'Candy' Dumps Heaviest Rains in Area History

businesses and streets. Riding on the crest of Tropical Storm Candy, the day-long rainfall dumped nearly 2.3 inches of rain at Metropolitan Airport, with unconfirmed reports of up to five and six inches of rainfall in the northwest section of Wayne County.

Several accidents were blamed on the storm here, but police departments of the three communities report the number was "amazingly small". Only a few injuries were reported.

Dozens of near accidents, however, lost their brakes driving through scores of road lakes in the area.

Hardest hit areas in Northville were Center Street north of Randolph, Maplewood Street, and Hutton. In Novi, hardest hit was Novi Road at the C&O Railroad, Meadowbrook Road north of Grand River, and isolated sections near Walled Lake. Twelve Mile Road took "worst" honors in Wixom. Many other streets were covered with water. The intersection of Taft and Eight Mile was a lake. Scores of basements were flooded. Wixom's Lincoln Plant closed its Wednisday day-shift because of

Across the street, water washed away shrubbery stock of C. R. Ely & Sons. Stock was damaged inside the store by waves created by cars passing through the lake out front.

Behind Ely, the Little Hill apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ware on Hutton Street were flooded as plagued unsuspecting motorists who the rampaging river water gushed up over foot bridges.

The Ford mill pond bridge was torn loose and was washed under Main Street southwest toward the Downs. Cass Benton Park was flooded and the parkway drive was closed.

In the north end of the city, homeowners worked frantically to dike up water surging down from the north. Children boated in their driveways and on their lawns.

A car was completely submerged in flood waters on Meadowbrook, one-quarter mile north of Grand River. A motorist was forced to swim from ...s car stalled on I-96 expressway

The normally placid creek adjacent to Stricker Paint Products at Novi Road and the railroad ballooned from six inches to 10-feet deep within hours, causing a gigantic whirlpool. Three feet of water filled the paint store, destroying or damaging hundreds of dollars of wallpaper, equipment and

At least one store in the Walled Lake area was reported flooded with considerable damage.

"It's by far the worst thing I've seen in the 22 years I've been in Northville," gasped the DPW Superintendent Herman Hartner, who worked through the night with his crew to answer problem calls. Oldtimers could recall nothing worse.

Hartner said drains in Northville were not clogged, but the flood waters were just too much for them to handle. Water rushed through, beneath and above drains.

Novi's night police dispatcher answered hundreds of calls as residents and motorists reported flooded basements, stalled cars, accidents, and flooded roads.

"About face" was the order of the day Thursday as Novi's City Charter Commission set aside an earlier policy decision to base the new charter upon a strong manager-weak mayor concept. Commissioners put the decision on the "back-burner" to await completion of thorough study of both manager-mayor and mayor-council concepts. Their action came on the heels of criticism by Commissioner Joseph Crupi, who had been absent when the commission made its earlier decision

Crupi, who criticized the commission for taking "premature action", urged the commission to reconsider its position and to postpone its policy decision until after a series of speakers have been heard on both concepts.

Commission Chairman Raymond Evans, while supporting tabling action, made it clear that he and other members of the commission had not acted in haste three weeks ago, that he had studied both concepts and had reached the conclusion that the manager-mayor concept-as now utilized by village-is the best for the Program Nears new city

Because Crupi had been absent and because Commissioner David Harrison had abstained from voting earlier, neither could legally vote to reconsider Thursday. Once that action was taken, SUCCUMBS-Arthur J. Heslip. longtime Novi dairy farmer and former president of the Novi Board of Education, died early Wednesday after an extended illness. At press time Wednesday it was learned that funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Victory church in Northville. Rosary will be said at 8 p.m. today (Thursday) at Casterline Funeral Home.

Mayor Wesley McAtee explained to the council that the city had to decide whether it should assume the responsibility of operating systems for individual subdivision developments at this time, or call upon the county for the service. He noted that it could not operate some and not others, and that if the council wanted to get into the water business it must take over the Palmer Lake Estates system from the motion, thus providing Crupi an opportunity to vote on the matter when it comes up again, failed to gain commission approval. Thus, when the commission votes again on the tabled motion Crupi will not be able to vote. Crupi admitted he could not claim a right to vote because of his absense earlier and he emphasized that he was not attempting to gain special consideration for himself.

For all practical purposes, argued Crupi, if the policy decision was permitted to stand the only significant decision remaining for the commission is to decide on the amount of millage the new city should be permitted to levy. "If that's what you want," he

"I hope you don't plan to use your words (in the new charter) but leave that job to Bond," he told fellow commissioners. "...In all probability, we'll favor the strong manager (concept) but I think both sides should be explored."

Because of the tabling action, the commission decided to "skip over" charter sections dealing with the form of government for the time-being and to concentrate instead on reviewing suggestions by Bond dealing with other sections and on hearing speakers.

to be heard at tonight's (Thursday) meeting beginning at 8:30 p.m. Among speakers planned-not necessarily tonight-are city representatives of Northville and Livonia and one or more university professors steeped in municipal governments.

In addition, the commission wil continue to hear reports from Novi department heads. Last week, the commission heard comments and suggestions by Village Clerk-Treasurer Mabel Ash.

(Cost of arranging a talk by one Wayne State University professor was put at $50, but because Bond said this cost was not a proper one to submit to the council (the village is footing the cost of commission work) several commissioners decided to donate the necessary funds from their own pockets.)

Several citizens were present to urge the commission to write a "low millage" into the new charter to ensure its approval by the citizens who eventually must approve or disapprove it at the polls. They suggested, too. that the fewer changes made in the present charter the better chance the new charter will have for gaining voter approval.

A conservative charter with emphasis on present-day Novi as compared to a vastly changed charter aimed at the future, said one citizen, would satisfy most voters.

Among those speaking out for limited millage were former Village President Philip Anderson, George Simmons, and Norman Sommers.

Commissioner Crupi, turning to the audience, urged the guests to "spread the word" that fear of a big nillage provision is unfounded. It is the general concensus of commissioners, he said, without drawing dissent from fellow members, that the commission plans to maintain the "lowest possible" millage, raising it above the present 5-mill levy only if it is absolutely necessary.

Novi's new school trustee, Gilbert Henderson, urged the commissioners to set aside their personal differences when their work ends, to present a inanimously backed charter to the voters, and to urge approval of their finished handiwork. He said he hoped the final charter recommendation will represent considerable study.

Concerning the procedure in eviewing sections of the existing charter, Commission Chairman Evans explained that the duties of the commission subcommittees shall include recommending changes only-not rewriting these sections word-for-word.

NEW CHAIRMAN-Mrs. Herbert Farrah was installed as the new chairman of the Novi Child and Youth Protective Services Tuesday night at the village hall. Here she accepts the gavel from out-going chairman, Sergeant Richard Faulkner. Other new officers of the group, which will recess until fall, are Rev. Arthur Norris vice-chairman; Mrs. Herbert Harbin, secretary; and Mrs Roy Williams, treasurer.

Pupils Make Walls Sparkle At Amerman

It's a rare grade school that teaches interior decoration, yet children at Amerman enjoyed some excellent essons in wall design before school idjourned. Under the direction of Barbara

Marion, the elementary art teacher, students constructed both a rug and a mosaic mural which will be used to decorate the halls of Amerman. The third grade classes joined forces on the mural, which depicts a typical playground scene at recess. Carefully, they arranged the titles so that children wearing real belts and watches are playing with real marbles and baseballs

The entire venture, which is 24×4 feet high, took about one month to complete. Initially production was delayed for lack of funds, but when the PTA gave money for the tiles the project lost no time getting underway. t is now mounted and hangs near the side entrance of Amerman School.

The Mothers Club donated yarn for the rug, which is displayed on the wall near the front door. Working with blues and greens, the teacher had fourth graders fashion the threads in the form of a fish. The completed tapistry is 4×5 , with a colorfully artistic design.

Purpose of these art projects was to "provide a lasting project on the grade school level which could be used to beautify the school." Undoubtedly both of these art works will enhance the walls of Amerman for many years to come.

Lends A Hand By DARYL HOLLOMAN

The Cavern Board and sponsors alike, not to mention myself, were elated last Friday night at The Cavern's Alsac Benefit Dance when former Cavern President L. Paul Cherne made the scene.

L. Paul, having taken up residence in Detroit in preparation for the fall semester at Wayne State University, came back to his former haunts not only to take a break from his proposed literary ambitions-but to lend a helping hand to the success of the Alsac Drive as well.

A long-time believer that The Cavern is an organization meant to serve the better interests of the community, L. Paul had this to say by functioning as a convenient stepping regarding The Cavern:

it provides a meeting place for teenagers of Northville which also serves the community by its promotion of various things like Alsac (Aid to Leukemia Stricken American Children).

"It shows that many of the teens are behind these goals that organizations like Alsac stand for. The Cavern should be commended for this gesture.

"It is impressive to see a crowd of teenagers responding to an activity which is strictly theirs. It's very easy for teenagers to have a detachment, however. The Cavern creates a unity to the benefit of all who attend.

"This brings to mind the expansion of ideas which are now being used by The Cavern personnel as shown in particular by The Cavern Coffee

"This provides something for those who do not prefer to attend the dances, and shows both talent and diversity of interests. This is the place where a teenager can relax to soothing music.'

As Leo mentioned. The Cavern Coffee House certainly is a place where they'll present before the public next teens in town and out of town can Thursday.

congregate in a relaxed fashion to the entertainment of local and out of town folksingers.

This, coupled with the Friday night dances, is essential to the teens of this community as well as to those of surrounding communities.

Such is the case which The Cavern serves-it provides a location under adequate supervision of police and chaperones which aid The Cavern Board Members in establishing a teen-club organization in Northville where Northville teens can mingle with not only other Northville teens, but associate with teens outside of the immediate community as well.

They'll have to do so later in life, so The Cavern serves the community stone as it entertains to the level and "I'd say that first of all, of course, needs of Northville's teenage citizenry,

This is much the same idea L. Paul Cherne was expressing in regard to his philosophy pertaining to The Cavern. Now, in an effort to turn away from intellectualism, I'll brief you on some of the additional highlights in store for you if you partronize The Cavern Bash this Friday night. It features The Frost and The Stuart Avery Assemblage, or if you simply desire to relax Monday night in the atmosphere cast by The Cavern Coffee House and its folk-entertainment.

The immediate highlights include a juke box, ice cream vending machines, and a couple of game machines are reportedly on the way.

The Cavern's juke box includes both recent hits and past hits, not to mention a picture of Herb Alpert for all his fans to drool over.

Looking ahead to the following week, Cavern members are preparing The Cavern's float for the Fourth of July Parade. Cavern members were to decide upon the type of float at their open meeting Tuesday night, so your guess is as good as mine as to the type of float

But School Sets Maximum Paving Assessment OK'd

Monday night to accept 100-percent paving assessment for the district's Taft Road property-but only up to a maximum of $9.000

The board's action reserved the right to reconsider if actual paying cost boosts the school's 100-percent proportionate share above $9,000. Latest estimate of the city puts the school's share at $8,700.

Citizens concerned with their own property assessment, pegged at 75-percent by the city, attempted to persuade the board to scuttle plans for district participation in hopes of forcing the city to either scrap its paving plans entirely or reconsider the assessment formula for individual property owners.

Although board members balked at the city's request for an open-end 100-percent assessment they nevertheless favored participation. They did so, it was explained, because paving is desirable for the school system, because participation will spread part of the cost over the entire school district and reduce the proportionate share assessed individual property owners, and because the city's assessment formula appears to be less objectionable than earlier suggestions. Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Zander argued that the board, by agreeing to participate, would "lock-in" individual property owners like themselves at the 75-percent figure-a figure which in their opinion is ridiculously high.

The road is in need of repair. admitted Zander, "but in all fairness we cannot afford 75-percent." The board, he argued, ought not to take an provide part of that tax money.

Richard Robinson, speaking in behalf of his mother, urged the board to ignore the "threat" by the council that unless the school participates the road will not be paved. The board, he said, should not be subject to "either-or else" demands.

Board members sympathized with the property owners, but emphasized that they had little recourse. The road will be paved eventually, no matter what action the board takes, and since participation will help cut cost to the individual property owner approval is in the best interest of these property owners, they concluded.

In other action Monday, the board approved, Business Manager Earl Busard and Curriculum Coordinator Florence Panattoni. Salary adjustments were withheld pending settlement of teacher negotiations. A policy

Two resolutions were adopted, one recognizing the services of past board member James Kipfer and the other the service of a retiring teacher, Mrs. Isabelle Spooner.

Board members also approved 41 maintenance, custodial, cafeteria and mechanical positions (same as this past year) at a cost not to exceed $180,835.

Referred back to Superintendent Ravmond Spear for review and change was a proposed policy governing the new high school swimming pool. Spear was directed to redraft a board policy together with detailed rules and regulations concerning times, fees, etc.

Henry R. Sladek, district manager for Western Electric Company in Plymouth and a resident of Livonia, has announced his candidacy for election to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors from the 26th district lymouth, Northville, Livonia and the three townships of Canton, Northville and Plymouth. Chairman of the Wayne County Republican Committee, he was the GOP representative on the special committee that came up with the new Wayne County supervisor district plan. Contrary to some contentions, Sladek considers the new district plan "the best possible."

A member of the Livonia Rotary Club and active in PTA work, he i married and has four children, ages 21 18, 13 and 4.

In announcing his candidacy, Sladik charged that Wayne County and Detroit "are in the same plight as our government in Washington. The problems and troubles of these governmental units arise from the same cause ... a terrible breakdown in the administration of government. Inept and improperly trained elected officials have created this dilemma. Voters too often and too regularly have elected officials trained and experienced in professions that do not require or test leadership skills"

"I think I could do an exceptional job as your County Supervisor. I have this self-confidence because of my educational background and extensive administrative and managerial training plus 22 years experience as professional manager and executive for Western Electric Company, I know from experience how to establish a lean budget involving several departments competing jealously for the same dollars. Managing a successful multi-million dollar organization is not new to me. Neither is decision making or problem solving.

was headed south on Novi Road, past a construction barricade, when his car hit the dirt pile. *****

Police Chief Lee BeGole reported a series of complaints this past week by the Novi Road reconstruction crews about motorists who ignore i * construction barricades, thus interfering with construction.

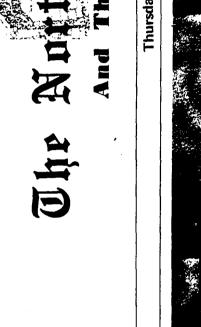

The road has been completely closed, from I-96 expressway to 121/2 Mile Road, and motorists are advised to use alternate routes.

BeGole also revealed that one of the village fire trucks has been temporarily stationed in the Walled Lake area while construction is underway. The alternate route, he said, threatened to delay response to fire calls so it was decided to station the fire truck at Wheaton Chrysler-Plymouth Company.

PROPOSED WIDENING program for Sheldon Road south of Northville is nearer reality as the final steps at the State Capitol have been completed, clearing the way for construction. State Representative Louis E. Schmidt (R-Livonia-Northville), right, looked on as Governor George Romney recently signed into law a bill authorizing transfer of the necessary property for the highway route. Schmidt sponsored the legislation (HB 3740) which allows the State Administrative Board to transfer land along the Plymouth State Home and Training School property to the Wayne County Road Commission. "Enactment of this bill," Schmidt said, "will point up the need for allieviating the traffic congestion problem on Center Street in Northville. Studies are underway on methods of routing traffic from the south, through the Northville area, to I-96 and U.S. 16. A special Northville committee has also been working hard on alternate routes to divert traffic from Main and Center Streets. Now that the way for the Sheldon project has been cleared from the legislative end, efforts by the Wayne and Oakland County Road Commissions should proceed full speed toward ending this serious traffic congestion situation."

Editorials... a page for expressions ...yours and ours SPEAKING for The Record By BILL SLIGER Samuel W. Little, who started this newspaper 99 years ago next month, would throw up his hands in disgust if he walked into

The Record's composition shop today. No ink, no type cases, no metal. Not even a proof press. What might be even more shocking to an ink-blooded printer, there's more women than men putting up the pages. To the modern printer working at The Record the changes in newspaper production have been welcomed as improvements. And most of us even accept the female contingent as a necessary and capable addition to the new system. About three weeks ago we added the latest improvement-the IBM Magnetic Tape Selectric Composer system.

We think we're one of the first newspapers in the state-and well up among the first in the nation-to convert all our typesetting to this newest method.

The first hand-made models were introduced by IBM nearly two years ago. We liked what we saw and placed an order immediately. The first installations began this spring.

Basically, IBM typesetting is simply setting type by typewriters. That's what we've been doing for three years, but we believe that the new IBM machines provide the best quality we've seen

What's more the speed has been increased immensely-up to speeds of 14 characters per second. Now our Gals on the typewriters set their copy on electronic tape. If they make a mistake, they simply type over the error and the correction is automatically inserted on the tape. Or, if there are changes or corrections to be inserted in a story, a new tape is made and the corrections automatically made as the final copy is set electrically in justified columns. Now all the talk around the composition shop is

"programming the composer" and "modes"-whatever that means All I know is that IBM has taught our composing room girls to set copy for news, advertising and commercial printing faster and better than ever before.

Once in awhile we get a little mixed up in our "programming" and the copy comes out one-column when we wanted two, or indented when we wanted it centered. But eventually the girls bring the electronic monster under control and it spits out copy so fast that even Samuel Little might have considered trading in his type stick.

One of the things, for example, that we tell the IBM not to do-and it doesn't-is to hyphenate a line. When "programming" a "story, we instruct the machine to letter-space each line so that it will not have to break a word in the middle.

We don't have to do this-and don't for quality brochures-but it's much faster and completely acceptable for setting newspaper columns.

Here are some of the other features of Selectric Composer: in sets six point.... eight point... 10 point... 11 point, up to 12 point in size.

It sets light face and bold face and italic.

It will set copy flush left....

It will do a wrap-around, if for example I should, like some popular columnists, wish to insert my picture in the column.

There's very little our new composing machines won't do... that is, if you feed them the right information.

Next we expect to find a machine that will gather the information. Then we'll just wait around until Thursday to see what's new.

Sam. The Peanut Man turned Junk Man. eased his 79-year-old frame into an escapee of the Northville dump and said, "It was a great life... but all good things usually come to an end."

He reached back easily into this past to recall the peanut stands he operated for more than a decade in Northville, Novi and New Hudson before taking up his current profession-dump superintendent.

Both jobs are exciting, sighed Sam Dickey, "but selling peanuts... ah, well, there's a job to make any man happy. Why, if the city would let me I'd be back on the street tomorrow. Could make more in a week selling peanuts than I make in a month here at the dump.

From 1943 to 1956 this active old man, who lives on the edge of the dump he superintends hawked peanuts at the Northville Spring, Novi Road and Grand River, and on Grand River in New Hudson.

Eventually, his success led others to hustle vegetables, eggs "and what have you" until finally Northville came up with an ordinance "running us out," he explained.

He probably would have continued his stands

Readers Speak

Repeat Elections: Democratic?

To the Editor:

Due to the prevalence of medieval thought I have been unemployed for one week. During this time I have had an opportunity to look at TV and a few old newspapers.

Detroit is exerting an effort to register voters; apparently many people have not been voting and many more fail to register to vote. One might speculate as to why the vote is not used by more people. It might also be fun to toy with the idea of possible consequences if millions walked into the booth and pulled levers for the sheer pleasure of pulling levers.

News commentators lead one to think that any choice among presidential candidates must involve

Nixon and Humphrey. To consider McCarthy or Rockefeller as candidates appears to be nothing other than mental gymnastics and lends itself to mathematical possibilities only. This is very interesting when one realizes that roughly three-fourths of the Democratic votes cast have not been for Humphrey. I have yet to find material which suggests that the man-in-the-street Republicans have swarmed to the leadership role of

The Northville Board of Education has decided to have another election on the previously defeated millage. Does this possibly indicate that those who were interested enough to vote at the Suspicious? You Bet!

To the Editor: I was very disappointed with your editorial of June 13. You suggest that, if the taxpavers do not approve millage requests, "increasing assessments is an easy method of raising taxes without asking the public." In other words we may as well vote yes or we get it "down the throat" anyway. It is this type of tactic which has made many people lose faith and trust in the entire school system. I also wish to bring to your attention, as well as that of the voters, that as a class C district the board can now sell bonds for construction in the amount of 5% of the district's valuation and not the 2% stated earlier in this paper. This House-introduced bill was passed about a month ago and gives school boards the authority to do this without any vote of the people! No wonder only 20 percent voted

Does it really matter what taxpayers think? Perhaps many, this writer for

Why Blame The Teachers? To the Editor:

At a time in our country when there is so much deviseness and finger pointing I was very dismayed to real an article in last week's Record which placed the blame for the failure of the passage of the bond issue on the seventeen teachers who did not vote.

To me, statements of this kind do nothing to further the cause of education but only serve to antagonize the public against this cause. I want it understood that I am not in any way looking to excuse those who did not vote any more than I can condone the other 80% of Northville voters who also failed to do so.

What I am trying to do, is see that the facts are kept in their proper perspective. It should be noted that over 60% of the school employees did vote, compared with 20% of the total electorate.

We should take more concern in looking forward to improving the overall attitude of the electorate rather than making statements that could lead to the polarization of the school board, administration, teachers and general public.

> Interested in Northville's Educational Future

one, feel that many of our teachers are not doing the job they are paid to do and more money is not necessarily the answer to the many problems which do exist. We really need more music teachers and swimming teachers and while we're at it let's get a few golf and fishing instructors. Taxpayers must live within their income and it's past time that our school district did the same! In regard to "year-around" school proposal I would like to see the facilities in use but can't help wondering if this is not a perfect excuse to hire 75-100 more teachers so we can have the class load at 15-20. Suspicious? You bet I am!

And to you, Mr. James Watt, you are only one of many with the same feelings. You stated it perfectly! Mrs. Rose Williams

EDITOR'S NOTE – The editorial to which the writer refers opposed, rather than supported, increasing assessments as a means of raising taxes. It challenged a board candidate who had opposed the two-mill request on the basis that assessments should be increased instead. The sentence immediately preceding the one quoted by the writer above stated The Record's principle reason for opposing assessment increases, because... "it would remove from the taxpaying citizen the right to vote for or against a tax hike". The 5-percent bill referred to by the reader was killed in the House of Representatives. Even had it passed, Northville would not have been able to borrow money under its provision. According to the school's bonding attorney, this third-class provision permits a school district to borrow 2-percent for debt retirement purposes ONLY if the district's present bonded indebtedness is less than 2-percent of its SEV. Northville's indebtedness is estimated at more than 10-percent.

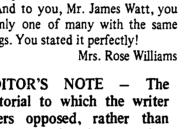

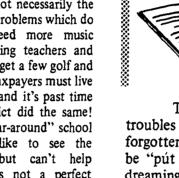

catching up to me." In the decade that he sold peanuts, Sam developed a sales pitch "nobody could resist." That plus his sharp business eye produced profits that others in the business seldom matched.

He bought peanuts by the tons, roasting them in the shed next to his little frame house, then carted them out to his collapsible stands. At one time he had about 18 boys working for him, and he made the rounds from one stand to another to make sure "those kids got out there and worked the cars."

In one profitable move, Sam recalled, he bought 20 tons of unroasted jumbo peanuts "before the guy knew the price had gone up, and I made a killing. You gotta be on your toes.'

Sam carefully measured out 80 bags of peanuts to every half-barrel and always saved out two peanuts from each bag. "Those two peanuts were enough for my overhead," he laughed. When the wholesale price of peanuts went up, Sam kept the same size bag and his sale price but reduced the number of peanuts per bag. "The people couldn't figure out how I could keep going with prices going up. They'd look at the same size bag but never

This could be called "The Ponderous Age," a time in which troubles weigh heavily on people, so much so that they have forgotten how to relax. Even tranquil, contemplative moments must be "pút to good use." Loafing has become a dirty word, and day dreaming is fast going the way of the five-cent cigar. Realism is the thing.

So the Rosier Players Summer season comes as a breath of fresh air, a promise of relief from a whirlwind existence. Call it escapism, if you will, but the playbill offered for 10 weeks beginning tomorrow night at History town in Brighton, is nothing but sheer entertainment.

The plays are completely innocuous. There's "Rubes in the City," "High and Mighty," "Tamed and How," "Mr. Pepper's Pepper Upper", and "The Little Dipper." None of the plays will strike any particular recognition from the young, perhaps not even the middle aged. But the oldsters, they'll remember, for with the exception of "The Little Dipper" the plays are from a different American era-the 1920's and before.

Or perhaps the play was one of those slap-stick, rock ribbed nedies, featuring a hero who could do no right as he fell off a, chair, tripped while carrying a batter of mother's best pancake mix. or dropped baby to prove the bouncing theory. In short. slapstick.

This is the fare that lies in store at the Rosier Player's Old Tent Show at 6068 West Grand River in Brighton. It's a revival of sorts, without the preaching. The only conversion will be to mirth and complete entertainment that includes vaudville acts between acts.

The tent show, like the plays, isn't new. Born in 1855, the tent show caught fire by 1900 when there were 1,900 tent shows playing in more than 16,000 American communities and employing about 20,000 actors. Actors were itinerants then, traveling from community to community to present the fashionable plays of the day, long before the silent movies of "talkies" dented the gate.

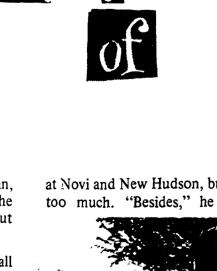

The Rosier Players aren't new, either, A professional company working out of Jackson, the Players appeared in years past at the Irish Hills playhouse until its doors closed last year. Now, they're trying to revive the tent show, to return to family fun.

Everything's not old about this new theatrical venture. One of the plays being offered-"The Little Dipper"- is an original musical in folk style written by Hammill and Ward of the Rosier Players, Inc.

But, in essence, the glow of yesteryears will be the focus Curtain going up!

when the curtain opens for the Rosier Players first show tomorrow night. Cost is absurdly low: $1.50 for adults. 75 cents for children to see a melodrama, and $2 per head for the musical.

He learned early that the slightest change in location of the stand could make a difference. Up, at Novi, for example, he was selling at the southwest corner. Then one day his old friend from union days, Dearborn's Orville Hubbard. suggested he switch to the northeast corner. "I did, it and doubled my sales."

Prior to going into the peanut business Sam drifted from one job to another. His profession then was the foundry. He also was a union organizer and a "ward healer" in Detroit, scaring up votes for politicians. The auto companies were responsible for many of his moves, he said. "because they never liked to keep union people in one place for long."

The switch from peanut sales to managing the dump was a natural. He still met "all kinds of people," and many of his peanut customers became his dump customers. But now, instead of judging 'em by the size and condition of their cars. he can "pretty quickly judge a guy by the kind of junk he's got."

And judging by all that good stuff that decorates his home and yard, Sam's customers are a pretty affluent lot.

By most standards, first-half 1968 has been a very good period for business: Numerous new records in production and shipments; a Gross in this eighth consecutive year of National Product gain of close to $38 billion; economic strength abounding despite social, economic, political, and international crises.

Even so, it is obvious that this prosperity has not been shared by all segments of the economy. Farm income has lagged. Dollar gains in personal income have been whittled down-in some cases to the vanishing point-by heavier total tax levies and rising living costs.

retirement will not be effective until July 1, the 42-year-old justice indicates he will no longer sit on the bench and participate in decisions. His departure gives Republicans a technical majority on the court for the first time since 1955. In the past, the court has at times come up with a 4-4 deadlock on an issue, leaving the outcome "in limbo." The most recent example was the tie decision on whether the Michigan Court of Appeals had the right to investigate a state agency.

Souris, one of the court's more liberal members, was the chief force behind landmark decisions that applied the one-man, one-vote principle to the Legislature and, more recently, to county boards of supervisors. One of the most prolific writers of the court, he authorized 192 opinions between 1964.68 personal income gains over the 1967 wages, bigger social security and other government payments, and higher dividend and interest rates.

LABOR DEVELOPMENTS During the first six months of this year. wage increases have been the largest in the nation's history. And this trend will continue in the second half, spurred by the record raises expected in aluminum and steel. Basic patterns will likely contain multi-year raise guarantees of at least 61/2% annually and, in many instances, across-the-board pay provisions substantially higher. Fringe benefits will be either expanded or initiated where contracts face reopening or expiration. Labor will also move to tighten the security of private. pension plans - which cover upwards of 25 million employees and involve assets of more than $100 billion. AUTO OUTLOOK - So far, buyer interest has been very well maintained and there is good reason to expect 1968 output to top 8,500,000 units. As usual, there will be a letdown during model changeovers. However, we predict that last-half output will top the strike-diminished year-earlier figure by about 10%.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION - Despite high costs for land, materials, and mortgage money, we feel that home building will make nominal gains over year-ago levels, with apartment units continuing to be favored. Public construction will be hurt by cutbacks in federal spending, especially roadbuilding ... dipping below recent levels but holding close to final-half 1967 outlays. Commercial construction prospects are likewise dim: expenditures could drop as much as 5% below the first half though holding some 10% above a year FARMING – We are moderatelyoptimistic about the over-all position of farmers in the next six months. Quotations for livestock should be edging up and we expect that harvest prices for some key crops will be a bit higher than they were late last summer and in the autumn. While farmers' expenses are still on the rise, "the climb should be at an appreciably slower pace than in the first half.

WAR AND PEACE – All the East; but there is no more than a 50-50 foregoing predictions are based on our conviction that the road to peace in Vietnam will be long and rocky. So far, the Paris talks have gotten nowhere; and the conflict rages more fiercely than before we cut back our bombing of North Vietnam. If peace comes to Vietnam this year - and it will only if the U.S. makes far-reaching concessions to the Reds - it will come so late in the year as to have minimal impact on the economy. The balance between war and peace elsewhere in our troubled world has seldom been more delicate. Sentiment for resumption of the Korean War is strong in North Korea. In the Middle East it is becoming harder to hold the lid on the boiling cauldron of mutual fear and hatred between Arabs and Jews. More than any other nation, Russia holds the key to peace in Korea and in the Middle chance that she will quench the embers now smoldering

POLITICS - Politics will hold center stage in the U.S. right through the second half. Vietnam will continue to be a big issue politically, but Ho Chi Minh's tactics on the battlefield and at the conference table could cause anger and resentment sufficient to weaken the position of political doves running for office. Crime, civil rights, and the war on poverty will be given equal billing with Vietnam as campaign issues. We forecast also that leaders of both parties will be in general agreement as to national goals ... differing only in methods of attaining them. This, as much as anything, could make for a close election... perhaps close enough to give the House of Representatives the chance to make the final decision.

the room and eased himself into a 1898 chair. "I bought that piano," he mumbled, indicating the baby grand lodged in the corner of the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall.

"We got it second hand for $125. Yes, we found it under a pile of chairs in a junk shop in Detroit-Reverend Fredsell and a couple other church members. They asked me to go along. It didn't look like much but I saw the numbers on the strings and knew it was a good year."

If anyone in Northville is qualified to judge the worth of a musical instrument, it must be Henry Schnute, Northville's popular music man who Saturday celebrated his 91st birthday.

Friends gathered recently at the church to see a movie concerning the life of this still active musician. The photographer, Percy MacKenzie, and the narrator, Felix Lorenz, had worked with Schnute's daughter, Selma, to compress nearly a century of the man's life into the 45 minute film. The result is a fascinating documentary entitled, "Four Score and Ten."

Henry Frederick William Schnute was born June 22, 1877, in a log cabin in New Menton, Illinois.

When he was five his mother bought an autoharp, and the boy immediately learned several tunes including, "Home Sweet Home. Recognizing her son's talent, Mrs. Schnute enrolled him in music lessons-and he continued to study

Following graduation he taught school in Detroit and on August 2, 1902, he married Matilda Wagner. Three sons were born, Milton, Arthur and Alvin, and the couple lived together until Mrs. Schnute died in 1912. Later, he married Augusta Katheryn Myer, who died in 1960. A daughter, Selma, was born with this second union.

For a while, Schnute continued teaching in Detroit, but eventually teaching 80 students in a one-room classroom became too much and, upon his doctor's advice, he moved to the country-purchasing a Northville farm home now owned by Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Wetterstroem.

Except for 10 years in Monroe, he has lived in Northville since then. It is here that his children grew up. Milton graduated from Michigan State University with a major in zoology and Alvin followed his father to Concordia Lutheran College. Arthur served as Northville's assistant postmaster until his death in 1962. Selma, the youngest, is living at home giving music lessons along with her father.

Throughout his life, Schnute has been immersed in music.

Years ago he organized the Northville Community Orchestra and sometime later the senior choir for senior citizens. He has directed numerous church choirs and was, for a while, organist in one of the local churches.

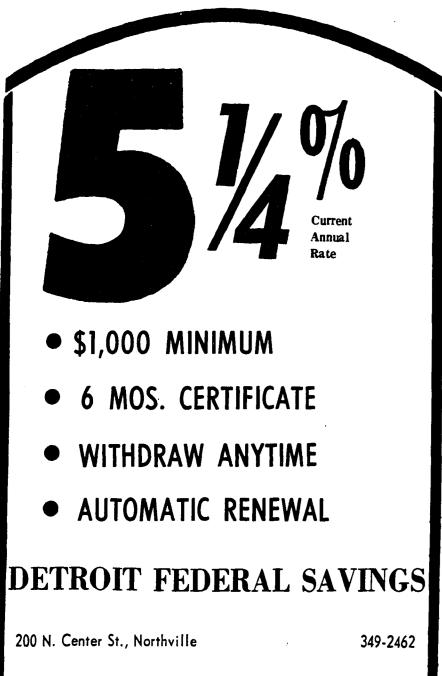

In his life-time he has mastered more than 15 instruments-all of which he has taught from time to time. More than a 1,000 students have taken lessons from him and the number continues to increase. At present he has approximately 15 students.

Although he has never performed in public himself, some of his students have become quite successful. He recalls one student in particular "who used to live on the corner of Rogers and Cady." The student, whose name he cannot remember, moved away and lost touch with his Northville teacher One day, turning on his radio, he heard the announcer state that his former pupil would be conducting the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in Chicago.

Life has not been too easy. He has suffered several heart attacks and had cancer of the lip. And soon after his 90th birthday he suffered a serious illness which doctors presumed would be fatal.

But the colorful old man lives on, teaching music and doing the things that have made him, in his own way, a living Northville legend.

State Approves Novi School Bonds

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, Chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, has announced that the Commission approved $480,000 of 1968 School District Bonds" for Novi Community School District.

Attorney General Kelley said "The proceeds will be used to defray the cost of erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition to the Orchard Hills Elementary School building, remodeling school buildings and improving the sites thereof (including sewer connection), and acquiring a site for future school construction. "These bonds were authorized by the electors of the school district on April 1, 1968, are unlimited tax bonds and will run until 1993. The school district is authorized to levy whatever taxes are necessary to pay principal and interest. These bonds are also qualified by the Superintendent of Public Instruction under the School Bond Loan Program". Other members of the Municipal Finance Commission are Allison Green, State Treasurer; and Ira Polley, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

RESCUED-For more than three hours, nine-year-old Steve Elody, son of Dr. Marta S. Elody, 392 Welch Road, shivered and cried in 2¹/₂ feet of muddy water in a basement excavation at Westridge Subdivision as more than a dozen Novi policemen, firemen and village employees worked feverishly to free him. Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner and Water Department Superintendent Roy Marr worked for an hour to remove the boy, whose foot was painfully inpaled on a long, crooked nail and wedged awkwardly in framework and mud beneath the water. Because of the pain and the uncertainty of how his foot was caught, they called in a fire truck pumper and two portable pumpers to first remove the water. Then with the ambulance on the way and Dr. Lorne Dyer on hand, his foot was pulled free. Treated and released from St. Mary Hospital, the boy had been wading in the basement. Township Okays 1968-69 Budget

Novi Township's 1968-69 proposed budget-calling for a total outlay of $101,500-was approved last week Monday.

(The Novi News erred in reporting that the budget hearing was to be held last week Wednesday).

According to Supervisor Hadley Bachert, the approved estimated budget differs from an earlier proposed budget in that the "in and out" income from veterans exemptions are not included (receipt of these funds from the state and their dispersal is a clerical matter only and no longer required to appear in the budget).

Last year the total budget called for an estimated expenditure of $96.400 and it included the veterans exemptions.

Furthermore, he said estimated cash on hand actually totalled $54,200, as revealed in the completed audit. rather than the estimated $46,000 as reported two weeks ago.

Most line item expenditures remain the same as the earlier budget estimate, although a couple categories have been reorganized, an assessor salary of $3,000 has been eliminated, and the total outlay for the park has been hiked from $29,000 to $31,600.

Here's the expenditures as approved: Supervisor, $6,000; clerk, $3,600; treasurer, $3,600; office salaries, $2,000; trustees, $800; building inspector, $300; electrical inspector, $300; heating inspector, $300; board of review, $300; zoning, $500; attorney fees, $3,600; auditing fees, $1,500; office supplies and expenses, recording tax collection, microfilm,

$1.500 Park operation, $19,000; park expense, $2,500; welfare, $1000; cemetery care, $1,000; miscellaneous, $600; sewer taps, $1,500; recreation. $1,000;

$2,100; insurance and bonds, $3,600;

election expense, $1,800; official

Greatest percentage growth occurred in Macomb County which had a new high of 577,000 residents for a 42-percent increase since 1960. Two communities, Warren and Sterling Township, accounted for most of this gain with about 111,000 additional persons. This represents a growth of 94-percent for Warren and 181-percent for Sterling Township.

Township Race Locked Up Primary Election's A Puzzler

The August primary and the November election are sure to be beauts-full of puzzling legal ramfications and wallpaper ballots almost as long as your arm. Redistricting of the local court system together with the new county supervisory district helps create the big question marks.

But the election of township officials is no less puzzling. As things stand now it appears the two-party primary election of township officials, here in Novi, has already been decided. Up until a few months ago, township officials had been told they were to serve "bonus" terms to rectify the lame duct sessions resulting from changes in the new State Constitution. Officials elected in November of 1966 did not officially take office until the following spring, so in reality their terms do not expire until next spring-not in November when they stand for re-election.

"No doubt, the Legislature will have to enact something to correct (the law)...probably call for an election in 1968." his office told this newspaper.

While the Attorney General's ruling concerned only those trustees elected to four-year terms in 1964, his office told The News at the time that it probably would affect, too, the four-year terms of trustees elected in 1966 whose terms had been extended to November, 1972.

The ruling would not, his office said. affect the extension of terms of township officers, such as supervisors, clerks, and treasurers.

Recently, Oakland County Circuit Judge William Beer handed down a decision that in effect challenged the Constitutional authority of the state legislature to extend the terms. Each time the question of Novi's officials, however, acting pon the advice of their attorney, Emery Jacques, filed "just in case," before the June 18 deadline. The same thing happened in Northville, although there the deadline came up so unexpectedly that no one filed for one trustee vacancy. So in reality, the August primary will be a no-contest battle, with no challengers. It means the Republican board has been re-elected even before the November general election.

A strong manager and a strong mayor recommended and defended a sparring match before the Novi City Charter Commission Thursday night. Neither could claim a victory.

Commissioners expect to hear others talk about the two basic forms of government before deciding which type of government they will choose

Thursday's contestants were Harvey W. Moelke, mayor of Livonia, and Frank Ollendorff, city manager of Northville. While the two espoused opposite viewpoints, they were agreed

Whichever form of government i picked, give the mayor or the manager sufficient powers to carry out the duties of his office, and in writing the charter make it a clear-cut document that does not mix strong manager-strong mayor charter

Here are the basic points of the

*The strong mayor-council form of government provides a check and balance system not provided under the city manager form. *It offers a healthy public forum, resulting in better public awareness of the issues

*With both the mayor and the council being elected, the people know where the responsibilities belong and they can act accordingly.

*The city manager cannot exercise authority as can the mayor who is elected by the people; furthermore when the elected mayor goes to Lansing or to Washington, D.C. for some request he carries with him a good deal more authority.

*A mayor usually has been resident of a community for a considerable time and knows first-hand many of the problems and the citizens of the community.

*The mayor can express his own opinions and fight for his position whereas the city manager does not often express differing points of view. How can the manager be held vote?

*The strong mayor system provides organized groups with an opportunity to advance a candidate and to have some influence incapturing the mayor's seat.

Ollendorff-

*The lines of responsibility under the manager system are clear-cut and the people know it.A manager who fails to do his job can be disciplined or dismissed.

*In local government there are two distinct functions: policy-making and administrative. A manager, trained in administration, can do this job best; leaving policy-making to the council.

*If the council errors it cannot 'pass the buck'. to the mayor or vice-versa as is the case under the strong mayor form of government.

*If your citizens voice little interest in local government, then perhaps the strong mayor form is preferable. But if the people have a real interest in their government, the city manager form has the edge because responsible for council action where its here the people, not the mayor. decision may have been made by a split represent the "check" on the council. By Charter Commission Ward System Considered

Should Novi's new city charter that if the new charter does not contain provisions for council representation by the ward system?

If Thursday's discussion is a clue, this question is certain to weigh heavily upon the City Charter Commission's future deliberations.

As a matter of fact it may have been a key point of discussion in yesterday's meeting (Tuesday), which was moved ahead two days because of the Fourth of July holiday. Last Thursday, two citizen's attending another lively meeting of the commission urged its members to consider the district or ward system to guarantee equal representation on the council. They were Donald Woodward and Mrs. Jean Colleen.

Woodward, 'who has repeatedly argued in the past that Novi's government neglects the northern portion of the community in the Walled Lake section, took the position as puzzled as the next. And he's from Lansing relative to these election

To further complicate matters, while the conflicting viewpoints were being raised throughout the state, the deadline for filing for party nomination to township office came and past. Those who may have been waiting for clear-cut answers missed the opportunity to get their names on the be approved by the voters. Mrs. Colleen said she had no personal interest to satisfy but that in her opinion the ward system would give the community's various sections better representation. Commissioner Russell Button, who first suggested the ward system to fellow members, said he is not yet fully convinced that it should be written into the charter. However, he urged fellow members to study it thoroughly before reaching a decision. One of the problems with a ward system, it was noted, is that because of recent landmark rulings of the United contain a district provision it will not States Supreme Court and the Michigan Supreme Court districting by equal population most certainly would also apply to local government.

This being the case, a charter provision for the ward system would necessarily require periodic redistricting because of changes in populations, thus necessitating periodic charter revisions-a costly, complicated procedure.

The question is expected to be explored, however, with attention given to a ward system provided through ordinance rather than by charter provision.

PARKING LOT IMPROVEMENT-Last week's rains upset plans for early completion of asphalting of the Township Hall parking lot, but hopefully the project will be completed yet this week, according to Supervisor Hadley Bachert, who said the new hard surface will be a special Deep Strength type of blacktopping,
