and Over 250,000 people. Judging will take place in late January, and the results will be announced then.

Those communities receiving an engraved trophy, a distinguished achievement award, or a certificate of honorable mention will accept their awards at the Cleanest Town Conference, February 18-20, in Washington, D.C. The highest possible award, the Trigg Trophy, will go to one city, regardless of size, which the judges decide best exemplifies the principles of the Bureau's nationwide community improvement program.

Film Series Set At Salem Church

Called the "most detailed depiction of the life of Christ ever filmed," the Living Christ film series is to be presented in 12 full-color episodes of 30 minutes each by the Salem Congregational Christian church beginning at 7 p.m. January 28.

Police Call It 'Juvenile Mobility' Cars, Cash, Time Aid Delinquency

EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the second of a series of articles on young people and the law. The series explores behavior patterns of young people, violations, and the thinking and planning of law enforcement personnel in the Northville-Nowi area on topics of prevention, control and how young people and communities can best be served while living as part of a sprawling urban complex.

While some communities in the metropolitan area might be islands politically, where law enforcement and youth are concerned it's more like one vast neighborhood.

Cars, cash, time and good roads give our youngsters a mobility that far exceeds that of most adults. When Novi or Northville police stop a youthful driver quite frequently he or she is from another community. Whatever the motivation, young people with cars tend to leave the home community—often without parental knowledge and against parental wishes.

This tendency to leave the home community, and perhaps drive or behave differently when away, can provide opportunity to achieve a high-priority aim of authorities working with youth. That is, to make the parents aware of and get them involved with their youngsters' behavior that makes difficulty for the youngster and the communities.

For example, the father of a Westland boy was working a night shift in a factory. He was unconcerned about his car, which he thought was at rest in the plant lot. He was unaware that his teenage son had a key to the car, was taking it from the lot, joy riding around the area and returning the car before his father's work ended.

The father was made aware of the practice when Northville police stopped the youngster for a traffic violation. In another case a Northville boy removed a car from a local parking lot. Northville police did not locate the car. Farmington police apprehended the youth when the car was stopped for racing on Farmington streets.

A most important service local police offer in these situations is to establish communications into the youth's home community.

Novi and Northville police spokesmen regard this communication as critically important. It is related to the practice of impounding of cars on the

Annual March of Dimes Mothers Seek Donations To Combat Birth Defects

Several hundred mothers in the Northville-Nowi area will join thousands of volunteers in Wayne and Oakland counties in the annual Mothers' March to be held during the day and evening of Tuesday, January 30.

In Northville areas where the collection is not made in the daytime, residents are asked to turn on porch lights to welcome the mother volunteers. Because of winter weather conditions, Novi mothers will do most of their collecting in advance.

This collection in the March of Dimes' 30th anniversary campaign is the most important event of the month-long drive to expand a three-point program of medical care, scientific research and public education in the fight against birth defects. John Steinel, Northville general chairman, pointed out as he announced several area fundraising events to be held during the campaign.

These include a Cavern Battle of the Bands, February 3; a jazz band concert, tentatively set for February 8; and a faculty basketball game.

Working with Steinel, Northville postmaster who is representing the American Legion Post 147, are Mrs. Joseph Kluesner and Mrs. Omar Harrison.

New Hudson Aids Family

The community of New Hudson will sponsor a "coffee break" benefit tomorrow for the Edward Fitzsimmons family whose service station was destroyed by fire January 11. The benefit will be held at the New Hudson Methodist Church from 3 to 8 p.m.

Mearns, Melborne Cash, who was burned in the explosive fire, remains in critical condition at University Hospital. Residents donated money to defray his medical expenses last week.

Department of Public Works Director Robert Trombley participated in the discussion about the dispatching service, seeking to improve communications for operations involving his department.

9 Candidates File in Wixom

Contests for mayor of Wixom and three council seats to be filled in the April 1 elections developed this week as petitions were filed for seven candidates for council and two for mayor.

Incumbent Mayor Wesley McEneaney will face a challenge from Frank J. Jankins, former Wixom police chief, on the April 1 date.

The seven aspirants for the three council seats must stand a primary election, scheduled for February 20, to reduce the yield by one.

Incumbent Councilmen Oscar Simmons and Gunnar Mettala will be joined in the primary contest by William Alfred, Charles McCall, Mary Farva, Kathryn Miner and Nell Taylor.

A third incumbent councilman, Donald Nissen, is not running.

In Wixom Howard Croft Named Constable

The Wixom city council appointed Howard Croft to the vacant constable post but postponed action on appointments to fill vacancies on the planning commission and board of canvassers.

Acting on Mayor Wesley McEneaney's recommendation the council appointed Croft, a dairy farmer and life-long Wixom resident to the unsalaried position. The appointment is for an unspecified term. The appointee serves at the pleasure of the council. He is paid on a fee basis.

Acting in response to notice of impending deadlines for governmental units to comment on applications for renewal of Class C liquor licenses, the council decided to take more time and consider the topic at another early meeting.

Among other business, the council heard Wixom Police Chief D'Arcy Young report on possibilities of acquiring post-graduate police dispatching service from Walled Lake. At council request, the Mayor directed Young to procure more detailed information about equipment needs and other factors involved should Wixom decide to service its own dispatching needs.

An invitation from the Pontiac police department inviting Wixom participation in a meeting to explore development of pinpoint specific locations in which volunteers will solicit funds for the continuing battle against crippling diseases and birth defects.

Young was authorized to attend an exploratory meeting on the matter and report back to the council.

Opening of bids for installation of a concrete floor and a vehicle hoist in the new DPW garage brought approval of a low bid from Joe Reimer of Walled Lake. His bid was for $1,970. Council received recommendation of the contractor from Trombley. The winning bid for the hoist was from Colman Supply company of Detroit at $3,131.61.

FUN TICKETS — Available now from any Novi board of commerce officer, this year's Ladies Night tickets are a sure bet on fun and tasty eating. Featuring radio station WJR's popular Bud Guest as guest speaker, the February 10 program includes a 7 p.m. dinner served up by the Novi Rebekah Lodge in the community building. Tickets may be secured for a $3.50 donation each—from any one of these three officers, Russell Taylor, president, Florence Harris, treasurer, or Peter Alcala, secretary.

Post Office Move Revealed

Novi's post office will be moved to new quarters within two months, The Novi News learned Thursday.

According to Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, a contract has been awarded to Mrs. Francisella Meier for lease of new quarters at 45359 Grand River.

He said the move is aimed at improving postal operations here.

Under the department's lease construction program, Mrs. Meier will improve the building, located just west of Novi road on the south side of Grand River, and lease it to the department for five years with three three-year renewal options of the lease band.

The newer one-story building will offer more working room than the present facility, he said. It will have an interior space of 1,798 square feet of parking and maneuvering area.

He explained that the department's capital investment is limited substantially to postal equipment. The building will remain under private ownership, with the owner — Mrs. Meier, paying local real estate taxes.

The present post office building is owned by Frazer Staman, former Novi supervisor.

"This new project," said O'Brien, "is in accordance with our policy of building new post offices only where they are urgently needed. We are constantly reassessing our construction program to determine whether present buildings can be altered or remodeled to take care of our expanding mail volume.

"We now have about 45,000 postal locations throughout the country handling an anticipated volume of 82.5 billion pieces of mail for the 1967-68 fiscal year. By 1970 it is expected to rise to 80 billion.

"Our employees are doing a great job of processing the mail. But it is clear that if we are to meet the demands of our growing population we must make use of the best mechanical equipment available in areas where it is economically justified.

"We are also constantly seeking to develop new ideas and new postal techniques, such as ZIP Code, to help process the mail more efficiently and economically."

Hospital Fund Short of Goal

With $21,000 in cash and pledges received to date toward making an interdenominational chapel within the Northville State hospital complex a reality, the campaign for the remaining $10,000 in cash needed before construction can commence is being accelerated this month.

Mrs. L. M. Eaton, auxiliary president, announces that an intensified effort will be made to obtain the additional money to start remodeling.

The chapel is to be located on the second floor of the administration building in an area now designated for office space but not used. Total cost of changes and equipment to remodel it into a Synagogue seating 30 and a Catholic and Protestant chapel seating 50 each is estimated at $30,000.

As projected, the chapel area in the hospital will be in easy access of the patients who can use the elevator. The nave of the Catholic and Protestant chapel will be designed so that it can be used for a single, separate service seating 100. Three officers are to be provided for the chaplains. There also will be conference, meeting and storage facilities.

The initial drive for a chapel was begun by the auxiliary about three years ago in awareness of the fact that the hospital has no facilities for religious services. Chaplains conduct regular services in the teaching auditorium.

Dr. E. G. Yudashkin, medical superintendent at the hospital, points out that this arrangement is unsatisfactory as the auditorium lacks appointments common to chapels and the patients have no chapel in which to meditate when religious services are not being held.

In endorsing the auxiliary's project, now headed by a special chapel committee, Dr. Yudashkin said there are so many needs at the hospital that it is impossible for the auxiliary to take on responsibility of building a chapel.

The auxiliary's original donation to the chapel fund of $2,300 kicked off the campaign and is earmarked for paneling. The Detroit Archdiocese Council of Catholic Women increased the opening sum to $4,000. Other donations, Mrs. Eaton said this week, have brought the cash total to $11,000.

Heading the chapel committee are Rabbi S. Gruskin, Reverend George Jerome, Reverend Paul Lederman, Reverend David Romberg and Burt Wolf.

Area sponsors of the project include Mrs. Walter L. Couse, A. Russell Clarke, Northville; Wilbur V. Brotherhood, Dr. Conrad R. Lam, Farmington; Aldrick Bellaire, Bedford; Harvey W. Moelke, Rolland H. Upton, Philip Power, Judge James McCann, Livonia; Martha W. Griffiths, Detroit.

Donations to the project are tax deductible. Checks may be made payable to Northville State hospital chapel fund. Speakers for groups are available through Mrs. Eaton, 345-1707.

ECSTASY is the name of the 42-foot sloop on which the John Moorheads of Woodhill road and two other couples sailed the Caribbean on a two-week vacation that Mrs. Moorhead admits was "ecstasy."

The Moorheads returned last week from their sailing adventure, reflecting their days of sunbasking on deck. They had flown to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands to board the sloop.

This was a first ocean-sailing adventure for the Moorheads, who are experienced. Great Lakes sailors and who have their own boat for Michigan lakes. The other couple's so were experts, Mrs. Moorhead relates, so that all went smoothly with their days spent snorkeling and riding the great ocean swells.

They were on board the entire time except for a stop at a British cove for a bath and dinner out. The excitement was computed and sent out the first week in February.

She urged that all monthly games be played to date with scores through January in the hands of league chairmen by the end of the month. Play began in September with members meeting in monthly tournaments through May. Scores are reported to Mrs. Glenn Deibert, Mrs. B. Photo Exhibit Slated For Symphony Concert

An added feature at the annual family concert to be given by the Plymouth symphony orchestra at 4 p.m. Sunday in the Plymouth high school auditorium will be a one-man photographic exhibition in the lobby by Robert Webber.

Webber, owner of the Northville Camera Shop and Webber Studio, is including pictures on a wide variety of subjects in the display for concertgoers to see before or after the concert and at intermission. A past president of the symphony association, he will show photographs taken at the Christmas-season presentation of "Hansel and Gretel" by the symphony.

The family concert program includes "Cindy," from "Kentucky Mountain Portraits" by Mitchell; "Rootabaga Suite," based on the "Rootabaga Stories" by Carl Sandburg by Wynn York; "Studies on Themes of Paul Klee" by Gunther Schuller; and "Pictures from an Exhibition" by Mussorgsky-Ravel.

Wayne Dunlap will be conducting. It is announced that there will be no baby-sitting facilities for this concert as it is planned as a family event.

Pupils Cost Principal Her Job

Mrs. Cooke Wanders Through Years of Memories

"I hope a lot of them come; I'd feel better about it if they did. I just don't know how I'll act. Do you think they'll come?"

Mrs. Ida B. Cooke, 79, was reminiscing, looking through a pile of yearbooks as she prepares herself for Sunday's dedication of the new Northville junior high school that bears her name.

She worried a little about her hair, about her appearance, but mostly about how to come herself for this thrilling new experience. That's why she's sharing her former students will share it with her. Their presence, she explained, will make it easier, more meaningful.

Ida B. Cooke (she's used the initials of her maiden name, Barley, for years because years ago there were two other Ida Cookes living in Northville) retired from the Northville school system a dozen years ago after serving as teacher, principal and teacher again for 38 years.

Born in Canada, she moved to Northville from Free Soil, Michigan in 1917. Her husband, a lumberman, died in 1942. "I thought I could maybe get a job as a substitute, or maybe teach in a country school. But he (superintendent) called me in the next morning and, so, I had the job from then on for all those years."

Mrs. Cooke first taught the seventh grade. "About 1923" she became principal of the grades, and later principal of the junior high school while serving as a junior high school teacher at the same time.

Her job as principal ended, oddly, because of a rebellious sixth grade class, recalls the grey-haired former teacher. "Oh, they were a bunch. I was their teacher while in the fifth grade so when they got to the sixth they went to the superintendent's office and said they would not go back to school unless I became their teacher."

"We (Mrs. Cooke and the superintendent) went to their class to talk and they screamed and yelled. Oh, they were wild. The best kids, too. I was a teacher again."

Mrs. Cooke had those same youngsters in her seventh and eighth classes and then was their sponsor through the remainder of high school. That's why, in recalling the thousands of children she knew over the years, she remembers the "rebellious" Class of 1935 with the fondest of memories. All but four of them are still living, and many are still residents of Northville.

One of the four that are gone is the late Edward Angove, former school board member in whose memory a plaque will be installed next spring at the new high school swimming pool.

After the Class of 1935 was graduated, Mrs. Cooke became a study hall teacher and remained in that capacity until her retirement. Of course, she laughs, the position meant she taught about "everything but football."

"I feel sorry for those study hall kids because I was pretty mean. But we got along. They stay after school, not because I made them, but because they wanted to. We'd talk and have fun, maybe 25 or 30 of them."

Maybe she didn't teach football, but she was a girls' gym teacher and once, when the girls and boys basketball teams traveled by train to Holly, she went along as the coach of both teams "because the trainer couldn't come."

Is there any one student of whom she is particularly proud? "Oh, I couldn't say. There were too many. All of them so good."

For Teenage Sue Entz It's A Japanese Fairy Tale

Take one tall, slim strawberry-blond Northville teen-ager, transport her to Japan and she becomes a celebrity, an ambassador from the United States.

That's the fairy tale Sue Entz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Entz, 20300 Beck road, has been living for the past six months in Tokyo where she is making her home with the family of a wealthy Japanese industrialist and taking her junior year of college.

(Actually Sue just "graduated" from being a teenager last month when she celebrated her 20th birthday in Tokyo.) To date she has met the prince of the Imperial Royal Family at a holiday ball, been introduced to Tsureta, "most famous actor in Japan," and visited with Japanese businessmen whose products (like Sony) are familiar here.

Sue now finds herself wearing an $800 kimono of beautiful turquoise-and-white silk with red and gold accents on special occasions as a result of her interest in Oriental Renaissance art.

She was completing her second year at Albion college last year and, because European Renaissance art already was familiar, wandered into the study of the Oriental. A professor questioned her—and the conversation grew into a student exchange with Sue taking her junior year at Waseda University in Tokyo.

She had a preliminary course in Japanese last spring before leaving and now she speaks the language slowly and writes many characters.

She writes, however, that the three "sisters" with whom she lives speak English so well that she gets to use

Japanese mostly with the maid, who speaks no English. They communicate well, she writes home, and Sue has learned from her how to make the seasoned rice soup that is served at breakfast.

Father of the three sisters in Saburo Aikai, who manufactures tape recorders which are sold in the United States under the name Roberts recorders.

The father, "Otsuan," gave her the kimono as he wanted her to be able to participate in the wedding of the family's oldest daughter, Kumiko, this month.

During the holidays she wore it to the royal ball where she met the prince. (She wrote home that the reporters made a fuss over her in the kimono.)

She also related that she was the "fallen person in the room" at the Rotary club Christmas party, Christmas time, however, with Hawaiian Christmas music didn't do her so well for Sue, which in her letter home sounded like the only visit moment.

The family talked to her during the holidays and is making plans to visit her — Mr. and Mrs. Entz and fifteen-year-old sister Patricia in June.

Because she is the same height as "Otsuan," Sue was able to borrow his old skis for New Year skiing. She Waseda university in Tokyo. The Japanese industrialist gave Sue the turquoise and white silk garment so she can participate in the wedding of Kumiko this month. Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Entz, 20300 Beck road.

Engaged

Marilyn Kerzka

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Kerzka, 2013 Farmington road, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn Josephine to Jack E. Fritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Fritz of Walled Lake.

The bride-elect is a 1966 graduate of Our Lady of Sorrows high school, Farmington, and presently is employed by the E. F. MacDonald Travel company. Her fiancé is a 1965 graduate of Northville high school and is employed by Modern Industrial Engineering Company while attending Schoolcraft college.

A May 17 wedding is planned.

Father-Son Breakfast Set

For the first time Our Lady of the Holy Spirit Catholic church will hold a father-son breakfast following the 8 a.m. Mass Sunday at the church.

It is being sponsored by Our Lady's League under chairmanship of Mrs. Ted Marzotte. She reports that the breakfast is being given in appreciation for the annual breakfast the men of the church give mothers and daughters.

Mothers interested in helping are asked to come to the social hall at 2 p.m. Saturday to help set tables or to be at the social hall after the 9 a.m. Mass to help serve and clean up.

Tickets are available from Mrs. Marzotte, 349-2903; Mrs. Frank Korte, 349-2032; or Mrs. Al Korte, 349-0416.

"If an officer stops a car for speeding or other violation that leads to disclosure that youngsters might have been drinking or have liquor that they might drink later, it's a mistake to give the youngsters a 'dutch uncle' talk, pour the liquor out on the road side and send them on their way.

"Chances are that the parents did not know where the youngsters were, did not know they were drinking or traveling with youngsters who do. Strict enforcement is one way of getting the parents involved.

There are additional reasons local police give to support a strict enforcement policy. One is that the efficient communications among young people, resulting partially from the way communities gather their youth at schools and in summer recreational programs, while the community's adults rarely assemble on such a scale, will carry word about a community's law enforcement efficiency.

If enforcement is lax, word is carried about the metropolitan community that "you can get away with anything in this town."

"If word gets around that a certain community is easy, that community will soon have a program of control not prevention," Faulkner says.

Another point Faulkner makes in favor of strict enforcement where young people and cars are involved is an accident and injury prevention.

"Usually there is an emotional reaction after being stopped by the police. If the driver has been drinking, even slightly, and perhaps frightened or angry because of the police stopping him, to let him drive away in the hope that he has learned a lesson from a warning might serve only to let him drive to an accident."

Novi's BeGoole and Faulkner speak from considerable experience, gained during a number of years their department policed a large teenage dance operation at Walled Lake Casino.

"We had every kind of youngster from communities all over the state," said BeGoole. "We had every kind of behavior—except a major shooting or killing. We policed it with a prevention approach, that nothing big would get started if we moved with authority to enforce the laws. Most of the youngsters came to know this and, I think, respected it for it gave them a safe place to have a good time."

The size of the task is best understood by considering that a popular entertainer such as Fabian would draw a crowd of about 5,000 young people.

The preventive approach involved to automatic impoundment of cars where the charge of minors in possession of alcoholic beverages was involved. Working without a local ordinance Novi police required parents or guardians to appear in court and reclaim their autos, operating on the basis that the auto was part of the evidence.

"The parking lot would get quite full at times," BeGoole said, "and some parents had to travel halfway across the state to get their car back. But we knew that the parents were aware of their youngsters' behavior and whereabouts."

BeGoole regards the number of impoundments as a positive mark for the youngsters attending the dances, as indicating an overall good record when considering the large numbers of youngsters attending the dances, including many who were away from home at night and for the first time having total responsibility for their behavior.

While the impoundment of cars driven by youthful offenders seems to be gaining in use as a means to get parents involved, it also serves to some extent as an effective punishment where fines have failed.

Both police chief BeGoole and Northville's Samuel Elkins, along with their youth officers, Faulkner and Philip Young, speak with firm conviction that fines alone are not effective in bringing the thoughtful response needed to bring a change in attitude or behavior.

The easy access most youngsters have to money is suggested as one reason why small fines have little impact on youth today. Larger fines are not regarded as a promising approach by the officers, because the youngsters respond by taking cooperative approaches and spreading the cost over several individuals. If this will ease one of their pals from a troubled situation.

The impoundment of the auto prevents the youngster from concealing a serious misbehavior from their parents and causes both the youngster and parents an inconvenience fitting to emphasize the serious nature of the offense.

Northville's recently enacted ordinance requiring impoundment and release of the auto only to the parent or guardian has proven quite effective to date, according to Chief Elkins. He reports that parents have accepted the policy very well and have been cooperative.

Elkins pointed out that many of our laws were written before autos became such a large part of life and that the ordinances requiring release to parent or guardian is an example of the law-making process responding to demands of social change.

"It's far more effective than imposing a fine in bringing youngsters back to a parental control," Elkins said. Elkins said that he thinks the Northville police department is advancing in gaining the respect of young people. "We're trying to be firm but fair and we want and hope our young people will see us that way."

He pointed out that youngsters do come to the police on their own with problems not related to violations. He regards this as evidence of a growing respect.

Just as cars, cash, and good roads have brought the many communities in the metropolitan area much closer to-

Wrestlers Cop Two Big Titles, 3rd Place Finish

Northville's wrestling team took a midseason test against first rate competition in an eight team field at the Fenton Invitational last Saturday and measured out quite well with a third-place finish in team scoring against schools that are recognized as state wrestling powers.

The Mustangs took two individual championships, as John Tam, (120), who was seeded number one by the coaches, made the seeding look good in that weight class by winning three straight matches.

Marty Richardson, seeded No. three, didn't believe that rating. Richardson, at 127, won over Roy Wehner's last year's state champion from Clarenceville in the final round and was voted the outstanding wrestler of the tournament by the coaches.

Richardson's win over Wehner, his third win of the day, did not come easy. "It was one of the toughest, grueling matches I've ever seen," Coach Jack Townsley said.

Richardson and Wehner wrestled to a 0-0 tie at the end of the regulation six minutes. At the end of the second overtime period the score was still 0-0. Richardson got the nod from the coaches and the referee who sit in judgment when tournament matches are tied at the end of the time limit, winning the decision on the basis of aggressive effort, not resting, but going for the win.

In addition to the two first place spots, Rick Suckow (154), finished second, and Bill Kriss (103), Curt Olewinski (133) and Dan Conklin (175) captured third-place spots to help push Northville to a third place in the field.

Conklin's single loss came at the hands of the first seed, Fenton's undefeated heavyweight, Ben Lewis. Olewinski also lost to the first seed, then joined Conklin and Kriss as winners in the wrestle off for third place spots.

The quality of the competition is evident, with Walled Lake, Grand Ledge, and Flint Northwestern, all Class A schools with wrestling programs that extend down in the junior highs. Along with Northville, Class B schools were represented by Okemos, who won the state B team championship the last two years, and Clarenceville.

Walled Lake finished first with 85 team points, Grand Ledge was second with 83, followed by the Mustangs with 53.

BPW to Meet

The Plymouth Branch of the Business and Professional Women's club will sponsor the District 9 meeting at the popular Mayflower Meeting House on January 25.

The event will begin with a coffee hour and registration between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. hosted by the Pittsfield club.

Luncheon speaker will be Mary Morgan of CKLW television, just back from New York's fashion center.

ANOTHER CHAMPIONSHIP? Con Langfield (left) of Northville, who has been a champion for three years catching the largest fish, and the most released, is again leading the Miami fishing tournament. Only recently, guided by

Press Unnerves Novi Wildcats, Who Fall 70-53

Unnerved by the sparking full-court press of the Lakeland C co-leader Clinton, Novi's varsity cagers dropped their sixth-straight conference game here Friday night, 70-53.

"We made more mistakes against Clinton than in most of the previous games," said Coach Jim Ladd. "Clinton's full-court press completely unnerved our boys and they just fell apart."

Roper to Host Novi Tomorrow

Novi will travel to Bloomfield Hills Roper tomorrow night for a non-league tilt. In other league action last Friday, Columbia Central maintained its first-place tie by downing Manchester, 61-50, and Whitmore Lake zipped past Grass Lake, 62-32.

Other games tomorrow will include Grass Lake at Roosevelt, Clinton at scored against the Wildcats. The Clinton reserves, playing the second and fourth quarters, were a better match for Novi which came up with more points in both stanzas despite the lopsided loss.

"Against their reserves our zone defense began working, but when their Manchester, and Columbia Central at Whitmore Lake.

Wildcats Lose At Annapolis

The Novi Wildcats made it close, but trailed 50-51 at the final buzzer in an away game with Annapolis Dearborn Heights Tuesday night.

"We showed some improvement, but were out-hustled a bit by a quicker team," Coach Jim Ladd said.

Novi VanWagner led the Wildcats with 20 points, but yielded game scoring honors to the 23 by Miller of Dearborn.

Novi won the JV contest, 67-54.

Clinton JV Wins

A 20-point spurge by Clinton's Tim Merritt set the stage for the visitor's 66-53 triumph over the Novi junior varsity quintet here Friday night.

Clinton jumped off to a 20-6 first quarter lead and then coasted to an easy victory, even though Coach Milan Orenovich's cagers narrowed the gap to two points by the intermission.

Want to Play? Local Teams Observe "Youth Hockey Week"

More than 100 youngsters of the Northville, Novi, Plymouth area are participating in the Plymouth-Northville Hockey Association program this season.

And like other members of the Michigan Amateur Hockey Association, they're celebrating "Youth Hockey Week", January 20-28.

These Northville coaches announced this week that they're already looking for more players for next season. The coaches are Dick Dales, Bill O'Brien and Billie Thomas. Anyone interested in playing may contact one of the coaches.

There are five age groups, ranging from six to 18 years old, divided into teams of Squirts, PeeWees, Bantams, Midgets and Juveniles.

Sail Past Holly, 64-44 Mustangs Cling to W-O Lead

While West Bloomfield held off a late Bloomfield Hills rally Friday night, Northville maintained its one-game edge in the Wayne-Oakland League race by rolling past Holly, 64-44.

The Mustangs and Lakers remain locked in the one-two positions, with the Barons slipping into a tie for third place with the Clarenceville Trojans.

Coach Dave Longridge's high-riding cagers had little difficulty downing Holly on the Bronchos' court—at one time leading by nearly 30 points. The final margin undoubtedly would have been greater but for Coach Longridge's free substitution maneuver.

"We played all our boys (14)," he said, "to give them some valuable experience."

Northville outscored Holly in every quarter, although the Bronchos were just off the Mustang pace in the third and fourth stanzas.

Ten of the 14 Mustangs scored, while an equal number did likewise for Holly.

Biggest difference in the scoring was in the field goal category where Northville fired 25 two-pointers to Holly's 12. Holly had the edge at the free throw line, however, flipping in 20 of its 33 shots while Northville came in with 14 of 20.

Two players fouled out, one from each team—Chuck Frogner, Northville forward, and L. M. Thomas, starting center for the Bronchos.

The Mustangs grabbed an early lead, pushing out front by nine points, 9-16, at the end of the first quarter, and then held a comfortable, 36-19 lead at the intermission.

Jim Peterson came up with 65-percent in field goal attempts, meshing six of seven. Randy Pohlman hit seven of 13.

Peterson also led in rebounding, snagging four offensive rebounds and 10 defensive. Next high was Pohlman with seven. Altogether, the Mustangs picked 39 shots from the boards and hit 70-percent or 25 of their 42 field goal shots.

Pohlman took scoring honors for Northville, flipping in seven field goals and six free shots for 20 points. High for Holly was Jeff Cary, left forward, with 10 points.

Redskins Point for Upset

Last place Milford, bent on avenging an earlier season loss to Northville and bettering its position in the Wayne-Oakland League, will host the Mustangs Friday night.

In their first encounter with the Redskins, Northville piled up 25 points in the opening stanza—one of the best quarters ever turned in by a Mustang squad.

The final score, after a "cool" shooting Northville performance in the second half, was 77-60.

The originally scheduled January 23 game with Clarenceville has been postponed until Thursday, February 29, because of conflicts with exams.

Early Big Lead Bolsters Colts

An aggressive zone press and a hot-shooting first quarter gave the Northville JV's a 23-7 first quarter lead over Holly and domination of the game that extended to the final score, 76-56.

Substituting freely, Northville had a two point scoring edge in the second quarter, 23-21. Northville's regulars took over in the third quarter to post a 17-5 margin. In the final quarter Northville permitted a 20-15 edge to Holly.

advantage could hurt us."

In addition to the aggressive defense, the JV's benefited from balanced scoring and accuracy from the field and from the free-throw line. Northville hit for 30 field goals and 18 of 26 attempts on free throws. Holly scored 20 from the field and only 16 of 34 from the line.

Ron Hubbard led the Colts with 19 points on nine field goals and one free throw. Rich Adams and Terry Mills each hit for 15, on five field goals and five of six attempts. Fred Holdsworth helped with 12 points on six field goals.

The win over Holly moved the JV's in second place in the league, one game behind leader Brighton. The Colts lost to the Brighton JV's by one point in overtime two weeks ago. They got another chance at Brighton next week when Brighton comes to Northville. The next game is with Clarenceville, tomorrow night at 6:30 in Northville's gym.

CRUCIAL QUESTION

The chances are good that Bobby will get the right answer... that is, if Bobby has been given sufficient knowledge to put this problem within the limits of his capability! And don't believe that any of these new electronic under-are any smarter than Bobby. Before one of them undertakes its task it must be fed every fact essential to arriving at an accurate solution.

Many folks worry about the youth of our nation. Too many boys and girls are coming up with tragically wrong answers to some of life's crucial questions.

But there is nothing inherently wrong with our youth. We simply must provide them, early enough and continuously, with the moral and spiritual understanding which life's problems demand.

The right program of religious training today will make possible the right answers tomorrow.

Rev. Charles F. Boerger
St. Paul's Lutheran, Northville

Memory is one of God's greatest gifts to man," began a Seminary student delivering his first class sermon. He paused. The seconds on the clock ticked on. His ears began to redden. He started to perspire. He shifted from one foot to the other. He was stumped. He had forgotten the next sentence of his sermon.

Memory is a great gift of God. The trouble is that we remember what we ought to forget, and we forget what we ought to remember. The Lord says, "I, even I, am He who blots out your transgressions for My own sake, and I will not remember your sins" (Isaiah 43-25 RSV). When Jesus took our place on the cross of Calvary and was "wounded for our transgressions," our sins were blotted out forever. God says that He will not remember them. Not for our sakes, but "for His own sake," because He wants to be gracious and merciful to us.

If God forgets our sins, we ought to forget them too. But how many people are going through daily torment and even having mental breakdowns because they cannot forget some sin. "Forget it!" the Lord says, "I have washed it out with the holy precious blood of My only begotten Son."

But God does not want us to forget Him! He said to the Israelites, "Take heed lest you forget the Lord." In spite of this warning they did forget Him and brought upon themselves immeasurable sorrow. (Isaiah 17:10-11)

How about you? Have you forgotten the Lord and remembered your sin? Why not reverse matter? If you remember the Lord, if you ask Him to forgive you for Jesus' sake, if you worship and serve Him in grateful response, you can forget your sin. Then too you will be able to forget the sins of those who have wronged you, and you will be at peace with your fellowmen.

Salem Film Series to Tell Detailed Story of Christ

The most detailed depiction of the life of Christ ever filmed, the Living Christ series is to be presented in 12 full color episodes of 30 minutes each by the Salem Congregational Christian Church of Salem.

Beginning Sunday at 7 p.m., the film series will be shown consecutively at each Sunday evening service through Easter Sunday evening, April 14.

Subject of each Sunday morning sermon will correspond to the film of the evening. Title of the first film, to be shown Sunday, will be "Holy Night", presenting the Old Testament prophecy of Isaiah, its fulfillment and the events before and after the birth of Christ.

According to the Reverend Gary L. Herne, pastor of the church, the film offers an opportunity to get a complete political, economic and religious background of the greatest story ever told.

News Around Schoolcraft
Wayne Dunlap, chairman of the Humanities Department, has announced a 15-event Winter Semester Humanities Series at Schoolcraft college.

The schedule contains nine films, two lectures and four concerts through May 3. All events of the series are open to the public without charge. Students and faculty of high schools in the college district are specially invited, Dunlap said.

The lecture series will bring to campus Dr. S. I. Hayakawa, eminent scholar in semantics and social sciences, on Thursday, March 21; and Dr. Eugene McNamara, of the University of Windsor English faculty on Friday, February 2, for a talk on Marshall McLuhan as a literary critic. Events on the concert schedule are a recital by classical guitarist William Matthews on Friday, February 16; a performance of two operas, including "Ikhnos Hassan" by the Piccolo Opera Co., on Friday, March 15; a recital by tenor Edward King, a member of the Schoolcraft music faculty, on Thursday, April 4; and a pre-Easter performance by the Schoolcraft Choir and Orchestra on Thursday, April 11.

Wayne Dunlap, director of education and training for the Republican National committee, will be the keynote speaker for the Wayne II Congressional District Lincoln Day dinner on February 8.

The 7 p.m. dinner program will be held at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Area residents are asked to call ticket chairman Ben "Dink" 349-4887 or Richard Wolf, 349-0411, to obtain tickets for the program.

Humphreys has managed many successful political campaigns which have received national attention and has served as a member of the Legislature in his home state of West Virginia. He attended Marshall university at Huntington, West Virginia.

A former newspaper editor and publisher, he has also spent much of his life in business, having taken leave of his field to assist in alerting his fellow Republicans to the importance of civic activity. In addition to directing national merchandising firms, he has edited many pamphlets and articles dealing with political planning.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

It's been said that "all that is necessary for evil to prevail is for men of good will to do nothing."

Conversely, "all that is necessary for good to triumph is for men of good will to take dedicated, concerned action."

Perhaps with these thoughts in mind, Judge Keith J. Leebouts of Royal Oak decided to create a probation department in connection with his municipal court.

This was less than 10 years ago. Today the success of the program is winning national acclaim. It has been the subject of a Reader's Digest article, it has won the support of independent, state and federal agencies and, perhaps most important, it has attracted the "good" talent of its community in a broad-based volunteer effort.

As most area residents know, Northville Municipal Judge Philip Ogilvie is attempting to establish a probation department here, modeled to some degree after the Royal Oak program.

Judge Ogilvie has the blessing of the city council. He has been provided the nominal funds needed to get started.

The only ingredient still needed to get the program started are "the men of good will."

What is a probation department and why is it important to a community?

Such a service at the "lower court" level is crucial, because it is here that the lesser crimes, called misdemeanors, are committed. The defendants are not juveniles (under 17), but adults, 17 and older.

Between 75-95 per cent of the future felons (more serious crimes, not handled by municipal courts) will be committed by those who first commit a misdemeanor, such as minor in possession of alcoholic beverages, fighting, minor theft, vandalism, etc.

Presently, less than five per cent of our lower courts do more than fine or jail the defendant. There is neither time nor man-power to check into the problem that may have caused the lesser crime.

Percentages prevail, and the next step is a more serious crime, a higher court and a stiffer penalty. Ironically, probation departments are available at the higher level courts, but in most instances these professionally-staffed departments are so over-burdened that rehabilitative efforts cannot be taken.

So what can a probation department at the local-level do?

First, it can help its judge make wiser, more knowledgeable decisions by providing valuable pre-sentencing information about the defendant.

Secondly, it may divert a young man from committing a more serious offense.

Third, it can greatly reduce the incidence of crime and the burden that accompanies the support of our higher courts.

The initial need for creation of a probation department in Northville is a chief probation officer.

Truly Wonderful Schools, But...

To the Editor: The Northville school system is new to me, as we have just moved out here. Now, before all of you judge me as being critical; let me first say, you have truly wonderful schools and teachers. That is not my complaint, but in one area you do fall a bit short.

Since we have been out here I keep hearing the one refrain, "Northville schools very seldom close." I seriously am wondering what satisfaction the citizens receive from this fact. Perhaps I am the one who is missing the point entirely and also should be proud of this. But, somehow, it loses its glory when you have to plow through snow drifts, two feet deep, to retrieve your children who are hauled to school, then left there. This, especially, crosses my mind when I picture the decision maker sitting next to a cozy fire.

For 12 years we lived in another school district, and during these 12 years the schools were closed only for three days. They, at least, had the sense of estimating when to close down. Each time they made the right decision, as we had a deep snowfall once, and icy conditions another. But, had they been incorrect, and appeared foolish if only 1/2" new snow had fallen, I would still give them credit for making a decision

His job will be part-time and his pay nominal ($100 per month). So far Judge Ogilvie has had two inquiries but no official applications for the job.

It's estimated that the position might require 10-15 hours per month. The ideal applicant would have a college degree in the social sciences or education and some experience in the field of social work.

But a degree, or experience, coupled with a natural liking for dealing with people, would be acceptable.

The chief probation officer would meet with the judge at least one night per month. He'd be expected to organize the department and line up local citizens to serve as volunteer probation department helpers, or "sponsors".

The latter would be responsible to see that probationers were living up to their assignments—whether it be a work detail, a nightly curfew or just reporting and talking to their assigned sponsor.

In Royal Oak, for example, the chief probation officer is a 76-year-old retiree, who is so wrapped up in his work that his salary amounts to about 35 cents per hour.

Numerous examples can be cited in Royal Oak of the rehabilitative results that can be credited to the efforts of the volunteer sponsors. These volunteers include doctors, lawyers, psychiatrists, ministers, businessmen, merchants, teachers and housewives. They're unpaid, and this fact seems to make an impression on probationers. They come to believe that their sponsors really do want to help, as one young girl said to her sponsor, a housewife, "just like a friend".

In another instance in Royal Oak where an executive of a large industry was serving as a sponsor to an 18-year-old youth, the boy remarked after rehabilitation "after I saw how other people lived, I knew I never wanted to go back to just chipping around".

One of the most encouraging things reported in Royal Oak concerned a young man who had been in trouble and helped out by Judge Leebouts. The boy exclaimed, "you know what? That judge uses his head! The really tough guys tell you to keep out of Royal Oak because after you've served your sentence there, they'll bound you to death with helplessness."

This points up the fact that the problem of dealing with misdemeanors committed by a community does not confine itself to young adults of that particular community alone. They might come from 60 miles away to get into their fights or destroy property. But they disturb the peace of the people of that community, and if they continue unchecked, they swell up the already overcrowded higher courts.

We must deal with them here, no matter where their home base may be.

Judge Ogilvie has set January 31 as the deadline for applications for chief probation officer. He has application forms at his law offices and at the office of the municipal court in city hall.

If you can't sign up for the job of chief officer, be ready to volunteer for an assignment as a "sponsor".

Maybe we can kill crime with kindness and consideration.

Why Ticket Church Lot Parkers?

To the Editor: Recently, a member of our family got a ticket, in a CHURCH PARKING LOT. It seems to me that the City Council is getting hard up for dough if they had to place meters in church lot.

It is not the fine I am complaining about, it is the principle of the thing. How many church members use this lot every week for meetings? Quite a few I imagine. These meters are timed for an hour, but many meetings last more than an hour and not many can get right up in the middle of a meeting and feed the meter.

It goes to show you, that the City of Northville is going to meter itself right out of existence.

The hall of fire burst over the horizon, spilled across the white fields, and splashed against the brilliant reds and yellows of the men's clothing. It was early morning, crisp and beautiful.

"Okay, you guys, fall in!" shouted a husky, bareheaded guy cradling an automatic shotgun under his arm. "Dress right... snap it up!"

I almost dropped my pants. "Bob," I said, "I don't want to sound stupid but is this for real? It's beginning to sound like the army and I never could stomach an inspection."

"Better get your camera," he replied, non-committal.

So while the reds and yellows shuffled towards an imaginary straight line, I trotted out to the rows of cars that lined both sides of the road and grabbed my camera for the day.

The big guy was counting when I returned. "One, two, three, four...."

consider me a little, with my poor racked body and only a woman's blood at that. Right now I could make a medical case study on frost bitten fingers and toes.

Therefore, in the future, I do hope the decision maker takes better heed of his bunion, arthritis, weather report, surrounding school districts' closings, or whatever his method may be in making the decision to close. Some-where the point should be reached where common sense overrules pride.

Sincerely yours, C. Zabel

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

For all its concentration on color or lack of it—"Reflections in a Golden Eye" is a worthless movie that sheds absolutely no light on the human condition, except to draw some nebulous comparison between the sexual habits of horses and people.

The movie begins brilliantly in hazy yellow, with shaded yellow creeping against a background of yellow sweeping the full width of the screen. A breathtaking and appropriate beginning for a John Huston movie.

But yellow gives way to an off-color black and white, with strange pink and yellow hues. This is going to be no ordinary movie, you assume. The color technique is meant to convey something. What? You don't know. And you never will.

It is this kind of technological trickery under the guise of artiness that typifies the movie.

Against this hazy background, our stars gambol like satyrs. But not even the likes of Elizabeth Taylor, Marlon Brando, Brian Keith and Julie Harris can rescue this adulteration of Carson McCullers' novel from the dark obscurity of oblivion.

The story takes place in the deep south, conceived to be the hotbed of emotion, and begins with this simplistic quote from McCullers' novel: "There is a fort in the South where a few years ago a murder was committed."

What really makes "Reflections" grotesque and sick is the failure of the characters to elicit anything like a genuine emotion from the audience. I sat unmoved, almost bored, as if watching someone going coldly through the motions.

"Leave the children home," the theater patrons were urged in the advertisement of "Reflections." Better that I had taken that advice and saved myself the money.

Back at the stand, we spotted another one. This one was bigger. But she crossed the field farther down the line.

Then the drivers came into sight. But no fox.

"That's funny, usually always get one or two at least," he said.

"That's because I'm here today. It's a sure way to ruin a hunt."

Next up was a mile square in Lyon township next - off 12 Mile road, and this time Bob and I were drivers. I wondered why the hunters (there were more than 50 of them now) preferred standing to driving only until after the first hundred feet or so. It was crusty snow, eating up each step as the boot crashed through to the softer stuff beneath.

I barked like a dog. Sounds silly but it was better than the cackle Bob produced.

Three-quarters through the mile, the driver on my left fired three times. He stood for a couple of minutes without moving while the line of hunters searched the fields in front of them for movement. Nothing. Then he peeled off in my direction, reached down and picked up the hunter's first fox.

"Ran right in front of you. Could have got a good picture of him," Bob repeated. "You're no better with that camera than with a bow."

In four hours the hunters bagged three fox, two females and one male and saw a half-dozen deer in what was considered a "poor" hunt. All three were shot by 12-gauge automatics carried by drivers in sight of the standers but out of their range.

One of the lucky three, an excited Walled Lake teenager, hugged his trophy to his chest on the way back, prompting the remark, "He'll stink for a week."

Perhaps, but in two weeks he and 50 or more others will be back for another early morning hunt and a few hours of hunting for a bounty-free animal that farmers say is rapidly increasing in numbers.

Imitation Milk Worries Farmers

LANSING - Dairy farmers are very uneasy these days. So is the whole dairy industry, which represents the largest segment of Michigan's agriculture.

Everyone is waiting for imitation milk to hit the Michigan market. The question is not if, but when. In brief, this is the situation:

Several forms of "imitation" milks are in production in other parts of the country and are being rapidly accepted by consumers.

They taste good; are just as nutritious as milk. They are cheaper, ranging from 10¢ to 20¢ per half gallon which leaves acceptable profit for the grocer. In Chicago a good tasting milk is available, perhaps as a special, for 9¢ a quart.

It is reported that all major dairy processors already have on hand printed cartons to supply imitation milk. Each seems anxious not to start, but each seems just as anxious to protect himself if some other company introduces the new product.

Two imitations use limited milk products; the third is made entirely of soybeans.

THE FARMER is worried he will suddenly be producing milk which he cannot sell profitably. Those who work with dairy farmers take varying positions. Clynn McBride, MSU agronomist, says that the university is aware of the problem and is anxious to supply facts which will help farmers, producers, retailers and consumers reach the wisest decision in the situation.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is also alert to the problem and is willing to help everyone by supplying information. Neither institution takes a stand that imitation milk is a good or bad thing for the consumer.

FARM GROUPS are cautious. They remember the sad lesson they learned in their fight to outlaw the use of colored margarine. They understand they cannot keep a substitute milk off the market simply to protect their own interests.

Leaders agree that laws can no longer force farmers to sell, and that farmers must find ways to market milk in forms the consumer needs and wants. Jack Barnes, general manager of Michigan Milk Producers, says that MMPA does view imitation milk as a serious threat, but is not pushing a panic button. It views the change as a challenge to find new uses for milk and milk products.

Dan Reed, secretary-manager of the Michigan Farm Bureau, says that this group will not seek to outlaw any healthy, nutritious product, even though it threatens the farmer's market. Instead, it will work with farmers to help them make this challenge into an opportunity for new uses for milk.

THE consumer itself is a gigantic undertaking. ADA is seeking a farmer vote which will make mandatory a 4¢ per hundredweight charge to the farmer. This would be a change from the present 2¢ which is voluntary. Funds will be used for research to help develop new products which use milk and to promote the use of these products by consumers.

Unfortunately, it paints such a gloomy picture that some farmers are reported to just give up and sell their herds. There is also the question of legality. Authorities do not want to say that such a proposal, even if endorsed by a high percentage of farmers, could be enforced if a dairyman refused to pay his 4¢.

ADA holds out hope. Boyd Rice, manager of the ADA of Michigan, takes the strong position that research can develop enough new products to utilize all the milk which can be produced. The effort will also require changes in laws, some of which were proposed by dairy people in their own interests but which now act to their detriment. And it is vitally important too, thinks Rice, to advertise and promote the new products he hopes to see developed.

As examples he points to the rapidly increasing consumption of yogurt in California and New York, stating that when a tasty product is called to public attention it is bound to be developed.

He also points to a 40¢ butterfat-margarine product which is marketed experimentally. It can be sold below the present price of more expensive margarine and cuts into those sales. It does not affect regular butter sales. There are other ideas which merit research.

"If farmers don't tell people about milk and dairy products," Rice warns, "no one else will."

AMPLE REASON for farmer uneasiness seems justified. He is faced with a very real threat to his livelihood. Imitation milk, be it based on soybean, sodium caseinate or a "filled-milk" formula, is almost certain to raise his price.

While the problem offers a challenge to bigger things, these are potentials rather than realities. The farmer is worried about what will happen while the changes take place. He is worried about what his friends will suffer in the meantime.

Add to this the thought that he must double the dollars he pays to promote dairy products, and one can easily sympathize with his position.

No one, however, can make the conclusion that big changes are coming fast in dairy marketing and no matter who gets hurt, the consumer is king. And it is the consumer who will probably benefit most.

day of credit cards and the hard sell. Or there may be illness, accident, or loss of a job. Occasionally there may be a case where family assets are completely decimated by a series of unfortunate circumstances. Many bureaus are associated with them some form of counseling service to which those deeply in debt may be referred. In some instances, such family credit counseling is underwritten by local credit granters.

The essence of the work of a credit bureau is to rehabilitate the rating of an honest risk who has fallen on difficult times in the past. Most credit granters, when they know the details of the lapse, are likely to go along with a consumer on his present solvent position instead of on his past record. In South Bend the counseling service has been remarkably successful in pooling consumers' accounts and arranging an extended payment for those who have fallen behind. In the four and a half years this system has been used, local personal bankruptcies are said to have been noticeably reduced.

Those with a need for maintaining or re-establishing good credit would be wise to visit their credit bureau. The services, preferred are, as a rule, without charge.

Optimists Honor Youth of Month

Robert Hubbert, 17-year-old Northville high school senior, was named Student of the Month last week Wednesday, in the first of a newly established award program by the Northville Optimist club.

The award was presented to him, for exemplary conduct and performance, by Optimist President Donald Brown at the club's ladies night program at the Thunderdome.

Special guests on hand were Optimist Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Kenneth Barnhill and Mrs. Violet Mote, a Redford police sergeant who introduced a film on juvenile delinquency and later answered questions of Optimists and their wives.

Similar awards will be presented each month by the club. Hubbert, an all-around high school athlete hopes to enter Central Michigan university next fall where he will study to become an English teacher.

Following the film and her answers to questions, Sergeant Mote passed out literature to the audience. Among it was a reproduced leaflet on "How to Raise a Delinquent Child."

Here are the rules: 1. Give your child everything he wants. This will teach him that the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at them. This makes him think it's cute.

3. Never made him go to Sunday school and give him a guilty complex.

Record Office Swamped Paper's Puzzle Snap for Readers

Whew! People obviously like puzzles — or maybe the challenge of a prize is just too hard to resist. Whatever the reason, the Record-Novi News quickly learned last week that readers had little difficulty in putting together the jig-saw puzzle (ransom-note style) that appeared in last week's edition.

About Our Servicemen

Ft. Knox, Kentucky — Army Private Kenneth B. Grossman is assigned to Company A, 13th Battalion, 4th Brigade, here in the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA).

Following the 24-hour ordeal the stricken freighter's crew spent the night aboard the carrier and returned to Hong Kong the following day.

Ft. Knox, Kentucky — Army Private Willard T. Pruett is assigned to Company D, 9 Battalion, 3 Brigade, here in the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA).

He will spend the next two months learning the fundamental skills of the soldier in today's modern, action Army — firing live ammunition under simulated combat situations, learning protective measures and first-aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks, as well as being schooled in the use of modern arms.

Following the completion of basic training, Private Grossman, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Armin Grossman of 18436 Donegal street, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

On November 6, 1967 the Coral Sea was enroute to Hong Kong when she received the distress signal from the freighter, and lifted the crew off by helicopter the following morning.

As winner of the tenth annual state contest for an ideal high school senior girl, Pam will be honored by the local Jaycee organization in ceremonies tentatively planned for half-time at Friday's Northville high school basketball game.

He and Miss Florence Panatoni were on hand with Pam's parents, other Northville friends, and local Junior Miss runner-up contestants, at the state pageant Sunday.

Pam also is to be honored at a special assembly next week as winner for the third successive year of the local and district VFW Voice of Democracy essay contest. She also has won local, district and regional extemporaneous speakers' awards of the Michigan Forensic association.

She was selected as one of six best debaters in the state in the John S. Knight scholarship contest. She received national recognition just before Christmas when she was presented with the National Council of Teachers' award.

A student in the Northville school system since the sixth grade, Pam at the end of her sixth semester (11th grade) had a 4.01 grade average. This is above the 4.0-point or A average as she received additional credits for honors courses.

She is a fourth-year debater, president of the Forensic club, treasurer of the National Honor Society, member of the student council and an honor member of the Theatians.

Determined to be an actress since she first appeared on Will-O-Way theatre stage at the age of eight, Pam has studied piano, organ, ballet, dancing, singing and drama.

The summer previous, she spent four weeks at Michigan State university, studying debate and drama.

Through her national English award, Pam has received inquiries and offers from more than 20 colleges and universities, but she has planned to attend Rollins college in Winter Park, Florida which is noted for its strong drama program.

The Northville senior is 5 feet, 4 inches tall, blue-eyed and wears her hair in a bouffant, short page-boy. This week, however, Miss contest officials were having it styled for national competition pictures.

When Pam decided last summer to enter the Northville Junior Miss contest, she began a diet that shed 20 pounds. She had attended the state pageant last year and, her mother persons were the first to bring their entries to the Record office: Goss, Ernest Lusk, 22301 Napier road; Robert Reimer, 254 Linden street; Dennis R. Ditty, 429 Lake street; and Mark and Lori Tella, 20031 Caldwell. Their ransom tickets are in the mail.

Northville Girl Wins Michigan Pageant Title

Northville's 1968 Junior Miss, Pamela Smith, was crowned Michigan Junior Miss for 1968 in a state-wide competition of 47 contestants held in Pontiac Sunday.

The Jaycee awards are the latest in a growing list of scholastic, oratorical, forensic and talent honors to come to the blonde 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myra Smith, 20114 Woodhill.

With the circlet crown Sunday Pam received $1,100 in scholarships, $25 in savings bonds and several merchandise awards as well as the key to the City of Pontiac on a gold charm bracelet.

In March she will compete in the national pageant in Mobile, Alabama, for the title of America's Junior Miss and a share of the $42,000 in scholarships offered there.

For her talent performance in the competition based on scholarship, mental alertness, poise, appearance, youth fitness, creative and performing arts, Pam repeated the routine with "One of Those Songs," which helped her win the local contest. She was accompanied again by Sacey Evans.

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE VILLAGE AND TOWNSHIP OF NOVI, AND THE CITY OF WIXOM

Court Order Revives 'Cityhood' Citizens Get Peek At Building Boom

Michigan's new Court of Appeals last week reversed an Oakland county circuit court judgment and thereby set the stage for a city incorporation election in Novi.

While no formal action establishing an election date has been taken by the village council, officials are expected to act soon in the wake of the higher court's opinion.

Specifically, the Appeals Court order reversed the decision of Circuit Court Judge William Beer who had set aside an earlier ruling of Circuit Court Judge James Thorburn favoring an election.

Presiding Appeals Court Judge Donald E. Holbrook, sitting in session with Judges Robert Burns and John Fitzgerald, ruled "that the order of Judge William Beer setting aside the judgment herein of Judge James S. Thorburn is REVERSED..."

Judge Holbrook took the position that rulings by a circuit court judge cannot be set aside or vacated by any circuit judge except by the one who made the ruling.

Actually, the Appeals Court order caught the city incorporation citizens committee by surprise since its members expected the court to first approve or disapprove an application for a delayed appeal. Instead, without approving or disapproving the application, the Appeals Court issued its order.

C. A. Smith, chairman of the incorporation backers, was elated over the Appeals Court order. "I think that the matter will finally be allowed to come to the people for a decision," he said.

"Township officials have fought to keep it from the people, but I think now they have come to the end of the line. Let the people of this community decide."

The Appeals Court order concerned only the decision of Judge Beer and did not represent an opinion on whether or not the village can be legally incorporated without meeting the population requirements of state law. However, the order lets stand the judgment of Judge Thorburn, who favored an incorporation election even though the village does not meet the population requirement.

Concerning that requirement, village officials, the citizens committee, and their attorneys contend it is an antiquated law as do a number of state elections officials, who have suggested that lawmakers change it because of its discriminatory nature. They note that communities with smaller populations can legally incorporate.

Opponents of incorporation — the township of Novi and its chief administrators — had successfully fought the incorporation attempt in a number of major circuit court battles. They won in the first (Judge Arthur Moore), lost the second (Judge Thorburn), and finally succeeded in getting a "composite" ruling from Judge Beer.

Village officials last year set an election date following Judge Thorburn's decision but later cancelled it upon the advice of the circuit court.

Delayed until Monday's meeting of the council was preliminary plat approval for an industrial park on the former Bashian property. Councilmen agreed to wait until they had conferred with the village attorney before making a decision.

Placed on the February 26 agenda of the planning board was the rezoning request of Max Sheldon, who seeks three different zoning classifications to enable him to develop 10 acres of commercial property and 122 acres of housing at 10 Mile and Taft roads. Also to be considered for possible rezoning is an adjacent 80-acre Catholic high school site.

Irwin T. Holtzman told planners he intended to introduce a unit development plan for a housing development at 10 Mile and Meadowbrook at the planners' next meeting. The unit development proposal represents a change from the developer's original conventional development plan. Construction is expected to begin next year, he said.

Set for public hearing February 26 was the rezoning request of John Moreno, who seeks a zoning classification for a catering service establishment. Planners also authorized a letter of apology he sent to Moreno for the delay in bringing his request to a public hearing earlier.

A rezoning request of Lonnie H. Stephens, who seeks a classification for 12 multiple units near Degross was referred to the planning consultant for study and recommendation. Stephens has a number of nearby communities. Warrents are standing against him. You are aware of the young man in the car, see him strike one of the young women in the face.

You are securing handouts to a resisting one, when the young female emerges from the car and, screaming profanity at you as she attempts to interfere with your efforts to subdue the young man.

The third young man and the second young female remain quietly in the car throughout the melee.

You have the car towed away. You take the five young people to the police station.

You make charges of MIP against all five, resisting arrest against one young man, and being a disorderly person against the young woman. You prepare to move them to the Oakland county jail.

You call the parents of the other two. It is now near 1 a.m. They say they will come to Novi, from Milford and from Southfield to pick up their children. While you and your partner struggle to subdue him, you are aware of one young man leaning inside the car, see him strike one of the young women in the face.

3 Receive All-A Grades

Three Northville students were among 342 students at Michigan State university who achieved all-A records during the fall term.

The local students are Marjorie C. Cook, daughter of George J. Cook, 38176 Tralee Trail, a junior in accounting and financial administration; Michael E. Hall, son of Don Hall, 350 Cady street, a sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine; and Diane L. Hayes, daughter of Charles Hayes, 46355 West Main street, senior in elementary and special education.

The students will be feted at a dinner Tuesday, February 6, by Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president.

The list includes 312 students from Michigan, 227 students from other states and three students from foreign countries.
