

Thousands To Enjoy Spectacle

At least one-half million families are expected to take special weekend trips through Michigan between now and early November to see this state's autumnal show...

This means that approximately 1.5 million persons will be on our highways for the sole purpose of viewing forest from late September when colors reach their peak...

He points out that weekend fall color tourists alone will contribute approximately $40 million of the record $1.35 billion expected to be spent on tourism in Michigan during 1969.

The average color tour will last two days and will cover 400 miles, which means that a total of 150 million miles will be driven, adds Fisher.

Fall color dates for Michigan - which can vary as much as a week depending on weather - are as follows:

Upper Peninsula and northern tip of Lower Peninsula - September 26 to October 5.

Northern Third Lower Peninsula - October 3 to October 12.

Central Lower Peninsula - October 10 to October 26.

Southern Lower Peninsula - October 24 to November 2.

Warm, dry weather means that colors can remain in an area for two weeks. Cold, wet weather means that colors will be muted.

Persons wishing to see the earliest color should tour along Lake Superior in the Upper Peninsula. As the days progress, colors begin to show inland and move southward.

Motorists will find that the fall touring season is less expensive than summer since many motels now have reduced rates.

However, reservations at many motels and resort areas are still essential since hunters and fishermen are putting more pressure on facilities than ever before.

Venison Delight Available

A new bulletin detailing how to prepare venison for the dinner table is now available through the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University.

Entitled "Venison—Upper Peninsula Style," the 20-page pamphlet offers guidelines for the handling of deer meat from the moment the animal is shot through dressing out, skinning and cutting up into traditional dinner parcels.

Included are 45 different recipes originating in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Single copies can be obtained free of charge by writing for Extension Bulletin E-57 at the Bulletin Office, Agricultural Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Mich. 48823. Additional copies are 10 cents each.

Six Killed In Buses

Six persons, three of them children, were killed and 681 others injured in the 1,002 school bus and related type accidents reported in Michigan in the 1968-69 school year, according to the State Police traffic division.

Compared with the previous year, deaths decreased by three while there were increases of 129 in injuries and 148 in accidents. Both the injury and accident totals were new highs.

Of the accidents five resulted in fatalities, 349 in injuries and 648 in property damage only.

Chief's Movie Debut Delayed

One of the many recent traffic accidents at Ten Mile Road and Novi Road was recorded on film by a Detroit television station's mobile crew who just happened to be in the area at the time.

But since the mishap wasn't considered of serious consequence and wasn't expected to be used in that station's news, the cameraman turned the film over to Chief Lee BeGoie who boasts that he's got a replay available of "some real good police work."

BeGoie himself was at the scene, which isn't unusual since the enthusiastic chief can just about always be found policing around town, and is pretty confident that his movie debut was an impressive one after revealing that he personally was at his candid best.

And the chief also jokingly adds that "some of the other cops seemed to be hamming it up a bit, too."

But only one problem: it seems that the chief doesn't have a projector and looking at the film strip otherwise is pretty hard on the eyes, the chief says, rubbing his eyes.

"Yep, just one small problem," BeGoie relates after waving the film box under the listener's nose. "Just one problem - no projector."

"If I had a projector, this film would be running continuously," he adds. "We'd run it around the clock."

And knowing the chief, you've got to believe it. So anybody who has a projector, keep your distance... please.

Activity at Novi PD presently is at an elbow-to-elbow pace as the active department goes about its abundance of regular business.

A movie flicking on the wall with the chief doing the commentary while detectives book suspects and patrolmen complete reports as the telephone rings and gun permits are issued while a reporter tags an officer through all the confusion and...

I got to believe the movie's a good one - it seems I've read the book.

Conditions along Ingersol Creek should be better next spring thanks to efforts contributed by the Novi Jaycees and the Boy Scouts.

The two groups put their shoulders together this month and cleaned debris from the creek hoping to facilitate the flow of water which during past springs has overflowed the banks.

Jaycee Bob Heslip was chairman of the project and the city donated the use of its trucks to aid in removing the debris.

A good project which besides cleaning up the creek, also provided an opportunity for a Boy Scout to know a little more what a Jaycee is all about and vice-versa.

Stop Light Shines On Mishap Series

A traffic signal erected recently as a safety measure at Novi Road and Ten Mile Road is apparently having an immediate reverse effect with area motorists demonstrating some difficulty making the transition to the new arrangement.

Two personal injury accidents occurred at the intersection during the last week, according to Police Chief Lee BeGoie, in a continuing series of mishaps at the crossroads since the Oakland County Department of Public Works installed the traffic light on August 28.

The light's a real convenience to residents but we've had an unusual number of accidents there since it has been put up," the chief observes.

Residents of the area annually had requested the traffic signal claiming that the intersection was hazardous without it.

Last Friday three cars collided at the intersection while last week Wednesday, the location was the site of a two-car mishap. Also on Novi Road last week Wednesday - just minutes before the accident at Ten Mile - a collision occurred with the congestion created by the two mishaps within a one-mile stretch causing five o'clock traffic to jam almost to Eight Mile Road, according to BeGoie.

At 3:46 p.m. on Friday, vehicles driven by J.C. Beasley, 59, of Plymouth, Eva Jean Pascoe, 39, Salem, and Hazel Mary Novacheff, of Farmington, collided at the Ten Mile-Nowi Road intersection with a wheel from the Pascoe auto being propelled into a plate glass window at Snow's Standard Service located on the northeast corner.

According to City of Novi Police, the mishap occurred when Beasley failed to stop for the signal with his car striking the vehicle driven by the Salem woman. The force of impact caused Mrs. Pascoe's car to crash into the vehicle driven by the Farmington woman, according to police.

Officers ticketed Beasley for disregarding a stop light while the injured were treated and released at St. Mary's of Livonia Hospital.

The first of two mishaps on Novi Road last week Wednesday occurred at 5 p.m. when vehicles driven by James Galloway, 47, of Detroit, and Donald Moore, 40, of Southfield, collided head-on.

A patrolman enroute to the mishap encountered a second accident at Ten Mile and Novi Road where two cars - one driven by a Northville woman - had collided. The second crash reportedly occurred about seven minutes after the first in heavy traffic along the major road.

According to police, the Moore-Galloway mishap occurred when Galloway lost control of his car skidding into the path of Moore's vehicle. The mishap was in front of The Pepper Tree Restaurant and Guernsey's Dairy Store.

Police ticketed Larry Odette, 18, of Farmington, following the Wednesday accident at the intersection for overtaking and passing on the right.

According to officers, the mishap occurred when Odette, attempting to pass through the intersection on the right, lost control of his auto where the roadway narrows and proceeded broadside into the path of an oncoming car driven by Mrs. Betty Jean Matatal, 46, of 46141 Sunset, Northville.

The Novi Fire Department was called to the scene to wash down the roadway while the injured were treated and released at Botsford Hospital, Farmington.

City Acquires Property

The City of Novi Council revealed its intentions Monday to purchase a residence and property on Grand River Avenue for future use by the Department of Public Works and then proceeded to do so at the $46,000 transaction.

Mayor Joseph Crupi explained that he had informally polled councilmen concerning acquiring the property last Thursday and had authorized a $2,000 deposit in order to hold the property for formal action.

The mayor explained that the city had been seeking such an acquisition for "several years now" and had "lost out" once in the past because of delays encountered awaiting formal action.

The council Monday voted unanimously to make the purchase. The house, a modern brick ranch-type, is located on three-and-a-half acres of property at 45700 Grand River Avenue, just west of Taft Road. The property is being purchased through Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunt with a $20,000 down payment and $300 per month until the debt is retired.

"This quest for property has dated back several years and we do need a location for the DPW," the mayor explained.

Mayor Crupi stated that the existing facilities will be used and developed for the Department of Public Works and "possibly other administrative offices." Presently, the DPW offices are in the basement of City Hall while equipment is presently stored in a leased garage at 46401 Grand River Avenue.

In other business Monday, the council tentatively agreed to assume a half-mill levy for the library as soon as legal preliminaries can be resolved. The council also adopted a service in which it will mail copies of its minutes and agendas to civic organizations who submit a stamped, self-addressed envelope in advance.

City Manager Harold Ackley explained that one-half mill assessed against former township residents now within the city must be assumed by the municipality in order to maintain the facility.

Councilmen also voted unanimously to pay overtime costs of $934.14 to policemen for July through September. The council also adopted a service in which it will mail copies of its minutes and agendas to civic organizations who submit a stamped, self-addressed envelope in advance.

Over Assets, Services Talks Progress To New Barrier

Talks last week between City of Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi and Novi Township Supervisor Leo Kalota apparently resulted in one agreement - on the present use of office space in the City-Township Hall - and one disagreement - over the cost of extending fire protection from the city to the township.

Following an election last February, the former village became a city and incorporate about 97 percent of the original township. In compliance with state law, the reorganized governments were supposed to divide assets proportionately within 90 days - or by May 24.

The township, explaining that its new officers were in the process of becoming acquainted with new responsibilities, asked that the action be delayed until they could prepare themselves to proceed. But City Council, in need for a settlement of the City-Township Hall so that it can either find other quarters or expand to accommodate crowded office conditions, ordered a show-case hearing September 1 after establishing the date in mid-August as a deadline for the division of assets.

The officials met last week Tuesday to consider the procedure of dividing assets, a practice which is also being considered by the two governments in Circuit Court after the city issued a show-case order against the township for alleged delays in property settlements following their re-alignments.

Court Supports Council Action

The City of Novi won the favor of Circuit Court Judge Robert Templin on Friday after successfully defending City Council action denying Beck Road's Frank Davis permission to locate a mobile home park on Beck near Nine Mile Road. But it's only another down and another to go, it was learned by councilmen Monday.

Charges against the city by Davis, originally filed in 1964, were dismissed by Judge Templin on Friday but now similar charges have been claimed against the city by developers including Lynn Mathews and Paul Monohon who had a request before the council for a mobile home park on Napier Road south of Twelve Mile Road denied last spring.

The on-again, off-again status of the 196 interchanges at Novi Road, Beck Road and Wixom Road - all within a three-mile stretch - seemingly now calls for phasing out Beck Road while enlarging both the Wixom Road and Novi Road interchanges to cloverleaves. And the City of Wixom, with the apparent support of Oakland County, is expected to continue its opposition to closing the Beck Road interchange among claims that it's needed to service Ford's Lincoln-Mercury plant located less than a mile to the southeast.

State Highway Department officials report that they have reviewed the interchanges and are proposing a "package plan" in which the two will be expanded and the one eliminated. A spokesman said that it would require "considerable work" - at an expense which engineers feel would be prohibitive - to upgrade Beck.

"We have this worked out with the Bureau of Roads but Wixom has indicated that it opposes closing Beck Road at that point," the spokesman reported.

Cyclist's Life Saved by Helmet?

A safety helmet, recently made mandatory for cyclists by the State Legislature, apparently kept a Livonia man from serious injury or death Friday afternoon during a collision on Grand River Avenue, according to City of Novi Police.

Gerald Jordan, 32, of Livonia, was traveling eastbound on a motorcycle about 5:14 p.m. Friday on Grand River when a car driven by Dennis Daniel, 23, Wixom, turned into his path, officers reported.

The mishap occurred at 7:20 p.m., according to the chief. An autopsy was performed to determine cause of death but details have not been released, McGuire said.

Wixom City Police this week are continuing their investigation into an auto-pedestrian accident which Sunday claimed the life of a 49-year-old resident.

According to Police Chief Tom McGuire, William Jaskelainen, 49, of 1820 Creeds Road, was pronounced dead at Pontiac General Hospital on Sunday after he was struck by a car traveling on Loon Lake Road. McGuire said that the name of the motorist is being withheld.

The mishap occurred at 7:20 p.m., according to the chief. An autopsy was performed to determine cause of death but details have not been released, McGuire said.

'Body Showing' Fashions Seen

This year, Ladies, "Your Body Is Showing" as fashions for fall and winter are cut closer to the body.

That's the fashion news outlined at a J. L. Hudson Company Westland fashion show last Friday to which area press women were invited. As longer, belted jackets appeared on suits and favorite shirt-dress looks returned, the audience noted that skirts stayed above the knee.

Miss Patricia Papson, Hudson fashion coordinator who spoke here last season to Northville Women's Club, and Peggy Matthews, Midwest editor of Mademoiselle magazine, however, pointed out that women "do not have to be hemmed in" by skirt lengths as maxi coats to wear with pants or short dresses are being sold. (At least one has been seen here - at PTA)

LWV to Air Electoral College

The electoral college system and such proposed reforms as direct election of the president will be the topic of the next general meeting of the Northville-Plymouth area provisional League of Women Voters at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 8, in the Nautical Room of Schoolcraft College.

The local LWV Electoral College committee, headed by Mrs. Elden Bieri, will present a history of the electoral college system and analyze proposed reform programs, including the automatic plan, the district plan, the proportional system and direct popular election of the president.

Following the presentation members will take a consensus on whether they feel a change is needed in electing the president and vice-president, and, if so, which method they prefer.

Denise Holman was her sister's maid of honor. Her gown was blue chiffon designed with an A-line skirt, empire waist and white lace bodice and sleeves. She carried a nosegay of blue carnations.

Judy Vought of Brighton, sister of the bridegroom, and Cathleen Mapes of Northville, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Their pink gowns were designed identically to that of the maid of honor and they carried pink carnation nosegays.

Carla Schronce, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl with Jerry Wick, cousin of the bride, as ring bearer. Miss Schronce was dressed similarly to the bridesmaids and carried a basket of pink carnations.

Richard Nefski of Milford was the best man. Serving as ushers were David Vought of Brighton, brother of the groom, and Donald Holman of South Lyon, brother of the bride.

The reception for 150 guests was held in the VFW Hall in South Lyon.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Vought chose a navy blue and white dress with navy accessories.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of South Lyon High School and the groom a 1965 graduate of Brighton High.

The couple will reside in Missouri until he receives his Army discharge in December.

Linda Jane French chose it as the family's future home, but since then it was mentioned as the home town of an astronaut's wife, the location of a Holiday magazine restaurant, and the next-door-neighbor of Ridgewood, the affluent suburb featured by the Wall Street Journal.)

The six have been members of a Girl Scout troop since they have been youngsters and have saved through the years for the trip (which they find cannot be made under official Girl Scout sanction). It's still on, however, as a personal tour with troop leaders, Mrs. Glenn Deibert and Mrs. Fred Steiner.

A truck will be parked at the scout-recreation building between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. during the two days. Any of the girls will pick up papers at homes before or during the drive.

They are Denise Bidwell, 349-0539; Judy Bogart, 349-3491; Linda Damell, 349-2307; Colleen Deibert, 349-0285; Sandy Northup, 349-2080; and Ellen Wisner, 349-0292.

Both the bride-elect and her fiancée are graduates of Northville High School. She presently is a junior at Eastern Michigan University. Her fiancée is serving in the U.S. Army.

No wedding date has been set.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAVY

TWO DATES for events to which everyone in the community is invited have just been entered on the fast-filling fall-into-winter calendar.

Mothers' Club annual Candlelight Dinner-Dance is set for November 8 at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

Northville Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association has reserved Saturday, December 5, for a holiday flower show and sale to be held in the VFW hall.

Again this year the Mother's Club dance will be a benefit for the Cavern teen club. Mrs. James Tellam and Mrs. Samuel McSevery, co-chairmen, have signed Phil Cole's five-piece orchestra to play for the dancing.

A new feature this year will be hot hors d'oeuvres served at the "congeniality hour" before the sit-down dinner.

Mrs. William Davis and Mrs. Herbert Weston are in charge of decorations. Mrs. Harold Wright, assisted by Mrs. Robert Bogart, is ticket chairman. She reports that tickets for the benefit, at $20 a couple, will be available in a few days.

Next regular Mothers' Club meeting will be a business session at 8 p.m. October 13 with Mrs. Robert Boshoven, 900 West Main. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Leroy Ordling and Mrs. E. O. Weber.

The club announced new members at its opening meeting last week. Mrs. Earle McIntosh, who has just moved from Woodhill Road to a new home on Curtis Road, and Mrs. Edward Kelly are new members. Mrs. Bogart returned to active membership. They replace Mrs. Donald Schwendemann, who with her family moved to a waterfront home on St. Clair River Drive in Algona last summer as her husband is in business in Marine City, and Mrs. John Walker, New Jersey, as her husband is a Manhattan commuter.

We had never heard of Hohokus until Barbara chose it as the family's future home, but since then it was mentioned as the home town of an astronaut's wife, the location of a Holiday magazine restaurant, and the next-door-neighbor of Ridgewood, the affluent suburb featured by the Wall Street Journal.)

News Around Northville

Theatre and luncheon hostesses who will welcome Town Hall goers to the opening lecture starring television personality Virginia Graham at 11 a.m. next Thursday at Northville High auditorium were named Tuesday.

Mrs. Olson Atchinson, theatre hostess for Northville Town Hall, will be assisted by Mrs. William Slattery, Mrs. Raymond Stillson and Mrs. Robert Brueck.

Mrs. Donald Ware and Mrs. William McDermott are hostesses for the celebrity luncheon to follow at Lofy's Restaurant in Plymouth. They will have several assistants. Luncheon reservations at $3 must be paid in advance and must be made by the Friday before the lecture, with tomorrow the deadline for the first one. The committee suggests that a stamped, self-addressed envelope helps speed delivery of either town hall or luncheon tickets.

Individual tickets to hear Virginia Graham are available at $5. Series tickets are $10 for four lectures. Checks may be mailed to Northville Town Hall, Box 93.

Twentieth annual bazaar and harvest festival sponsored by the Lapeer Parents Association for mentally retarded children will be held this Saturday, October 4, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the IOOF Hall, 3248 West Twelve Mile, Berkley. Luncheon and dinner will be served.

Northville Senior Citizens' Club will see slides and hear about Miss Ione Palmer's round-the-world trip at its scout-recreation building.

There will also be a business session. Refreshments will be served.

The first meeting of Cub Scout Pack 721 will be held tonight (Thursday) beginning at 7 p.m. in the VFW Hall on Northville Road. All third graders or both eight through ten years old are eligible to join the pack.

Sunset District Executive Director Robert Thornbladh will be the guest speaker.

Mrs. D. W. Richmond and her daughter, Mrs. Ann Smith, from Pruce, Michigan, and formerly of Northville, visited the C. T. Wheatons enroute to their winter home in Manatee, Florida.

Northville Business and Professional Women's Club was presented with the organization's "Nite" attendance trophy at the fall meeting of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs last Sunday at the Mayflower Meeting House.

The trophy is awarded to the club with the largest percentage of its membership represented at the meeting. It is the first time that the local club has won the trophy, which is kept permanently if won three times.

State President Constance Geisler was the luncheon speaker at the meeting hosted by the Garden City, Livonia and Farmington clubs.

New members welcomed to the Northville club this fall are Kathryn Hill, Susan Ketter, Marion Kahler, all of the local branch of Manufacturers National Bank, and Margaret LeFevre and Edna Foreman, of Atchison Clinic.

A representative of the newly formed Northville-Plymouth chapter of the League of Women Voters will speak at the chapter's next meeting October 27 at Hillside Inn. Membership in the local club is open to all interested business and professional women in Northville.

Residents of Northville, Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Westland are invited to attend. Meetings are held the second Monday of each month in the evening at Sword of the Spirit Church in Livonia. In November, Robinson

Coffee Hours to Fete Newcomers

Five fall neighborhood coffees will be given next week by Northville Newcomers Club for new arrivals and prospective members to become acquainted with present members.

Leading off the series will be an evening coffee from 8 to 10 p.m. next Monday at the home of Mrs. James Fowkes, 203 North Elve Drive, for newcomers of Northville Heights and the City of Northville.

Tuesday Mrs. David Cheek, 379 Welch, will be hostess for a morning coffee from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for the Village Green area.

Two coffees are scheduled for next Wednesday. Mrs. Paul Butz, 18201 Laragh, will open her Edenderry home from 10 a.m. until noon for a coffee for newcomers of the south section of the township and Kings Mill residents. Mrs. Stanley Coon, 18157 Docksey, will be hostess for a coffee from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for the western part of the township and Taft Colony subdivision.

Friday, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Mrs. Dennis Roux, 21130 East Chigwidden, will entertain Northville Estates newcomers.

In order to reach all newcomers to the Northville area the club has appointed Newcomer hostesses in the various sections of the community who will work throughout the year with Mrs. Daniel Swayne, neighborhood relations director. Anyone who has not been contacted about the coffee in her area, either a new arrival or a Newcomer member, is asked to call her.

Her neighborhood hostesses are Mrs. James Fowkes, 349-5094, Northville Heights; Mrs. Kenneth Goldi, 349-4541, and Mrs. Douglas Loomis, 349-1664, Village Green; Mrs. Frank Kastner, 349-4757, southern part of township; Mrs. Joseph Keese, 349-5893, and Mrs. Kenneth Rossolot, 349-4622, western part of township; Mrs. H. H. Clark, 349-4892, Taft Colony; Mrs. Dumont Hixson, 349-4987, Northville City; Mrs. Dennis Roux, 349-4180, Northville Estates; and Mrs. Charles Gura, 349-4028, Kings Mill.

These neighborhood hostesses will arrange daytime baby sitting for newcomers planning to attend next week's coffees. The hostesses stress that present club members are invited to attend the coffees to meet newer arrivals. Anyone who has lived in the community three years or less is invited to join the club. Since a Newcomers Club is being formed in Novi, however, the club no longer is accepting new members from there.

Voters League Proclamation Marks Week

The week of October 6 has been proclaimed League of Women Voters Week by the mayor of the city and the supervisor of Northville Township.

They Make Page One 60 Years Late

"We made the front page," laughed Mrs. Marcus Litsenberger, 1085 York Street in Plymouth.

She was referring to the unidentified old picture reproduced on the front page of The Record last week. The picture, taken from an old glass negative in the files of the Northville Historical Society, showed three small children standing atop a hill.

The hill, it turns out was the front yard of Mrs. Litsenberger's parent's home and the building at the foot of the hill was the old Wilcox grist mill, operated by George and John Wilcox, 60 years ago.

The children are Mrs. Litsenberger and her two brothers, Aubrey and Lloyd Gates. Oldest of the children, Aubrey, now 70 lives at 9643 Napier Road, and Lloyd, youngest of the three, lives at 402 South Sheldon Road, Plymouth.

Aubrey, who has been a Northville resident for the past 34 years, was retired from the Bell Telephone Company five years ago. Brother Lloyd is still employed by Bell.

Oldtimers will recall that the mill was eventually purchased by Henry Ford, who built a small factory on the site.

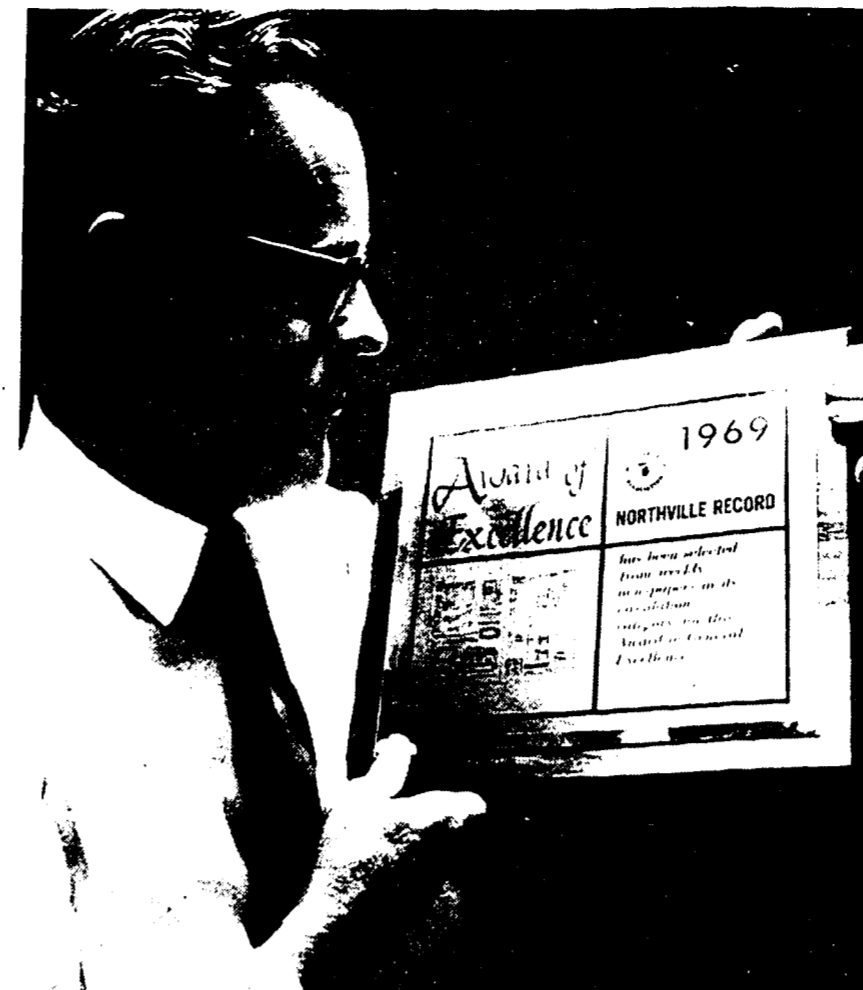

The factory building is today owned by Wayne County. "In those days there was no park drive," recalls Mrs. Litsenberger.

The picture, Mrs. Litsenberger believes, was taken by Mr. Ball of Northville.

published in its centennial edition will be reprinted from time to time during the remainder of the newspaper's birthday year in hopes someone will be able to identify places and people.

How's your memory on the old store building and gentlemen in this week's old picture below?

Jack Hoffman, assistant to the publisher, eyes The Record General Excellence plaque, highest honor awarded in the Michigan Press Association weekly newspaper contest for 1969.

Record Wins Top State Award

The Northville Record has been judged the best Michigan weekly newspaper in its circulation class, according to an announcement of the Michigan Press Association this week.

Placing second in the coveted general excellence category of the annual Michigan newspaper contest was The Record's sister newspaper, The South Lyon Herald. The Michigan Press Association has a membership of 283 weekly newspapers in addition to 56 dailies.

Announcement of the winning 1969 newspapers was timed this year to coincide with National Newspaper Week (October 5-11).

By placing first in general excellence, The Record was judged as being the best all-around weekly newspaper in reporting, pictures, editorial page, advertising and appearance.

Judges for this year's contest, which involved reviewing numerous samples of competing Michigan newspapers, were professional newspapermen from the New England states.

In addition to winning the top state prize — a handsome engraved plaque, The Record also copped two awards in individual categories. It won first place for news reporting and third for use of pictures. The South Lyon Herald placed second in use of pictures.

A consistent winner at least in one category or another over the years, The Record last year was one of six Michigan weekly newspapers to win three awards. It was judged second in news reporting, second in use of pictures, and third in advertising idea of the year (a color supplement of the Northville Downs' 25th anniversary).

The South Lyon Herald, which this year competed in the same circulation class of The Record, won first place in general excellence last year while competing with newspapers in its then smaller circulation class.

The Brighton Argus, another of the four newspapers owned by publisher William Sliger, took first place in news reporting a year ago. The Brighton Argus, purchased earlier this year by Sliger, was not entered in this year's contest.

Firemen, Engines to Strut Stuff

A giant fire truck parade, exhibit and a colorful program will emphasize Fire Prevention Week in Northville next week Wednesday, it was announced Monday.

Firemen and fire equipment from more than nine communities are expected to participate.

According to department officials, the parade will be kicked off at 7 p.m. with the screaming of the Northville fire alarm whistle. Men and trucks will parade through the community, eventually ending up at the Northville race track parking lot.

Feature programs at Northville Downs will include a tug of war between departments and a "water barrel" contest. More than a dozen pieces of fire-fighting equipment, including Salem Township's new fire truck and Plymouth's huge aerial ladder truck are expected to be on hand.

Already scheduled to participate, with other department commitments expected soon, are Northville, South Lyon, Salem, City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Whitnore Lake-Northfield Township, Canton and Superior townships, the mutual aid fire squad, truck ambulance and queen out of Garden City, and the Detroit Box 42 Club of Detroit.

The latter organization will bring along its 1929 American LaFrance fire engine.

Adding incentive to the tug of war battles will be the "curtain of water" separating contestants. The "water barrel" contest will pit skills of firemen in concentrating streams of water on a moving target — a barrel attached to a cable.

Spectators will be able to inspect equipment and ask questions concerning fire fighting techniques.

Shopping Centers Vie For Seven Mile Sites

Slapped down earlier by the Northville Township Planning Commission, the original rezoning request of Stewart Oldford & Sons was modified Tuesday night as the developer scratched multiple housing from the proposal leaving only his 12-acre shopping center plan.

Meanwhile, still another — and much larger shopping center proposal — was submitted to the planners, following the hearing on Oldford's request, by Levitt & Sons. This latter proposal (see related story) calls for a development of a few hundred feet east of Oldford's proposal. It necessitates the rezoning of 33 acres of land from multiple housing to a business classification.

Specifically, Oldford now seeks only the rezoning of the front portion of the 30-acre Freydl property, located on the south side of Seven Mile Road adjacent to the east edge of the C&O Railroad, from industry to business. Originally, his request asked also that the back portion of the property be rezoned from industry to a multiple housing classification. He now proposes to retain the existing industrial classification in the rear half of the property for development as an industrial subdivision.

Oldford's initial request for a public hearing on the zoning matter was denied by the planners, but the township board, after hearing a plea from the developer, ordered the planners to conduct the hearing.

That hearing was held Tuesday night in the Northville Board of Education offices because of the large turnout of citizens, most of whom defended Oldford's plan and urged approval of his request.

Following a review of the plan by Oldford's attorney, James Ginn, and supporting comment by citizens — most of whom live in the neighboring Kings Mill townships development, the commission adjourned the matter for a study and indicated it would make a decision October 28.

Only objection to Oldford's request came from Thomas L. Diak, manager of the C&O industrial development department, who, in a letter, urged the commission to disapprove the request because "the Seven Mile Road parcel is about the only one remaining in Northville of substantial size that can be developed with rail siding."

During his presentation, Ginn repeatedly emphasized that his client's proposed shopping center development represents an immediate tax base benefit to the community as opposed to possible, long range future industrial development. The shopping center would produce more tax dollars than would industry on the same site, he said.

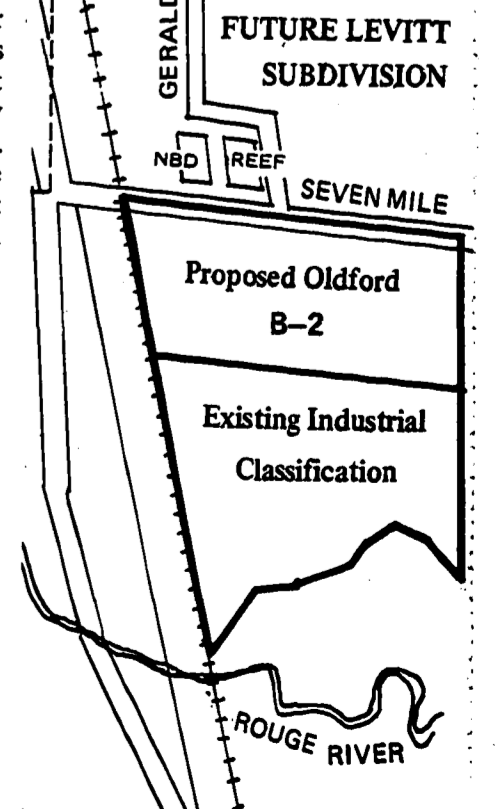

Need for industrial tax base, traffic hazard potential near the railroad, and Oldford's multiple housing proposal for the rear of the property were among the reasons the commission cited in originally denying a hearing request.

Representatives of Levitt, developer of the proposed giant residential subdivision on the opposite side of Seven Mile Road and stretching all the way to Eight Mile, indicated the proposed shopping mall would be built and completed by late 1971 or early 1972. A subsidiary of Levitt would build the center.

No specific tenants for the center were mentioned in Tuesday's discussion, although it was noted that the supermarket would be operated by a food chain on the order of Wrigleys. Only indication as to size of the buildings on the site was a statement that the department store would probably represent 100,000 square feet of floor space.

The center, according to representatives of Levitt, would be unique in that it would leave virtually undisturbed a wooded area, stream and a swamp. Development, it was stated, would utilize this natural landscape for enhancing the center's beauty. Each building would have its own design.

Interestingly, both Oldford and Levitt propose banks in their developments. It's a foregone conclusion both see the National Bank of Detroit, now located in temporary quarters on the north side of Seven Mile Road, as the tenant.

NEWS BRIEFS

TWO PERSONS WERE KILLED in separate automobile accidents involving area motorists this past week. Cary D. Wiley, 18, of Pontiac was fatally injured late Friday afternoon when the car in which he was riding was struck head on by a car, driven by Richard R. Middaugh, 20, of Northville, on Pontiac Trail in Lyon Township. Four persons, including Middaugh, were injured in the crash. In the other collision, Monday morning, Mrs. Pearl Unger, 66, of Livonia, was killed when her car collided with a car driven by Paul P. Pierce, 27, of Wixom. The crash, which occurred at Pontiac Trail and Seven Mile Road, injured three other persons including Pierce.

SITE PLAN HEARING on the proposed Chatham Food Center supermarket, to be located on the west side of Center Street north of Rayson, will be held Tuesday evening at a meeting of the city planning commission. Rezoning to accommodate the new store was approved by the council last week upon the recommendation of the planners.

THE CONTROVERSIAL Central Business District (CBD) and Central Business Parking (CBP) plans, for which public hearings already have been held, will come up for city council discussion and possible decision Monday night. The plans were last aired publicly two months ago at which time some citizens voiced strong objections. Even some Councilmen voiced reservations about parts of the two plans recommended for approval by the city planning commission. City Manager Frank Ollendorf is hopeful a decision will be made Monday but that decision's no certainty.

WHEN TOWNSHIP VOTERS go to the polls in a special December election not all will be able to vote on both propositions appearing on the paper ballots. Attorney John Ashton has noted that only property owners will be able to vote on the question of providing money for park land acquisition and development, while all registered electors will be able to vote on the zoning matter concerning recent action of the township board to rezone residential property to an industrial classification near Haggerty Road. "Yes" votes will uphold the board's rezoning action and permit the township to levy 2 mills for park land purchase (Maybury property) and development.

Plymouth 'Aid' Questioned School Enrollment Soars at D-Day

D-day, the official count day of students in school districts, showed Northville with an enrollment of 5,120 and Novi with 1,710 students as of Friday, September 26.

D-day totals for the 1968-69 school year listed 2,805 students in Northville and 1,567 in Novi.

Breakdown by schools in Northville shows Amerman Elementary with 455 students; Main Street Elementary, 491; Moraine Elementary, 440; Cooke Junior High, 737; and Northville Senior, 997.

During the 1968-69 school year, Northville gained 32 students after the official count day — meaning they will receive their schooling without the benefit of state aid. Novi added 40 students to their classes after D-day.

Both superintendents, Raymond Spear in Northville, and Thomas Dale in Novi, said students would be enrolling throughout the remainder of the school year. Dale indicated about 100 students would be added to Novi's enrollment as new homes were completed and occupied.

In Novi, Novi Elementary has 422 students enrolled, Orchard Hills Elementary, 536; Novi junior and senior high combined, 752.

receiving state aid even though the teachers' strike was not settled until early Saturday morning, after the count day, but the superintendents said they felt Plymouth would receive their state aid.

Spear said "If Plymouth gets their state aid, I don't care if their count day is Monday, Friday, or a month from now, I'm going to demand state aid for the students we have enrolled between the official count day and Plymouth's count day."

"I'm going to urge other school districts to do the same," he added. Dale said the law states count day "is the fourth Friday following Labor Day. The State Legislature or the Department of Education will decide if Plymouth gets their state aid.

"It is not fair that (Novi) will educate 100 students without state aid because they came in after the count day," he continued.

"There are laws against teacher's striking," Spear said, "yet they (the courts) allow them to strike. There is also a law about the official count day. If they do not enforce it, what is the use of having it on the books?"

If Plymouth gets their allotted nearly $2 million in state aid, there are likely to be fireworks from many Michigan school districts, including Northville and Novi, officials agree.

Been Wondering About Those Tests Your Child Takes?

Ability tests, achievement tests, IQ tests, tests and more tests. What do they mean? What are they supposed to test? What happens after the scores are in?

Students and parents alike ask these questions each year. Miss Florence Panattoni, curriculum coordinator for Northville Public Schools, addressed herself to the questions this week, explaining the function of the tests and what changes they have brought about.

The testing program begins in Northville each October with the Stanford Achievement Test, she explained. Conducted in six sittings, the test is given by classroom teachers on the primary level and by counselors on the junior and senior high level.

The Stanford test is a different type of achievement test. Covered are language arts tests, including subtests in word meaning, reading, spelling and language; arithmetic computation; concept and application; social studies and science.

In this test third graders are asked to recognize words and understand their meaning without the help of picture cues. Until they reach this test, the students were always given picture cues.

According to Miss Panattoni, third and fourth grade students are a little below the norm in reading as shown by the Stanford Achievement Test scores compiled from 1966-68 records.

"This is understandable," she said, "because children are maturing in advanced reading skills at different levels and we need to recognize this."

"By fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, reading scores are at grade level or above."

She said that students are above in arithmetic concept and application, social studies and science.

As shown by the Stanford Achievement Test, computation is down at all levels in Northville as well as in other districts. Miss Panattoni attributed this to the new math concept.

Students in the tenth grade are at the expected level or above in all areas except science. Weaknesses shown in the science area because science was not offered to those students in the ninth grade. A science program has been introduced this year at the ninth grade level.

In January of 1970 the California Mental Maturity Test will be given in grades three, six, eight and eleven. The test is designed to measure the student's potential to achieve.

Test results are known as IQ (intelligence quotient) scores.

In Northville the average IQ is at the high average level in all grades. The average level runs from 90 to 110. Miss Panattoni commented, "The students are not achieving the greatest potential yet and there is room for improvement."

"Even though our students are at this level, we have to be rather cautious in drawing conclusions at any one grade level. Children do not grow the same amount each year. There are spurts of growth and plateaus in learning just as there is in physical growth," Miss Panattoni said.

The fourth and seventh graders will undergo a test developed by the State of Michigan. The test will include reading, spelling and arithmetic. Two hours in length, it will be administered by the schools. The test is entirely new this year and will be given to fourth and seventh graders throughout the state.

Kindergarten children will begin the Metropolitan Readiness Test in May. The test is designed to show the degree of readiness for first grade learning, primarily reading readiness. The average readiness of Northville's kindergarten group for the district is in the 60th percentile, while the national norm is at the 50th percentile. May also will be month first and second graders take the Gates McGintie Reading Test. Its purpose is to test the child's ability to recognize isolated words and to understand sentences with the help of picture cues.

TESTS ARE NOT NEW TO THESE SIXTH GRADERS

Scores for the entire district are compiled by Miss Panattoni and are also scaled with the national norms in each area of curriculum. Often the test results are the moving force in curriculum changes. As mentioned before, science for ninth graders was added after test scores showed students weak in this area.

Teacher workshops in the language arts have been added to aid the teachers' ability to recognize learning disabilities. Remedial reading is now included at the secondary level. Two remedial reading teachers are working with classroom teachers and individual students.

A perceptive program for children with learning disabilities is being conducted on an experimental basis at Moraine Elementary. Students in American and Main Street elementary are acting as control groups.

This year, as last school year, Northville will be conducting a Federally financed program for children not working up to their grade level.

Kindergartners and first graders will be exposed to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a pilot program designed to orient students to scientific procedures.

Seventh graders will be involved in an introductory physical science program which will give them background for high school science.

First meeting of the season for the Orchard Hills (subdivision) Association of Novi will be held next Sunday evening at Orchard Hills Elementary School beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be a representative of the developer of property adjacent to the Orchard Hills subdivision. The talk will focus on multiple housing.

SPEAKING

for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

Northville township was given a plug for its up-to-date assessments in the study recently completed by a couple of university professors...

The law says that real property should be assessed at 50 percent of its market value. Taxes are then levied against these assessed values.

The professors noted that most communities are under-assessed and recommended the appointment of a state assessor...

Northville township, they reported, is one of the few communities where assessments are actually near the 50 percent level.

On the surface, at least, it's difficult to comprehend the professors' alarm. Anyone vaguely familiar with the state's complex system of determining local valuations knows that the power of assessment already rests with the state.

True, the specific assessments on each individual piece of property are designated by local assessors, but they must pass county approval. And if they are below the prescribed 50 percent level, the state employs its little equalizer...

So what if a township, village or city has a "soft" assessor who is either too timid or too busy to update assessments? The county and state know what the total valuation of that community should be...

The city of Northville, for example, hasn't reappraised its properties in three or four years. Increasing property values have antiquated the current assessments...

When city officials see fit, reappraisal of all property will take place and assessments will be raised so that the factor will be removed.

I fail to see any loss of tax dollars due to shoddy assessment practices at the local level.

The real danger lies in the possibility of inequities within each local assessing district.

If every piece of property — homes, commercial buildings, factories — is assessed by the same guidelines, even though the assessment may be 10, 20, or 50 percent of the market value, everyone will receive the same treatment...

The danger in assessments, whether applied by local, county or state assessors, is that favoritism might creep into certain areas — either to individuals or residential, commercial or industrial properties as a class.

When this occurs, the property owner who is properly assessed is penalized by the application of the equalization factor, while the favored (under-assessed) property owner is merely boosted to a level that may leave his valuation still below the 50 percent mark.

Dennis Dildy, director of probation for the Northville-Plymouth area district court, is plugging for help for Synanon.

Right now the Synanon Foundation, which effectively performs its own kind of thing in helping drug addicts, needs $40,000. The lease on its residence at 8344 East Jefferson in Detroit expires the end of October. Without financial help Detroit will lose Synanon.

Dildy has been involved with Synanon on a weekly basis for the past year-and-a-half. He points out that Synanon has taken some 563 drug addicts off the streets of the city and its suburbs...

One of the basic services of Synanon is an attempt to reduce the crime rate, which is costing the taxpayers thousands of dollars.

"Why not put your money at the source of the problem?" asks Dildy. A contribution is tax deductible. Send it to Synanon Foundation, Inc., 8344 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, 48214.

Incidentally, Dildy encourages individuals or groups to visit Synanon.

Speaking for Myself

Straight Party Ticket or Not?

YES . . .

Ideally, we would vote for the best man on the basis of his accomplishments, his ability and his potential as a public servant. But in a society growing more complex socially and politically, seldom are candidates elected strictly on the basis of merit.

The straight party ticket thus takes on more meaning. It is wiser, in fact, to vote the straight party ticket — for a platform, if you will — than cast ballots indiscriminately for the candidate who looks the most dignified, or the candidate whose name catches our fancy.

The issues, after all, should swing the most weight in the polling booth. And the party platform is predicated on the issues.

It might be argued that there is no assurance that a candidate will abide by party platform. Neither, for that matter, is there any assurance that promises enunciated during a campaign will be kept by the candidate who poo-poo's political affiliation.

By Rolly Peterson

NO . . .

Loyalty notwithstanding, pulling the political party lever is, in my opinion, an act of laziness not unlike the guy who will sit through a bad television program rather than get out of his easy chair to switch channels.

Today's major parties are so complex and incongruous within their own imaginary circles that voting dried up philosophy is no longer — if it ever was — a safe bet. There are Republican Democrats today as well as Democratic Republicans. On the war issue, for example, some of former President Lyndon Johnson's most aggressive support came from Republicans, while President Richard Nixon finds some of his best support in the Democratic camp.

Strict party loyalty in the voting booth at the local level is even more assinine. Anyone who would vote for a man or a woman solely because of his or her party label would fuddle a poisonous viper just because it crawled out of a hairless ground squirrel's hole.

I think it was Will Rogers who once said he'd sooner play the field and take his knocks than dance with his mother-in-law.

Top of the Deck BY JACK W. HOFFMAN

Old veterans like to imagine that in the 'good of wars' soldiers were made of shoe leather and wore courage riveted to their chests. I used to scoff at them. But today, as age begins to warp memory, I find myself joining the camp of crusty infantrymen who look for chinks in the modern army.

That's how it was last week upon reading what may be the most damaging blow to the military's image since Custer galloped sidesaddle into Little Big Horn. In case you missed it, the army has court-martialed beef stew!

Yup, that's right. They've stripped their slop houses of this basic recipe and whitewashed the pot just because today's soldier no longer likes his beef chopped into fatty cubes and dumped into the backwash of yesterday's leftovers. Imagine!

It's not enough that today's GI can't stomach beef stew, but the army brass has compounded the breach by actually polling soldiers to learn their likes and dislikes. If that isn't an indication that someone's gotten soft, the jungle rot that's been gnawing on my feet is pure fiction and someone's got a whole lot of disability pay to return.

The air force, I understand, booted beef stew long ago — but then that was to be expected. Fly

Out of THE PAST

ONE YEAR AGO... As work continued on Novi's city charter, it became apparent a debate was brewing before the final approval. Though each section of the charter had been approved, few were by unanimous vote. Final approval must be given to the entire document.

An ambitious campaign began to raise over $19,000 to reinstate a portion of the activities at Northville schools. Just a few days after drive opened, $3,190 had been raised, not counting numerous pledges from organizations, businesses and individuals.

Two Northville residents had a hand in Michigan's first heart transplant operation performed at U of M. Dr. Charles Wheatley had been keeping Philip Barnum, the patient, alive until a suitable donor could be found. Mrs. John DaSilva (Judy Nauman), a cardiac surgery nurse, had Barnum among her patients.

FIVE YEARS AGO... For the second time in three months, Detroit Federal Savings and Loan in Northville was held up. The armed bandit took $8,240 in cash. The bandit "looked familiar" to witnesses and was to appear once again in February, 1965, when he would be foiled in his third attempt and captured.

Northville city council gave support to a two-year plan to plant 450 trees along city streets. It was hoped the trees would replace those lost to Dutch elm disease.

TEM YEARS AGO... Firemen from four area volunteer units battled a roaring blaze at the Bob O' Link Golf clubhouse. The fire caused $10,000 damage and destroyed the kitchen, storage area and Twenty years ago... Teachers, board members and secretaries of Northville Public Schools and village librarians were honored at the annual Community, School and Church night.

Eleven of America's fastest pacers entered Northville for the $10,000 Michigan Pacing Derby at the Downs.

Members of the Exchange Club together with their wives and guests flew to Cleveland as part of the Club's new fraternity and cooperation program. The group chartered a DC-4 plane and flew from Willow Run to Cleveland in 45 minutes.

FIFTY YEARS AGO... The Village Commandary Striners entertained the Moslem Patrol at a dinner Saturday night.

A fire broke out at the Charles Cole residence near the condenser when the Cole's young son kindled a stove with gasoline. He was severely burned but recovering nicely.

Only Your Neighbor Knows

Are Your Weeds Showing?

Long, unkempt hair and sideburns may be your hangup, but it's the unkempt weed that's bugging city and township officials these fall days. Summer's growing season left a bumper crop of weeds, police report, but few are doing anything about harvesting it.

In the township the weed problem's increasing, too, particularly in the residential areas on the fringes of the city, officials report. Here, where there is no ordinance, officials also wait for a complaint and then hope that a polite phone call will convince the property owner to barber his weeds. In most cases, they say, owners comply.

Also, today's weeds become tomorrow's brush fire — a costly nuisance for Northville's volunteer fire department, police point out. Furthermore, come lots overgrown with weeds prevent motorists from seeing stop signs or approaching traffic or pedestrians.

So city or township ordinance or no ordinance — officials agree: a complaint in hand is worth two prowlies in the bush.

Two weeks ago the township board tabled a suggestion for an anti-weed ordinance — an ordinance that some weed-conscious officials believe may be premature in view of the large undeveloped rural areas remaining in the township.

Why are officials so concerned about the weeds? It's not just because your neighbor's nose is overly sensitive or those milkweeds and thistles are marring the landscape. Recently, a youngster was molested in a jungle-like growth near his subdivision home in the township, officials explain.

Also, today's weeds become tomorrow's brush fire — a costly nuisance for Northville's volunteer fire department, police point out.

Furthermore, come lots overgrown with weeds prevent motorists from seeing stop signs or approaching traffic or pedestrians.

Teachers' Salaries Climbing at Rapid Rate in State

LANSING — Most taxpayers may not realize it, but teachers salaries have risen faster than ever since teachers began organizing into unions four years ago.

Up until that time, salaries rose at a fairly consistent rate of $200 per year, or about 3.4 percent per year. But in the last four years the average rise in pay scales in the state has ranged from $600 to $700 per year, or 9.3 percent.

Today only the state of California pays its teachers better than Michigan. And Detroit pays its teachers with bachelors degrees more than any other large city in the country.

Government Inflation Curb Pinches Housing Construction

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass. government efforts to curb inflation have put the pinch on new construction, particularly housing. For August, housing starts dropped 1.6%, the seventh consecutive monthly decline.

While we recognize that the near-term housing picture does not inspire confidence, we feel the shelter market in the next few years is going to boom. The demand for shelter is now nearing the critical level. It has been estimated that in the next 30 years as many houses -- 142,000,000 -- will have to be built as have been built since the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock almost 350 years ago.

SOARING COSTS of conventional building, record-high interest rates and tight money may temporarily delay the building boom, but eventually we feel the demand will be met. Where traditionally built homes cannot meet the need, mobile units, modular buildings, apartments, and factory manufactured housing will fill the void.

THE SECOND LARGEST producer of gypsum products, National Gypsum also holds an important position in other building lines including portland cement, insulation, ceramic tiles, and paints.

From a small lumber producer ten years ago, Boise Cascade has expanded dramatically to become an international manufacturer and marketer of building materials, paper and packaging, and office supply products.

As one of the world's largest makers of builders' hardware, Emhart is in a good position to benefit from anticipated building boom of the 1970s.

management and school board rights and prerogatives," it said. "On the other hand, teachers generally appear to want a greater voice in determining a broad range of matters that affect their work and are pressing for broadening the scope of negotiations."

THE MAN in charge of administering the new state law requiring suspension of a person's drivers license if the person doesn't pay a traffic ticket within 40 days says he doesn't like the law.

Secretary of State James M. Hare says he expects more than 120,000 Michigan drivers will lose their licenses this year as a result of the new law. This is almost double the total who had their licenses suspended for a period of time last year.

"What I don't like about this law," he says, "is that it does not make any distinction between the 'traffic tramp' — the person who is in constant trouble because of chronic bad driving — and the person who just has one infraction, many times for a minor equipment violation."

Hare labels the law "unfair, unjust and too punitive in many instances."

THE SEVEN-TERM officeholder, who announced plans to retire from his job in 1970, says he doesn't think the law is keeping anyone off the road either.

"While there is no doubt that more persons are paying their tickets than ever before, I don't believe it has any effect on keeping the suspended driver off the road," he said. "It just increases the number of persons driving in Michigan with suspended licenses."

He said he likes the system Illinois is using, where a driver who receives a ticket for a moving violation surrenders his drivers license to the arresting officer.

School Officials Confer On Year-Round Studies

Officials of the Michigan six-school districts making a study of the feasibility of year-round school met in Port Huron last week. Representatives hosted three members of the administrative team studying year-round school in Atlanta, Georgia.

Northville Superintendent, Raymond Spear, said cooperation among the school districts makes it possible to take advantage of experience gained in other parts of the county.

Representatives at the Port Huron meeting were from Northville, Port Huron, Utica, Ann Arbor, Freeland and Okemos, the six districts chosen to share $100,000 set aside by the State Legislature to defray the costs of the study.

Although the plan devised by Atlanta is not exactly the same as the one being studied for Northville, having the opportunity to discuss year-round schools with people who have put it in operation is a big help, according to Spear.

"It is encouraging to find that the purpose for studying year-round school is so varied in different localities," Spear said.

"The people from Atlanta had one main purpose," Spear continued, "and that was the improvement of their educational program. Because this was their only purpose, they were able to put fourth quarter attendance on a voluntary basis.

"Although we expect to realize many educational benefits if our plan is put into operation, our main purpose is saving money in the long-range construction of new school buildings for our fast-growing district," Spear said.

Spear pointed out that from 1959 to 1969, enrollment in the district has risen 1,401 students, increasing from 1,731 to 3,132 students. He said that another 1,400 students would be enrolled in the district by the 1974-75 school year.

"For us to realize these savings, we will need approximately 75 percent of our students in school during each of the four quarters," he said.

Plans among the six Michigan school districts conducting a year-round school study vary in type and purpose. Northville is studying a quadrimester or four-quarter plan which could be adjusted to fit a variety of calendar dates.

The exact one which would best fit the needs of Northville is still to be determined.

Utica and Port Huron's studies are similar to Northville's in that they are studying the feasibility of a four-quarter plan of operation. This divides the school year into four quarters of equal duration and equal educational quality. Youngsters are required to attend three quarters.

Ann Arbor's split is concerned with a split trimester, dividing the year into three equal segments. Students will be required to attend two trimesters and half of a third.

In some ways, electric heat is better than warm summer sunshine. For one thing, it's even the year around. And it stays that way during weather changes. Also, with electric heat, drafts and cold floors become a thing of the past. With flameless electric heat, you'll never wake up in the morning feeling dried out.

You've even got an operating cost guarantee. In writing. If you'd like a free estimate of installation and operating cost, we'll arrange for an Edison Approved Electric Heat Contractor to call on you. Naturally, there's no obligation. Convert to electric heat. Winter will never be the same.

EDISON "Electric heat is like having warm summer sunshine inside your home," said Mrs. Neath Cochreum of Troy.

This basic plan is also being studied in Freeland with slightly different variations.

The sixth school district in the state involved in the year-round study is Okemos. A plan for four twelve-week quarters with breaks in between is being studied in conjunction with East Lansing and Haslet.

In an effort to share in the $100,000 made available by the State Legislature for the study, 47 school districts submitted applications to the State Department of Education. From these applications, the studies now being carried out were chosen to be funded.

Other aspects of Northville's plan will be explained in future publicity releases, according to Spear.

Revised Offense Impressive

Mustangs Surprise Milford, 12-8

Just one week after its offensive unit had been held to an unimpressive 23 net yards, the Mustangs rallied to overpower highly-rated Milford last Friday, 12-8, combining their running and passing attack with another good defensive effort for the victory after two defeats earlier this season. Halfback Dave Coe, Mustang star last week, pauses momentarily for his blockers (left) while End Fred Holdsworth demonstrates the variety of the home team's attack (right) as he prepares to pass a pass from Quarterback Rich Adams. The Mustangs travel to West Bloomfield on Friday to meet Coach Art Paddy's Lakers, defending Wayne-Oakland League champions who presently are 2-0 in the conference.

Adams Fills Airways Behind Better Line

They may have bent like 10-penny nails two weeks ago, but Friday night Northville linesmen were stiffer than railroad spikes as the Mustangs notched their first triumph after two successive losses.

And they did it the hard way — by upsetting Milford, one of the league's biggest defensive units, in a 12-8 aerial performance that would have made the Red Baron jealous.

The Redskins came to town prepared to waltz through Northville's "weak" line and throttle a potentially dangerous passing attack as had the Mustangs' previous two opponents — Plymouth and Clarenceville.

Instead, they were surprised with a beefed up line and an unexpected offensive punch.

Coach Al Klukach moved the split end in tight to give his squad a tougher front wall and he scrambled the backfield formation to give it maneuverability. The play caught Milford off guard and it was unable to adjust its defense successfully.

With more breathing time than in previous games, Quarterback Rich Adams was able to play his best hand — a rifle fast pass that accounted for better than half of Northville's 240-yard attack.

While chief credit for the victory must go to those rejuvenated linesmen who protected Adams and to a rugged defensive unit that stopped Milford's fast running backs, Fred Holdsworth and Bernie Bach must be given credit for being on the receiving end of Adams' passes.

And it was Halfback Dave Coe who ground out most of Northville's yardage on the ground.

Yet, even these superlative performances might have been for naught, had it not been for an unsung hero, Fullback Dan Corcoran. Working out of Klukach's "saw" formation, Corcoran took fake handoffs beautifully and repeatedly pulled Milford's defense his way while the plays went elsewhere. He may have the most tackled player on the field.

Northville spotted Milford eight points in the opening minutes of the game before striking back with two touchdowns in the second quarter. The Redskins took the opening kick and marched 51 yards on the ground to set up a five-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Mike Monnier to End Dan Smith. Fullback Matt Partridge carried the ball over tackle for the two-point conversion.

The Mustangs bounced back, taking Milford's kick at the 19 and pushing to the opponent's three-yard line just before the first quarter ended on a 78-yard pass play from Adams to Holdsworth. On the first play of the second quarter, Coe carried the remaining three yards for the touchdown. The pass for the extra two points went incomplete.

Later in the quarter, Northville pushed to the Milford 25 before running out of steam. But on its second down at the 29, Milford fumbled and Northville took possession at the 23.

Within easy striking distance, Adams fired to Bach who leaped high to pull in the ball at the seven. He took another pass at the five, and then Adams fired to Co-Captain Terry Mills for the Mustang's second TD. Coe's end run for the conversion was stopped short.

Just before the intermission, Coe intercepted one of Monnier's passes, Northville contenting itself with protecting its lead by eating up the remaining seconds on the ground.

It was in the second half that Northville's defensive unit showed its best side. The Mustangs stopped a 66-yard Milford march just 19 yards from the end zone and then refused to let Milford penetrate any deeper than the 39 on the only other Redskin skirmish across midfield.

Northville's biggest threat of the second half came early in the third period. The Mustangs swept to the Milford 15, with the key play coming on a 26-yard pass from Adams to Holdsworth.

Bring On Champs Pieces Falling in Place As Local Team Hits Road

All of a sudden the Mustangs put the pieces together, broke a modest two-game losing string and upset a major contender for the Wayne-Oakland League football title.

They successfully combined an adequate running game with accurate passing while the defense continued to excel as Coach Al Klukach's gang defeated unbeaten Milford, 12-8, last Friday.

So bring on the champs, you exclaim?

The champs it will be Friday when the Mustangs hit the road headed for West Bloomfield and Coach Art Paddy's Lakers who have been practicing the same old ball-control techniques in winning their first two W-O encounters.

Game time will be 8 p.m.

Chelsea Proves 'Cats Year Away

The Wildcats won't win the Southeastern Conference football title for a second reason, it was learned last Friday. First and foremost, of course, Coach John Osborne's squad won't be an football champion this season because its one year away from being a member of the rugged Southeastern.

And secondly, and now just as matter-of-factly, the Wildcats won't win a Southeastern title because this year defending champion Chelsea is a better team.

Coach Phil Bares' Bulldogs took a few moments to make themselves at home Friday and then sped away with a 15-0 decision over the Wildcats representing the first loss at home for the Green since October, 1967.

The loss left the Wildcats at 1-2 for the season — their second consecutive defeat at the hands of a Southeastern opponent — while Chelsea is now 3-0. Novi this week is idle before resuming play on October 10 at Whitford.

Playing before about 600 people in 50-degree temperatures, the home team recovered a fumble on the open kickoff and marched 43 yards in 12 plays before running out of downs inches short on the Chelsea four.

The opening drive, except for their failure to score, was identical to those executed by the Wildcats in its two previous encounters although the attack appeared better balanced with Quarterback Tom Boyer connecting on short passes to his ends while Captain John Davey shared the rushing with workhorse Rick Hill.

The two teams then exchanged drives before the Bulldogs rallied early in the second stanza marching 80 yards and clinching the effort with a pass off of a field goal formation.

Chelsea marched again late in the same period and then proved, with three seconds remaining in the half, that it really did have a field goal threat as Tim Orbring boomed one through from the seven.

With less than 10 minutes remaining in the game and leading 9-0, the Bulldogs scored their second touchdown with Keith Guster breaking away from 23 yards out scampering in one-play after shifty Larry Gorton had dodged his way 17 yards down to the Novi 23.

Both teams exchanged drives during the remaining nine minutes with neither threatening.

Chelsea won the toss and chose to receive opening the game but the kickoff was a liner which bounced off a Bulldog's pads before being recovered by the Wildcats on the visitor's 47.

With Hill and Davey slaming off tackles and Boyer connecting on a quickie pass to End Phil McMillan — and with the help of a timely personal foul by a Chelsea tackler — the Wildcats marched to the four on its opening drive before being stopped inches short of a first down on the two by the Bulldogs defense.

Chelsea's first series was an unimpressive three plays and a punt but the second time it gained possession, it went 78 yards before finding itself with fourth down and goal-to-go on the two.

The Bulldogs promptly set up in field goal formation but Quarterback Jim Wicki, crouched to hold the with an early-season scramble — involving the Mustangs — developed for third place.

Andover thrashed Kettering, 22-0, running its scoreless string to three games this season while Coach Bob Kegen's Barons have scored an impressive 76 points. This week Andover travels to Milford to face the Redskins, a definite contender despite dropping a surprise 12-8 decision last Friday to Northville.

The Mustangs this Friday will be at West Bloomfield on the heels of Coach Art Paddy's 32-28 victory over Clarenceville. Northville opened W-O competition earlier this season with a 16-0 loss to Clarenceville.

In other action last Friday, Brighton broke its 11-game losing streak with a 14-6 victory over winless Clarkson. Brighton plays winless Kettering on Friday and Clarkson, not in class earlier this week because of a teachers' strike, scheduled to host Clarenceville.

Andover has established itself as a title contender although its first two W-O encounters have been with Clarkson and Kettering, both considered to be in the midst of lackluster seasons.

Schoolcraft Dominates Four-Team Tournament

The Schoolcraft Ocelots dominated its own invitational soccer tourney last weekend winning the title in the four-team field.

Coach Marv Gans' squad defeated Defiance (Ohio) College on Friday, 2-1, and then blanked Henry Ford Community College, 4-0, in the championship match Saturday.

On Friday, Tim DeWitt and Chris Hippler scored goals for the Ocelots while DeWitt, Rick Riedel, Lynn Dodds and Bob See booted tallies Saturday. Riedel's was a penalty kick.

The fourth team competing in the tourney was Marinette (Wisconsin) College.

Schoolcraft also dominated the all-tourney team with Riedel and Brian Young selected as backs along with Henry Ford's John Fuselli and John Beers and Marinette's Ken Anderson. Forwards were See and DeWitt, Defiance's Steve Peterman and John Newman and Mike Karasi of Marinette. Schoolcraft's John Bliss was selected as all-tourney goalie.

The Ocelots, now 3-0 for the season, resume their regular schedule on Friday when they meet Henry Ford at Dearborn.

Eleanor had Detroit winning 24-10.

Northville's upset victory over Milford and California's surprising win over Indiana proved to be the most difficult picks in last week's contest. Purdue's triumph over Notre Dame also was a difficult one for many contestants.

Meter Reader Device Pushed

A meter reading instrument, which saves inconvenience and money, is available for all older homes in the city, Northville officials reminded residents this week.

Required installation on all newly constructed homes and recommended for older homes, the device is attached to the outside of the house and connected inside to the water meter. It is small and inconspicuous, unlike the water meter itself.

The instrument saves the homeowner the inconvenience of having someone come into his home to read the water meter and, emphasizes City Manager Frank Ollendorff, it cuts in half the time required by city personnel to read meters.

Cost of the meter reader is $25, which includes installation and all future maintenance, the manager said.

Aside from the inconvenience factor and the savings in time and money for the city, the device can lead to detection of water leaks in those houses where the occupants are not home when the "meter man" makes his rounds.

Presently, about eight or nine costly water leaks are detected monthly by Mrs. Phyllis Russell, who bills customers. Whenever a bill runs unusually high in comparison with earlier averages she notifies the customer that a leak may be present. However, where the customer must check his own meter and estimate amounts used because no one is home during the quarterly readings, such leaks can go undetected for long periods of time.

Customer estimates sometimes lead to major bills later when estimates are checked against official accumulated water consumption.

There are approximately 1,550 water meters in the city today, according to Ollendorff and one-third of them are "read" each month.

Annual cost for reading and computing meter figures is $5,000.

A LOOSE LEAF

It's not the first economic boycott, nor is it the first one that has been directed against a newspaper. But there's something about the boycott of the Ozaukee County Press that makes you wonder about people and America.

Recently, Life Magazine picked the story up, telling how merchants in Port Washington, Wisconsin, home of the Ozaukee County Press, were boycotting the newspaper owned by Bill Schanon, a home town boy but a liberal in the otherwise conservative, rural community, located 25 miles north of Milwaukee on Lake Michigan.

Schanon, you see, is publishing Kaleidoscope, an underground newspaper originating out of Milwaukee. Described by Life magazine as "mild by comparison to much of the underground press," Kaleidoscope uses "a fair sprinkling of obscenities."

As 56-year-old Schanon says, "I don't agree with a lot of it but what are we supposed to do, get rid of everything we don't agree with?" Schanon is defending his right to print the newspaper, one over which he has no control of content.

An industrialist started the boycott by personally addressing a letter to 500 persons saying he would refuse to do business with anyone who advertised in "The Press." All but two merchants have discontinued buying space and they receive threatening phone calls.

Novi Tops Area In Home Building

Home construction in Novi topped all other communities in this area during the first-half of the year, according to a report released this week by the planning division of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SMCOG).

Elsewhere, all counties except St. Clair registered gains, ranging from a low of 7.7 percent in Oakland to a high of 58 percent in Monroe. Other increases included Macomb, 22.4 percent; Wayne, 9.9 percent; Washtenaw, 49.8 percent; Livingston, 13.1 percent. St. Clair dropped by 24.6 percent.

Novi recorded a total of 94 new home starts — all single family units.

Next highest construction rate occurred in Wixom where 44 single family units and 28 multi-family units were started while Northville Township placed third with a net total of 51 units. The township building pace included 49 single family units and 21 multi-family dwellings. The overall growth, however, dropped to 51 because of 19 home demolitions.

Five new homes were built in the City of Northville during the first sixth

Political Scientist Jabs Spock, Backs U.S. Vietnam Involvement

Launching a flanking maneuver aimed at catching the doves' feet down, Dr. Morton Kaplan, University of Chicago's renowned political science professor, defended the United States involvement in the Vietnam war Thursday in a speech at Schoolcraft Community College.

His defense, billed as a rebuttal to anti-war remarks made by Super Dope Dr. Benjamin Spock at the Northville college earlier, avoided a frontal attack and instead consisted chiefly of a treatise on the complexities of government and a slap at intellectuals who, he contended, twist or over-simplify facts to suit their arguments.

As would be expected on today's college campuses, his remarks fell on a thin audience — a marked contrast to the capacity crowd that squeezed in to hear Spock blast the war, the U.S. government, and especially former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Major points in Kaplan's address and his responses to far-ranging questions included:

Intellectuals, in opposing the war, have a responsibility to present unshaded arguments.

Citizens who, of course, have a responsibility to their nation and their government.

Governmental complexities as they are, even a good case can be made, from the Russian's point of view, for Stalin's Russian-Nazi Germany pact.

It is foolhardy to believe that the billions of dollars poured into the military could, if redirected, solve the social ills of this nation.

Education is the answer to social problems but the nation's present educational structure is grossly miseducated and inadequate to cope with the need.

President Nixon most assuredly would immediately order troops out of Vietnam if the Viet Cong would guarantee free elections and not take reprisals against political adversaries.

Without outlining specific reasons for U.S. involvement in Vietnam, Kaplan attempted to justify it by suggesting that to understand the war people must understand the complex nature of national organization.

Conceding that people have obligations to the human race, Kaplan said, "it is important to recognize that we have obligations as citizens of nations as well — for we are members of organizations that produce certain mixed effects."

It is impossible, he said, to maximize two independent values separately. He illustrated his point: "Think of something as simple as a warning system for attack in the nuclear age. Now you want two requirements for the system. You don't want false alarms because then you may send your missiles off when nothing happens. On the other hand, you don't want the system to remain asleep when an attack occurs."

"Now, if you deal with the optimal systems that can be built, what you are forced to recognize is that at the optimal level making improvement against false alarms is to raise the rate of successful, undetected attack and vice-versa. Now it's a matter of judgment which risks you prefer to run. But both of these values cannot be maximized simultaneously. This gets worse when you deal with the maintenance of organizations.

"The point I'm making is that human institutions, when they are complex and even sometimes when they are relatively simple, necessarily fail to perform at desired levels for function simply because these different functions cannot be maximized simultaneously. Therefore, to look at the institution and to criticize it from the standpoint that any particular one of the functions is not to understand the way in which it behaves."

According to Kaplan, to understand this kind of complexity is to understand why Stalin engineered the Russian-Nazi pact despite the Russian hatred of Germany. The world may have been better off, he said, had Russia not signed the pact, "but surely Joseph Stalin and his regime wouldn't have been better off. And, after all, that is what was trying to protect. This business of simplifying 'there was an evil man' — didn't tell you anything about the nature of the choices that confronted him."

It is this kind of simplification in which Spock engages, he suggested. His only other biting reference to Spock came in the question and answer period when he suggested that perhaps the baby doctor need not be bound to factual explanation since he (Kaplan) is not sure a medical degree makes one an intellectual.

Concerning the intellectual, he said, "Academics has some obligation to attend correctly to inform our audiences — There are certain procedural standards for ethical conduct debate. After all, most of you

White, Executive Secretary September 25, 1969 Dear Bill: The Northville Record is selected as the outstanding weekly newspaper in Michigan in its circulation class for 1969. This is the opinion of a team which judged newspapers for their General Excellence. You and your entire newspaper staff can take a great deal of pride in this accomplishment. This designation is no small honor, and I hope the people in your community appreciate its significance. The newspaper which wins the General Excellence designation is judged for its overall appearance, its news reporting, its editorial content, its photography and its mechanical layout. The weekly which combines all of these factors most effectively is selected for the honor. A handsome plaque denoting your achievement is being sent to you under separate cover. I hope it looks fine on your office wall. Again, I extend the congratulations of this organization. Best regards, Elmer E. White EEW:lgh P.S.-Judging was done by a team of publishers from the England Press Association. Members of the team expressed their respect for the high quality of Michigan weeklies.

A Reply to Elmer You Bet The Record Staff is Proud! Publishing a good newspaper is a team effort. It takes talented and dedicated people. It takes growing, progressive communities. It takes interested and devoted citizens and public officials. It takes aggressive merchandisers who advertise. That's why we're proud...because our newspapers have all the ingredients to become prize-winning publications. When we enter the Michigan Press Association contests, we're trying to win. The Northville Record—Novi News is also proud of its sister publication, The South Lyon Herald. It won Second Place in General Excellence in its circulation category. The Brighton Argus, newest addition to The Record—News—Herald family, joined our group too late to enter the 1969 contest. Next year you'll be hearing about The Argus, too! Free Concert In Plymouth To Resume

First free concert in the Plymouth Symphony's 24th season will be held Saturday, October 11 beginning at 8 p.m. in Plymouth High School, corner of Church and Main streets.

The all-Berlioz program is part of a worldwide celebration commemorating the 100th anniversary of the artist's death. Works will include three pieces from "The Damnation of Faust": Les Nuits d'Éte, featuring Roman Riddell, soprano; and Symphonie Fantastique.

Miss Riddell returns "by popular demand" after delighting audiences at Schoolcraft Summer Festival and the Pop Concert last May. A graduate of the Faculty of Music at the University of Toronto, she holds the Artist's Diploma of the Royal Conservatory. She has been a leading soprano of the Toronto Opera Festival Company and the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Opera Company. Conductor of the symphony orchestra is Wayne Dunlap, who has been conducting the symphony since 1951.

Founded in 1945 as a string group of 10 musicians, the orchestra is now composed of 100 professional or highly talented volunteers. University of Michigan and Wayne State Faculty members play in the orchestra as well as members from the Detroit Symphony, Toledo Symphony and the Schoolcraft College Court Orchestra.

Summer Dies As Kensington Colors Bloom

The next few weeks should bring brilliant fall color to southeastern Michigan and among the sites easiest to observe the changing season are the parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Persons may take self-directed color tours at all eight HCMA parks, with the best color expected from early October through the weekend of October 19th. Persons wishing a map showing the location of all eight parks may write to Metropark Guide, HCMA, 1750 Guardian Building, Detroit, Michigan, 48226 or Phone 961-5365 (Detroit). The new 1969-70 Metropark Guide with the pink cover was introduced last month.

Highlights of fall color at each of Kensington Metropolitan Park include:

- Sunac, maple and sassafras provide early fall color, followed by the aspens, oaks, tamaraks and beach trees which bring new hues to the hills surrounding Kent and Wilding Lakes. Several miles of roadway provide a restful, colorful drive through the 4,300 acre park. The Canada Geese located near the Nature Center, are a popular attraction. Individual and family groups are welcome to take a nature hike through the labeled trails. Exhibit hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on weekdays.
- Other facilities during the fall color season include boat rental service and Island Queen tours until mid-October, operating weekends only and "weather permitting", plus daily operation of the 18-hole golf course and food service at the starter building. Park hours are sunrise to 11 p.m. For information call 685-1561 (Milford).

Winterize! Clip Grass

Lawns should be mowed to a height of 1 1/2 to 2 inches at the end of fall.

If grass is left any taller, there is a good chance snow mold damage will occur, says James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass researcher.

Lawns cut extremely short are more likely to suffer low temperature injury.

"Short mowing is best practiced in early spring prior to the beginning of growth," says Beard.

along the way

By DON KRUPP
All in Favor Do Something

It was along this side just a few weeks ago that yours truly, said a few words concerning the merits of this community formally establishing a recreation program. And it was elsewhere in this newspaper within recent times that Novi Community Schools indicated its interest in "getting together with the City of Novi Council to consider matters of mutual concern."

Now it's here along this side again and I'm going to try to associate the two ideas-getting councilmen and trustees together and getting the recreation program done. Please read on.

But Novi Community Schools has offered to help and no better will be the time than now to carefully sit down and decide the recreational needs of the community. Now is the time to start and take advantage of state and federal funds to build a program which will grow with the community rather than wait for a falling star behind that doing a good job becomes impossible.

Actually, at the outset a recreation program doesn't require great expenditures of money. It's five years from now that the costs will become phenomenal--and the need greatest--if we don't have the foresight to begin now.

Essentially, with the Board of Education's cooperation, we're off to a good start because immediately we inherit facilities which we don't have the money to duplicate just for seasonal use. And with gymnasiums--an ambitious director with some student assistance finds himself able to build a basic program one season and grow on that foundation in summers to come.

State and federal agencies are working hard to provide funds for use in establishing or maintaining programs in communities such as ours. And we owe it to our children, the parents of whom are providing state and federal recreational funds through their tax dollars, to give them a program when the need is evident and all we have to do is put the pieces together.

In a young community like this there are young parents available and willing to donate time in studying recreational alternatives and deciding a plan. And during summer months there are capable adults--students home from college, teachers on vacation, etc.--who could and would direct such a program at a nominal cost.

And most important, there are youngsters who want--and who need--something to do and who deserve the best something we can provide them.

Court Orders Township Action Demands Division Of Assets

Return to Hit Wixom Office Back-Again Bandits Strike

Novi Township has been ordered by Circuit Court Judge William Beers to proceed immediately in a division of assets with the City of Novi--a legal decision which possibly will represent a turning-point in a lingering dispute between the two governments.

City Attorney Howard Bond informed City of Novi Council on Monday that Judge Beers had decided the case earlier the same day, less than a month after the city had filed a show-cause suit against the township demanding justification for delays in dividing assets since the two governments have been reorganized.

Attorney Emery Jacques, Jr., counsel for the township, had argued before Judge Beers that the statute requiring division of assets did not apply in the township-city case claiming that the township had an option for entering into the action.

Previous to the judge's decision, the township had been negotiating with city officials and offering the division of assets in return for fire protection, according to Supervisor Leo Kalota.

Bond explained that Judge Beers ruled the statute did apply and then, upon the city attorney's request, had ordered that the township proceed immediately. Bond observed that he did not expect an appeal on the decision.

He said I propose trying to get together with them and if not, then getting together with our people and deciding our position and presenting it in court." Mayor Joseph Crupi explained.

The mayor, with occasional Councilman Denis Berry and under the counsel of Bond, has met with Kalota on the issue with a late September session resulting in an agreement by the township to allow the city to expand upon its use of the City-Township Hall. Mayor Crupi has emphasized that the city is anxious to resolve the division of assets so that it can either expand or relocate cramped administrative offices.

The mayor scheduled a meeting yesterday (Wednesday) with Berry and Fire Chief Fred Loynes in order to study the value of fire equipment.

According to Kalota, the city has offered to extend fire protection to the township at a cost of six-and-one-half mills. A mill is a dollar in taxes for every thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

The chief emphasized the difficulty in overcoming bandits after they strike at a location just a short distance from an expressway. "By the time we get the call, they're already on the expressway and traveling at 70 miles-per-hour, they're out of the city in a couple of minutes and out of the area shortly thereafter," he explained.

Descriptions of the two men were that they both looked to be about 35 and were wearing black hats. One stood about five foot and had a ruddy complexion and thin mustache and was wearing a black jacket. The second man was about six foot tall, lighter complexioned with a full mustache and dark suede jacket.

The last time clerks at the office saw the pair, they were headed for the viaduct, McGuire reported.

In the previous holdup, employees noticed that the twosome were particularly nervous. Price, this time probably particularly nervous himself, observed that on Tuesday the bandits appeared more poised.

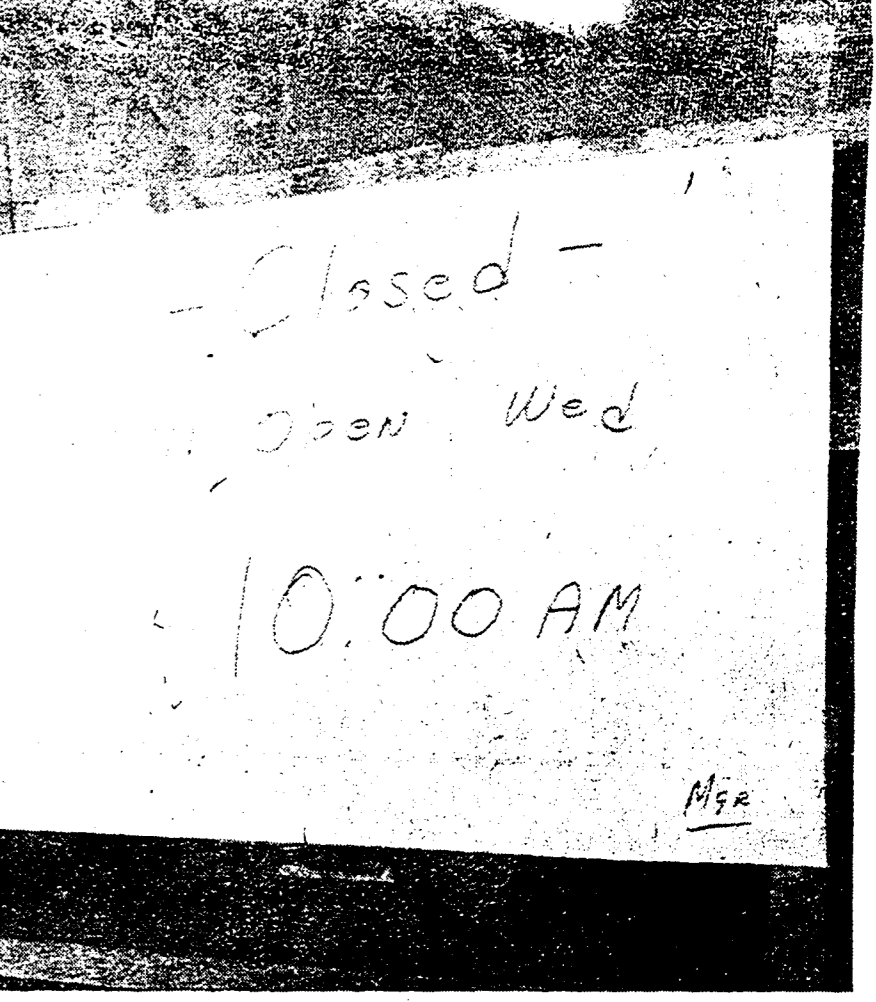

Some Days...

Holdups are indeed trying times for credit union managers and Jim Price proves to be the rule, rather than the exception. In fact things became so frustrating Tuesday for Jim Price, manager of the Wixom Credit Union, that he hastily scrawled a note announcing that his business was closed until the next day.

It seems that the credit union, victim of a pair of bandits on September 19, was held up again about noon Tuesday... by the same pair. Amount of the loss was undetermined late Tuesday.

The bandits, reported as shakey during their first encounter at the office, this time operated in a more poised manner, a more-shaken Price observed afterwards.

Sewer Rates Appear Headed for Increase

Sewage disposal rates to the City of Novi apparently will be increased by nearly 50 percent beginning the first of the year, according to indications from Detroit Metropolitan Water Services.

Intentions of increasing the rate by 32 1/2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet have been revealed by DMWS in a letter to the City of Detroit Common Council asking that the action be taken in order to finance pending improvements to treatment facilities.

The City of Novi, with Oakland County serving as its agent, presently receives sewage disposal services from the City of Detroit at 80-cents per 1,000 cubic feet. Presently averaging about 950,000 cubic feet per month, the new rate would increase costs by about $3,700 per year for the City of Novi.

Water services officials report that indications are that the Common Council will delay action on the proposal until after the early November election. Stipulations in several community contracts require notification of rate increases by as much as 90 days in advance and according to area administrators, such notices have been circulated apparently with the understanding that they could be amended if the council action delays or denies the proposal.

Novi is one of 52 suburban communities serviced by DMWS with the proposed rate increase designed to affect both suburbanites and residents of the city.

Local residents presently are charged 16-cents per 1,000 gallons with the proposed increase likely to hike their rates to 22 1/2-cents per 1,000 gallons.

A letter dated September 16 was sent to the Common Council explaining that additional revenues are necessary for a bond issue proposed in making major improvements for "a real assault on the pollution program" within the next 15 months.

According to a DMWS spokesman, state and federal officials are pressing for improvements with threats of denying financial grants if a future review "does not show that we are proceeding expeditiously and with sincerity" on improvements. Originally, a November, 1970 deadline had been established for the improvements but previous delays have forced DMWS to request an extension.

The water services spokesman also explained that DMWS revealed in 1966 that rates would be increased throughout the system for the project adding that it was stated "the amount would depend on inflation and grant money available."

Further delays might jeopardize monies from grants, the spokesman emphasized, and might also cause project costs to be increased beyond present estimates by continuing inflation.

New Wixom Official

Veteran tax official Robert E. Case assumed duties in the new position of assessor and assistant to the mayor in the City of Wixom on Monday following his appointment by Mayor Wesley McAtee. Case, 43 and a native of Battle Creek, formerly served as assessor for the City of Dearborn Heights and has worked in property tax assessment on state, county and local levels since his graduation from Michigan State University in 1956. He and his wife, Gwenn, have one son and four daughters and are residing in Dearborn Heights with plans of relocating in Wixom. Case had been at Dearborn Heights for five years.
