

Seek Individualized Instruction

Teachers Explore New Concept

A method of individualizing instruction was explored by members of the Ida B. Cooke Junior High School last week in a meeting with Dr. Harold Wells of the assist center of the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Held in the high school library, the meeting was arranged by Principal Ronald Horwath and Curriculum Coordinator Miss Florence Panattoni when teachers expressed an interest in this subject.

Dr. Wells, who labeled it a "madness" to ask all students to learn the same thing at the same time, noted that under this educational process "many students would experience failure and others would be wasting time on materials they already knew."

He suggested the "Unipac" as a form of individualized instruction that the local teachers might choose.

A Unipac is a self-contained set of teaching-learning materials designed to teach single concept and structured for independent usage by each individual.

According to Dr. Wells, under the Unipac program teachers would need to determine what kind of persons they want a student to be and what that student would need to learn in each particular course to be that kind of person.

At this point then teachers would determine the behavioral objectives and build Unipacs around those objectives. A student would take a pre-test he would not be required to pursue that Unipac but rather he would move to a second behavioral objective.

If the pre-test indicates the student doesn't know the material, he pursues the objectives that will help him to learn the concept through diversified media and methodology, continued Dr. Wells.

When the student believes he is ready for the post test, he requests it. When he completes this, he moves on to the next Unipac. Each Unipac, Dr. Wells said, also contains "guest" opportunities for those students who wish to move into in-depth study through research in order to resolve a problem.

Continuing, he said that during the learning sequence the teacher provides as many opportunities as possible for student-teacher and student-student interaction. Wherever possible, small learning teams of students at the same point in learning may be formed.

Developing the Unipacs, of course, is the real task, said Dr. Wells. He pointed out that teachers could receive assistance from the Assist Center and should a teacher develop a Unipac accepted by the IDEA Materials center of the Kettering Foundation, the teacher would receive all Unipacs developed throughout the country in his subject area.

Individual teachers would determine the amount of time to be spent in individualized, independent study and how much time would be spent in large or small group instruction. In short, the structure would necessitate diagnosis, prescription and evaluation by the teacher, he explained.

Dr. Wells further pointed out that teachers should research all methods of individualizing instruction and then commit themselves to the way they believe they could best guide a student to be the kind of person who could perform most comfortably and effectively in a democratic culture.

Heaviest Voting Marks 'Cliff-Hanger' Election

Any way you look at it — from the presidential race down to local county supervisor battles — election 1968 has already laid claim to a page in history as a major political puzzle.

"See page 8-A for a precinct-by-precinct tally of how Northville-Novixom residents voted Tuesday.

As The Record-Novixom News went to press Wednesday, more than 15 hours after the polls closed, Richard Nixon had been elected president by a razor thin margin, but other national, state and county parties races were as scrambled as pre-election polls.

If there's one sure lesson to be learned from the results it is that voters are becoming less party oriented, splitting their tickets at all levels.

Generally, Republicans grabbed the edge locally with but few exceptions as voters turned out in record numbers.

Typical of the strange election results was the way two local incumbent congressmen, Republican Marvin Esch and Jack McDonald, swept to victory while Republican Representative Louis Schmidt lost out to Democrat Marvin Stempfen, Northville-city attorney at the state level. Carl Pursell, Republican, candidate for the local Wayne County Supervisor post, defeated his Democratic opponent, Donald Friedrichs of Livonia — a community that tipped the scales for Democrat Stempfen.

Despite Nixon's slim national victory, Michigan was giving Vice-President Hubert Humphrey a 48-percent to 42-percent edge, with Wallace picking up 10-percent of the state vote as opposed to the 14-percent he was holding nationally late Wednesday morning.

In what is generally considered a Republican territory, Wixom Councilman Raymond Lahti, a Democrat, scored heavily but narrowly lost to Republican Law Coy, also of Wixom. For the local Oakland County Supervisor post.

District vote totals for local area candidates were: For the 19th Congressional seat, McDonald 103,094 and Gary Frink 74,624; 2nd Congressional seat (incomplete), Esch 20,120 and Wes Vivian 15,438; 35th Representative seat, Stempfen 18,605 and Schmidt 15,872; 60th Representative, Smart 13,678 and Todd 8,269; 35th Wayne district court, Davis 6,837 and Healy 5,538; 52nd Oakland district court, Boyle 6,569 and Weick 5,615; 26th district Wayne County supervisor, Pursell 24,670 and Friedrichs 23,521; and 27th district Oakland County supervisor, Coy 5,601 and Lahti 5,451.

And with Michigan voters picking district judges for the first time in history, Dunbar Davis won over Thomas Healy in the Wayne County race, and Martin Boyle defeated John Weick handily in Oakland County.

Northville supported the Wayne County home rule charter proposition, but it lost county-wide thus nullifying all results of the charter commission races. And Oakland County voters approved that county's lone proposition, abolishing the coroner system in favor of a medical examiner.

In Oakland County only one Democrat won a county office, Democrat Thomas Plunkett edged his Republican opponent, Richard Kuhn, for the prosecutor's post. All Wayne County offices were won by Democrats.

In neighboring Salem Township, the liquor-by-the-glass proposition went down to defeat, 484-287. With returns incomplete, Floyd Taylor, Republican, was leading John Starvas, Democrat, by 515 votes in the race for supervisor of Washtenaw County's third district.

Three of the five state propositions appeared to have been approved, although one — Daylight Savings Time — was hanging on by a thread. Water pollution and recreation proposals appeared sure to win, while the graduated income tax and the dual office propositions were soundly defeated.

Northville Township and Novi Township Republican incumbents, of course, were returned to office, by virtue of the fact that none were opposed.

Incumbent Representative Clifford Smart, a Walled Lake Republican, easily defeated his opponent, William Todd, who broke ranks with the Democratic Party to support Alabama's George Wallace. Somewhat surprisingly, however, Todd scored heavily in Novi, nearly winning the second precinct vote. He had 42-percent of the vote in total vote of both precincts.

Actually, Wallace picked up a lesser percentage in most local communities than he did on the national level. He had 13-percent in Novi, 18-percent in Wixom, 6-percent in the City of Northville, and 9-percent in Northville Township.

Nixon had 58-percent of the vote in Northville Township, 52-percent in the City of Northville, 44-percent in Novi, and 36-percent in Wixom.

Clerks and election workers in all area communities worked to the midnight hour Tuesday counting the heaviest balloting in history. Lines were reported throughout the day at most polls, but they were especially long in Novi's first precinct and Northville's third. In the latter, voters who were standing in line at the 8 p.m. close were casting ballots up to 9 p.m.

Because of the congestion in the community building — board of education office parking lots in Northville, police blocked off Cady Street so school buses could be loaded from that point at the close of classes Tuesday.

Here's the percentage of turnout locally in comparison with the 1964 presidential election: City of Northville — Precinct 1, with 885 registered voters, 84.8-percent compared to 77-percent; Precinct 2, with 787 registered, 72.8-percent compared to 72-percent; Precinct 3, with 1,153 registered, 86.5-percent compared to 89-percent.

Township of Northville — Absentee ballots were not divided by precinct so only the combined percentage can be compared. With 1,114 registered, 87-percent cast ballots Tuesday compared to 88-percent in 1964.

Novi Township — Precinct 1, with 1,848 registered, 80-percent; Precinct 2, with 1,492 registered, 81-percent; four years ago 81-percent of the combined precinct registration turned out at the polls.

Wixom — With 829 registered voters, a 90-percent voter turnout was recorded as compared to 84-percent in 1964.

School Eyes Big Week

Education Week, November 11-16, Novi schools are planning special events. These events will be spread out during the week so parents can participate as much as possible, officials said.

At the Novi Junior-Senior High School an open house is planned Wednesday, November 13 starting at 7 p.m. Parents are urged to attend and go through their child's class schedule, thus enabling them to meet the teachers of their children and learn what each class attempts to accomplish. Parents will then be asked to sit in on a regularly scheduled board of education meeting which will meet in the high school commons.

Orchard Hills Elementary school will have a parents' visitation day on Tuesday, November 12, between 9:15 and 11:15 a.m. Parents may visit each classroom and watch a typical school day class in action.

Novi Elementary School plans to emphasize American Education Week in a newspaper which will be sent home to the parents. Because of the remodeling being done at the school nothing along the lines of an open house is planned.

Both elementary schools are planning a bookfair for American Education Week. At Novi Elementary School the fair will be held on Tuesday and Thursday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. At Orchard Hills the bookfair will be held on Tuesday between 9:15 and 11:15 a.m. During these hours parents may order books for their children.

Ghoul Loose

Fiends and ghouls are not limited to other places, Police Chief Lee BeGole has revealed.

A Walled Lake area person placed himself or herself on the police department's most demented list by passing out apples loaded with razor blades and pins.

One Novi trick-or-treater was given an apple with two straight pins and a double-edged razor blade in it and turned it over to Novi police who are holding it pending investigation.

Anyone with clues to the person's identity is urged to contact the Novi Police, 349-2444.

City Manager System Challenged 'Ward' Plan Sparks Verbal Bomb

A verbal bomb was prematurely detonated Friday night at the Novi Charter Commission resumed its final reading and approval of the proposed city charter.

Touching off the explosive session was a proposal by Commissioner Russell Button to provide for "some kind" of ward or districting system in the charter.

Ironically, Button's oft-repeated suggestion picked up some unexpected support but it also sparked additional support for the more controversial strong mayor concept — a system of government not supported by Button.

The mayor versus city manager debate was not scheduled to take place Friday night but when Button urged support of the districting proposal he gained the support of Commissioner William Brinker, who, despite earlier support of the city manager concept, suddenly switched positions and came out strongly in favor of a mayor form of government.

Brinker, who earlier in the meeting told fellow members he would reserve comments about the two forms of government until their scheduled airing tonight (Thursday), decided to unleash his comments early when a member of the audience, William O'Brien, stole some of his thunder in support of the strong mayor concept.

And when the oratory had ended two things were certain: Button's proposal had been lost in the smoke and the controversial mayor versus manager issue, far from being dead, will provide a humdinger of a debate tonight.

Here is what appears to be the lineup for tonight's debate: For a city manager, Commissioners William Duey, who originally supported the strong mayor concept, Raymond Evans, Button, Edwin Pressnell, and Fred Buck. For a strong mayor: William Brinker and Dennis Berry. It is uncertain where the remaining two commissioners, Joseph Crupi and David Harrison who were absent Friday, will stand tonight.

The straw that broke the camel's back so far as Brinker is concerned was, explained the commissioner, the "weakened" position of the city manager in the proposed charter. Both he and Berry contend that so much of the power of the manager has been vested in the council that his usefulness has been impaired.

By compromising the manager's position in altering the charter, argued Brinker, the commission offers a confusing, frustrating proposal to the public that fails to guarantee an orderly, workable governmental process for Novi's future.

Brinker said he had been willing to compromise in helping to write the charter but he did so hoping that fellow members would see the light and strengthen the position of the city manager.

Brinker admitted that he had been willing to compromise his position during the writing of the charter but that he did so expecting that the commission would strengthen the city manager's role.

In view of the fact that his expectations had not been realized, Brinker proposed that the commission rewrite the governmental section of the charter to provide for a strong mayor — which he said would be more responsive to the wishes of the public.

In some what the same vein, Berry pointed out that he, too, had supported the manager concept but that the commission had so weakened the role of the manager he could no longer support that form of government. He noted that the proposed charter gives the manager charge over only the department of public works. All others, he added, are responsible directly to the council since the manager can remove department heads only after consulting with the council.

Berry also stated that it had been his impression that Commissioners Crupi and Harrison, upon rewriting the city manager section, had done so to strengthen the manager's position. Their efforts, he indicated, had been either thwarted or had fallen short of the mark.

O'Brien, in presenting a written statement of his position and supporting arguments, urged support of the strong mayor concept as well as a districting proposal. He also called for election of the clerk.

Calling the city manager system an out-dated concept, O'Brien concludes in part:

"Finally, it can be argued that contrary to the popular middle class belief of the past 50 years, the electorate is capable of directly electing its chief executive officer. It must also be further noted that modern political scientists at our larger universities (and contrary to the 1920 recommendations of political scientists of the Municipal League are currently returning to a philosophy of direct election of the mayor. Evans, a staunch supporter of the manager concept, pointed out that the people of Novi will, in the final analysis, decide the issue. If they vote against the charter because of the city manager provision then it is incumbent upon the commissioners to either change the section or resign to let others rewrite it.

Duey, who noted that he originally supported the strong mayor concept, argued that the city manager position has not been weakened, that the "floating" director of public safety position can actually be so positioned to give the manager commanding authority.

Incumbent Representative Clifford Smart, a Walled Lake Republican, easily defeated his opponent, William Todd, who broke ranks with the Democratic Party to support Alabama's George Wallace. Somewhat surprisingly, however, Todd scored heavily in Novi, nearly winning the second precinct vote. He had 42-percent of the vote in total vote of both precincts.

Canadian Trip Caps Plymouth Wedding

A wedding trip to Canada followed the double-ring ceremony in which Loraine Carrie Sell became the bride of Mack Everet Harvey October 18 at Plymouth First Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sell, former Northville residents now living in Livonia. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Irv Harvey of Farmington.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full, floor-length gown of white silk organza with a cathedral train. Beading edged the long sleeves and neckline. The heading motif was repeated on the train and was scattered over the bodice and skirt. A double crown of lace and pearls held her elbow-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations surrounding an inserted corsage of white roses.

Terri Armstead, honor maid, wore a floor-length, Empire-waisted gown of yellow chiffon. The bodice, short bell sleeves and train were fashioned of matching yellow lace. Her matching headpiece was adorned with pearl embroidery.

Bridesmaids Linda Armstead and Sue Durham wore blue and pink gowns styled like the honor attendant's. They all carried floral cascades to match their gowns. All are from Northville.

Kathy Carson and Rhonda Harvey were flower girls in white floorlength gowns with inserts of pink and blue.

Don Harvey was his brother's best man. Ushers were Robert Harvey, another brother from Detroit, and Randy Brown of Northville. Clint Harvey, a nephew, was ring bearer.

For the candlelight ceremony and reception following for 150 guests at the VFW hall, Northville, the bride's mother wore a blue and silver brocade after-five dress with silver accessories. Mrs. Don Harvey represented the bridegroom's mother who was unable to attend because of illness. Both wore carnation corsages.

Out-of-town guests attended from Florida, Ohio and Indiana.

The newlyweds are making their home in Detroit.

MR. AND MRS. MACK EVERET HARVEY

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

'PERMANENT BOUQUETS' of dried flowers — popular winter room brighteners in colonial days — are experiencing a renewed popularity today.

The hobby of dried flower arranging is mushrooming in our town as growing numbers of our residents have goldenrod and other wild flowers strung from attic rafters.

More than 100 members and guests of Northville Woman's Club turned out last Friday to hear an expert in this art, Marshall Engle, greenhouse supervisor and flower arranger for Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum.

They also heard a report from their Girls' State representative, Stacey Evans, daughter of club member Mrs. H. O. Evans. Stacey gave a very personal insight into the value and depth of her experience as she read from the diary she kept of her feelings as she unsuccessfully tried for the lieutenant governor's post at the mock session.

Creating a Victorian type arrangement of flowers "solidly placed" against a framework of goldenrod, the arranger pointed out that many colors can be combined in such a bouquet.

There's still time to dry such later flowers as chrysanthemums, Florist Engle said, but spring is the time to begin collecting.

Some tips for beginners: —Dry everything as fast as possible — in a dark, dry place, such as an attic (basements are too damp).

—Pick goldenrod when half open (it continues to develop after being cut), tie securely and hang upside down. Static, backyard coxcomb and strawflowers all dry upside down.

—Use goldenrod, static and other filler flowers for background rather than leaves, which have to be pressed in glycerin. He tries to use natural stems stripped of their foliage as much as possible.

—Don't "anchor" all the stems in your arrangement. They do not have to be inserted all the way into the base to stay.

Marshall Engle added that only in late Victorian times were flowers used on dining tables.

They previously were placed on sideboards with epergnes of fruit usually centering the table.

Among Northville women hearing the expert were several who now have flowers strung from rafters at home, including Mrs. John Begle, Mrs. William Crump and Mrs. Blake Couse, club president.

Mrs. Couse, who created flower arrangements to blend with room colors in her new home for last winter, agreed with Mr. Engle that the arrangements do not last "forever." They fade in about six months, but do provide bright spots of color in the dreary wintertime.

NORTHVILLE BRANCH of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association also is thinking about indoor flower arrangements.

Mrs. P. N. Ashounes, past Michigan state program chairman, will be guest speaker at the club meeting at 12:30 p.m. next Monday at the home of Mrs. Charles Walker, 21101 Cambridge Drive. She is to present a talk-demonstration, "Happy Holidays," showing arrangements for not only Thanksgiving and Christmas but for all seasons of the year. She will be introduced by Mrs. William Switzer, program chairman.

It is to be a guest day. Hostess chairman of the day is Mrs. H. J. Froger, assisted by Mrs. John Burkman, Mrs. George Miller and Mrs. Eugene Guido.

A HOSPITAL TOUR has been arranged for members of the Northville State Hospital Auxiliary so that they may see and understand the many recent changes and improvements. Members will tour the facility with Mrs. Jean Bachelder, new volunteer services coordinator, at 11 a.m. next Tuesday following the regular monthly meeting at 10 a.m. in the auxiliary room.

Luncheon is to be served afterward in the Terrace Room. Members are asked to make reservations for luncheon by this Friday with Mrs. Chester Teasel, 349-3217. (In this day of soaring food costs, it's remarkable to note that the luncheon will "cost no more than 75 cents...")

Mrs. L. M. Eaton, auxiliary president, reminds that dues now are payable to the auxiliary's new treasurer, Mrs. Richard Stuber, 345 Orchard Drive. Mrs. Stuber, the former Elsa Couse, is following in the footsteps of her mother, Mrs. Walter Couse, in taking an active part in the auxiliary. She is replacing Mrs. Dewey Horning, a dedicated auxiliary volunteer who assumed the treasurer's post after serving as auxiliary president. Ill health has forced her retirement.

Newcomers Party Set For Wednesday Evening

Deadline for reservations for the Newcomers Card Party being given by Northville Newcomers Club at 8 p.m. next Wednesday in the Miles Standish room of the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth is this Sunday.

The committee emphasizes that all women new to the area as well as club members are invited to the card party. Only for women, the event was planned as an opportunity for women to get acquainted over a card game. The club regularly sponsors bridge interest group meetings, but planned this card party as a chance to play other games, if members prefer. Games, prizes are planned. Coffee and dessert will be served.

Reservations at $1.75 should be mailed to Mrs. Keith Ehrenreich, 23215 Balcombe Drive, Novi. Co-chairman of the party with Mrs. Ehrenreich is Mrs. Joseph Petro.

Choir Pumps 'Organ Dinner'

Our Lady of Victory Choir is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner to be served from 4:30 to 9 p.m. this Saturday in the church social hall. The "Evening in Venice" Italian dinner is open to everyone in the community and is a benefit to help raise funds for a new organ for the church.

Menu for the complete spaghetti dinner includes rolls, salad and apple pie dessert. Tickets are available from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Cornelius Suddendorf, or at the door. They are $1.50 for adult portions and 75 cents for children. Youngsters under four years old are free.

Ohio History Trip Revealed

Arrangements for a tour of the Wolcott Museum at Maumee, Ohio have been completed and reservations are now being accepted by the Northville Historical Society.

Members of the Society and interested citizens wishing to make the Saturday, November 23 chartered bus trip are urged to purchase their tickets immediately because of the limited number available.

Tickets for the round-trip are $3.75 each. They may be purchased at the Northville Record.

Purpose of trip and tour is two fold: it's a social outing for friends of the Society interested in history, and it gives local citizens an opportunity to explore the methods used by the Maumee Valley (Ohio) Historical Society in establishing the famous Wolcott Museum. The trip will take the place of the Northville Society's regular November meeting.

Northville Historical members, who for months have been collecting data concerning museums throughout the midwest, hope to establish a museum in Northville. Their immediate aim is to preserve the 125-year-old library building, now used as the Northville Township hall, for this purpose.

Officials of the Maumee society, besides giving Northville citizens a special tour of their facility, will explain how the Ohio group went about establishing their museum.

The Ohio museum is the former home of Judge Wolcott. A large structure, it was built about 1800. The Wolcott family, active in Ohio history, built the Toledo docks.

Persons making the trip are asked to bring box lunches for themselves since the bus will leave at 10:45 a.m. and not return until late Saturday afternoon.

The bus will leave Northville from the community building parking lot.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—Mrs. May F. Smock, member of the families for whom Smock and Fry roads in Northville Township were named, celebrated her 96th birthday as friends gathered for a surprise party Monday at Whitehall Convalescent Home where she resides. Born November 4, 1872 in Northville, Mrs. Smock's maiden name was Fry. Her husband owned the two large farms from which the Seven Mile Road subdivision was carved. An annual feature of the Northville High School open house at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday will be a "capsule day" with parents following their children's schedules and spending 10 minutes in each classroom where the teachers briefly will outline the programs for the year.

For parents who would like more time to see the school facilities, including the new pool, and to visit classes in regular session, Principal Fred Holdsworth has issued an open invitation to drop in at the school any time during the school day next Tuesday.

An Armistice Day (or Veterans Day) program will be presented at the November meeting of Alpha Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma to be held at 7:30 p.m., Monday, November 11, at the home of Miss Julia Holmes, 114 West Street.

It will be conducted by Miss Ruth Knapp, who served as a nurse with World War I. All members are asked to attend.

from the Pastor's Study

Deaths attributed to lung cancer in the United States numbered 2,800 in 1930. The figure rose to 46,000 in 1965. It is estimated that it will be 65,000 in 1975.

There is one sure way to prevent yourself from being one of those 65,000. Don't use tobacco!

I have often thought of a boy, Bob Shores, whom I knew well as a lad. He was a year or two older than I was. We grew up in the same community.

Bob had a fine beginning in life. He had an excellent home. His parents were good people,

Pastor Norman A. Riedesel
First United Presbyterian Church, South Lyon

Strategy

It's Tim's move, and he is taking a long time thinking it over. In chess, if you're a good player, you don't play quickly. If you do, your opponent may outwit you.

Military strategy, they say, is based on the rules of chess. So are many of the "higher games" in business and finance. Yet, when it comes to life itself, the rules of chess apply in only a limited way. In life, you can't be totally objective. You can't exist on logic alone.

The Church teaches that though we surely need logic in order to live successfully, we also need compassion, tolerance, love, understanding, and the strength that comes with faith.

Although life is not a game, we must have the help and strength of the Church to discover those rules that will determine our ultimate destiny.

EDISON

Is your home going to turn into a desert this winter? A lot of homes will.

In wintertime, people in houses with flame-type heating have up noirings with that stuffed-up feeling. With harse, dry throats. Furniture dries out and starts creaking. Sound familiar? You bet it does. The best way to stop it is with electric heat.

You see, electric heat isn't a dry or drying heat. So you usually don't need a humidifier. The moisture from bathing and cooking is all you need for natural comfort.

An Edison-Approved Electric Heating Contractor will be glad to tell you all about comfortable electric heat. He'll figure your operating cost, and explain the guarantee. And now, your contractor's offering a $100 trade-in on your old heating system. Call him for a no-obligation electric heat survey. Look in the Yellow Pages under "Electric Heating—Equipment and Systems."

He'll show you how to turn your desert into an oasis.

One of Oldest Area Churches Given New Look

Novi Justice Court

Last week was a busy one for Novi Justice Court.

Among the cases heard by Justice of Peace Emery Jacques were three in which the defendant had a pair of charges to be heard.

Leon C. McCormick of Troy pleaded guilty to failure to signal a turn and to defective exhaust. His fines and costs totalled $30.

Eighteen year old Michael M. Robb of Detroit pleaded guilty to having had no operator's license on his person and to improper registration. He paid fines and costs totalling $40 in lieu of a total of 20 days in jail.

A total of $20 was assessed Paul C. Bonham of Pontiac following his plea of guilty to driving with an expired operator's license and to driving a truck without a chauffeur's license.

Driving while his license was revoked, suspended or denied was the charge upon which James D. Yorck of Detroit demanded examination when he was arraigned on September 12. At his hearing last Thursday (the date of all the above sentences), Yorck was found guilty of driving on a revoked license and is serving 51 days in Oakland County Jail as a result.

Spending fines were assessed against Lawrence T. Moore of 2444 Potter Road in Wixom and Raymond F. Hoban of Detroit following their pleas of guilty. Hoban paid a $10 fine and $10 costs for speeding 85 mph in a 70 mph zone, while his cost Moore a $20 fine for driving 45 mph in a 30 mph zone.

Two persons were fined $15 each for failure to stop in safe assured distances involving property damage accidents. Donald G. Farley of Milford pleaded guilty to this charge last Tuesday and Duana D. Teddy of Walled Lake entered her guilty plea on Thursday.

A $15 fine was also assessed against Francis J. Collins of 236 North Center Street when he pleaded guilty to defective exhaust (no muffler on the right side of his car) Thursday.

Richard F. Duff's guilty plea, to driving a truck with an uncovered load cost him $10.

Schools Boom U-F Campaign

In what may be the best response by area school systems, Northville school employees contributed $176,290 to the United Foundation's 1968 campaign.

Earl Busard, chairman of the school's U-F contribution, reported that the '68 figure represents a 69.4 percent increase over last year's total contribution of $1,040.

Spending fines were assessed against Lawrence T. Moore of 2444 Potter Road in Wixom and Raymond F. Hoban of Detroit following their pleas of guilty. Hoban paid a $10 fine and $10 costs for speeding 85 mph in a 70 mph zone, while his cost Moore a $20 fine for driving 45 mph in a 30 mph zone.

It's a small country church building with all the charm of 82 years of service and the members of the Salem Congregational Christian Church are endeavoring to preserve the simplicity of former years while maintaining their structure for future generations.

In line with this, the congregation has recently undertaken several redecorating and restoration projects, including stonework on the church and parsonage. Their latest enterprise has been the complete painting of the brick veneer exterior of the building. The church is now a sparkling white—an attractive and integral part of the village of Salem.

The church, now pastored by Gary L. Herne, was first organized as the "First Congregational Church of Salem and Lyon" at a meeting called on the 14th day of September, 1851. Present at that first meeting were William Amble, chairman; H. Phillips, clerk; Jason Steel, Daniel Pomeroy, John Harriet, and John B. Waterman, James and Lida M. Clark, Sarah and Phidai A. Phillips, Lewis Mason, Thankful Stout, Malah and Eleanor Pomeroy.

Well-preserved and complete records of the early days show that several area ministers and laymen came to participate in the first worship service.

They were: the Rev. J. Smith Hobart of Ann Arbor who delivered the sermon; Rev. Silvester Cookran of Northville; Rev. Mr. Harris of the Worden Church at Five Mile near Pontiac Trail and laymen, John Pebbles, Seth Thorpport and Sebra Perkins, all of Worden.

The Rev. James Morton was called to be the first minister of the church in February 14, 1852.

It was on February 6, 1859 that the Wesleyan Methodist class which worshipped at the Thayer School house located at the northeast corner of Six Mile and Napier Road united with the First Congregational Church of Salem and Lyon. The combined membership of the two churches was 61.

The name of the church was changed on January 7, 1860 to "The First Congregational Religious Society of Summit." An interesting note in the records of that time read: "The following persons agreed to draw one cord of wood to the church and pile it up, Lewis Lary, Hiram Whittaker, Ed Jones, Rufus Thayer, Peter Colden, Charles Sealy, Ed Pratt, C. Root, and Joseph Mirret. Signed, J. Waterman—Clerk."

In January 1886 the trustees were instructed to take "measures looking towards the moving of the church edifice or building a new church at Salem Station." The congregation voted on April 16, 1886 to construct a new building which would be 42 feet by 54 feet and Mr. Wordman was hired to build the church. The projected cost of the building was to be "under $2600."

The church pews were purchased from the Michigan School Furniture Company in Northville in the fall of 1886 at a total cost of $184, delivered and installed. Those pews, their finish gleaming with the polish of years of use, are still a part of the church furnishings.

On November 29, 1886, the church board voted to instruct a bell committee to order a 600 pound bell from the Buckeye Bell Foundry in Cincinnati, Ohio. The bell was shipped by the "Detroit, Lansing and Northern Railroad Company" on December 31, 1886. The shipping bill, carefully kept through the years, shows the cost of shipping the casted bell weighing 1017 pounds was $478. The total cost of the bell with shipping was $137.06. The bell was guaranteed "not to break while being rung for two years from the date of purchase."

That bell has now been used for 82 years, notes pastor Herne.

This is the way the First Congregational church looks as it appears now.

Municipal Court

Judge Philip Ogilvie of Northville Municipal Court faced a relatively light docket last Thursday.

Three men were returned to Detroit House of Correction after pleading guilty to having escaped that institution. The offenders are listed with their date of escape and their sentence.

Edwin Gates of Detroit (October 19) returned for 45 days.

Andrew D. Manzie of Detroit (October 19) returned for 30 days.

Jimmy Gismond of Garden City (October 22) returned for seven days.

Among other cases, Judge Ogilvie heard one state police charge. Donald R. Heilman of Livonia was ticketed on October 12 for spilling a load of dirt on Seven Mile Road from his '68 Chevrolet tree-mover. His plea of guilty brought a $10 fine and $11 in costs.

Donald M. Burns of Detroit was arrested on two charges on October 19

Winter semester registration plans for the Schoolcraft College Related Instruction program for industrial apprentices have been announced by Ronald J. Monfette, apprenticeship coordinator at the college.

Pre-registration for apprentices currently enrolled in the program is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, December 9 and 10, Monfette said. Students will be advised and class reservations made. Registration hours on these days are 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m. in Room T-500 in the Technical-Vocational Building.

The following week, on Monday and Tuesday, December 16 and 17, apprentices entering the program for the first time and those being reinstated in the program will register, be advised, and make class reservations. Registration hours are 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 9 p.m. on each day, in Room T-500 in the Technical-Vocational Building.

On Monday and Tuesday, January 5 and 7, 1969, all apprentices registered for the winter semester are scheduled to return to Room T-500 for payment of tuition and fees and confirmation of classes, Monfette said. Tuition, including a student activity fee, is $10.50 per credit hour for resident students, $18.50 for non-resident students. The hours for fee payment are 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. on each day.

A late registration charge of $2.50 per course will be made if apprentices fail to appear on either of the two fee payment days in January, Monfette said. No student will be admitted to the program after January 14. Classes in the related instruction program will begin on Wednesday, January 8.

"After an apprentice reserves a class during the pre-registration period," Monfette said, "he is expected to attend. Withdrawals from reserved classes must be made in writing before January 6, or during the hours posted for fee payment on January 6 and 7. If you plan to withdraw, notify us immediately so that other apprentices wishing to enter the program will not be deprived of an opportunity to select classes."

Monfette said company sponsors should designate apprentices who will enroll in the related instruction program by Monday, December 9, so the R. I. Department at the college can properly advise the students on December 16-17.

Schoolcraft College faculty and staff members, secretarial, clerical, maintenance and other classified employees contributed $2,118 to the 1968 Wayne County United Foundation Torch Drive, an increased total over the 1967 total, according to David Perkins, English instructor and chairman of the campus UF campaign. In 1966, the UF drive total at the college was $1,317, Perkins said.

"The growth of our participation has been good," Perkins said, "and we can no doubt look forward to even better participation next year."

Kids Dress up Halloween Parties

Halloween is always an exciting adventure for youngsters but it's both exciting and colorful for the youngsters - and the adults - who turn out each year for the annual Halloween parties in Northville and Novi.

This year was no exception as the Northville Recreation Department and the Novi Chamber of Commerce sponsored some humdingers at the American Multi-Purpose Room and the Novi Community Building, respectively.

At the top left Novi children parade in costume, while first-place prize winner, Alison Moorhead, shows off her winning Northville costume (middle left). Getting ready for inspection in the "fancy dress" division are three youngsters at Northville (top right), while four Novi contestants await their turns to show off their colorful costumes (bottom right).

A beetle crawled into the Northville party and the pretty, little charmer (below) showed up as well.

On Halloween eve, more than two dozen Novi Girl Scouts of Cadet Troop 149 were feted at a fun-filled Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Willis Miller, 46489 Grand River. Picked as top winners (bottom) in the costume judging were Patti Tuck, Sandra Carter, Susan Morris and Vickie Smith.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Now that the presidential campaign has taken its place in history, we can return to reality...

And this campaign, like its predecessors, should leave us more convinced than ever that it is not the man in the White House who will cure the ills of our nation and world.

Inescapably, it is the individual. When he becomes honest, law-abiding, clean, non-bigoted, energetic, compassionate...

And think how many thousands of words this would cut out of the political speeches. That alone should be incentive enough to encourage individual review of our personal conduct.

I hope that incident in South America involving a retired admiral and an editor doesn't gain popular acceptance.

It seems the newspaperman, who must be described as merely exercising his journalistic rights, published an uncomplimentary line or two about the admiral's service to his nation.

The admiral, obviously a man unable to accept criticism, challenged the editor to a duel.

One of the combatants was nipped on the cheek and the other on the ear before the duel was stopped.

The editor should have chosen Underwoods at 10 paces.

Two of Northville's most avid hunters were stripped of their game by Canadian custom inspectors recently.

At least that's the excuse Harold Bloom and Harry Wagenschutz are giving for coming home duck-less from a trip to the Bloom cottage at St. Joseph's Island in Canada.

Both claim they had two Mallards, the legal limit. But they had stripped all the feathers from the ducks except around the heads. The law says that one feathered wing must remain for identification of the fowl.

The customs official smiled and kept the ducks and sent the hunters on their way home.

Which reminds me of that old Joe Pennor line... or was it Wimpy?... anyway, somebody had a duck dinner and Bloom and Wagenschutz supplied the ducks.

STRICTLY FRESH

The gusty, shifting political winds this election year have put many a pollster up a tree.

Friend of ours says that after polarization of the consensus concerning the executive potential in organizational initiative, he finalized plans to expand the area into which he wished to project his creative endeavor. His former boss says he fired him for not following orders.

Electors in our kitchen polling place nearly came to blows election eve - proving, I guess, that we've raised a crop of belligerent winners.

"Listen," I demanded Monday night. "this is a democracy and..."

"You might be a Democrat," cut in my in-between daughter, "but we're not. We're Republicans. And we say, 'Anna Marie!'"

"That's right," chipped in my eldest. "We want 'Anna Marie' or maybe 'Gretchen'. But never 'Rebecca'."

"But Lassie's (our dog) middle name is 'Marie,'" argued the son who nominated 'Rebecca'. "We can't have two 'Maries'."

"We can rename Lassie," countered Miss in-between.

"Besides," added the eldest, "you're just mad because you can't have 'Daniel Boone'."

The nominator smiled as did his younger brother.

"Oh, oh, I know what you're thinking, smarty," his sister said. "Do you know what he's thinking, Daddy?"

"I know," said the youngest, proudly. "But I won't tell on you," she promised her brother.

"Since I'm conducting this election," I said, finally, "it will be conducted democratically. The majority rules. Don't try to cloud the issue with hints of fraud."

Campaign Caller, Identify Yourself

To the Editor: Here it is the day before election day. My husband has gone to work. My daughter has gone to work. Three of the children have left for school and I am making a lunch for my son to take to school.

The telephone rings. Have I registered? Yes. Am I going to vote in this election? Yes.

Am I going to vote for (name of candidate)? It is none of your business! I am a party worker and have been told to ask this question.

What party? How do I know the man you name is your candidate? I am an American citizen, and I am going to vote my conscience.

No, my friend, you do not understand. If you did you would have given me your name when you called. You had my name and telephone number.

Not only that, but you would have done me the courtesy of telling me what party you represented.

Then, and only then, would it be permissible to ask me if I would consider voting for the candidate of your party.

I in turn would have done you the courtesy of letting you be a real worker for your party by asking you why you thought I should vote for your candidate.

What an opportunity you would have had to tip the balance in favor of your candidate!

A wasted call? It could be. You'll never know, because you are working ineffectually when you approach me undercover of a nameless worker asking me to give up to you my precious privilege of the secret ballot.

Yes, I am registered.

Yes, I am going to vote in this election.

Yes, I still have self-determination and I still respect myself and you as a person with a name.

Yours sincerely, Clair Sutherland

Firemen Praised for Work

To the Editor: I would like to take this opportunity to publicly thank the Walled Lake, Wixom, Farmington, and very especially the Novi Fire Departments for their prompt and efficient handling of the fire at our home last Friday night.

Due to the quick thinking and hard work of these men our damage was held to a minimum. Our downstairs furnishings were saved from damage by water through their moving the furniture carefully to another part of the house away from danger.

It gives us a very secure feeling to know that these men are on hand at all times to protect our lives and belongings and even though they are in a hurry at a time like this they still take time to preserve whatever they can for the householder.

Many, Many thanks and Three Cheers for these capable and considerate volunteers.

The Jim Stephens Family 41681 Thirteen Mile Road Walled Lake, Michigan

To have two trucks at the scene within five minutes of our call speaks highly for the Novi department's efficiency. And to the fine people who make it so, we say thanks.

Most certainly, had it not been for the department's rapid reply to our call Friday, October 25, damage to our Fendi Transit Mix, Inc.

Board Thanks NPSD

To the Editor: The Northville Board of Education would like to take this opportunity to express its appreciation for the efforts exerted by the N.P.S.D. Committee in carrying through to a successful conclusion, that of raising the necessary funds to enable the reinstatement of Extra-Curricular Activities to the Northville Public Schools instructional program.

It is indeed heartwarming to see a group of interested citizens join together in behalf of the students of its school district and its community.

A special thanks is also extended to those whose contributions have made possible the meeting of the N.P.S.D. goal.

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

The political year 1968 will long be remembered as one of the most unusual in the history of American politics. A lot has happened. President Johnson declared his intention not to seek re-election. Robert Kennedy was tragically slain, the Democratic convention was disrupted by hippy-police clashes, and last week President Johnson announced halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

But Newsweek magazine topped them all this week by announcing unequivocally that Hubert Horatio Humphrey's first choice of a vice-presidential running mate was none other than, now get this, Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Where Newsweek got their inside information is not disclosed nor is it likely to be. But there it is, a blurb in the "Periscope" section of Newsweek that basically has the gravest implications for American politics.

It reads: "A Humphrey-Rockefeller ticket: this 'dream' combination for President and Vice President occurred to many politicians during the election campaign - including none other than Hubert H. Humphrey himself."

According to Newsweek, HHH twice asked the New York governor to be his vice presidential running mate: once after Rockefeller lost the Republican nomination to Nixon, once during the Democratic convention. Only after Rockefeller twice refused did HHH turn to Muskie.

As John Dotson of Newsweek's Detroit bureau said, only the correspondent himself would be privy to the source. Dotson surmised that the item originated either at the New York or Washington bureau.

Was Dotson surprised? "Why not? Ya," he retorted. "The things that appear in the 'Periscope' section," he added, "are dynamite items. Things few other people knew about."

Dynamite. That's putting it mildly. Nuclear would be a more apt term.

What perhaps is more surprising than the item itself is the apparent reaction of the press and political hawks in particular. As of Monday, Dotson knew of no hullabaloo over the blurb. The news media had apparently overlooked the report, or dismissed it as being too preposterous.

No one had bothered to ask Humphrey whether the allegation was true. Chances are he would deny everything. But what about Rockefeller? Since he's in the Nixon camp and since he would have nothing to lose, what would his reply be?

Maybe the whole matter will be a moot point by the time this column is printed - after the election. But one can't help wondering: What if...

House Studies Ways to Streamline its Operations

LANSING—With little fanfare, a handful of state legislators has set out to strengthen the Michigan House of Representatives.

The goal of the effort is to make the 110-member body more efficient and thereby cut lawmakers' costs.

Rep. Martin D. Buth, R-Comstock Park, chairman of a special house rehabilitation study committee, said several changes have been suggested.

They include cutting house membership, curtailing members' expenditures, eliminating "No-vote" explanations and streamlining preliminary debate procedures.

Rep. DON PEARS, R-Buchanan, a committee member, said he would like to see the legislative schedule revised. He suggested advancing the deadlines for drafting and introducing bills.

"This would avoid the pileup of bills with too few days to consider them at the end of the session," Pears said.

According to Pears, the present system of clearing the backlog of bills in a hurry before final adjournment results in "round-the-clock sessions which often defeat good and pass bad legislation."

The handling of guest introductions also needs improvement. Pears said, "It is necessary to have visiting groups recognized, but something should be worked out to reduce the time this takes," he said.

Rep. MICHAEL NOVAK, D-Detroit, doesn't believe reducing the number of legislators is the right approach. A better idea, he says, is stronger committee makeup.

"A small group won't be efficient unless there is committee reorganization," Novak said. "The house needs more committees to handle the large number of bills."

Rep. Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park, disagrees. He says there should be fewer, not more, committees.

"We should consolidate to avoid overlapping and conflict," Kramer added. "Fewer committees with a larger membership will eliminate having to look for a quorum."

COMMITTEES should also be able to coordinate bills rather than approve several on the same subject, Kramer said. "Instead of waiting for a bill to be printed, members should have duplicate copies available to them immediately."

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, agrees committee membership should be more closely regulated.

"No member should be on four or five committees, and minor committees shouldn't be allowed to meet in prime times (Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings)," he said.

Novak suggested committee chairmen be compelled to call meetings as soon as they receive a bill. "All too often they wait until there is a pile of them," he said.

Also, Novak added, the no-vote explanations are often a "waste of time." These are an individual's reasons for voting negatively on a measure.

Montgomery concurred that the no-vote explanation "has been much abused lately with much material not to the point."

OTHER REPRESENTATIVES pointed out that members' expenditures need examination and new regulation. The question of how to curtail expenses, however, seems unanswerable. Some "progress" has been made with the use of phones in the Capitol, giving toll free service to the Detroit area.

Another topic of considerable discussion is how to regulate the amount of mail members can charge to the state. "It amounts to an almost continuous mailing," said Pears.

ATTEMPTS were made to fix limits on the number of news releases; a representative may mail at state expense. But the argument is raised that sparsely-populated areas rely heavily on such releases and shouldn't be restricted to a specific quota.

Another suggestion which rarely gets off the ground is to allot a certain amount of money for news releases and other mailings. When this money is depleted, the theory goes, the representative makes up the difference from his own pocket.

Whatever the case, the study committee promises to come up with concrete recommendations for presentation to the 1969 legislature.

If past history is any indicator, it will take more than a handful of lawmakers to convince a house majority that change is in order.

Thousands Still Hungry Despite U.S. Food Aid

WELLESLEY HILLS, Massachusetts—Although two full years have passed since the U.S. Food For Peace program was expanded, the hard reality of hunger is still encountered in a majority of the nations of the world.

On every continent, except North America, there are tens of millions of persons who from birth to death eat poorly and scantily.

After a decade and a half of intermittent debate, in 1966 Congress passed a truly comprehensive federal food for peace program—Public Law 480. Under its terms U.S. farm commodities can be sold to friendly countries, with payment made in the local currency of the recipient nation.

These funds are kept in the country to which the sale is made and can be used to pay U.S. obligations abroad, finance grants for economic development, make loans to private enterprise or foreign governments, or fund educational, scientific, and public information projects.

PUBLIC LAW 480 also authorizes gifts of U.S.-grown food to nations stricken by famine or other disaster. Such gifts are made from the farm products held in storage by the Commodity Credit Corporation. They may be used to aid economic and community development in recipient countries and for school lunch programs.

The United States has a long history of helping to feed the world's poor. Our people and our government have been quick to send supplies to those areas devastated by floods, fires, earthquakes, or war. Twice in this century—following World Wars I and II—Herbert Hoover headed our government's far-reaching efforts to feed people rendered homeless and jobless in those conflicts which devastated large areas of Europe.

TODAY the U.S. is a great symbol of hope for a world producing hungry mouths faster than it is increasing its food supply. If the world population—food crisis is not already the chief concern of mankind, it should be. In time we can work out a solution in Vietnam, in the Middle East, in Africa, in Latin America, and even in Europe itself. But if the human race does not learn to feed itself, despair is inevitable. And from such despair could come chaos and revolution that would drain the sustenance of the "have" nations while contributing not one whit to the "have not" nations.

There is, of course, a correlation between population and poverty, but it is certainly naive to assume that limitation of population alone will eliminate poverty and hunger. Some nations are chronically poor, not because they have too many people, but because they do not have enough people who are able to contribute the taxes needed for economic development.

A GREAT DEAL of the poverty and hunger in the world is caused by backward agriculture, low economic productivity, instability of primary commodity prices in world markets, and adverse political conditions. In short, these causes are economic in nature and the remedies must be economic too.

Hopefully, world population will not grow as fast as recent trends imply. But whether it does or not, it is obvious that mankind must work toward a realignment of economic priorities. In those under-developed countries where the primacy of agriculture has been displaced by too rapid and too ambitious a push toward industrialization, a more balanced approach to overall economic planning must be encouraged. Common sense dictates that such an approach include not only more food production but also more varied food production. Here in the U.S. we raise 38 major food crops, although 95% of our food is derived from only 20 of these crops. In 87 countries—where hunger is rife—the average number of food crops is fewer than six. The world average is only 11.

OUT OF THE PAST

FIVE YEARS AGO...
 ...Members of Northville's Woman's Club adopted the preservation of the old library building as a project. Library facilities were being moved into the new building which was being constructed as a part of the new city hall.
 ...Bids were apparently too high on the new Orchard Drive storm sewer and it appeared that City Engineer Harold Penn would not ask the city to accept any of the seven.
 ...Foundry Flask and Equipment Company broke ground recently on its $185,000 building addition at the Cady Street plant.
 ...The 42-inch Detroit water pipe, gradually raised Northville, moving westward along Eight Mile.
 ...People who planned to litter the streets with leaves or burn them there were warned of the possible fines they faced.
 ...West Bloomfield dropped Northville into a three-way tie with themselves and Clarkston when they defeated the Mustangs 25-13.
 ...Northville's Steve Juday continued to be Duffy Daugherty's regular quarterback at Michigan State as the sophomore worked to improve his passing.
 ...Plans were underway for the annual Halloween party cosponsored by the Northville Reception department, the Retail Merchants Association, the Optimist Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.
TEN YEARS AGO...
 ...The Mustangs won their twentieth consecutive Wayne-Oakland League football game in a 27-26 squeaker over rugged West Bloomfield.
 ...Novi's Wildcats also got into the grid win column by evening their record at 1-1 with a 25-6 victory over the Clarenceville eighth graders.
 ...Two Northville grads, Dick Biery and Dick Buckley, were starting in football at Michigan colleges. Biery was a JV halfback at Central while Buckley was a freshman playing guard and center at Hope.
 ...Northville came a step nearer to completing its purchase of lots in the Gerald Avenue dump area. City Attorney Philip Ogilvie reported that all but three of the necessary lots had been purchased. Controlled use of the dump was to begin by the December 1 deadline.
 ...Local Torch Drive collections were lagging and it was feared that they may fall far short of their goal. With just three days remaining, only $910 of the proposed $4,858 had been collected.
 ...A date was set for a hearing before the planning commission to resolve the question of wintering horses at Northville Downs.
 ...The Optimist Club, Retail Merchants Association and city recreation department planned the annual Halloween dance under the guidance of recreation director Stan Johnston.
FIFTEEN YEARS AGO...
 ...Building Inspector J. Stanley Waterloo ordered the Downs to halt construction of a grandstand addition until it obtained proper authorization from his office.
 ...Northville merchants were to unite in promoting a three-day celebration of major improvements in the village's shopping center that had taken place in the previous year. The event was to be known as Northville's "Harvest of Gold" because of the shopper bargains scheduled for these sale days.
 ...Parents, friends and Northville residents attended the annual Citizenship Banquet to honor 20 local boys and girls who had attained their 21st birthday and were eligible to vote. University of Michigan President Harlan V. Hatcher was the guest speaker.
 ...Toastmaster was Frederick Sterner, Mrs. L. M. Eaton introduced the guest speaker, and Mrs. Samuel Goraci awarded the certificates of recognition to the new voters.

Champale. Celebrate nothing with it.

It isn't often you get a chance like this. You see, Champale® looks, tastes and sparkles like champagne. The proper way to serve it is well-chilled in a champagne glass. That brings out its sparkle, flavor and bouquet.
 But it costs only pennies more than beer. And you buy it wherever beer is sold. Which means you can drink it anytime you want to make something out of Nothing. At a meal. A card game. A television watching. A newspaper reading. A Corn Popping.
 It's a superb mixer, too. We'll send you two free booklets full of mixed-drink and gourmet-food recipes. Just write Champale, Inc., Dept. N-2, Box 2230, Trenton, N.J. 08607.
 And if you don't often celebrate Nothing, that's okay. Champale Mait Liquor is also a sparkling way to celebrate something.

An Editorial Charter Debate: A Healthy Sign

A growing concern is being expressed in Novi relative to the explosive debating among members of the Novi City Charter Commission.
 The concern apparently stems in large part from a fear by those who strongly support the incorporation of Novi that differences among commissioners will split the community and ultimately prevent Novi from becoming a city.
 Some citizens, and even one or two commissioners, have suggested that the commission write a charter that is substantially the same as the present village charter because the people are satisfied with it and probably would be less apt to oppose a charter with few changes.
 In other words, they urge the commission to write a document that stands the best chance of being approved.
 Without committing itself to the support of the proposed charter until after its completion, this newspaper has been pleased with the intelligent, thorough job of the nine-member commission. We are especially pleased the commission decided early to write a document that it honestly believes is the best for the community rather than measuring each of its decisions against the question, "Will it hurt chances for incorporation?"
 The most important question the commission must and has asked itself is, "Does this charter represent the best that this nine-member body can produce for this community?"
 Now that the proposed charter is in the final stage of review and approval, early disagreements among commissioners are erupting anew. We saw nothing wrong with commissioners vociferously expressing their opinions and arguments earlier and we see nothing wrong with it now.
 Debating, we believe, is a healthy sign that the final charter proposal will not represent a "rubber stamp" of the village charter or some other community's work.
 A charter is the backbone of the community and its writing demands careful exploration of each word, each sentence and each paragraph section by section. In this respect, the Novi commission has worked diligently and, we believe, admirably.
 The professional, thorough manner in which the commission has explored conflicting opinions leads us to believe that once the document is submitted to the people, each commissioner will set aside his personal differences and join fellow members in a united support of the entire charter.

Levitt Plans 400-Acre Subdivision On Northville Gravel Mining Site

A 400-acre gravel mining operation in Northville will be converted to a community of lake-front homes and town houses if the proposed development is approved by township officials.
 The project will also mark the entrance of one of the nation's largest home-building firms into the Detroit area.
 Levitt and Sons, Inc., confirmed this week that it holds options on property owned by Sharon Hayes between Seven and Eight Mile roads. The 400-acre site now contains sand and gravel mining operations as well as an asphalt plant.
 The only obstacle standing in the path of the project is a request for rezoning that will probably come before the township planning commission in the near future.
 Levitt officials admit that the poorly-marked site presents major problems "that are driving engineering costs out of sight." Consequently, they contend that feasibility studies indicate zoning changes must be made to permit townhouse and apartment development, as well as single-family residential units.
 It is known that Levitt representatives have been meeting privately with township officials in recent weeks and that the Levitt proposal is looked upon favorably.
 But company officials are quick to point out that feasibility studies have not been completed, that development costs are still a major factor of consideration and that Northville is but one of "six or seven Detroit area locations" where Levitt holds major land options and is considering developments.

Oakland Denied Added Capacity In Wayne Sewer

Members of the Wayne County Board of Public Works Tuesday axed a proposal of George Bingham, board director, that would have provided additional sewer capacity for Oakland County.
 Major beneficiaries of the proposal would have been Novi and Walled Lake. Novi, which already owns a small share of the interceptor's capacity (4 CFS), hoped to join with Walled Lake in financing the extension of the interceptor arm into Walled Lake. The arm, which already extends two miles inside Novi's boundary, was financed by Novi and built by Oakland County.
 Bingham's proposal would have permitted Oakland County to purchase up to 16 additional CFS - provided it agreed to finance and build holding tanks near Walled Lake, that would automatically feed stored effluent into the interceptor at low volume periods.
 Although the proposal drew vociferous objections from officials of Dearborn Heights and Westland, these objections were by no means indicative of the position of all officials, particularly those in the city and township of Northville.
 See related story on Page 10-A.

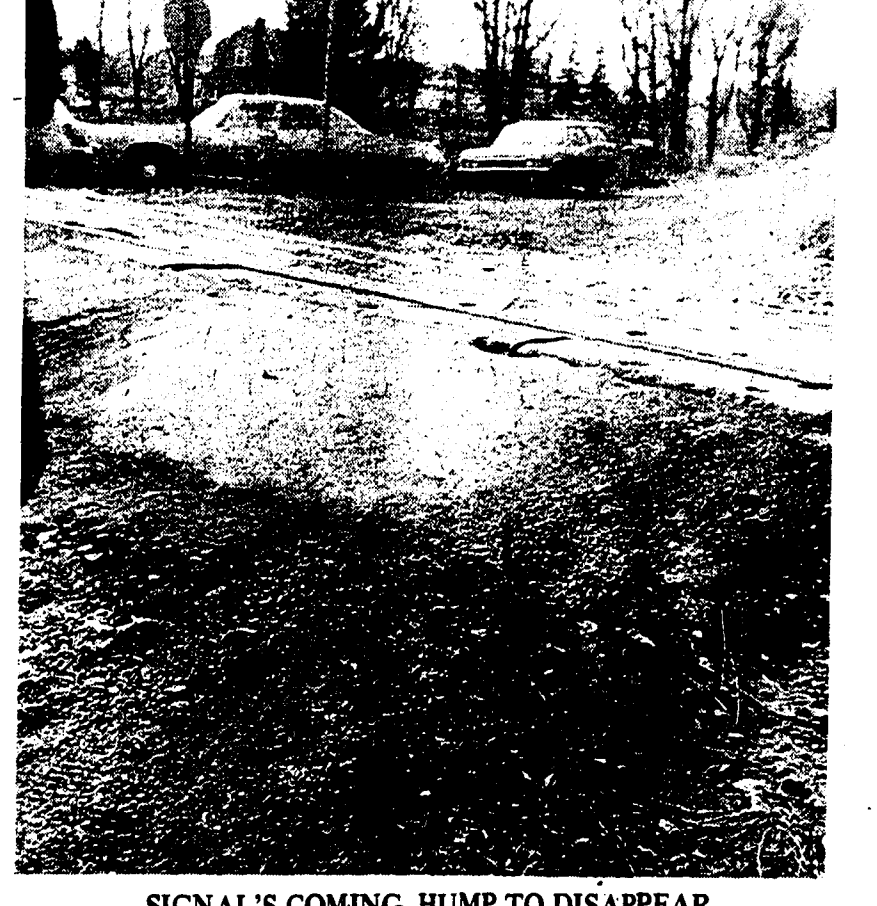

Charter Review Resumes Today

Final review of the proposed city charter of Novi will continue tonight following last week's approval of the controversial Chapter 4.
 The 8 p.m. meeting will be held in the council chambers.
 Following lengthy debate, the commission last week decided to maintain the manager system as it had originally provided in the charter. Renewed arguments for a strong mayor system were defeated.
 One significant change in the charter was made, however. The commission decided to eliminate the post of public safety director.
 The revision means the police and fire chiefs will report to the city manager, who must consult with the council before removing either of the chiefs.
 Review of the remaining sections of the proposed charter is not expected to take more than two more weeks, whereupon a copy of the document will be sent to Lansing for approval.

Face Lifting Sought For Railroad Crossing

SIGNAL'S COMING, HUMP TO DISAPPEAR

It appears that something will be done to correct the hazardous Nine Mile Road C&O crossing near Novi Road.
 In a meeting Friday afternoon, Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, Village Manager Harold Ackley and a citizen, Mrs. Keiter Ehrenreich, 2321 S. Balconie Drive in Willowbrook (the subdivision which initially alerted the state to the hazard) met with a number of representatives from C&O, W. S. Teszlewicz and G. A. Wolfe, railroad safety inspectors of the Michigan Public Safety Commission, and D. MacMillan, the regional engineer of signals for C&O.
 Out of the meeting came an agreement that a crossing light system will be installed, that bracing timbers will be replaced in the crossing, and that the approaches will be leveled (the leveling will come under Novi's road improvement program, which Ackley hopes will include a 24 foot concrete road).
 The "highway authority" (apparently the village of Novi, though Ackley questioned this and will look into it) and the railroad are to share the cost of signal installation 50-50 (under Section 8 of Act 336, Public Acts of 1931). Maintenance will be borne by C&O except that Novi is to contribute $10 a month toward it.
 In other traffic matters brought before Novi Village last week were those contained in a complaint received from Willowbrook Association.

Chief BeGole told council members that his department had made a few arrests when he first received the motorcycle complaint and that they have received no further complaints in that area.
 Council felt that parking on subdivision streets rather than in driveways and garages would take care of itself when winter arrives, as it is illegal to block plowing zones.
 The water main problem appears to be licked, at least as far as the Robo-Wash carwash is concerned. Guymann Construction recently completed the loop from Nine Mile to the carwash on Novi Road near the Northville city limits. Ackley also pointed out that the Orchard Hills sewer situation may soon be resolved, although Jack Anglin has run into some problems which may make this construction take longer than initially expected.
 The troublesome Nash police car comes up for bids on replacement in December and he hoped, along with BeGole, that something could be done sooner. The specifications on a replacement will be discussed at the November 18 council meeting.
 Councilman Donald Young brought up a letter received by him for the council criticizing its method of selecting lowest bidders for insurance. A letter was drafted by council thinking the area insurance man for his concern and confirming the council's belief that it uses the most honest and most fair method it is aware of for selecting its agents each year.
 The insurance bids which were accepted this year, from among the seven received (opened and accepted at the October 21 meeting) were Vorsehn & Cox of Walled Lake for General Comprehensive Insurance at $652.41 (Auto Owners) and Workmen's comprehensive at $2,919.23 (Employers Mutual Casualty) and Northville Insurance Agency at $2,711.83 for fleet coverage (Citizens Mutual).

'Spiked Apple' Search Moves into Walled Lake

Search for the person who spiked trick-or-treat apples with razor blades and pins has moved to the City of Walled Lake.
 According to Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, it has been determined that the apples did not originate in the lake area of Novi but inside Walled Lake. The case has been turned over to Walled Lake police for investigation.
 Walled Lake police said they know the "general area" in which the apples were given away but that they have nothing definite yet to make an arrest.
 The case touched off state-wide attention last week when a Novi trick-or-treater was given an apple with two straight pins and a double-edged razor blade stuck inside.
 Mothers in the area, alarmed by the lethal prank, pressed police for action and telephoned this newspaper to urge that persons with clues to call the police department.
 So incensed was one mother that she asked if anything could be done to "ban Halloween."

Teen Crushed Between Cars

A 19-year-old Howell youth was crushed to death between his stalled car and another west-bound vehicle on 196 in Wixom early Saturday morning.
 Killed was Douglas J. Werner who was standing behind his car just after it had run out of gas. A companion, Lewis Fee Jr., 23 of Brighton, spotted the oncoming car in time to jump from its path.
 Driving the car that hit the youth, according to State Police, was George V. Gravelle, Sr. of 51460 Pontiac Trail, Wixom. He was treated for head injuries at Betsford Hospital.
 The accident, which occurred one mile west of Wixom Road, is still under investigation by State Police. It was the fifth traffic fatality in Wixom this year.

Wixom Citizens Request Tighter Hunting Controls

Look for tighter hunting restrictions in Wixom.
 This appeared to be the consensus of opinion expressed by citizens as well as the Wixom council in Tuesday night's meeting.
 Citizen John Lambert reported continued disturbance by hunters behind his property and requested that council act to abolish all hunting and even all discharge of firearms within the Wixom city limits.
 The Detroit Edison case will come up before the Michigan Supreme Court in Lansing in December, he added.
 Council also approved Treasurer Elizabeth A. Waara to make deposits in the bank of the city, a formality which required their action.

Staman Wins Reappointment

The Oakland county board of supervisors reappointed Novi's Frazier Staman to the three-member county road commission Tuesday by a vote of 59-1.
 The lone vote against Staman was cast by Supervisor Hadley Bachert of Novi Township.
 Staman, who once served as supervisor of Novi township, is currently chairman of the road commission. The chairmanship is rotated annually. Reappointment of Staman to a six-year term was the only action involving appointments taken Tuesday. All others were tabled until December.
 The new $27-million board of county supervisors takes over January 1.
