For Oakland Supervisors Homeowners Weigh Salary Questions .

"The directors of Oakland County Homeowners & Taxpayers Association believe the public should see both sides of the question of part-time versus full-time jobs for county supervisors." George H. Williams, chairman of the affairs out of the hands of a few special group's county committee, has interest groups and officials by paying declared.

"There is no evil in full-time jobs for the new board," he said, "provided the extra money paid out in salaries is returned to taxpayers in lowered taxes and more representative programs.

"In the past," he continued, "the Williams said. part-time supervisor was reimbursed only for meetings attended, and not for was to vote on. Under this system, an establishment was created by a handful of men who had sufficient motives and enough personal income to devote free time to county affairs. The rest of the board members were expected, and even advised. to vote with the committees who had studied the problems involved.' The board became, in effect, a rubber stamp for the decisions made by the handful of men in the Establishment."

The taxpayer organization believes that a full-time, or fully reimbursed, board could conceivably keep county each supervisor for the time he spends working for the people.

"This would bring more citizen representation to Oakland County government, which could do nothing but improve the taxpayers' lot,

The suggestion that a citizens group should determine the question of time spent researching the programs he pay is an acceptable way to resolve the problem, according to Williams. "More citizen involvement is needed in county government." he said, "and having a citizens panel determine this matter is an excellent start.

Disposal Plant Start Seen Here in June

Unless Wayne County should suddenly change its mind and sell the Rouge sewer interceptor, construction of a $1 million "temporary" sewage disposal plant will get underway by June, Oakland County DPW Chief R. J. Alexander revealed this week.

"We have no other choice," Alexander told this newspaper. "We don't dare wait any longer."

Two months ago the Wayne County Board of Public Works axed a proposal that would have granted Oakland County an additional 16 CFS interceptor, thus allowing extension the sewer from 10 Mile Road into Walled Lake. Such an extension would eliminate the need for the disposal

The extension would service properties along the way, homes in the Walled Lake section of Novi and the entire City of Walled Lake. Plans for construction and financing of $3.5 million dollars worth of lateral sewer lines in the Walled Lake area are

Without the interceptor extension, plans call for these laterals to feed into the proposed disposal plant. Sewage, passing through the plant's purification system, would then empty into the Rouge stream that flows south through Novi and Northville.

The $1 million plant would be temporary in the sense that within 10 or more years another interceptor from the east in Oakland county probably will have been built, thus eliminating the need to continue its operation. Wayne County's refusal to sell additional capacity stemmed from strong objections by member Wayne

A 34-year-old native of Racine, Wisconsin has assumed the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Northville.

The Reverend Cedric Whitcomb the post formerly held by the Reverend Robert Spradling, who left in September to take the pastorate of the Bible Center Church in Charleston, West Virginia.

Married with two young children, Rev. Whitcomb (he pronounces his first name Ked-rick) comes to Northville from Covington, Kentucky where he was the assistant pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church since 1963.

Prior to taking the post at Covington, Rev. Whitcomb was associated with Youth for Christ International for seven years. He was a rally and club director in Racine and Charleston, West Virginia. While in Charleston he began an on-the-street program with gangs of delinquent teenage boys. The program branched out into week-night clubs and summer camps for boys who had been in trouble with the law. The program gained recognition of court authorities in the area.

Rev. Whitcomb has spoken to hundreds of teenagers in churches. vouth rallies, banquets and summer camps annually. In addition to this busy schedule, he found time to regularly write Sunday School lessons and articles for the youth division of Baptist Publications in Denver, Colorado.

He attended the University of Wisconsin for a year and received his AB degree from Bob Jones University of Greenville, South Carolina, with a major in Bible study. He also has done graduate work at the University of Cincinnati.

He and Mrs. Whitcomb, also native of Wisconsin, were married in 1960. They have two children. Sheri Lynn, 4, and Lane, 1. They moved to the Baptist parsonage at 209 Wing Street last week.

Concerning youth, Rev. Whitcomb contends problems of youth are over-emphasized, that "the minority of teens in trouble have captured the headlines and cast a blight on teens who are living clean lives and trying to do what's right."

proposed curriculum. Board members asked for the postponement so that they can study costs involved in the proposed curriculum, which according to the administration, was designed especially for a sixth grade occupying a building separate from either elementary or junior high schools.

(There was little doubt, however that the board is in accord that the old building, now housing administrative offices, definitely will be used for classrooms next fall. It is considering now where to move the administrative offices. One consideration is the chool-owned community building now used by the Cavern Teen Club).

Specifically, members such a Trustee Eugene Cook, questioned the advisability of the proposed curriculum that, in some respects, is educationally richer than in the junior high school.

It's a very ambitious program. similar to the 'program of excellence that the board backed during last year's millage elections, he said, "but I'm not sure the people of the district are interested in a program of excellence." Cook's repeated question was, 'Can we afford it?"

According to Superintenden Raymond Spear, cost for a minimal educational program for the sixth grade in the old building, would approximate $42,000. However, he argued that since the sixth grade will be separated from educational benefits of facilities in the new junior high, that a special program for the sixth grade be provided. Based upon the curriculum recommendations of Curriculum Coordinator Miss lorence Panattoni, he said the total cost would be nearer $58,000.

Among specific expenditures under question are proposed purchases of some two-dozen typewriters, 60 student carrels, and outdoor cooking

Subject proposals include umanities, science-math to include a laboratory, physical education, a student-interest program, group counseling and individualized study as requirements. Proposed for electives are foreign language, typing, shop, home economics, and reading accelerated and remedial).

All subjects, according to Miss Panattoni would be for both girls and boys - including an outdoor cooking class, which she defended as being both practical and sensible in today's society

During the ensuing discussion, involving both the board and audience over 'cost-versus-public-willingnessto-pay' Miss Panattoni emphasized that the proposed curriculum stresses independent study by students. And, added Spear, training students to think independently is a vitally important educational aspect too often nelected

When asked by a citizen what provisions in the program were made for a library, the curriculum coordinator indicated that no physical library is envisioned but that utilization of books in other school libraries, the Wayne County Library, and the local

A good possibility existed that the pioneering research desired by the Northville Public Schools would state, and that the state board of become the recipient today of a education is looking for five different $20,000 state grant for year-round studies utilizing the $100,000 fund -School administrators were to

The state legislature last year provided $100,000 for year-round research, with a maximum grant provision of $20,000 for any one school district. No grants have been made as yet, according to local school

Northville is given a better than even chance of receiving a grant perhaps the maximum – because of its pioneering year-round school study during the past year. Only a handful of other school districts in Michigan have been studying the concept and none

Whatever school or schools the new firm is asked to design, it will be working within the framework of a totally new concept proposed by the board and tentatively approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission

This new procedure, according to local school officials, also would mean that contractors would not know in advance how much money is available for the proposed new school, thus, possibly, leading to lower competitive hidding

Concerning this new concept, the board Monday night received a letter from a top executive of Manufacturers National Bank, commending the school district for its initiative in proposing a plan of "great merit."

A member of the audience. however, cautioned the board to be alert to the possibility of a contractor asking a larger than normal contingency fund to cover possible increased labor costs. The board, he suggested, would best seek bids after settlement of labor contracts.

Papa John Sells Bar-Restaurant

When he first went into business, receiving his license. The hotel, above hotel. Not many know it but he's the restaurant and bar, contained 10

> In 1948, the building was enlarged and the hotel was expanded to 23 rooms in those days, he recalls,

Business boomed, particularly after the advent of horse racing here, but so too did the overhead, he says. Back in '33 when a day's receipt of $4 was commonplace, waitresses worked for $6 a week plus room and board and the cook received $7 a week.

It was 'nickle beer' in 1934, he says, and soup, too, was five cents. And a beer glass then "was fish bowl," he laughs. When he began selling liquor, a shot went for 15-cents.

He can laugh about those early days now, but they were tough ones. He can remember when he didn't have $6 for another one-half keg of beer and friend to keep going.

Mr. and Mrs. Poulos have three children: Stella, who is married and ives in St. Louis with her husband and two children; John, a hotel management graduate of Michigan State University who now works for a finance company in Chicago; and Chris, who lives at home here at 795 Thayer

Although he plans to remain in Northville, with perhaps a vacation next spring in Florida, the 69-year-old has one big wish: "I like see brother," the only living member of his family who at 85, still lives in Dieccopton, Janssen, one of the new owners in business, will manage it. He is married, has three children, and recently moved with his family to 26445 Novi Road. Huntoon is married and has two children.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A couple of court cases pending against the city of Northville involving denials of requests for rezoning to permit construction or expansion of gas station facilities may face delay until someone decides whether or not the city's procedure for considering rezoning requests is proper.

Specifically, the city is being challenged in the courts by Pure Oil for denying rezoning to allow expansion of a station at Main and Wing streets and by Marathon for denying construction of a station at Allen drive and Novi road.

Neither of the rezoning requests reached the council level. And this is why some legal authorities think that the applicants deserve another hearing before having to go to circuit court.

Under present procedure in the city of Northville all rezoning requests go to the council-appointed planning commission.

Planners decide whether or not the request is valid enough to 'be given a public hearing. In the event it is, planners then call the hearing, weigh the evidence as presented and make a recommendation

If the recommendation is to deny the rezoning, the applicant has no recourse except to go to circuit court and challenge the

If the planning commission favors the rezoning, the proposal then goes to the city council for official action - either approval of the rezoning or denial of the planning commission recommendation.

Some council members, as well as attorneys representing clients who have been denied rezoning, question this procedure.

They wonder if the applicant, denied a hearing or refused a favorable recommendation by the planning commission, shouldn't have the right to make an appeal to the elected governing body of the city before being forced into court.

While the council has the right to over-rule a planning commission recommendation for rezoning, it is never given the opportunity to reverse a decision against rezoning.

Unquestionably, this issue should be finally determined There's evidence that at least an informal opinion was rendered by the former city attorney that the state law under which the planning commission is created does not provide for a council appeal.

The opinion should be made official. While councilmembers are not seeking the additional responsibility of hearing such appeals, they recognize that "the buck is suppose to stop at their table". And in this instance it isn't getting passed that far.

Councilman Charles Lapham is urging fellow councilmembers to come to grips with the problem of overnight parking for apartment renters in the business district.

He feels there's a city obligation "because building permits were originally issued to allow buildings to cover 100 per cent of the lot". And with regulations prohibiting overnight parking on streets and certain parking lots, renters are hard-pressed to find places to leave their cars.

Councilman Del Black points out unhappily that some of the apartment renters in the business district are using his private customer lot. While he's sympathetic and understands their problem. he notes that it prevents him from having snow removed from the lot at night and takes away valuable customer parking spots during the Several businesses, experiencing the same problem as Black at his lot behind his shoe store, have leased their private lots to the city for one dollar per year.

Under this arrangement city police have the authority to enforce two-hour parking and also act officially in case of accidents or unlawful acts (speeding, etc.) on land that had previously been private property.

City Manager Frank Ollendorff also points out that the city now provides special parking stickers at the rate of S5 per month. These stickers allow unrestricted parking on the city's three metered Ints

He also notes that the unimproved Main street lot near Wing street is unpatrolled and thereby open to unrestricted parking for business district residents as well as employees of the commercial area.

Councilman Lapham thinks the city should take the lead in opening up parking areas for residents of the business district, as well as employees, along Cady street and through to the Northville Downs parking area.

He doesn't suggest that the city should have to foot the entire bill. Commercial building owners, who would stand to benefit most. should be assessed, he admits.

Manager Ollendorff points out that such a plan for acquisition of parking equal to a ratio of three square feet of parking for every one square foot of retail shopping space in the business district has been recommended by the council-appointed Parking Authority.

Appraisals to determine the cost of acquiring the necessary property are now being made. The legality of assessing the cost against business district property owners is also being studied.

Meanwhile, Mayor A. M. Allen wonders aloud "when are we going to get a little building activity started in the business district to go along with the parking".

And which comes first.....

To the Editor: America was once unpolluted, America was once young. People start innocent. Then an unusual thing happens, all man's prejudices begin to spoil the innocence of youth. These prejudices are displayed in many forms To the Editor: from the "pollock" jokes to the great hate of "niggers". This racism, bigotry - whatever the term - has caused some of Black America to have faith in just her own. A new found faith that caused great pride, change and new hope

The acknowledgement of the many wrongs in America today, not just racism, has caused great dissent in youth, forcing youth to have faith in youth, with only small ties to the older generation. This is why Carl Taylor and Jim Corcoran feel isolated, rejected. They've turned on their own, and they're fools if they didn't expect some rejection. Suppose your neighbor called the police because you were drinking and smoking. But that isn't against the law; you're only hurting yourself. Who are the American tobacco industry and the liquor stores hurting? Themselves?

Suppose I demanded a raid on a VFW bingo party. Wouldn't I be shunted just like your neighbor who doesn't like you drinking and smoking?

How is America's youth supposed to see marahuana, speed, anything, any different? This is an escape just like the older generation has in its liquor. I see a fast world. a world where you may have to step out quick, not by drinking half the night.

To the Editor: Concerning last week's articles in this paper about the widespread usage of drugs, I, in behalf of Northville High would like to apologize for the unfair treatment shown Carl Taylor and Jim Corcoran.

I do not want to glamorize or make heroes out of either one of them. But who do we think we are, ridiculing them? Any normal person, who maintains any reasonable amount of integrity would have, and should have done reasonably the same thing. Who are we to call Carl or Jim 'squealers' when all they did was accept their responsibility.

Although I personally did not agree with various techniques used in

'busting' the five offenders, I feel Carl and Jim should be commended for realizing their responsibility, and having had enough backbone to carry it

I would also like to apologize for NHS for the alarmingly growing amount of apathy portrayed by our students. It seems as though in the past 3½ years I've been at Northville High, as each September comes around, our school has lost more ground, and is slowly running downhill. I think the two key words in solving these problems are PRIDE and RESPECT. If the students at NHS would generate PRIDE in our school, then RESPECT would naturally be reactivated. Thank you; Darvl'Herter

It was indeed refreshing to see your comments recently in the Record concerning the efficiency of the Northville Police Department. I share the opinion that citizens of Northville enjoy exemplary police protection under the capable guidance of such people as City Manager Ollendorff and Chief Elkins.

My family and I have lived in many communities, both large and small, but never have we felt as secure and comfortable as we do in Northville knowing we have this kind of protection Hats off to the Northville Police Department, a fine group of men dedicated to their difficult and challenging responsibilities.

"My Friend Tony" won't take the cake as the most innovative television program of the year, and it may not even survive the remainder of the season, but it's one dog that doesn't lack

Starring James Whitmore and Enzo Cerusico, "Tony" made its debut two Sundays ago on NBC as a one-hour stand-in for the Phylis Diller show, which went kaput when it couldn't close the popularity gap. Although the title doesn't signify as much, "Tony" is a detective story, but with a unique twist. Whitmore is Professor John Woodruff, well-known criminologist who applies his scientific expertise to solve crimes from the laboratory. To give the show a few more variations and considerably more action, Professor Woodruff is accompanied by a young cohort, who acts as the disarming legman. They met in occupied Europe when Tony (my friend) was a drifting urchin and the professor was in the military.

No matter what the job, they get it done, the professor by enlightening redoubtable skeptics with his laboratory techniques and "cool" scientific approach to crime, and Tony by disarming his adversaries with Italian guile.

notable zing, aimed at sacred cows.

The first program, for instance, unloaded point blank at special task forces, set up by every state and city, to attack organized crime. Particularly what the program attacked was the penchant of task force leaders to become head hunters, and the penchant of the public to let them go unchecked.

Mat Henderling was such a man. He came to "The City" to wage an all-out war on crime, and pursued his goal with such missionary zeal that he became policeman, judge, jury, prosecutor and executioner all rolled into one.

En route to inevitable exposure at the hands of our heroes, Henderling took the posture of most law enforcement men: that politicians are impediments to effective law enforcement and that the nine black robed men of the United States Supreme Court are responsible for today's lawlessness. The second program was equally as biting, but the issue was different: the duplicity of man who talks peace on the one hand and manufactures bigger and better weapons on the other for the destruction of all mankind. The story involved theft of bacteria which was manufactured LANSING - It now costs less. much less, to cross the mighty Mackinac Bridge. Effective Jan. 1, toll charges dropped from $3.75 to $1.50 per passenger car from $4.25 to $1.50 for most trucks.

Thursday, January 16, 1969

The reason for the lower fare is a new law earmarking a portion of the state gasoline tax for retiring bridge bonds. Heretofore toll receipts were the sole revenue source.

State officials are hopeful the lower rates will spur tourist traffic in the northland during the warm-weather months and ease the financial burden on local residents year-round.

THE MACKINAC Bridge, constructed from 1953 to 1957 at a cost of $100 million, connects Michigan's lower and upper peninsulas across the Straits of Mackinac. It is the longest suspension bridge in the world.

More than 1.3 million vehicles, most of them cars, cross the bridge annually. Plans are to increase the total to five million by 1980.

Toll collections averaged about $1 million a month under the fee system that was in effect from May, 1961, to December, 1968. Before the bridge was erected, the only way to get from the lower to the upper peninsula, or vice versa, was by ferry - and the charge was $2.78.

THE GLEAMING suspended steel cables provide the closest thing yet to the Northwest Passage sought by the explorers of the 16th and 17th centuries - but by land, not by water. The bridge's completion in the fall Tourists and vacationers from throughout the United States flock across the bridge in the summer months to seek the quiet of the UP's forested wilderness. Delightful big and little lakes dot the landscape. So do trout streams.

The bridge spreads from St. Ignace on the northern side of the straits to Mackinaw City on the south. Between and through these cities much of early Midwest history passed in review.

Both were fortresses named Michilimackinac, a Chippewa term meaning big turtle. It was derived by the Indians from an island so shaped in the straits and applied to the whole

In the Babson view, the industry faces a formidable set of challenges which must be met before the airlines reach a new plateau of profitability. Relief of significant proportion may not be seen in 1969. Indeed, airport congestion and delays, higher labor and operating costs, and excess carrier capacity could prolong the squeeze.

The problems of the industry must, however, be viewed as growing pains. The longer-range outlook is still favorable, and continued growth progress is expected. Bear in mind that the airlines are rapidly becoming the dominant mode of intercity passenger movement. WHILE PROFITS prospects for the current year are not particularly impressive, the air transportation stocks at current prices appear to be reasonably valued in most instances. especially when viewed in terms of the industry's growth potential. Most of its problems seem already to have been discounted by the stock market.

Hence, it is the opinion of Babson's Reports that investors now owning the common shares of such carriers as American Airlines, Delta, Eastern, Flying Tiger, Northeast, Northwest. Pan American, TWA, Western, and United should certainly hold their positions. everything except the most important thing.

Well it's all over for Joe. His destiny is sealed, nothing we can say or do will alter his condition. But at the funeral there were others Joes and Harrys and Petes and Sues and Marthas and Janes who just like him will some day attend their own funerals. Will they be ready? Will they continue to depend on their own goodness? Proverbs 14:12 savs. "There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof is the ways of death." When the last furrow has been plowed. When the last word has been spoken. When we have drawn our last pay check and our eyes are forever closed in death. Our friends gather around to say goodby. They will find comfort only in the knowledge that we have obeved our Lord and worshiped Him. All else will seem so unimportant. No wonder the wise man Solomon would sav. "Fear God and keep His commandments for this is the whole duty of man." (Ecc. 12:13). Or the Spirit would tell John to write, "Blessed are the dead that die in The Lord from henceforth: Yea, sayeth the Spirit that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them. Northville led 72-12 through the victories as both squads were to take to The Mustangs met Bloomfield Hills back from a deficit in the third quarter Andover Tuesday night before clashing to lead 54-46, and then wrapped it up with league leading West Bloomfield tomorrow night.

Novi's Wildcats have dates both tomorrow and Saturday night as they allowed no time to gloat over their travel to Bloomfield Hills to meet Lahser in the Friday night performance following night.

> West Bloomfield poses a real challenge to Northville who could move into a first place tie with the mighty Lakers if they could beat them (that is, if they beat Andover Tuesday night).

Steve Westjohn, the fine 6'2" Laker guard, may see little action against the Mustangs due to an ankle sprain suffered in the victory over Brighton. If the three-year team captain is unable to play, 6'3" Center Dave Carlson will switch to guard, with the only non-senior, Sophomore Don Johnston moving into the pivot. Johnston is 6'4".

Other starters will include the team's leading scorer, 6'2" Forwards Jim Bays (83 points in five games) and Curtis Britton. Britton and Johnston are the squad's leading rebounders. John Crowder at 5'10" is the other guard.

Coach Art Paddy, who says his squad never varies from its man-to-man defense, expects a good game from Northville "as always".

Novi expects to meet two foes who appear to have similar teams and records to their own. Novi is 3-5 as is Whitmore Lake, while Lahser stands at Bill Ullenbruch's Lahser Knights, however, have rebounded from three straight losses to post three consecutive victories. They are led by their only starting Senior, 6'5" Forward Bill West who was first team all-Oakland County (Class C) last year. In his best performance to date - Friday nights easy win over Waterford Mott - West canned 27 points and pulled down 22 rebounds.

West's supporting cast includes 6'4" Junior Center Jim Graham; Forward Bernie McPheely and Guards Bob Roehrik and Sophomore Ken Rump. For reserves, Ullenbruch has three of last year's starters, pushed out of jobs by Graham, McPheely and Rump.

Whitmore Lake's Trojans, coached by Robert Ellis, are led by 6'2" Center Mitch Caskey who averages 18 points and 17 rebounds per game. Others in the cast include Guards Ted Caesar (captain) and Ken Malcolm and Forward David Witt. The other forward slot is a tossup among Lester Thiele. Dennis Reed and Gary Winters.

Ellis adds that he expects a real battle as two of each team's victories have come at the expense of mutual foes - Hartland and Ypsilanti Roosevelt

CLARKSTON-Despite a dazzling early third quarter rally by the Wolves here Friday night, Northville's varsity quintet maintained its poise. recaptured the lead and then carved out a 63-56 triumph over the taller opponents.

The victory, together with Milford win over Waterford Kettering, kept the Mustangs in a second-place tie going into Tuesday's contest with Bloomfield Hills.

Although Northville wasn't exactly perfect in rebounding - particularly late in the game - and although it found itself on the wrong side of several turnovers, the Mustangs performed well in view of Clarkston's taller club and its home-court advantaee

Until Friday, Northville's performance at Clarkston had been anything but desirable. But this time, even though the Wolves came from behind to go out front by four points in the opening minutes of the third quarter, the Mustangs refused to give Northville led almost continuously - except for the opening minute or two of the first quarter and the brief period in the third stanza.

Clarkston simply could not cope with Northville's fast break and a back-breaking full court press. Even a mountain of fouls called against Northville, which saw Taylor foul out and three other Mustangs pick up four apiece, could not stop the Mustangs. Northville picked up 19 fouls against Clarkston's 17. But at the free throw line, Northville converted 19 times in 25 attempts for a sizzling 76-percent. Clarkston made only eight of its 19 charity shots.

Leading Northville scorer was Forward Ron Hubbard with 21, followed by Terry Mills with 13 and Jeff Taylor with 12. Chuck Granger led the Wolves with 15 points.

Two Bloomfield Hills free throws in the final seconds of overtime Tom Boyer plus Doug Keith who Tuesday night cost Northville a heartbreaker as the Barons returned home with a 73-71 victory.

The Mustangs came from nine points down in the final quarter to push ahead only to have the Barons tie the score at 65-65 at the buzzer.

In that thrilling overtime, the point advantage went first to Northville and then jockied back and forth to the final seconds.

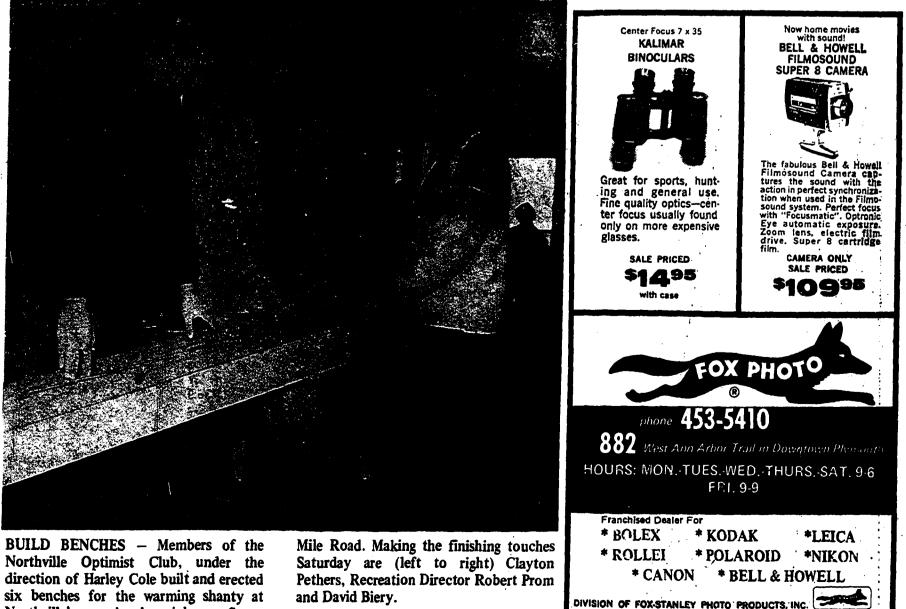

Northville was leading 71-69 before the Barons tied it at 71-all. Then with 45 seconds to go, a turnover put the ball in Bloomfield's hands. The Baron's big 6'6" center, Ken Weddle, tossed in a free throw. Northville grabbed the rebound only to let it slip away, and once again Weddle stepped to the charity line to net a one-pointer

The big difference in the game, which saw Northville play a superlative last half, was at the free throw line. The Barons clicked on 25 of its 33 attempts, while Northville hit 17 for

The Colts had no difficulty in knocking off the Bloomfield Hills junior varsity quintet, 60-39.

Novi's scoring was quite well balanced due to the platooning process. Following is the breakdown: Bingham - 11, Gary Bover 9, Hill 9. McMillan 6, Maki 6, Van Wagner 6, Osborn 5, Tom Boyer 4, Dale 2 and Keith 1. The Chargers also showed balanced scoring as the five starters of the seven-sophomore squad shared honors. Leading was Joe Watson with 14.

The filtering facility and flavor of the Northville Schools' VIP Committee will be challenged for the first time Tuesday night, when the new citizen's committee will be presented with a revised report on the population projection of Northville.

The report, presented to the board of education last month by Ray Spear, superintendent of schools, and Earl Busard, business manager, covers the pupil, staff and facility need projection 1968 through 1973-4.

"The facts of the report stand alone as startling testimony to the alarmingly critical prospects faced by the Northville school system in the immediate future," according to Spear. The report will top the meeting agenda. VIP members will hold general discussion and then carry the message to the community, according to a spokesman.

By nominating a candidate totally choice of the previously Republican time around

> The majority party named Philip O. Mastin Jr. of Hazel Park as its original choice. Republicans, contending the union leader was the worst of possible choices, countered by also nominating a Democrat -Edwards.

After a half-hour caucus recess, the supervisors returned only to hear Edwards "decline the nomination with regret. I campaigned vigorously for the post, but I am committed to supporting my party's candidate."

Having been dealt this blow, the minority party's Christian Powell (Union Lake) nominated Republican Robert F. Patnales of Royal Oak.

A paper ballot was then held, assisted by Lee Walker (D-Madison Heights) and the board's only distaff member, Mary Mead Bawden (R-Birmingham). Apparently, Mastin was not unanimously favored by Democrats either, as two members abstained resulting in a 13-12 margin for the District 9 representative.

It takes a simple majority of the 27-member board to elect a chairman - or 14 votes - so the ballot was declared a deadlock and the floor was opened to new nominations.

Republicans now took a new tack, naming William L. Mainland The Tuesday meeting will be held (D-Milford) the temporary chairman, as at 8 p.m. in the board of education a candidate. Following another brief recess, Mainland declined. Then William M. Richards (D-Royal Oak) pulled a switch and nominated Hamlin, now in in his twenty-sixth year on the board. Hamlin immediately declined, stating that he felt he had served in that capacity long enough.

> Following lunch, Edwards won the seat following Mastin's withdrawal from candidacy. In a close vote (14-13) Alexander C. Perinoff (D-Southfield) defeated Patnales for the vice-chairman Democrats pushed through proposals concerning committee makeup and a salary study plan only to have both issues reopened Tuesday, with the resulting decisions more to the Republicans liking.

Specifically, Republicans managed to persuade the supervisors that the committee on committees be made up 9640 Warren, Susan Evans, 19, 274 of five Democrats and four Republicans, rather than four Democrats and three Republicans. The former represents the same ratio as the makeup of the board.

Also, the supervisors changed the salary plan, permitting the Board of Auditors to study salaries and report their findings to the personnel policy committee instead of handing down salary recommendations to the appropriation committee.

Republicans objected to the auditors recommending salaries for supervisors, who set the salaries of

Arrest 21 Twenty-one youths, most of them from the Northville-Plymouth area, were arrested Saturday night in a police raid on a beer-liquor party at 21633 Beck Road. Twenty of the youths were charged with being minors in possession and then released, either on cash bond or their own cognizance, to appear in Oakland County District Court, Walled Lake, on January 23. The other, a 16-year-old girl, was released to her parents pending a hearing in Oakland County juvenile court

Nine policemen, from Novi and Northville, together with two Oakland County deputy sheriffs, made the raid following a complaint of a motorist that some 30 parked cars lining both sides of Beck Road were blocking traffic.

According to Novi Police Corporal Gordon Nelson, who received the initial complaint at 9:50 p.m., an estimated 75 youths escaped through windows and doors as the arrests were being made. He said police had observed the party for a half-hour prior to entering the rented, upstairs apartment of David Meadows, 18.

An estimated 1,000 bottles of beer and 20 bottles of liquor - empty, full or partial empty - were observed on the premises, said Nelson. "There were too many to haul away," he said, "so we took just a token of them for evidence

Meadows, who was released $25 cash bond, told police he intended it to be a quiet party involving only four couples in anticipation of his entering the service. The other youths were uninvited, he reported to police. Because many youths fled leaving their automobiles behind in the roadway, a motorist slammed into one of the cars after the arrests had been made and before the cars could be removed. No one was injured. The local area youths - except the

NORTHVILLE LODGE NO. 186 F. & A.M. Regular Meeting Second Monday

Herman F. Reinhackel, W.M. Robert F. Coolman, Sec.

The petition represents the second attempt by local school officials to win tax relief because of the many acres of untaxed state, county and City of Detroit lands within the Northville school district.

Specifically, the board asks that the state provide in new legislation a formula that would boost state aid to Northville in lieu of financial support from tax-free land.

Tax Collections

Reported Good An appeal by school officials to large taxpayers to pay their winter tax bills early so that school borrowing might be reduced seems to have proved effective. Both city and township officials report collections approximately two-thirds complete. In the city, where the deadline for payment of school and county taxes without penalty is February 15, collections stand at 65 per cent. Township taxpayers are doing better. They've paid 66.7 per cent of the total levy for school, county and township taxes. In the township the penalty for late payment is not imposed until March 1.

Township Treasurer Alex Lawrence reports a total of $762,669.83 collected against a total levy of $1,143,234.03. Lawrence estimates collections are up some 14 per cent over the same date last year. Collections in the city stand at $542,089.60 out of a total levy of $828,110.42. The total levy in the Wavne county portion of the city is $575,683.17 and $252,427.25 against Oakland county property in the city.

The series is sponsored by the Novi Jaycees as a public service. Answers to their questions are supplied by members of the charter commission. 1. Exactly how expensive will the new elected mayor be? For his services the mayor will receive $15 per official council meeting that he actually attends. Each councilman will receive $10 per OEO Talk meeting attended. This is the only salary or renumeration that either the mayor or the councilmen may receive. The new city will have six councilmen and one mayor, meaning a total $75 expenditure for each official meeting attended by all of these officials. The present village has five councilmen (one being the president) resulting in a total expenditure of $52.50 when all attend an official meeting. Of this the president receives $12.50, councilmen $10 each.
