

U-M Eyes Education For Adults

The University of Michigan has begun to take a broad look at its educational and cultural offerings for the state's adults.

"We are a state-supported university," said U-M Vice President Arthur M. Ross, "and we want to make sure that we offer the best possible service to the people of the state."

"Beyond those considerations is the awakening to the fact that education is a life-long occupation. It is not just for schoolchildren or the college-age youth."

The planning committee will be headed by William Morgan Crossland, a freshman dean of U-M's College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, who is now adviser to U-M's executive officers.

Other members include Dean Wilbur J. Cohen of the School of Education, former U.S. secretary of health, education and welfare; Associate Deans Wade Ellis of the Graduate School, Hansford W. Farris of the College of Engineering and Alfred Swinyard of the School of Business Administration; Prof. Gerhard L. Weinberg of the history department, a member of the faculty's Senate Advisory Committee on University Affairs; and Prof. John V. Field of the journalism department.

Remaining members are Richard L. Outler, assistant to U-M's president for urban affairs; David V. Heebink, assistant vice president on Ross's staff; Dr. Alfred W. Storey, associate director of the Extension Service; and Dr. Floyd Mann, director of the Center for Research on the Utilization of Scientific Knowledge.

Beyond philosophy, Ross wants the committee to define the character and scope of activities to be offered by the Extension Service and the dozen or so other U-M units which offer continuing education programs, and how those activities should be coordinated and supervised.

Tell You What I'm Trying to Do

Once upon a time, probably realizing subconsciously that I would grow up to write nasty columns on small town politics, I gave serious thought as to the proper ways of pursuing such endeavor.

After considerable study, it was apparent that there were two courses of action available: you could either write what the people wanted to read or you could write what you believed about something that happened or was going to happen.

I'd just started my journey down the old journalism trail when I became aware that attempts at making all the people happy all the time would be futile. And, contrarily, observing where others had failed, I also recognized the fact that you don't criticize just to be critical and to satisfy the habitual critics because you often encounter circumstances that are more good than bad.

I learned the best way to do the job, or at least the best way I could do the job, was to first be honest with myself because columns, the nasty and the nice, are one-man shows - it's me talking to you and saying, for what it's worth, this is what I think about that.

But I also learned that in following that approach, one often found his opinions receiving support from limited numbers - the total of which many times averaged out to be ... one honest writer.

I look at columns in which guys write poetry to their girl friends and I appreciate the fact that they're cute and catchy but, although I feel I'm pretty cute and catchy, I don't want to write poetry to my girl friend because I feel there's something more important that should be done here.

I look at columns in which guys write about personal experiences in days gone by and I enjoy looking back and comparing, and I've got my share of comparable stories, but I feel there's something more important that should be done here.

In view of the fact that I'd rather be either cute and catchy or a comparable old storyteller than sometimes disagreeable in my honesty, I nevertheless don't feel that I can sacrifice at the very least to do a job the way I feel it should be done just because there are more pleasurable alternatives.

The job could continue to go undone, and I'd probably be better off less the wear and tear, but I guess the least I can do is try. I guess really what motivates me is the feeling that in the past too many things in this community have been done while leaving many reasonable alternatives unconsidered.

I'm not pro-township or pro-city or pro-ed pop so much as I'm pro-taking a fresh approach to new problems, pro-realizing that bickering

County Official Clarifies:

'No Immediate Danger with Drain'

An Oakland County Health Department official, whose written comments regarding the drainage of storm water into Loon Lake helped fuel a heated argument on the issue last week during a Wixom City Council session, this week clarified his position stating that the drain will not threaten the quality of the lake in its planned use.

Robert Coleman, director of the division of environmental health for the Oakland County Health Department, explained Tuesday that a newly-installed drain designed to service Bell Coney and Maganser streets in Birch Park Subdivision won't contribute hazardous amounts of pollutant to the lake if used as planned and if precautions are taken in its future use.

"Any drainage includes some development in order to keep the water quality in control," Coleman, apparently upon the request of County Supervisor Lew Coy (R-Wixom), was one of a party of health department officials who inspected the drain earlier this month and then forwarded letters to Mayor Wesley McAtee stating the possibility that a water quality hazard could develop.

Rumors concerning the correspondence spread throughout the community last week with Mayor McAtee deciding to specifically invite residents of the subdivision to the regular council meeting last week Tuesday to discuss the issue.

At the session, the mayor criticized Supervisor Coy for not contacting city administrators about the alleged problem before ordering an inspection by county officials. Supervisor Coy also happens to be a resident of Birch Park.

Council Questions District Remains Undecided Over Elementary Site

The existence of a National Bank of Detroit branch on West Eight Mile Road came to the attention of the City of Novi Council on Monday - more than a month after its opening - with Councilman Denis Berry, supported by Councilman Edwin Pressnell, questioning "why NBD is sitting where it is and operating as it is."

"The procedure is common in many businesses; the only difference here is that a bank is involved," Berry said, "I wonder why this hasn't been brought to the attention of the council?" Pressnell continued.

"I for one would like to see that bank closed until it has been approved by the Board of Appeals," Pressnell stated. "I don't see this moving in and saying 'Here we are, you've got to take us.'" Mayor Joseph Crupi interjected.

An amended offer of property for an elementary school site to Novi Community Schools from Kaufman & Broad Homes, Inc. - a local residential bonding issue proposed for the construction of a middle school and an elementary school and for future site acquisition.

The middle school is proposed for location on property adjoining the present high school while administrators plan to construct the elementary school in the general area of the Kaufman-Broad development - the portion of the district which presently is growing at the fastest rate.

But in considering the matter at its meeting, the appeal board delayed action awaiting advice from City Attorney Howard Bond clarifying its authority on the issue. Bond has ruled that the board can decide the appeal and it is expected to be re-considered November 4.

The branch bank, housed in a 40-foot mobile unit, is located and operating in a CT (Commercial-Thoroughway) zone which requires proposed use by banks to be approved by the Board of Appeals.

Although NBD officially opened the branch September 15, the approval from the board is still pending. Berry and Pressnell on Monday expressed dissatisfaction with procedures in the matter with Berry indicating surprise over the situation. Pressnell, who is also acting postmaster, also questioned why the issue had not been brought before the council previously.

The council has not formally discussed the matter although existence of the branch has been considered common knowledge throughout the community.

Pressnell pointedly questioned circumstances and then asked Bond: "In other words, they're operating illegally?" "I guess it can be considered that way," the city attorney responded.

A queen - to be announced Friday night - and her court, chosen by classmates last week, will reign during Homecoming on Friday for Novi High School. One of four seniors will be selected to wear the crown with representatives from each class also in the court. Seniors are (from left) Kathy Romanow, Barbara Reska, Denise Ward and Eunice Reuter. Underclassmen include (kneeling from left) Kathy Radtke, Class of 1972; Candy Beach, Class of 1973 and Mallyn Prosch, Class of 1971. The Wildcats will host Ypsilanti Lincoln on the gridiron as part of the activity with the game scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Two Residences Looted, Losses Reach Near $500

The same burglar or burglars apparently broke into two eastside houses last week while residents were away, according to City of Novi Police, with the loss in household items at one site estimated at nearly $500.

According to Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner, the Louis Hoover residence at 26901 Meadowbrook Road was entered last week Wednesday with a portable television, typewriter and camera apparently taken. Faulkner also reported that on Thursday, Officer Jerry Burnham discovered that the Robert Robertson residence at 41390 Eleven Mile Road - meant while the owner is on vacation - also had been broken into. According to Burnham, the house had been ransacked and there was no television set although damages cannot be determined until the residents return.

Seized in Raid Jailbreakers Caught in Area

Two escapees from Shiawassee County Jail, in possession of a large arsenal of weapons, were apprehended last week Wednesday in a raid upon a New Hudson residence by City of Novi Police and State Police from Brighton.

Nelson said that the pair had also been reported in possession of several shotguns and pistols and one of the subjects had said he wouldn't be taken into custody without a fight, according to the detective.

Three Couples Pledge Fall Wedding Vows

At MSU Chapel . . .

Newly wed Lieutenant and Mrs. Robert Eugene Beller are making their home in Fayetteville, North Carolina, following a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and the East Coast with stops in Washington, D.C., and Mount Vernon.

They were married in an afternoon ceremony October 5 in Alumni Memorial Chapel on the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing. The bride is the former Dianne Elaine Weller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayle E. Weller of Lakeside, Michigan.

The bridegroom, who is stationed with the U.S. Army 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Beller, 771 Horton Street. He is a graduate of Northville High School, Class of 1965, and Michigan State University, Class of 1969. The bride also attended MSU and was graduated from Three Oaks High School, Class of 1966.

The bride chose an A-line gown of white satin, fashioned on colonial lines with puff sleeves ending in long cuffs and simple lace trim laced with pink satin ribbon down the front and back, extending to the end of the chapel train. A floral headpiece held her full-length train.

Both the bride and her sister, Mrs. Daylene Lumis, who was matron of honor, carried round colonial bouquets of daisies and roses with narrow ribbon streamers. Mrs. Lumis wore a floor-length gown in rose with white lace underbodice laced with rose ribbons. Her pink veil was floor length.

Donald Beller was best man for his brother. Ushering Ed Beller, another brother, and Dennis Anchors, Dr. Jesse Pierce officiated.

A reception followed for 40 guests in East Lansing. The bride's mother wore a pink knit and flower hat while the bridegroom's mother wore a turquoise chiffon dress with lace coat and matching hat.

In Northville . . .

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fowler of Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Olewnik, 46501 West Main Street.

Father Dennis Felton officiated at the altar decorated with floral arrangements. Special solo music was sung by Mrs. Carol Beyer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white pique trimmed with old-fashioned lace. A bow headpiece held her fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations.

Su Evans of Plymouth was honor maid. Cathy Fowler, and Cecille Olewnik were bridesmaids while Anne Olewnik was flower girl. All wore sky-blue dresses and carried matching blue carnation bouquets.

John Pauli was best man with Jan and Charles Olewnik serving.

A reception for 60 guests followed at the Plymouth home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother wore a turquoise and green dress while the bridegroom's mother wore brown and gold brocade. Both had white orchid corsages.

The bridegroom is a Northville High School graduate and a student at Schoolcraft College. He also is working for Ford Motor Company. The bride is a Plymouth High School graduate and attended Schoolcraft.

At East Lansing . . .

Janice Helen Mattison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mattison, 39861 Six Mile Road, became the bride of Keith Richard Knobloch, son of Dr. and Mrs. Irving W. Knobloch of East Lansing, in a ceremony in that city October 10.

The Reverend Robert C. Gardner officiated at the 7 p.m. rites at East Lansing All Saints Episcopal Church. Attending the couple were Miss Eileen Scheppelle of Plymouth and Phil Costa of East Lansing.

The bride is a graduate of Michigan State University where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. The bridegroom is a senior at Michigan State.

They will be making their home in Mason, Michigan, as the bride is teaching mathematics at Leslie High School in nearby Leslie.

Novi Girl, 16, Wins Beauty School Contest

Theresa Schult

about Women and the family

Sixteen-year-old Theresa Schult, a Novi High School junior, will compete November 10 in a state-wide contest for the top beauty school student.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Schult, 26140 Beck Road, Theresa earned the honor of competing in the state contest to be held in the Ford Auditorium in Detroit by winning a preliminary round contest at the Virginia Farrell School of Beauty, Seven Mile and Grand River.

She was among the 10 finalists selected from 200 girls who attend the school, and then last week was judged the best of the 10.

Formerly active in many school functions at Novi, Theresa has been forced to give up most of her extra-curricular activities since joining the beauty school in July.

In Our Town

NO MINISKIRTS for movie and television star Barbara Stanwyck, whose red-and-gray tartan pleated skirt was swinging right at the knee as she helped kick off the 21st annual United Foundation Torch Drive for Metropolitan Detroit.

Looking as slim as when she first became a movie queen, Miss Stanwyck brushed aside the whole subject of minis, declaring in that husky voice that she simply "tries not to think of them."

Locally, the Torch Drive residential campaign almost reached its Noville quota on kick-off day, last Tuesday, Mrs. William Swank, residential campaign chairman, reports. The first day of doorbell ringing brought $2,609 and reached 848 of the 943 homes campaigners hope to call upon. Saying she "can't praise her chairman and workers highly enough," Mrs. Swank was headlining this week that the quota of $3,777 will be reached by October 24, final doorbell tally day when workers are to have completed call-backs.

While Northville volunteers were leading Western Wayne County returns, Miss Stanwyck was headlining a volunteer report luncheon Tuesday in Cobo Hall and attending a press luncheon at the Detroit Athletic Club to help the cause.

While in Detroit, Miss Stanwyck is the house guest of Hollywood Columnist Shirley Eder. Even with the longer skirts that Barbara Stanwyck feels are more appropriate to the mature, she looks very much in "today's" fashion with matching tartan vest, high-neck red jersey blouse AND to-the-knee burnished leather boots.

Miss Eder revealed at the press luncheon that the star of "The Big Valley" has turned down Hollywood parts because she's waiting for Hollywood to put its clothes back on. "When the public stops paying $3 for current movies, then I can get a job," the star who soared with DeMille ventured.

In the meantime - looking years younger than you know she possibly can be - Miss Stanwyck is aiding such worthwhile causes as United Foundation. Readings for the Blind and Indian Children. (That distinctive, throaty voice must provide many a thrill of recognition on history or geography lesson tapes.)

Asked how she had become interested in working with the blind, Barbara Stanwyck responded with empathy. "Can't you imagine the mental horror of being blinded?"

READINGS for the Blind, a non-profit organization with an office in Franklin, Michigan, has a Northville newcomer among its volunteers. Mrs. Robert Powell, who moved to Kings Mill last April, has been working in the Franklin office two mornings a week.

Mrs. Pat Anger, who manages the office and, incidentally, is the wife of John Anger of Northville's Anger Manufacturing Company, sends word that Readings for the Blind now has available its 1969 Christmas card.

Sale of the cards helps make available tapes to visually handicapped persons in Michigan. The card - on heavy, white paper - is a night view of Jerusalem, designed by Marie Piorenok.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Anger on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 851-2181.

FOUR VOLUNTEERS from Northville form a "productive group" turning out college-level tapes for Recordings for the Blind, a Torch Drive agency with two Michigan units - at Oakland University and in the Kragge Science Library at Wayne State University.

Every Monday Mrs. George Jerome, Mrs. George Weiss, Mrs. Albert Jones and Mrs. C. T. Sechler go to the Kragge Library to read "everything from literature to abnormal psychology." Senior member of the quartet in service is Mrs. Weiss, who has been a weekly volunteer for four or five years. Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Jerome joined her a couple of years ago and Mrs. Sechler recently passed her auditions.

To illustrate the variety of subjects covered, Mrs. Jerome this Monday was taping "Concept of Health." She stresses that everyone in the group feels she "receives far more from the volunteer service than she gives - and then there's the satisfaction of knowing some blind person is able to further his education."

A SPECIAL CHRISTMAS card also is available now from the Michigan Cancer Foundation - a Torch Drive agency, too. The 1969 card is a winter scene, named "Winter Solstice," by Michigan artist Tom Woodward.

It was printed by the artist in six colors from inked wood blocks on a hand press and is being reproduced in blue and brown colors on quality white paper. The artist recently had one of his works in the Michigan Artists' Show chosen as a purchase prize to be hung in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The cards are available locally through Mrs. Edward Kelly, Northville-area Christmas card chairman, who points out that the cards are a tax-exempt donation with funds going to cancer research - "more important than ever before as federal

Noting that many Northville residents are purchasing the cards as a memorial tribute, Mrs. Kelly stresses that "research must go on." The cards are being sold at their usual price, she says, of $3.75 a box of 25 with $2 additional per order for imprinting.

Anyone interested in seeing the cards and ordering may call her at 349-4179.

"Solstice" of the card title sent us to the dictionary to find: "Solstice is either of the two times a year when the sun is at its greatest distance from the celestial equator - about December 22 when it reaches its southernmost point."

A fresh approach to the Christmas subject.

Features Cigarettes Take Beating: Tax Wise

LANSING — While cigarettes have been taking quite a beating lately from many different corners, there is one beneficial aspect about them no one has proposed abolishing—they're taxable.

On October 1, for the first time in history, there was a tax imposed on cigarettes in every state of the union.

On October 9, to bring the matter closer to home, Gov. Milliken asked the Legislature to raise Michigan's cigarette tax from seven cents to 12 cents per pack.

To those who can remember the time when cigarettes were two packs for a quarter, the prospect of paying that much alone in state taxes on them seems a little drastic. But a 12 cent rate isn't even unusual any more.

IOWA was the first state to impose a tax on cigarettes in 1921. Michigan was a relative latecomer to the scene, waiting until 1947 to levy the first tax on smokers.

Prior to 1947, some 32 states had levied taxes on cigarettes and seven more joined the bandwagon that year.

A 12 cent rate would by no means make Michigan the highest taxing state, either. That distinction belongs to Connecticut, which charges 16 cents for every pack of cigarettes sold there.

Other states higher than 12 cents are Florida (15 cents), New Jersey (14 cents), Oklahoma, Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and Rhode Island (13 cents), and Arkansas (12.25 cents).

States already charging 12 cents are New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Maine, Illinois, North and South Dakota and New Mexico.

SECRETARY OF STATE James M. Hare is one of those persons who truly deserve the title "political pro."

He is as astute a politician and has as many contacts as any man in Lansing.

Yet, he has one pet project that he has never been able to get the Legislature to go along with. This is a financial disclosure provision for campaigns.

The seven-term officeholder, who is retiring after the current term he is serving expires, is going to make one more try.

He served notice on the Legislature he will be after it again next January to enact "total reform of Michigan's financial disclosure laws with particular emphasis on more effective controls over reporting of political campaign contributions and spending."

"A MEANINGFUL, effective public disclosure law will not only inform the people as it should but will produce the desirable side effect of reducing the cost of politics to permit highly qualified but modestly affluent people to run for office," he told them.

Hare said the bill he is pushing "will not limit political participation but will require the participants to be open and honest."

"The effect," he predicted, "will be to foster public respect for politics and politicians. The bill restricts campaign spending to candidates, committees formed at the candidates' request, party committees and fund raising committees."

"These assorted committees must file a statement of existence and file an accounting of receipts and disbursements," he explained.

HARE PROPOSED several other programs at the same time which he said the Legislature should pass.

Among the more noteworthy of these was a proposal for state conducted driver license examinations.

"In Michigan in most instances we have what is known as 'autonomous control' by local police jurisdictions," he said. "With the current system it is virtually impossible to bring about the necessary uniformity in driver licensing."

Hare said Michigan is one of only four states where driver license examinations are not administered by one state agency.

"With the state's current driver licensing system, it is virtually impossible to bring about the necessary uniformity in driver licensing," he said.

Sitting down at a typewriter every week to write a column that at least purports to be a criticism, or thoughts on things cultural, sometimes sends even the worst of us to the walls, looking for a door of escape. This is my day, or my week to defy the nagging ache of duty, to protest my lot as a columnist.

And it's also a chance to admire those writers, such as my colleagues Mary Ann Bylea, Marilyn Herald and Jack Hoffman, who know no restrictions — except perhaps those imposed by common decency or lack of time and space.

Every week, they, too, must face the same blank page — a piece of paper inserted in a typewriter. But they have the world to cull for ideas. They can write about Johnny's unfortunate trip to the John, about Mary Lou's obsession with green, or about George's faulty suspenders.

They would argue, I'm sure, that their lot is worse than mine that no subjective limits can be a crueler cross to bear. "Not so," is my rejoinder.

Babson Report Pollution Market Put at $26 Billion

WELLESLEY—HILLS, MASS. — The market for water pollution control has been estimated at $26 billion to $29 billion over a five-year period. However, present appropriations for the war on pollution are but a trickle because of the enormous spending on Vietnam, and there is no assurance that the cessation of hostilities would mean that water pollution would be the first order of business for the government. Also, technology in this area is by no means perfected, and further developments seem to be awaited despite the pollution "crisis."

At least 200 companies are in the water pollution control business. Of these, only a small number are publicly owned. Moreover, an even smaller number are immersed in water pollution control to any significant extent. The majority of the 200 companies are well diversified in other activities, and many of these are subject to the cyclical influences of their respective business sectors.

The Research Staff of Babson's Reports has concluded that the industrial waste water treatment and household conditioning segments of this fragmented field offer the largest market and growth potential. Thus, we would focus upon specialty chemical companies with large research and development emphasis and a high degree of consultation and technical service. Chemical use in water is expected to double in five years and double again in the following five years, providing a 15% annual growth rate.

THE LEADERS in the field, favored by the Research Staff of Babson's Reports are Nalco, Culligan, and Betz Laboratories. In the fast-breaking technological field of desalting, Aqua-Chem—the largest factor in water purification — is an interesting investment. Although these companies concentrate mainly in the high-potential water treatment business, they are risk situations, selling at relatively high price/earnings ratios, reflecting their leadership in the field, popularity, and growth potential. We, therefore, advise purchasing a package of two or more companies.

In our judgment, near-term opportunities for investment purposes are limited. We believe that investors should seek only long-term capital gains — two or more years — in select companies, with in-depth capabilities in the water-treatment sector of this emerging field.

Would you like to turn-on something new? A happy? How about a trash-in? What a way to feel great! And you help keep things beautiful too. Why not start your own movement today?

Without something to critique, there can be no criticism. In my specific case, there can be no column. This is my dilemma every week: to find the time in which to see either a movie, a play, a television program (a relatively easy out these days since it demands nothing more than a TV set, a flick of the wrist and an easy chair) or a book (increasingly difficult to accomplish because reading involves time and who has the time — or inclination — to keep current on novels.

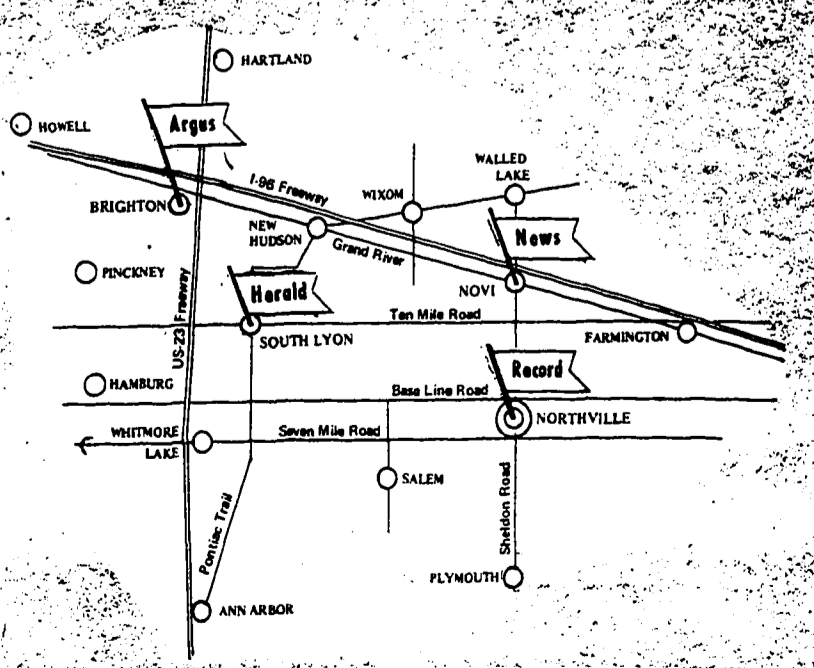

The most fun, of course, is reviewing plays, whether it's Shakespeare's "Hamlet" for the umpteenth time or the premiere showing of a challenging new play. A chemistry takes place between live actors and the audience that no other medium can duplicate. To do the job, however, involves time and a car to reach the happening on stage.

So where does that leave me? Searching, like now, for a fit subject for this column. And it leads to a bit of envy. Oh, if only the world were my stage and imagination were my only limit.

EAST, WEST LOVE IS BEST

Sue and Lee were only names to me when I first saw their picture. Incredible — that the children I now mother tenderly, once were strangers!

It seems only yesterday Dan wrote to me bringing them home. How frantic I was with worry and self-doubt. Could I love, as my own, children with slanted eyes and tinted skins?

In depression, I called my pastor. Calmly and with understanding, he spoke to me of God's love as the common denominator of all nationalities.

And so from the moment I saw them, Sue and Lee have been our own, bringing laughter and joy without measure.

How grateful I am for God and His Church and the wisdom they teach—in Christ there is no East nor West. Without this truth my arms might still be empty.

AGRICULTURE IN ACTION

by GARY A. KLEINHENN

It's an old story, but never boring, about the little guy who beats the giant.

Like the tale of David and Goliath, a small group of only 350 school teachers in Detroit are opposing the giant union.

It's a match of freedom of choice versus compulsory unionism. Miss Christine Warczak, President of the newly formed "Detroit Teachers Opposed to Compulsory Unionism" and a school teacher for seven years, is dedicated to voluntary unionism for Detroit teachers, not compulsory unionism.

The friction began when it was announced that Detroit teachers' new contract, effective in early 1970, requires that teachers either join the Detroit Federation of Teachers (DFT) or pay a fee equal to union dues to the union for negotiation services.

"The right to a job should not be conditioned upon paying a union," Miss Warczak said. In fact this poorly financed union organization that dares to defy the rich clutching octopus arms of the union is taking steps to challenge the union hierarchy in the local courts—and in the federal courts if necessary.

Farmers everywhere will be observing these events with much more than a passing interest. Threatened with farm labor unionization on a compulsory basis (not voluntary), their cause is closely aligned with these school teachers.

"Compulsory unionism is often called the new slavery and essentially this type of unionism is a return to the communist theory that there should be only one party to which everyone should give allegiance and support. Inside the party there may be disagreements, but no one is permitted to go outside and support any opposition movement," says Donald R. Richberg, author of "Labor Union Monopoly, A Clear and Present Danger" and a lifetime fighter for the legitimate rights of labor.

As President Christine Warczak has said, "They want to destroy freedom of choice. It is contrary to everything Democratic, everything we stand for in this country."

Moon Beams For Nimrods

The Hunter's Moon, the full moon of late October, will come at 3:45 a.m. on Oct. 25 and, like the Harvest Moon of September, will rise at about the same hour for several nights in succession, according to University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

The Hunter's Moon will partially compensate for October's shorter daylight, decreasing from about 12 hours at the beginning of the month to about 10 hours 20 minutes by the end.

Two meteor showers are due this month, one around the 9th toward the north, and the other on the 21st. "Although scanty showers, a few more shooting stars may be expected than on ordinary nights," Prof. Losh says. Capella (the Goat) in the constellation of Auriga (the Charioteer) rises in the northeast around sunset. It is the third brightest star visible from northern latitudes.

along the way By DON KRUPP Citizens Owe Council Respect

I was sitting there—at my umpteenth council meeting—and suddenly I realized that a knot was growing in my stomach. And then I found myself on the edge of my chair and I was just about ready to punch someone in the nose because people are people and...

The scene was a special meeting of the Wixom City Council last Thursday and the chambers were packed with people—mostly adults who choose to act mostly like non-adults in talking about, but not discussing, a storm drain proposed to empty into Loon Lake and alleged to be the turning point in civilization out along that way.

The thing that hurt so much is that it all could have been so good: there was a large turnout of citizens and a problem to be discussed and it would have been a good time to resolve the issue...

Citizens who were attending the second council meeting in their lives were harassing councilmen who have served for years and you could see in the faces of Councilman Gunnar Mettala and Mayor Wesley McAtee the disappointment that "only abuse can bring."

If that council would have voted unanimously that it was dark outside, the majority of the gallery would have argued it down. Somebody thinks they have come upon a crooked council and I think I've come upon a corrupted bunch of somebodies. I think someone is out to make this council look bad and I think the fact that it'll be election time come spring is less than coincidental.

But then when Fred stood up and started talking about "these people here have taken an oath of office" and what pledging to do your best means to these kind of people. It was a simple observation that the council has pledged to act in the best interest of the city, and that it is composed of honest people acting, to the best of their ability, in the best interest of the city.

Suddenly I found that the knot in my stomach had moved up to my throat. Unfortunately, the subject is pollution and nobody can tell anybody that the issue reduces itself to "black and white. There's a whole lot of gray area concerning pollution control and in order to understand the facts, you've got to respect the context in which they're applied.

Senator Enters Controversy

Mounting objections from citizens, with the apparent endorsement of State Sen. George Kuhn (R-Birmingham), have caused Wixom City Council to initiate action backing out of its $128,000 road improvement program for Birch Park Subdivision with Mayor Wesley McAtee labeling the action "a farce" which threatens "to set this city back 20 years."

The decision to abandon the project was unexpectedly made in a special session last Thursday after a large delegation of citizens, the majority of whom apparently reside along or near Loon Lake, continued to press for delays pending an extensive study on the degree of pollutant which will be fed into the lake upon the completion of construction.

The meeting had been called to consider revised appropriations for City Police and to decide upon a life insurance policy for municipal employees with a progress report expected on the road improvement program which had been halted October 16 following objections voiced by citizens at an earlier council session.

The council acted October 14 in halting the project and directing City Engineer Larry Pate to investigate charges that drainage from the improved roadways would endanger the quality of the lake. Pate and Mayor McAtee reportedly contacted various state and county health officials since October 14 on the issue with the mayor observing last Thursday that he felt responses had provided him with information to decide the project's future if necessary rather than waiting until Tuesday.

The mayor also revealed early in the meeting that he had received a telegram from Senator Kuhn requesting that the city "stop further work on this project subject to final review and approval by the Oakland County Health Department, the State Health Department and the State Water Resources Commission."

The issue has evoked heated charges against City Council within which various power plays have created a political triangle amongst the mayor, County Supervisor Lew Coy (R-Wixom) and Senator Kuhn. Supervisor Coy is believed to have formally launched the controversy when he called Oakland County Health Department officials in to check the council on October 7. And then the supervisor brought the issue onto the floor for discussion October 14 with the council confronted by approximately 110 citizens, the majority of which were apparently present to protest installation of the drain according to plans.

McAtee Meets With Officials

Wixom Mayor Wesley McAtee has revealed that he will be meeting today (Thursday) in Lansing with officials from the State Health Department and State Water Resources Commission concerning the controversial storm drain designed to discharge into Loon Lake.

The mayor disclosed plans for the meeting at Tuesday's session of City Council and he indicated that the future of the road improvement program in Birch Park Subdivision, within which the new drainage is planned, will depend upon the talks.

The council voted in a special session last Thursday to abandon the project since citizens objected on the fear that the drain serving the improved streets will discharge hazardous amounts of pollutant into the lake. The residents asked delays in construction pending extensive testing but, after Consulting Engineer Larry Pate explained that such a stoppage would result in expenditures jeopardizing the project, the council voted unanimously to halt construction and to begin negotiating a settlement on the $128,000 contract with the contractor and engineers.

And a motion last Thursday by Councilman Gunnar Mettala to relocate rather than abandon the project from Birch Park to Hickory Hills Subdivision was defeated by the council claiming that objections would persist under fears of pollutions through drainage.

But on Tuesday a spokesman for Hickory Hills informed the council that he had petitions "with about 100 signatures" asking that the road improvements be instituted in their neighborhoods. In other business Tuesday, the council took action approving a re-appropriation of money to provide an additional $26,000 in salaries and fringes for City Police and Department of Public Works, accepted a low bid of $5,054.78 for two Mercury police cars from Bob Dussau Incorporated, Farmington, and also approved contracts of $41,400 for services connected with the survey and planning stages of Urban Renewal for the central business district.

After comments from several citizens, Mayor McAtee responded that he would be meeting this week with Police Chief Tom McGuire to discuss charges that he directed a patrol car on a test run through the community during a high traffic period. The mayor explained that the problem had just been brought to his attention earlier Tuesday and that it would be resolved between himself and McGuire rather than "washing the city's dirty linen in public."

Trustee Ray Warren, chairman of the building and site committee, told board members Kaufman and Broad, a local developer, has offered the district a new 9.5 acre elementary school site in a subdivision roughly bounded by Nine, Ten, Haggerty and Meadowbrook roads.

The price of the land was pegged at $71,000. A proposal aired at a previous meeting offered about 14 acres for $56,760, though the board felt much of this land was unusable. The newest proposal gives the school a requested five lots along Willowbrook Road and makes the creek the northern land boundary, a triangle of unusable land is created in the southeast corner of the site.

"I think $71,000 is a terrific price for the land we are acquiring," Warren said. "Forty-five percent of the land they offered," board president Bruce Simmons countered, "Kaufman and Broad cannot use. This is their only out."

Trustee Gil Henderson proposed the board "get two or three impartial people to give us an appraisal. Then we would have an objective price for the piece of land." The board voted 4-1 on the Political Triangle Evolves What outwardly appears to be a political concession by Wixom Mayor Wesley McAtee to State Senator George Kuhn (R-Birmingham) over a controversial storm drain proposed to discharge into Loon Lake might eventually prove to be a maneuver designed to place the burden of proof in the issue on the senator's shoulders. The situation evolved last Thursday when the mayor unexpectedly revealed his field and proposed that the council act in halting a $128,000 road improvement program in Birch Park Subdivision upon the request of the senator and in light of the public opposition to the project. Construction began earlier this month on Bell Coney and Maganser streets in the subdivision with plans to install a storm drain, curb-and-gutter and surface the roadways.
