

Pastor to Host Holyland Tour

Reverend and Mrs. Robert V. Warren of Wixom will host a 15-day tour to the Holy Land and centers of Greco-Roman classical history beginning February 19, it was announced this week.

The tour group will leave from the John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York, returning March 5.

The tour, according to the Reverend Warren, who is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wixom, will include visits to such places as Rome, stopping to see the Catacombs, the Roman Colosseum, and Forum, the Vatican Sistine Chapel, and St. Peter's Basilica.

From Rome the tour will go to Egypt to observe the Egyptian pyramids, the Valley of Kings & Queens, tombs of former pharaohs, and museums. It will feature a sailboat ride on the River Nile.

Visits to Tel Aviv and Jerusalem are planned, with stops at the Wailing Wall, the Garden of Gethsemane, Mount of Olives, Bethlehem, Jericho, Jordan River and the Dead Sea. The group will cross the Sea of Galilee by boat and visit Capernaum, Nazareth, and Mount Carmel.

Finally, Pastor and Mrs. Warren and those accompanying them will visit Athens, observing the Mars Hill and the Acropolis, and on to Corinth from where the group will make its return flight to New York and home.

Anyone interested in joining the Warrens and members and friends of the First Baptist Church of Wixom are asked to call Reverend Warren at 624-3823 or 624-0442 for additional information.

Jaycees Cancel 'Miss' Pageant

The 1969-70 Junior Miss Pageant has been cancelled, Northville Jaycees announced this week, because of an insufficient number of contestants from Northville and Novi high schools.

The local pageant had been scheduled to take place Friday, November 28.

In two previous years, the winning Northville girls went on to claim higher honors under the Jaycees sponsorship. Last year Leanne Steeper went on to become the metropolitan Detroit regional Junior Miss and two years ago, Pam Smith won locally, regionally and in the state finals to compete for national honors.

"We hope to revive interest in the pageant next year," said Jaycee President David VanHine, "with added promotional efforts."

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Welch, Novi, announce the birth of their second child, Brenda Leigh, November 6, at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia.

Mrs. Welch is the former Joyce Galuszka of Detroit.

The baby joins a sister, Sheila Joyce, 21 months old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Welch, Redford Township, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Galuszka, Detroit. A great-grandfather, Paul L. Gross, lives in Detroit.

The birth of their first daughter, Michelle Lea, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Bob J. Brandon, formerly of Northville and now residing in Lubbock, Texas.

She was born November 2 in Lubbock and weighed six pounds, one ounce.

Michelle joins two brothers, Christopher and Timothy.

Mrs. Brandon is the former Patricia Willing. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Willing, 19300 Smoak Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brandon, Plymouth.

The third daughter born to Dr. and Mrs. Robert Stiles has been named Kristin Lee.

Born November 16 at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, the baby weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces.

She joins Kimberly, 4 and Jill, 18 months at the Stiles' home at 1031 Canterbury.

Mrs. Stiles is the former Suzanne Winner.

Grandparents are Mrs. and Mrs. Robert Stiles, Wyandotte, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Winner, Winter Park, Florida.

Bewitched — ceremonies, young Puritan girls fear spirits that come in the night. Playing roles in "The Crucible" are, left to right, Michelle Rody, Merilee Becker, Debbie Guido and Lynn Macri. The play will be presented at Northville High Auditorium, Thursday through Saturday. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the door for $1.50.

A Trip to Washington

March is Peaceful But Not Their Sleep

The city of Jefferson's peach trees was in bloom last weekend — with people. They came from all over the eastern half of the country to participate in what has been called the largest anti-war rally in the history of the nation.

They came in cars, trains, planes, and bicycles. They wore army fatigues and grey worsted suits, levis and work shirts, and outfits of the highest fashion; they sported beads, buttons, bumper stickers, and cardboard signs.

My friends and I, all students of Eastern, didn't join their ranks until 5 a.m. Saturday owing to a snowstorm encountered high in the Pennsylvania mountains.

Sleepy and groggy-eyed from nearly 10 hours of driving we met at the Moratorium Washington and the throngs of people who were even then crowding the streets. Forty minutes spent figuring out that Washington streets are labeled by letters and numbers and that they run alternately off of traffic circles every other block, and 20 minutes spent finding our way out of the maze, and we finally came to the Baptist church in the heart of the city where we were told we would receive accommodations.

Parking was impossible because of the 30 buses from State, U.M., and Central, so while my roommate drove around the block I was dispatched "to find out what's going on."

Despite the cold — it was 18-degrees and snowing lightly — and the throngs of people flowing in and out of the church, the attitude of everyone I met was one of friendliness with a desire to assist. I was shaken by the hand, clapped on the back, and ruffled by the hair by perfect strangers who were overjoyed (it seemed) to see me. Food stations, water stations, blanket stations, a fire (the heat in the building I learned had been turned off) had been set up inside the church and were busily serving all who could cluster around. I made my way to the table marked SLEEPING. The girl in charge was "sorry" but all private homes had been filled and we would have to be satisfied with the basement of a high school.

An auxiliary police contract that these policemen also be compensated for attending training sessions in uniform was tabled pending establishment of a former training program by the chief and city manager.

Fireworks Seen In City Land Sale

Debate, if not verbal fireworks, is likely to erupt next Monday when the city council meets informally with citizens of Village Green subdivision to discuss the proposed sale of the city-owned well property just north of the Novi Road curve into Eight Mile Road.

Major discussion, it appears, will revolve around the question as to how much of the city's 4.91 acres of property should be put on sale for multiple-housing development (for which it is presently zoned).

The city council proposes to sell the entire parcel to the highest bidder, with the stipulation that construction be prohibited west of the stream bordering the rear of subdivision homes. While the council suggests that the developer not be permitted to build on the rear portion, it is willing to permit this acreage to be used in computing dwelling density.

Apparently, the subdivision association is satisfied that the property eventually will be developed and that multiple-housing is preferable to business development. However, the association believes the rear portion of the property should be reserved as public, open park land.

The city notes that to make the property economically feasible for housing development the entire parcel must be offered for sale. And if this is done, the "open space" probably will be maintained by the owner for the exclusive use of residents within his development.

Over past years subdivision home owners, primarily Arthur Adams, have maintained the city property for recreation of subdivision children. They would like this land, west of the stream, to remain in city hands for park purposes. Speaking for himself and not the association, Adams suggests the entire parcel be maintained

An in-depth review of the two propositions to appear on Northville Township's special December 8 election ballot is currently being prepared. The article will examine the propositions and the reasons for their appearance on the ballot. Look for it next week in The Record.

Teenagers Succeed Managing Dances Is Big Business

Do teenagers want more music to dance by and less hard rock? Officers of the student-operated club, The Cavern, are taking a hard look at this question as they go about the expensive business of hiring bands for their twice monthly dances.

That the officers even consider the question in view of the steady popularity of entertainment-oriented rock is a clue to why the Northville teenagers club continues to succeed while others in the metropolitan area have closed their doors or are teetering on the brink of bankruptcy.

"We must adjust to changing demands," says Club President Curt Sauer, "in order to survive. That's why we're considering the possibility of hiring only one band for our dances and maybe using more recorded music."

Some hard-rock is "great to listen to but it isn't easy to dance to," Curt explains. "People coming out to our dances may stand around and listen or watch these kinds of performers but they're not dancing. Many kids even leave the dance floor when they're performing. We're wondering if kids prefer rock that's easier to dance to."

By hiring a single band that caters to those who want "the loud, wild stuff" and supplementing it with recorded dance rock Curt and fellow officers believe the club might be able to satisfy a larger number of members and guests.

Of course, there's another, perhaps even more important reason for considering a change in format, admits Curt. The club hires only unionized musicians and must pay as much as $600 or more for two good bands. Expenditures like these are not small, even in comparison with those of adult organizations in the area.

NORTHVILLE JAYCEES garnered top honors in competition with 265 other Michigan chapters at the fall meeting in Cadillac earlier this month. In the point rating for outstanding accomplishment, the Northville chapter took 1,048 points. Plymouth took second with 895 points. Jaycee President David VanHine, in praising members for their efforts, beamed, "After nine long years, not only did Northville crack the top ten, but leaped to the top."

NEAR-EPIDEMIC proportions of colds and flu are reported here this week as Northville schools record a high rate of absenteeism. Miss Florence Panatoni of the administrative staff comments, "We haven't called it an epidemic, but we do have a high absence rate."

TWO COURT CASES will be discussed by Northville Township officials Tuesday night in an executive meeting at the township hall. Discussion will center around a recent circuit court decision, which clapped down a long-time attempt by the township to prohibit house trailers along Gerald Avenue. The township argued unsuccessful that because trailers are non-conforming uses, removal and replacement by other trailers constitutes an illegal action under non-conforming regulations. The lower court disagreed and officials are now considering whether or not to appeal the case. Officials also are weighing the proposed consent judgment with Boron Oil, which seeks to build a station at Haggerty and Five Mile roads.

Film on Theatre Tops Program

This Friday's program of Northville Woman's Club on the Hilbery Classic Theatre program at Wayne State University at 1:30 p.m. in Northville Presbyterian Church will be a guest day, Mrs. William Switzer, program chairman, announces.

A tea is to follow the program, which is to include a film, "Repertory Theatre - Actors' Workshop."

Going Going Gone!

A smokeless, odorless gas incinerator gets rid of all burnable trash indoors.

GONE is garbage accumulation — GONE, unpleasant smoke and odor — GONE, daily dashes to the trash burner... just pop it all into the gas incinerator and set the dial! In just minutes, all your burnable refuse is disposed of indoors — without smoke — without odor. An automatic gas incinerator is the convenient, sanitary way to end trash problems. Put a modern gas incinerator in your basement, garage or utility room. Cost? Just pennies a day.

Peaceful March

I accepted her hand-drawn map, made my way outside, and rejoined my anxious companions.

Onadega High School, located in one of the slum areas of Washington, was like every other place we went over the weekend, packed. We worked our way to some cafeteria tables, spread out our sleeping bags, and to the tune of Dylan's "The Times They Are A Changin'" and by candlelight, we passed out. It was 6:30 a.m.

Two hours later we were on our way. By the time we reached the three-mile stretch of grass between the Washington Monument and the Capitol, it was 9:30 a.m. The sidewalks were literally crammed with demonstrators. We parked our car a half-mile away and joined them.

As we walked down Constitution Avenue towards the monument we talked to the people immediately next to us.

"You know why the 'silent majority' is silent?" asked a tall mustacheed kid from Ohio's Antioch College. "No," I said. "Why?" "Because it doesn't exist. We're here to show that we're the majority and we're sick of war."

One demonstrator broke ranks 10 paces into the street and yelled at a configuration of policemen, calling them "pigs." A group of volunteer marshals grabbed him and hustled him back into the crowd. The policemen cheered, everybody laughed. A girl from NYU, who had ridden her bicycle to the Capitol, told me the most ridiculous thing she saw in the war was that it took money away from home where it was desperately needed. A blonde boy from Kentucky State said he carried his brother's name in the "march on death." A tall girl dressed in fashionable bellbottoms and a heavy fur coat said she was present because it was "lots of fun." I asked a psychology professor from Harvard his reasons for protesting and he responded by asking me how many Vietnamese had died in our "Civil War."

Beginning an hour and 40 minutes late, the march moved slowly along Pennsylvania Avenue, with participants sharing slogans like "We don't want your lousy war," and "All we are saying is give peace a chance."

Volunteer parade marshals, recruited by the march organizers, stood in intervals of five or 10 feet along the parade route, laughing and joking with demonstrators. Police seemed to have nothing to do as they stood on street corners in groups of 12 or more.

I shared a peanut butter and jelly sandwich with one D.C. patrolman who said, when I asked what he thought of the whole thing, that the kids were courteous and friendly and he hoped they all had a place to stay and didn't have to sleep out in the street. A girl offered to sell him a burton in parody of Vice-President Agnew, reading: "Hi, I'm an effete, impudent, intellectual snob." He bought it for a quarter, smiled, and put it in his pocket.

The march took nearly four hours to complete and was relatively free of obscenity or "cop baiting."

In the afternoon, protesters listened to such people as folk singers Pete Seeger and Arlo Guthrie, Senator Eugene McCarthy, and Mrs. Martin Luther King. Fires were built, blankets dug out, and people huddled together or ran around to protect themselves against the cold and sharp north wind. Attendance suffered from the weather but the crowd maintained gigantic proportions.

Security in the city was tight. Besides police guarding Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues, officers were stationed on the roofs of virtually every public building. Security helicopters shot back and forth over the heads of the crowd.

Most of the march, however, was peaceful, and those who came to express a peaceful thought, in general, went home gratified. I know I did.

Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Eva L. Wheeler, a former Salem Township resident, at the Assembly of God Church, Ypsilanti with burial at Salem Walker Cemetery.

Mrs. Wheeler, 79, died last Friday at Huron View Lodge Convalescent Home, Ann Arbor, where she had been a patient for three months. She had been a resident of the Ypsilanti area for 45 years.

Born April 22, 1890 in Woodland, she married Calvin L. Wheeler in Salem in 1913. Her husband died in 1960.

Surviving is a son, Sam, of Ypsilanti and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were arranged by Stevens and Bush Funeral Home, Ypsilanti.

LISLE K. BIERY

Funeral services will be held today, Thursday, for Lisle K. Biery, a former resident of the Caterline Funeral Home.

Mrs. Biery, 83, of 43687 West Grand River, died at home November 14.

Born in Northville Township, March 2, 1886, she lived in Novi for 80 years. The daughter of Noard (Downer) and Charles Kent, she married Floyd A. Biery. He preceded his wife in death in August, 1949.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Charles Bassett, Novi, Mrs. Ralph Yerkes, Howell, and Mrs. Mattie Kent, Plymouth.

Officiating at the services will be Reverend Robert A. Mitchinson of the First Methodist Church, New Hudson. Burial will be in Novi Cemetery, Novi.

Teachers Picked For Institute

A teacher from Northville High School and one from Schoolcraft College have been chosen to attend Michigan's Second Institute on Girls' Sports to be held November 20, 21, 22, and 23.

They are Pat Babel, of the high school, who will participate in basketball discussions, and Ruth Guttenicht, who will attend swimming and diving sessions.

The United States Olympic Development Committee has sponsored five National Institutes on Girls' Sports. Primary objectives have been to increase the depth of experience and expand the opportunities in sports participation for girls and women.

Police & Courts

Two persons were injured November 12 when the car in which they were riding struck a utility pole at the corner of Rayson and Center streets.

Mrs. Paul D. Mack, 618 Fairbrook, and her 11-year-old son, Greg, hit the windshield of the car and suffered minor injuries, police reported. They refused medical attention.

Mrs. Mack said she tried to stop for a stop sign on Rayson when the brakes failed. She hit the utility pole rather than another car, she said.

Twenty-four stitches were required to close wounds on the face and top of the head of Raymond Brennan Jr., four-years-old, of Dearborn, who was bitten November 15 near Northville Downs and Hines Drive.

More than $300 worth of cameras, radios and binoculars was stolen November 6 from the Harry Weiser Sr., home, 589 Langfield.

William Ward Jr., 111 South Wing Street, told police he was knocked down by a car as he was walking in the parking lot behind Ramsey's bar. The accident occurred November 17 shortly before 4 p.m. He complained of leg pains but declined medical attention.

A large plate glass window of Northville Pizzeria, 168 East Main Street, was broken November 15 about 3 a.m. A witness reported three youths were seen fleeing from the scene after glass was heard breaking.

Suburban TV and 2-Way Radio, 114 North Center Street, reported a silver paint barrel was taken November 15.

Township Police investigated a bullet hole in a window at 18804 Jamestown Circle on November 13. Police theorized the bullet came from the nearby Waterford Lake target range. There were no injuries.

City Land Sale

as a city park to boost recreation and enhance the "door" to the city from the north.

Councilman Kenneth Rathert, while agreeing with proposed development, has stated on two occasions that he, too, sees value in recreation - at least on the rear portion. He suggested this week that the matter be tabled until January pending further study, but fellow councilmen, anxious to end a "long delay," would not support his motion but instead agreed to wait until next Monday's meeting before acting to put the property up for sale.

John Bock of the association urged council delay until after planners have considered a council suggestion that commercially zoned property on either side of the abandoned well property be rezoned to a multiple-housing classification. But officials, explaining that owners of these properties are not interested in a "joint" sale with city land, insist that such proposed rezoning "has nothing to do with the well-site sale."

Waiting for possible action of planners would be just a delaying tactic," councilman charged, pointing out that they have already waited many months in an attempt to satisfy most of the association's earlier demands concerning sale and development of the land.

WINTERIZED - Northville Downs grandstand has been completely enclosed in glass to permit summer temperatures for winter racing that begins Monday.

A LOOSE LEAF
By ROLLY PETERSON

Dr. James V. McConnell, a professor of psychology at the U of M, is my kind of professor - a man of science with a sense of humor. Dr. McConnell, if you recall (as I didn't) is the man who some 10 years ago discovered that learning could be physically transferred from one animal to another.

He trained pointy-headed, cross-eyed flatworms called planarians to curl up when they saw a bright light. When he cut the worms into pieces and fed them to untrained planarians the new worms "remembered" what the original ones learned.

It seems that when a planarian's head is cut off, the head grows a new tail and the tail grows a new head. When he cut trained worms in half, each half grew into a new worm which remembered what the original one was taught. In fact, the original tail section with its new head remembered better than the original head with its new tail.

TRIPLE DECKER - Northville will serve up the first stage of its new triple-deck clubhouse when Jackson Harness Raceway moves into the Northville Downs for 30 nights of winter racing starting Monday.

Winter Harness Racing Opens At Northville Downs on Monday

Winter racing comes to Northville Downs Monday night for a 30-night meet extending through December 30. Actually, the Jackson Trotting Association headed up by Leon A. Slavin will introduce the winter meet to the metropolitan area as tenants of the Northville track.

Slavin was awarded the Northville meet by the State Racing Commission as a follow-up to the 40-night Jackson meet which ends Saturday.

As his part of the bargain, Downs' Owner John Carlo promised enclosed, air-conditioned grandstands and at least one floor of the new tri-level clubhouse completed for the winter meet.

The track is ready, and so is Slavin. As a matter of fact, the winter meet at Northville will mark the culmination of a long endeavor by Slavin to bring winter racing to the Detroit area.

An energetic, tireless worker, Slavin, in a sense, is beginning his "third" career in racing as he brings the Jackson meet to Northville.

A native of Kalamazoo and a long-time resident of Dayton, Ohio, Slavin certainly isn't a stranger to Detroit racing. A multi-talented man in industry and sports, Slavin mixed determination and imagination with his financial assets to lift Jackson Harness Raceway from a tottering county fair layout in 1949 to its current station as one of Michigan's most progressive race tracks.

When the curtain falls in Jackson on the current meet it will be fitting with the possibility of a 15 per cent increase over 1968. And even though the per cent may waver a digit or two, it is still an impressive windup when Contributors were distressed, however. Their articles were not being picked up for indexing by various scientific abstracting services - which apparently must be done before a publishing credit is granted. The professors couldn't get off the publish-or-perish hook.

Feeling sorry for the blokes, Dr. McConnell changes the digest's format so articles would be indexed. He renamed the magazine "The Journal of Biological Psychology" and printed the back section, which retained the name of the "Worm Runner's Digest," upside down.

Snow Fans Can Expect Lots O' Fun

Some first coming to Michigan this winter can expect vast amounts of snowfall and much good, crisp skiing weather, if there is any credibility in the prognostications of the meteorologists and squirrel watchers.

According to those who predict the forecast on the thickness of the fur on the trees and the amount of snow that will fall in the fall, Michigan can expect plenty of snow and a long winter.

The Michigan Tourist Center says the state can expect a winter with a scientific reason on which to base its estimates. Snowfall statistics recorded over several years, show the average season snowfall for the state to be about 30 inches in the north to about 20 inches in the southeast corner.

To the householder with a corner lot and long sidewalks, all this snow may be looked upon as a nuisance. To skiers, snowmobile buffs and little boys with new sleds it can mean great sport.

To help direct the Michigan winter sports fan to where the snow is, the Michigan Tourist Center has published the 1970 edition of the Michigan Winter Sports Map, which pinpoints 73 developed winter sports areas in the state. The map details specific information on locations of winter sports areas, including ski slopes, lifts, tow-entertainment and other features of particular interest to those looking for fun in the snow.

A new feature of the map is the alphabetical key which facilitates locating specific winter sports areas and information about them. To make the map easier to use, the regional areas: Upper Peninsula, West Michigan, East Michigan and Southeast Michigan.

New to the strings on the map are the new family ski resorts, including the newly-sited area provides a warming house, ski rental and a ski lift.

Among other changes for this year, several new areas added to existing areas, increased capacity of the lifts and additional restaurants and accommodations. The number of ski and triple chair lifts has increased.

Several resorts have added snowmobile trails and rental vehicles to accommodate the devotees to the new family sport. For those who cling to snow, year-round 1970's of sports centers provide indoor and outdoor heated pools.

Child lifts, T-bars and rope tow take the work out of the trip back up the hill. Snowmobile trails provide a base to suggest natural snow when nature won't cooperate. Grooming and packing machines keep the slopes in more than half the sun at most times, extending the skiing into the dark hours.

Beginners are as welcome as the pros at most Michigan ski centers, which provide slopes especially for the beginner. Rental equipment, ski poles and boots are generally available at reasonable rates.

The Michigan Winter Sports Map, designed to help you plan your winter vacation, is available free of charge by writing the Michigan Tourist Center, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing, Michigan 48936.

Budget OK?

A proposed budget in the amount of $128,100 was approved by the Southeast Michigan Regional Assembly, during SEMCOG's meeting this year. The budget covers the period from January 1 to December 31, 1969.

Council Considering Millage for Roads

Mayor Joseph Crupi has asked the City of Novi Council to consider placing a millage request to establish a road improvement fund before citizens at the regular election on April 6.

And Councilman William O'Brien also indicated Monday that he might personally direct a referendum petition in order to have a proposal for one-half mill for parks and recreation to be placed on the same ballot.

Road conditions became a topic of discussion at Monday's meeting of the council when Councilman Denis Berry observed that Meadowbrook between Nine Mile and Ten Mile "is probably the longest I've ever driven over in my life."

City Manager Dallas (Barney) Zonkers explained that Department of Public Works crews have had difficulty maintaining the non-surfaced roadway because of its increasing traffic load.

Mayor Crupi interjected that the lack of necessary equipment is a factor hindering the DPW in road maintenance.

"There's no question about this section of road being in terrible condition," Zonkers stated. "But on a gravel road you have to hit it just right - with the weather and all - and then with heavy traffic you soon find yourself right back where you were."

"I think it's a good idea that we consider putting a mill or two mills aside for roads," the mayor said.

Michigan Public Service Commission because of the low road elevations approaching the crossing between Novi Road and Meadowbrook.

"We've got to have something done there," Councilman Edwin Pressnell observed. "Frankly, if there was an accident there, I feel we would be liable."

Zonkers revealed that he has been studying alternatives for financing road improvements.

"Let's wait for Barney's survey on this but I think you're going to have to go to the people and ask for two mills for about 10 years," the mayor stated.

Two mills would represent about $100,000 in revenue per year at present valuations, according to city officials. A mill is one dollar in taxes for every thousand dollars in assessed property value.

Besides Nine Mile and Meadowbrook, the condition of Taft Road also has been a frequent topic of discussion amongst the council within recent months.

Councilman David Harrison also suggested Monday that the council "start working on parks and recreation."

"I think we ought to have some thoughts on this now because we'll soon be faced with land acquisition here," he observed. "I think we're going to be called upon soon to account for a program in this area."

O'Brien expressed his support of Harrison's position and he also explained that he has been studying the possibility of an initiative referendum to go back to the people and see if they want to set aside funds for this purpose.

O'Brien, who first introduced the possibility of requesting one-half mill for recreation at a council session early last summer, indicated that he would personally participate in the campaign with hopes of placing the half-mill request on the spring ballot.

Although the mayor did not state specifically, his request for council to consider a millage request for roads was assumed to be directed towards making a decision in time to place it on the same ballot if councilmen supported the idea. The tax rate within the city currently is six-and-one-half mills.

The Novi Jaycees have revealed that they're in the process of preparing a presentation to be made before the council in regards to community needs in parks and recreation.

Just Something To Think About

City of Novi Council has anguished for some time now over the general condition of this community's roads and Mayor Joseph Crupi's request that councilmen consider seeking additional tax dollars for improvements is one that should also be taken seriously by citizens at this time.

Acting within the limitations of the City Charter, the council will only decide whether or not to propose a millage request on the ballot at the spring election. And if it makes it to the ballot, the citizens will decide if a road improvement program will make it to reality.

The council's responsibility at this time is as it always is: to act in the best interest of the community, and roads are a key factor in sprawling community like this one.

And the citizen must concern himself with the issue because old roads don't improve themselves. Additional mills means additional dollars for the program. The question which the council is expected to place on the ballot for the citizens' decision, won't be should the roads be improved. It'll be should we improve the roads - and that's where we divide the citizens from the taxpayers.

The new elementary school, approved by voters as part of a $45 million building and property acquisition program in early September, is tentatively scheduled to be completed in 1971.

In other business Tuesday, contracts were ratified with the superintendent and the district secretaries, a board of canvassers was appointed, a program with Eastern Michigan University was endorsed and the position of principal for the new elementary school was discussed.

A three-year contract with Superintendent Thomas Dale was approved by board members, retroactive to July 1, 1969. Recommended by the board's personnel committee, the contract states that 120 days notice must be given prior to expiration date to terminate or renew the agreement. His salary is $18,800 per year.

The district secretaries were granted a 10 cent per hour increase, retroactive to July 1, 1969. The one-year contract ranges from $1.95 per hour for class one, step one secretaries, to $2.25 per hour for class three, step eight personnel.

Mrs. Claude Earl and James Mitchell were reappointed to terms on the board of canvassers for the district. Their terms will continue through June 30, 1970.

All school district canvassing boards will be abolished on July 1, 1970. All succeeding elections after that date will be canvassed by the Oakland County Board of Canvassers.

'Newsboys' Eye Sale To Aid Unfortunate

Christmas will be a little brighter for many Novi-Wixom families - thanks to the efforts of the Goodfellow organizations in the two communities which next week will conduct their annual newspaper sales.

Said The Novi News, donated by the publisher, is one of the ways the Goodfellows raise funds for aiding families who might otherwise have a pretty dismal Christmas. Receipts from the sale are used to purchase food, clothing and gifts.

While the sales conducted by the Goodfellows of each community are separate projects, they have the same common goal: "Help us brighten Christmas for those, especially children, who haven't much else to look forward to during the holiday season."

Novi Goodfellows will sell their newspapers throughout the community on Friday and Saturday, December 5-6. Persons knowing of a family that can use some help are asked to call MA 4-1248, MA 4-5622 or FI 9-3396.

Wixom Goodfellows will sell their newspapers December 6 through December 8. They will be delivered or sold to homes on December 6 and 7 and will be sold at the Lincoln plant on December 8.
