

Newspaper Gap Bridged By Douglas

Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas doesn't know it but indirectly he's helped make The Northville Record's special centennial edition a little more complete.

For the past several months staffers at The Record have been trying to obtain a picture of one of the newspaper's former publishers—Frank S. Neal, who owned and published the newspaper for 28 years from 1891 to 1919.

Although the late Mr. Neal owned the newspaper longer than any of its publishers over its 100 year history, a picture of him was unavailable locally.

Then, a week ago, as Justice Douglas came under fire for his paid position as president-director of the Albert Parvin Foundation, it was announced that Fred Warner Neal, professor of international relations at the Claremont Graduate School in Claremont, California, would succeed him.

Because it seemed unlikely that there could be more than one Fred Warner Neal in the nation, The Record called California and, sure enough, it was the former publisher's son who had himself worked at The Record years ago, graduated from the University of Michigan, edited the university newspaper, and later became a Washington correspondent for The Wall Street Journal.

Delighted to hear about The Record's upcoming (July 15) 100th birthday edition, Professor Neal agreed to send pictures of his father and his own recollections of newspapering in Northville.

Professor Neal was named after Governor Fred W. Warner of Farmington, whose candidacy was inspired by the The Record publisher, F. S. Neal, who served two terms in the Michigan Legislature while publisher, served Governor Warner as his private secretary.

It was largely through the efforts of F. S. Neal that the old East Michigan Press Association was organized. This association later became the Michigan State Press Association, today one of the most prominent press associations in the nation.

The former publisher died on November 13, 1928; his wife succeeded him in death in the Forties.

Several other area residents recognized Fred Warner Neal's name in connection with his newest appointment. Among them was Orlo Owens of Northville, who called The Record to mention that Professor Neal was once a member of his Boy Scout Troop and the first Eagle Scout of the community.

Mrs. Sterling Eaton of Plymouth, widow of another former Record publisher, was in New York City at the time the announcement was made of Neal's appointment and recognized the name while reading The New York Times.

Richard Burr was installed as president of the Novi Chamber of Commerce Thursday during a dinner meeting at Rosewood Restaurant.

Harold Ackley, vice-president; Mrs. Florence Harris, treasurer; Russell Taylor, Kenneth Bassett and James Mitchell, directors.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Lee BeGole. In accepting his new post, Burr said his primary aim during the term of his office will be to establish an active industrial committee.

Program for the evening concerned an explanation of the newly organized cooperative occupational training program at Novi High School.

Admission of Robert Muncy of Muncy Marathon into membership of the organization for a June sign, including the names of all Novi's service organizations, for installation at the public library under the direction of Edwin Presnell.

A traffic light will be installed at the corner of Ten Mile and Novi roads "sometime this summer."

Whittled Novi Area Decides 'Let's Keep Our Township Status'

Property owners within the whittled-down Township of Novi voted Monday night to maintain township status following the election of a new board.

With about 30 of the estimated 80 persons who reside in the eight incorporated areas voting, a slate of three men and one woman—all residents of Brookland Farms—were elected by unanimous voice vote.

Township status of all other areas of Novi was dissolved with the recent city incorporation of Novi. The eight unincorporated remaining township areas were not part of the village of Novi.

Ray Warren Leads Ticket

Three incumbents and one newcomer were elected to the Novi Board of Education in Monday's annual school election at the Novi Community Building.

ROBERT WILKINS

Raymond Warren, an unopposed appointed trustee, was returned to office by garnering the largest number of votes.

Robert Wilkins, a member of the Novi Planning Commission, came up with a surprising 244 votes to take the fourth board seat.

Unofficial returns showed Warren, who receives a one-year term, getting 311 votes. Earl, who defeated J.F. Buck for a two-year term, picked up 213 votes to Buck's 88 and MacDermaid's 49.

Wilkins collected 241 votes—46 more than the other four-year term winner, President Simmons, who had 191.

The vote is to be canvassed tonight, to determine the official vote total. Approximately 800 persons were registered to vote.

Reorganization of the board (election of officers) is expected to take place later this month.

Ackley's Job on Block

Novi City Manager Harold Ackley appears to be on his way out. The city council Monday night authorized advertising for both a city manager and a city assessor in the Michigan Municipal League's journal.

Earlier Ackley himself had been requested to write the advertisement. Last week when asked if he had written it, Ackley replied that he had not because he was uncertain as to whether the council was seeking a single person to hold both jobs or two different people.

The day-long outing will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 3 p.m. Senior citizens, who would like to become members of a senior citizens club, are urged to attend.

Early part of the meeting will be for organizing the new group, electing officers, and discussing club projects. The remainder of the day will be spent in playing cards of "just enjoying conversation among friends."

Permission Sought For New Novi Bank

Application to organize a new national bank in Novi has been submitted to the federal comptroller of currency, it was revealed Tuesday.

Richard E. Cook of Bloomfield Hills, a general auditor for the Ford Motor Company; Robert E. Johnson of Birmingham, vice-president of a construction firm; E.R. Davies of Bloomfield Hills, president of a conveyor manufacturing company; Byron W. Terrell, Jr. of Birmingham, owner of a large real estate firm; and Robert Temmerman of Birmingham, president of a warehousing firm. Nayer is a Huntington Woods resident, with law offices in Detroit.

Nayer said the applicants "have nothing to do with" a recent zoning change request at the corner of 10 Mile and Meadowbrook Roads that was denied by Novi planners a week ago.

Part of the property requested for a zoning change reportedly was for a bank.

Traffic Light Set for 10 Mile

A traffic light will be installed at the corner of Ten Mile and Novi roads "sometime this summer."

Oakland County Road Commissioner Frazer Staman announced this week that the light had been authorized. He said that the road commission had received numerous calls about the increasingly-busy intersection.

Police of the remaining township areas would be in the hands of the county sheriff's department and the state police, which according to residents has been satisfactory.

The vote to remain under township status was described as a "win and see" decision. Citizens were told they could, at a later date, petition for annexation if it is found that independent government is unsatisfactory.

Revenue from these property taxes together with state tax reimbursements and monies that will result from the division of township assets with the new city, were viewed as sufficient to operate the new township.

A legal representative of Oakland County and local (district) Supervisor Law Coy of Wixom were present to explain why the how election of new officers could take place. It was

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

THE CENTENNIAL class of Northville High School has its share of industrious and enterprising students, as such classes of decades past, observed Assistant Principal David Longridge as records were completed on 183 seniors.

He then cited two young men — Ronald Baggett and Bill Sullivan — who while still in school have developed after-hours work into flourishing businesses. Both Bill's window washing business and Ron's lawn service have come to the aid of local housewives.

Ron, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Othal Baggett, 20516 Westview, "really started by cutting lawns and trimming shrubbery when he was 12," his mother recalls. Town residents such as Miss Hazel Parmalee, Fred Gotts and Dorey Gardner were regular customers.

From this beginning, the young man who became 18 on May 29 has developed a lawn and grading business with equipment assets "easily worth $4,000 to $5,000." Included are a 1966 dump truck with trailer and a tractor with front-end loader. The truck is Ron's third, as he progressively upgraded.

Others are Mrs. Robert Mohr, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Isom, recording secretary; Mrs. Ralph Armour, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. A. Zayli, committee secretary.

Specializing in lawn work, Ron installed the lawn of the new Iida B. Cooke Junior high as well as those of several new homes in Northville Estates subdivision — and even that of his high school principal Fred Holdsworth.

On larger projects Ron has had others helping him.

Most of the work had been on week ends and after school until he enrolled in the co-op program at the high school, working for himself. In the winter he bought and repaired tractors and plowed snow.

Now he's graduating to a growing business — his own.

BILL SULLIVAN'S window washing business, on the other hand, is about to close following graduation. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Sullivan, 20249

Woodhill Road, are moving this summer to Greenfield, Massachusetts.

When he began washing windows about two years ago, Bill found a ready market of housewives and enlisted the help of other students at the busy seasons.

As he bought a car and his own ladders, Bill expanded by running Record want ads.

Most recently Bill used his organizing ability to organize and promote the senior class canoe trip with Mark Gazlay.

DAVID FILKIN, a Northville High School graduate of 1961, is a young man who has accomplished much in the eight years since receiving his diploma. He has added other degrees, receiving his MA degree in education and administration from Kalamazoo College.

Then he served as a Peace Corps worker in Nepal, India.

He showed slides and related experiences there at the meeting Tuesday of Northville Senior Citizens.

Before returning home, David spent six months in Germany where he married Uta Rosenbrock, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rosenbrock, in her home town of Koenigstein, near Frankfurt.

As an exchange student here in 1961, Uta had lived with David's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Filkin, 621 Fairbrook.

She had earned her bachelor's degree and now is working toward another degree at Eastern Michigan University, as is her husband. She also has been substitute teaching at Schoolcraft College while her husband taught junior high in Livonia.

ANOTHER NHS graduate, Prudence Hartt, who was in the class of 1967, has just completed her sophomore year at Hanover College in Indiana, and this week began her second summer of work on The Record.

Prudy again will be covering women's interests and student and vacation news and will welcome your call.

Surprise Harpist Grets May Bride

A harpist retained by the bridegroom to surprise his bride on her wedding day enhanced the ceremony May 24 uniting Nancy Harmon and Samuel J. Chizmar in marriage.

Held at 3 p.m. in the First Methodist Church of Columbus (Indiana), the ceremony was performed by Dr. James W. Keith and Dr. Ard Hoven.

Besides engaging the surprise harpist, Miss Jane Ann Ryan, who provided preludes and the recessional, the bridegroom also was the arranger for the professional. In addition, soloist Mrs. Ernest Smith sang the early American Hymn, "How Firm A Foundation" and Beethoven's "Ich Liebe Dich."

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Marilyn Kendall, the bride's roommate. She wore a floor length dress of yellow shan faille. It was trimmed at the high waist with yellow lace. She wore matching shoes and lace gloves trimmed with a delicate yellow ribbon. Miss Kendall wore a crown of daisies and greenery, carrying a wicker basket of daisies.

From Saline, Michigan, Mr. William Chizmar, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. Acting as ushers were Mr. Minoo Inamdar from Warren, Michigan and senior high boys from the First Methodist Church.

Other attendants served at the wedding reception which followed in the church fellowship hall. They included Miss Rhonda Adams, of New Salisbury who attended the guest register. Mrs. Harold Abraham of Columbus served cake and Miss Ann Fisher of Evansville and Mrs. Tim Chambers of Columbus served punch.

Some senior high girls from the First Methodist Church also assisted at the reception.

Chyral Linn Baker Marries

At one p.m. in the Plymouth Assembly Church of God, Chyral Linn Baker married Kynis Maynor Jr. on May 10, with the Reverend John Walsky performing the ceremony before an altar decked with candelabra and white flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baker, 18915 Balden Avenue in Northville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kynis Maynor Sr. of Detroit.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Music was provided by soloist Mrs. Mary Spragg who sang "Till the End of Time," "Whither Thou Goes," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Five bridesmaids were gowned in different pastel outfits to carry out the theme of a rainbow wedding. They were Mrs. Arnie Wiatrowski, Miss Debra Smith, Miss Noama Kent and Mrs. Mike Medwid, with Miss Jayne Walsky serving as maid of honor. Their gowns were in pastel shades of pink, green, apricot, lavender and yellow.

Each attendant wore a sleeveless, high waisted gown of chiffon with a wedding ring neckline and a floating over skirt. The gowns were trimmed in blending Venice lace down the center bodice and around the waist. A row of self-covered buttons graced the front of each bodice. They carried white daisies with streamers to match their dresses and daisies were fashioned in garlands to form headpieces.

The bride's gown featured a silk organza floor-length A-line silhouette skirt which was banded with Peau d'Ange lace. The same lace sprinkled with seed pearls outlined a portrait neckline. A chapel veil of French illusion was also bordered with Peau d'Ange lace. The bride carried a floral arrangement of white roses and lily of the valley.

Acting as best man was Ronnie Maynor, brother of the bridegroom. Other groomsmen included brother Dwight Maynor, Dave Ruyle, Brian Baker, Arnie Wiatrowski and Harry Maynor, a cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Baker chose a pink organza dress with an embroidered jacket and pink accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a green dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories. Both mothers had flower arrangements of pink rose buds and lily of the valley.

Following the wedding a buffet dinner was held at the Temple Baptist Church of Detroit. About 250 guests attended from Florida, North Carolina and around the Detroit area.

For a wedding trip to Miami, Florida and New Orleans, the bride chose a pearl gray dress and coat ensemble with accessories of white and dark grey.

Previously, the bride attended Northville High School and Schoolcraft College. She was employed by the Western Electric Company in Plymouth. The bridegroom is a graduate of Pershing High School in Detroit and Michigan State University.

Presently a lieutenant in the army, he is now taking flight training at Fort Worth, Texas. The couple plan to make their new home in Mineral Wells, Texas near Fort Worth.

Northville Presbyterian Pastor Hits Black Demands, Church Seizure

Hitting hard at the take-over of the Presbyterian headquarters in Detroit by white supporters of black demands, a Northville minister this week labeled the militants' actions and demands as bordering on treason and blackmail.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasue, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Northville and a member of the Presbyterian synod's general council, said Monday he is "infuriated" that no action has been taken to oust the People Against Racism (PAR) who have occupied the headquarters and black militants who have seized an unused inner city church building.

Occupying the church were members of the National Black Economic Development Conference (NBEDC) who "liberated" the unused church and demanded $50,000 from the synod to establish the church as the conference's national headquarters and to run a school of community organizations.

The white PAR seized control of the Presbyterian headquarters as a supporting move to the blacks' demands. The PAR also took control of the headquarters' telephone switchboard.

Reverend Brasue who has spoken out against the "violent" actions of black militants and timid Presbyterian leadership from the pulpit here for the past two Sundays, urged fellow synod council members at a special meeting Saturday to take action to oust the militants. His motion failed to win support, however.

Reverend Norman Reidesel, pastor of the South Lyon Presbyterian Church was away on vacation and unavailable for comment.

The "Black Manifesto" of the NBEDC, said Pastor Brasue, is "ridiculous, actually treasonable."

The manifesto states in part: "We are therefore demanding of the white Christian churches and Jewish synagogues which are part and parcel of the system of capitalism, that they begin to pay reparations to black people in this country. We are demanding $500,000,000 from the Christian white churches and Jewish synagogues. This total comes to $15 per nigger. This is a low estimate for we maintain there are probably more than 30,000,000 black people in this country..."

"We say... think in terms of total control of the U.S. Prepare ourselves to seize state power. Do not hedge, for time is short and all around the world the forces of liberation are directing their attacks against the U.S. It is a powerful country, but that power is not greater than that of black people. We work the chief industries in this country and we could cripple the economy while the brothers fought guerrilla warfare in the streets. This will take some long range planning, but whether it happens in a thousand years is of no consequence. It cannot happen unless we start..."

Reverend Brasue said he has been warned that James Forman, who spoke at the national conference of the NBEDC, predicts a takeover of the Northville church.

I have considered myself a loyal Presbyterian for the 31 years of my ordained ministry," said Reverend Brasue. "Right now I find myself a part of a group in my own denomination that is deeply disturbed by recent events that are official positions and the results of actions by our leadership."

He said that in earlier confrontations involving black demands he did not openly oppose them but that the most recent developments require him to take a stand.

This Saturday, June 14, the United States will celebrate the passing of a resolution by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, stating that "the flag of the United States be 13 stripes alternate red and white, that the union be 13 white stars in a blue field representing a new constellation." Saturday is Flag Day.

Where did life begin for the American flag? You've all heard the Betsy Ross story. She's the flagmaker who sat up night after night hand stitching our first flag to the light of a kerosene lamp.

Upon researching the American flag's origin, it has been discovered that crediting Betsy Ross of Philadelphia with having made the first American flag with stars and stripes seems to have little foundation, in fact. Betsy Ross did make flags for the government but there is no evidence that she either designed the stars or stripes or made the first one.

As a matter of fact, one source tells us that the story of Betsy Ross making the first American flag with Stars and Stripes at the request of George Washington, Robert Morris and George Ross is a family tradition first made public by her grandson, William Canby, in a paper read before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania on May 29, 1870.

Furthermore, the representation of this flag in later paintings seems to be purely imaginative. The exact origin of the stars and stripes is not known.

The first flag used officially as a national flag during the Revolutionary War was the so-called Grand Union or Cambridge flag, first displayed in 1775. This was the first flag to use stripes alternate of red and white to represent the thirteen colonies.

Other flags were in local use at the time, notably the various Pine Tree flags of New England and the rattlesnake "Don't Tread on Me" flags carried by South Carolina and Virginia units and by naval elements.

Various claims have been made for the use of the Stars and Stripes on land as a battle flag, but they are of doubtful authenticity. The general practice was for military units to carry flags of their own choice.

No army unit was given the right to carry the Stars and Stripes until 1834, when this privilege was accorded the artillery. The infantry received the same privilege in 1841, the Marine Corps in 1876 and the Cavalry in 1887.

The use of the Stars and Stripes as a garrison flag has been more general and can be traced back to 1790 when

New Police Weapon 'Nutcracker' Replaces Night Stick

The policeman's night stick may end up on the scrap pile some day soon if a newly redesigned old weapon continues to grow in popularity. That's the opinion of Corporal Dale Gross of the Novi Police Department, who currently is teaching area departments in the use of the "Nutcracker", a small but effective gadget that may be centuries old but only recently redesigned for police work.

The Nutcracker or police karate stick is already used by dozens of police departments across the country and many others have voiced interest but have taken a "wait and see" attitude as the result of citizen opposition - particularly in the Detroit area.

NUTCRACKER'S STRONG ENOUGH TO ABSORB BLOW OF STICK

"Sure it's a weapon," says Gross, "but it's no more dangerous than the night stick, the riot baton, blackjack, the sap, or iron claw that are used by policemen today. It's no more dangerous...but it's certainly a lot more versatile and effective."

The karate stick operates on the same principle as the conventional nutcracker in the cupboard drawer. Composed of two 12-inch long sticks made of a very tough, almost indestructible synthetic material, it is hinged together by nylon cord with a breaking point of two tons.

"It's more convenient to carry," the officer explains, "and it just about eliminates the need for all other weapons in use except for firearms."

He demonstrates its versatility by showing -

- that by twirling it (holding one stick and allowing the other to swing free), crowds can be controlled more effectively than by using a riot stick;
- that by using it as a pincher, suspects can be held by the wrists, fingers or neck while handcuffs are being applied;
- that by using it as a quickly applied pincher, a wouldbe blow can be caught and stopped before landing, or a resisting drunk, because of momentum but temporary pain, can be easily subdued;
- that it can be used as a policeman would a night stick or a blackjack in striking blows;
- that it can be used to jab a countering blow;
- that by holding it in both hands it can ward off blows from clubs.

"I think what opposition there has been to its use comes from those who would rather police use nothing at all. You can't tell me it's any less humane than a blackjack or a riot stick, for Appointment of Fred W. Wrenbeck as supervisor of Security at Schoolcraft College has been announced by Business Manager E. F. Petersen, Jr.

A member of the Detroit Police Department for 33 years, Wrenbeck will retire with the rank of lieutenant next month. He is 58.

According to Petersen, Wrenbeck will organize the security department of the five-year-old public community college which serves northwest Wayne County. The department presently consists of two full-time officers, supplemented from time to time by part-time officers.

VICE-LIKE GRIP MAKES RESISTING SUSPECT COOPERATIVE

"None of the instructors," emphasizes Gross, "teaches anyone but policemen. That's because it is a weapon and it's just as illegal for a citizen to carry one as it is for him to carry a blackjack."

According to the officer, the karate stick "goes back centuries to Okinawa," he guesses. It was originally used for threshing rice. But when the Japanese occupied the island, it was developed as a weapon.

"What Hanke and McDonald did was to take the idea and redesign it for police use here in this country. And judging from the response they've been getting from all over the country the old night stick is going to become a thing of the past."

After 25 Years Beaming Faces Look Familiar

GRACE POLLOCK LOVES 'EM ALL

When Miss Grace Pollock looks into the bright, smiling faces of some of her kindergarten pupils at Main Street Elementary School there's something very familiar about them.

And it isn't because after 25 years of teaching kindergarten in the same school children begin looking alike.

Not at all, smiles the affable teacher while hugging one of her young charges, "It's probably because I taught some of their mummies and daddies, too."

Miss Pollock, who lives at 120 West Street, came to Northville in 1943 — a World War II year — from Minnesota, her native state where she had taught three years in a rural school and two years in a mining school.

She received her BA degree from St. Paul's Teachers College and her master's degree from Wayne State University.

Looking back over her quarter of a century here in Northville, she says wistfully, "I loved them (children) all. But sometimes when they got a little wild and I got cross I'm not so sure they loved me."

There are many adults, however, who do not agree. For Miss Pollock was their first love away from home and she remains a treasured possession of their memories.

Committees to Review Dress Code

Two separate committees of citizens, parents, school administrators and students to re-evaluate the Northville High School dress code and to evaluate present lunch practice were outlined for the board of education by Superintendent Raymond Spear Monday night.

The dress code again became the most lengthy discussion on the board agenda with both board members themselves and some of the audience questioning the amount of board time being devoted to this aspect of education.

Criticism of the present code, of the students' proposed code presented at the May board meeting, and of the size of the committee being suggested (a modification of the student suggestion) were levied on both sides of the board table.

While the board looked at non-academic problems, Eugene Cook asked also for "a written report in terms of conduct, etc., of the senior trip, which if not sanctioned by the board officially still is a concern."

In announcing the structure of the committees, which he approved on the basis of student recommendations, Spear said he would like to have the students on each of the committees chosen either by the student council or by general election before the school year ends.

Then, he said, they can meet throughout the summer with the rest of the committee to have decisions made before school starts again.

The dress code committee will

It's Paper Towels For Another Year

For another year students in Northville gym and swimming classes will be drying off with paper towels.

Again, the decision was a monetary one by the board of education as it considered the alternative of purchasing 350 dozen cloth towels at a cost of $3,727 to supplement the 140 dozen it now has.

The present supply of cloth towels is used for team sports and laundered by the custodian.

For a few moments there appeared a return to thread-count towels might result as Eugene Cook admitted he had "mixed emotions about paper towels — I've tried them." He introduced a motion to table the decision until the board knew better how much money will be available in the fall.

It was defeated after Dr. Orlo Robinson questioned, "Why vacillate now when we have convinced it was a good idea a year ago?" Andrew Orphan was the only other cloth-towel supporter, but Robert Froelich suggested that any paper towel improvements should be reviewed.

Appointment of Louis W. Lanning, 608 Reed Court, Northville, as National Aide-de-Camp, Recruiting Class, V.F.W., was announced this week.

In appointing him, Commander-in-Chief Richard Homan commented, "A successful membership campaign requires help from qualified comrades who are sincerely dedicated to V.F.W. principles."

"To promote the interest of a prospective member, leaders of our organization must have, among other qualities, knowledge, confidence, loyalty, dedication and enthusiasm. Membership strength assures us of the continued success of our many national and local programs, both for veterans and their families and for the communities of our nation."

"I congratulate Mr. Lanning for his membership support and because he exemplifies the highest principles of the members of our organization."

Brigadier General Hal B. Jennings, Jr., who has been nominated by President Nixon to be surgeon general of the army, effective October 1, will be a mid-June guest here as he plans to visit Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Jennings, 44111 Eleven Mile Road, Novi, on his return from Vietnam.

A former Toledoan, he is Mr. Jennings' nephew. He also is a cousin of Stanley Johnston of Northville.

Mrs. Jennings will visit with him. They also were here before General Jennings' last year for Vietnam.

General Jennings' promotion carries a promotion to the rank of Lieutenant General. Born in Seneca, Michigan, he was graduated from Toledo schools and received his medical degree from University of Michigan, joining the army in 1942.

He was plastic surgery chief at Walter Reed Army Hospital and then commanding officer of Martin Army Hospital, Fort Benning, Georgia, before being sent to Vietnam.

New Subdivision Opens in Wixom

A unique "open space community" subdivision featuring homes in the $30,000 price range, was opened in Wixom recently.

Called Highgate "on the Green", the 73-lot development features three New England style model homes by Douglas Homes, Inc. It is located on Loon Lake Road off Bensten near West Maple.

The subdivision encompasses a 4 1/2 acre improved park with 2,000 feet of six-foot wide asphalt bike trails and a 6,000 square foot concrete patio with two circular sunken sand boxes. The sand boxes are built around three sculptured climbing devices for children, and the bike trails connect to the adjacent Loon Lake Elementary School and are laid out so that no child need cross a main street to get to school.

More than 100 new trees have been added to the existing wild cherry trees in the park.

Another first is the underground utility system in which all utilities, including the electrical transformers, are buried under the street right of way, thus eliminating poles and wires. This "T" tap completely buried system is the first of its kind in Michigan, Douglas Colwell, president of Douglas Homes, Inc., said.

The "spacious feeling of openness" of the development, explained Colwell, was made possible because of Wixom's "open space ordinance." The ordinance permits 80-foot frontages to be reduced to 65-foot fronts — provided no more homes with 65-foot front footages lots are built in the subdivision than would be with 80-foot lots.

The individual lot size savings, said Colwell, has been put into the improved park area. Restrictions will prohibit fences shutting in the park so that the open spaces remain.

A Highgate "on the Green" association composed of property owners has been formed to maintain the parks at an individual cost of $3 to $4 per month, the cost includes 20 cuttings of the 4 1/2 acre park lawn, tree trimming, cleanup and maintenance. The individual homeowner will have one-third less lawn to cut, trees to trim and clean-up.

The subdivision planning and the architecture of the homes was inspired by the 19th Century New England style homes which were built around a "commons" or "village green."

Three New England style model homes feature what Douglas Homes calls "the uncommon touch." The design of the homes incorporates a steep pitch roof, narrow 4-inch siding, generous use of bay windows, cow fireplaces, authentic louvers, box chimneys and strap hinge garage doors.

The three homes are the Wyeth, a 4-bedroom, 1 1/2 bath, full basement Colonial with a 2-car garage. The home has a total of 1711 square feet and features a separate dining room and a 300 square foot family room with fireplace and bay window. The home is priced at $34,950.

The 5-bedroom Wallace is a split-level with 2200 square feet of living space. It features 1 1/2 baths upstairs and 1 1/2 bath down, separate family room, dining room and sun deck. The price is $30,950.

The Williamsburg, a Cape Cod ranch, is priced at $28,450. It has three bedrooms, 1 bath and a full basement. The family room and cow fireplace adjoin an island kitchen with a bay window. A one-car garage is also included.

Marihuana Cigarette Found in Shirt Pocket

A rash of relatively minor irritations plagued the Northville police department this week.

An assault and battery complaint was lodged by David Nichols, 23201 Napier, last Wednesday at Northville High School. Nichols was struck in the mouth by an unknown assailant as he was leaving school at 2:45 p.m.

According to Nichols he was leaving the building when three unknown students followed him down the hall and accused him of making vulgar signals with his hands. As he reached the door, one of the boys broke away from the group and stuffed him in the mouth.

Nichols was taken by his mother, Mrs. C. Nichols to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne for stitches on a cut lip. He was unable to describe his assailants.

On the same day a parked vehicle rolled into the plate glass window of Krogers store here. The auto was owned by Lowell Stafford of Ypsilanti, who said he parked his car just east of Dr. H. Larns Dyer's office. The vehicle rolled downhill and smashed into the 43"x59" window.

Trouble of a different nature occurred Friday when Richard Ritchie of Northville Laundry and Cleaning discovered a marihuana cigarette in the pocket of a shirt. Ritchie told investigating Patrolman C. Martin that he was turning out the pockets to check for lint and loose tobacco when he discovered the cigarette, which was hand-rolled and appeared to contain marihuana.

BURGLARY — Novi Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner is continuing his investigation this week of a burglary of the Lewis D. Croose estate home at Nine Mile Road and Center Street over the weekend. Croose was away at the time. Faulkner said the first and second floors of the large home were ransacked and an undetermined number of items were believed stolen. He said it would be difficult to estimate the loss until after the owner returns. Entrance was gained by tipping a screen and breaking a window near the front door.

Cyclist Suffers Leg Fracture

It was all over but the pain for Charles Plumley, 291 Sherrie Lane, the moment he started to rub his eyes.

The cyclist lifted his hands from the handle bars, his Honda Super Hawk swerved into the curb and bounced against several trees along Eight Mile Road, east of Randolph.

Plumley was then taken to St. Mary Hospital Monday night for a compound leg fracture.

Junior Troop 165 planned a campout for this coming weekend at Proud Lake.

Junior Troop 1027 finished badge work. Tiger Patrol is planning a party with an opening and closing for sixth graders who are flying up to Cadettes.

Brownie Troop 404 held a cookout at Mrs. Banks to finish up the year.

Junior Troop 913 had an all day outing at Kensington Park Nature Trail last Saturday.

Salow's Walnut Hill Association will hold their semi-annual meeting on Friday, June 20, at 8 p.m. The association will meet at the Holy Cross Episcopal church, 10 mile near Taft.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The concern over the status of some 900 acres of Maybury Sanatorium property and what the city of Detroit might do with it points up the crying need for a vehicle for improved communication, understanding and planning between the city, township and school district of Northville.

That vehicle should be an official body, possibly named the ICC (inter-community committee), which should meet regularly every month.

This is not an impulse proposal; and it is not a suggestion to create "just another committee".

In my opinion the ICC would be as important to the welfare of the total Northville community as any single elective body.

It should be composed of at least five, and possibly nine members.

Included should be representatives of the city council, township board, board of education, city and township planning commissions and the township supervisor, city manager and superintendent of schools.

Meeting the third or fourth Thursday of each month the group should elect officers, hire a paid secretary to take and submit complete minutes. These should be mailed to every member of the bodies which the ICC committee represents.

What would this committee discuss?

There are a thousand things. But first, and of foremost importance, a clear-cut communication line would be established. Information passed between bodies would not be left to a single person's interpretation, or a series of interpretations.

The school board's concern for rapid-growth areas and its ability to provide classrooms while maintaining a high-level curriculum could be outlined directly; the township's predicament of being swamped with development projects and requests for rezoning could be explained; the city's efforts to improve its business district to serve the township growth and the township's desire not to create direct competition for the city's central business district could be discussed; the hope of the city and school district that more industrial zoning might be established within the township could be explored; there would be no misunderstanding concerning the city's long-range plans for the fish hatchery property and what kind of cooperation is sought from the township and school district in development of the site; if the city-located township hall is pressed for parking places, the committee would get the story direct and take action to find a solution; if there's a piece of the Levitt development in the township hanging over into the city, the ICC would propose a solution; there'd be fewer rumors, more facts, better decisions.

The ICC wouldn't dilute the identity or authority of any of the three individual units. It would merely provide a better basis for understanding between them.

A case in point to support this need was the recent meeting in Northville between officials of Detroit and representatives of the township, city, school board and Northville Area Economic Development Committee.

Long-range development of the Maybury property under discussion was viewed quite different through the various local representatives.

Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg sees the tract as residential - townhouses and single-family units ... or possibly as a state park where vacationers from throughout the country visiting the sights of Detroit would station their trailers for up to two weeks.

Other community representatives see a park, including a golf course, an area for homes and a small commercial center, plus an industrial development.

Detroit officials don't care what happens to the property. They just want $3 million to balance their budget.

The upshoot is that the township's planning consultants, Vilcan & Leman, have been directed by Supervisor Stromberg to come up with a proposed plan for development of the beauty spot.

What happens eventually is anyone's guess. It's reported that several developers have already offered the $3 million for the property. But it will go up for public bidding, unless the local governments can come up with a proposal that could convince the Detroit common council to waive bids and in a gesture of cooperation sell to the Northville community at a figure around $3 million.

There's a good chance state and/or federal funds are available for a portion of the acquisition if park and recreation development is proposed.

While on this same subject - community planning and cooperation - I hope city officials look carefully at the application of Vilcan & Leman Associates when they consider retaining new planning consultants.

Personally, I do not hesitate to tread where we're uninvited and stamp a seal of approval on this firm.

Not only is it logical that the city and township should employ the same planning consultants, but George Vilcan has demonstrated on many occasions his ability to translate planning intricacies so that they are logical and easily understood by concerned, and sometimes, hostile audiences.

I can think of no other area of greater importance to the community of Northville in the immediate future than good planning - undertaken cooperatively.

Trustee Mitchell Blisters Critic

EDITOR'S NOTE - Two weeks ago Eugene Guido, chairman of the township police study committee, severely criticized the township board for hiring a police officer for $9,500 per year by a 4-2 vote. Trustee Richard Mitchell was the chief target of Guido's attack. Trustee Mitchell answers Guido in the following letter.

To the Editor:
Mr. Guido's comments in the Northville Record May 22, 1969 are deliberately misleading concerning the action of our township board when we appointed a full time police officer. The true facts are as follows.

Our police officer was not hired by this action, but in fact, has been a part time employee whose status was merely changed to full time when the need arose and he was given a justifiable living wage. Why? Because the citizens of our township demanded enforcement of ordinances (which the township board had passed and for which the township electors had voted). Instead of being forced to wait, two to four days or even longer for action to be taken by a part time officer.

Guido's statement: "The board's action hiring a police officer is a slap in the face to the citizens asked to serve on the police study committee," is erroneous.

The action of the board to increase one employee's hours should not have any bearing on the study committee.

The State Police and Sheriff Department does not make it a practice of enforcing local ordinances on regular patrol. That would mean, no township ordinances would be enforced. If this was the case, in my opinion, our township ordinances would not be worth the paper they're written on and it was a waste of time passing them.

Guido stated in that article, "I am incompetent and stupid." When I ran for office, I made it very clear that I was in favor of township government and I was elected with the highest vote given to any candidate for trustee. This indicated to me that our people also believed in township government. I have kept this mandate in mind and have, and will continue to vote in our manner until the people of our township decide that they do not desire these services and do not wish our laws to be enforced. If Guido wishes to push us into becoming a city, calling me names in the newspaper is a stupid way to do it.

A member of the previous police study committee who was present at the April first township board meeting said that, "If we put on a full time officer the state police would withdraw their services." This conversation is on record in the township hall and this statement was loudly concurred with by Guido at that meeting.

The truth is, as Guido well knows, is that the State Police WILL NOT withdraw their services and I have letters from them to prove it.

The Northville Police Chief said, "It would be asinine for them to put one man on full time in the township because, after the city officer was off duty, citizens would be calling the city police department for an officer and the city could not supply one.

In the case of the township officer, the township police vehicle is equipped.

By ROLLY PETERSON

Three Emmy's, television's highest award, were won Sunday night by the original drama, "The People Next Door." And if the production that focused on a crucial problem of our times.

"CBS Playhouse" launched its second season last week Tuesday with J. P. Miller's drama, "The People Next Door." And if the first production is any indication, "Playhouse" will once again reach the television pinnacle as the best dramatic series of the year.

Miller's drama came on like a visceral nightmare, clothed in the garb of Every family. It was a trip for every parent watching into the unreal world of long hair, guitar plunking, incense, dope and perversion. It was a trip that every parent could be taking, except...

By name alone, Miller indicates as much - "The People Next Door." That's the story. It always happens to the other guy. Only his kids go way out, get hung up in a tight situation. Ours? Hardly. That is, until "The People Next Door."

The drama centers around middle class parents (Lloyd Bridges and Kim Hunter), who, for all intents and purposes, are regular people. They have a nice home. They provide their kids with all the advantages. Maybe Bridges is a little too boisterous. Maybe he slaps too many fannies and drinks a little too much. But then, everybody's entitled to a few excesses.

Overnight, life in this middle class household, this bedrock of our society, is torn apart. Whereas son Artie resorts to guitar strumming and hippy dress, and irritates father and his dream of respectability, daughter Maxie, that 16-year-old paragon of virtues, that sweet innocent girl, takes a trip on LSD.

Lying on her confessional bed, Maxie, played brilliantly by Deborah Winters, lays open her sordid life of dope, sex and perversion and spurns the phony life of her parents as they stand dumbfounded at her bedside.

Still, she is not beyond the pale. Her life can be retrieved. But where she yearns for honesty, love and understanding, she receives from her parents only weak-kneed excuses and evasive answers that in no way satisfy her emotional demands.

The pitiful fact is mom and dad are emotional cripples. They cannot understand their daughter or son because they are unwilling to understand. Rather than painfully admit their shortcomings, they simply cast about for excuses, anything that will sustain their life of pretension. They are unwilling to admit, for instance, that dad has been unfaithful, that their marital life is a shell of its former self.

Miller doesn't leave off with impaling mom and dad on the thorn of truth. His message goes beyond a middle class family and its values and galls full weight on society, or "the establishment" as some call it.

The message is conveyed through inclusion of "The Family Next Door" - a teacher and his alcoholic wife, who liberally spray praise over their college son. What else? He is an 'A' student in pre-law and can do no wrong.

He is also the contact, the middleman who sells dope to Maxie. When the truth is discovered, his teacher-father turns him into the police. But the son finds a loop-hole in the law and is freed by the society which he condemns.

Ironically, it is Maxie's father - the symbol of that society - who finds himself condemned by society, after he tries to strangle the boy next door. Bridges is taken into custody and booked on assault.

Northville Man Ordained Catholic Priest Saturday

The Reverend Dennis M. Fallon, a 1959 graduate of Northville High School and a June graduate of nearby St. John Province Seminary, was ordained a Catholic priest Saturday, June 7, in Blessed Sacrament Cathedral, Detroit, by John Cardinal Darden, archbishop of Detroit.

He offered his first Mass on Sunday in Our Lady of Victory Parish here at Thayer Boulevard and Orchard Drive.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Fallon, Father Fallon attended the University of Michigan following his graduation from Northville High School. He entered Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit, in September 1961. He graduated with honors, summa cum laude, from Sacred Heart in June, 1965 and has pursued a four-year course in sacred theology at nearby St. John's. He received an M.A. degree in theology from the University of Detroit.

Record Enrollment Seen

Schoolcraft College, anticipating a record enrollment in excess of 5,300 students this fall, is getting a strong assist in that direction from seniors who will graduate next month from eight public high schools in the college district.

According to records of the college Admissions Office, applications from college-bound high school seniors have increased more than 27-percent over the figure for the same time last year.

"We had applications from 960 high school seniors in the college district," said Director of Admissions Barbara Geil. "At this time last year our records showed 753 applications. Granted that the combined graduating class is larger this year, the earlier action by the resident college-bound student is encouraging."

Total applications received from all prospective new students is 1,957, an increase of 273 over last year, according to Miss Geil. Of these, the college has accepted 1,404 for admission in the fall.

"We anticipate a freshman class of somewhere between 2,400 and 2,500," said Miss Geil. Although some programs are filled, there are still many places available for qualified students.

"In other words, we haven't yet begun to think about restricting admission. But students who are thinking about enrolling at Schoolcraft College this fall should keep in mind that it is their advantage to make a decision at an early date."

Since opening in the fall of 1964, Schoolcraft has enrolled approximately 25 percent of the graduating class of each of the district high schools.

"There seems to be every sign that we are not only maintaining this rate but are actually increasing our enrollment percentage among district high school graduates," Miss Geil said.

Heaviest enrollment indications, typically, are from the three Livonia high schools. A total of 638 June graduates of Bentley, Franklin and Stevenson have applied for admission to Schoolcraft, a numerical increase over last year of 150 and a percentage increase of 30 percent.

The pattern is consistent throughout the other school districts. From Plymouth High, 113 June graduates have applied, compared with 88 at this time last year. From Northville High, the Admissions Office records show 53 applicants compared with 39 last year. From Garden City East and Garden City West, the combined figure is 125 against 113 last year; and from Clarenceville High the figure is 31 compared with 25 last year.

Familiar Scene

Far and away Northville's most accident-prone corner, Main and Center streets was the scene of another two-car crash Monday. The script was identical to previous crashes: a south-bound car making a left-hand turn, a north-bound car coming up over the crest of the Center street hill. Fortunately, neither of the two women drivers were hurt, but Mrs. C. D. Anderson's north-bound car incurred damages estimated at $1,200. Nearly two years ago the Northville city council voted to prohibit left turns onto Main street by south-bound cars on Center. The city manager reports that the Wayne county road commission is still trying to determine the type of sign to erect. We think it should read: "NO LEFT TURN".

Top of the Deck

The "testing area" sign should have been warning enough but I blindly followed my host, Robert Froelich, up the stairs and into the experimental laboratory where strange things are happening.

Bob's vice-president of the Northville Board of Education by night, an executive for Oakland County Community College by day. Enamored by the college's unique student-oriented learning process, he showed me about the Orchard Ridge Campus Friday, explaining how students there do most of their studying on their own and with only a minimum of classroom instruction.

At Oakland the instructor is secondary to the learning process; he serves only as a stimulus. Anyway Bob's tour seemed to naturally gravitate towards the testing area where, upon introducing me to the overseer of the unique experimentation, it occurred to my host that the best way to explain what the testing was all about would be for me to sample a quiz. So before I had time to politely excuse myself they pushed me to the starting gate.

Pointing to a crooked line on the floor, they asked me to walk to the end of it, heel to toe, and back to the starting point. It was obviously a sobriety test ... and I swear I hadn't touched a drop.

Whether I passed or failed the test was never satisfactorily explained. But judging by the snickers of a student monitor who watched the exhibition on closed circuit TV it must have been a miserable attempt. I walked the line and returned, naturally skirting a chair that someone forgot to remove from a portion of the line.

The chair, it turned out, was purposely placed in my way. Some people, I was told, remove the chair while others step over it. My action in walking around it apparently meant I'm inclined to ignore a problem rather than solve it. Which explains, says my wife, why I pretend not to notice that the grass of our lawn is ankle deep.

Next I was asked to belly up to a table, topped by a sheet that screened testing apparatus on the opposite side. The object here was to stick my hands through a slot in the sheet, feel the location of three pegs with my left hand, and to duplicate a similar peg arrangement with the right hand.

It was a case of my right hand not knowing what my left was doing. (My left hand has never been very bright and my right is even less intelligent. It takes both of them to drive a nail - one to raise the hammer and the other to raise blood blisters).

Finished, I peeked at the right's handiwork. It was disgraceful. While the left had been caressing a triangular peg arrangement the other had been inventing new geometry.

The coup de grace was still to come.

They served up a platter of building blocks, mixed them up and then asked me to reassemble them in something like 90 seconds. It was a mistake even to attempt it. After five minutes of fumbling that indicated probably that I was an imbecile, Bob and the embarrassed overseer suggested that since working with my hands obviously wasn't my thing I probably would do very well on conventional intelligence tests. Fortunately, they didn't pursue the matter because ordinary intelligence tests scare the Dickens out of me, too.

What's the purpose of these new experimental tests? "By testing a student and learning about his study habits and psychological makeup we hope to be able to assign him to an instructor with whom he can best assimilate."

Chance Meeting Ends Search for Suspect

Coincidence led to the arrest last week of a Warren man wanted in Novi on a charge of fraudulent use of a credit card.
Novi police had been searching unsuccessfully for Arthur W. Palenkas, against whom Homer Whitfield, president of Condeco Automation of Novi had filed a complaint. Palenkas is a former Condeco employee.

Then a week ago while on business in Buffalo, New York a Condeco field representative spotted the wanted man, informed his home office, and Palenkas was arrested by Novi police as he stepped from a plane at Wayne County Metropolitan Airport upon returning.

Palenkas was arraigned immediately before District Judge Martin Boyle and an examination was set for June 20. Meanwhile, Novi police have turned the suspect over to the

Merchants Grab First Season Win On Two-Out Triple

A two-out, bases loaded triple in the bottom of the seventh gave the Northville Merchants their first victory of the season Saturday - a 7-6 decision over Village Rambler.

That's when Bob Abrahams, Merchant third baseman from Port Huron Community College came to bat. He took two strikes and then smashed his three-run triple.

Bill Diemer, who pitched 1 2/3 innings of litters ball, was credited with the victory.

Orchard Hills placed second in the elementary shuttle relay for girls; the elementary shuttle relay team boys from Orchard Hills (Jeff Pelchat, David Potrowicz, Rick Gault and Mike Collins) took first place, while Lone Lake took fourth.

Three junior high boys from Novi however, set new marks this year. They are: Jim Wilenius, Class A 75-yard low hurdles (9.6); Jim VanWagner, Class B high jump (4' 11"); and Larry Eggleston, Class C 880 yard run (2:16).

Rain Washes Out Six Little League Games

Rain and wet fields forced postponement of six of the 10 games scheduled in Little League competition (major) on Nov 1st last week.

Highlighting the four games played was a 2-3 bombardment of B&V Earthmovers by Wroten Brothers. Gary Canfield was the winning hurler, adding a triple and a single at the plate. Rick Gault also tripled for the winners and Glen Gault came up with a double. But the big blow of the game was the three-run homer off the bat of Mark Orzechowski.

The Earthmovers took it on the chin again June 5 - but this time it was only by a two-run margin as Carl's X-Way took the contest, 11-9. Robert McLinnury was the winning pitcher.

Mark Orzechowski came up with his second homer of the week for the Earthmovers, while Jeff Prokeral, Tim Reske, and Mike Roscoe added doubles

Coach Redmond Elated

'70 Looks Bright for Mustangs

Northville Track Coach Ralph Redmond, with the 1969 season behind him, couldn't be happier as he looks forward to the '70 season.

A majority of his young thunders, who helped post a 6-2 record in the Wayne-Oakland League and an 8-7 overall record, will be back next year tougher than ever - and that's enough to make any coach beam.

Redmond's losing only four seniors. These include Phil Kennedy, Greg Marshall, Glen Heffner and Fred Hicks.

Because they were able to get a jump on many teams in early practice, the Mustangs scored two surprising and important showings early in the season - sixth in the Huron Relays and fifth in the Spartan Relays.

As the season progressed, however, and the "other teams started coming along with their early edge," admits the coach. Nevertheless, the early fine showing proved to be an impetus for his thunders and they were able to perform better than might otherwise have been expected in view of strong competition.

"It was a good season," he says, "and we should have a real fine team next season with a lot of experienced juniors and sophomores." Redmond will build his '70 squad around two or three underclassmen and seven seniors. The 1970 seniors will include Brian Dyke, Paul Bedford, Richard Lamp, Brian Myers, Dave Veresh, Jeff Dawson, and Jim Armstrong.

Thinclads Take First, Fourth

In their final competition of the season, Northville's upperclassmen took fourth in the W-O League track meet while the underclassmen took first place.

The underclassmen (involving no seniors or varsity players who scored a point fraction in earlier league meets) scored 66 points to lead second place West Bloomfield (57) and third-place Clarkson (51 1/2) at Clarkson.

Here's the results: Long jump - Jim Darnell, second (17' 8"); Shot put - Richard Ruland, fifth (37' 7"); Two-mile - Richard Lamp, first (10:41); Mile relay - (Paul Bedford, VanDrie, Brad Cole and Wright), first (3:43.0). Wright ran the best and most exciting leg, taking the baton seven yards behind the leading Clarenceville thunders and overtaking him in the last turn.

880 yard run record (2:00.1), set the 440 record this season (1:51.4), and was the anchor leg in the high school's record relay team (3:30.7). The Most Improved player award went to Fred Hicks, whose '68 best put was 46'10" and whose best effort in '69 was 51' 3" - another school record.

Greg Marshall was elected the Outstanding Senior. Marshall holds the

What do you think of... when you see a Church?

To almost everyone, the sight of a slender steeple raised to the sky evokes certain emotions—awe, perhaps, nostalgia, maybe—the sense that by not going to church lately, you've been missing something!

Next time you see a church, take a good look... and let yourself really feel what you see. If that makes you decide not only to look at the outside but also to go inside, that will be all to the good. For no matter how lovely a home you may live in, it can't compare with God's House. If you open the door, you'll find that, no matter how long you've been away, the welcome is warmer and more wonderful than you'll find anywhere else.

from the Pastor's Study

Communities throughout America today are suffering from an unprecedented crime wave, social upheaval, violence, and discord. The one who would deny this is not even aware of the fact that there is "a game on" to say nothing of what the real score is. Community leaders, school administrators, law-enforcement officers are concerned. But more than this, thoughtful parents are concerned. And well they may be since the key to the moral and social problems we are facing today are, in a large measure, in their hands.

Okay girls get out your buckets and cloths and/or sponges. The spring cleaning isn't done yet. After you've prettied up the house, according to a recent news release, you are expected to take on that gas eating monster of the garage—the family car.

Auto Parts Show Significant Gains

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Aided by continued growth of the replacement parts market and the fast selling pace of new automobiles, the auto parts industry registered significant gains during 1968. Other factors which favorable influenced results in this field were expanded government safety programs, good foreign demand, increased efficiencies from recent capital programs, a better price structure and a sizable volume from nonautomotive products.

This news directive, which obviously came from the de-greasing producer, says he is sure to clean the underside of the car to remove mud, salt, etc. That sounds logical but how do you do it? If you don't patronize a car wash? A bucket of water and a scrub brush doesn't appear to be the answer. Even a hose doesn't help too much with today's road hugging cars unless you are adept at ground groveling.

91,284 Fires ONLY AT KROGER Claim 306 Lives In 1968

Michigan's record number of 91,284 fires claimed 306 lives in 1968 and caused a new high loss of $87.3 millions in property damage, according to the annual summary of the State Police fire marshal division.

The deaths included 208 adults, 96 minors and two firemen, the total being 18 less than the record 324 in 1967. Not included in the count were the deaths of 35 persons in fires which followed crashes of cars, planes or boats.

The previous record in the number of fires was 90,877 in 1966 while the total in 1967 was 78,135.

The former high mark in property loss was $86.6 millions in 1967.

Property damage included losses of $49.5 millions in buildings and $34.6 millions on contents.

The Michigan per capita fire loss in 1968 was $10.56 compared with $11.07 the year before.

There were 124 large loss fires (over $50,000) with damage totaling $26 millions. Eighteen of the fires with losses amounting to $1.9 millions were attributed to arson while causes were undetermined in 30 fires with damages of $5.2 millions.

Incendiaries fire reported included 2,090 charged to minors and 1,357 attributed to adults.

The breakdown of fires included grass 26,780, dwellings 21,969, autos 19,374, house trailers 835, schools 576, bulk storage plants 242, aircraft 187, dry cleaning plants 127, theaters 59 and miscellaneous 26,575.

Total fire alarms answered numbered 120,180. About a fourth of them, 28,896, were false, an increase of 4,000 over 1967.

Carelessness caused the greatest number of fires, 24,308, or about 26 per cent of the total. Included were rubbish burning 12,535 and careless smoking, careless use of matches 6,610.

Most deaths again occurred in home fires, 162 of the adults and 92 of the minors.

Fires caused by heating units killed 19 adults, 16 minors.

Smoking in bed and other careless smoking resulted in the deaths of 76 adults, eight minors. Clothing catching fire killed 32 adults, one minor. Cause was not determined in deaths of 41 adults and 19 minors.

Most adult deaths were attributed to careless smoking and clothing catching fire. Minor deaths to defective heating units and playing with matches.

Michigan traffic deaths in May numbered 227 which was 12 or five per cent less than the all-time high of 239 recorded for that month last year, State Police provisional figures show.

It was only the third time since record keeping began in 1933 that May deaths have topped the 200 mark, the other time being in 1966 when 207 were counted.

The May total was 37 more than the average of 190 for that month in the five years 1964-68.

The deaths brought Michigan's traffic toll for the first five months this year to 858, which was 28 or about three per cent more than 830 in the same period a year ago.

The May count, included more than half of the Memorial Day holiday weekend toll of 33.
