Northville Girl Marries Marine at Las Vegas

Las Vegas was the setting for the marriage last Saturday, February 24, of

Mrs. Gary L. Beasley

Cynthia Grace Gustaf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas Gustaf, 350 Debra Lane, and Gary L. Beasley, U.S.M.C. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Goodwin of Starbuck, Washington.

For the ceremony in Las Vegas interdenominational chapel the bride wore a short-length gown of beige lace. She was attended by her sister, Diane Gustaf.

After a wedding trip to Big Bear Mountain resort, the newlyweds will be making their home at Costa Mesa, California, until April when they expect to go to Okinawa. The bridegroom presently is stationed with the Marine Corps at El Toro Marine base. He has been in service two years and has two years left to serve.

The bride, a 1965 Northville high school graduate, and her sister have been living in Costa Mesa.

"GIRL SCOUT GOOD!" - That's what Jackie Gray of Girl Scout Troop 234 asserts as she tastes a 1968 variety of Girl Scout cookie, one of five kinds for which Northville Girl Scouts will begin taking orders Friday.

160 Girl Scouts To Sell Cookies

About 160 Northville girl scouts will be ringing area doorbells to take orders in the annual cookie sale which begins tomorrow and continues through March 16.

The girls will be from Northville's eight junior, cadet and senior troops that are part of the Huron Valley Girl Scout council. In this area Brownie troops do not participate in the annual sale.

Mrs. Keith Pixley, 1968 cookie chairman, announces that again this year the girls will be taking orders for five different varieties. She points out that in these days of rising prices, the cookies are an especially good buy as they still are priced at 50 cents a box.

Varieties include soft teas (a shortbread), sa vanas (peanut butter), chocolate mints, sandwich creams and pixies (cocoanut).

The cookies will be delivered during the week of April 29 to May 4. Three varieties of the cookies, Mrs. Pixley adds, have special inside wrappings that make them a good choice for mailing to friends or relatives in the armed forces overseas. The soft teas have four-sectioned wrappings within the box while the sa vanas and pixies have an extra, sealed wrap.

Girl Scouts will be taking orders from forms supplied by the Barry biscuit company, who makes the cookies and supplies all promotional material for the major fund-raising project of the area troops. The scouts have been asked to wear their uniforms while selling - although they may not show under winter coats. They also have been requested to sell in a "buddy" system with a neighbor-scout if possible.

The 50 cent purchase price is divided with more than half going to the girl scouts: 21 cents to the Huron Valley council for activities that include primarily Camp Linden, 5 cents to the selling troop. The Barry company receives 22 cents a box and the remaining 2 cents is state sales tax.

Each troop has a mother volunteer serving as cookie chairman who will collect the money and distribute cookies to the girls selling. Scouts will be taking orders only during the 16-day drive. No money is collected until the cookies are delivered.

The sale coincides with Girl Scout Week, March 10-16. Novi girl scouts, who belong to the South Oakland Council, already have completed their cookie sale, held the end of January.

TWO SILVER anniversary festivities last weekend honored the Reverend and Mrs. George Jerome, who were married 25 years ago today in Homer, New York.

Eighty-nine friends and relatives attended the open house Sunday by the couple's five children with the help of four long-time friends. Mrs. Crispin Hammond offered her Timberlane road home for the occasion and was assisted by Mrs. George Weis, Mrs. Albert Jones and Mrs. William Williams.

The Jerome children, who hosted with them, are Philip, David, who came from Wooster college studies, Jane, a Northville high school senior, John and Nancy. Also assisting were Philip Jerome and Mrs. Jerome's mother, Mrs. M. E. Enright.

Mrs. Enright honored the couple with a family dinner Saturday evening at Hillside Inn.

The Jeromes, who live at 743 Horton, have been Northville residents for 12 years. He is protestant chaplain for Northville State hospital. Mrs. Jerome directs the two young people's choirs at Northville Presbyterian church.

Decorating the refreshment tables at Sunday's open house were a wedding cake and a floral centerpiece. The couple was presented with a treasure chest by Northville friends. During the open house relatives and friends gathered from New York, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Schmidt from Grand Rapids, their daughter, Kathy, who came from Alma College, Mr. and Mrs. James Connelly from Erie, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Parks from Chelsea, the Richard Kays from Grosse Pointe, and Mrs. Coy Sandrock.

TOMORROW - the first Friday in Lent - is World Day of Prayer with local services planned from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. at Northville First Methodist church for all women of the community.

The service is being sponsored jointly by the Methodist, Northville First Presbyterian and Willowbrook E.U.B. church women.

Mrs. Paul Beard, chairman for the host church, notes that the observance dates from 1887 with prayer and giving for world-wide missions its primary purpose.

Mrs. Richard Somers, of the Methodist church, will be special organizer with Mrs. Orin Cooley, Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. Jack Siolek and Mrs. Harold Marks, all from the host group, ushering.

Mrs. Leon Blackburn, chairman from Willowbrook E.U.B., and Mrs. Harvey Shank and Mrs. Thomas Needham, from that church will be presenting the program together with Mrs. Elden Biery, Mrs. Ole Sarto and Mrs. Thomas Seidler, of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. John Moorhead is chairman of arrangements for the Presbyterian women.

TO HERALD the World Day of Prayer and remind women of the community of the service at 1:30 p.m. Friday Northville Methodist church bells will ring at one o'clock.

"GUESS WHATS?" brought to the Monday dessert meeting of the Base

Line Questers antiques society at the Nine Mile road home of Mrs. Robert Bretz provided merriment as well as added to members' knowledge of yesterday's living.

Household items from pre-electric living days brought by Mrs. E. A. Chapman included a rolling iron to heat on the stove for fluffing ruffles. She also brought a hook from the old fur trading station at Fort Mackinac AND the copper plate from the top of a moonshine still she was given when she visited in the Asheville highlands during her girlhood.

An unusual dome-shaped object with three mother-of-pearl shells and a tiny bird decorating the top was brought to the meeting by Quester president Mrs. Paul Beard. It proved to be a bell. This and the "silver gadget" with hinged sides that opened to become a double vegetable dish were borrowed from her mother, Mrs. William B. Walker, and are long-time possessions.

A heavy iron "fireman's key" with six holes to open any type of water hydrant nut was the contribution of Mrs. Leonard Klein. Other old-time utensils inspected and identified by members included a pastry cutter, pot scrubber, shot maker and a "mote spoon" - the latter to sift out foreign objects from one's tea.

The Base Line chapter accepted the offer of Mrs. William B. Walker to hold the March meeting at "Happy Acres," her home on Eight Mile road. The original portion of this home was built in 1829. One of the well-cared-for-homes of the area, it also is known for its beautiful gardens.

Hilberly Theatre Understudies, 2 p.m., Presbyterian church. March 1 - World Day of Prayer service, 1:30 p.m., Northville Methodist church.

News Around Northville

Mrs. Marie Knapp, supervisor of the Northville junior and senior high school cafeterias, has been hospitalized at the University of Michigan hospital in Ann Arbor for two weeks. It is expected she will be there another week.

Mrs. Herbert Froger, 51300 West Seven Mile road, is working on arrangements for the 25th reunion banquet of the Highland Park high school class of 1943 which is to be held June 7 at Roma Hall. Any area alumni may call her for reservations or information at 349-2947.

King's Daughters will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday, March 5, at the home of Mrs. Elden Biery, 217 West Dunlap street. Members are to vote on amendments to the constitution.

Patterned After Lincoln's Home Novi House Linked to Springfield

The Lincoln House, as the spacious colonial home at 47133 Nine Mile road near Beck has come to be known, opened its doors Monday to a group that could appreciate fully its last-century heritage.

New owner Mrs. Robert Bretz was hostess for the February meeting of the Base Line Questers antiques society. As fascinating to members as the curiosities from the past brought for a "show and tell" day was the home they were visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bretz with their son and daughter moved to the home six months ago from Northville Estates. Ever since, Mrs. Bretz says, she has been collecting bits of information to try to piece together the gracious home's history. It has acquired the reputation of being a "Lincoln house" as it is so similar to Abraham Lincoln's house in Springfield. Mrs. Bretz understands that her home is one of three built on this plan during the same period in Michigan. Another is also located on Nine Mile road near Hagerly road and the third is reportedly in Troy, Michigan.

Lincoln bought his Springfield home from the Reverend Charles Dresser in 1844 for $1500. He lived there until he became president.

Today the interior of the Lincoln house in Springfield is quite different, as Mary Todd Lincoln is supposed to have made changes in the Springfield structure, while the house on Nine Mile road was updated, perhaps 13 years ago, by a previous owner, Mr. Nicholson, who now lives in Florida.

At that time the home gained a large family kitchen and two picture windows. Mrs. Bretz comments that she appreciates the care given to the restoration at that time as she understands the owners searched for the old doors and woodwork to match the original.

Except for removing a partition that had been added to divide the master bedroom into two rooms, the Bretzes have changed nothing. Marjatta Bretz adds that she is just appreciating the old pegged woodwork and details of yesterday.

Although the Bretzes have not an original abstract yet that dates the house, they have been told it was built about 1838, supposedly for a minister who is said to have married couples in his parlor.

That date would place the home close to the age of some other properties in the area. Mrs. Wald Johnson of Novi road near Nine Mile has a parchment deed for the original portion of her home dating 1834. John Christensen, 45144 Nine Mile road, dates the original portion of his home at 1837 as he found the deed in a partition when he was remodeling.

Through the years the home, which was part of an operating dairy and fruit farm, seems to have changed hands several times.

Mrs. Emil Teskha, who is over 70 years old now and living in Livonia, remembers living in the home all during her childhood. Her father, William Melsner, bought the 120-acre farm, she remembers, when she was seven. Its huge barn then was used for dairy farming. In those days, she says, the property was known as the Cady farm from previous owners. She believes her father sold the property to Jack Wells, whom several area residents remember having lived there. At that time, Mrs. Teskha recalls, the woodwork was "beautiful black walnut." She especially remembered the wood in the wide, open staircase.

In its early days, the property undoubtedly had many outbuildings. Four, including the barn and smoke and ice house, still are there. Mrs. Bretz observed that the "twinn" Lincoln home near Hagerly still boasts about a dozen outbuildings. A marked difference in the two homes on the inside, she mentioned, is the style of woodwork. Her home has plain, wide boards while the companion house has woodwork with much more detailing.

Right now the Bretz family is delighted whenever a long-time resident can add to their knowledge of the old home they moved to so that they could keep horses - and in which all, Mrs. Bretz explains, are enjoying a "tink with yesterday."

I AM THE DOOR

If we are going to enter a building we use the door. The door is put there just for the purpose of going in and out of the building. It does not require a lot of effort to pass through and enter into the building. As a matter of fact using doors in our life is so common place we never give it a thought.

But just a common every day door. It is the door into heaven! This door is the Saviour of the world the Lord Jesus Christ.

This door is open to all; Lord Jesus tells us "by Me if any man enter in" that means everybody is invited to pass through the door of heaven. When you pass through that door you are saved from an eternity of hell and damnation, you are given everlasting life. Jesus tells us "he shall be saved". To be born again through the Saviour Lord Jesus gives us freedom. We are not shackled to sin; at long last we are not slaves of Satan. When the Lord says, "and shall go in our" this is the freedom of the new birth. When we enter the door we are given pasture, we are now the Lord's and He will supply all our needs. The day is coming when we will not be able to enter the door, the heart may become hardened, or the Lord Jesus may come for His own. It will be too late then. The door will be closed. You will have a future of damnation before you.

But this word is not. Just listen to the words of God's Son, (John 10:9-10): "I am the door" by Me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture. The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I come that they might have it more abundantly."

Dear friend you may have this life! Right now the door is open, the Saviour is calling. Right this minute enter in. Tell God you are a lost sinner, tell Him you will trust in His Son. Do not put off for you know when the Door will be closed. God bless you.

Win Coveted Awards for Action

Area Men Pump Life into Dying Neighbor

Two area residents, credited with saving the life of a Northville man, were honored at special ceremonies at the Thunderbird Inn last week.

Louis R. Schombarger, 310 West Lake street, South Lyon, was awarded the coveted National Safety Council's, President's Medal, while Henry J. Clark, 10650 West Seven Mile road, received NSC's certificate.

Schombarger, employed as a pump-freshener county the week before from Consumers Power company and credited with training with providing him with the knowledge to suggest to Clark the proper way to administer heart-lung resuscitation. Although no pulse was evident, Schombarger administered the mouth-to-mouth breathing and Clark continued with external cardiac compression.

The victim was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had received treatment for his condition previously. Treatment was continued in the ambulance. Schombarger said Mrs. Clark provided valuable assistance by calling the hospital with complete details so that hospital staffs were prepared to give exact and speedy further treatment.

The President's Medal award is granted only award for the saving of human life.

The award is granted upon investigation and approval by a non-staff Medical Administration committee of a completed application form, supported by signed statements of witnesses and attending physician.

The first awards of the President's Medal were made in September 1928 and, as of December 7, 1967, 2,598 medals have been presented to men and women for the successful application of artificial respiration—some of the awards going to children very little above the age minimum of ten years.

The awards were presented by John B. Simpson, vice president of Consumers Power company.

Citizens Committee Backs County Home Rule

A citizens committee, completing a year-long study, last week described Wayne county's governmental structure as unrepresentative and unwieldy, and recommended that it be modernized through adoption of county home rule.

The 99-member citizens group, called the "Committee of 99," was appointed by Mel Ravitz, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, to study county government and recommend whether or not the county should move to implement the Michigan County Home Rule Act of 1966.

The committee report was presented to Ravitz and the Board of Supervisors by Avera Cohn, a Detroit attorney and co-chairman of the Committee of 99.

The voters would decide whether to elect a charter commission which would have six months to write a county charter. The charter would set forth the structure, powers and functions of county government within the limits of the Home Rule Act, Public Act 293. The charter would then be submitted to the voters for approval.

The Committee of 99 also recommended that the Board of Supervisors ask the state legislature to amend specific sections of Act 293 in order that "the charter commission and the voters of Wayne county will have broader discretion in choosing the form of government which will best meet the needs of the county."

The report states that in recent years, "counties have been performing an increasing amount and variety of important services at the local level."

Major features of county home rule government would be election or appointment of a county executive—an office that does not exist now—partisan election of a county commission (legislative body) from single-member districts, and revamping of the structure of county agencies.

The Board of Supervisors referred the citizens' report to its Committee of Chairmen of Standing Committees, the body which recommended that a citizens group be appointed to study the home rule question. The Committee of Chairmen will recommend a course of action to the full board.

"I expect that within the next 90 days an appropriate decision will be made, based upon the best thinking of the Board of Supervisors and the county officials," Ravitz said.

The Citizens Research Council of Michigan and the Metropolitan Fund, Inc. assisted in the study.

The committee issued a five-point summary of findings on present county government:

1. The Board of Supervisors is unrepresentative, malapportioned and unwieldy. (The Board of Supervisors has 130 members; all but one serve because they are either municipal or township office holders or are appointed by municipal officials.)
2. Centralized executive authority and responsibility are lacking in county government.
3. County government lacks the capacity to reorganize its own structure. (This, the report stated, is due to the fact that the present structure and functions of nearly all offices, boards and commissions "are frozen into the State Constitution and various legislative acts.")
4. County government lacks the legal authority to provide services needed by the people.
5. County government finds it increasingly difficult to maintain established services with present sources of revenue.

The committee, which included no one from Northville or Plymouth, reported that the structure of county government has changed little since the mid-19th century and is outmoded and inadequate to cope with the present-day needs of Wayne County's 2,700,000 citizens.

"Under the circumstances, it is amazing that county officials are able to perform as well as they do," the report stated.

The Home Rule Act offers an opportunity for "significant improvement" of county government, the committee concluded. It recommended that the Board of Supervisors submit the home rule question to the voters "as soon as practicable."

The committee reported that the following improvements are possible under county home rule:

1. Act 293 would provide a smaller (5 to 35 members), fairly apportioned legislative body, with members elected by the people.
2. Under Act 293, the county would have centralized executive leadership, responsible and accountable to the voters.
3. County home rule would enable Wayne county to make significant improvements in the maze of semi-autonomous agencies, offices, boards and commissions which make up its present administrative structure.
4. Act 293 gives the people of the county and their directly-elected legislative body broadened powers to determine the types and levels of services that will be provided in the county.
5. Act 293 provides opportunities for increased county revenue to finance more adequately county services.

Refreshing Outlook

What an exciting, stimulating century we live in! There's so much to see and to do. From morning until night we're on the go, and sometimes we can't sleep because our minds are whirling with plans for a busy tomorrow.

It pays to take time to breathe... time to unwind. We need a way to restore our souls and bodies so that the demands of modern life will not be overwhelming.

The Christian faith offers in full measure that healing peace within us that the psalmist describes. The Christian outlook is refreshing in its sincere approach to the problems of our complex society.

Why not join your neighbors, and attend church this Sunday? Here is a way to find "that peace which the world cannot give."

If the thought of buying a new furnace bothers you, read this new Three-Step Protection Plan.

First, call Edison. We'll give you the names of electric heat contractors near you. Each has been Edison-approved as capable and reliable.

Next, the contractor will check your home, review your needs, and recommend the type of heat best for you. He will estimate both installation and operating cost and give them to you in writing. All without obligation. We'll check the quotes if you like.

Then, after your new electric heat system is installed, Edison and your contractor will make any adjustments necessary to the system if operating cost exceeds the original estimate during the first three years of use. At the end of this time, if your operating cost still exceeds the estimate, and you aren't satisfied, Edison will remove the system and refund your original price.

That's our new Three-Step Protection Plan. Remember the first step. Call Edison.

Police Activity Up Slightly Here

Police calls were up slightly in January in comparison with the same month last year, according to the Northville department's monthly activity report.

A total of 563 calls were received during the month—11 more than were received in January, 1967. Of these,

500 originated from the city, 63 from the township. The crime rate was up slightly, but in many categories it remained constant or decreased. Biggest increases were in assault and battery, from two last year to eight in January of this year; larceny of $93 and under, from five cases to nine; insufficient funds, from none to 11; minors in possession, from none to eight.

Juvenile arrests decreased from 26 in January, 1967 to six this past February. Total arrests for all categories numbered 37.

The number of impounded vehicles increased from zero to 18—at least partially due to the city's new impoundment ordinance.

Traffic accidents were up 10, from 13 to 23; injury accidents up from two to eight; and the number of persons injured up from six to nine.

Motor violations zoomed upward from 40 to 95, while parking violations decreased from 492 to 330. Courtesy violations were down from 24 to four.

Mark 'em PAL, Please

Parcels for airmailing to U.S. servicemen overseas should be marked "PAL" to help speed delivery, Northville Postmaster John Steimel reminded patrons this week.

In instructions to post offices covering the new service, the Post Office Department has suggested that the simple designation of "PAL" (parcels for airmail) be used as a standard identification mark.

Mailers are encouraged to write or print "PAL" on the outside covers of the parcels.

Lawmakers Laud Late Dr. Sparling

A Michigan State House of Representatives resolution memorializing the late Dr. Irene L. Sparling of Northville was recently adopted and this week presented to close relatives. The resolution, introduced by three area representatives, including Louis Schmidt and Clifford Smart, reads in part:

Whereas, a gallant lady and an indefatigable, dedicated physician, Dr. Irene L. Sparling, died December 20, 1967 and her loss is mourned by the wide community of Northville and surrounding areas; and

Whereas, Dr. Sparling created a memorial in human hearts and she is greatly beloved. During the 40 years of her practice as general practitioner specializing in obstetrics and gynecology, she gave selflessly to all who called upon her service.

Whereas, born January 17, 1895 in Homer, in a farming family, Dr. Sparling graduated from Michigan State Normal college ... with the bachelor of pedagogics degree in 1918 ... (later) attended summer courses at the University of Michigan, which commended her for attaining the highest grades in her class for laboratory work and recommended her for medical school entrance. She graduated with honors in the class of 1924 and served 10 women in the class of 136 medical students, in June 1924 and had several her own senior year as class vice-president.

... She and her husband, Harold I. Sparling, M.D., both opened their practice in Northville, in July of 1925.

Resolved by the House of Representatives, that ... a memorial of tribute be accorded Dr. Irene L. Sparling whose early determination to excel in medicine for the sake of future patients carried her to that goal, despite economic handicap; and who kept that trust faithfully, beyond the call of duty, for 40 years without fail.

Maybury Wins Fight Against TB

Maybury and the surrounding community—has been reduced considerably. "Sixty to seventy percent of these problems have been eliminated," he says, "and there's a possibility that they can be eliminated entirely."

The program, briefly described, begins with in-hospital group therapy of alcoholic patients. Patients are invited to participate, hearing lectures and seeing films.

During this period, patients are screened for participation in activities of an Alcoholic Anonymous center, separate of Maybury operations but housed in the sanatorium's old girls' dormitory. Here patients meet regularly with other alcoholics, not necessarily TB patients, discuss their mutual problems and attempt cooperatively to solve them.

With community backing, the center has involved the wives of alcoholic patients in the AA self-help process. Thus, both husband and wife strive together to combat drink. Soon, perhaps, still another move will be made to involve the teenage children of alcoholics, making it a truly "family program."

A third phase of the alcoholic program, involves development of work tolerance for TB patients. Patients, upon recommendation of Maybury's rehabilitation screening board, are assigned to work in various capacities at the sanatorium—such as plumbing, clerical, telephone operating, kitchen, and laboratory duties.

Once the patient's work tolerance has been established, Maybury can send him back into society with a recommendation as to how many hours he can safely work without re-damaging his health.

The attitude of both patients and staff has changed considerably since the program was started last May. The program has attracted national and international attention. And although it is far too early to gauge its success, the immediate changes lead us to believe that alcoholism—at least among our TB patients—has been licked."

Perhaps, though Dr. Howard declines to make any predictions, Maybury has found a new disease to tackle.

Reading: A Key To Easy Learning

Reading is perhaps the most vital element of school learning. Reading skills must be mastered before a child or student is capable of studying in other areas where textbooks must be read to acquire the required information. For this reason the Northville public school system's Reading Improvement Program plays important roles for many students in the school system.

On the elementary school level three reading improvement teachers—Mrs. Ann Chizmar of Amerman, Mrs. Marion Petrock of Moraine, and Mrs. Betty Sellers of Main Street working in conjunction with each other to incorporate similar reading improvement programs in each of the three schools.

The three elementary school teachers try to help each child through individual or small group instruction. Although the reading improvement teachers are limited to 50 children by the state reimbursement law, they furnish other elementary school teachers with information regarding current research and reading improvement materials.

A "special" type of "Weekly Reader" is also used by Cooke students to cope with their special problems in mastering vocabulary.

Both the junior and senior high schools operate on the idea of individual diagnosis—weak vocabulary, comprehension, phonetics, and perception.

The school system's reading improvement teachers often get together for Wednesday meetings if they have something special to attend to. They exchange ideas and experiences, and at times make plans to attend various reading improvement meetings being held in surrounding communities.

Cavern Plans March Hops

The Cavern's entertainment billboard for the month of March features two dances highlighting popular musical groups.

March 9 features The Amboy Dukes from the Detroit area, backed by The Apostles from Ann Arbor.

The Amboy Dukes are a six-man hard-rock or psychedelic group whose current album and hit single "Baby Please Don't Go" are high on the charts in Boston, Cleveland, and Chicago.

The Apostles are a three-man soul group who are to serve as effective contrast to The Amboy Dukes.

Two weeks hence, March 23, the Cavern features Michigan's number one group from Ann Arbor known to many followers as The Ronettes, who are to be accompanied by The Apple Corps, a group from Plymouth making its debut performance to the public.

The Ronettes, a four-man group, are very popular in the greater Detroit area. They were elected as the number one group on WKRN's popularity poll of Michigan groups. They've had a hit titled "Respect," and are currently high in the charts with "I Need You".

As for The Apple Corps, it's comprised of five members formerly with The Phyre, The Museum, and The Southampton Rowe, rock groups which had dissolved for various reasons.

Admission for both of the March dances is $1.50 per member, and a $2.00 charge will be levied for non-member admittance.

Turning to the Cavern's redecoration progress, officials stated that "Cavern redecoration will be continuing for an indefinite period."

Old English wood cuts spelling the words "The Cavern" have been installed on the stage partition in the Cavern club room.

Other plans in the offing include an artificially lowered ceiling, constructing a stage, building tables, and dimming the lights in the club room.

It is also hoped that a portion of the lobby will be painted to match the interior of the club room.

Designs and plans for remodeling the director's room have been completed and construction is to begin soon.

Sue Jarvis, Cavern vice-president, stated that "The Cavern is very grateful to all the people who have given their time and energy to help with this construction. However, the Cavern still needs willing workers to finish the various plans still in the designing stage. If anyone wishes to donate his ability, time, and knowledge, please come down to the Cavern."

Here's Your Chance Girls

What's the best way to raise money for scholarships and get the Northville high school honor society members a little more active in school affairs? The answer seems to be by sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins Dance to be held in the gym Friday night, March 1, from 8:30 to 11:30.

A Sadie Hawkins dance is the traditional girl-ask-boy affair which this year features the Stuart Avery Assemblage.

The Assemblage is a six-man group of juniors and seniors in Birmingham, of whom the lead singer is named Stuart Avery.

The group has been together for nine or ten months, having appeared at the Cavern twice.

According to entertainment chairman, Peg Thilka, "The Assemblage plays a lot of stuff by the Stones, Hollies, Byrds, and Beegees."

The price of admission is to be 75 cents stag, and $1.25 drag.

The honor society also recently elected new officers for the second semester. Gary Becker succeeds Chuck Keegan as president, Jim Peterson succeeds Mike Conley as vice-president, Chick Van Fossen succeeds Allison Lyke as secretary, and Bob Armstrong succeeds Pam Smith as treasurer.

Surprise Early Skeptics

Fillies Kick up Heels, School Enthusiasm

It was a new venture attacked by a large number of skeptics who said it couldn't be done, but 17 junior and senior girls proved to the Northville high school student body that the "Fillies" Pom Pom Squad could operate in the same capacity as the two cheer leading units.

According to Sue McSevery, one of the four Fillies Squad leaders, "Miss Dorrian (who coaches the varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders) first introduced the idea about a year ago. Last spring I became interested and started asking around as to who was interested."

"Sandy Fritz and I then went to Miss Dorrian and asked if we could try it for this year. She agreed to give it a trial run, so we held try-outs and picked 16 regulars and two alternates.

"While searching for a name it was brought out that all our teams are connected with horses, so not wanting to break this tradition we chose the name 'Fillies.'"

The Fillies have no financial support; all uniforms and pom poms were paid for by the girls themselves because the school would give them no financial support, since the Fillies were considered an experimental group. It is hoped the school will give them financial aid in the future.

As for the pom pom routines and how they're planned, Sue states that "First we pick the music we want and then we start to work out a routine."

"This year Miss Dorrian did a great percentage of the work of planning the routines with added ideas from all the girls."

"We practice every Wednesday night from 3:00 to 4:30 and on Fridays after school. It takes about three or four weeks to complete a routine."

The Fillies pom pom squad will continue next year with a few changes. A few girls will work as choreographers, or routine planners. There are also hopes for new uniforms. Foremost change will be reduction of the number of girls in the group, from 16 to 12.

Regarding the success of the Fillies, Sue commented:

"I feel it was as successful as it could have been, considering that it was a first in this area and we did have quite a lot of opposition."

"I feel now that we are more accepted, it should be easier for the girls next year."

Tonight's game with Clarenceville features the senior girls in the group who are planning to do a routine of their own called "Snoopy vs. the Red Baron." They chose this particular song because Snoopy is the senior class mascot.

The following are comments from three senior girls and sponsor Miss Dorrian regarding the Fillies Pom Pom Squad:

Penny Anchors—"It's a lot of fun, but it takes a lot of work."

Romee Bell—"It's a great opportunity for girls who want to participate in displaying school spirit, but who are unable to become cheerleaders. It's a rewarding experience."

Sandy Fritz—"It's been great!"

Miss Dorrian—"This has been a dream for years. Each spring when cheerleading try-outs finished I felt girls were always left out who should deserve recognition for being attractive, respectable, graceful, energetic, and school spirited—'what makes up a typical American girl. Everytime the three squads (Varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders, and the Fillies) do the school song, I know the dream came true."

district. Hartman, along with representatives of six other area districts, including Walled Lake, Farmington and South Lyon, that will send students to the center, immediately will be involved with developing policies on curriculum, enrollment standards, and other procedures affecting the sending school district and the skill center.

Hartman's enthusiasm for this assignment stems from years of experience as a high school principal during which he has seen many young high school boys and girls in critical need of high quality vocational skill training pass through the conventional high school where no such program is available to them.

The area skill center will offer intensive training in narrow specific occupations. Programs are expected to include data processing and other computer operations, drafting, machine shop, auto mechanics, and other industrial occupational fields. The service fields are expected to be covered with instruction in cosmetology, food service, and others.

For a small or medium high school the problems of acquiring the necessary expensive instructional materials and the high-quality specialized instruction made it impossible to provide the programs, he explained.

As part of a county-wide operation of several strategically located centers, the smaller districts can serve their students by having them attend classes formed of their counterparts from the several other districts.

In discussing what he thinks might result from the committee's work, Hartman spoke quite positively in one respect.

"This will be prestige program. It will be quite an honor for the student who qualifies and has the opportunity to follow a program at the center," Hartman said he expects the committee will follow, on a selective basis, the operating procedures of similar centers in Ohio and elsewhere that have been in operation for several years.

Many such centers have students from the sending school (Novi) remain at the sending school for academic classes and extracurricular activities such as drama, student council, and athletics.

Hartman discussed his task with the air of an educator whose sensibilities had long been pained by the need for quality vocational education to serve the boys and girls not planning to follow degree programs in college.

"This center will get these youngsters ready for jobs in business and industry," Hartman said.

News Around Schoolcraft

Enrollment at the Schoolcraft continues to climb. Figures released recently by Registrar Norma E. Dunn show 3,775 students enrolled for the winter semester, highest winter term enrollment in the history of the college, and an increase of 701 students over the previous winter. The fall term enrollment of 3,936 - also a new high - was an increase of 718 over the previous fall. 40 percent of the winter semester students are enrolled in technical - vocational programs - a healthy increase over the fall term figure of 35 percent.

The Junior College Journal, magazine of the American Association of Junior Colleges, used as its cover story the current issue an article by Schoolcraft Librarian Pat Butler, entitled: "How to Name a College, Sort Of." The story is a humorous account of the selection of the name of the college. Butler is a frequent contributor to such magazines as the Saturday Review.

A new addition to the campus included delegations from Pima County Community College, Tucson, Arizona; Thornton Junior College, Harvey, Illinois; and Southeast Metropolitan Junior College, St. Paul, Minnesota. Each of the three colleges is planning a new campus. The delegations included faculty members, trustees and architects.

Biology Instructor William J. Pitala has been selected as a botany judge for the Metropolitan Detroit Science Fair in Cobo Hall in April.

Thirty-eight students enrolled in the College's industrial apprenticeship program have been placed on the fall semester honors list for academic achievement. Each of the students compiled a grade point average of at least 3.5, and 15 of them had a perfect 4.0 average.

Novi Property Owner Fights Barrage of Landfill Debris

A Novi village property owner—incidentally a council candidate—is fighting mad but can't seem to land a solid punch.

David Pink, owner of the farm at the northwest corner of Eight Mile and Garfield roads, says he's fed up with periodic bombardment of papers, rags and what have you from the Mann Contracting company landfill just west of his property.

He contends complaints to the landfill people, the village and the county health department only temporarily block the invasion of waste.

And apparently he's picking up support from neighbors. A half-dozen nearby property owners telephoned their complaints to the newspaper office last week.

Novi Police Chief Lee BeCole, who points out he has little legal jurisdiction without direction from the county board of health, early last week illegally blocked the entrance of the landfill—located on the property leased from Village President Philip Anderson—until the owner—John York, cleaned things up.

Anderson, says BeCole, has always insisted that he (the chief) should not hesitate to take action against their landfill if it is found to be in violation.

"My hands are tied until the county finds the violations and authorizes me to close it up."

The county inspector, on the other hand, has told Pink that the landfill operator must be given sufficient time to correct unsatisfactory conditions.

Pink contends that by the time the inspector arrives on the scene, much of the debris has been cleaned up. After he leaves, the problem pops up again, says Pink.

"I don't want to close the landfill. I just want him to operate it right. I have a right to protect my property," he insists.

Since last week's problem, York reportedly has been ordered by the county to install a protective fence along his landfill. "That's okay, but he's had the last six months to do it. His attitude seems to be 'as long as I can get by.'"

Besides the blowing waste, Pink contends the landfill is not being covered with earth each night as required by law—and that there isn't enough dirt in the landfill area "to do it anyway."

York contends he is running a lawful business, complying with the laws, and doing whatever he can to resolve any problems that come up.

SPORTSMAN'S NIGHT—More than 600 men turned out for the 13th annual Sportsman's Night Friday at Northville's Meadowbrook Country Club. The ensemble included sports celebrities from every major sport. Principal speaker for the event was the nation's winningest basketball coach, Adolph Rupp, University of Kentucky's pride and joy. Toastmaster was WJR's sportscaster and sports director, Bob Reynolds, who arrived booming the Presidential campaign of his radio cohort, J. P. McCarthy. In the lower right picture Reynolds listens as Rupp cracks jokes and generally leads the world of sports.

Wixom Telephone Hearing Slated

A public hearing on an application to transfer all telephone service in the Wixom city limits now served by General Telephone Company to Michigan Bell has been scheduled for 10 a.m. March 6.

The Michigan Public Service Commission will conduct the hearing at its offices in the Lewis Cass building, Lansing. All interested citizens are invited to attend and give testimony for or against the change proposed in the application, which was filed jointly by officials of both firms Monday, February 19.

Northville Loses Its Surveyor

Northville has lost its only engineering-survey business with the move of Wynn W. Wakenhut to Gaylord.

Removal of equipment and records will be completed yet this week, according to Wakenhut who will operate a similar business at Gaylord under the name of Ctesago Engineering company.

He and Mrs. Wakenhut already have moved from their Connemara subdivision home to Gaylord.

A graduate of Michigan State university, Wakenhut had been in business here for the past 12 years, operating out of a downtown office on Center street. Past president of the Southeastern chapter of Registered Land Surveyors, he presently is serving on the board of directors for the Michigan society. Persons wishing information from records in Wakenhut's possession may contact him at 124 West Mitchell, Gaylord 49735.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

FINEHURST, N.C. — Three of us drove 750 miles last Thursday to arrive at this Golf Capitol of the nation to play 18-holes Friday in long underwear, heavy slacks, a long-sleeved shirt, sweater and a jacket.

It's the first time I ever gathered wood between holes to keep small fires burning at every tee. And would you believe it, the courses (there are five of them) were so crowded there was an hour-and-a-half wait at the first tee?

Because Washington's birthday is a big holiday down here and the beginning of the spring social season at Pinehurst, there is an influx of several hundred rabid golfers Thursday.

Saturday morning 261 of them checked out of our hotel — The Carolina — before noon. They didn't appreciate the two inches of snow that covered the greens and fairways, as well as the azalea bushes, dogwood and magnolia trees.

"Most unusual," the natives assure you. One southern gentleman, who said he's been around Pinehurst country club for 58 years, couldn't remember a worse winter.

But it's 4 p.m. Saturday as I'm writing this (sitting on a bar stool in the office of the Carolina manager), and the snow's all melted. Tomorrow, everyone assures us, we'll be hitting that ball again down the pine tree-lined fairways under a bright sun.

I drove down with Bill McAllister, who lives in Northville township and owns McAllister's grocery on Northville road, and Mike Sank of Wayne, an executive at Uni-Strut corporation in Wayne. Rocky Smith, also of Uni-Strut, is flying down to join us Sunday. Barring more "unusual" weather, we'll play golf every day through Thursday and return Friday.

For the golfer this is truly a paradise. Besides Pinehurst and its five beautiful courses, there are Pine Needles, Mid-Pines, Southern Pines, Whispering Pines, Country Club of North Carolina, and many more.

This is definitely not Appalachia. In most instances the courses are lined with lovely homes and the village of Pinehurst has a variety of quaint shops that remind you of Carmel, California.

Pinehurst — the village, the land, the five courses, the country club and the Holly and Carolina Inns — are all owned by a single family, the Tufts. They also own the Marshall House at York Harbor, Maine, which gives them something to do in the summer.

James W. Tufts founded Pinehurst in 1855. Now his sons and grandsons carry on the enterprise. All the facilities of the village of Pinehurst, the police, public works, fire department, are Tufts' owned.

Their operation has been so successful that it has attracted other resorts to the area and golf has become a major industry of North Carolina.

We took advantage of the Saturday morning snow to do a little exploring of the area.

In Southern Pines, where Mike shop-

Top of the Deck

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

"I've got just the thing for you... a pair of mountain climbing boots," my next door neighbor exclaimed upon hearing how, like one of our heavy-weight champions of the world, I had worked my mouth overtime and was now poised on the threshold of decision.

"I wore them on that engineering expedition to Alaska a few months ago," he said. "Walked along a glacier for miles wearing them without a problem."

He hustled me down into his basement and dug out two gigantic pieces of footwear and asked, obviously with a good deal of pride, "How do you like 'em?"

The councilman told us that Southern Pines needs new water lines and a new fire engine. He says a $300,000 water bond issue is sure to pass because it will be retired through revenues and won't raise taxes.

Nobody wants a tax hike, he pointed out. They're already paying nearly two mills! I didn't have the heart to tell him what we pay up north.

Next we drove over to the headquarters of Golf World. It's a weekly golf magazine to which I've subscribed for many years. It was founded by the late Robert E. Harlow and is now owned by his widow, Lillian Harlow. Editor Dick Taylor was kind enough to take us through their new plant and show us their modern offset printing facilities. He also told us the best courses to play and assured us the snow would be gone by morning.

Next stop was Whispering Pines, a 27-hole layout that's only eight years old and has modern and lush clubhouse facilities.

At Pine Needles we met Lee Kosten and his wife. I had met Lee last year at Harbor Point country club in Harbor Springs, Michigan where he is the golf professional during the summer months. The Kostens, who once wintered in Florida, think North Carolina is the greatest and when you see his pro shop and the course at Pine Needles you know why.

It's by far the most modern and luxurious of the facilities we've seen. Everything's plushly carpeted and the pro shop looks like an exclusive apparel shop for men and women. They sell golf balls, clubs, slacks, shirts, dresses, coats and fur pieces, take your pick.

Owmed and operated by Warren and Peggy Kirk Bell (she's a former touring pro), Pine Needles offers a wonderful family vacation spot, if you enjoy golfing, swimming, hiking, riding and relaxing. And the rates are not exorbitant.

Probably the best product of North Carolina is the Carolinians themselves. The term "southern hospitality" must have been born here. Everyone is most friendly and cooperative. The service is excellent and you don't have to flash a five dollar bill to get it.

We're here on a "package plan" that includes meals. Ordinarily, you might think the management would profit by cutting a few corners at the dinner table.

Not true at Pinehurst. The food's fabulous and if my sweet wife (who stayed home and worked while I'm lounging around the fairways) had any hopes that I might lose a few pounds around the middle, forget it. According to the scales, I gained three pounds Friday.

I've decided to stay away from the scales.

Typical Par Three at Pinehurst

"Perfect," said I, forgetting that it was this very kind of slapdash talk that pushed me to the cliff of dilemma in the first place. "But will they fit?"

Whereupon boots and feet were introduced, and my neighbor and I remounted ourselves to the outdoors and jogged around the block in an experimental midnight run. Although the exercise left me winded, my feet offered no protest.

So it was five years ago in March that I found myself at the starting gate in an absurd footrace from Lyon to Northville — wearing several pounds of stiff leather.

Those who witnessed the hilarious walkathon that Sunday afternoon will remember that the laycees of Northville were pitted against their counterparts from South Lyon. Counting the public joiners, the field included more than 50 men, women and children.

I had whipped myself into a lather of self-confidence, and quite frankly, was so certain of success that not only had I bragged that I would sprint the 11 miles but I boasted I would saunter back over the same route without the slightest difficulty.

Two blocks later tinges of doubt crept up out of the squeaking leather and settled in my shin bones.

My boss and doubling manager, Bill Sliger, appeared on the scene to offer words of questionable encouragement midway through the contest. It was painful, to be sure, but until he finally drove away I walked along at a brisk pace, gallantly ignoring the ballooning blister that was fast inflating beneath a big toe.

When a couple of Sunday afternoon strollers sailed past humiliation replaced pain. In desperation, I halted a passing motorist who consented to fetch a lighter, more comfortable pair of shoes.

Hours later while soaking my feet, nursing spasms of pain and contemplating my good fortune in being able to complete the one-way hike — though in a tie for last place with a nine-year-old girl — the owner of the mountain climbing boots sallied forth to inquire of my health.

"Sir," I said courteously, "you are as welcome in this house as the encyclopedia salesman you referred to us a few months ago. If I could stand, I'd show you a neat little trick your salesman-friend learned. It's called 'front-door bounce.'"

"Now hold on there," he protested. "It was your mouth not the boots that got you into trouble. Those boots never bothered me. No sir, they were fine."

"Just how many miles did you walk?" I asked.

"Well, maybe a mile or two," he said retreating toward the door. "Course, the glacier was covered with soft snow and it was down hill all the way."

All of which proves, I guess, that if one is allergic to foot-in-mouth disease he ought to vaccinate himself against friends.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Where's All The Promised Help?

To the Editor:

Where Are You? The Northville Municipal court has been attempting to establish a probation department, which in my opinion, and of many other persons with which I discussed this matter, is sorely needed.

To this end, applicants were sought for the position of chief probation officer and I was very pleased to have six qualified applicants for this position. The review panel selected Mr. Dennis R. Dildy for this position and he has already commenced work. However, this probation program cannot work unless we get qualified volunteer probation workers. The Northville Record has been very cooperative in publicizing this program and has published my plea for volunteer worker applicants. In view of the many persons who had, while I was trying to set up this program, stated that they would be willing to serve as volunteers, I have been very disappointed in that, to date, I have only received one application for volunteer probation officer.

Not true at Pinehurst. The food's fabulous and if my sweet wife (who stayed home and worked while I'm lounging around the fairways) had any hopes that I might lose a few pounds around the middle, forget it. According to the scales, I gained three pounds Friday.

I've decided to stay away from the scales.

Opposes 'Private' Aid

To the Editor:

I am strongly opposed to financial aid to parochial and private schools. Not only is it contrary to the U.S. Constitution but I feel that if parents want their children to have special training in any field, including religion, not taught in the public schools they should expect to pay for it.

To be sure they pay school taxes as do those who have no children and those whose children are long since out of school. The use of public school buses opened the door a crack, the proposed legislation would open it still further. Next year we would be asked to take on full financial responsibility for them. I say No.

Sincerely, Philip R. Ogilvie, Municipal Judge, City of Northville

Likes Publicity

To the Editor:

We wish to thank you for the fine publicity given our Annual Northville Picnic which was held in Minnetonka, Florida on February 17. The day was beautiful and about 50 people attended. Everyone appeared to have an enjoyable time visiting with old Northville friends. Thank you so much for your help. The Committee

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

What do Cinderella, Sleeping Beauty, Rapunzel, Little Miss Muffet, Gretel and Snow White have in common with Sophia Loren? Give up?

"More than a Miracle," one of Carlo Ponti's latest cinematic productions, tries to force the answer, but the question is absurd in the first place. Blame it on statuesque Sophia, Italy's glacial entry as the eighth wonder of the world.

"More than a Miracle," as the title and the better-known song suggest, is a fairy tale, a genre that went out as adult entertainment with Moore Gooze and long skirts, but was revived by Walt Disney. Now, Ponti takes a shot at it.

"Miracle" laboriously tells the story of the handsome (Omar Startif) Spanish prince, who is pursued by seven proper princesses. The objective, of course: matrimony. But the prince throws a clunker into his mother's and the king's well-laid plans. He's more interested in breaking horses than in bridling blue blooded ladies.

Into this rather distressing situation comes a not-so-plain peasant girl who has the fiery disposition of a royal mare, who slaves in the fields plodding parsnips (bare footed, no less), who lives appropriately in a stall and sweats over a hot stove. Obviously, this damsel is in distress.

Try as they might, however, there is no shooting life into "Miracle." It's a hopeless task, with Sophia sounding the death knell, and the story digging its own grave.

State Wage Hikes Lag Behind Nation

LANSING — Michigan lagged behind the national average in increased personal income for November, 1967, although it matched the national average on a year-to-date basis. Personal income rose 6.6% for Michigan and the nation during the period January-November. In November alone, however, the average rise nationally was 6.1% while Michigan recorded an increase of only 5.3% over November, 1966.

CIGARETTE smoking may be hazardous to your health, but it contributes mightily to the well-being of the state treasury. The Michigan Department of Revenue reports that cigarette tax revenue for fiscal 1967 totaled $78 million, an increase of $1.35 million over 1966. Of this amount, $22.26 million went to public schools and $55.73 to the state's general fund.

It is also fourth in highest yield to the general fund, behind sales tax, activities tax, and use tax. Although efforts have been made to curb smoking, Michigan taxed 1.12 billion packs of cigarettes in 1967, an increase of 20 million over 1966.

SUPPORT for higher education is falling far behind other states a U-M study shows. Michigan appropriations to colleges and universities compared with appropriations of other states indicate a steady decline since 1959.

THE HISTORY of the press in the United States is a long and fascinating one. Beginning with the first regular newspaper, the Boston Newsletter, or-iginating in 1704, our newspapers have played a glorious part in the development of our country, its economic growth, and its advance to its position of prestige among the nations of the world. Not only the large city dailies but also the numerous weeklies and the small papers in rural areas, have an enviable record of service as purveyors of news, protectors of liberty, guardians of public morals, and champions of the better life.

In pursuit of this fourfold goal, our newspapers are continually compiling and publishing a record of our times based on the thoughts, motives, actions, and living habits of people here in our own country and in the wider world which we must learn to understand if we are to prosper in it and be at peace with it.

THE FIRST of the ten Amendments to the Constitution of the United States... which form our Bill of Rights... reads in part as follows: "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech or of the press..."

But what thus became the law of the land in 1791, a scant 15 years after the Declaration of Independence, was established in principle back in 1795 when John Peter Zenger — editor of the Weekly Journal of New York City — was acquitted of libel charges arising from his critical reports and comments respecting the conduct in office of the Colonial Governor of New York.

Ever since Zenger's day, the American press has been the protector of the people's liberty, exercising this function with a faithfulness and zeal seldom matched and never surpassed by the press of any other nation. Its alertness and integrity are among the most effective bulwarks of our freedom as American citizens.

As we have grown to our present greatness as a nation... and have become more knowing and more tolerant in the process... newspaper editorials have grown in stature and perspective. Today, editors try to win adherents for their views. They endeavor to persuade rather than to impose their ideas upon the communities they serve.

Yet, American newspapers still share with the church the title of "guardian of the public morals." And rightly so. No editor worth his salt will sit idly by, ignoring in his news pages editorial columns those incidents or conditions which are undermining the social and moral health of the community.

DURING the past quarter-century, advertising on the airwaves has grown tremendously. Radio and television now share with newspapers the promotion and sale of a wide variety of products and services. Yet until radio and TV become more effective gatherers of news as well as dispensers of entertainment, they will not have the same consumer interest as newspapers hold.

The mass production and distribution techniques which have so greatly and so quickly advanced our economic growth would have been almost impossible without the preparation of mass con-

On a per-capita basis, Michigan ranked 9th in 1959 with an expenditure of $12.33. In 1967 it ranked 17th. Appropriations per $1,000 of personal income put Michigan in 19th place in 1959. The state dropped to 27th place in 1967. Per-student appropriations in 1959 showed Michigan in 14th position. In 1967 it ranked 34th.

Taking all states into consideration, the average percent increase to higher education amounts to 214% since 1959; Michigan shows an increase of 142%. EFFECTS of not keeping up with increased costs is evident in rising tuition. Since 1959 enrollment has increased 124.5%, prices, salaries and wages have increased 48.7% and total operating costs have gone up 235.9%.

Michigan apparently is placing much less emphasis on higher education than is the case in other states. THE IMPORTANCE of tree planting has been emphasized each year by the observance of Arbor Day. This year Michigan will observe an Arbor Week, April 21-27, to accentuate the value of trees to the state's beautification program.

Michigan grows 50 varieties of trees, more than any other state and more than can be found in all of Europe. Out of 117 species of big trees, called national champions, 59 are native to Michigan. About 54% of total land area in the state is devoted to commercial forest.

As part of the observance, Governor George Romney will plant a tree on the Capitol lawn and many public schools will hold tree-planting programs on school grounds. A special pamphlet on Arbor Week is available from the Michigan Conservation Department, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing 48926.

Give a hoot about savings? Dial direct.

Want to be a wise moneysaver? Then just dial your Long Distance calls direct instead of placing them Person-to-Person. It's one way to cut your phone bill if you are reasonably sure the party you are calling will be there. And it's easy, too. Just dial "11", then the Area Code, if it's different from your own, and the number you want.

For an idea of how much you can save, here's an example. A 3-minute Person-to-Person call between Detroit and Cincinnati costs $1.30 at the day rate. Dial direct Station-to-Station and that same call costs only 85¢. You pocket the 34 cent difference.

So be smart. Give a hoot about savings. Dial Direct. It's the moneysaving way to call Long Distance.

Novi Supervisor Opposes Proposal

Novi Supervisor Hadley Bachert, member of the Oakland board of supervisors, concurs with homeowners who oppose the Oakland-Ontonagon airport proposal.

"It seems to me we should support one good airport rather than spend money for two," he told The News. Bachert, who voted against the Orton proposal, noted that it may be too late to block purchase of land for the Orton airport. "The county had an option to purchase land," he said, "and they may have already exercised that option."

Wallace Hudson, chairman of the county's airport committee, was not immediately available for comment.

Soldier Wounded For Second Time

A 19-year old Northville high school graduate has been wounded for the second time in combat.

Dennis A. Pierce

Mr. and Mrs. Owen A. Pierce, 43931 12 1/2 Mile road, were notified Sunday that their son, Army Specialist Dennis A. Pierce, suffered "slight" wounds during a reconnaissance mission near Saigon on February 19.

Major General Kenneth G. Wichham revealed that the infantry specialist was wounded when hit by fragments from a hostile booby trap. Last December the young soldier suffered wounds from mortar shell fragments. He was awarded his first Purple Heart at that time.

His hospital address is: Hospital Section, APO SF 96381.

Memphis - Airman Apprentice David A. Wilder, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar D. Wilder of 615 Grace street, was graduated from the Aviation Mechanical Fundamentals School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center in Memphis, Tennessee.

The 160-hour course included basic mathematics, common aircraft hardware, mechanical and electrical physics, aeronautical publications, and the use and application of hand tools.

Study Shows Student Interest In More Curricular Activities

Elementary students appear to have more interest in non-curricular type activities than do junior and senior high school students.

At least that is one conclusion that could be drawn from a recent survey of Northville students of the district's curriculum enrichment program. The survey was conducted by the curriculum committee and the resulting statistics were tabulated by the Mother's Club.

Trustee James Kipfer, who reported briefly on the survey at the last school board meeting, and Curriculum Coordinator Miss Florence Panatieri have recommended "follow-through" on the survey with possible implementation of some of the extra-curricular activities in which students have expressed interest.

The next step, said Kipfer, is to determine facilities and manpower needs, cost and transportation that might be required in new extra-curricular activities sponsored by the school district.

"It seems to me," he said, "that we have an indication from children and, to some degree, from the faculty that we should extend the enrichment curriculum activities."

Specifically, Kipfer noted that there appears to be a real need for curriculum enrichment at the junior high school level where, according to the findings of the survey, about half of the student body does not participate in school sponsored activities.

Similarly, the survey shows a heavy number of the high school student body as not participating in school activities. However, Superintendent Raymond Spear has stated that preliminary findings of a subsequent survey of these non-participating students indicates that a good percentage of them are engaged in non-school activities.

To the question, "Are you participating in any school sponsored activities?" 481 students in grades nine through 12 replied yes, while 286 said no. In grades seven and eight 209 said yes and 172 said no.

Other questions put to students — and the results include: "Do you work after school?" 202 said yes and 546 no in grades nine through 12, and 70 said yes and 319 no in the seventh and eighth grades.

When students answered yes to the foregoing question, they were asked if their jobs prevented them from participating in school sponsored activities. In the senior high 101 said yes, 440 no, and in the seventh and eighth grades 24 said yes and 210 no.

Is it necessary for you to work? 141 said yes and 578 no in the senior high school, and 64 said yes and 295 said no in the seventh and eighth grades.

In answer to the question, "Are you participating in any community sponsored activities, such as church, scouting, etc.?" 349 said yes and 385 in grades nine through 12 said no; 331 yes and 246 no in grades six through eight; 160 yes and 34 no at Amerman; 68 yes and 30 no at Main Street; and 110 yes and 69 no at Moraine.

Students were asked to list the activities in which they are involved. Of the nearly 50 activities listed by high school students, the most often cited was church youth (135), church (120) and Cavern (38).

Top activities listed in grades six through eight were: church (148), Girl Scouts (68), Boy Scouts (66) and youth church (63).

Amerman: Church (73), Girl and Boy Scouts (56 and 54), and baseball (18); Main Street: Church (93), Girl Scouts (40), Boy Scouts (27), Sunday school and football (both 22); Moraine: Church (55), Girl Scouts (27), Swim team (12), and Brownies and church choir (both 11).

To the question, "If the enrichment program were expanded to include activities of interest to you, would you participate?" the following response was given:

Grades nine through 12: 490 yes and 196 no; grades six through eight, 441 yes, 127 no; Amerman 147 yes, 46 no; Main Street 68 yes, 23 no; and Moraine 185 yes and 15 no.

Students then were asked to indicate activities which they would like to see added to the school program. The top suggestions included: Senior high — skiing (67), swimming (56), language club (56), intramural sports (23), gun club (21), ice hockey (18), horse riding club (14), archery and chess club (12), soccer (11), and photography (10).

Grades six through eight — intramural girls sports (34), swimming (37), arts & crafts and bowling league (both 27), slot car (26), dances (21), baseball (19), chef club & cooking and sewing and needlework (both 18).

Amerman — gym (49), arts & crafts (45), swimming (39), sewing & needlework (29), horseback riding (21), science clubs and football (both 20), baseball and music (both 19), and hockey and cooking (both 18).

Main Street — swimming (45), art (36), cooking and knitting (both 32), ice skating (29), archery and horseback riding (27), football (23), carving and hockey (both 21).

Cooking (55), woodworking (43), music (37), sewing (31), swimming (26), science and football (both 25), and knitting and basketball (both 20).

BUS INSPECTION—State police made their annual inspection of Northville school buses Friday, checking particularly for safety hazards. Under the law, buses must pass these inspections in order for school districts to qualify for state aid. Making the inspections are Trooper David Knight and Corporal Roger Kling as Northville mechanic Charles Keher looks on.

Meet Your Novi Village Council Candidates

13 Candidates Seek Three Posts In Monday Vote

EDITOR'S NOTE: Olen Green, a member of the Novi village planning board and one of the 13 candidates for village council could not be reached for picture, biographical sketch and answers to two specific questions asked of all candidates. The biographies and answers appear on page 9-A.

In what appears to represent a wave of discontent—or at least vigorous new interest in village government, 13 citizens have cast their hats into the political ring and will attempt Monday to win seats on the village council. Only three council seats are to be decided in the election. Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. at the Novi community building and the village fire hall. Of the three council seats, two are being sought by incumbents while the third is wide open because Councilman Donald Fuller has decided not to seek re-election. Incumbents seeking election are Village President Philip Anderson and recently appointed Councilman Raymond Evans. Evans was appointed by fellow councilman upon the resignation of Joseph Crupi. Anderson has served as a councilman since the in-

Wixom's New Sewers Get Baptism Wednesday

The city of Wixom entered into the last and long-awaited phase of a major achievement yesterday as the first flow of waste entered lines leading to the city's new $4,500,000 sewer treatment plant. The first connection was completed at a new Wixom Industry, Micro-Police Engineering and Sales company, and a subsidiary, Gibraltar Tool Company. Long established as a manufacturer of industrial balancing machines, the firms moved from Warren this week into new facilities at 51300 Pontiac Trail.

Spokesmen for the Oakland county department of public works, which will operate the new treatment plant, said the residents of Northville seem to be satisfied and that connections to all those having service available should be completed within 12 months.

Village President Philip Anderson and councilmen Ray Evans, Leo Harrawood, and Raymond Harrison participated in the debate, with Anderson abstaining from the voting on the short-term licensing provisions that found approval of the councilmen. Councilman Donald Fuller was absent. William Duey, vice-chairman of the

More for Dollar in 4-Quarter Year

EDITOR'S NOTE — Following is the fifth of a series of articles on the year-round school concept, which currently is receiving a good deal of attention in Michigan as school districts face critical financial problems that ultimately can affect the education of children.

While the four-quarter, year-round school calendar is frequently discussed as a means of financial efficiency, it often is mentioned as promising a means of actual cost reduction. Reports and studies on the plan draw a complicated picture that grows more intricate when the many great socio-economic differences among local school districts are considered.

For example, several reports on the four-quarter calendar make the assumption that teachers' salaries are going to go higher, that our own needs and desires will be an influence in changing teaching into a full-time profession with financial rewards to attract and hold more persons having higher and special abilities. The four-quarter calendar is then described as having financial advantages in getting more out of the additional dollars that will be spent.

One report by the U.S. Bureau of Census includes the following figures that indicate a well-established trend to support the argument that the nation is and will continue to spend more for education.

Table with columns: Fiscal Year, Total Public School Expenditures In Constant 1960 Dollars, Per Pupil, Per Capita. Rows for 1920, 1940, 1950, 1960.

Toledo states that a four-quarter year round calendar provides a 10-percent savings in costs for teacher salaries while granting 20-percent increase in teachers' salaries. The reduction is accomplished through having fewer, higher paid teachers who teach all four quarters. Only 15% of the total student enrollment attends school during any one quarter, which permits reducing the teaching staff by 25% according to the report.

Considering that salaries for teachers comprise the lion's share of operating budgets, and that the great rise in teachers' salaries came after 1960, it is safe to assume that the trend continues.

One report from the Business Research center at the University of

Date to Discuss School Plans

Future plans for the Novi school system will be discussed by Superintendent Thomas Dale at a meeting at 8 p.m. Monday, March 18, in the high school for everyone in the community. Novi Mothers' club is combining with the teaching staff to present the special program at its March meeting.

Superintendent Dale will answer "Where Is the Novi School System Going — What Are Its Plans — How Can Everyone Help?"

Court Says Tax Books Can Be Seen

When the Novi village board of appeals met Tuesday night, it probably will have copies of township tax assessment records to work with. Armed with a court order, village clerical workers will be copying Novi township records under hours the books must be made available to them by an order issued by Oakland county circuit court Judge Arthur Moore.

The village scored a point in the latest action in a continuing legal dispute when Village Attorney Howard Ackley and Village Manager Harold Ackley appeared before Judge Moore last Monday.

Reporting the action to the village council at Tuesday night's meeting, Ackley reported the action was necessary when it became evident that the village could not gain access to township tax rolls until after the village board of appeals meets next week.

Good recommended a manumission suit against township officials, Ackley said, after Township Supervisor Hadley Bachert informed Ackley that the township's tax rolls could not be copied until April 1.

Ackley's report brought inquiries from Councilman Ray Evans about the cost of the legal action. "I suppose this cost the village another $500," Evans said.

Explaining that state law requires a home rule village to have a board of appeals and hold meetings based on township tax records, Ackley pointed out that he was unable to work out a schedule with Bachert to copy the records in time for the announced meeting.

"It does seem ridiculous, that we have to go to such extremes to get what we are entitled to by law," Ackley said.
