

Here's Quiz ONLY AT KROGER On Driving For July 4

Suppose during your 4th of July trip an oncoming car veers into your lane and hurls toward you. Which two of the following four actions do you take?

1. Blow the horn. 2. Apply the brakes. 3. Steer as far right as you can. 4. Switch to the lane the other car should be in.

In all but the rarest circumstances, moves 1 and 3 are best. The horn may wake the other driver up and a right steer is more likely to provide escape than braking or turning into the oncoming traffic lane.

TRUE. If your choice in an emergency is between hitting a moving vehicle or a minor obstruction in the road such as a rock or animal, choose the latter. If the object is small enough, straddle it rather than swerving to avoid it.

A light rain is often more dangerous to drivers than a heavy rain. TRUE. A light shower makes highways slicker than a heavy rain because road oil and grease "float" on the surface of the moisture. A downpour washes them away.

On turnpikes, rear-end collisions are the most frequent type of accident. FALSE. Most turnpike accidents involve only one car. The statement is true for two-car accidents, however.

When an oncoming car falls to dim its lights, you should slow down and watch the right side of the road. TRUE. If you look directly into the high beams of an oncoming car at night, your eyes won't recover completely from the glare for one full minute.

Most traffic accidents occur at night. FALSE. About three out of four accidents happen in daylight, on dry roads, in clear weather. Most fatalities occur at night, however.

Funds Undecided Doubts Linger Over Program

An organized summer recreation program serving the City of Novi and Novi Township apparently will remain dormant without funds until early July and then could only be operated after checks, according to present indications.

Attend 4-Day Workshop Teachers Get in Extra Licks

Northville teachers focused on improvement of the school system's educational program during the four days of workshop following the close of schools last week.

The program opened with short address by Superintendent Raymond Spear and Business Manager Earl Busard followed by a film, "A Mighty Reach," depicting innovative methods, motivation techniques and methodologies that enhance learning.

Later a complete system analysis of the testing results for 1966, 1967 and 1968 were presented to the staff and administrators by Mrs. June Emerson and Miss Florence Panattoni.

Five workshops were conducted in the afternoon by Dr. Harry Overline, director of Wyandotte Learning Disability Center; Alan Riegler, director of Gifted Children in the Livonia school system; Charles Zoet, secondary science coordinator in Livonia; Dr. James Howe, social studies consultant for the Wayne County Intermediate School District; and Sister Mary Rachel, secondary reading consultant at Madonna College.

Elementary staff members spent Wednesday in "Share Ideas Programs" at each level. Teachers mimeographed copies of successful teaching units to be stored in building files for availability to all staffers.

Thursday was directed at reading improvement, with Dr. Rachel Brake of the Wayne County Intermediate School District presenting a reading program emphasizing the importance of early diagnosis of reading problems, followed by prescriptive lessons aimed at preventing "the tragedy of the child seeing himself as a failure." All materials will be made available to the Northville schools, with a commitment of feedback to the Dr. Brake Prescriptive Program.

To meet the needs of teachers and because of cuts in special programs in art, library service, and physical education, workshops in these areas were conducted providing teachers with techniques to carry on their programs next year.

Sister Mary Alice Kipfer conducted the art workshop where teachers learned through involvement the disciplines covered in the art program at each level. Mrs. Merrie Hines conducted a workshop in developing graphics that facilitate learning for children. Robert Prom demonstrated and involved teachers in the physical education program that they will be conducting during the 1969-70 school year. Reading personnel, following identification of elementary system-wide needs, designed a program including consultant services to teachers as well as special assistance to teachers with reading levels below norms.

Teachers in the secondary schools were involved in development of departmental programs, team teaching plans, and curriculum guides. The Northville staff prepared for the Central visitation, the sixth grade staff developed units in exploratory arts and prepared for the move to the junior high school annex, and the seventh and eighth grade teachers worked on plans to meet needs of all students.

College Offers Piano Program

A new program for pianists and a special theory class for performers have been added to the curriculum for the 1969 Schoolcraft College Summer Music School, which is now accepting applications for enrollment in the four-week session beginning July 7, according to Director Wayne Dunlap.

Now in its third year, the school will again offer daily classes in chamber music and ensemble playing for high school age and other young advanced musicians in the area.

The curriculum will include chamber music, orchestra, music theory, and special courses in style and musicianship.

"The new program for pianists has been developed in response to many inquiries and will provide, in addition to the regular curriculum, work in ensemble playing, accompanying, and sight reading," Dunlap said.

"The new theory class will concern itself with examination and study of musical works as they relate directly to their performance," Dunlap said.

An enrollment approaching 100 — more than double that of the first year of the school — is expected this year. Enrollment, however, will again be selective in order to provide the instrumental balance desired to meet the musical objectives of the school.

"Each student is assigned to a faculty member who is a professional performer and a professional musician on the student's instrument," Dunlap explained. "With our ensemble approach, students work on an almost one-to-one basis with the instructor."

"We cannot accept a disproportionate number of pianists or string players, for example, because that would defeat the purpose of our ensemble approach," he explained.

The faculty this year will again be composed of professional performing musicians, a number of whom are players with the Detroit Symphony. On the faculty are Emily Mutter Austin and Inez Hullinger Redman, violin; David Ireland, viola; Mario DiFiore, cello; Marilyn Jones, flute; Robert Cowart, oboe; James Tamburini, brass; Donald Morelock, piano; and Allen Shaffer, theory. Shaffer is also serving as assistant director to the school.

Marian Wingert, bass player with the Plymouth Symphony; and Vincent Melidon, clarinetist with the Detroit Symphony, will also be available for classes and for private lessons, Dunlap said.

Classes are scheduled for 8 a.m. to noon daily, Monday through Friday. Student orchestra rehearsals are scheduled three afternoons a week until 2:30 p.m.

"We have discovered that our class schedule permits many students to attend the school and still find summer employment," Dunlap said. "Meals are available at the college cafeteria, and all classrooms are air-conditioned."

In addition to the regular class work, a student orchestra will perform three programs during the summer. Outstanding students are occasionally selected to play with the professional Court Orchestra which will perform four Wednesday evening concerts during July in the third annual Schoolcraft College Summer Music Festival.

Tuition for the four-week session is $60, an increase of $10 over past years.

"We have reluctantly increased the tuition this year in order to more realistically approach the operating costs," Dunlap said. "The college has subsidized the program heavily during its first two years and we have reached the point where we must take on a greater share of the cost."

Enrollment applications should be sent in care of the Summer Music School and Festival, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, 48151. A $10 non-refundable check must accompany each enrollment application. Students will register at the college on Monday, June 30, Dunlap said.

Private lessons will be available from faculty members at $5 per lesson. College credit is available to qualified students.

Retirement Dull? Certainly Not

Retirement dull? Never for Marion and Burton Rich of Salem. They are far too busy with multiple hobbies to ever be bored with life.

This week both are exhibiting products of their hobbies at shows in the Detroit area. Mrs. Rich's paintings and art objects have been on exhibit at Universal City at 12 Mile and Dequindre since June 18. Her husband's very special 1937 Beverly Cord is displayed with other antique cars at the Livonia Mall.

Over 300 paintings of scenery and still life have come from the brush of the active Mrs. Rich in the six years of her painting career. A member of the Betty Baldwin Artists Show Place, she usually displays some 40 or 50 paintings for sale at various shows. She recently completed a successful showing at Northland June 14.

A lover of animals, Mrs. Rich does re-markably realistic work of reproducing horses on canvas. Her Siamese cats — in pictures and painted on Japanese Basal and Mexican pebbles — have been sold from New York to California. Her own cat, Higgins, is the model for the likenesses.

It was when the Tigers won the pennant that Mrs. Rich began painting "Tiger" pictures on rocks and pebbles. Appearing in bright colors on dark colored rocks, they are most unusual objects.

She had also perfected a technique used in Europe called "old world glazing."

This type of picture begins with a blue and white pencil drawing and progresses through layer after layer of colored varnish to produce in depth effects. The whole process takes about six weeks to complete, Mrs. Rich noted.

The large, modern garage on the Riches' Centennial Farm is one to delight any man interested in automobiles. It is a place of spectacular neatness and the spot where Burt Rich pursues his hobby — restoring old cars.

The tall, reserved Rich converses freely when it comes to his hobby. His "object d'art" is a 1937 Cord Beverly which, when new, sold for a little over $2,000. It's beautifully restored white exterior and perfectly running motor make it an interesting conversation piece anywhere. It purrs along at 70 miles an hour, Rich said, and he drives it to many car meets.

"He doesn't enter it in parades anymore," his wife commented with a laugh. "The last time he drove it in the South Lyon parade, it overheated from running too slow."

A recent retiree after 28½ years at Detroit Diesel Engine of General Motors, Rich has his work cut out for him this summer. He is building from pieces a Cord Phaeton with a supercharged engine.

"It arrived on two trailers with five pick up loads of parts," Rich said, surveying his garage where boxes and boxes of parts are neatly stored on wall shelves. With the help of a book on motors from the Auburn-Cord-Duesenbu Club, of which he is a member, and the advice and assistance of a long-time friend, Glen Burnham of Salem, Burt plans to have it ready for the Auburn meet on Labor Day. Naturally, it will take place in Auburn, Indiana.

The two Cords — the white one with the original hand operated hideway headlights and the dark red Phaeton — are only half of the Rich collection. He has two other old time autos — one of them a 1910 Regal which has appeared in South Lyon Labor Day parades; the other, another 1937 Cord.

The Rich farm, Burt's birthplace, is in itself an interesting place. On the dining room wall hangs the original deed from the government for the 120 acres taken up by Moses Rich in 1833. It bears the name of Andrew Jackson, President.

A beam in the basement has part of an 1881 newspaper stuck fast to it. The Riches believe the beam came from one of the first houses erected on the farm.

Another interesting item from the basement is the large flat stone which is the headstone at their dog's final resting place. The stone marked with some deep impressions is thought to bear the print of a dinosaur. Authorities differ on whether an actual dinosaur print would be found this far west but one knowledgeable friend of the Riches is sure that it is.

Adding a note of nature interest in the Rich's front yard is a chipping sparrow nest, complete with a hatched sparrow and a new born cowbird nestled in the branches of an evergreen. The well-fed cat, Higgins, seems oblivious to the source of food, even though it is easily within his reach, about three feet off the ground.

No matter what your interest or hobby, a visit with Burt and Marion Rich is an educational opportunity.

'Robbery' Victim Fined For False Report

A Detroit man, arrested by City of Novi police, pled guilty to charges of false report of a crime last Thursday before Judge Martin Boyle at District Court 52 in Walled Lake.

Alton Earl Buck, 45, of Detroit, who earlier in the day Thursday had informed police that he had been robbed and beaten at gunpoint, admitted in court that the story was false and designed to serve as an excuse for his employer.

He was fined $500.

City of Novi Police arrested Terry Teeples, 18, of 138 Welfare Street, Walled Lake last week Sunday on charges of being absent without leave from the Army. He was kept in Oakland County Jail before being turned over to Army officials.

Bruce McKenzie, 22, and Ralph Eddie McKay, 19, both of Detroit, are awaiting examination on charges of a forged vehicle registration and carrying a concealed weapon, respectively, after having been arrested by City of Novi Police.

The pair reportedly was traveling in a panel truck driven by McKay when they were stopped by a patrolman for apparent defective equipment. The officer discovered a pistol in McKay's possession while the truck reportedly had been falsely registered on a form by McKenzie.

Seventeen-year-old John Edward Casey, 49000 11 Mile Road, charged with vehicle theft, had his case in District Court bound over to Circuit Court on Friday.

Casey, a resident in the custody of Tom Blair, reportedly broke into the Blair house on 11 Mile Road last week Saturday and then left the scene in a 1967 pickup truck belonging to the family.

He was arrested by City of Novi Police last week Sunday, arraigned the following day with his examination held Friday. Bail was set at $2,000 with his trial scheduled for July 9.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL LISGER

When county government underwent streamlining a year ago and the number of supervisors was reduced from about 130 to 26 in Wayne county, I remember more than one local official bemoaning the fact that little old Northville (city and township) had lost its representation at the county level.

Bunched in with Plymouth, Livonia and Canton, what chance did Northville have of electing a supervisor who really was concerned about Northville?

No sir. It just wouldn't be like it was when the heads of local government were the appointed representatives of the community on the county board of supervisors.

It certainly isn't.

For the first time in my 13 years of covering local government I recently heard a thorough report on what our representative on the Wayne county board, Supervisor Carl Pursell (of Plymouth), does. Actually, I heard two reports - the same one twice, given before the city council and the township board.

I think Pursell's "first quarter report" impressed the elected officials of the city and township, too. I doubt that they had ever been given such firsthand information, or felt closer representation at the county level.

In a nutshell, Pursell reminded local officials that our district (the 26th) is the largest in population and that he represents 161,400 people. After the 1970 census, Livonia will probably be sliced from our district and have a single supervisor of its own.

Wayne county operates on a budget of $160 million and employs 9,000, including the road commission.

Pursell is chairman of the Rules Committee, vice-chairman of the Wayne County Development Center Committee, and a member of the Ways and Means, Legislative, Law Enforcement and Public Safety, Jail Sub-Committee, Health, Education and Welfare and the representative to SEMCOG.

Major proposals by Pursell that have been adopted include: a new standing committee on transportation (it's tough to promote a rapid transit system against forces interested in building more highways, says Pursell); re-structuring of the welfare program to HEW; re-structuring of sheriff to public safety; and new rules to give the public an opportunity to be heard before committees and the board.

Pursell noted that reorganization of county government is badly needed and said he favored the county home rule plan, that will go back to voters again in August, 1970. In Pursell's mind, county government needs a top administrator to direct the total operation - to carry out the policies set forth by elected supervisors and be responsible to that board.

In a timely comment made to township board officials he referred to the proposed contract for police service with the sheriff's department.

First he noted that any such request must come through the law enforcement and public safety committee of the board of supervisors - and that none had been made.

He offered his services in this regard - but also gave some advice.

"I'd suggest that you look towards your city police. The trend at the county level is not to expand such service. As a matter of fact, our own airport (Metro) has just asked for State Police protection instead of the sheriff."

(Pursell's comments contrasted with Sheriff Roman Gribbs, who seemed anxious to sell extra service to Northville township).

Twelve years ago a young fellow applied for a job as superintendent of our commercial printing operations here at The Record.

"I'll tell you right now," he said, "in about five years I want to buy a print shop of my own. So I won't be staying long."

Last week Bob Blough's "five years" ended. He and his wife, Jane, purchased a printing shop in Hastings - just a few miles from their hometown of Freeport.

Right now they're squeezing-in a long-planned three weeks' vacation to California. Then Bob and Jane and their five daughters will prepare to move to Hastings.

We'll miss them at The Record. So will their many friends in Northville.

Good luck to the Bloughs. May none of their orders be marked "rush".

How About You?

A LOOSE LEAF

By ROLLY PETERSON

Very few people have it. Charisma is that rare. And yet from the time she appeared in The Wizard of Oz 30 years ago, Judy Garland had had a magnetic appeal few could escape.

Like Totsam caught in a whirlpool, people would be swept toward her, caught in her changing personality because it was inextricably tied to her talent as a singer and actress. Perhaps they were only curious, to begin with, but that charisma would then take hold.

She would fade from public view with each change in her life. And there were many. Five marriages, none happy, alcoholism and drugs, suicide attempts, depressions and despair.

But she would always return to the stage, and immediately, at the sound of her voice, a strange chemistry would take place between the audience and Judy Garland. The eternal child, she was always forgiven.

Now, Judy Garland is dead of an unknown cause. Mickey Deans, her husband of only a few months, found her dead in the bathroom of their residence in London.

"She was a unique entertainer, a wonderful singer," said Eli Wallach, the philosophical actor. "It's tragic. She is somehow the painful product of the worst part of Hollywood."

More, Judy Garland was the symbol of Hollywood, it's child and unfortunate victim. As surely as she rose to stardom in Hollywood studios, she also fell victim to its brutal publicity mill.

What created her destroyed her. There was never any middle ground, no compatibility between the public life of the star and the private life of just plain Judy. It was this inability to separate the two worlds - fantasy and reality - that led to a tragic demise.

She was the girl of happy visions as symbolized in the song "Somewhere Over the Rainbow." This is what the public will remember and it is what Judy Garland sought. And yet there was never any happiness because the vision was a sham.

Her greatest need, as it is everyone's, was to be loved. In eulogy, most columnists and writers say what people felt for Judy was love. But it wasn't. It was more a reaction to magnetic personality that bordered on idolatry, rather than genuine love.

This she could only find in a marriage. Unfortunately, she never found it. Love eluded her to the end.

Top of the Deck

by JACK W. HOFFMAN

The instant I saw her crouching in the corner - a Bromo in one hand and a stick in the other - I knew school was out.

And when she snarled ... well, I knew positively summer had arrived.

Pretending ignorance I tossed her one of my sweetest smiles and asked as delicately as possible, "What's the stick for?"

"For kid or beast - whichever comes within striking distance first," she answered through clenched teeth. "I've had it, I tell you, I've had it. It's the turtles!"

It happens like this every summer. But this time the situation was worse. The woman who wanted a dozen children but who settled for six - and a dog, five puppies, two rats, a school of fish, a mason jar of bees, and three orphaned snakes - was done in by two tiny turtles purchased at the dimestore a year ago for Mother's Day.

"Our kids learned long ago that one of the easiest ways to get an animal into the house is to offer it as a gift for mom."

When we discussed the matter the night before she was driven to the wall she had agreed to put her foot down - carefully, of course, because of the puppy trademarks here and there - and to begin eliminating the menagerie. First to go was to be the turtles.

"I took them out to the nicest pond I could find," she explained. "It was a little sad but they seemed happy when they swam away. Then I went home. I should have swam away, too, because when I got home there they were."

"What was there?"

"Well, I went down into the laundry room to put the clothes in the washer and guess what - seven little snapping turtles swimming around in there. And two fat toads sitting on the agitator!"

"Terrible," I said, "simply disgusting. What did you do?"

"What could I do, I screamed, naturally."

"Naturally," I said, "So when I screamed one of the toads jumped and knocked over the soap and it went all over the floor and the puppies ran through it and tracked it around and I swatted one with the broom and it started crying and I started crying and then in comes Joey all smiles."

"Don't cry," he tells me, "I got some new turtles for you. They're in the laundry room." And now I didn't know whether to cry some more or kiss him or spank him."

"What did you do?"

"I gave him a peanut butter and jelly and sent him packing. And then guess what?"

"I can't wait. Tell me. This is better than Abbott and Costello at their best."

"Well, in comes Jim. And guess what - he's carrying this big box turtle. Got 'em out of the sewer, he tells me, and he's giving it to me 'cause he knows I'm sad about having to give up the store-bought ones."

"Isn't it grand to be loved," I said.

"Maybe for you," she said draining her Bromo, "but just for once I wish someone would show me a little hate once in awhile. Love's got me nothing but kids and animals. You can have it! I'm saving all mine for teachers ... oh, those lovely, lovely teachers..."

could have worked to more perfection. They landed at Brunswick at the time scheduled. A greater speed was made from Northville to Brunswick than will be necessary for Redfern to maintain on his proposed flight to South America. "Eddie Stinson returned from Georgia the first of the week, and has been devoting his time to other planes that are being made for long distance flights to be made by other fliers." "Oh, yes, he bought the plane in Northville," said Mrs. Redfern, who never remarried and who works today as an executive secretary for the Bendix Corporation. "I saw it in Northville before it was christened at Detroit. It was a beautiful plane for those days and Paul, just a young man then, was proud of it."

His takeoff from the beach at Sea Island is vividly etched in her memory. "It's a beautiful beach," she said, "and he took off shortly after noon when the tide was out."

On a bluff overlooking this same beach last week a plaque was dedicated in an impressive ceremony that included remarks by sisters of her husband, by Dr. D. L. Lind, an astronaut, and several persons who were present on that day in 1927.

Navy jets swept past the beach in a salute to the early pilot and his widow, while an old Stinson Detroit winged low over the shoreline to remind the crowd of an earlier colorful era of aviation.

"It was a very nice ceremony, very tastefully done," she told The Record. Although she maintained hope for several years that her husband would be found, "it was obvious that there wasn't any tangible evidence to support any of the stories. Some of them were ridiculous. One man even said he saw Paul and had his knife. But all they wanted was the publicity."

Yet, even today, she clings to her memory, noting that only recently a plane was found intact on an ice flow in the far North years after it had been lost. The pilot died in the crash, of course, but "at least there was some tangible evidence of what had happened after all those years."

15th Trotting Derby On Tap Wednesday

The eyes of the harness racing world will be focused on Northville Downs Wednesday night (July 2) for the 15th renewal of the Michigan Trotting Derby with an estimated purse of $18,000.

It will be the largest purse in the history of the track. Going in with a $15,000 guarantee, the amount is expected to hit at least $18,000 by race time, according to John J. Carlo, Northville executive manager.

Racing Secretary Harry Peterson anticipates an entry of 10 of the original 17 nominees. He is looking for the following Michigan trotters to face the starter come Derby Night: Blue Water Goldy, owned by Gene Olford of Lexington; During Duke, Jim McGary of Fowlerville; Greek Dancer, Jack Richards of Livonia; Lady Missle, Richard Packard of Ann Arbor; Mighty Popular, Mighty Popular Stables of Birmingham; Oak Grove, Stanford Rubach of Oak Park; and Randy D, William Rothe of Dexter.

The traditional event was won a year ago by Clarence Guy, owned by M. & V. Zeinfeld of Maywood, Illinois.

OK Contracts For 11 Teachers

Julie Maata, Orchard Hills third grade, $6,990; Marilyn Stron, high school math, $6,700; Dorothy Benit, Orchard Hills fourth grade, $6,700; John Billy, Orchard Hills fifth grade, $8,300; Carolyn Smith, Novi Elementary fifth grade, $9,445; and Patricia Taylor, high school chemistry.

In other action, the board ratified contracts for bus drivers, office employees, and the custodial staff. While the total or categorical cost of the new contracts were not revealed at the public meeting, Superintendent Thomas Dale said salary increases approximated 8 to 9-percent.

property could be assured, with perhaps acreage for schools, a public golf course, park land, housing and industry, city and school officials point out.

None of these suggestions, however, have gotten past the "talking" stage, even though city and school officials favor some form of local purchase and are anxious to get something started. But because the property is located in the township they are obliged to wait for the township's move.

The matter has been tabled pending a report by Villan-Leman Associates, the township's planning consultant, on whether or not present zoning (single family homes) is advisable.

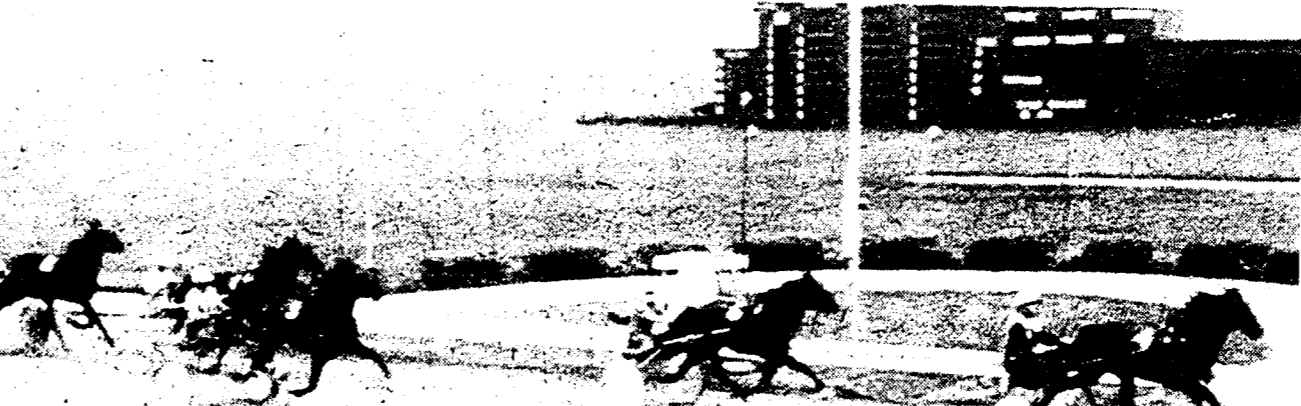

Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, who admittedly favors maintaining the present zoning with attempts to attract a "good developer" and who is cool to the idea that any industry be permitted there, said he is willing to base his decision on the consultant's findings.

The consultant, Stromberg said Monday, is vacationing and should return soon.

Meanwhile, Klein, who earlier said Northville has about 90 days to come up with a proposal before the property is put up for public sale, continued to wait for Northville's answer: "Yes, we want it" or "no, we don't want it."

HARDLY A HINT of the once famous Stinson Airfield remains at Six Mile and Beck, notes Charles Lapham, grandson of Charles Ponstorf who leased the airfield property to Eddie Stinson. Behind Lapham, in an area now overgrown with brush, is where the hangar stood in which Paul Redfern's ill-fated plane was assembled.

Another Imprisoned South Lyon Youths Face Trial

Two South Lyon youths charged earlier this month with breaking and entering Danny's Mobil Station, Novi Road and I-96, are scheduled to appear today (Thursday) in Circuit Court before Judge Arthur Moore.

Jack Caldwell, 17, and David Hughes, 18, both of South Lyon, were arrested with two other teenagers at the scene on June 3 and charged with breaking and entering.

A third member of the group, William Jobe, 17, had charges of breaking and entering against him dismissed while the other individual is a juvenile ordered to appear in Probate Court.

Coincidentally, Jobe on Friday appeared in Circuit Court on charges of parole violation and was sentenced to two years in Michigan State Prison at Jackson.

Caldwell and Hughes reportedly admitted the breaking and entering to police and also confessed to similar offenses in Milford and South Lyon.

"You had your chance and you threw it away," Judge Beer told Jobe. The judge emphasized that Jobe, placed on probation last February after pleading guilty to assault with intent to do great bodily harm and kidnapping of Novi Patrolman Robert Starnes in July, had violated a condition of his probation when he dropped out of school.

Jobe was one of five South Lyon youths who kidnapped Starnes at gunpoint on July 30.

Oakland County Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer handed down the sentence to William J. Jobe, 18, of South Lyon, for violation of his parole.

Police Blotter

City of Novi Police took eight-year-old Douglas Broyles to Botsford Hospital, Farmington, on Monday when he sustained cuts to his arm after putting it through a glass door.

The youngster is a foster child at the Arthur Valent residence, 27925 Summit Drive.

Thomas Laprice of 43767 Park Road, Northville, and Warren Smith, 16175 Bradner, Northville, were arraigned Tuesday before Judge Martin Boyle in District Court at Walled Lake on charges evolving from an altercation at The Pepper Tree Restaurant, 21420 Novi Road.

According to City of Novi Police, Laprice and Smith became involved in a verbal argument at the restaurant Friday night. Judge Boyle set their examinations for July 11.

Police Corporal Dale Gros and "Banner," the department's tracking dog, assisted Wixom Police on Monday in a search for a runaway juvenile. The youngster was reported missing about 9:30 p. m., and discovered soon afterwards by Gros and the dog.

NEW TESTING EQUIPMENT - Northville Police Chief Sam Elkins inspects a Breathalyzer which his department received earlier this month for testing suspects believed to be intoxicated. The equipment, estimated at a value of $925, was purchased by federal funds with the city to provide its operators. Elkins explains that Sergeant Louis Westfall already has been trained to operate the machine with two other policemen to receive similar instruction soon. Previously, the department had to transport suspects to the State Police's Redford post for testing.

FISHIN'S POOR? "We had a ball," chortled David Wright, adult adviser of Explorer Post 905, members of which returned Monday from an 11-day camping trip into Canada, "but the fishing was poor." But you wouldn't know it by the stringer of pike shown off by five of the seven Explorer Scouts who made the trip. They're holding only part of their catch, and that 100-pound black bear on top with Wright was bagged by Frank (Pete) Brown, assistant adviser, who stayed in the north woods with his two Explorer sons, Randy and Ron, and George Whitsell, Explorer institutional representative. Proudly displaying the pike they didn't eat are (l to r) Doug Ritchie, Robert Durham, Phil Gardner, Bob Cummings, and Dave Wright. Their "safari" truck was loaned to the Explorers by the George Miller Dodge dealership here. Where did they go? "About 90 miles south of Chapeau," said Wright obviously guarding a secret.

13 Get Certificates

Certificates of completion were awarded on June 6 to 13 persons enrolled in a 12-week course on Michigan's natural history at Schoolcraft College this spring.

Receiving certificates were Dorothy A. Smith, Sister Mary Elaine Koch, Sister Mary Leona Jeromin, Emma S. Makinen, Kay Wittliff, and Patricia Niergarth, all of Farmington; Margaret E. Converse, Eleanor Jones, Bess King, and Hillary McLeod, all of Livonia; Helen McCarthy, Northville; and W. Anne Helzer and Dorothy Wickde, both of Northville.

Five instructors, four of them full-time members of the college faculty, were used in the course. They were Grover Niergarth (birds); Anthony Rizzo (glacial history); William Ryan (geology); Roger Sutherland (zoology); and Mary Ellis (spring flowers).

Novi Grocery Changes Hands

Frank's Grocery, a family business for almost a quarter of a century at 43546 Grand River in Novi, is changing hands.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sequin, who have owned the business for 23 years, have sold to William Klaser, 48640 Summit Court, and will retire to a new home on their farm in Fowlerville.

Announcing that they have found it necessary to retire, the Sequins publicly are thanking their customers for their patronage and comment that many are friends also. They have been in process of moving from the store building where they also made their home.

Klaser, who has been in the store for the last three weeks, said that he does not plan to manage it personally, but will have sisters Mrs. Melody Vance and Miss Brook Peay do so. The new store will be renamed The Quality House.

Klaser and his parents are long-time residents of the area, having lived here for more than 20 years.

Kensington Park Has Record May

Three of the four major parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority had record-breaking attendance for the month of May and for Memorial Day.

Kensington Metropolitan Park near here had a record 317,000 persons using the park in May of 1969 compared to 212,000 in May of 1968. The previous record for the month was 301,000 set in May of 1964.

Kensington Park had a record 57,100 persons using facilities on Friday, May 30, which topped the previous single day's use of 51,000 set on Sunday, June 30, 1963.

'Cottony' Bugs Hit Area Trees

With reports growing locally of bugs attacking area maple trees, District Extension Horticultural Agent Gordon K. Dennis alerted homeowners to get ready to spray.

The pest is the Cottony Maple Scale - white cottony masses that form along the twigs and branches of maples. It may kill large branches or severely weaken trees.

According to Dennis, the insect cannot be reached with an insecticide now. "Nothing can penetrate the scale insect's cover," he said. However, in another two to three weeks the young crawlers will be hatching from eggs laid under the white masses, and when these appear it will be time to spray, he explained.

He suggested spraying about July 1 with 2 1/2 gal. of 50-percent wettable Sevin (2 lbs./100 gal.) or 2 1/2 gal. of four-fluorable Sevin (1 qt./100 gal.)

Kensington Park Braces For 'Fourth'

All eight parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority are in readiness for the Fourth of July week-end extending from Friday, July 4 through Sunday, July 6.

These parks offer a wide variety of recreation within the counties of Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne. Locally, here is a summary of events and facilities:

Kensington Metropolitan Park near New Hudson. This 4,300-acre site is one of the largest and most popular parks in southeastern Michigan. Swimming facilities include two bathing beaches along Kent Lake, each with dressing rooms, showers, first aid stations, food service and coin-operated lockers. There are 13 large picnic areas in the park, many with shelters and playground equipment.

Several miles of roadway provide a scenic drive and there is a boat rental building, two boat launching ramps, pier fishing, golf course, nature trails and a nature center. Swimming hours are 9 a.m. to dusk and only at the beach sites.

A special attraction for many visitors is a cruise aboard the "Island Queen" excursion boat, which is a replica of an old Mississippi Riverboat. The 45-minute tours are available noon through 6 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays only and charges are 25-cents for children and 50-cents for adults.

Park hours are sunrise to 11 p.m. The park entrance is along the I-96 (Grand River) Freeway between New Hudson and Brighton. For additional information phone 685-1561 (Milford).

Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, Dexter-Huron and Delhi Metropolitan Parks are three smaller picnic-playfield type parks along the scenic Huron River located from seven to twelve miles northwest of Ann Arbor and near the Village of Dexter. There are a few shelters and picnic facilities are located in the wooded areas. Park hours are 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. For additional information phone 426-8211, the park office at Hudson Mills. The entrance to Hudson Mills is on North Territorial road between Dexter-Pinckney Road and Huron River Drive. The entrance to Delhi and Dexter-Huron are along Huron River Drive.

Plus Additions News Unveils Revised Staff

An expansion and reorganization of The Record editorial staff was announced this week by Publisher William Sliger.

Under the new alignment Managing Editor Jack C. Hoffman becomes assistant to the publisher with editorial responsibilities for The South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus as well as The Northville Record-Nowi News.

Working directly with Hoffman will be two new Record staffers, Donald Krupp and Sally Anne Burke. Krupp comes to the Record from the Ypsilanti Press where he was city government reporter.

A native of Grand Ledge, Krupp is 26 and single. He is a former All-State football player and attended Hope College and Eastern Michigan University where he participated in football, basketball and baseball.

Sally Anne Burke is a native of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. A journalism major, Sally Anne attended the University of Wisconsin for three years. In June, 1968 she married Frank J. Burke, also a Wisconsin student, and the couple now resides in Westland.

Sally completed her education and received her degree in journalism this summer from Wayne State University.

She has had experience both as a reporter and editor of the Sun Prairie Star-Countryman in Wisconsin.

During an hour-long period when the discussion was open to the public citizens expressed their fear that the company might later seek to develop its adjoining property to the east for multiple housing, too.

No Go on Multiples People Block Zoning Bid

Residents predominantly from Meadowbrook and Orchard Hills subdivisions turned out in force on a warm, muggy Monday night and voiced some heated objections to a proposed rezoning for apartments on Ten Mile Road before the City of Novi Council took unanimous action denying the request.

Approximately 85 citizens attended the joint council-planning commission session at the Novi Community Building with the majority concerned over the proposed rezoning of 32-acres of property on Ten Mile Road near Meadowbrook Road from its existing light industrial and single-family housing to allow for multiple-family housing.

The request had been made by Practical Homebuilders with the parcels owned by Practical and Max Sheldon. Practical also owns other property running east of the proposed apartment site with tentative plans of developing it in accordance with its existing single-family zoning.

Orchard Hills borders to the east of the area requested for multiple housing while Meadowbrook is to the southeast. Both have been recently developed and include ranch type single-family homes.

Sheldon's property, which abuts Practical's to the west, also fronts on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and is the portion presently zoned light industrial. Upon Practical Homebuilders' request for rezoning, the planning commission decided to also consider rezoning Sheldon's property for multiple housing in order to promote compatible development.

The area presently designated for light industrial is a narrow strip with its limited access and width apparently hindering its potential for industrial development.

Sam Heckman, of Practical Homebuilders, explained that his firm desires to have its parcel rezoned for multiple housing so that it can erect apartments serving as a buffer from the railway for its proposed single-family development to the east.

He said that such density housing would allow the company the financial flexibility to invest in improving surface drainage problems in the area. Both Meadowbrook and Orchard Hills are currently plagued with large amounts of standing water.

Separate petitions opposing the rezoning had been submitted prior to the hearing by residents of Meadowbrook and Orchard Hills with the majority of comments during the session objecting because of a fear that the development would cause neighboring properties to drop in value.

Citizens also emphasized that occupancy of the apartments, assumed to attract young families, might burden the existing public school facilities and eventually reflect itself in increased school taxes to provide for additional facilities.

Days of the spirited old town meetings—for the most part—have gone by the way with just too many other "more important" things having developed over the years. But, as was evident on Monday, a public hearing regarding the future use of property in your neighborhood will bring out the people—hot weather and all. Mayor Joseph Crupi (left and center) makes a comment and directs discussion and then a citizen makes his point. The City of Novi Council acted to deny a rezoning request for multiple housing after listening to protests for about an hour at the Community Building.

Council Showdown Endorses 'Industry'

A request to rezone a stretch of property on Novi Road near Ten Mile Road from existing commercial and residential to light industrial just squeaked by City of Novi Council on Monday despite an unanimous recommendation from the Planning Commission.

E. & W. Tills Company, of Detroit, had applied for the rezoning on a parcel of property in order to allow it to construct a showroom and storage facility for its products. In order to make future development in the area compatible, the planning commission had also designated several adjoining parcels for rezoning to light industrial.

The hearing on the proposal, rather mild compared to a 60-minute session that preceded it on a request for rezoning to allow multiple housing near Orchard Hills and Meadowbrook subdivisions, included indications of opposition from a trio of adjoining property owners on the basis that such action would cause their taxes to increase because of resulting increases in their property values.

One house wife also emphasized that she objected to use of the property by light industrial in a predominantly residential area.

In other business Monday, the Planning Commission acted establishing the second Monday of the month as its regular meeting date. Previously, it has met on the last Monday.

Eleven Mile Crash Claims Youngster

The three-year-old son of an Eleven Mile Road couple was killed Saturday when, according to City of Novi Police, he ran into the path of a car near his home.

Roy Brent Smithson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan B. Smithson, 47194 Eleven Mile Road, Novi, died at Farmington's Botsford Hospital later Saturday from injuries received in the mishap.

Funeral services were to be held this week in Tennessee. The child ran into the path of a car driven by 16-year-old Roger D. Barton as he was traveling west on Eleven Mile at about 30 miles-per-hour, according to police. Barton was unable to avoid the collision and was not considered to be at fault, police explained.
