

Drowning, Suicide

Two Tragic Deaths Occur in Novi

Two tragic deaths, not connected with each other, occurred last week Wednesday so quickly that Novi police had not returned to the post from the first before they were called to the scene of the second.

The first was the drowning of William Wickline, 1313 East Lake Drive, Novi, whose body was found in Walled Lake, 1/2 mile north of Novi Road and a fourth of a mile east of that point, according to Police Chief Lee BeGole.

The chief said David Byrd, 1865 Charms Road, Wixom and Linda Miles, 212 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, were sailing on the lake when they noticed an overturned row boat. Closer scrutiny revealed a body nearby, under the water in an upright position.

Officer Ronald Arbour said that he and Corporal Gordon Nelson discovered the body of the 72-year-old man was entangled in fishing line. "His eyeglasses were still in place," Arbour said. "He was in seven to eight feet of water." State Police, who were called into the case, said Wickline was apparently the only one in the boat when it capsized. Coroner Dr. Arnold Kellogg of Wixom noted that there was a cut on the drowned man's right temple.

Mrs. Wickline said her husband had gone fishing alone, police reported, but that in her distress she was unable to recall the time. The body was discovered at 4:30 p.m. Wednesday. Daily Weaver of Novi took Nelson and Arbour in his power boat to the location of the drowning. Wickline had been using a 12-foot aluminum boat without an engine, Arbour said, and it was drifting when it was found by Byrd and Miss Miles.

As the officers were returning from Walled Lake they received a call at 6:48 p.m. to 39474 Burton Drive where the body of a widow, Mrs. Charles Vincent, was found in her den. State Police, after they were later called to aid in the investigation, pronounced the death a suicide.

When Novi officers entered the Vincent house, they found it in good order, the radio playing on the kitchen table, and the body of the woman lying in the den, with powder burns on her stomach Arbour said. There was a rifle standing in the bathroom across the hall, he added, and the telephone near the dead woman lay off the hook. The house was open, the gun case glass broken, and glass from the found several feet away in the back yard.

Incumbent Title Scratched

A permanent injunction granted Friday by Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Templin of Oakland County prevents those municipal judges who are running for District Judge on August 6 from designating beside their name that they are serving now as a judge.

Northville's Municipal Judge Philip Ogilvie, a candidate for the district judgeship, will appear on the ballot without his current title as a result of Judge Templin's decision.

A candidate for District Judge in District 46 of Oakland County, Allan H. Tushman, who is not currently a judge, was the complainant in an order to show cause brought against the Oakland County Election Commission and Clarence Reid, also a candidate,

Con Artists Up to Old Tricks Again

Like perennial weeds, schemes of fraud are springing up again to bilk area residents of their hard-earned cash. That's the word from Northville-Novu police officers, who warn unsuspecting residents—particularly the elderly—prime targets for the smooth-talking con-men who seem to thrive in warm weather. Latest of a hybrid crop of con-games came to light this past week in Northville, one involving the "bank investigation" racket and another the "police fund donation."

Investigating a bank teller suspected of taking money from the customer's bank account. Once he has his victim's confidence, the con-man asks the victim to assist him and his police agency in trapping the teller. "Go to the bank, withdraw your money, and we'll watch what the teller does," the con-man suggests. The victim, upon entering the bank may notice the "investigator" watching the transaction from the bank lobby and perhaps even receive his nod of approval indicating, "You're doing fine, our men are watching closely, go ahead and make the withdrawal."

Wixom Axes County Millage

Wixom City Council approved a rezoning and turned down endorsement of a proposal for one mill for county roads at their Tuesday meeting. A public hearing was held on the rezoning from B-3 to M-1 (light manufacturing) of the south 30 feet of Lot 37, Supervisor's Plat No. 10, to a depth of 166.5 feet on property owned by The Korex Company. The Planning Commission had voted in favor of the rezoning to "square off" the property.

Manager Vs. Mayor Decision Set Tonight

Several key decisions were made by the Novi City Charter Commission Thursday evening, but several of even more importance were pigeon-holed for later action. Perhaps the most important decision of all of them is expected to be made at tonight's 8:30 p.m. meeting in the council chambers. Commissioners will choose the form of government for Novi. Here were the decisions made last week: Election Process—First defeating a motion of Commissioner Russell Button to write some method of districting (sometimes referred to as wards) into the charter, by a vote of 6-2 (only Button and Commissioner Fred Buck voted for it); the Commission voted 8-0 to instruct Attorney Howard Bond to provide an at-large provision in the proposed charter together with a provision that the city council be composed of seven members.

Two Killed In Crash

Two died and two were critically injured in a two-car head-on collision Thursday night on Wixom Roads on 196 Sunday noon. May C. Jackson, 55, of New Palestine, Indiana and Marilyn Anne Panaretis, 18, of Detroit were both dead on arrival at Botsford General Hospital. Robert W. Jackson, 54, also of Box 354, New Palestine was in critical condition as was Cynthia Francine Selski, 18, of 9601 Vaughn, Detroit, upon their arrival there, according to Wixom police. Jackson was the driver of a pick-up truck that was traveling east on 196 when, according to an unidentified witness, a front tire blew out on the truck. further investigation into costs and consideration of a proposal for some kind of graduated tax process. Another key decision yet to be made is the matter of the type of government the new city will have: strong mayor-council versus city manager-council. In regard to the latter decision, the sticky problem of taking this matter off the table and perhaps killing altogether an aging motion favoring the city-manager-council form of government was delayed despite a plea of Harrison that it be removed and settled. Harrison abstained from voting on that original motion and therefore, until it is either approved or defeated, neither he nor Crupi, who was absent when the original motion was made, can have a hand in voting on the matter when it comes back off the table. The complicated situation was delayed because the last tabling action specified that it not be brought up again until August 25. Commissioner William Ducey, absent from last week's meeting, is expected to be back for tonight's session following a vacation. Commissioner Berry.

Postal Services Trimmed Here

Mail services beginning Saturday will be curtailed, Novi and Wixom postmasters announced this week. Curtailments in Wixom, Walled Lake and Union Lake, resulting from cutbacks by the Congress, will include: Elimination of all Saturday and Sunday window service. Saturday collection of mail from street deposit boxes will be adjusted to conform to the generally less frequent Sunday collection schedules. Similarly, services in Novi will be curtailed, although general delivery windows will be open for two hours on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. to give mail to general delivery patrons and to firms that normally call for their mail at the post office. Both Wixom Postmaster Elwood Grubb and Mrs. Harry Watson noted that planned extension of rural delivery was scrapped on July 1. "At this time," they said, "there are no plans to provide mail delivery service to new subdivisions and apartment projects." The curtailments, according to the local postmasters, were ordered by Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson to conform with a recently enacted tax bill that reduces postal service and new hiring to the 1966 level. "This is not a matter of dollars but of people," the Postmaster General explained in issuing the order. "Under the manpower restrictions imposed by the tax bill, we simply will not have enough people to continue all postal services at their present level." The local postmasters said their offices are being permitted to operate temporarily within their current budgets and to maintain services at or near the present level. However, they noted that they

Circuit Court's Key to Lake Level Says Manager

"There's no way to be prepared for a 100-year rain," is Novi Village Manager Harold Ackley's sum-up of the countless complaints that have poured in since the rains came in June—not only to Novi government offices, but judging from reports around the state, to those of almost every other community affected by flood conditions that followed June's extraordinary downpour. Ackley told the Charles Crawford last week, following their letter to the council about near-flood conditions at their home on Walled Lake, that he would ask that the village attorney compose a petition for citizens to circulate, if they wish, to appeal to the Circuit Court concerning the level of Walled Lake that should be maintained. After sufficient signatures have been obtained, the Circuit Court will decide whether to ask the Board of Supervisors of the county to determine a legal level, he said. As discussed at the last Novi council meeting, the village then would be in a position to discuss building a spillway that would control the lake level to the depth decided upon.

Novi School Bonds Sold

At a special meeting of the Novi Board of Education Monday night, First of Michigan bought bonds for construction of the Orchard Hills school addition and that of Novi Elementary renovation. The average interest rate is 4.92, to be retired annually from 1970 through 1993, according to Superintendent Thomas Dale. The board will be taking bids for construction work, and it is hoped that construction may begin within three weeks. At the last regular meeting of the Board on July 10, Mrs. Van Sickle resigned as teacher in the elementary school. There are now four elementary and four high school vacancies. Vote Slated In Northville Electors of the Northville School District will return to the polls Monday to decide—for the second time—a 2 mill increase proposition that was defeated in June. In June, while Novi voters were approving school millage proposals, electors in neighboring Northville turned down the 2-mill proposition by a vote of 484 to 470. School board members, although hopeful that voters will approve the millage increase this time, have pinpointed several areas within the school curriculum that will be trimmed should the millage be defeated again. Among the areas to be cut, if the millage fails, are extra-curricular activities, including all athletic events.

Teens in Action

Marvis Donahue is among the 58 high school students enrolled in the French language division of the Midwestern Music and Arts Camp at the University of Kansas, June 16 through July 28. This is the first time that a French division has been included in the camp.

The French language division offers programs of instruction for students at various levels, with the primary purpose of developing and improving the basic language skills—comprehension, speaking, reading and writing. Students are in class five hours daily five days a week. They study French literature and culture and have use of the University's language laboratory.

The Midwestern Music and Art Camp, now in its 31 season, has more than 2,100 high school students from all 50 states in its 10 divisions. The other divisions are music, art, ballet, speech and debate, journalism, science and mathematics, Latin, German, and Spanish. Campers live in air conditioned dormitories on the K.U. campus.

Most people picture a European tour as a rich and cultural awakening, but to Jim Castillo, a visiting Northville teenager, the trip was more of a cold shock.

"It was like traveling back to the 17 century," he explained, "with no electricity, no running water, and no soap."

Despite these seemingly primitive conditions, Jim had a great time on his tour through Sweden with the Allan Peterson family of 1985 Fry Road. Traveling with Jim Peterson, a close friend, Jim visited Norway and Sweden from north to south. They visited largely with the Peterson family, stopping only a few times to spend the night in hotels.

The five travelers flew to Copenhagen on June 22. From there they ferried to Sweden and stopped to visit with relatives on a farm. Contrary to what Jim had expected, rural life in Sweden was vastly removed from farm life here in America. The family was living in much more primitive conditions with no electricity or hot water.

Their meals were usually limpa (bread) and cheese with milk coming straight from the cow. Although the food was good, Jim admits he returned home weighing 14 pounds less.

The family traveled about visiting Stockholm, Galberg, and the isolated island of Skellefteu. The most interesting part of the journey, says Jim, was the opportunity both had to enjoy teenage European social life. Asked to make the obvious comparison, Jim said the Europeans mature faster than Americans and are given more to extremes.

In America one sees hippies mostly in colonies—only an occasional extremist on the local streets. In Scandinavia a much larger proportion of young people are given to far out modes of behavior."

She was renamed this week to the Torch Drive post in which she served last year. Her reappointment was announced by Mrs. John N. Canavan, of Birmingham, Oakland residential unit chairman.

"We are pleased and grateful that Mrs. Rockafellow again has accepted this important assignment," Mrs. Canavan said.

"She is an enthusiastic, dedicated and able volunteer who has worked in many previous Torch Drives. Her experience and knowledge will be invaluable."

Mrs. Rockafellow will organize, train and direct the collection efforts of volunteers in the house-to-house canvass.

The twentieth annual United Foundation campaign will be held October 15 through November 7 to raise operating funds for nearly 200 health and community services. The goal will be announced in September.

Last Year's drive raised a record-breaking $27,573,109 for 32 child care services, 25 health research centers, 54 health and medical services, 32 services for the aging, 68 character building services and 44 services for troubled families.

For Teenage Antiquers Hobby's A Musical Pot O' Gold

To two local teenage music-lovers, refinishing an antique organ seemed like an ideal summer hobby. Now suddenly their brain-storm seems to have back-fired into a full scale mini-business.

The two young entrepreneurs are Rosemary VanFossen and Jan Moorehead, both music minded students living in Northville Township. On July 4 they found an antique organ in the Village Pump and decided to try their hand at refinishing it.

When they returned that Saturday to complete the purchase, they made friends with another customer in the shop. He mentioned friends in the city who might be interested in buying the restored antique. A couple of days later, they were informed that a Detroit society which collects old instruments was definitely interested in buying the restored organ. Right then business blossomed.

Object of their attention, the antique organ, is a handcrafted model of the Karn Manufacturing Company. It is fashioned from a beautiful walnut wood with hand-carved filigree decorating the outside. The organ has one bellows and two pedals covered in needlepoint. A repair date of 1875 is marked inside and the young people estimate the instrument to be at least seven years older than that. They also believe it has a good tone and a beautiful exterior.

The two have divided work on the restoration, with "Chick" doing the outside and Jan repairing the interior. The outside walnut surface is being refinished and another needlepoint is being made to cover the pedals. On the inside, Jan is trying to rejuvenate the parts, replacing all those which cannot be maintained. He is also attempting to return the old instrument.

Although this is his first attempt at revamping an organ, he has a good understanding of what he is doing. Not relying on his own musical background, Jan has consulted with piano tuners in Plymouth. Several of these, who have played with orchestras in Detroit and Schoolcraft College, have assured him he was proceeding correctly. The couple expect the organ restoration to be completed in several days.

Besides receiving the call from the music society, the teenagers report that several other persons have expressed interest in the organ. They are confident that they will have little difficulty in selling the finished product. After that they plan to continue refinishing organs — in fact they have already purchased another with plans to buy one more. The second organ is still sitting in the dealer's shop, and the owner's report that several customers have expressed an interest in it.

Both young people have discontinued their other summer jobs in order to devote themselves to the restoration. They have a strong background in music, with music lessons and memberships in the High School Marching and Jazz Bands.

In the fall Jan begins his sophomore year at Michigan State University and Chick will be a senior in high school. If their project continues as planned, the financial rewards should help appreciably to finance their education.

Crowd Pleaser To Kick off Fair

One of the greatest crowd pleasers at the Michigan State Fair will be the group of Quarter Horse contests beginning on opening day, Friday, August 23 and continuing through Sunday, August 25.

All together, 15 free horse shows are slated for the State Fair which continues through September 2 (Labor Day).

That versatile animal — the Quarter Horse — and its name originated more than 300 years ago in the Carolinas and Virginia where early settlers raised their horses on country lanes.

These races seldom ran beyond 440 yards so the horses became known as "quarter miler". The settlers moved west, cross-bred their horses to develop a heavy muscled animal that could pull a plow, take the long cattle drive, and still be a pleasure mount.

The Quarter Horse soon was adopted by rancher and cowboy because of its remarkable "cow sense". E. J. "Jeff" Keins, State Fair manager, explains that halter and performance classes give the State Fair spectator an opportunity to see the conformation of the horse.

Reining classes, in which the horse must follow an exact pattern and rein with ease, display the versatility and disposition of the horse.

The applause really increases for the timed events which include barrel racing, girls' goat tying and pole bending.

Then there is probably the most fascinating event of all—the cutting horse class. The horse must work alone, with no help from the rider, to keep a calf assigned to him from returning to its herd.

The American Quarter Horse Association was established in 1940, and largely through its help these competitions have been developed to show the versatility of the breed.

The "dogs" rolled out of the grinder looking considerably like colored strips of paper ribbon.

Prepares for College

Students who will be freshmen at Western Michigan University this fall spent three days on the university campus during the past week for testing, orientation and registration. Among them was Rhonda Bongiovanni of 131 Walnut Street.

Working in groups of around 125, the new students lived in the residence halls, took a battery of tests, met with their counselors, and received a get-acquainted tour of campus. When WMU's fall semester begins, September 2, the new students will have additional orientation and meetings before starting their first classes on September 4.

Wayne Vote Slated

County Charter Plan OK'd

The long-debated proposal to establish a home rule charter for Wayne County moved a step closer to reality this past week with the announcement that the charter proposal will be placed on the November Presidential ballot.

According to Henry Sladek, member of the Wayne County

Appointment Commission which made the decision Wednesday, voters will decide in November whether or not Wayne county should have a charter.

Car Dumpers Draw Warnings

Northville township residents are being reminded by Township Police Officer Ron Nisun that the township's ordinance concerning abandoned vehicles is being enforced.

The recently-adopted ordinance pertains to various articles such as trash, large boats or cars that are unlicensed being stored in public view on private property.

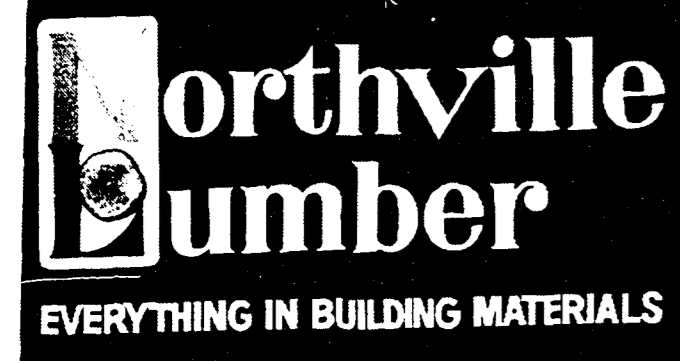

Officer Nisun reports that he has issued a number of warnings in addition to five specific violations.

He also noted that violations are now being issued for unlicensed dogs. New dog licenses were due for the 1968-69 year on June 1.

Cycle, Go-Cart Stolen Here

During the night of July 16 a motorcycle and a go cart were stolen from different locations in Northville. The motorcycle belonging to John D. Pheny, Jr. of Farmington disappeared from the grass area in front of the Northville Swim Club between 10:30 p.m. July 16 and 9 a.m. July 17, Pheny told police. The motorcycle was inoperable, having no seat or chain and the ignition was locked, with the key in the owner's possession, police said.

The go-cart, valued at $75 by owner Lester E. St. Thomas, was taken from his back yard at 333 North Rogers Street, according to city police.

LEGISLATIVE MEMORIAL—The wife (right) of the late Northville Township Supervisor Robyn D. Merriam receives a framed copy of a Michigan House of Representatives and Senate memorial for Mr. Merriam from Representative Louis Schmidt, who offered the memorial resolution to the Legislature. Others on hand for the presentation of the resolution to Mrs. Merriam at the township hall were (l to r) Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, two daughters of Mr. Merriam, Mrs. Greig Chapman and Mrs. Cleon Newton.

Mrs. Merriam Accepts Tribute

Late Supervisor Honored

A memorial paying tribute to the late Northville Township Supervisor Robyn D. Merriam was presented to his wife in a brief ceremony Monday at the township hall.

Presenting the framed memorial to Mrs. Merriam and her two daughters, Mrs. Greig Chapman and Mrs. Cleon Newton, was Representative Louis Schmidt.

The resolution, adopted by both the Michigan State House of Representatives and the Senate, reads: "Whereas, Mr. Robyn D. Merriam, supervisor of Northville Township, chairman of the Northville Recreation Commission, secretary of the Township Water and Sewer Commission and former Township School Board member, died at 68 years of age April 17, 1968; and

"Whereas, born in Oklahoma June 1, 1899, his family moved to Charlevoix, Michigan during his early childhood, and he attended public school there. Before he was 17, Mr. Merriam enlisted in the United States Marine Corps, and was discharged in 1919 with corporal rank; and

"Whereas, for two years he worked in St. Louis, Missouri in the Burroughs Adding Machine Company and entered the University of Michigan to study civil engineering. He accelerated his studies in all available extra hours and in summer courses, to graduate in three years with a bachelor of science degree; and

"Whereas, from June 1924 to December 1966, Mr. Merriam served the Wayne County Road Commission, first as bridge inspector and rapidly progressing to chief engineer in charge of bridges, structures and expressway, retiring after 42 years of distinguished achievements. A registered professional engineer for 30 years, his primary interest was in building bridges. He was resident engineer for the Davidson expressway, the first depressed expressway in the United States and was resident engineer for the seawall along the Grosse Pointe Lake Shore Drive; and

"Whereas, Mr. Merriam was an active member of the Michigan Geological Society, the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, the Michigan Botanical Society, was an honorary member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, a member of the Cranbrook Academy of Science, served as director for the state botanical organization and for the Detroit Audubon Society. He held numerous other professional, business and service organization memberships, serving presiding terms in most of them. His lifelong contributions to local and state functions, and his abundantly shared talents in selfless service to fellow men richly merited the great esteem given him; and now therefore be it

"Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), that by this presents a memorial of tribute is accorded Mr. Robyn D. Merriam, who served Michigan with professional expertise and dedication and in active contributions to her scientific, civic and social life; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of this memorial be presented to the Merriam family for condolence and in testimony of the esteem of the Michigan Legislature."

Police Nab Wayne Man With Cash Box Money

A Wayne man was apprehended by Northville police as he fled for the parking lot at Northville Downs with a handful of money taken from a bar.

William Marshall Whitson, 25, 7080 Nihara, Wayne, is in the local jail awaiting arraignment on a charge of larceny.

Police said he was at Bar No. 3 on the lower level of the grandstand at the Downs Monday at 11:25 p.m. when the bartender walked to the other end of the bar. Whitson reportedly reached into the cash box and grabbed an indeterminate amount of money. Witnesses yelled. Whitson ran out of the bar, and officers in the area gave chase.

Officer Robert Pankow caught him as he reached the parking lot, according to Police Chief Samuel Elkins. Whitson told police he is a school teacher.

Municipal Court

Two out-of-town judges, pinch hitting for vacationing Judge Philip Ogilvie, heard six cases in Municipal Court last week.

Plymouth Judge Dunbar Davis July 17 heard the arraignment of Russell N. Previle of Detroit who was charged with being drunk and disorderly at Northville Downs on July 16. Previle was sentenced to pay $50 fine or spend eight days in jail, with costs of $5.

Judge Richard Hammer of Garden City arraigned four persons on charges of being drunk and disorderly and entered a nolle prosequi in the case of Joan Eileen Gay of Ann Arbor who had stood mute at her arraignment on July 3 on a charge of being a disorderly person on June 22. An innocent plea had been entered. She paid $25 costs on the trial date of July 18.

Drennon Hugh Aday of Westland was fined $30 or six days in jail with

University Charter Expert

Advices Graduated Novi Millage

If Novi city charter commissioners hoped to snatch an expert's recommendation for the type of government the new city of Novi should adopt they failed Thursday night.

Dr. Louis Friedland of Wayne State University, guest speaker at last week's charter commission meeting, declined to make a recommendation, and furthermore, he saw little significant advantage of one form of government over another.

The strong mayor type government received about the same amount of his plaudits as did the city manager form of government.

However, Dr. Friedland, who has written many charters himself and assisted in writing many others, did make one significant recommendation: Novi, he said, should consider incorporating a graduated tax formula in its charter, a formula he wrote into the city charter of Sterling Township—the first such provision in history.

This formula basically means that a new city provides for a minimum millage rate for the first five years, a larger rate after 10 years and a maximum rate after 15 years. In Novi, for example, Novi could have a 6-mill rate at the outset, increase it to 12 after 12 years, and to 18 after 18 years, he suggested.

Such a provision, he suggested, may be more palatable to present Novi taxpayers.

He emphasized, too, that although the graduated formula may be a charter provision, the council makes the final determination of whether or not all or part of the millage should be levied at these five or six year intervals.

While Dr. Friedland sidestepped making recommendations as to the form of government the new city of Novi should have, he was convinced of one basic point: Novi SHOULD become a city. To remain a village, he said, would be a mistake. He declined, however, to comment on the outstanding court attempts by the township to upset the incorporation of Novi.

Concerning the two forms of government under consideration by the commission, Dr. Friedland saw advantages for each:

—The strong mayor concept provides for a mayor who is probably more sensitive to public opinion than a city manager.

—The city manager usually has considerably more administrative training than does the mayor.

—Generally speaking, a city manager remains in his position longer than does an elected mayor so there is a little more "continuity" under the manager concept.

—If the community is a political minded (not in the sense of partisan politics) then perhaps the strong mayor concept is more advisable.

—Although the city manager usually has more training and serves longer than an elected mayor, there is little other appreciable advantage of the manager form of government over the strong mayor.

Dr. Friedland said he could find as many "bad" mayors as "bad" managers in the nation. The fact that the mayor may be a political leader, he said, does not mean he generates bad government.

"If a council assumes its fiscal responsibility and stays out of departmental operations, then I would say a city manager could function very well. If there is an unwillingness on the part of the council to leave administrative matters to the manager then perhaps the mayor form of government would be more advantageous."

He advised the commission against

Are Students Worth Additional 6 Cents?

To the Editor:

The citizens of our school district will have another chance to indicate their interest in and concern for the youth of our community when they once again vote on the two mill tax increase next week. It is never easy to vote to increase one's taxes — even minimally. The apathy which was evidenced by the small turnout at the June election is no credit to our community.

A number of articles were published in the Northville Record prior to the last election explaining the needs of the district — the increased student population, and increasing costs for supplies and services. It should have been apparent that the requested millage which was necessary for next year's budget would not provide much in the way of improvements, but was primarily necessary to maintain the present programs in our school system.

Prior to 1957, the State Aid to our school district covered approximately 2/3 the cost of education. Since that time the state portion has shrunk to a little more than 1/3 (38 percent) of the costs in 1967-8. Rapidly rising costs have forced districts like ours to obtain the difference through local assessments. While it may not be an equitable way to finance educational costs, it is the only recourse open to your school board, until the state resumes a more equal share of costs.

The term "program of excellence" is perhaps misleading. While our system does provide a good basic program, there are areas which need strengthening in both depth and breadth. Excellence is at best relative — and when one compares Northville to many school systems around us, we find that our "excellence" is perhaps a bit over-stated. We have some outstanding teachers, some good ones, some inadequate. Some facilities are excellent, some good, some inadequate. Some of our curriculum is well programmed, some adequate, some out-of-date. A reduction in available funds, however, will not help to stenthen the weaknesses which exist.

It was easy to find an excuse for voting against the millage—from a rejection of more taxes, to the dislike of an administrator, a teacher, the pool, "fall", counselling program, sports, reading—you name it. One could seek revenge for dissatisfaction, real or imagined, by not voting for the millage increase. While it may be a good catharsis for one's emotions, a vote against the millage and its subsequent failure means a lowering of the educational program for the students of our district.

According to my figures, the present budget calls for an increase in expenditures of about 36 cents per day per child next year or about 6 cents per hour. This increase is needed to cover increased costs in all areas, teaching, maintenance, library supplies, lab supplies and equipment — all the materials and professional needs which are part of the school program. Denial of the millage will necessitate cuts in our present program — cuts which we as parents and as citizens cannot accept.

If we are striving to achieve a true "program of excellence" we cannot do it on a diminished budget. Good teachers cost money. Equipment and supplies cost money. Facilities cost money to repair, maintain and refurbish. The educational program for our district for next year is on the ballot Monday. Your vote will determine the educational standards for the 2850 students who will be in our schools next year. This decision is too important to have been decided by whether or not a few teachers voted in the last election. This election will be decided by those who go to the polls and those who do not. An absent voter votes with the majority. The question is — Are our students worth an additional 6 cents an hour for their schooling? It should be more. It cannot be less.

best of the meeting. The big events began Wednesday (July 24) with the Michigan Pacing Derby with a total value of more than $20,000. Friday's card will bring Sonny Fortune, generally rated the best trotter in Michigan history and certainly the finest to come from the Northville area, back for his final appearance of the year on his home track. Sonny is owned by the Briar-Lea Stable of Northville and already had earnings of more than $30,000 this year. Pitted against him will be Little

Office Manager's Colt Pays for Feed

Tom Garnett is an office manager for a machine company in Marshall and looks for it as a hobby he dabbles in harness racing. The other night he brought his three-year-old pacer, Dr. Ruff, over to Northville Downs for his first start in a pari-mutuel race. "I had brought him down here a month ago for his qualifier and frankly I didn't know what to expect this time out," Garnett said. But the green colt came up with a good race. He left the game well and finished fourth to give Garnett $64 for gas money home. Garnett has a brood mare, foaled to Rusty Range, and two colts. The colts will not get to the races this year

PREPARING FOR HORSE SHOW—Under the helpful eye of her mother, Mrs. Angelo DiPonio, leader of the Saddle Ridge 4-H Club, Denise DiPonio prepares her horse from Betty, for the youth activities class in the first horse show to be sponsored by the Michigan Quarter Horse Association this coming weekend near Ann Arbor.

Quarter Horse Show Scheduled

The Michigan Quarter Horse Association will sponsor its first horse show in history Saturday and Sunday near Ann Arbor. The show will be held at the farm council grounds on Saine-Ann Arbor Road. This model show hopefully will set the stage for other horse shows to follow. Especially crowd-pleasing events will take place Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. These include roping, jumping, barrel racing and pleasure classes. Highlighting Saturday's performance will be the appearance of Senior George—the world champion cutting horse. Tickets for the event are $1 and children under 12 will be admitted free. Among the participants from this area will be: Angelo DiPonio of Salem Township; Patricia A. Donald, Julie Hamlin, Sharon M. Grider, Fred and Cathy Cline, all of South Lyon; Edward Anderson of Novi; Gail Cashen, James Collins, Cecil Finlan, Walter Hawkins, Ron Wood, Rick Nixon, Richard Thompson, Norma Schlemmer, and Alice and Georgia Gougeon of Plymouth; Merrill Andrews of Farmington; and Benjamin Baloy of Milford.

Lanes Clings To Thin Lead

Going into the final week of competition, Northville Lanes clings to a one-game lead in the Men's Softball League. But Matatal Builders, coming on strong, could upset Lanes in the last week. Lanes has led the league throughout the season. Lanes picked up two more victories in the past week, including a 2-2 swamping of Ford Motor and a narrow, 8-6 triumph over Perkins. In the latter contest, Joe Humphries and Ken Kujala each homered for Lanes, while Perkins' Bob Oaks slammed a homer and a triple. Against Ford, Lanes collected 20 hits. Scoring 11 runs in the first inning, Matatal coasted to an easy, 23-12 victory over Ford. Matatal also edged the Jaycees, 11-9, with Bill Hoppling smacking two round-trippers. Plymouth State Home nipped Perkins, 11-10, and then downed the Jaycees, 14-10, before losing to Pyles, 15-3. In the latter contest, two Pyles players collected homers. State Home also lost out to Lapham's Men's Wear, 20-8. Bob Oaks carried a mean bat again as Perkins downed Ford, 9-3. He slammed two homers and collected a triple. Lapham's picked up another win—this one a 1-2-0 shutout over Perkins. Don Thomson collected two homers. In a makeup game, the Jaycees downed Ford, 11-3.

Rams Crush Colts, Lead Pack

The VFW Rams are leading the softball pack with 7 wins and 0 losses in the league. They played another one-sided game against the Colts this past week with a 16-0 win. The Colts failed to get a man past second off the pitching of Kurt Stevens and Dave Heckerl. Not hitting at their usual capacity, the Rams capitalized on Colt mistakes. Heckerl, Paul Knapp and Tom Male all had two hits. Dales, Stevens, Heckerl, Knapp and Rick Marrone each scored twice. In play with the Cubs, it was Rams 13, Cubs 1. Every Ram hit the ball as Don Dales, Kurt Make and Bobby Heckerl each had three hits. Herkerl's were all blasts to the outfield. Dales, Kurt "Turtle" Stevens, Mack, and Dave Heckerl, the first four Ram hitters each hit safely their first two times up and accounted for 8 runs. Rich Searies' triple rallied the lone Cub run.

Giants Maintain Lead, Too

The VFW Giants remain in the top spot with five wins, no losses. They took the Yankees 10-0 and defeated the Spagy Giants 13-2 this past week. In the game against the Yankees, Dave Schronce pitched his regular pitcher, Dave Schronce made more than an adequate replacement. It was a close one when the Casterline Indians defeated Del's Shoos Twins 12-11. The Twins loaded the bases in the last inning but couldn't push another run across as the Indians held on to the win. The hitters for the Indians were Kevin O'Brien and Rod Baird, both with two hits. Eddie Bagdon supplied the big blow of the Twins nine-run third—a triple.

It was Astros 9, Angels 8, when in a mid upset the Astros scored seven runs in the first inning on eight walks and two errors. They overcame a surge by the Angels—and then barely held on to the win. The Angels came back with six runs of their own in the first via the same route. The Astros brought in Ed Paslowski to relieve and he gained control. Steve Krause carried the big bat for the Astros with two key hits. He batted in what eventually was the winning run. Another close one was the 4-3 win for the Yankees over the Dodgers. The Yankees led 3-1 after four. Then the Dodgers scored two to tie on hits by Rick Norton, Bob Wright and Steve French. The Yankees came back in the last inning after two were out.

Retarded Boys Crack 'Olympics'

No one ever faced competition with more confidence than young Wilbert of Wayne County Children's Development Center. And probably no one ever gave better testimony to the power of positive thinking. Wilbert went with three other boys from the training school, accompanied by James Evans as chaperone, to Chicago last Saturday to take part in the first Chicago Special Olympics for retarded children. Competitors from all over the nation were grouped in categories in keeping with their abilities—from Novice through Champ—and the 1,000 youngsters were allowed to compete only against others of the same ability. "Wilbert was Mr. Confidence himself," Evans said. "It was sure he was going to win and he did." Wilbert brought back badges for first place in both the short and long swim. Evans' only worry was that Wilbert would be crushed if he lost. Not a chance. Wilbert just couldn't lose. A first place trophy came home with Mike who wasn't so "sure of the soft ball throw," but on his second chance he took first place. Not so on the trampoline! Evans told the boys, "Don't eat too much now or you'll be sluggish." Three hotdogs and buns later, Mike "couldn't get in the air" in the trampoline contest. And when the boys all played touch football against a team of such champs as Notre Dame's halfback Johnny Latner and the Detroit Lions' Hopalong Cassidy, Ziggy Carobski and Jim Mello, someone asked Mike, "Did you win?" Mike's answer: "Too many touchdowns."

Grid Schedule Announced

An eight-game football season is planned for the Northville Varsity eleven, according to Athletic Director Bob Kucher. The junior varsity squad also will play eight games, the eighth grade six games, and the seventh grade four games. Following are the schedules: VARSITY FOOTBALL: Friday, Sept. 13 Plymouth; Friday, Sept. 20 Waterford; Friday, Sept. 27 West Bloomfield; Friday, Oct. 4 West Bloomfield; Friday, Oct. 11 Bloomfield Hills; Friday, Oct. 18 Novi; Friday, Oct. 25 Farmington; Friday, Nov. 1 Clarencville. JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL: Sat., Sept. 14 Livonia; Sat., Sept. 21 Waterford; Sat., Sept. 28 West Bloomfield; Sunday, Oct. 6 West Bloomfield; Sunday, Oct. 13 Bloomfield Hills; Sunday, Oct. 20 Novi; Sunday, Oct. 27 Farmington; Sunday, Nov. 3 Clarencville. EIGHTH GRADE FOOTBALL: Thurs., Sept. 26 Powers; Thurs., Oct. 3 Farmington East; Thurs., Oct. 10 Marshall; Thurs., Oct. 17 Farmington; Thurs., Oct. 23 Novi; Thurs., Oct. 30 Clarencville. SEVENTH GRADE FOOTBALL: Wed., Oct. 2 Plymouth West; Wed., Oct. 9 Pearson; Wed., Oct. 16 Farmington; Wed., Oct. 23 Clarencville.

Athletes Tops With Books

Sixty-six Eastern Michigan University athletes, including one from Northville, compiled a "B" average or better during the recently completed spring semester. The Northville resident is Jay Schwalm, a baseball player. Bill Giffin, outstanding hurler on the baseball team, was the top scholar in the group with a perfect 4.0 average for sixteen hours of work. A junior from Riverview, Giffin is majoring in Biology. During the recently completed season he won four of seven decisions in helping lead the Hurons to a fourth place finish in the NIAA collegiate baseball world series.

Safe at the Plate

SAFE AT THE PLATE—Jim Wright slides in safely at the plate with A & W Rootbeer's ninth run of a one-sided contest in which the Cougars crushed the Panthers of Northville, 10-0. The victory kept the Cougars within a single game of the first-place Rams. The A & W Rootbeer Cougars stand in second place with six wins and one loss. The Cougars took the Tigers 6-4 in their battle for second place. Cougars' Dennis Singleton outpitched the Tiger's Doug Marzoni in a game almost free of walks. Tied 1-1 at the end of three the Cougars put together five hits and scored three big runs with Singleton knocking in two of them in the fourth to take over the lead for keeps. They added two more in the seventh, again on Singleton's hit. The Tigers staged a late rally in their seventh, scoring on singles by Tim Gross, Jeff Ziniani and Nick Pyett, but they left the bases loaded and put the Cougars in second place. Mike did get an award in the bicyclic rodeo and came in fourth in the 50 yard dash. Young Holland competed against his buddy Wilbert in swimming, and took two thirds, so Northville did its share of ribbon winning there. The group stayed "on one of the world's richest streets" in the LaSalle Hotel in Chicago. The Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation picked up the tab. Eunice Kennedy Shriver was there to represent the foundation, and she and Mrs. Peter Lawford took part in some of the games. Plans are to hold the Olympic every two years starting in 1970 and to bring into the competition many more of the 1.5 million mentally retarded children in the country. The Northville school boys were entered in the highest competition, "Champs" because they had proved their abilities at a recent field meet at home. Dr. Pasquele Buoniconti said he "wholeheartedly welcomed the chance for the boys to have this stimulating experience." He said, "It gives them a chance to see a big city other than Detroit, too." The doctor and Reuben Billingslea, acting director of recreation, were instrumental in sending the boys to the unique event. Billingslea said, "I hope in two years we can send eight instead of four to compete; this year we were limited by our supervision and transportation and didn't have enough advance notice to get ready." The four that did go stacked well with these from other schools, Evans said. Each of the celebrities there from Olympic track, deathalon, figure skating and swimming teams, great football players, boxing and trampoline champions and hockey heroes held clinics to give the boys pointers in their specialties. In fact, Rafer Johnson said "Clemmie has high potential in jumping, and Mike and Hopalong got to be good buddies."

Ron Schatzle Fires Shutout

In the Minor League, the Gardeners took an 11-5 win over the Wildcats July 8. T. Wilfong pitched for the winners, and Bill Riley for the Wildcats. The Wildcats turned the tables on July 11 when they took the Pirates down to defeat with Ron Schatzle pitching his second shutout of the season. Bill Justice belted the hit that brought in the two scoring runners. Jerry Bodor and Ron Schatzle. Schaffer was credited for the loss for the Pirates, although they played a good game with some excellent plays and one near-double-play. In the minor league, the Gardeners took an 11-5 win over the Wildcats July 8. T. Wilfong pitched for the winners, and Bill Riley for the Wildcats. The Wildcats turned the tables on July 11 when they took the Pirates down to defeat with Ron Schatzle pitching his second shutout of the season. Bill Justice belted the hit that brought in the two scoring runners. Jerry Bodor and Ron Schatzle. Schaffer was credited for the loss for the Pirates, although they played a good game with some excellent plays and one near-double-play.

NOVI HIGHLIGHTS

Out of town guest at the home of Mrs. L. Henderson this week is her son, Victor Rick from Washington. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Victor Rick, has been staying with her during her illness. This week she will be continuing with her eye treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cook entertained at a Family Reunion in honor of their twin sons who were home on 30 day leave from service. This is the first time in a year the brothers had seen each other since Dennis Cook has been stationed in Da Nang Vietnam where he has returned for another six months and David Cook who has been stationed at Ft. Hood, Texas and also has returned until October.

Visitors at the Doyce Ward home this week were their niece and nephew Beverly Hunt and Mark Mac Lennan from Detroit.

Mrs. George Lien had visitors from out of town recently which included her nephew Mr. Leonard Jacobs and family from Madison, Wisconsin. They were entertained one evening at Meadowbrook Country Club and other guests included Mrs. Lien's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Franks.

Mr. and Mrs. Wardell Lyke flew in their plane Saturday to Jackson, Michigan for the National Airshow.

Recent guests at the Ken Cook home on Twelve Mile were Mrs. Cook's nephew, Bruce Asborno and two friends from Anaheim (near Disneyland) California, also another nephew home on leave from Florida, Mike Gotro and his wife who stopped for a few days enroute to continued service in Colorado.

Mrs. Betty Sigbee has been out of town lately visiting and helping her sister, Mrs. Robert Starr of Southfield, who broke both her ankles recently in a fall and will be confined for 6-8 weeks.

Mrs. Kirkwood entertained her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Ray McGlynn from San Diego, California. On Sunday they went to Harper Woods to attend a birthday celebration in honor of their mother.

Weekend guests at Mr. and Mrs. Ken Cook were approximately ten relatives from Ohio who came to be present at the wedding of Mrs. Cook's niece Ricky Pantalone and Duane Miller.

Guests this week at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Rackow of Fondy Street were Susan Wagner and John Rackow.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Smith of Taft Road have a family from Missionary Internship staying with them for five weeks, Rev. and Mrs. Austin Bogan and their three children, Steven, Jim and Larry who are on furlough from Brazil. The Bogan family just arrived in Michigan from a revival series in Georgia.

Ellen and Jennifer Lyke have returned from two weeks at Traverse City as guests of their sisters, Becky and Allison Lyke.

Mrs. Hattie Garlick had as her guest last weekend Mrs. Daisy Roberts of Detroit. Mrs. Garlick and Mrs. Roberts went to school together and look forward to the Annual School Reunion when they have the opportunity of seeing their former teacher, Mrs. Lela Going who is 91 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirt Bailey of Novi Road are expecting their son Tom Bailey home this week. Tom has been on a tour of duty on the ship "Enterprise" in the Vietnam area. He will be home for about 30 days before returning to duty in Idaho.

Pvt. E.J. Heinstra, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heimby of Napier Road arrived home this weekend. He has completed his 8 week basic training at Ft. Knox, Kentucky and upon completion of his 10 day furlough will be returning to the 5th Army Band at Fort Sheridan, Illinois.

Mr. John (Ann) Heinstra has been staying at the home of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Sigbee, daughter Sharon, son Richard attended the candlelight wedding ceremony of Robert Wislaw and Vicki Watkins at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville. Reception followed at Turndorfer Inn.

Two employees of General Filters Company were honored at retirement parties this past week. Mr. Don Thomas is retiring after 20 years and was presented with gifts from the company and fellow employees. He plans to make his future home in Everett, Michigan. Novi Justice Court

Among the many defendants arraigned in minor matters in Novi Justice Court last week were three who were sentenced to fines of more than $15.

Deborah Lea Cobb, 25676 Adams, Novi was sentenced to pay a $15 fine on July 16 on a careless driving charge. The offense took place between Grand River and 11 Mile Road on Seeley Road.

Francis F. Grenier, 18, 32215 Valleyview was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 on a charge of disturbing the peace on Willowbrook Drive.

Lloyd Carl DeGrandchamp, Jr. of 909 LeMay, Walled Lake, was charged with being improperly parked and creating traffic problems, and the judge sentenced him to pay $28.20 fine or 10 days in jail at his July 11 arraignment.

A Detroit man charged with driving while under the influence of liquor will be arraigned August 1 before Judge Emery Jacques at Novi Justice Court.

James Edwin Downes was arrested by Officer R. D. Gross July 17 in front of Rosewood Restaurant after Mr. and Mrs. Tony Zimmerman told the policeman that Downes had thrown them out of his car.

Mrs. Zimmerman had suffered scratches. She was advised to see Judge Jacques about filing suit against Downes for pushing her out of the car, according to Police Chief Lee BeGole.

Downes was transported to Oakland County Jail.

News Around Schoolcraft

E. F. PETERSON

Appointment of a business manager and an accountant to the Schoolcraft College business office is announced by Vice-President for Business Affairs W. Kenneth Lindner.

Named as Business Manager is E. Frederick Petersen Jr., who has served as Business Manager of Northwestern Connecticut Community College since 1964.

Named as Accountant is George J. Braun Jr., who comes to Schoolcraft from the University of Michigan where he was Assistant to the Controller, University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Petersen moves into a position newly created in the college's 1968-69 budget, but which bears the same title as that carried by Lindner before he was promoted to vice-president a year ago.

Prior to joining the staff at the Connecticut college, Petersen, 37, was Assistant Business Manager at Hotchkiss School for one year, and was assistant superintendent in the Boston, Mass., division of Texaco, Inc., for five years.

Petersen received a B.S. degree in Business Administration from the University of Rhode Island in 1958, and a M.Ed. degree in Administration, from the University of Hartford in 1968. He is a member of the Association of School Business Officials, and is a director of the ASBO research workshop which will be held at Michigan Technological University on Aug. 12-13. He served as a member of the Budget Planning Commission of the Connecticut Commission of Higher Education.

Braun's appointment fills a vacancy created by the resignation earlier this year of William D. Dwyer as Accountant. A veteran of 22 years active service with the U.S. Navy, he holds the rank of Commander and served for three years as Special Assistant to the Comptroller of Navy Accounting and Finance.

Braun, 49, taught at the U.S. Naval Academy from 1944 to 1951, and was on the faculty at George Washington University from 1962-63. He received a B.A. degree from the University of Michigan in 1940 and an M.B.A. from George Washington University in 1955.

Prior to joining the University Hospital staff, Braun was Registrar and Admissions Officer at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and completed a number of accounting office assignments for the Navy at Norfolk, Virginia and in London, England.

Three Changes Proposed

Voters to Decide Amendments To Constitution in Primary

Three proposed amendments to the State Constitution will appear on the August 6 primary ballot, the Michigan Secretary of State's office reminded voters this week.

"There is no prospect for something like that," a spokesman said. "To delay the election," he said, "would only compound the problems."

The proposed amendments are: 1. Provide for the establishment of a Judicial Tenure Commission and to provide for its membership and duties.

2. Establish a state officers compensation commission. Such a commission, to be seven members, would be appointed by the Governor.

3. Relating to the filling of judicial vacancies and extending existing Constitutional provisions to appointed judges.

Vacancies in the office of judge of Courts of Records or District Courts, under this provision, would be filled by the Governor until January 1 following the next general election.

TROGLODYTES Cavern Installs An IQ Computer

For the past couple of weeks the printed annals of Troglodytes have contained a type of feature focusing on one subject which varies with each new feature. With this in mind, I'll bring you up to date as to the new developments at The Cavern before giving you a rundown on The Unrelated Segments and The Carousel featured entertainment at The Cavern this Friday night.

To begin with in regard to last Friday night's Battle of the Bands, The Who? received the most votes with the Dickinson Binder Blues Band falling short with a second place ranking.

For emerging as the victor, The Who? has gained in addition to its cash prize, a return engagement at The Cavern scheduled for a future date in August.

The second Cavern news item concerns The Cavern Clubroom. An IQ Computer and a shooting gallery were recently installed, along with new selections for the juke box.

In regard to the third and final item, it's of great importance to those teens who are Cavern members, and those who wish to become members. It's also my understanding that pin ball machines are on their way, and installation can be expected in the near future.

The IQ Computer grades your intelligence by the score of the answers to questions provided by the machine.

As for the shooting gallery, the object of this game is to score as high as you can when hitting the various targets.

Current memberships expire August 31, so you have just 37 days to acquire a new membership which will go into effect at the termination of the 37 days.

Out of THE PAST

FIVE YEARS AGO... Some 1,882 delegates to the 45 annual state convention of the American Legion Sunday elected C. Oscar Hammond of Northville as their commander for 1963-64. This marked the first time a local man had held the legion's highest state post.

Northville Downs prepared to conclude its 20th anniversary harness racing season with a three-night celebration. All area residents were guests of the management with free admission Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evenings.

Herman Moehman, Roger McClain and Dr. H. L. Dyer were the new presidents of the Northville Exchange, Optimist and Rotary clubs, respectively. All three were elected to take over office in July.

In spite of a little rain over 100 Northville youngsters gathered at Ford Field Friday morning to show off their turtles and watch their favorites in the annual recreation department turtle race.

Wednesday evening over 200 foreign exchange students gathered in Northville with their foster parents for a picnic dinner held on the grounds of the Wayne County Training school.

The farewell dinner was sponsored by the Northville Rotary Club.

Gerald Avenue area residents sought relief from the nuisance of the city's dumping area in a petition read Monday night at the Northville City Council meeting.

A controversial 220 acres adjoining Eight Mile were adjudged part of Northville by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams. The suit, brought by Warren products challenged the result of the November 19 elections when the residents of the area voted for annexation to Northville, was thus brought to an apparent end.

Two new students from Germany will take up where Sue Clarke and Jürgen Hamacher left off this week. They are Michael Gall and Ika Hartmann.

Mrs. Bertha L. Kerr of Cady Street returned from her third trip to Venezuela to see her son Frederick and his wife and daughter.

An exhibit featuring models and designs of the New Orchard Hills School is on display this summer at the Octagon, the national headquarters of the American Institute of Architects at Washington, D.C.

The Novi Township Board grimly decided to hold the line on expenses after learning that the township treasury is all but bare.

The VFW continue to lead the adult softball league with an undefeated record. The team added number nine Monday night by defeating Clarenoeville 8 to 2.

A suggestion to allow trailers to remain in Northville in excess of the time allowed in the new trailer ordinance met with quiet rejection by the Village Commission.

A detailed study of the Northville building code was underway by village attorney Philip Ogilvie to determine if erection of the Gunston

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF NORTHVILLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

WAYNE, OAKLAND AND WASHTENAW COUNTIES, MICHIGAN TO BE HELD

JULY 29, 1968

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that a special election of the qualified electors of Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, will be held in the Board of Education Offices, Northville School Building, 405 West Main Street, in the City of Northville, Michigan, on Monday, July 29, 1968.

THE POLLS OF ELECTION WILL OPEN AT 7:00 O'CLOCK, A.M., AND CLOSE AT 8:00 O'CLOCK, P.M.

The following proposition will be submitted to the vote of the electors qualified to vote thereon at said special election:

Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Northville Public Schools, Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, be increased by two mills on each dollar ($2.00 on each $1,000) of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in said school district for a period of five (5) years, from 1968 to 1972, both inclusive, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating expenses?

Only resident qualified school electors who are registered with the city or township clerk of the city or township in which they reside are eligible to vote at this election.

I, Louis H. Funk, County Treasurer of Wayne County, Michigan, do hereby certify that, as of May 2, 1968, the total of all voted increases in excess of the Constitutional five-mill tax rate limitation and the years such increases are effective are as follows affecting the taxable property of Local Unit:

Local Unit	Date of Election	Voted Increase	Years Effective
County of Wayne)	Apr. 4, 1955	.75 mill	1968, 1969

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Last month this column urged Northville school district voters to support the board of education's request for an additional two-mill levy for operating funds.

The proposal lost by 14 votes in a disappointing 20-percent turnout at the polls. Monday voters will be asked again to pay $2 more per thousand dollars of assessed valuation per year for operation of our schools.

The decision of the board to return to the voters with the same request despite the rejection has been the source of some criticism.

Sober appraisal should not make it so, however.

Few ideas, inventions or leaders have found "instant success" in their respective efforts at public acceptance. Witness the airplane, automobile, labor unions, social security, Abraham Lincoln.

If Democracy means that a single election constitutes a final and forever decision, our nation's history would be quite different, indeed.

Yet voter rejection, however slim, cannot go unheeded. It serves as a barometer of public opinion that must eventually prevail if it proves to be dominant.

Northville's board of education has received the warning: property owners are feeling the pinch of steadily increasing taxes. Any number of studies that might prove the rate of income exceeds the rate of tax increase, or that the costs of operating schools at the desired level are skyrocketing, make little impression.

Without question, a "new idea", a supporting means of financing education or a better way of distributing funds to schools throughout the state and nation must be devised. It too, however, will find public acceptance slow.

Meanwhile, the responsibility to call the shots as they are best equipped to do so in their position as elected officials rests on the shoulders of the members of the board of education.

Unanimously believing that two mills are needed to provide funds for a quality education and to properly pay administrators, teachers and other personnel, the board members are thus duty bound to return to the voters for approval of the request.

To quit without a second effort would be contrary to the American tradition and, in my opinion, a violation of the duty of their office.

The alternatives, should the second vote fail, have been made quite clear. The decision now rests with the voters.

It is hoped that a majority will record their opinion.

Again, I urge a "YES" vote.

Sees Future for Dying Fish Hatchery

To the Editor:

This afternoon I roamed through the old fish hatchery building, climbed the stairs still sturdy and sound, touched the curved hand rail that held the slender toiled spindles and went from room to room. There are kitchens, bathrooms, lots of cupboards. The windows, some shaped like an arch must have been beautifully draped with lace curtains through which lots of sunlight comes through. The folks who lived there and worked there are gone, everything is gone; the big tanks in the basement where all kinds of beautiful specimens of fish were hatched are empty and I thought, how glad I am I saw it as it was.

Then with shock and disgust I wondered how could it become as it is today. Nearly every window pane broken, bathroom fixtures lay in hundreds of pieces; it must have taken a sledge hammer to do this damage. The sturdy railings and beautifully designed spindles were knocked out of place, smashed and many of them thrown out in the yard. The silence is broken by water rushing out of broken pipes in the basement and flowing down a drain.

It's a mess, it's a disgrace, but as I stood there surrounded by good sized rooms full of destruction, felt the strength of this building, it seemed to me here is what Northville has dreamed of - rooms where meetings could be held, luncheons can be prepared, living quarters for capable caretakers, a basement so large there can be pool and tennis tables, grounds in back for tennis area, and a building next door for senior citizens. As I stood on the ground floor of this second building I saw big sturdy beams with outstretched arm braces that support the upper floor - what a place for a kitchen where senior citizens can have pot luck suppers or walk out to a picnic area under a beautiful big tree. What a project for Senior Citizens to turn this building into a comfortable meeting place.

Northville is alive again with young couples, raising families, people full of energy and talent that could turn the old fish hatchery into, once again, a show place. There are strong young arms and backs and imagination among our youth that could have a part in making this sad, dejected, "lonesome" building live again. Sure it will take money, time, (Rome wasn't built in a day) effort, organization and all that goes into a big project, but I believe these buildings are too valuable to be destroyed. What do you think?

Voters Will Decide On Best Judge

To the Editor:

I am sure that you wish to report accurately the news, thus I wish to call to your attention, the recent story wherein you reported that a permanent injunction was granted by Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Templin of Oakland County, which prevents the present Municipal Judges in this new District Court District from having their current title on the ballot. Judge Templin's decision applied only to ELECTED Municipal Judges, and does not apply to APPOINTED judges.

The law passed by the legislature clearly provided that only ELECTED incumbent Municipal Judges were entitled to the designation, thus the present Northville and Plymouth Municipal Judges should not have requested the designation on the ballot.

The Wayne County Clerk on July

8th, upon discovering that they were both appointed removed the designation from the ballot. As to your Editorial wherein you urge the election of my opponent, I hope that my 12 years experience as a Judge, during which time I handled in excess of fifty thousand criminal and civil cases, was what you had in mind in your first sentence. "There's a capable field of candidates running for the newly-created district judgeship that will serve the Northville, Plymouth, Canton communities."

I am a firm believer in the principles of democracy which include the Freedom of the Press, and of course the right of the Editor to support whom he pleases, however I am also a firm believer that today's voters will study the qualifications of all of the candidates and make up their own minds.

Very truly yours,
Allen C. Ingle

EDITOR'S NOTE: No municipal judge candidate for District Judge, whether he is elected or appointed, will be permitted to use his title on the ballot.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

The biggest show of them all will begin shortly, and millions of Americans will have their eyes glued to their television sets, watching the national conventions. It should be quite a spectacle.

For many people - especially those in remote outstate areas of Michigan - the conventions, Republican beginning August 5 and Democratic beginning August 26, will hold the viewing public captive. Unless you're lucky, there'll be no late movie to watch as the conventions forge into the early morning hours.

Each network will have its special team covering the extravaganza. But one thing's for certain. The action will be cyclonic, at times tempestuous, if not explosive.

Television will do what it does so well - pipe "the happenings" into your living room. There will be attempts at interpretation and reflection to put events into perspective. For reliable in-depth and behind-the-scenes reporting, however, the viewer will have to depend on other news media.

With the Detroit newspapers still on strike, Detroit metropolitan readers will be without penetrating local analysis of the conventions as they affect Michigan. Other area newspapers will try to fill the gap, and some national news magazines will flesh out skeletal facts.

But there's another way of backgrounding the conventions - a neat little paperback now on sale. Name of the book is "The New York Times Election Handbook 1968."

Despite the fact that the book was published before President Johnson's withdrawal, before Romney also withdrew, before Rockefeller declared his candidacy and before Robert Kennedy was assassinated, the book is a must for intelligent viewing.

Written entertainingly by Timesmen, with an introduction by Columnist James Reston, the chapters, each dealing with a different election-year aspect, cover variously: The Lessons of '68, The Men, The Road to the Nomination; the issues, the offices, the strategy, Third Parties, Profile of the Voter, Election Day, and Facts and Figures.

A compact 222 pages, which includes a handy index and 52 pages of vital facts and figures, the book contains wispish, yet lucid comment, bold predictions (some of which prove ironic since much has transpired since the book was written) and engrossing historical vignettes.

A smattering: "Americans have always tended strongly to vote against one candidate rather than for another; more campaigns, accordingly, are lost than are won."

"...Dr. George Gallup, perhaps the leading pollster of the country, noted that the 1968 election might be the hardest to predict since the Truman upset of 1948."

"Republican problems are numerous and serious: how to nominate the man most likely to win, how to take advantage most effectively of the weaknesses of the President and of his party; how to assure that all the G.O.P. will support its 1968 nominees with vigor and conviction."

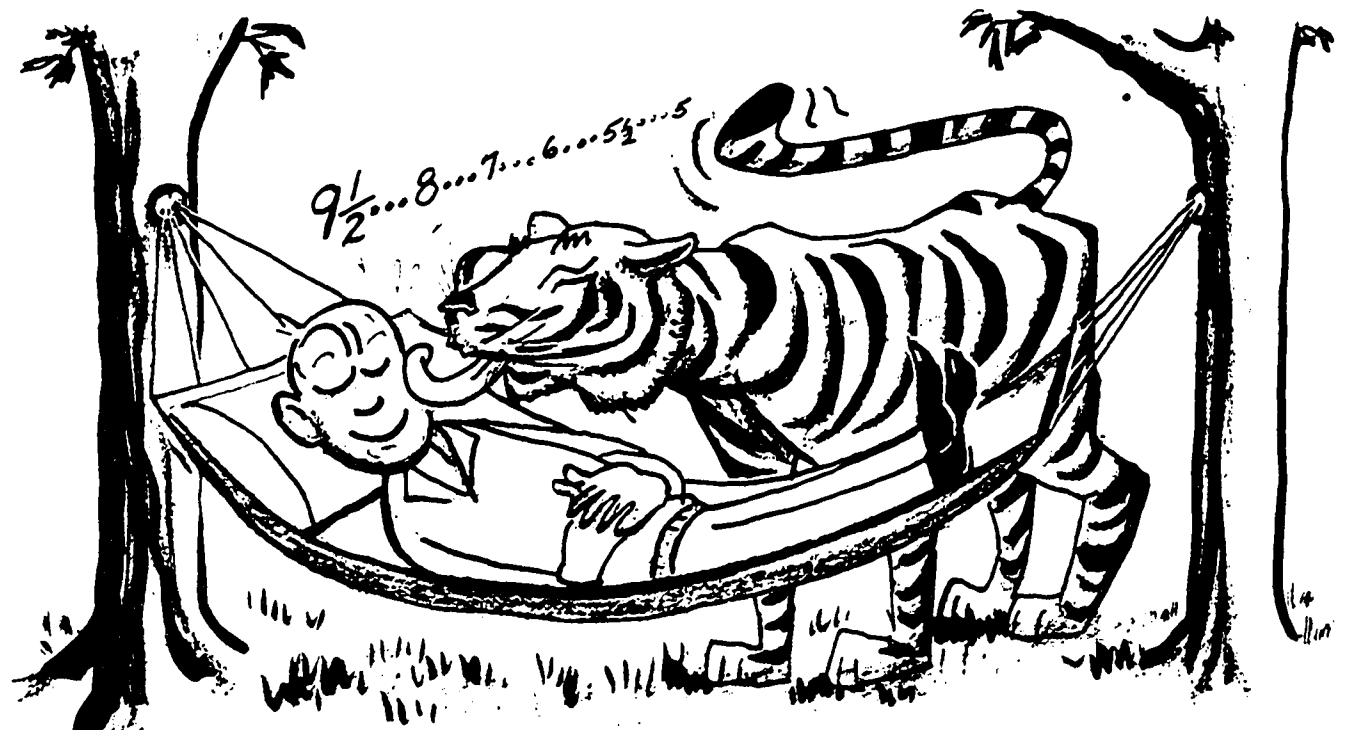

"As for someone locking up the '68 convention the way Goldwater did that of '64, it isn't in the cards for two reasons."

"As a party, the Republicans have one underlying Senate problem: age."

"Fourteen United States Presidents have been elected with less than majority of popular vote. Among them are Lincoln in 1860, Wilson in 1912 and 1916, Truman in 1948 and Kennedy in 1960."

"Recently, for example, a number of scholarly studies have shown that American voters behave more rationally than many political scientists and most political pros have supposed."

It's No Time to Slumber

JOHN WORTHMAN

Top of the Deck

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

"Their run of luck is drying up," quipped my traitorous friend, Frank Kochalko. "Miracles can't go on forever."

For a man seated four stories up above the diamond he was amazingly brazen. Even when two burly giants looked in his direction and spit tobacco juice over the writer's ledge and into the crowd below he continued blabbing profane remarks.

"A loss today, two more tomorrow and bye bye Tigers!"

The Orioles pushed across a run.

Even though I've become accustomed to his blasphemous comments, he finally was succeeding in getting under my skin. No wonder your son refuses to speak to you, I thought.

"It's either Cleveland or Baltimore," he continued, "probably Baltimore because Cleveland's weak at the bat."

The Orioles scored again.

"Are you admitting," I asked, "that Cleveland's a poor team? You, a war-hawking Indian?"

"Not at all. The Indians are a sounder team than Detroit, but maybe a little weaker than Baltimore, that's all. Don't twist my words."

"Frank," I said, "we've been friends for quite awhile. But you're straining things."

The Orioles' pitcher slammed a two-run homer - his first of the season.

"You can't worry me," I continued, pushing the fingernail chips into a little pile. "It's different this year. The Tigers can be several runs behind and I don't worry anymore because I know and everyone else knows they can and probably will win before the game's over."

My friend has two strikes against him even before opening his mouth. He's a band director and everyone knows a band director can't see beyond his sheet music. And he's a fisherman. They measure success with an elastic imagination.

Another Oriole drilled a homer into the upper

"They've been winning when they should have been losing," he said. "If I was their coach I just wouldn't accept some of those wins. Take Friday's game. They're losing in the ninth and a Junior Leaguer clouts a homer. It's luck, I tell you, just luck."

Our burly neighbors were mumbling now, and it was easy to tell they were mentally considering pitching Frank at the plate umpire. I was considering it, too.

The Tigers scored one.

"You didn't hear Campbell say the Tigers were gonna win the Pennant, did you?" he asked, referring to a pregame statement by the general manager over at the Press Club. "He didn't dare. He's choked with worry. Everyone's afraid of a jinx. Even McClain is sweating; spitting over his shoulder instead of at the ball."

Just talk, I thought, everyone genuflects at a ballgame.

Detroit pushed across two more runs.

"Jinx, my foot, McClain just doesn't care if he wins or loses today. So Baltimore's the only team he hasn't beaten this season. So what. The reliever will pull it out anyway."

Mayo Smith drew an X in the dirt with a discarded bat.

Two men on, bottom of the ninth.

"Like I said, Detroit's a different team this year. They always come back strong."

The two burly gents weren't listening anymore. They were too busy threshing tobacco leaves.

Two outs and the Junior Leaguer stepped to the plate.

"Do you always eat peanuts without shucking them?" Frank chided.

The Junior Leaguer flied out.

"Like I told you, the Tigers' luck has run out. Two more tomorrow and bye bye Tigers. Who's worried? Not me XXXX.

State's Income Increase Third in Nation

LANSING - Personal income in all states increased considerably over a year ago, but Michigan was third from the top in percentage increase. Alaska and Hawaii both enjoyed a rise of 12.8 percent, while Michigan scored a 12.1 percent gain. The national average was 7.9 percent. Statistics were compiled through April of 1968.

Some of the increase was due to higher Social Security payments and the higher minimum wage, but business also moved along at a steady clip on all fronts. Hard goods industries in Michigan produced at full tilt while auto production went into overtime. Construction also blossomed out.

The new income tax surcharge, strikes and an expected drop in the gains in economic activity for the next quarter.

DISTRICT COURTS in Michigan will replace present Justice Courts and Circuit Court Commissioners January 1, 1969. The 1963 Constitution granted the Legislature five years to design a judicial system. The lawmakers took the full five years to fulfill the mandate.

Senator Robert Richardson (R-Saginaw), chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, notes that the District Court will be the court with which most people have contact. Highlights of the new system, according to Senator Richardson, include:

One hundred and eighty two attorney-judges in 99 districts apportioned on population and caseload experience, with annual state salary of $18,000 (local supplement to $27,500) and uniform state court rules. Candidates must file non-partisan petitions or $100 filing fee with the Secretary of State by 4 p.m. on July 2.

Independent financing of county and city-metropolitan districts to insure local control of operation and capital outlay.

Local option for 57 cities in 3rd Class (metropolitan) districts to exempt that district from the system if the city or cities comprise 50 percent or more of the district's population, retaining all municipal courts within such a district, eliminating a possible total of 80 district judges.

A magistrate system in all counties electing less than two judges by itself to assist the judge in arraignments, bonding and sentencing of most traffic.

Responding to public sentiment and to the dictates of common sense, Congress wisely decided that the original proposal to levy a 30 percent tax on all tourist expenditures exceeding $7 a day should be shelved. We predict that the solons will just as firmly reject this latest - the tourist-expenditures-of-more-than-$15 a day.

Actually, a tax on travel - no matter how stiff - would provide no real curb to the dollar drain. While it is true that the dollars spent abroad by American tourists do add a not insignificant sum to our imbalance of international payments, it is naive to believe that travel tax would be an effective - or even a proper - remedy. The spirit and the letter of any such tax law could be easily circumvented, with the possible net result being a greater, rather than a smaller, tourist-dollar flow abroad.

In this period of mounting U.S. and world monetary problems, we need to place greater emphasis on free trade and free access to all the markets of the world. Anything that hinders the maintenance and/or expansion of our trade with other countries ought to be looked upon with disfavor by Americans generally and by Congress in particular. Travel is one of the prerequisites of expanding trade. They go together like love and marriage. Hence our government should be encouraging - not discouraging - travel abroad.

Of course, it would be desirable to put the travel segment of our balance of payments into better equilibrium. But there is a way to do this without penalizing American traveling abroad. What we need to do is step up our official and other efforts to persuade greater numbers of foreign tourists to visit the United States.

WE ARE FACED with a great challenge...certainly one of the greatest we have encountered in all our history. Our way of life and our economy are squarely on the line. We must make them work. For the immediate future, this means putting our balance of payments and our federal budget in order, and doing so without placing unnecessary curbs on the freedom of Americans or of American enterprise. Big and unbridled government spending have had a whole of a lot more to do with our present plight than has the spending by American tourists abroad.

WELLESLEY HILLS, Massachusetts - Undaunted by the thumbs-down attitude of Congress earlier this year, the Johnson Administration is pushing once again for a tax on Americans traveling abroad.

ASSISTANCE in solving many problems faced by Michigan's older citizens is available, often only a short distance away. The knack is knowing who to contact and where, reminds the Michigan Commission on Aging, 1101 S. Washington Avenue, Lansing 48913.

A new "Directory of Services" is offered free of charge by the commission with data compiled on a county basis. General information outlines programs and assistance available to older people, how to apply for such benefits as the Homestead Tax Exemption, and opportunities in employment, recreation and education.

County facilities are listed alphabetically for major areas of concern and make it convenient to find what services are available locally. The directory may be obtained by writing the Michigan Commission on Aging, 1101 S. Washington Avenue, Lansing 48913.

Marvin Esch

From Congressman Marvin Esch: "The new vocational-technical education program will prove to be the most important single piece of legislation enacted by the 90th Congress. As one who has assumed public office, has constantly emphasized the need for broad new approaches in this field, I felt a tremendous amount of satisfaction when H.R. 18366 passed the House unanimously. This satisfaction had a personal tone because I am a cosponsor of the measure and made contributions to it in my committee.

"The bill is designed to move vocational-technical education from the relative obscurity it suffers today into the forefront of our total educational structure. I can conceive of no more important objective for education—and for our country—than this: that every citizen be prepared for a decent job at a decent wage in the economy of today and that no longer will the non-college-bound student be a second-class citizen.

Vernon Foster

Vernon Foster, Democratic candidate for county supervisor of the 26th district (includes Northville), believes his "thorough knowledge of this district" and his acquaintance with local governmental bodies will be a big asset if he is elected.

A resident of Livonia, the 42-year-old Wayne State University graduate told the Record: "I was first elected in 1968 will have the rare opportunity of forming a modern, efficient, flexible governmental unit. I believe that I can constructively contribute to this objective."

Donald Friedrichs

County government needs a new, hard, unbiased look by informed citizens previously unfamiliar with its operations, says Donald E. Friedrichs of Livonia, a Democratic candidate for supervisor of the district that includes Northville.

He supports the reorganization of the county board from approximately 120 members to the 26 as a "step in the direction of efficiency and responsible government."

Recognizing the danger, however, that this small number of county supervisors may widen the gap between the average citizen and his government, he said he pledges himself to widespread citizen participation in the modernization of county government.

"The mystery must be taken out of big government so that citizens may know which public service is needed when and why... The man on the street wants to invest in such services as an improved county drainage system but finds it difficult to understand why adequate provision has not already been made through the cooperative efforts of township and municipal leaders."

"As a former classroom teacher, Friedrichs said he is deeply concerned over growing threats to public health and the severe limitations currently placed on county health services. Rapid growth, he contends, of the out-county area has not been matched by a comparable growth in juvenile or probate services.

"Residents of the city of Detroit," he said, "must recognize the critical problems of the sprawling suburbs just as the residents of northwestern Wayne county must cooperate with the task of humanizing the inner city."

Noting that he had talked to an officer who was looking for another job, Pursell said that according to this officer, "the officials and supervisors are a bunch of politicians and do a great deal of talking." The officer stated to Pursell that these conditions go on and on.

Pursell indicated that, "if elected, I will make a personal commitment to recommend such needed reforms in one level of county government which is outdated and antiquated. 'In fact,' Pursell continued, "consider an executive administrator to head all county departments and report directly to the Board of Supervisors. Keep the Supervisors salary down to minimum scale and pay the administrator well."

Pursell said, "this would stop most of the buck passing." Pursell, the candidate who has spent more time with 5 of the 6 governmental bodies in this district than all the other candidates combined stated that "Leadership and dedication coupled with experience is necessary in solving the complex urban problems of the present and the future."

Eugene McCarthy

Senator Eugene J. McCarthy will visit Detroit next Saturday (July 27) as a part of his continuing effort to bring his candidacy to the people. Michigan McCarthy headquarters in Detroit announced that Senator McCarthy will arrive in Detroit Saturday afternoon for a series of personal appearances and meetings with Michigan delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Climaxing the day's visit will be an address by the Senator at a rally in Detroit which will, in the words of Michigan McCarthy state chairman Professor Otto Feinstein, "...be the largest gathering of public support for any presidential contender in Michigan's history."

This will be Senator McCarthy's third campaign appearance in Michigan.

Carl Pursell

"A trip through medieval days," was the way Carl Pursell described the Wayne County Jail following a recent inspection tour.

Pursell, a Republican candidate for the Wayne County Board of Supervisors in the primary election August 6, said he had made the tour in an effort to more fully learn the workings and problems of county government.

"The jail is in terrible shape," Pursell added. "The facilities are filthy. The plumbing is poor. Only limited medical aid is available, and the TV monitoring systems are not working."

"If just an afternoon spent at the jail uncovered these problems, one can only wonder just what else is gone wrong," Pursell stated.

Ron Mardiros

Ron Mardiros, Democratic candidate for congress, calls for the repeal of the 10 percent surtax increase in the federal income tax and for congress to end the continuation to the following "abuses" of auto insurance companies.

1. Increase rates without justification.

2. Cancel policies without cause.

3. Refuse to write policies in low-income areas.

4. Obtain licenses when they are financially unsound.

5. Write insurance for some groups but not others.

To keep their profits soaring, many companies have adopted practice of cancelling, or refusing to renew policy holders insurance after one accident, and tack on "risk penalties" for teenagers and older citizens, he said.

"We cannot continue a situation in which every attempt on the part of people seeking better housing, better education, better economic conditions — in short, a better way of life, is choked off, as it has for the last four years by inflation, high interest rates, a tight money market, and now-higher income taxes."

Louis Schmidt

Representative Louis Schmidt was one of the speakers at the luncheon meeting July 17 of the International Council of Shopping Centers.

His remarks were in reference to traffic and parking regulations at shopping centers. Representative Schmidt introduced a bill in 1967 which would have made it possible for cities, villages, or townships to enact ordinances at the request of the owner or manager of the shopping center, establishing regulations relative to signs, turning of vehicles, crossing of roadways, one way lanes, safety and loading zones, and removal and storage of abandoned vehicles.

The original bill had House of Representative support but did not receive support of the Municipalities Committee of the Senate. Major area shopping centers including Livonia Mall and Wonderland have supported the intent of the proposed legislation.

The chairman of the meeting was Jack Shenkman, International Council of Shopping Centers State Director (Michigan). Shenkman is from the management of Livonia Mall.

Henry Sladek

Henry R. Sladek, candidate for county supervisor, speaking before a group in the home of W. B. Heffner in Northville Township, told those present:

"Community confidence in county government has reached a low ebb as a result of recent events...Abnormal conditions at the county jail have been publicized...Floods due to faulty and inadequate county drainage systems continue as a threat to the safety and health of many citizens...Controversies over the operation of airport facilities still linger on and on...County road maintenance and construction is a sore subject in many areas. Effort must be directed by the new county board as early as possible towards resolving these problem areas, using present income to develop and implement plans.

"However, I believe the first order of business for the new county board is the matter of organizing itself as a unit of government capable of serving our county effectively and this goal should be accomplished very quickly. Then the board will be in a better position to give prompt and organized attention to its important function without extensive delays and confusion."

During the early stages of organizing itself, said Sladek, the board would do well to press for identification and establishment of priority areas. "Taking these key organizational steps are crucial to the total future usefulness of the board and restoral of public confidence."

Marshall Taylor

Marshall E. Taylor of 45350 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake, is pushing his candidacy for district supervisor (Republican) for the Novi-Wixom-Walled Lake area by emphasizing his close acquaintance with the area and his long-time service as councilman in Walled Lake.

Former mayor of Walled Lake and still a councilman, he says his policy, if elected, will be: "Never too busy to say hello. Ready at all times to listen to your problem; if worthy, will work to see that it is solved. Progressive attitude. Listen with open mind."

Wes Vivian

Wes Vivian, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Second District, will spend today, July 25, in Plymouth and Northville, visiting with people in the shopping areas and meeting with local Committee workers. Anyone with questions or suggestions for Vivian is asked to look for his appearance in the business areas or to call 453-3761. The primary election takes place August 6th.

Five South Lyon youths kidnaped a Novi police officer Tuesday afternoon and held him captive at gunpoint until a South Lyon officer and state police officers finally seized the weapon.

Novi Officer Robert Starnes, who was overwhelmed by the five youths when he stopped them in their red convertible as they threw beer bottles out of the car, was taken to St. Mary hospital, Livonia.

After treatment for multiple cuts and bruises, Starnes was released and returned to duty. Starnes told this newspaper Tuesday night, "There's no doubt in my mind they had no intentions of letting me go. They would have killed me."

Charged with kidnapping are Giles Carl Askins, 19, and Floyd Kirkendall and William J. Jobe, both 17. They were arraigned at 1:35 a.m. Wednesday before Novi Justice of the Peace Emery Jacques, who set bail on Askins at $50,000 and $25,000 apiece on Kirkendall and Jobe.

Examination of the trio is set for 1 p.m. on August 8 in Justice Jacques' court room. Unable to post bond, Askins, Kirkendall and Jobe were remanded to the Oakland county jail.

Attempts will be made, it was reported, to secure a waiver on the juveniles aged 15 and 16 so that they may be tried as adults for kidnapping.

The Leonard Montgomery family, including the mother and father, watched in their front yard at Nine Mile near Currie road in Lyon township as the officers talked with the gun-wielding youths.

The alertness of a Novi resident led to the eventual capture of the youths. Cecil Smallwood of Ten Mile road witnessed the beating and carrying away of Starnes by the youths. Smallwood quickly reported the incident to police and the dragnet was out.

Starnes said the "fuse" that touched off the afternoon of terror was when he phoned into the station to have the convertible towed away. It infuriated them, he said, especially Askins.

The youths took Starnes' gun, a 45-caliber revolver, and his blackjacket, and on the wild, five-mile ride to the Montgomery home, struck blows over his body with the gun, blackjacket and fists.

While continually threatening to kill him, Starnes told this newspaper, Askins fired three shots close to the Novi officer. Distinct powder burns on Starnes' uniform shirt attest to the closeness of the shots.

About 50 police cars from as far away as West Bloomfield and the City of Brighton, and a Westland police helicopter combed the area and cordoned it off in case of attempted escape. Thrillseeking spectators stood outside their cars parked along the road.

Detective Palmer was the man who made the move that successfully disarmed Askins. He said he grabbed Askins' gun hand when he momentarily pointed the gun away from Starnes' head and relaxed.

At Tuesday's Primary Long Ballot Awaits Voters

Whew! That's about the best way to describe the ballot that will greet Northville-Novixom-area electors when they go to the polls for Tuesday's primary election.

Dubbed a "wallpaper" election by both state and county elections officials because of the large number of partisan and non-partisan candidates and a host of county propositions, the primary is the "warm-up" for the November Presidential election.

The fact that the primary is being held at all is just short of amazing this year because of the court battles that delayed printing of the ballots. For a time elections officials were betting it would have to be postponed.

Polis will open at 7 a.m. close at 8 p.m. in the city of Northville, voters will cast their ballots at the city hall lower level (Precincts 2) and Armerman School (Precinct 3) in Northville Township at the old junior high school on Main Street (Precincts 1 and 2); in Novi at the township hall (Precinct 1) and the community building (Precinct 2); and in Wixom at the city hall.

Voters are reminded that split ticket voting is not permissible. If a voter votes for candidates on more than one party his ballot will be rejected.

While no local municipal offices are up for election, voters for the first time will be picking district candidates. These, for the newly reorganized county boards of supervisors and the district court system, are expected to generate the most interest.

Several of the candidates for these offices are from this three-community area.

In Northville, City Municipal Judge Philip C. Ogilvie and Allen C. Ingel will be out to gain the nomination for district judge, while in Wixom two residents are seeking their party's nomination for district supervisor of Oakland County. They are Lew Coy and Wixom Councilman Ray Lahti.

Lahti, however, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In Salem Township, the present township supervisor, Floyd Taylor, and Wilfred C. Hammond, also a Salem resident, are seeking the Republican nomination for District Supervisor.

All posts—including the seats on the boards of supervisors—are partisan except those for judges. Winners Tuesday will represent their respective parties in the November election.

Planners Schedule Series of Hearings

Officers were elected and several public hearings set when the Novi Planning Board held its regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Kalvin Johnson was re-elected chairman, Joseph Dunabek became vice-chairman, and George Athas, secretary.

A request from Donald Young, an architect, for rezoning land in Section 3 next to the township park for multiple dwellings will be considered at the August 26 meeting.

Boron Oil Co. had requested rezoning the northwest corner of Ten Mile and Novi roads; it was set for public hearing September 9.

With 6 1/2-Mill Limit Manager-Council Approved

City manager-council form of government and a low millage limitation won the endorsement of the Novi City Charter Commission Thursday night.

With two members absent, the commission voted 5-2 in favor of the city manager-council form — same as exists in the present village — over the strong mayor concept.

Advising fellow commissioners to adopt the strong mayor concept? Commissioners Denis Berry and William Ducey cast the two negative votes. Absent were Joseph Crupi and David Harrison.

Of these two, only Harrison had committed himself to the strong mayor form. Crupi, who argued earlier that both forms should be considered, had not indicated publicly which of the two he favored.

After first defeating a motion to establish the millage limitation at 6 mills, the commission then voted unanimously (of those present) to set it at 6 1/2 mills. Presently, the village charter sets the limitation at 5 mills. In addition, the township receives just under 1 mill as part of the 15 mill county allocation, and Novi residents pay 1/2 mill voted for operation of the Novi library.

A prime concern of the majority of commissioners as they decided on "keeping the millage low" was whether or not voters would approve the charter containing the new millage limitation. By keeping it low, they argued, the chance of the charter winning approval by the voters is increased. A high millage, they said, would result in the charter's defeat.

Ducey, on the other hand, objected to this line of reasoning, arguing that the commission's prime concern is to write a charter that does the job — not one that is based upon the question, "Will the people approve it?"

The people elected him, said Ducey, not to write something that would be approved but to write a charter that anticipated the needs of the community. "We're barely making it on 5 mills now," he said, pointing out that Novi faces a number of expensive problems in the near future, such as flood control, etc. Because the tax base runs behind operational cost increases, more millage is going to be needed, he said.

Ducey said he disliked setting a millage limitation, then in two or three years going back to the people with propositions to approve special millages as suggested by others as a means of meeting future needs of the community. He suggested the commission consider these needs now in writing the millage limitation.

Others on the commission favored a low millage, as did those persons in a small audience.

When Commissioner Russell Burton proposed a 6 mill limitation, only he and Fred Buck voted for it, with the others holding out for the slightly larger rate. When it (6 1/2 mills) was proposed, all voted for it, however.

Ducey was equally adamant in his position favoring a strong mayor form of government. Looking ahead to the Novi of the future (within five years), said Ducey, its size will be sufficiently increased and its people politically oriented to warrant a strong mayor, whom they can remove from office (at the polls) should they become dissatisfied with his performance. He conceded that today, with its relatively small population, Novi probably could be served adequately by a manager-council form.

Once again, members of the audience agreed with the majority of commissioners and recommended the city-manager form of government.

In a related matter, the commission voted 7-0 to have the mayor, under the city-manager form of government, elected from and by the council as is done down under the village. Furthermore, they agreed that this chief executive be called a "mayor" rather than "president" as is the case in the village.

The commission also approved, upon a motion of Ducey, to direct Attorney Howard Bond to define the duties of the clerk and manager so that there are no conflicts between these offices; to make the duties of the mayor similar to those outlined in the village charter; and to define the duties of the treasury and the attorney.

Also, the city charter is to contain willings to give up his regular employment to seek the office, argued that there are plenty of qualified people living in Novi who could and probably would seek the job. He saw little difference between providing an adequate salary for a mayor and one for a city manager.

Amount the points supporting the manager form were:

—A strong mayor probably would hire an administrative assistant anyway, thus increasing costs of the city.

—The people are familiar with the manager form, and there has been no major opposition to it.

—The manager is a responsible administrator, and the larger Novi becomes the better able it will be to attract men with increasingly more experience.

Once again, members of the audience agreed with the majority of commissioners and recommended the city-manager form of government.

Northville Vetos School Millage

Northville school district voters turned down a two-mill request for additional operating funds Monday for the second time in less than two months.

The vote was 720-667. June 10 the vote was 484-470 against.

The Northville board of education called a meeting for next Monday night to determine where cuts totalling $100,000 will be made in the 1968-69 budget.

WHERE THE TALL CORN GROWS in Novi is at 26162 Novi Road, the rest home owned by Mrs. Ellen Kayes.

Mrs. Kayes says she's grown corn for 50 years and never saw anything to beat this year's crop, which includes the 8-foot specimen pictured with her here. She's lived in Novi since last fall, and said she believes there may never have been a garden on this spot before. All her other vegetables seem to be flourishing unusually well, too.
