Hayloft in Switzerland's Valley of Heres

In Next Film Story Rotary Spotlights Swiss Adventure

"Adventures in Switzerland," second Northville Rotary Club Travel and Adventure Series program of the 1968-69 season, will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 21, in the Northville High School auditorium.

The film story will be related by Dick Reddy, a native of Texas, who for the first time has made a conscientious effort to trace the coach tracks and footprints of Mark Twain who set sail for Switzerland in 1878.

From the towering peaks of the Jungfrau to the cold, dark dungeons of the Castle of Chillon, the audience is taken on balloon flights, sleigh rides and flights over the Alps.

The speaker's first introduction to Switzerland came after World War II when he commanded one of the first troop trains carrying GI's to Zermatt for an Alpine holiday. Snowball fights with the friendly Swiss and two weeks of winter wonderland, he said, made it impossible not to return. A graduate of the North Texas State University school of journalism, Reddy also holds a master's degree and has served as a teacher and school administrator. He studied cinematography at the University of Southern California.

Like such other early travelers as Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Mark Twain was unable to resist the lure of the Alps. After retracing some of his journey, Reddy takes Rotary travelers across the blue-white glaciers of the Valais in winter and through mountain pastures of Appenzel in the spring. There is a visit with a Swiss family and a Swiss Christmas celebration.

Series tickets still are available for the Rotary travel series of six lectures. Ticketholders may use the six punches all at one program or individually. Series price is $6. Individual tickets are sold at $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for students at the door.

Northville Police Docket Hits Weekly Fall High

Northville Police last week completed what was probably their busiest week since the Downs closed for the season.

Arrests for other police departments, accident investigations, assault and battery charges, missing persons, larceny, obscene phone calls, driving under the influence of alcohol and other moving violations, open doors, destruction of property, and several other types of offenses kept the police almost constantly on the road.

Highlighting the week was a missing boy, report. Thomas B. Grives, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Grives of 21099 Novi Road, was reported missing last week Tuesday. The boy reportedly called a friend from Buffalo, New York on Friday, but police there were unable to find any trace of him. His parents told police the boy had a girlfriend in Depew, New York and an aunt in New York City. Investigation continues.

A personal injury accident involved two cars was investigated on West Eight Mile Road. David A. Tarrow of 547 Main Street and Dean F. Daves of Wayne were involved, both complained of minor injuries, but neither requested medical aid.

Assault and battery charges were brought against Charles E. Klocke of 46980 Grand River by his wife, Cynthia E. early Friday morning.

Students Give Edge To Richard Nixon, Too

Even before President-elect Richard Nixon's victory announcement last week Wednesday afternoon, Northville had an inkling of who would be the nation's next president.

Students in Northville, who may or may not have been expressing the political preferences of their parents, gave Nixon the top spot in school elections.

He was the winner at the high school and Main Street and Moraine Elementary schools.

But if votes at these schools were indicative of parental preferences, what happened at Amerman Elementary and Novi High School? In Northville's precinct 3, the area of Amerman, and in Novi Nixon won the adult election handsily. At both schools, however, he ran second to Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, schools, however, he ran second to Vice-President Hubert Humphrey.

Wixom Elementary School pupils voted much like their parents. Vice-President Humphrey was the first choice, Governor George Wallace the third. While Wixom adults picked Nixon over Wallace, the Alabama governor nevertheless received a strong showing than anywhere else in the area.

Students at Northville registered a 75-percent turnout — not much off the percentage turned in by the adults.

Novi students supported all three proposals (Daylight Savings Time, Clean Water, and Recreation) on which they cast ballots. Recreation passed by the narrowest margin, 360-265.

Municipal Court

Municipal Court Judge Philip Ogilvie of Northville returned Detroit House of Correction escapes Douglas R. Honeycutt of Royal Oak to that institution for three days following his appearance on November 2.

On October 31, Judge Ogilvie fined Obeley L. Head of Plymouth $100 which he paid in lieu of 20 days in jail. Head had pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor.

Judge Ogilvie also heard these cases on Thursday:

Richard C. Groth of Plymouth was charged with being a disorderly person, drunk on October 13. He stood mute at his arraignment on October 24, and a plea of innocent was entered on his behalf. At his trial, Groth was given the verdict of nolle prosequere upon payment of $25 court costs.

Four Jones of Westland paid $5 for pleading guilty to violation of a temporary instructor's permit on October 9.

An improper lift turn causing an accident on Center Street on October 28 cost Thomas C. Coggins of South Lyon $15 when he pleaded guilty.

Being drunk enough to be a disorderly person on November 2 cost Alex Barclay of Detroit $20 and $12 costs in lieu of six days in jail. He had entered a plea of guilty.

Two five dollar fines were assessed of Robert E. Lavigne of Detroit for improper license plates and defective equipment (headlights out). He was arrested on October 20 at Hutton and Dunlap and had entered a plea of guilty.

Also pleading guilty to two counts and paying five dollars on each was Sue L. Grant of Detroit. When she was stopped going the wrong way on one way South Main between Beal and Johnson on

Ambulance Service Threatened by New Requirements

Ambulance owners throughout the state are faced with another crisis, one which may find many communities without ambulance service come July 1, 1969.

That's when the new state law that outlines minimum standards for ambulance drivers and assistants will go into effect. Among other provisions, the law requires that personnel complete an advanced Red Cross safety course or the equivalent and that they be 21 years of age.

South Lyon is one of those communities that will be without ambulance service. Owner Richard Phillips of Phillips Funeral Home said he will definitely discontinue the service on July 1 because he is unable to find qualified persons.

Fred Casterline, owner of Casterline's Funeral Home in Northville, said that he'll wait to see what other owners will do before making a decision. "If they all go out, I will," he stated.

Harbin's Funeral Home of Novi operates an ambulance on an emergency basis only.

As of January 1 all funeral homes in Monroe and Livingston counties that are still in the ambulance business will quit the ambulance service, it was decided recently by funeral director organizations in both counties.

Recently, in an attempt to resolve some of the nagging financial problems of ambulance operators, the City of Northville and the Village of Novi adopted new subsidizing policies that provide for municipal payment of Specifically, in Northville the city agreed to pay delinquent bills for ambulance service requested by the police department. The arrangement is similar in Novi, only there the village has agreed to pay only $25 per call plus 50-cents per mile. In both cases, the municipality attempts to recover the costs from the persons billed.

"I'm not making any money on it," Casterline stated. "It's purely a service to the community." Phillips, likewise, said there was no profit in ambulance calls, that he inherited the service and continued it as a service to the community.

Many ambulance owners, plagued by mounting costs and troubles in collecting fees, are using the new state legislation as an out. One owner said in many instances this was true.

According to Phillips, Pinckney and Brighton will also be without ambulance service after July. McDonald's in Howell has already

For Novi School Projects Bricks, Tiling, Dining Room Ok'd

With construction and remodeling work at Novi's two elementary schools zipping along at a satisfactory pace, the board of education last week took action in several areas affecting the building program.

Among decisions by the board were:

—Selection of brick for the addition to Orchard Hills Elementary School.

—Approval to remodel a storage room in Novi Elementary School for use by teachers as a dining room.

—Ratification of a $53,712 contract with the Oakland County Intermediate School District for payment of two special education rooms at Orchard Hills.

—Authorization to spend up to $100 for installation of alphabet and numeral inscribed tiles on the floor of the Novi kindergarten room.

Remodeling of the Novi School storage room for a teacher's dining room was approved by a split vote. Russell Taylor, who was especially concerned that better eating facilities be provided for teachers, cast a lone "no" vote because fellow members declined to increase the $4,496.70 walled by nearly $450 for covering walls with a wallboard rather than painting them.

Taylor was the lone dissenter in another vote — this one involving a motion to seek additional bids for a tractor, snow plow blade and mower. Taylor saw the delay in making a purchase as perhaps necessitating the hiring of snow removal as was done last winter. Hiring snow removal work, he reasoned, may nullify any savings that the district might realize by seeking additional bids.

Council Applies Clamps To Industrial Proposal

"Don't fence me in," was the cry of the developer of Hydromation Industrial Subdivision.

Residents of Meadowbrook Lake, the adjoining subdivision, and members of Novi Council did not buy the song, however, and tailored restrictive clauses into the pre-plot approval of the industrial subdivision at the public hearing continuation portion of Monday night's meeting.

Lack of good faith as to the required fence and green belt and the open ordinance violation pertaining to storage and disposal by Hydromation's current plant stirred protest from the Meadowbrook Lake citizens and brought the following council action:

Approved was the pre-plot, but with these restrictions: the ordinance specifically prohibits any outside storage and this must be adhered to; the 10-foot-high chain-link fence must be constructed before any sewer or road construction can be undertaken; and the 10-foot-wide, six-foot high green belt must be installed between each plant and the residential sub before any occupancy permit will be granted.

Traffic was the topic of the majority of the remainder of the evening's discussion.

Three specific traffic problems were aired at the meeting.

Harold N. Ackley, village manager, told council he had personally contacted Robert Osgood, Oakland County Road Commission's traffic engineer for signal lights, who didn't feel the Ten Mile Road — Novi Road intersection was busy enough to longer wheelbase and increased horsepower, Ackley asserted.

In other communications, Holtzman & Silverman requested an extension of the deadline for plat approval of their Meadowbrook Glens Subdivision (formerly Meadowbrook Heights) for three years to April 29, 1972. Council gave its approval.

Another letter was received from Ella Karschnick for Novi Heights Subdivision complaining of public safety and property damage problems. It was suggested that Novi Heights send a representative to the next council meeting to air the grievances during the "audience participation" portion of that meeting.

Award Contract For Wixom School

Construction of the 10-room addition to the Wixom Elementary School was expected to get underway this week with completion slated by the opening of school next fall.

The Walled Lake Board of Education last week awarded the general contract to the Linney Construction Company of Pontiac, which submitted the low bid of $133,279.

A total of 11 bids were submitted, ranging from Linney's low bid to $167,620.

Winning the mechanical bid, at $44,946, was Thermal Heating, Inc., and receiving the electrical contract was Fred W. Harvot Electric Company, at $19,900.

Architect for the school addition is Warren Holmes of Lansing.

According to Assistant Superintendent R. J. Langerman, the addition will be constructed on the north end of the west side of the present school building — thus making the complex U-shaped on the 10-acre site.

The addition will double the size and the enrollment of the school. The present enrollment of 269 is expected to climb above the 500 mark with the opening of school next fall.

Concerning the Walled Lake school district's other proposed school on a 40-acre site on Charns Road, Langerman said planning had not yet gone beyond the theoretical stages.

However, construction of the new Walled Lake Western High School, near the northeastern corner of Pontiac Trail and Beck Road is progressing satisfactorily and the huge building is still expected to be ready for occupancy by next fall.

The new high school, located on a

Play Curtain Goes Up Friday

This weekend will mark the performance of the Novi High School play, "A Man Called Peter."

Performance will begin at 8:15 p.m. Friday and Saturday nights this week under the direction of Calvin F. Schmucker.

"A Man Called Peter" is the true story of the Rev. Peter Marshall as dramatized by John McGreevey from the biography by Marshall's wife, Catherine.

The lead roles of Peter and Catherine are played by Thom Holmes and Cathy Carr. The supporting cast includes Jim Poole, Mark Winn, Diane Knezel, JoEllen Steinberger, Kathy Winner, Kathy Romanow, Chuck Hatcher, Jon VanWagner, Kathy Vusick, Eunice Reuter, Dennis Galbraith, J. A. Perkins and Jan McIntock.

Ackley reported that the Orchard Hills sewer problem has been licked and then brought out specifications for a new police car. The only changes from prior specifications will be a

A benefit performance was given Tuesday by the cast at the Whitehall Rest Homes on Grand River and Ten Mile Road.

Schmucker is assisted by student director Lenny Beadle.

Contest Extended

Contestants for the Pick the Cabinet contest introduced by this newspaper last week will have an extra week to enter — thanks to a goof.

Two cabinet posts were not included in the list of 12 cabinet posts last week — one of them was listed twice.

The contest originally slated to end today has been extended to Wednesday, November 27 in fairness to readers. Entries must be postmarked no later than November 28.

Contestants are asked to submit the names of the men or women who they believe President-elect Richard Nixon will choose for his cabinet. The person picking the largest number of correct cabinet selections will win a handsome two-volume edition on United States presidents.

November Engagements Announced

A January 25, 1969, wedding date has been set by Jo-Ann Canevari, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Canevari of Palisades Park, New Jersey, are announcing her engagement to William Mark Johns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orlo M. Johns, 24280 Coral Lane, Novi.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Cliffside Park School and the Mt. Sinai Hospital School of Nursing of New York City. She presently is a registered nurse at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia.

Her fiancé is a Northville High School graduate. He received his bachelor's degree from Wayne University where he now is attending graduate school for his master's degree in marketing. He is an industrial representative for Sun Oil Company in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Stuckey of Meadowbrook Road announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Elaine, to Philip C. Presnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Presnell of Maude Lea Circle, Novi.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancé are Northville High School graduates. She now attends Oakland Community College and presently is serving in the U.S. Army, stationed at Fort Gordon, Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, 135 Maudlin, Walled Lake, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Ann Barber, to Harold Sells, Jr., son of Harold Sells, 915 Chubb Road. They are making plans for a May wedding.

BEVERLY JOAN BLANCHARD

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hammond, 549 Grace Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Ann, to Randy Lefford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lefford of Detroit. The couple has set a December 21st wedding date.

RUTH ANN BARBER

The bride-elect, a graduate of Michigan State University, is an art teacher in Southfield. Her fiancé is a graduate of University of Michigan.

Miss Hammond was honored at a miscellaneous shower given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Dawn Holcomb and Mrs. Clara Brods at the former's home. Guests attended from Detroit, Livonia and Northville.

From Midland comes news of the engagement of Susan Jane Lind, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Lind of that city, to Randall J. MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

"IN 1968 I don't think we're loving quite enough," observed Mrs. John Shada, of the family life committee of Detroit Catholic Women and chairman of the speakers' bureau, women's division, Detroit Roundtable of Christians and Jews, as she spoke to members and guests of the Northville Woman's Club last Friday.

Declaring that women make "great volunteers" because "God has given women a keen interest in the individual," Mrs. Shada said that it is this sensitivity that makes women respond to needs around them.

She cautioned her audience that this caring must go beyond the circle of family and must be extended even where "we don't get back the response we think we're entitled to."

Acknowledging that today's woman can be "overcommitted," she suggested that it is important for women to know where to direct themselves.

"We could all start on the street where we live," the vivacious mother-of-eight suggested.

"Ask yourself," she said, "Is my door the first door my neighbors would knock on in an emergency — Am I known for my love?"

Mrs. Shada "sugarplummed" her serious message with poetry and light allusions, many to her own family.

For 1968," she opined, "wears her heart on her sleeves and her sentiment is showing — so much shows today that it's nice to know this is supposed to."

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS for Thanksgiving and Christmas were the subject of the November meeting of the Northville Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, last week.

Mrs. P. N. Askounes of Birmingham suggested making "transitional" decorations that would be used with a few changes from the first holiday to the second. As an example she used the pineapple, traditional symbol of hospitality.

A real pineapple first is sprayed with a sealer, then with gold paint. Decorated with gold sprays, it can be surrounded with fruit at Thanksgiving — and will become a Christmas ornament with a wreath of greens next month.

"Evergreens from your own yard make good Christmas decorations for your home," Mrs. Askounes told club members. They need special preparation, however. First, she instructed, wash the cut greens in warm water and detergent, then rinse in clear water. They then may be kept until needed in plastic bags. Washing, she explained, makes them lighter in color and cleaner as well as fluffier.

A special decorating tip: Mrs. Askounes suggests buying inexpensive funeral wreaths and stripping off the artificial green covering to use as a popular centerpiece base.

THE BOOK FAIR held last Friday and Saturday at The Cavern by Northville Mothers' Club was termed a "successful first" by Mrs. Kalin Johnson, co-chairman with Mrs. Halton Axtell, this week as she totaled approximately $130 profit.

She added that 687 children's paperback books had been purchased. These were sold in addition to hard cover books for adults and children. Anyone wishing to place a special order for any book that was on display during the fair or for any other book still may order this week from Mrs. Johnson, 349-3685. Prices are retail — except for publisher's remainders which are discounted — with profits to be used by Mothers' Club for youth projects.

Adding to the attractive atmosphere of Northville's first all-new book fair were tables displaying books by subject. (An old coffee grinder centered the table with books on antiques.) The identifying signs were the work of a club member, Mrs. Frederick Hartt, an art teacher in Nankin Mills.

She also was the artist for the stationery with Northville scenes sold by Mothers' Club. The note stationery with 30 sheets of four different scenes is $2 a box and may be obtained from Mrs. Essie Nirdler, 349-0768.

Junior Miss Pageant

10 Seniors to Compete for Title

Ten local beauties will be competing for the title of Northville Junior Miss in the third annual pageant sponsored by the Northville Jaycees at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Northville High School auditorium.

Seeking the crown being vacated by Pam Smith, last year's winner who went on to capture the Michigan Junior Miss title also, are Vicki Elkins, Stacey Evans, Linda Gots, Carol Harper, Sandy Hinkel, Mary Lorenz, Sandy Schwendemann, Leanne Steeper, Rosemary Van Fossen and Pam Witzke. All the girls are seniors at Northville High School.

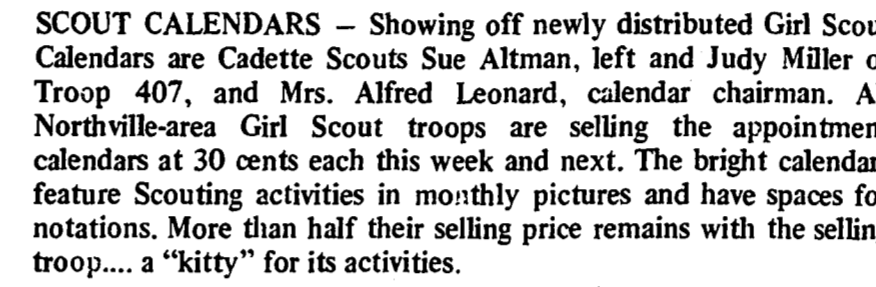

At the pageant contestants will be judged for talent, and their appearance in sportswear and evening dress. They already were judged on personality and scholastic achievement at a judges' conference earlier.

The judges will choose three finalists Saturday night, selecting the winner after the girls give answers to the traditional "surprise questions."

Northville's new Junior Miss then will compete in the Detroit Regional Pageant December 14 in Redford Township. The 12 regional finalists then will compete for the state crown in Pontiac in January, 1969. The Michigan Junior Miss will appear in national finals in Mobile, Alabama, in March, 1969.

The girl named Northville Junior Miss will receive a Board of Regents' scholarship to Eastern Michigan University as well as the Junior Miss trophy. Second and third place winners will receive financial grants to further their education.

Judges for the contest are Miss Jean Pike, director of student activities at Schoolcraft College; Paul Hunt, dean of Washnaw Community College, and Frank Ollendorff, Northville City Manager.

SCOUT CALENDARS — Showing off newly distributed Girl Scout Calendars are Cadette Scouts Sue Altman, left and Judy Miller of Troop 407, and Mrs. Alfred Leonard, calendar chairman. All Northville-area Girl Scout troops are selling the appointment calendars at 30 cents each this week and next. The bright calendars feature Scouting activities in monthly pictures and have spaces for notations. More than half their selling price remains with the selling troop... a "kitty" for its activities.

Calendars on Sale By Area Scouts

Girl Scout appointment calendars for 1969 now are on sale from all Girl Scouts in Northville-area troops. The calendars, priced at 30 cents, have spaces at each date for notations.

Color pictures depict Girl Scout activities.

The calendars are sold by all Girl Scouts, except Brownies, to friends, neighbors and family. Leaders suggest that they make "appreciated gifts" for aunts and grandmothers.

The project also directly benefits each troop with 16 cents of the 30-cent sale price remaining in the treasury of the troop of the Scout selling the calendar. These profits are used for troop projects.

Mrs. Daniel Crismon is in charge of the project for Northville Scouts.

Huron Valley Girl Scout Council announces that George Zerbel has been appointed to the Girl Scout Consulting Commission. Headed by Wyeth Allen of Ann Arbor, University of Michigan professor emeritus, the commission will serve as the steering committee for the capital fund drive to be held in 1970 to raise funds to complete Camp Linden.

Where's History Buffs?

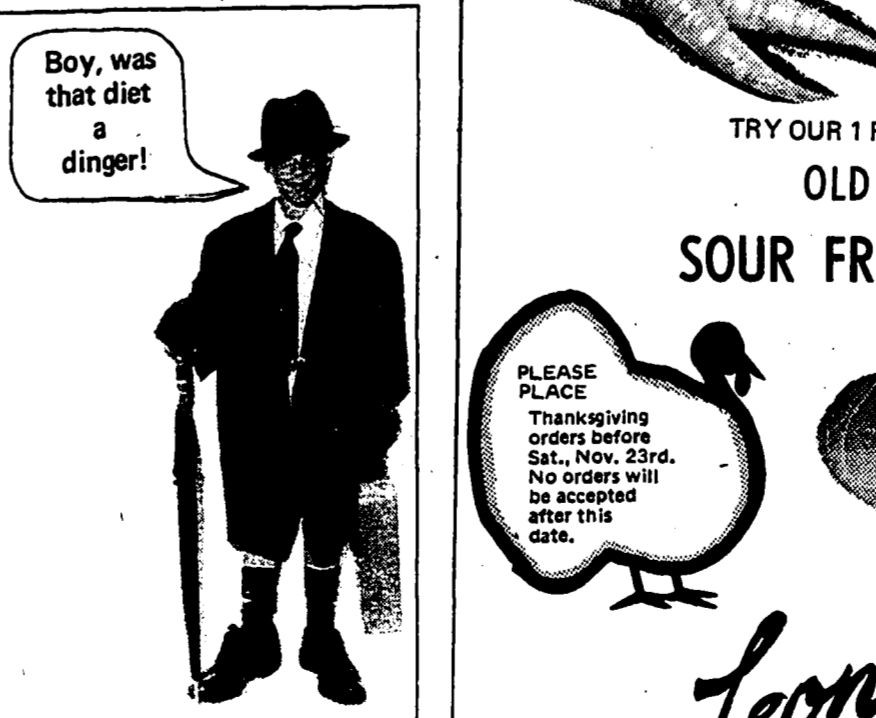

Museum Bus Trip's Idling

"Where's all those history buffs of the Northville area?"

That's the question officials of the Northville Historical Society were asking themselves as they prepared for the Saturday trip to Maumee, Ohio where a special tour of the famous Walcott Museum has been arranged.

"We've had a poor response thus far," admitted a society spokesman, "and frankly we're a little worried — particularly in view of the fact that the bus already has been chartered and officials at Maumee have made arrangements to show us through the museum on a day that it normally is not open."

The trip is a departure from the normal activity of the society which usually meets on the third Tuesday of each month for a brief business meeting and a talk on some aspect of Michigan or local history. This month's regular meeting was scrapped in favor of the trip.

Boy, was that diet a dinger!

Tickets are $1 each for Saturday's pageant and may be purchased from any Jaycee or at the door. Proceeds from the ticket sale will be used to increase the financial grants to winners, after pageant expenses have been deducted.

Faculty advisor and consultant is Miss Barbara LeBoeuf. Jaycee co-chairmen of the pageant are Ross Totten, Dave Van Hine and Fred Zillich. Staging director is Bob Hilton. Bob Clapfel is master of ceremonies and musical accompaniment is being furnished by the Northville High School jazz band.

BPW to Get Holiday Ideas

Instructions for making holiday decorations — both Thanksgiving and Christmas — will be given at the dinner program of the Northville Business and Professional Women at 6:30 p.m. Monday at Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

Mrs. Donald Ware will be the guest speaker. She will bring examples and illustrate how to make the centerpieces.

The membership committee is in charge of the dinner meeting. Mrs. Hester Gow is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Mabel Cooley and Mrs. Marlene Danol.

TEACHER HOSTESS — Pouring a welcome cup of coffee for parents at last week's Open House at Amerman Elementary School was one of the teacher-hostesses, Mrs. Jill Odle who teaches third grade. The open house, one of several in the area, was held to commemorate National Education Week.

Pack Meets Today

Northville Cub Scout Pack 721 is to meet at 7 p.m. today, November 21, at the V.F.W. Hall. Cubmaster Pete Voigt announces.

All Scouts, whether or not they currently are in a den, should attend with their parents.

Students Compete For Novi Wildcat

Who will win Willie? Willie, the stuffed wildcat and Novi Wildcat's mascot, is the prize offered to the class (Grades 7-12) bringing in the most articles for the Novi Jaycee Christmas project for servicemen overseas.

Carol Bruce, secretary of the Novi student council and school chairman of the event, says the school hopes to gather enough material by tomorrow to enable the Jaycees to package and mail the articles next week.

James Cherfoli, Jaycee project chairman, reports that the collection is going very well and that they hope to get the packages in the mail next week to assure the servicemen will receive them by Christmas. He added that if an extension is necessary, the Jaycees are willing to send the gifts airmail to assure delivery on time. He also praised the students for their outstanding help.

Officers of the Maumee Historical Society, besides conducting the tour of their facility, will explain how the Ohio group went about establishing their museum.

The Ohio museum is the former home of Judge Wolcott. A large structure, it was built about 1800. The Wolcott family, important in Ohio history, built the Toledo docks.

Award Spurs More Crewel Artistry Novi Highlights

When your first piece of crewel embroidery, a foot stool cover, garners a blue ribbon at the Michigan State Fair, there's strong incentive to produce more of this embroidery-like needlework done with a special worsted yarn.

Since Mrs. Joseph Rajsigl, 1005 North Center, first purchased what she thought was an embroidery kit in 1965 and decided to try crewel work, she has stitched a steady stream of beautiful crewel work, ranging from chair seat covers to pictures and handbags.

Her hobby of four years has earned her "six or seven" blue ribbons, the most recent at the 1967 Michigan State Fair, her last competition, and also is featured in Women's Household Magazine in its August issue. This issue has been mailed to subscribers but is just now being sold on newsstands.

Another Northville resident, Mrs. Harold (Elsie) Price, wrote the magazine article. A member of Detroit Women Writers, she has had articles published often in various publications.

Mrs. Rajsigl has a daughter, Karen, 11. Her husband works for the Southfield Post Office. She finds time to hold a bookkeeper position.

Since beginning this part-time work, she admits, she hasn't had as much time to devote to her crewel work hobby.

She says she has been amazed at how challenging the work is and adds that "in addition to the sense of accomplishment one always derives from needlework, I have the feeling that I have produced something of longlasting value."

Arias Recital Slated Sunday

Anne Ayer, Massachusetts born mezzo-soprano, will be heard in a recital of arias and art songs at the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts this Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

Her program will include groups by Mozart, Schubert, Rachmaninoff, Moussorgsky, French songs by Faure and will conclude with a group of musical selections by the American composers Rorem and Barber.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Annett, 16811 Fenton, Detroit, announce the birth of their first child, Robert Charles, November 15 at St. Mary Hospital. The baby, who weighed six pounds, fifteen ounces at birth, also is the first grandchild for both the paternal and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Annett, 19889 Marilyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lonn, 40733 Apollo.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob J. Brandon of Lubbock, Texas, announce the birth of Timothy Michael October 11 at Lubbock Methodist Hospital. He joins his brother, Christopher Lee, at home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Willing of Smock Road and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Strandon of Plymouth.

A son, Matthew Albert, was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Funke, 46808 Bloomer Drive, November 4 at St. Mary Hospital. He weighed seven pounds, eight ounces at birth. The baby joins three brothers at home. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes of Detroit.

PTA Plans Talk on Reading

A special reading program, "Helping Johnny Read," will be presented at the Amerman Elementary School's second PTA meeting of the year at 8 p.m. today in the multipurpose room. It is requested that no children attend the meeting.

Mrs. Ann Chizmar, Amerman reading consultant, has organized a program showing development of children learning to read, covering pre-school through fifth grade.

PTA name tags are being made by Brownie Troop 211 under the leadership of Mrs. Angelo Chinni. Brownie Troop 562, headed by Mrs. Joseph Petro and Mrs. Bruce Griggs, is making the centerpiece for the refreshment table.

Refreshments will be served after the program. (Continued on Page 4-B)

Teachers who will participate are Mrs. Marilyn Kaestner, Mrs. Virginia Kritz, Mrs. Jean Tuttle, Mrs. Karen Janchick, Miss Coral Zelma, Mrs. Sue Karschick, Mrs. Reta Luitnik and Mrs. Ann Hase.

Parents of pre-school children interested in helping their children read are invited to attend. Their children do not have to be enrolled in school.

There will be a question-and-answer period at the conclusion of the program.

NOVI GIRL SCOUTS
Orland Hills, Brownie Troop 519 had their meetings for the following girls: Gloria Bell, Liz Callaott, Cynthia Davy, Renee Delazardie, Margaret Graham, Anne Madlasc, Shelly Monitz, Maura Reynolds, Lisa Roderick, Ellen Sjolholm, and Bobbi Wilkins. They are planning to make Thanksgiving favors.

Brownie Troop 351 worked on flag ceremony, made decorations with Indian corn.

Junior Troop 1027 are making toys for the Children's Home for Christmas for their toy-making badge.

Bid Before Vote

School Asks Change in Procedure

A unique proposal by Northville school officials suggesting that the "bidding procedure" take place before bonding elections on new construction is to be explored with the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission.

Business Manager Earl Busard, directed by the board of education to investigate the legality of such a procedure, has received the "green light" from the Michigan Department of Education and at least some architectural and contracting firms have indicated a willingness to "go along with us."

The only "major stumbling block", explained Busard, appears to be the finance commission which has the final say on all bonding matters. Its approval of the suggestion is necessary because of the time element involved.

A letter has been sent to the commission asking that it meet with local officials to discuss the proposal.

School board members contend that re-arrangement of bonding for new construction will result in less costly, more accurate construction expenses. In the past, school boards have sought "educated estimates" for construction of a new school building then asked voters to approve a bond issue based upon these estimates.

Under the suggested change, voters would know the exact plans of the building being considered and the exact cost of it before they would vote on the bonding issue.

School officials, in turn, would

Extinguishers Go Saturday

Residents of the city and township of Northville were reminded this week of the sale of 140 fire extinguishers at cost by the fire department.

For $5 a 2 1/2-gallon extinguisher, ideal for home and business, may be ordered at Lapham's Men's Shop, 210 East Main. The extinguishers have been cleaned, filled, reconditioned and certified by the Northville Fire Department.

Firemen will be on duty at the fire hall from 8 to 11 a.m. Saturday to distribute the extinguishers ordered and paid for at Lapham's. All proceeds will be used to reimburse the department for its time and expense in reconditioning the extinguishers.

MARS RIOPELLI HARRY KUNKEL
Name New Managers

Two new managers have been appointed at Rathburn Chevrolet Sales, 560 South Main Street, Craig Rathburn announced this week. Mars Riopelli of Livonia has been named the new car manager, while Harry Kunkel, was appointed used car manager. Kunkel, married with one daughter in college, has had 20 years experience with Chevrolet sales. Riopelli, married with four children, also has had 20 years of experience with Chevrolet.

Oakland Lawmen Hosted in Novi

Oakland County Law Enforcement Association held its November meeting at Saratoga Farms, 42050 Grand River, Tuesday night.

The meeting was held to hear the county's new prosecutor elect, Thomas G. Plunkett, and to elect a new slate of officers for the association for the coming year.

Former president and present director of the association, Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, hosted the affair.

The association will hold a ladies' night on December 10.

Schedule Talk On Civil Rights

"Civil Rights: The Dismal Past Looks to a Brighter Future" is the topic for the November meeting of the Plymouth Branch, American Association of University Women, at 7:30 p.m. today in Plymouth Junior High West.

Levi Jackson, manager of retail personnel services, marketing staff, Ford Motor Company, will present a practical insight of the problems and progress of the Negro. Mr. Jackson, a graduate of Yale University, has had much experience in activating the policies of the New Detroit Committee and is involved primarily with employment and educational opportunities for the Negro.

Hostesses are Mrs. J. R. Witwer, chairman; Mrs. Robert Bake, Mrs. David J. Cunningham, Mrs. Henry Jensen, Mrs. Charles Quinlan and Mrs. Robert E. Rowland. All women college graduates are welcome.

Superintendent Thomas Tuesday

Thomas Dale, Novi superintendent of schools, will speak at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the November meeting of the Novi Youth Protective Association at the village hall.

His topic will be "The Schools - Now and in the Future."

The association would like to have all interested Novi residents attend the meeting. High school students also are invited.

OBITUARY

NORBERT J. SCHOLLETT
Funeral Mass was recited at 10 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church by the Reverend Father John Wittstock for Norbert J. Schollett, 57, of 41039 McMahon Circle, Novi, who died suddenly of a heart attack November 15.

Rosary was at 9 a.m. Sunday at Casteline Funeral Home. Interment was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

A resident of Novi for 13 years, Mr. Schollett was employed by United Seal, Incorporated, Detroit. He was a member of Our Lady of Victory Church. He was born May 29, 1911, in Detroit to Frederick and Agnes (Sobinowski) Schollett.

He leaves his wife, Dorothy (Fraser); a daughter, Mrs. Joann Fennelly of Livonia; two sons, Joseph John, Detroit, and Norbert James, Novi; a brother, Raymond F., Ludington; and five grandchildren.

bid as close to the total outlay as possible. Under the proposed change, contractors would have no idea of how much money is available and would necessarily have to base their bids only on the architectural drawings and specifications.

It is essential that the finance commission agrees with the proposal, officials explained, because it must approve the bond issue and a delay in approving or disapproving it could nullify the bids which remain firm for only a specified period.

About Our Servicemen

Vietnam - John Sharp Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sharp of 7586 Chubb Road, and husband of the former Miss Barbara A. Copeland of 29603 Milford Road, all of Northville, is serving with the First Military Police Battalion, Force Logistic Command in South Vietnam.

The battalion provides security for the air base at Danang and the Third Marine Amphibious Force Bridge, a vital link between East Danang and the road access to the northern First Corps Area.

Force Logistic Command is the largest supply, service, and maintenance support organization in the Marine Corps. It serves Marine and Republic of South Korea forces operating within Vietnam's northernmost tactical zone.

USS CORAL SEA - Marine Private First Class Wyatt L. Hazlett, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hazlett of 42825 Mill Street, and husband of the former Miss Mary E. Murdoch of Plymouth, Michigan is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea off the coast of Vietnam.

The first aircraft carrier to launch air strikes over North Vietnam in 1965, Coral Sea is back on its fourth consecutive deployment with the Seventh Fleet on "Yankee Station" in the Gulf of Tonkin.

Pilots from USS Coral Sea have damaged or destroyed important enemy installations in their daily air strikes over Vietnam.

During its deployment in the Western Pacific the 4,200 crewmen aboard the carrier have visited ports in Hawaii, Japan, and the Philippines.

Announcement is made of the promotion to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel of Louie A. Babbitt, son of Mrs. K. H. Babbitt, 306 South Rogers Street, and the late Mr. Babbitt. He also is the father of Mrs. Christopher Gazlay, the former Cheryl Babbitt, 430 East Main Street.

The promotion was announced October 10 but is retroactive to February, 1968.

Colonel Babbitt was graduated

Four Bag Deer 8-Points: A Lucky Number

Four area deer hunters bagged their bucks early — and each deer sported an eight point rack.

A fourteen-year-old boy (bottom left), Randy Armstrong of 46000 Pickford, bagged his first buck while hunting near his father's cabin in Roscommon County near Prudenville. His weighed 165 pounds.

Right is Nick Zander of Plymouth, who owns and operates Nick's Barber Shop on Seven Mile Road. Nick shot his 165-pounder while hunting with a party near Paris. He reports that it is his first "truly worthwhile specimen."

Bob Blough of 19171 Clement, gives the eight-point high sign to indicate he has finally ended years of frustration with this fine buck which dressed out at 150 pounds. Bob got his near Midland.

Colts Battle Blizzard to Sweep All Three 'Peanut Bowl' Contests

A howling blizzard couldn't stop the Northville Colts at Cadillac Saturday night.

The blizzard began with opening of the Freshman contest, and continued through all three games. It didn't daunt the Junior Football players, though, as all three squads emerged snow-covered but victorious.

It was the Colt Freshmen 41, Cadillac CASA Frosh 0, as the young Colts overwhelped their game but less experienced foes.

All in all, the First Annual Peanut Bowl proved a great success and all involved hope to work to make it a permanent fixture.

The CASA Varsity was a much more able squad and showed this by holding the Colts to a 7-7 halftime deadlock. Not to be outdone by the other Colt squads, however, the varsity eleven rallied in the second half to post a 21-7 verdict, also their first win of the season.

On Saturday, the boys enjoyed a parade and watched a cheerleading contest of Cadillac area cheerleaders before they took the field to exhibit their own prowess.

The boys' efforts were not without support, either, as Chio estimated that between 75 and 100 Northville citizens turned out in the snowstorm so far from home to cheer on the little athletes.

Northville's young footballers were housed and fed by Cadillac Friday night, all day Saturday and Saturday night returning home a most happy group on Sunday.

Cadillac's Naval Training Center was the home away from home for the boys over the weekend.

The success of the venture was further demonstrated when Cadillac announced expansion plans, according to Chio, of its own program. They hope to interest other area cities in making a league more on the level of the Western Suburban undertaking.

At present they have only Cadillac squads and were forced to play among themselves this year.

Ambulance

(Continued From Page 1) With $50,000 per year, rising costs are a constant threat. Casteline explained that ever since passage of federal wage and hour legislation pertaining to ambulance service employees, operating costs have skyrocketed. The legislation became law about one year ago.

Generally, any ambulance business grossing over $250,000 per year comes under the federal legislation, which provides that time and one-half be paid for over 40 hours work and when persons are on call, whether actually working or not.

Superior has five ambulances, but reportedly is having trouble finding qualified people at the present time to man its vehicles. And even though Washtenaw County subsidizes Superior

Wayne County to Consider State Control of Training School

Should the Wayne County Child Development Center here - a center of controversy over the past two years - be taken over by the state?

That's one of several basic questions that is likely to be explored in a proposed comprehensive study that probably will be authorized next month by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

The development center (formerly the Wayne County Training School), located near the corner of Sheldon and Five Mile Roads in Northville Township, has come under repeated fire because of alleged mistreatment of retarded or youngsters housed there. Founded in 1925, the 1,000 acre complex is the only county-operated residential school for retarded children in the nation.

The study, recommended by the Wayne County Board of Auditors followed searing criticism by citizen and professional teams investigating complaints of parents and former teachers, was adopted almost in total Friday by the board of supervisors committee dealing with the center.

According to Thomas Turner, chairman of the supervisors' committee, authorization for the study by the full board is a "foregone conclusion." Among those who serve with Turner on the committee is Northville Mayor A.M. Allen.

Turner said a board decision on the study probably will be made December 16. Meanwhile, his committee is expected to discuss again next week a recommendation of a citizens team, headed by Dr. J. Russell Bright of Wayne State University, that Dr. Pasquale Buonanno, be removed from his post as head of the center.

"I don't want to speak for the whole committee, but I think we ought to consider defining the duties of an administrator as opposed to a medical superintendent rather than remove someone. The school's big enough, I think, that there can be a separation of these posts."

"I want to make it clear," Austin told The Record Friday, "we're (auditors) not being critical of the center's administration in recommending the study. It's just that there seems to be sufficient evidence to warrant full-scale exploration of better ways to operate the facility."

"We're not saying that the state should operate it - just that it's something that should be considered from a standpoint of economics and how best children can be trained. We don't even know if the state could or would accept the responsibility."

"Actually, we've suggested several alternatives. Maybe it should be turned over to a large school district or perhaps to a university. We'd also like the prosecutor to take a look at the ordinance under which the school operates to see if the school is conforming."

While Austin said the board of auditors is not critical, he nevertheless noted that Juvenile Court Judge James

Lincoln has been very outspoken in criticizing the administration's admissions policy, which appears to "lock out" some youngsters who need help.

The center's inpatient population has decreased significantly, said Austin, from 700 in 1960 to 500 last year to 300 this year. "Despite this drop the operating costs continue to rise. As a result the per diem cost has increased from $9.37 to $29.12 per child."

There are a number of "logical explanations" for the drop in population, Austin said. Among these is the fact that public and parochial school systems are providing more and more training for retarded youngsters. Years ago, there was little of this kind of training in these schools so more youngsters were referred to the center, he said.

But Austin also noted that "since the school came under criticism about a year and a half ago for alleged neglect and abuse of children it has been a little shy in taking in the more difficult cases that seem to be at the root of the problem here."

There are some "logical reasons" for the increase in costs, too, he said. For example, wages have been spiraling upward as they have elsewhere. "Then, too, the administration will tell you that they've filled some of the vacant posts that have existed there in an attempt to cope with the problems."

The study, should it be authorized by the board of supervisors, would be conducted by the board of auditors. The auditors' findings and recommendations, however, probably would not be completed until next spring - which means that they would go to the newly reorganized board of supervisors that takes office in January, Austin said.

Commission to Set Date For Charter Vote Tonight

Date for the election on the proposed Novi city charter is expected to be set at tonight's wrap-up session of the charter commission.

According to Commission Chairman Raymond Evans, the election probably will take place late in January or early February - allowing sufficient time for the attorney general's office to hand down its approval or disapproval of the proposed charter.

The commission last week zipped through nearly all of the remaining portions of the charter that had not yet been reviewed. Only minor review is expected to take up the commission's time tonight, and Evans said he is confident that the meeting will mark the formal close of the commission.

Meanwhile, plans are in the making for a public forum on the proposed charter under the sponsorship of the Novi Jaycees. Details have not yet been decided.

Cards Cost More Now

Christmas cards weighing one ounce or less must carry six cents postage - whether they are sealed or unsealed.

That's the reminder from area postal officials as they brace for the annual flood of Christmas mail.

In previous years unsealed cards without a written message (only the signature of the sender) could be sent for one cent less than first class postage.

However, new postage rate legislation, which went into effect last January, raised the single rate-third class postage to six cents for the first two ounces.

One advantage of the higher cost mail, officials noted, is that all greeting cards bearing six cents postage which are undeliverable as addressed will be forwarded if a new address is available.

125 Display Helping Hands

To date 125 Helping Hand cards have been distributed to Northville-area mothers to display in their windows, but many more are available from the Northville Jaycees, local sponsors of the project.

The workless symbol of the upturned blue hand signifies to school children that immediate help is available within if they are lost, injured or threatened.

The Jaycees would like mothers in new subdivisions to display the sign if they will be home during the hours children depart and return. They also ask that children be reminded of the meaning of the sign.

Applications to become a "Helping Hand" mother (or grandmother or friend) are available from Mrs. Peter Lindholm, 349-1596.

Kings Mill

Posters are going up all over Northville inviting the community to the Kings Mill Woman's Club bazaar which will be held from 1 to 8 p.m. Saturday, November 30, in the main lounge of the townhouses.

This is the club's first community civic project. Mrs. Harry Odle, general chairman, and her members have been holding workshop sessions to prepare for the bazaar. Of special interest is a candlestick-holder project under the direction of Mrs. Robert Endres.

The bazaar also will have a white elephant booth headed by Mrs. Bea Armstrong, and Mrs. Ralph Elliott. Coffee will be served.

3-Room Wixom School For Handicapped Opens

A three-room facility for mentally handicapped youngsters was scheduled to open in Wixom Tuesday. Situated on the site of the new Loon Lake Elementary School, the three room facility will be used for the training of up to 45 handicapped children.

Under the direction of the Loon Lake principal, Bruce Moody, it employs Mrs. Georgia L. Duncan, Mrs. Madge Davidson and Miss Joan Bunce as teachers.

According to Moody, the facility will be called Twin Suns. Loon Lake school itself was only recently opened. It was originally slated to open with the start of the school year in September but delays in construction caused postponement of the opening until October 15.

A total of 542 youngsters attend Loon Lake.

Champale. Celebrate nothing with it.

It isn't often you get a chance like this. You see, Champale® looks, tastes and sparkles like champagne. The proper way to serve it is well-chilled in a champagne glass. That brings out its sparkle, flavor and bouquet.

FOOTBALL CONTEST

Enter Today! You May Be A Winner!

HERE ARE THE RULES

$10 First Prize
$5 Second Prize
$3 Third Prize
EACH WEEK!

Take a plain piece of paper and number down the left hand side from 1 to 16.

You will notice that each square below is also numbered from 1 to 16 and each contains a football game to be staged this weekend. To complete your entry you must do the following:

- (1) after each number on your paper write the name of the sponsor of the corresponding square.
- (2) following the sponsor's name - write the name of the winning team.
- (3) in addition you must pick a score on the outcome of the game in square 16. This will be used in the case of a tie and then the contestant whose score is closest to the actual score will be declared the winner.

Be sure to write your name, address and phone number plainly on your piece of paper (your entry).

Enter just once a week, but may enter as many weeks as you wish. In case of tie, prize money will be split.

Copies of the contest will be posted at the Northville Record office each week.

Entries should be addressed "Football Contest" and must be postmarked or brought to our office no later than 5 p.m. each Friday.

Employees of The Northville Record-Nowi News or sponsoring merchants are not eligible.

Retarded To Display Art Work

Eric Hoffer, the philosopher of the California waterfront, has pointed out that creative expression is not necessarily a function of intelligence, that even the mentally retarded can produce striking art work.

Residents of Livonia and vicinity will have an opportunity to see art work created by a group of mentally retarded children at the Plymouth State Home and Training School at an exhibit which will be on display at the Livonia Mall, Middlebelt and Seven Mile Road from November 21 through November 30.

Featured will be water colors, crayon drawings, mosaics, ceramics, and string collages.

The Plymouth State Home and Training School is one of Michigan's newest facilities for the mentally retarded. Located in Western Wayne County, it has a bed capacity of 1295. Special programs are conducted for the blind, retarded and the physically handicapped requiring intensive habilitation work in addition to ongoing programs of education and training.

MEL ANDERSON - THE CLOCK MAN

Business Is Ticking Trucking Company Manager Carries Part-Time Hobby

The alternating ticking sounds of many old clocks - grandfather clocks, wag-on-the-wall clocks, mantel clocks and a little grandmother clock - are the welcome that visitors receive at 310 West Dunlap, home of Mel Anderson and his family.

Mel Anderson, known throughout the Midwest in antique circles as "The Clock Man," is one of nine Northville antique dealers.

The Anderson family moved to the large white house on Dunlap Street from Farmington last June. With them came about 200 clocks, in addition to their household furniture.

The clocks, which fill a basement workshop and decorate the living rooms, mostly are imported from Europe by Anderson, who repairs and sells old clocks. With the assistance of artistic Mrs. Anderson, who refurbishes the clock faces, Anderson puts the clocks in running order and repairs the cases.

They both stress that this is "just a hobby" with his full-time job as general manager for Eastern Michigan operations of Henry Vroom trucking company coming first.

Entering the Anderson front door, there is a fine, old grandfather clock ticking quietly in the entry room. In the adjacent den are three more, one with the desirable brass sun-moon dial, awaiting restoration.

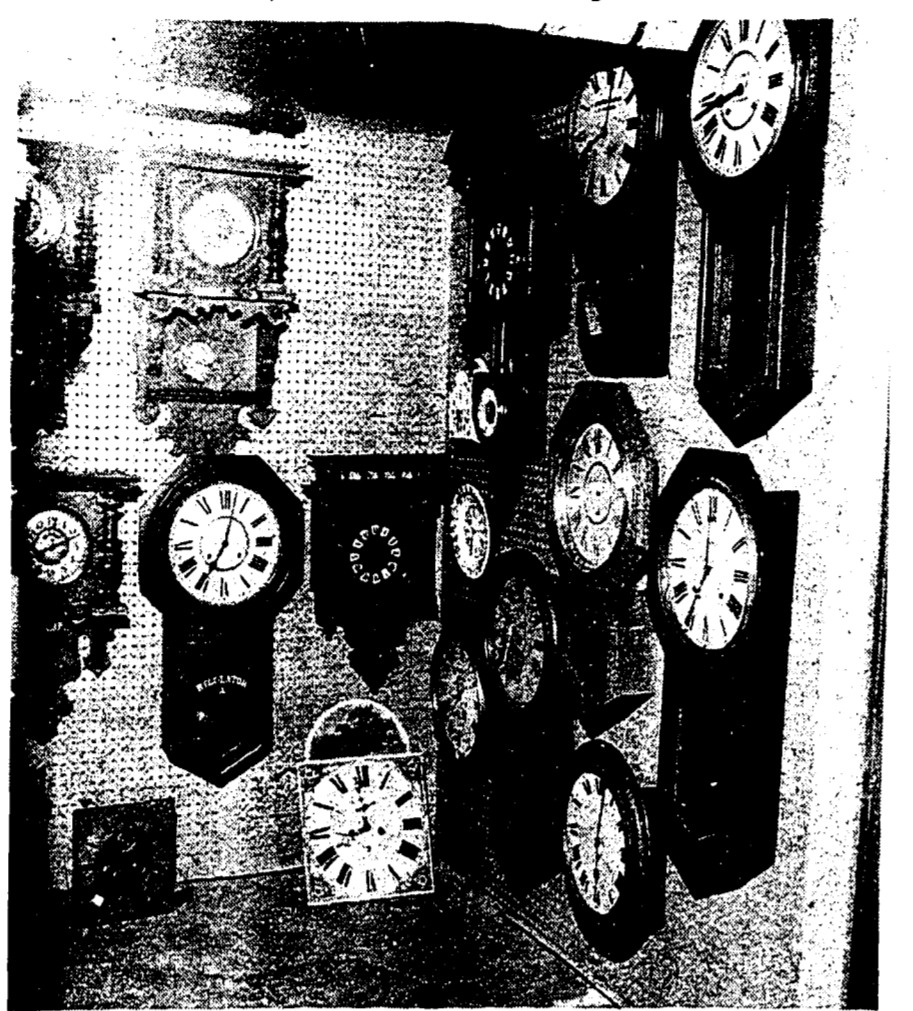

On the first stairway landing hangs a large French clock, its brass face and pendulum having been removed from a case and used as a decorative wall ornament. In the living room is the rare little grandmother's clock, the smaller type of clock known as "tall case clocks."

How did the Andersons begin to acquire their clock collection? Mrs. Anderson answers, "Well, Mel had his hand up at an auction and found he had a clock - in pieces."

Primarily they sell their clocks through antique-loving people seeking them out. They take booths in "two or three shows a year, usually at the big Armory shows." They participated in the Detroit Goodwill show in 1966 and 1967.

In addition to providing more storage room for clocks, the Andersons move to Northville provided more room for their sons, Dan, 16, and Andy, 5. They also have a son, Norman, 18, stationed with the Navy in San Diego.

Municipal Court

Municipal Court Judge Philip Ogilvie heard relatively few cases last week.

David D. Smith of 42640 Eight Mile in Novi appeared on the 13th on a charge of failure to present a pistol for safety inspection. While appearing on this charge, Smith also was fined for a March 3 offense at which time he had been stopped by Northville police and found to have had no registration on his person.

Novi School Policies Coming

Novi school board members face review and adoption of up to 100 school policies it was learned last week.

Presenting a purchasing policy to the board for its consideration, Superintendent Thomas Dale advised the board that it was the first of perhaps 100 that he would present to it over the next several months.

The policies - some new, some revisions of existing policies - represent another concentrated effort by the district to meet requirements for accreditation of its secondary school system.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Northville's chief probation officer, Dennis Dildy, has submitted his resignation effective January 1 when the new district court under Judge Dunbar Davis is slated to replace the present municipal court system.

There's a thought that probation departments, such as established in Northville by Judge Philip Ogilvie, will be continued and expanded under the district set-up to cover the Northville, Plymouth, Canton area.

One suggestion has been to maintain local departments within the individual communities, staffed by volunteers in each community, but directed by a single chief probation officer.

If such a plan is adopted, we cast our vote for Dildy to head up the operation. He's proven that it is a field for which he is well qualified. Further, he has devoted many more hours than any "part-time" assignment deserves, simply because he truly believes that young, first-time offenders can be helped through the efforts of an energetic, volunteer probation department.

Got any old card tables, extension cords or sheets?

According to George Whitesell, president of Northville's popular club for teens - The Cavern - that's just what the club needs for its remodeling project.

The sheets will be dyed and used for tablecloths. The card tables will be under the tablecloths and give non-dancers a place to sit and talk.

And the extension cords? They're needed so that refreshment vending machines can be moved to one end of The Cavern club room.

Just call George at 349-4834 and he'll see that the donated items are picked up.

The National Consumer Finance Association, apparently interested in providing finance companies with an example of how NOT to operate their businesses, is given credit for supplying this letter that was reportedly written by a finance company manager to his home office.

Dear Boss:

I think I'd better send you a report about our branch office No. 37, which has a customer named Sam who seems to have been on the books since the year one.

His record at the credit bureau and the exchange shows that he is constantly living beyond his means and having to borrow from Peter to pay Paul. Our manager reports he hasn't had a payment on the principal since 1960, when Sam paid his interest and $2.

Since then he has been paying "interest only" except that he has had to borrow a little more each year just to pay the interest.

In 1961 he needed $350 more; in 1962 it was $740; in 1963, $470; in 1964, $600; in 1965 he had a good year but still had to add $110 to his principal debt; and he added $370 in 1966.

In 1967, however, he had to borrow $880 more and it looks like he'll need to borrow nearly $2,000 more in 1968.

Now here's my question, boss. Do you think we ought to tighten up on his credit a little?

Anxiously yours, Joe Manager

Before you start calling "Joe Manager" some kind of a nut for extending so much credit to "Sam" realize that Sam's first name is "Uncle" and just add seven zeros to all the figures in the letter and you have an account of the Federal Government's credit record.

(If you're not doing a better job at home, we're in trouble! Winter taxes go out December 1 and our schools need the money).

NOTE - For our pre-Halloween cover page we chose a picture of Reporter Ernest Brown's son, Charlie, nestled inside a giant pumpkin that we thought was the Great Pumpkin that Charlie Brown of the famous comic strip had been searching for. Not only does Ernie's Charlie have the same name of the Peanuts comic strip character, but his wife's maiden name was Schultz - just a letter different than the cartoonist's own name.

Readers Speak Hospital Suggests Gift Possibilities

To the Editor: Each year at this season we receive requests from people interested in remembering our patients here at Northville State Hospital. Relatives, of course, assume the major responsibility of remembering our patients. There are a limited number, however, without relatives or friends. If you or your group wish to receive suggestions about gifts for specific patients, please let us know.

Police Enforce Varied Laws

To the Editor: In reading November 7 issue of the Novi News, I notice the article on the Novi Justice Court. This article related that our police force is becoming more efficient. They are really putting the crack down on the many law violators. In your article the violations range from defective exhaust systems to a truck having an uncovered load. I think this proves that our police force is looking for more than just speeding violations. I think they know their business and do it in a knowing and learning way.

TV's success, so to speak, is built in. There's nothing like seeing things happen as they happen. And no amount of writing, no newspaper or magazine coverage, can duplicate what TV can produce just because it is TV.

No great programming is involved. No masterful techniques or originality. It just happens to be a simple fact that TV is or is not on the spot - where the action is.

Sports, of course, is the biggest producer of instant TV action. Take Ron Johnson's unprecedented showing - unprecedented for TV and the game - against Wisconsin last Saturday.

The U of M halfback, looking like a phantom from the past in muddied clothes and helmet, galloped almost at will for five touchdowns and 347 yards. Millions of midwest viewers got in on the action.

It was a television freak, an accident. No one would have predicted, by any stretch of the imagination, that Johnson would take history on his shoulders and toss it around like a malevolent Atlas. Let's face it, the prospects for a good game were mighty slim when the decision was made to cover the Michigan-Wisconsin game.

Wisconsin hadn't won a game since Alan Ameche handed in his shoulder pads, or so it seemed. Michigan, on the other hand, was riding high with a 6-1 record and rolling toward a showdown battle with Ohio State.

Yet, even this fact hardly promised a good show. The Ohio State-Iowa game would have been a better bet to produce electrifying results. After all, Iowa had the most explosive offense in the Big Ten and Ohio State was ranked number two in the nation.

But there was ABC, camera and all on a dreary day in Ann Arbor capturing the exploits of hitherto little known - outside the midwest - Ron Johnson. And surprisingly, Wisconsin made a game of it for one half and led 9-7. Then the Johnson storm broke.

So it goes with television. The most memorable accident ever pumped through the tube came that tragic weekend in 1963 following the Kennedy assassination. As television cameras followed Lee Harvey Oswald through the Dallas jail corridor, a man jumped out of the crowd and gunned down the alleged assassin. Disbelief.

Another memorable accident occurred in August. The nation was tuned in for an important address from the President. The networks knew that there would be a dramatic decision on Vietnam, but who would have guessed that LBJ would announce he wouldn't run?

TV was lucky. Only by chance did they get in on the action. It works the other way, too. Chance can bypass the tube. Take, for instance, NBC's goof Sunday. New York was leading Oakland, 32-29, with just 65 seconds left in the game when NBC, because of prior commitments, switched to the special two-hour program, "Heidi." Within those last few seconds, Oakland exploded for two touchdowns and walked off - unseen - with a 43-32 victory.

NBC won't hear the last of the complaints for a long time to come. And although it won't make football fans any happier, it won't be the last time that chance plays a heavy hand in television programming.

I've never lived in a house that has studs on 16-inch centers. For some diabolical reason, the builders have always erected the walls in a hop-skip-and-jump fashion that defies reasonable calculation. I am possibly the only guy around who has driven 102 nails into a single wall without once hitting a solid two-by-four. Forked stick deviners working the Sahara Desert have better luck. The closest I've ever come to hitting something solid was the time I impaled a 220-volt line to a water pipe. I knew it was solid the minute the claws on the hammer melted. I once helped former Northville Rod Dahlager build a house over on Grace Street. That the house stands lends credence to the words, "dumb luck". Rod told me after the house was up that if it ever fell down he'd sell the nails for scrap iron and come out even. I'd hammered so many nails into the wall there wasn't room for mite, he insisted. My wife says I'd have better luck hitting a two-by-four tossing darts at the wall... blindfolded. She may be right but I prefer to think that someday, somewhere I'll hit one of those illusive studs and forever put to sleep a suspicion that walls can be built without ribs. Meanwhile, the pictures in our house will hang until the drywall crumbles and the wainscot will stay up until some fool removes the wall plugs.

A half-dozen years ago I tried paneling a hallway and kitchen in a house at South Lyon. After nailing up a storm of nasty words I threw away the hammer and bought a pot of Sure-Stick paneling glue. I wished later I'd stuck to the nails. At least they were consistently useless. The glue stuck to everything but the walls. We had to chisel the kids from the family room floor. After holding an eight-foot slab of paneling to the hallway wall with my feet until it stuck I gave up in despair. With the dexterity of a woodworking genius I cut the handle off my wife's broom, and wedged it between the paneling and the opposite, unpaneled wall. I was cutting the next slab of paneling, mumbling self-praise over my ability to cope with the problem when my wife's scream curdled my blood. The broom handle had punched through the unpaneled wall (missing the stud, of course) and was now smutting at her beneath a picture of her mother in the next room. She refused to let me remove it until she'd called in the neighbor to admire my handiwork. I burned the broom handle in the fireplace, using the glue as a starter, and then called in a carpenter. When his first nail hit a stud I insisted he let me pull it out and drive another in the same hole. Today there's a carpenter in South Lyon who circulates a malicious story about a guy who missed a nail and got his hammer stuck in a quarter-inch piece of walnut.

Michigan Mirror State Utility Watchdogs Tough But 'Peanut' Size

LANSING - Government watchdogs in Lansing are supposed to see to it that the electric, gas and telephone companies don't gyp their customers.

That's the job of the Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC), the agency which screens public utility requests for rate increases.

Sees Nixon as Strong, But Delegating Executive

WELLESLEY HILLS, Massachusetts. - Past performance-especially during the recent campaign-indicates that President-elect Nixon will be a strong executive in the sense that he will resist to himself the big policy decisions... delegating the routine, administrative duties of his office.

Nixon's pre-election stance was meticulously planned. He foresaw the difficulty of topping the Democratic candidate in the East...especially in the populous cities. Hence he set out to woo the Southern conservatives, the basically Republican Midwest, and the disenchanted middle-of-the-roads and liberals in the Far West. But this pre-election stance should not be interpreted to mean that the President-elect is unaware of, or unsympathetic to, the needs of minorities, the plight of the cities, or the legitimate aspirations of the nation's youth.

But, as he enters the White House, the fires of inflation will still be burning brightly; a thousand-and-one special interests will be clamoring for increased, not decreased, federal spending; and the states, while giving thorough consideration, including a public hearing," said Knight D. McKesson, commission secretary. "The ratepayer's posture is always on the commission's mind."

Some utilities file requests for immediate fee increases, with the stipulation they will roll them back if the commission rejects the petition.

Each petition is given lip service to states' rights, will step up their demands upon Uncle Sam. THE NEW Occupant of the White House must also come to terms with the gathering urban crisis if he is to achieve the type of national unity that he will need to govern effectively. Racial tensions, economic deprivation, educational deficiencies, chronic unemployment, disorder, lawlessness, and voter apathy-all part and parcel of this festering sore termed "urban crisis."

Nixon's prescription for these ills will not be bigger federal programs. He has already indicated he will take a hard look at federal programs with the idea of making them more efficient and less costly. His big asset will be an all-out effort toward greater involvement of the private sector of the economy in the financing of badly needed big-city development.

But under the law, "partial and immediate" rate relief can be granted only on solid evidence of need, notice to ratepayers and an opportunity for full and complete public hearings.

As state agencies go, the MPSC is peanuts. Before transfer of 89 truck weight regulation workers from the highway department, it employed only 97 of the nearly 44,000 on the state payroll.

The commission's size hasn't changed appreciably in 10 years, and repeated requests for more manpower are routinely rejected in the legislature. Utility lobbyists seldom weep about this.

The commission's chairman, Peter Spivak, a Republican Detroit attorney, draws $20,500. Commissioners Willis Ward of Detroit, a Republican, and William Boss, Jr., of Bay City, a Democrat, each get $19,000.

REAL WATCHDOG unit within the commission, the public utilities division - or "staff" as it is known in rate cases - consists of 27 persons.

These include six accountants, two economists, 11 engineers, and engineering technicians and seven administrative and clerical personnel.

This handful monitors 30 electric utilities counting coops, 11 gas companies, 72 telephone companies, 15 private water companies and, in a limited way, 26 gas pipeline firms. The staff runs a continuous rotating check on the value of utility assets - generators, utility poles, switchboards and pipe lines.

IN A RATE CASE, the value of plant and property used to provide service is a crucial concept. Reasonable returns to investors is figured on a percentage of plant investment. After the petitioning utility finishes its testimony, the MPSC staff develops an entire case on its own. In 1960 when the MPSC granted its last general rate increase to Michigan Bell Telephone Co. of $4 million, the staff recommended a rate reduction of $4.1 million, and was backed by one commissioner, the late James Lee, a former assistant Detroit Corp. counsel.

WHERE DOES JOHN Q. Ratepayer figure in MPSC proceedings?

He can write the commission a letter or postcard, attend a public hearing in person and give his views, or join with others in submitting a petition.

As one out of 2 1/2 million, his impact is likely to be slight. Rate cases are highly complicated and specialists are almost a necessity. It is not enough merely to say "I don't want to pay more."

ONLY A BIG city with experienced attorneys, engineers and accountants experienced in rate-making concepts has the know how and financing to conduct a skillful intervention.

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, who has a staff assistant assigned to the MPSC, can intervene in any rate petition case on behalf of Michigan ratepayers.

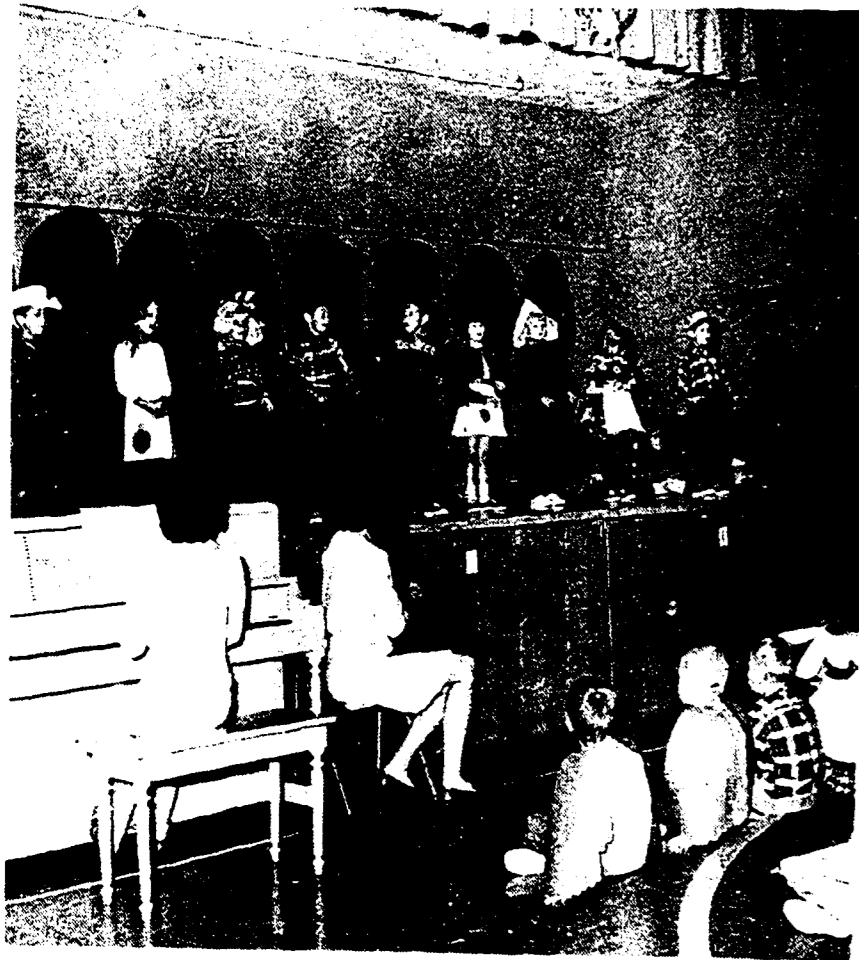

The state government directly pays tens of millions of dollars annually in telephone, electric and gas bills, and thus is a leading customer of the major utilities.

And, the state government is comprised of the people.

The seats, upholstered and removed from the wandering school bus that earlier this year when on a driverless trip down the high school drive crashed into the concrete home on Center Street opposite the school.

Impact of the collision with the house, now repaired, split the bus seams and rendered it useless so the school system sold it—but not before Busard had the seats stripped from the interior.

School Board Member Hurt Four Injured in Novi Accidents

Four persons, including a Novi School Board member, were injured in four accidents last week in Novi.

Laverne DeWard of 72871 Gilbar, the school board member, was taken by General Ambulance to Botsford Hospital on the request of Dr. Lyle Fetting following an accident on I-96 near Novi Road.

Dennis O'Keefe of Farmington apparently ran into the rear of DeWard's car after O'Keefe pulled onto the freeway from the Novi ramp, Police said. DeWard, recuperating from a back operation, complained of a temporary paralysis of his back which prompted Dr. Fetting's request, police said.

Novi Justice Court

Arlen H. Cline of Westland paid $25 fine and $10 costs on a disorderly conduct charge growing out of a Novi Justice Court sentence in July.

Four persons were fined Friday, November 8. Soley Banks Jr. of 47375 Grand River appeared for failure to have his vehicle under control involving a property damage accident at Twelve Mile and Beck and paid a $15 fine and $10 costs following his plea of guilty.

Pleading guilty to speeding 70 MPH in a 55 MPH zone on Grand River west of Beck Road cost Thomas Butner of 29738 South Milford, New Hudson a fine of $20.

A plea of guilty to having had no operator's license on his person on July 10, 1966, cost Charles E. Jones of Flint $20.

Ten dollars was assessed of John M. Riordan III of 43100 Eleven Mile Road when he entered a plea of guilty to failure to stop for an unsigned intersection (Eleven Mile at Grand River).

A jury trial highlighted the cases heard before Justice Emery Jacques Thursday.

Charles E. Klocke of 45601 Nine Mile Road was found guilty of three counts, resisting an officer (following his arrest for the other two offenses), reckless driving and hit and run. The offenses occurred on June 2 when he crossed the center line on Novi Road and struck the southbound car of Charles N. Barber of Plymouth who testified against him at the trial. Also testifying against Klocke was Officer Ronald J. Arbour, who said he was required to use force to arrest the man.

Klocke was fined $50 on each count, with $15 costs on each as well as a 15-day sentence in case any was not paid, for a total fine of $195 or 45 days in jail.

Two youths were fined for malicious destruction of property in connection with their having thrown firecrackers in mailboxes and destroying these boxes.

Robert J. Collins Jr. of 41771 Aspen Drive and Christian C. Bowman III of 23058 Gilbar each paid a $35 fine and $15 costs in lieu of five days in jail following their pleas of guilty. There may be further disposition of the case under federal statutes dealing with

Church Services Tonight Usher in Thanksgiving

Two union Thanksgiving worship services, one involving both Catholics and Protestants, are among those scheduled by area churches as they give thanks for the blessings of God.

In Northville, the traditional Thanksgiving service of Methodists and Presbyterians will be held at the First United Methodist Church tonight (Wednesday) beginning at 8 p.m.

Rev. Timothy C. Johnson, assistant Presbyterian minister, will deliver the sermon, while Methodist Minister G. C. Brantsner will conduct the worship service. The Methodist Senior choir will sing. Rev. Lloyd Brasure of the Presbyterian Church also delivered his sermon on a Thanksgiving theme Sunday and the Youth Bell Ringers provided music.

The Rev. David Strang, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany of Northville, has announced that members of his congregation will take part with both Catholics and Protestants in an ecumenical service at the St. John's Episcopal Church of Plymouth tonight at 7 p.m.

Presenting the Thanksgiving music will accompany the evening service. The regular Thursday night service will be held at Calvary Missionary Baptist church beginning at 7 p.m., according to Pastor J. L. Fartin.

de Paul Society to help the poor and needy of the parish will be held as well as a clothing collection for overseas. Fr. Wittstock adds that children marched around the church Sunday with their homemade placards to emphasize thanking God on Thanksgiving day.

While mother's Thanksgiving turkey is roasting at home, the junior and senior high youth groups of Willowbrook Community United Methodist church will present an 8:30 a.m. Thanksgiving breakfast at the church. Besides sponsoring the breakfast, according to the Rev. A. V.

Morris, pastor, the youth also will conduct a short worship service following the meal. Younger churchgoers got into the picture Sunday, according to Rev. Morris, as the Juniors choral group (4th through 6th graders) sang at morning worship and the primary boys and girls prepared a Thanksgiving basket.

A Thanksgiving harvest supper, followed by a Thanksgiving praise and prayer service is planned tonight at the First Baptist church of Wixom beginning at 6:30 p.m., says the Rev. Continued on Page 16-A

City Charter Election Slated for February 18

Six months of work came to a close Thursday night when the Novi City Charter Commission wrapped up the proposed charter, deciding to put it up to the voters on Tuesday, February 18 - final step in establishment of the city.

Signing of the proposed charter was delayed until Monday so that all nine commissioners could be present. It is to be sent immediately to Lansing for state approval prior to the election.

Registered village electors, who last May voted 694-498 to incorporate the village as a city, must now approve or disapprove the charter that is to guide the new city.

Although writing of the document sparked extensive debates and arguments among commission members during the six months, commissioners were in accord in giving the entire document their stamp of approval.

Major decisions that prompted considerable debate included: —Establishment of a city manager type of government as opposed to suggestions that Novi adopt the strong mayor concept.

—Election of council and mayor at large rather than adoption of a suggestion that at least some council members be elected by districts or wards.

—Election of a mayor to two-year terms by the people rather than having the council elect the mayor from the council as is now the practice in the village. The elected mayor is to be considered part of the seven member council and hold no veto powers.

—Elimination of the position of public safety director except as may be provided by ordinance, and in this event such director is to report directly to the city manager, who is to have hiring and firing powers over the police and fire chiefs after consultation with the council.

—Establishment of a maximum charter limitation of 6 1/2 mills for general operation of the new city (presently, the village limitation is 5 mills), plus charter provision that the council may levy up to 1 mill for exclusive operation of the public library (presently the township operates the library with a voted 1/2 mill). Boundaries of the proposed new city encompass all of the village - but not Novi property that lies within the Township of Novi but not within the village. Part of Brookland Farms subdivision and several pieces of farmland along the northern and southern boundaries of Novi are examples of the latter.

If the charter is approved and the city becomes a reality, these small township areas would be locked out of the new city. They contain an estimated 90 residents.

These township properties either did not vote to come into the Village of Novi at the time of incorporation or they sought and won disincorporation from the village since incorporation.

If the charter is approved and the city becomes a reality, these small township areas would be locked out of the new city. They contain an estimated 90 residents.

widely separated township areas would face the next to impossible task of governing themselves, providing their own police and fire protection, assessing their own taxes, etc.

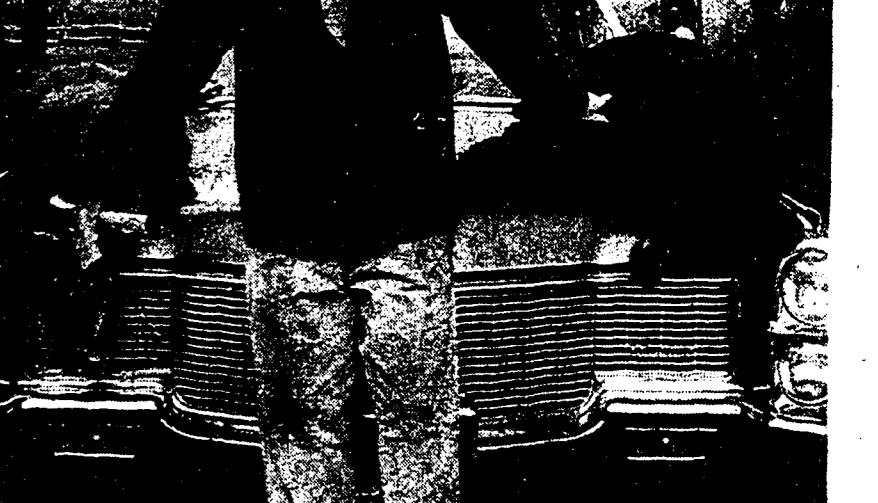

Some attorneys have commented that these sections may be either forced to join the new city or one of the adjoining municipalities.

At any rate, with incorporation none of the present township officials would be able to continue in office since none of them live on the property in these isolated township areas. In addition to voting on the charter itself, voters at the same time will be choosing the first city council and mayor. For the first term, the three council candidates receiving the greatest number of votes will serve until March of 1972. The first elected mayor and the three other council candidates with the next highest number of votes would serve until March of 1970. Thereafter, all councilmen would be elected to four year terms, the mayor for two years.

Nominating petitions for election to these posts are expected to be available in the near future.

Members of the charter commission who have now concluded their work are Chairman Raymond Evans, Denis Berry, William Brinker, Russell Button, Fred Buck, Joseph Crupi, William Duey, David Harrison, and Edwin Presnell.

SUCCESSFUL TRIP - Gale Stowell of 44480 Grand River returned Sunday night from a doubly successful hunting trip in the Upper Peninsula. He shot both the 200-pound bear and the doe while on an 11-day jaunt with the Ellsworth McNutt party at Mass, near Ontonagon.

Cruelty Case Ends in Jail

One Novi case was completed and two others are scheduled to come up in early December in Oakland County Circuit Court.

William J. Daugherty received a sentence from Circuit Judge William J. Beer last Wednesday on a child cruelty case which began March 17, 1967 when he was arrested for beating his stepdaughter.

Pleading guilty to the reduced charge of attempted child cruelty, Daugherty was given a near maximum sentence of one year, 11 months to two years in Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson. Daugherty will receive credit for time served awaiting trial.

Justice of Peace Emery Jacques completed the preliminary examination of Gerald Weaver who was initially charged with involuntary manslaughter in the automobile death of Marcella Elsie Hatfield in September on Thursday.

Weaver was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court on the lesser charge of negligent homicide and will appear before Judge Arthur E. Moore on December 5 on that charge.

In the kidnapping and assault case of Novi Police Officer Robert Starnes last July, hearing before Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer was postponed to next Tuesday.

The three South Lyon youths charged in the case, Giles Carl Askins, 19, Floyd Kirkendall and William J. Jobe, both 17, will appear at that time.

Plan New Building For Old Church

At a special congregational meeting Sunday night Northville First Presbyterian Church congregation voted by 99 to 29 to proceed with architectural plans for a new sanctuary which will accommodate 400 worshippers, and to make financial plans.

The new plan was submitted to the Northville Planning Commission last week for site and plan approval. The board ruled on a technicality that it does not comply with parking requirements but suggested it be taken to the board of appeals where it will recommend a variance. It is expected the hearing will be next month.

Reverend Brasure added that the church has written permission from the A&P store and from John Carlo to use adjacent lots, when businesses are closed, that provide 70 additional parking places.

The new sanctuary plan retains the center aisle of the church, provides additional room in the choir area, space for coats in the narthex as well as a pastor's and a general office in the new narthex.

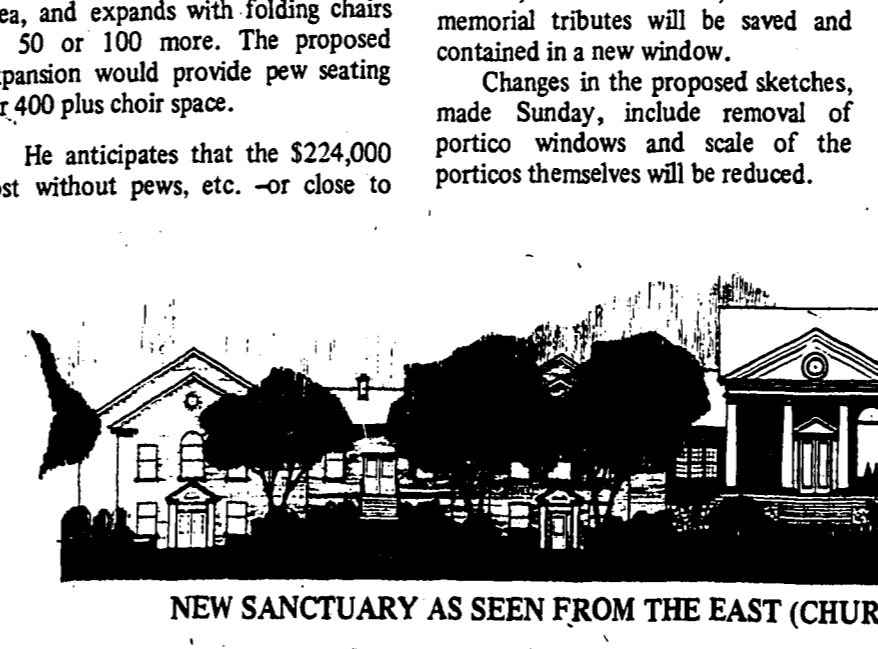

While the church dates from 1849, it is pointed out that the only portion of the original structure still standing is the wall behind the reredos and a 10-15 foot section of the east wall.

Major additions in 1913 and 1922 widened the building and included the present front porch and wood columns. The organ and balcony were added in 1922, the fellowship hall in 1930, the concrete flooring and basement of the sanctuary in 1954 and the Christian education building in 1964. The mortgage for the latter was retired in the spring of this year.

The present leaded glass windows do leak, the minister said, so that the memorial tributes will be saved and contained in a new window.

Changes in the proposed sketches, made Sunday, include removal of portico windows and sale of the porticos themselves will be reduced.

He anticipates that the $224,000 cost without pews, etc. - or close to
