"Taffy Tail", high point Morgan horse of 1970, also is probably the 1971 first equine mother of the year in the South Lyon area. Taffy Tail's first foal, a stallion, arrived January 8. The Ed Earharts of Poplar Farms, Chubb Road, are the proud owners of the mare and her foal.

The annual awards Banquet for the Michigan Horse Association will be held Saturday, January 30, at the Civic Center, Lansing. The general meeting is at 1:00 p.m. with dinner at 3:00 p.m. Price is $5.00 per person. For reservations contact: Mrs. Sam McKinley - 806 Coullidge Road, Lansing - no later than January 23rd.

With the 1971 show season just ahead of us I think it would be helpful to many of readers if we talked a little about the judges and what they like or dislike.

Judges don't like exhibitors who lose their tempers at their horses.

This applies to adults as well as to juniors. This happens when a horse who has been behaving very well suddenly shies away from the rail or won't stand in line. The rider, holding the horse in tightly with one hand, cuts him hard half a dozen times with a whip. He may think, as the horse kicks and prances in pain, that he looks like an expert administering deserved punishment. But his flushed face and furious expression tell the judge and everyone else that he or she is simply a spoiled child who lost his temper and shouldn't be awarded any ribbons at all for equitation or anything else.

Why? There are several reasons. First if a person cannot control himself he obviously cannot control his horse. Second, one or two firm but not rough strokes of the whip are quite enough to serve as punishment. Third, the rider doesn't really know that the horse deserves to be punished.

Suppose he shied because of a small child standing too close to the rail, and was afraid the child might run out under his feet. Also it's very possible the rider may make a mistake at some time. In that case, the rider certainly doesn't expect the horse to take his temper out on him.

The annual meeting of the Mid-West Dressage Association will be held Sunday, January 24, at 7 p.m. at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club. Reservations must be made in advance. To make your reservations, contact the Hunt Club, Bloomfield Hills, or the Dressage Association Secretary.

At the recent Briarcliff Farm's Horse Show, Donna Wilson of South Lyon, riding "Sea-bon", was awarded the youth activities high point trophy.

She took the following places in the local youth activities: first in fitting and showing (13 and under); first, English Pleasure; second, western pleasure; third, mares at halter; third, stock seat equitation and sixth in the open stock seat equitation class.

STANDING ROOM ONLY—One of the rare occasions when Novi's council chambers overflow took place Monday night when citizens plugged even the chamber doorway and the outside hallway to listen — and comment — as councilmen aired a proposed business licensing ordinance.

Stirs Controversy

Business Fee Put on Burner

Novi councilmen, reacting Monday night to citizen complaint, postponed until Wednesday February 3, consideration of a business licensing ordinance.

Councilman Louis Campbell told a packed gallery of local businessmen and citizens that a licensing ordinance regarding businesses in Novi was necessary and that "we will have one."

"I would like to see it as simple as possible," Campbell continued. "I wouldn't ask anybody to accept something I wouldn't."

A letter addressed to the council from General Filters Incorporated labeled the proposed ordinance which calls for a fee to be paid by businessmen before they can do business in the area as "discriminatory towards business," and an example of "an anti-business feeling on the part of the council."

The proposed ordinance, as it stands requires a $15 fee from any business that "has for its use the production and/or supplying of commodities."

In certain cases i.e. a circus, amusement park or auction, the fee is $100.

The difference, according to Councilman Edwin Pressnell, who along with Councilman Donald Young, has been working on the ordinance for a year and a half, is extra "trouble" incurred by the city "in the nature of extra policing inspections required."

Mayor Joseph Crupi stressed that the measure was not one designed to provide revenue.

"If a swimming pool contractor comes into this city," said Crupi, "and does a poor job, there's nothing at all we can do, even under the state license that contractor operates with. We have no control over sharks, hoodwinkers and fly-by-nights who constantly take advantage of the unwary consumer."

Particular sections of the proposed ordinance drew fire from the public. Among them were provisions which call for the registering of all local employees, guarantees as to the "nature, character and good quality of goods stored," and records of misdemeanor or felony convictions demanded from the applicant.

One businessman said that for him to register his employees, due to the short term of their employment, would require him to be in city hall "every day."

Another complained that at one time he had required thumb prints from all his employees for the purpose of identification and was soon unable to get people to work for him.

Crupi asked for comments from private citizens.

George Athas of Meadowbrook Lake said that such an ordinance was necessary and "a good idea if presented to the public properly."

"If they know it for their own protection," said Athas, "it'll serve its purpose. If someone comes into my subdivision selling sod, I should be able to ask to see his license to do business within the city."

"If he doesn't have one," Athas continued, "I can buy the sod anyway, but I should have the choice of asking for it. If the consumer wants to cut his own throat let him, at least the city has tried to protect him."

The city of Northville, according to City Manager Frank Ollendorf, has a similar ordinance already.

Ollendorf referred to it as a "registration" ordinance saying that its purpose was to let city government and the police know where businesses were and what they were doing.

Fees involved, according to Ollendorf, are $5 for registering and $1 per year renewal. "This schedule applies to 90 percent of the people doing business in Northville," said Ollendorf. "Only in special cases where extraordinary inspections or policing are necessary do the fees change. These only account for about 10 percent of area business."

Councilmen agreed that the wording in the proposed ordinance needed work and agreed to postpone any action until February 3.

In other business Monday night councilmen:

—Passed an ordinance updating former measures drafted by both city and village with regard to size of sewer, special assessments, availability connection fees and pay-back agreements.

—Listened to the results of a recent meeting between Mayor Joseph Crupi and Warren J. Coville of Guardian Photo.

Nevertheless, Father Harding did emphasize that the school system appears not to have "faced up to the problem." Conceding that some attention had been given to drugs, the fact remains "you have no program in operation now," he declared.

Too many people, he said, have the mistaken notion that drugs are problems elsewhere not here, that their children could not be involved. Citing a report of the police department that 47 Novi students had contact with police last year over drug problems, Father Harding said the problem in Novi may be greater than even he suspects.

Admitting that numbers are difficult to determine, he said that even one drug-abusing youngster is too many.

He noted that just this week three youngsters were in court on marijuana charges, while two others recently "bombed out" after popping pills.

All board members agreed with Father Harding that the problem, no matter how large or small, is a serious one to which the board must address itself. Trustee Wilkins suggested — and was granted authority — to draw up the resolution since no formal action had been taken by the board. This resolution, he said, should include a directive to the administration to establish a drug abuse program — kindergarten through 12th grade — by a specified deadline.

Warren, who reminded board members that he had raised questions about drug problems in the past but had been told the problem is minor, quickly volunteered to represent the school in opening communication between it and the Drug Abuse Committee and to begin formulation, with all parties, of a K-through-12 program.

Superintendent Thomas Dale pointed out that the school is concerned about drug problems and that the recently named Citizens and Advisory group committee — which includes parents, faculty members, and students — will address itself to this and other related disciplinary-citizenship matters.

Woman Becomes Planner

Mrs. Gene Rumble of Willowbrook was appointed Monday night to fill the vacancy on the Novi planning board.

Appointed unanimously by the city council, she fills the position of Ron Cowden, whose letter of resignation was received by the council Monday.

Board Chairman George Athas termed Cowden's resignation "a great loss not only to the planning board but to Novi as well."

Athas said Cowden's reasons for leaving "were simply those of time."

"He'd been going to school and attending other meetings and becoming involved in other activities. Many times he has had to leave other meetings come sit on the planning board," Athas concluded.

Mrs. Rumble has been a resident of Novi for 10 years. She is a part-time secretary and has had long experience working with parents and teachers in a school room environment.

Postponed

Because of adverse weather Tuesday night, Wixom's bi-monthly council meeting was cancelled. Councilmen will meet tonight at 8 p.m. to follow Tuesday's agenda, according to City Clerk June Buck.

Drug Problem's Real Clergyman Declares

Contrary to the opinion of some citizens, drug abuse is a major problem in Novi.

That observation was made repeatedly Monday night as the Reverend Father Leslie Harding, on behalf of the citizens' Drug Abuse Committee, urged the Novi Board of Education to launch immediately some kind of program within the school system to combat the drug problem.

Meanwhile, the biggest problem confronting the committee, — and the schools — is convincing the adult citizens of the community that drug abuse here is a major one and that as illogical as it may seem "your child" may be popping pills or smoking marijuana, he declared.

Father Harding's impassioned plea, interpreted by at least one board member as a mild rebuke of administrative inaction, prompted the board to (one) name Trustee Ray Warren as a liaison between the school system and the Drug Abuse Committee and (two) to authorize Trustee Robert Wilkins to prepare a resolution formally committing the board to a drug abuse program in the schools.

When Board Vice-President LaVerne DeWard bristled because he saw in Father Harding's message a rebuke of school administrators who the board had urged to do something about drugs, the Holy Cross Episcopal Church vicar quickly explained he had no ax to grind nor any criticism of the administration.

Nevertheless, Father Harding did emphasize that the school system appears not to have "faced up to the problem." Conceding that some attention had been given to drugs, the fact remains "you have no program in operation now," he declared.

Youths Waive Exams; Ordered into Circuit

Examination was waived Monday by four Novi youths charged with possession of narcotics and the quartet was bound over to circuit court.

Attorneys for Joe Disner, George Gravelle and David Lutz all aged 17, as well as Richard Barnes, 18 asked the examination waiver before District Judge Martin Boyle who ordered the case into the higher Oakland County Court.

No trial date has been set but according to police the four are slated to appear before circuit Judge Robert Templin sometime in early February.

Charges spring from a call made to police earlier this month in which Lutz' father returned home to find three boys "who didn't belong there" in his basement.

Lutz, who according to Disner, Gravelle and Barnes, had given them permission to use the basement, returned home and was found to have barbiturate on his person.

A search of the house and basement where Disner, Gravelle and Barnes were when Mr. Lutz came home, revealed a quantity of marijuana and several items of narcotics paraphernalia, police said.

State Aid 'Cut' Forces More

School Use Curtailed

With no definite word in hand as yet over proposed state aid cuts, the Novi Board of Education has taken a wait-and-see position while hoping suggested cuts will be minimized before being passed on to local school districts.

Meanwhile, a freeze on all but essential purchase orders continues at the directive of Superintendent Thomas Dale.

In addition, school busing of spectators to athletic events has been temporarily suspended, board member attendance at a convention in Philadelphia has been called off, use of some paper materials in school has been curtailed, overtime of custodial-maintenance work has ceased, and evening and Sunday use of school facilities for non-educational related groups is to be stopped.

Dale noted, too, that while no plans have been made for any layoff of personnel such as a step could be taken in the future should state-aid cuts drastically affect the district.

Concerning the use of school facilities, Dale was directed to develop a policy amendment that would permit use of facilities under a fee arrangement.

According to Dale, should the Governor's suggested 2-percent state-aid cut "across the board" be approved, it would mean a loss of about $8,000 to the Novi district and "would not injure us radically."

However, should the cut amend the so-called grandfather school aid clause, which provides $93,000 to the district, the impact on the district would be considerably greater. On the basis of suggested alterations of this clause, Novi could lose about $55,000 in aid, he said. If that happens "we could still make it through the year," he speculated, "but it wouldn't be comfortable."

In other business Monday, the board —

Opened two bids on an old school bus — one from a Boy Scout troop in Detroit at $100 and one from the Novi First Baptist Church for $25, and awarded the sale contract to the Scout troop by a split 4-2 vote. (Dissenting votes were cast by LaVerne DeWard and Claude Earl, with Ray Warren, a member of First Baptist, abstaining.)

— Heard an offer to assist the board in whatever way possible by a representative of Village Oaks subdivision, Mrs. Shirley Moske.

— Approved the hiring of Alvis R. Taubee to teach math until June 11 (at a half-year salary of $4,477.50) in replacement of Ralph Heslip, whose 90-day temporary teaching permit expired.

Authorized the placement and maintenance of lights at the ice rink at Novi Elementary School, with all costs to be borne by the Parks & Recreation Commission and with a stipulation that the agreement in no way encumbers school ownership of the property.

— Heard a slide-oral report by art teachers on programs in elementary, junior high, and high schools, took under a division of teacher recommendations to improve the art program, and directed the superintendent to report on the open-ended scheduling of art in Novi Elementary School.

— Heard reports by Superintendent Dale on funds for a federal summer program, which have been increased from last year's allocation of $13,043 to $24,161 this year, and on applications filed by the school for federal funds to improve mathematics at Orchard Hills Elementary and for improvement of instrumental music at the high school.

KICKING OFF—Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi started Jaycee week with a proclamation setting aside January 17-23 as Novi's version of the national observance. The presentation was made to President Douglas Thrush and Auxiliary President Marilyn Wolcott last week in the city offices. Celebration ended Saturday night with a progressive dinner given the Jaycees by the Auxiliary.

Drug 'Rap Line' Talk Slated

BY JEAN DAY

"WHAT'S A RAP LINE?" Because drug abuse problems are the concern of every parent who has high school (or even junior high) age youngsters as well as of anyone concerned with community problems, a special public program is being planned by the Northville First Presbyterian Church Women's Association at 7:30 p.m. February 9 at the church.

The function of a Rap Line in combating the drug problem will be explained by Ralph C. Rideout, administrator of the Farmington-area Advisory Council, Incorporated. Drug counseling is one part of a program in which young people and their parents receive individual and group counseling. It is the parent organization for the Farmington Rap Line.

The speaker is to bring with him a panel of young adults who assist with the Farmington program. Rideout began Rap Line when he was serving as minister of North Farmington Baptist Church between 1966-1970. He served as chairman of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity and taught child psychology at Oakland Community College during this period. His Rap Line work led to the organization of the Farmington-area Advisory Council. He is married and the father of two children, David, 8, and Alison, 6.

Before coming to Michigan he served as Minister of Grace Semoville Baptist Church in Massachusetts and as juvenile court chaplain. Prior to that he was minister of Avon Baptist Church in Massachusetts.

He received his B.A. degree from Colby College in 1959, his B.D. degree from Andover-Newton Theological School in 1963, and his S.T.M. from Boston University Theological School in 1967. He did advanced graduate work in psychology at Boston State Hospital under the auspices of a clinical pastoral training institute.

Because of his firsthand knowledge of drug problems and his professional background, the speaker has an important message for parents beyond telling what's involved in a Rap Line. Therefore, Mrs. Douglas Smith, association vice-president and program chairman, who will introduce him, is extending the public invitation to attend.

 DRUG PROBLEMS on the consumer level were discussed by Mrs. Diane Place, consumer specialist with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Detroit District Office, at Northville Women's Club Friday.

"Pill popping" is especially serious among young mothers, she charged, as children are likely to gain the impression that "all life's problems can be solved with pills."

She suggested that children should not see their parents taking drugs regularly and urged that parents watch their conversation as well as their attitudes as they administer medicine to youngsters.

They should understand, she stressed, that they take medicine only to make them well, never because "it tastes good."

(When such authorities as Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas feel the drug-abuse problem has not peaked yet, any help or suggestions should be welcome to parents.)

Mrs. Place also told club members that the public can hear a message about foods, drugs, cosmetics, medical

Speaker and Lincoln authority at the annual men's night at the Leonard Klein home was Waldon Pez, Farmington school principal who has made a 28-year study of the Civil War president. (The speaker added that Napoleon ranks a poor third, far behind Lincoln, in amount of published material.)

 "TOMORROW'S Fashions

Today"—the benefit fashion show being sponsored by Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Church at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the social hall—will feature member models.

Fashions from pantsuits and jumpsuits to more conservative daytime wear will be shown from the Village Boutique in Plymouth. Wearing the "tomorrow" fashions will be Lisa Webster, Mrs. Robert Crane, Mrs. Alex Fisher, Mrs. James Hayward, Mrs. Robert DeAlexandris. Alternates will be Mrs. Francis Korte and Mrs. William Fuertes.

Mothers are encouraged to bring their daughters to the show, which will have an opening series of children's fashions from the Clothes Tree. Tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for youngsters.

Recipe Contest Opens

As Detroit Edison announced the beginning of its 10th annual Queen of the Kitchen contest for women who work next Monday, Mrs. James (Marion) Thomas, 23228 Gilbar Drive, Novi, made plans to enter.

A four-time finalist in the recipe contest, Mrs. Thomas says she feels "like a bridesmaid but never a bride" as she has been named one of 10 finalists in 1963, 1964, 1965 and 1970. She quickly adds, however, that she doesn't mind a bit as she's enjoyed participating so much in the cook-off each time.

This year's will be March 24 with entries received from February 1 to March 1. Ten finalists are chosen to participate in the cook-off with each receiving an electrical appliance.

Other area finalist in 1970, Mrs. Archie (Joan) Wilfong, 14 Hillcrest Road, Northville (who also was a 1969 finalist) regrets that, because she has been laid off, she is not eligible to enter this year. She hopes to enter recipes she's been saving another year.

The contest, according to Marion E. Ryan, head of the Edison electric living division, is open to any girl or woman who is employed full time outside her home and who lives within the boundaries of Edison's Southeastern Michigan service area.

Each is invited to submit a recipe for a one-dish meal that can be cooked in an hour or less. Contestants must be able to compete in the March 24 cook-off.

Professional home economists and cooks, and employees of Detroit Edison or members of their immediate families are not eligible. Judges will be Kay Savage, food writer; Cyrella Riley, Detroit News household editor; and Lee Murray, radio personality.

Entries must include name, address, place of employment and telephone number. They should be sent to Edison's Electric Living Division, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, 48226, before midnight March 1.

Grand prize for the contest Queen is a deluxe range. An electric hostess set and a "Party Pair" of chafing dish and broiler-skillet are second and third prizes.

Mrs. Thomas suggests entering more than one recipe, which is permissible. She says she tries to enter a pork, beef and chicken main dish each time. While the dish must be one that can be cooked in an hour or less, she points out, it may have ingredients (such as rice) that can be prepared in advance.

In addition to a luncheon following the cook-off, finalists are guests of Detroit Edison Company at the gala salute to Women Who Work at Cobo Hall March 24. As in the past, recipes and photographs of the finalists will be published in a booklet that is distributed free of charge.

Co-op Group Is Enrolling

Applications now are being taken for enrollment of three-to-five year olds in the Northville Cooperative Preschool Play Group which meets in the Scout-Recreation building on Cady Street.

Mrs. Nelson C. Schrader III, membership chairman, invites interested parents to call her at 349-5163 for an application blank. Enrollment is on a first-come basis.

Sixty-four preschool boys and girls are enrolled in the play group, in which two separate sessions are held. One session meets Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and the other, Tuesday and Thursday. There are four teachers on the staff with four mothers also serving as "assistant teachers" on a rotation basis.

Because of the low tuition, the group holds an annual fund-raising project. Last November a yard sale provided funds to purchase toys and books. Repairs also are being made to playground equipment with funds raised.

Coinciding with the public school schedules, there is no nursery school today or Friday. Parent-teacher nursery conferences are slated for February 3, 4, 10 and 11, beginning at 7 p.m. each evening.

Ceremonies Unite Couples

Morrison - Findling

A wedding trip to Canada followed the marriage January 16 of Michele Marie Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Morrison, 510 Butler Street, and Robert James Findling. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Findling, 18277 Jamestown Circle.

They exchanged rings in a 4 o'clock nuptial mass before Father John Wyskyl in Our Lady of Victory Church, which was decorated with white and yellow arrangements. Paul Laboda played the organ and sang.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a taffeta gown with Chantilly lace overlay. It was styled on old-fashioned lines with an empire waist and long sleeves. A petal leaf headpiece of pearls and lace held her fingertip veil. She carried a cascade of yellow and white sweetheart roses.

Her cousin, Roxanne Hallock, was maid of honor in an old-fashioned, empire-waisted gown with an off-white lace top and soft gold velvet skirt.

Another cousin, Barbara Hallock, and Karen Lenaghan were bridesmaids in empire-waisted gowns in avocado green velvet featuring Juliet sleeves. All attendants carried white muffs corsaged of sweetheart roses and snowdrift mums with velvet streamers and wore matching shoes and headpieces.

Brian Findling was best man for his brother, Dennis Hallock, a cousin of the bride, and Thomas Lenaghan ushered.

A reception followed at the bride's home for 100 guests from Lake LeAnn, Milan and other Ohio cities as well as from near-by areas. For the ceremony and reception the bride's mother wore a forest green velvet dress with empire waist and long sleeves and matching shoes.

The bridegroom's mother wore a short-sleeved turquoise crepe dress with black accessories.

The bride changed to a navy and white dress for her wedding trip. The couple will live at 43269 Grand River Avenue, Novi. They are Northville High School graduates.

Best man was Francis Carrier of Ypsilanti.

For the ceremony and reception following at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother wore a pale blue lace dress and contrasting accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore beige lace and matching accessories. Guests attended from near-by and from Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor as well as from Indiana and Illinois.

For her wedding trip, the new Mrs. Attar changed to a pale pink dress with scoop neckline and matching pink accessories. She attended Schoolcraft College and is a licensed practical nurse. Her husband served with the U.S.M.C. in Vietnam and presently is attending chef's school in Chicago. Both are graduates of St. John's High School, Ypsilanti.

They are making their home in Mel Rose Park, Illinois.

Verhines - Mills

Jenda Jo Verhines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey F. Verhines, Jr., of Livonia, chose mid-length velvet dresses for herself and her attendants for her wedding to Jeffrey Alan Mills December 22 at Northville Presbyterian Church. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyndham Mills, 39900 Sunbury.

The Reverend Lloyd Brasur officiated at the 7:30 p.m. ceremony at the altar decorated with poinsettias and greens.

Given in marriage by her father in the double ring ceremony, the bride wore a white velvet midi with rose point lace trim. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of violets and baby's breath.

Carol J. Hohnke was maid of honor and Mrs. Terry Livemore was bridesmaid. They wore violet velvet mids with satin trim and satin head scarves and carried white fur muffs to which small nosegays of violets were pinned.

Terry Livemore was best man. Ushering were James Listerman, Terry A. Mills and Harvey F. Verhines III.

For the ceremony and reception following for 120 guests at Meadowbrook Country Club the bride's mother wore an ivory background, orchid-and-gold brocade formal. The bridegroom's mother chose an ivory brocade formal with crystal beading. Guests were serenaded by Eddie Schick and his strolling violins.

For a wedding trip to Florida the new Mrs. Mills changed to a crushed velvet rose-hued pantsuit. The bridegroom, who was graduated from Michigan State University, expects to complete his master's degree there upon his return from army service in February. He is a member of Theta Chi.

The newlyweds will live in East Lansing until he completes school and then expect to make their home in Northville.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Katona of Allen Park announce the birth of a daughter, Kimberly Marie, January 20. She weighed nine pounds at birth.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Boyd of Carpenter Street, Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Katona of Allen Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Gowan, 28060 Summit, Novi, are parents of a new son, Dean Vincent, born December 3, 1970, at St. Mary Hospital. He weighed eight pounds, seven ounces at birth.

The baby joins two brothers, Dale, Doug and Danny, and two sisters, Lisa and Laurie, at home.

Presbyterians Set Two Films Monday

Two films, "Parable" and "It's About This Carpenter," will be the second offering in the 1971 Film Festival scheduled for adults and young people at Northville Presbyterian Church. They will be shown at 8 p.m. Monday at the church.

"Parable," a 22-minute color film, has the setting of a circus. A circus that is used as a metaphor for the arena of life. The people represent the human race and have come to such a state that there is no longer is any sense of community among them.

Into the arena comes a man (the clown) who "dares to be different." Because of him a profound change comes over several persons, making them more sensitive to each other.

The second film, "It's About This Carpenter," is a 14-minute black-and-white presentation. It is the story of a young, "non-establishment," non-religious carpenter in New York City who was hired to construct and deliver a large wooden cross for a church across town.

The film relates his exasperating experiences on a motor scooter with a policeman, in a congested area, at the public park, with a violent stranger and with a "too-busy" minister. The film points to many problems related to the nature of urban society today.

This is the second program in a series of six sponsored by the Presbyterian Christian Education Committee and the Couples Club. Coffee and discussion follow each showing. The community is invited.

To help defray costs, according to the Reverend Timothy Johnson, a free-will donation is accepted. Other presentations will be February 25, March 25, April 23 and May 16.

Legion Initiates 14 New Members

Fourteen new Legionnaires participated in an initiation ceremony Saturday at the Lloyd H. Green Post 147 in Northville.

The initiation, a spokesman explained, "is the formal acceptance of their obligation to 'God and Country' through membership in the American Legion."

Prior to the initiation, candidates were taught the four principles of the Legion: Justice, freedom, democracy and loyalty. All members of the Legion are pledged to serve the disabled, the widowed, the distressed, the orphaned, and they are devoted to the cause of service to the community, state and nation, said Post Commander Robert Pohlman.

"By their participation in this most serious ceremony," he said, "they have joined the ranks of veterans in the largest veterans organization in the world — made up of more than 16,000 local Legion posts."

Commander Pohlman welcomed the new members and congratulated them on behalf of the post.

Proceedings of Northville Township Board

Meeting called to order at 8:00 p.m. by acting supervisor, Eleanor W. Hammond.

Present: Hammond, Straub, Baldwin, Mitchell, Klein.

Absent: Stromberg, Schaeffer.

Also present: Consultants Ashton and Mosher, the acting Commissioner John McCann, City Manager Ollendorf and two visitors.

Minutes of the December 8, 1970 meeting were accepted as submitted on motion by Mitchell, supported by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

Klein moved that the treasurer's report be accepted, supported by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

Klein moved that the monthly receipts report be accepted and that all current bills be paid, seconded by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

Baldwin moved that the clerk's quarterly budget report be accepted, supported by Klein. Ayes: All.

Appeal Board minutes of January 7, 1971 were accepted and filed on motion by Klein, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

Straub moved that the water and sewer commission minutes for December 2, 1970 be accepted, supported by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

RESOLUTIONS

Straub moved that agenda item No. 4 be moved up, supported by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

4. CITY OF NORTHVILLE RECREATION HALL RENT CREDITS.

Ollendorf spoke to this question, explaining that the rent paid by the Cooperative Nursery School is its only connection with the recreation program. It operates five mornings a week, paying $100 per month for nine months. The City pays for the upkeep of the building, repairs, etc. The recreation department pays for daily custodial and maintenance. The township has been allowed rent credits for the past several years, therefore, on that basis, Ollendorf felt that the township should be paid for the cost of the building, which is a new expense, etc. The alternate would be for the City to collect all the rent and then completely maintain the building itself. Hammond suggested that the joint city and township recreation contract should be reworked and new phrasing put into it to clarify some of these matters. Baldwin moved that the letter from the City (dated December 10) plus the verbal clarification from Mr. Ollendorf, be filed, supported by Klein. Ayes: All.

1. WAYNE COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION, DECEMBER 18, 21, 22, 1970. In order to give Mosher time to check the map on the December 22 date, Baldwin moved to defer action until the next meeting, with No. 2, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

2. CITY OF DETROIT LETTER AND BROCHURE CONCERNING MAYBURY SANITARIUM, DECEMBER 9, 1970. Klein moved that this be received and filed, supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

Klein moved that consideration of item No. 1 now be resumed, supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

1. WAYNE COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION, DECEMBER 18, 21, 22, 1970. In order to give Mosher time to check the map on the December 22 date, Baldwin moved to defer action until the next meeting, with No. 2, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

2. CITY OF DETROIT LETTER AND BROCHURE CONCERNING MAYBURY SANITARIUM, DECEMBER 9, 1970. Klein moved that this be received and filed, supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

Klein moved that consideration of item No. 1 now be resumed, supported by Straub. Ayes: All.

1. C. OF D. TRANSFER FOR FIRE RADIO MONITOR. Baldwin moved that the cash received from the C. of D. due January 11, 1971 be transferred from Capital Improvement to the General fund and that our share of the fire radio monitor be paid from that sum since they were actually a capital expense. Also, that provision be made with the fire department so that a radio monitor is made available to township police. Straub seconded. Ayes: All.

2. HIGHLAND LAKES EASEMENT. Baldwin moved that the supervisor and clerk be authorized to execute and sign the Highland Lakes water main easement agreement on behalf of the township, supported by Mitchell. Ayes: All.

3. TRAILERS, GERALD AVENUE. It has been brought to our attention that new trailers have been brought into the above area. Our zoning official is studying the matter. He will consult with Ashton before he takes any further steps.

4. It was announced that two small skating rinks have been prepared in the Northville Commons area under auspices of the recreation department.

5. STATE POLICE POST. Mr. John McCann, our new county commissioner, was present and said that he is well aware of the interest in the proposed state police post in our township and is most hopeful that it can be accomplished. He will do all in his power to assist in the matter, at county level.

6. There was discussion about the advisability of paying tuition for police study courses for township police. Many arguments were presented both pro and con. It will be

1. SICK LEAVE POLICY. Baldwin gave the clerk a notation and asked her to investigate various policies. When we have these done, we can begin to put a sick leave benefit program.

2. DOG ORDINANCE. Klein moved that the item be tabled for the next meeting, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

3. POLICE REPORT STUDY. Straub moved that this item be tabled for the next meeting when there would be a full board present. Seconded by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

4. MINIMUM POLICE HIRING STANDARDS. Baldwin presented a tentative ordinance to the hiring resolution, consisting of two parts. A third paragraph was suggested and Mitchell moved that the amendment be tabled until the next meeting so that proper language could be worked out and presented, seconded by Straub. Ayes: All.

5. DUMPING. The clerk reported that the new rubbish disposal arrangement for the township at Holiday had been in use for four Saturdays and seemed to be working out fairly well. A few minor problems have been noted. Purchase of dump carts is possible at the dump site on Saturdays, as well as at the township office during the week. Area residents are REQUESTED TO PUT TRASH INTO PLASTIC BAGS to facilitate handling.

6. TOWNSHIP HALL-FIRE HALL. The clerk presented several written opinions on the new building which had been received from officials, employees, and department heads. Mitchell moved that the chairman of the building committee receive this material and that he then call a meeting to study it, seconded by Baldwin. Ayes: All.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

A construction crew slated to install sewer lines for the new Levitt Highland Lakes subdivision on Seven Mile road has decided to "make camp" in the city.

Unhappy about the sight of gravel piles, work trailers, earthmovers and trucks (so far there's no "Johnny-on-the-Spot") along the Northville road boulevard entrance to the city, Mayor A. M. Allen has been doing a bit of growling.

Manager Frank Ollendorff has appealed to Township Supervisor Gunter Stromberg who has promised action. The Levitt development is in the township several hundred yards from the chosen site of "construction camp".

Manager Ollendorff suggested to Stromberg that the construction company could use the city's fenced-in DPW yards to store its equipment and trailers. The yards are out of public sight adjoining the now-closed city dump.

Not only would this provide better security, but it would remove an eyesore and a potential traffic hazard. What's more, it's closer to the work site.

"I suppose they expect city police to patrol their 'work yards' so that nothing is stolen. That's probably why they moved there," grumbled Mayor Allen. He noted that the spot had been the site of the Rotary club sign (now blown down) advising motorists that they are entering "beautiful Northville" and the area where scouts have planted hundreds of flowering crab trees.

And one more thing the construction crew obviously didn't know: it's right across the street from the mayor's business, Allen Monument Works!

CONSTRUCTION STORAGE 'BEAUTIFIES' BOULEVARD

"Who's Charley Gehringer?" inquired my 17-year-old daughter as we drove to school one day this week. She'd heard his name mentioned by J. P. McCarthy as we listened to the morning meanderings of the colorful disc jockey.

I almost answered, "he plays second base for the Tigers". But then I remembered how many years it has driven.

A whole generation that's never heard of Charley Gehringer, who could tell exactly where the ball was going before the batter hit it; who moved to his right or left with such fluidity that he looked slow; who never had to dive for a ball because he was always waiting for it.

And they've probably never heard of Tommy Bridges, Billy Rogell or Goose Goslin... or Schoolboy Rowe, Kiki Cuyler, Fred Marberry, Hank Greenberg, GeeGee Walker, Boots Poffenberger, Lou Gehrig, Bill Dickey, Marvin Owen, Van Lingle Mungo, Slaty Marion, Bob Feller, Dizzy Trout or Hal Newhouser.

Or Don Budge, Bill Tilden, Bobby Riggs, or Byron Nelson, Jug McSpadden, Jimmy Thompson, Horton Smith, Vic Ghezzi or Lawson Little.

How many have thrilled at the sight of Budge or Tilden smashing a serve, Ted Williams hitting a line drive into the stands, Joe DiMaggio floating under a fly ball in center field, or Nelson maneuvering a golf ball around the course?

Who's Charley Gehringer? Well, I'd call him the symbol of the Golden Era... of sports. The time when athletes didn't have agents looking for endorsements, when they didn't use deodorants but spent plenty of time sweating in the batting cage and on the practice tees, when they kept their eye on the ball instead of the stock market, when the thrill was just winning, not how much.

The hucksters may just kill athletics by making them too professional. The signs are already evident in golf, football, baseball and basketball.

Northville's city police department is proud of the fact that there wasn't a single traffic accident reported during the blizzard this week.

But under another category there's one accident listed: "60-foot radio tower blown down by wind, crashed into parked car of Samuel Elkins, chief of police of city of Northville."

Frank Ollendorff

YES...

On a large country lot a few pets are fine. At my house we've found one dog too much to handle and are currently losing to a six-month-old kitten.

For most of us, pet cats and dogs have become nuisances or worse due to their rapidly increasing number coupled with a seemingly rapid decrease in ability of owners to care for their pets.

Over 400 complaints were registered with the City last year. One of every five Northville families demanded legal action against pet owners in their neighborhood. Since 1969 more than 60 dog and cat bites have been reported. In one neighborhood, dogs run in packs forcing worried mothers to keep the kids inside until the police can respond.

Hundreds of birds fall victim to our pet cats each year. Garbage spilled by playful dogs is a continuing nuisance. My pet problem is cleaning up after an untrained dog in my yard.

The pet explosion in Northville must be curbed. Licensing of all pets would aid enforcement of ordinances. Perhaps a test showing knowledge of simple rules of courtesy to the neighbors as well as the pet should be administered to all would-be pet owners. This could be coupled with a restriction on the number of pets to correspond with lot size.

Speaking for Myself

Are We Overrun With Pets?

NO...

When the first wild animal was domesticated, there began a friendship and dependency which has grown into an unparalleled relationship between man and his pets. A true pet has filled a need for both a giving and receiving of love in an unselfish way that has a depth and meaning that cannot be changed even in our modern accelerated pace. For these pets he has developed criteria, rules, regulations, and laws which protect both man and the animal.

Could the readers of this column picture our region without pets?

For the physically handicapped we have leader dogs for the blind, hearing dogs for the deaf, and horseback riding as physical therapy.

Senior citizens are comforted by our four-footed friends because many live alone and need companionship.

We have many newcomers to this section, and we should not restrict their desire to move to an uncrowded area and have pets.

Numerous animals — uncared for, ill-fed, allowed to wander and created nuisances are not true pets, just animals. It is easy to have too many animals but extremely difficult to have an over-abundance of true pets. As Webster's Dictionary defines a pet, "A domesticated animal kept to fondle and play with," so be it.

Give Him A Lift

by Jack W. Hoffman

I've got a lot of respect for surgeons... the real ones as well as the make-believe ones on TV who slice and hack and sew one minute and kiss and paw the next.

It isn't this dexterity that impresses me. It's their seeming nonchalance in cutting through human flesh as others would slice strips of bacon. For a guy like myself who gets dizzy if he nicks himself with a razor blade, the surgeon is simply amazing.

Let me make an admission: I am a fainter.

TV operations can trigger it; so can a thumb that gets in the way of a hammer. The sight of a little blood and... swish, sweet dreams!

I was half-way through grade school before it occurred to me that my mother sewed patches on the knees of my pants because she couldn't afford new ones—not to cushion my falls.

"It's all in your head," she continually reminded me. I could never understand what she meant when it was the red stuff running out of my finger or my foot or my arm.

And it was embarrassing. I was the only kid in the neighborhood who had to go to the meat market blindfolded.

"I've got just the cure for his problem," announced my father one day. "Come on down to the basement," he said. That in itself was enough to make a kid faint in our house 'cause that's where all the razor strapping went on. And I don't mean for sharpening razors. But this time he had something else in mind.

What he did with that Sunday chicken shouldn't happen in a butcher shop. It worked, though. I haven't seen a chicken faint since.

Anyway, I lived through youth and figured everything was clear sailing from then on. I didn't reckon with marriage. It began with a shocker, an omen of things to come. I passed out during the blood test.

And then came the kids. One... two... four... six, you count 'em, I've lost track. If you figure one kid's worth at least one bloody knee, a sliced finger and two scratches per month and then multiply the number of kids by 12, well you've got an idea of what a year's like.

"You're daddy sleeps a lot," I overheard one of my youngster's friends say not long ago. The observation prompted the question, "Mamma, who got hurt?"

That did it! I vowed I'd lick this foolishness the next time the situation presented itself. The wait wasn't long. It happened of all things while watching the TV surgeons. They had just finished sewing and had begun the kissing and pawing when in walks my youngest son who asked, "Daddy, would you pull out the dart?"

Good Lord, one of his darts was stuck clean through his arm! I'd been bracing myself for something elementary, not this. But even cowards have moments of glory. In a second I'd yanked out the dart and he and his mother were on the way to the doctor. I was drenched in a cold sweat, worried but conscious when the TV surgeons called it quits.

"How are you?" my wife asked upon their return. "Never mind me, how's he?" I said. "Oh, he's fine. Not even a stitch, just a shot. And you don't look bad, either."

That's when the patient stuck his arm in my face and said, "Look at my bandage." Swish, plunk.

He Extends Thank You

To the Editor:
I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and your newspaper for naming me the "Man of the Year" in this area.

I felt that the Wixom Centennial Week in October was a huge success. It took a lot of hard work and dedication not only on my part but also on the part of so many wonderful people. In putting together the Youth Day Activities, the parade, the entertainment and so on, it took a lot of responsibility on my part to make sure every phase of the day was successful.

There is one ingredient that I used in making the day as successful as it was. This ingredient lacks in so many people in just everyday life that they probably don't even realize it, and that is "caring for other people." People often forget what a Youth Day is designed for — it is designed for the youth in mind. Youth of all ages — from the very young to the very old. I believe I took the responsibility of caring about all people in making sure every phase of the day would be enjoyed by all. This also includes the teen-agers.

In this area as well as in other areas of America the teen-agers are a forgotten breed of people. In every activity any community has, it always seems to involve only the little children and the adults. But what about the teen-agers? What do they have?

A question that the teen-agers keep asking themselves over and over again is "Who can I turn to — when nobody needs me?" This is why I cared enough about them to give them everything they deserved during the Centennial — a hayride, a dance and a battle of the bands. People are failing to realize one important thing, and that is the teen-agers of today will be our City and Government leaders of tomorrow.

But my responsibility hasn't ended with the Centennial. I'm also chairman of the "Wixom Teen Club," I am chairman of a newly formed theatre group in Walled Lake called the "Inter-Lake Maskers," as well as being on the board of Parks and Recreation and the "Support Your Local Police" committee in the City of Wixom. Sure — it takes a lot of hard work, but if you care enough about people, "all people" as I do, it's worth all the time and effort.

It takes a lot of hard work, dedication, responsibility and caring for other people to make it in this world today. I'm glad that there are still people around who care enough about myself to name me their "Man of the Year." For these people as well as people who have helped me throughout the year as well as the reporters of your newspaper. I thank you all very much.

Sincerely,
Ronald L. Parvu

well written and presented a fair view of the whole subject. As a member of the City of Northville Planning Commission, I appreciate the way your paper has reported our proceedings during my membership. Had the reporting been purely factual and not edited, I am afraid our feet of clay may have shown now and then.

Usually the attendance at a public hearing consists of the petitioner of the proposal and all those who are against it. The Planning Commission, and of course, the City Council at subsequent hearings, must consider not only the immediate effects, but the future potential for all of the people of Northville, with special attention given to the hardships that may develop within the vicinity of the proposed change.

At the January 5th public hearing about the proposed gas station at Taft and Eight mile, a citizen summed up his point of view rather well when he said, "The idea of another gas station is all right, but move it two blocks away from me." This is fine for him, but what about the fellow two blocks away?

Many times the Commission and the Council seem to act in opposition to the will of the people, when they are really acting for the good of all the people. The democratic processes of government are still workable, as people who attended the January 5th hearing plainly observed.

Thank you for your excellent coverage of the subject, and to quote the last paragraph, "We meet regularly and in open session. We are available to consider your criticism and explain our actions."

Lions Hide Welcome

If South Lyon had its welcome mat out Friday for old friends, Novi's varsity basketball mentor Milan Obrenovich and his JV sidekick, Bob Weinburger, somehow missed it.

Hospitality obviously went out the door as the Lions, fighting to sweeten their position in the Southeastern Conference, sent Novi's varsity quintet down to its seventh straight league defeat (58-51) and added insult to injury by taking the JV billing (63-60) as well.

It was a grating evening for the two Novi coaches, who had hoped to celebrate their return to Lion country with a couple of triumphs. Both coaches are products of South Lyon. Obrenovich as a former high school athlete and Weinburger as a player and coach.

And forced to swallow his pride up in the stands was Novi Principal Gerald Hartman, former South Lyon High Principal, while Novi's Fred Gerhardt, still another former Lion athlete now turned Wildcat baseball coach, watched it from the scorer's table.

Despite the loss, Novi late in the game staged a rally that nearly forced South Lyon Coach Bill Thomas to return all of his first-stringers to the court.

Behind by 20 points at times, the Wildcats took advantage of Thomas' free substitutions and cut the Lion's big lead to a respectable margin and, but for the dying clock, might have been able to catch their hosts. Stunned by Novi's sudden barrage of points, Thomas finally sent in key play-maker Dave Kochalko to give his club more ball control. Even that, however, failed to stem Novi's surge and in the end it was the clock that stopped the Wildcats.

South Lyon led by 10 points going into the second quarter, 15-5, when it mounted a 23 point drive to ice its victory. At the half it was 38-15.

Novi sparked to life in the third stanza, outscoring the hosts 16 to 13, and then in that final quarter drilled 20 points while holding South Lyon to seven.

Novi ace Tom Boyer took scoring laurels for the game, pumping in 22 points even though he failed to flip in a field goal in that icy first quarter. Glen Wiseman was high-point man for South Lyon with 17, and sharing the runner-up spot were Mike Muir of South Lyon and Pat Boyer of Novi, each of whom potted 10 points.

"We played pretty good ball against Dexter, too," added Weinburger. "They just played better."

The Wildcats were down in their home game Saturday by seven at the half. They scored two points in the first five minutes of the third quarter and ended that period eight down.

Quarter scores in that game were 16-10, 31-24, 42-34.

Next up: Chelsea

Still looking for their first victory of the season, Novi's Wildcats will travel to Chelsea tomorrow night for a game that will be anything but easy.

Chelsea, still smarting from its 76-69 loss to Dundee Saturday in the Southeastern Conference, will be out to regain a piece of second place. Until Saturday, it was enjoying a second-place tie with Dexter.

The Wildcats started out winning in the first quarter, carding 16 points to the enemy 13. Starting in the second stanza however, the hosting Lions left them slowly but steadily behind.

South Lyon outdid the local squad 17-16 in the second quarter, then 15-12 in the third and 18-16 in the closing stanza.

Novi wrestlers were tagged with two more losses last week in a season that has seen but one victory (Milan three weeks ago).

Dundee bested Coach Rick Trudeau's squad in a 28-23 squeaker while West Bloomfield left nothing but the pieces in a shattering 44-8 victory.

The West Bloomfield match marked the second defeat handed the Wildcats by the Lakers — a class A team. The Lakers handed Novi its fifth defeat, 35-13, January 5.

In the Dundee contest Jack Morris (132), Randy McGarry (145), and Terry Auten (heavyweight) earned pins while Duane Miller (138) worked a 5-0 decision and Kevin Shingock fought to a 1-1 draw in the 155-pound weight class.

Winner earlier of the South Lyon invitational tournament, West Bloomfield copped every event Monday against Novi except the 138-pound and the heavyweight divisions.

Miller fought to a 2-0 decision at 138 and Auten pinned his man in 56.

Northville Effort Fails, 63-53

Mustangs Stop Kettering Ace

Northville cagers won a battle but lost the war to Waterford-Kettering 63-53 Friday night after three quarters of winning basketball.

With his team up at times by 10 points or better, Northville Coach Omar Harrison employed a special "box-in-one" defense in an effort to cover Kettering ace Jerry Bell.

The strategy worked in that Bell, who recently posted 42 points against Clarencville, was held to 13 points here.

But while everybody, particularly, forward ace Bernie Bach, was keeping tabs on Bell, Kettering's Ernie Bragg pumped in 22 points to beat Bach's team leading 20-point tally.

Without since a non-league clash with Novi last December, the Mustangs let a 29-23 half time lead dwindle through the third quarter to 44-42. In the opening seconds of the final stanza Kettering tied the game, then went on to card two points, then four, then six, and so on.

Bragg was the hot shooter for Kettering during that deadly final quarter. He netted half of his 22 point tally with two baskets and seven free throws. Other Kettering cagers backed up that single effort with eight points for a total of 19-10 better than Northville's showing in that fourth quarter.

Bach and Scott Evans were the only Mustangs to card field goals during the final period, one each. Steve Utley and Rick Sechler each netted a pair of free throws and Bach came across with a fifth to make the nine point showing.

Northville patted 15 points in the third quarter, seven in the second, and 22 in the first.

Quarter scores were: 22-9, 29-23 and 44-42.

Harrison tagged the game a "good defensive effort," as his squad limited enemy scoring primarily to three men: Bragg, Bell and Bernie Starnes who netted 10.

Leading man on the boards was Mustang forward Scott Evans who pulled down 15 — 11 on defense and four on offense. Evans also ran second in the scoring race with 12 points.

With nine games under their belts, three of them victories, the Mustangs begin the second half of their season Friday.

They'll go against Clarencville from who they earned their only league victory last December in the waning seconds of a close game.

The Trojans will be out to avenge that 52-49 upset as they lick wounds received last week in a 69-54 battle with Milford.

Northville fell to Milford 70-54.

PEEWEEES CLASH AT DETROIT'S OLYMPIA

Bulldogs Nip
Matmen, 25-23

Mustang wrestlers traveled to Brighton Thursday to lose by a narrow 25-23 margin, but topped 10 teams Saturday to place sixth in the Michigan Center Invitational at Michigan Center.

The Brighton match snapped a winning streak that saw the Mustangs clip Milford and Andover early this month.

Bulldog matmen copped three pins and two decisions while the Mustangs netted just the opposite, getting falls from Brad Conklin and Bill Norton at 185 and 126 pounds.

The two squads tied at 105 and 112.

Conklin, despite trouble given him by a pinched nerve suffered in the recent Schoolcraft Invitational, pinned his man in the first period. Norton's victory also came in the first period.

Conklin's injury "may keep him out for awhile," said Coach Jack Townsley. "If he feels like it he can wrestle, but I don't like to fool around with neck injuries."

Dave Griffin wrestled a 3-1 decision from previously unbeaten Chet Allen at 119 pounds. John Coleman (heavy weight) and Steve Barger (132) drew two more decisions to round out the Mustang tally.

The loss puts Northville's mat record at 3-4 for the season.

Saturday Kevin Harshorne (105) and John Flalon (112) went to the finals at Michigan Center only to lose decisions 2-0 and 4-1 to wind up with second places in the invitational meet.

David Griffin went to a third at 119, losing out in the semi-finals.

It was like a ghost from the past last Friday when Bloomfield Andover clipped the wings of high-flying West Bloomfield 53-50.

Last year's Wayne-Oakland champs, Andover has suffered four losses so far this year and has shown little of that famous polish that gave them the crown with a 12-2 league record last year.

But when they met the Lakers, Andover played their best game of this season by shooting 50 percent from the floor.

Jerry Sherwood, Al Barrow, Pete Cartwright, Doug Horst, Roddy Michael and John Pawlowski accounted for the nine goals that made Northville's side of a shut-out over the hosting Lansing skaters.

Northville notched an 8-3 victory over Garden City last week Wednesday night but failed to turn the trick Saturday or Sunday as they dropped two straight — on Saturday to Garden

Tom Harris led Milford with 32 points as teammate Kevin Feiner dumped in 12. Clarencville's high scorer was Phil Halstead with 15 as Chip Meyerilis sank 14 and Randy Weddle followed with 13.

Brighton coasted to their fourth league victory by downing Clarkson 74-63.

The Bulldogs had four men in double figures: Jim Wood with 25, Hugh Jones with 20, Bruce Ritter with 24 and Cas Scranton with 10.

Don Brown of Clarkson put in 26.

PROCLAMATION — Northville Mayor A. M. Allen signs a proclamation, designating the week of January 31 to February 7, as Prisoner of War Week as representatives of the sponsoring Jaycees look on. They are Jaycee President Peter Magnan and Jaycette President Mary Hilton. POW Week encourages citizens to write letters and sign petitions asking humane treatment, identification, and release of American prisoners in Southeast Asia.

Jaycees Seek POW Release

Focusing attention on North Vietnam's treatment of American prisoners, Northville Mayor A. M. Allen joined forces with the Northville Jaycees. Jaycette campaign to aid prisoners of war.

The mayor signed a proclamation this past week, designating the week of January 31 to February 7 as Prisoner of War Week.

Meanwhile, the Jaycettes launched a letter writing campaign condemning North Vietnam's inhumane treatment of the prisoners, its failure to identify all prisoners, and for its refusal to repatriate the sick and wounded and those held an unreasonable length of time.

"The news media and the White House tell us that the larger part of our troops will be withdrawn by May, thus removing our physical influence" for helping the POW's, a spokesman noted. "All government action seems to have failed to help the POW situation. Evidence now seems to indicate that the North Vietnamese pay more attention to the voice of the people of the United States than to that of their government officials."

In view of that situation, the Jaycees and Jaycettes urge citizens "to add your voice to other protesting Americans by writing a letter or signing a petition."

The following items are objectives by May 1:

1. That North Vietnam give prisoners of war the humane treatment prescribed by the Articles of the Geneva Convention.
2. That identification of all prisoners in Vietnam, Cambodia, and Laos be made "because our government needs this information to demand each individual's release, the families of prisoners need to know if their men are in captivity."

Prisoner of War Week starts Sunday in many churches; it resumes on Monday in the schools.

Drop-boxes for letters are to be placed in churches, the high school, many business establishments, and public buildings. On Saturday, February 6, booths will be in operation in the community where concerned citizens may sign a petition or postcard and/or drop off their letters.

Similar letters are being collected throughout the state by other Jaycee and Jaycette organizations. They will be taken to Warren on February 19 and then sent collectively to Xuan Thuy at the North Vietnamese Embassy in Paris as an expression of concerned Michigan people.

Following is sample wording for the letter:

"The men who are missing in action or are prisoners of war in Southeast Asia and their families desperately need your help.

"In the name of humanity, I appeal to you and to your government and to your allies to:

"A. Treat all prisoners of war humanely as specified in the provisions of the Geneva Convention.

"B. Publish a list of all prisoners.

"C. Provide information about those known to be dead.

"D. Release the sick and seriously wounded.

"E. Allow a free flow of mail.

"In behalf of those suffering mental and physical torture, I ask your help in the name of common decency."

Letters should be addressed to Mr. Xuan Thuy, 8 Avenue General Leclerc, 94 Chouilly-le-Roi, Paris, France.

Postage is 13-cents surface rate.

Northville Gets Inquiries

Maybury Interests County

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners, like the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, has begun exploring the possibility of acquiring a Detroit suburb Maybury Sanatorium property for public park development rather than letting the land go to private developers.

Meanwhile, the City of Northville, which long ago voiced its interest in purchasing some 200 acres of the property, reports that it has been contacted by several potential private purchasers who indicate a willingness to make Northville a part of their purchase bids.

The proposal that the county consider purchase of the land was made by Commissioner Erwin A. Steiner, Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms last week. The board referred the matter to its public works committee, which is headed by Steiner, for study and recommendation.

The City of Detroit has put the 865 acres of rolling, wooded land in Northville Township up for sale, with a March 1 deadline for bids. The property has been valued at from $2 million to $3 million.

Numerous individuals and groups have urged that some way be found to preserve the property for park use.

Detroit's Common Council decided to sell the property to the highest bidder because of the city's severe financial problems. Although the land is zoned residential, Detroit is promoting it for residential, commercial, or industrial development.

Steiner's committee reportedly will meet with officials of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to discuss the possibility of applying for state recreation bond money to help finance acquisition.

According to Northville City Manager Frank Ollendorf, Northville has had communications from several potential private developers who indicate a willingness to make Northville's bid on 200 acres part of their bid packages on the entire parcel.

Letters asking for such permission was sent out to more than 400 potential developers who received bid specifications. Northville decided on this maneuver when Detroit ruled that only bids on the entire 865 acres would be acknowledged.

Despite Detroit's insistence on bids for all of the property or nothing, Northville intends to submit its own bid on the 200 acres as well as becoming a part of as many of the bid packages of consenting private developers possible, Ollendorf said.

With enough combination bid efforts, he explained, Northville might have a chance.

Had Northville some assurance that either the state or the county or some other agency such as the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority — could obtain the property, it probably would give up its efforts to acquire 200 acres for a public city park, officials have stated.

"We're simply interested in preserving land for park purposes — and that could be at any level," a spokesman said. "Any way our citizens would be able to use it."

School Scraps Book Deposit

unknown number paid "under protest" and the school board reaffirmed its stand to enforce the policy.

And in December, the State Department of Education defined "reasonable" and "refundable," which resulted in Spear calling it quits on enforcing the policy "rather than create a lot of extra work for ourselves."

Trustee Richard Martin lashed out at the State Board of Education and the way they handled the court ruling. "I am most amazed and disappointed at the reaction of the community as well as the state board and the manner in which they acted on the damage deposit, first saying one thing and now another."

Trustee Eugene Cook said "Let's face it fellas. The day of the local school board being able to make and administer policies is rapidly growing to a close. What happens, then the taxpayers lose, too."

Spear noted that several families, who had paid the damage deposit, had moved from the district taking school-owned books with them.

"What would have happened if they hadn't paid?" he asked. "Just by luck we had the deposits to cover the loss."

"It will take one mill over the 17 (up for renewal March 6) to buy books for the kids in the district," Cook cautioned. "And then everybody will have to pay."

In other action Monday night the board — authorized the superintendent to proceed with his search to acquire federal funds for offsetting the cost of conversion to year-round school if the concept becomes acceptable to the community;

— affirmed the district's participation in NDEA Title III program to purchase science and social science equipment valued at $3,700 with federal funds;

— named Trustee Stanley Johnston board representative and Trustee Andrew Orphan alternate for the Wayne County Intermediate School District budget hearing on February 26;

— adopted a resolution calling for the state to fulfill its financial commitment to local school districts for the 1970-71 school year;

— tabled action until February 8 on a request from representatives of Montessori education for use of space in district buildings.

In a letter to the school board from the City of Northville, city officials notified the district they have abandoned the Bernhard drain which runs beneath Cooke Junior High. High has again received accreditation from the University of Michigan for a period of five years.

WORLD OF WORK — Guest speaker Thursday at the Northville High School "World of Work" program was Dr. William Pierce of the State Department of Education, who enjoys some conversation with Northville administrators during the dinner that preceded the career opportunities program. Following his address, information sessions were held to permit students to inquire about career opportunities. At the head table (l to r) are Business Manager Earl Busard, Dr. Pierce, Superintendent Raymond Spear, and Curriculum Coordinator Miss Florence Panatoni.

Holly 'Miss' Wins State Jaycee Title

Miss Patricia Johnson, a senior at Holly Senior High School, was named Michigan's 1971 Junior Miss at the state contest last Saturday in Pontiac.

Northville's Junior Miss Wendy Wheaton and Walled Lake's Junior Miss Connie Sutherland were among the 24 finalists in the annual pageant.

While neither Wendy nor Connie made the top five finalists list, both were chosen finalists in the Breck award contest. This award goes to the candidate who has demonstrated excellence in hair styling, using the sponsor's products, Sandra Giernan, Livonia Junior Miss, won the Breck award.

Michigan's new Junior Miss has an all-A average and gave a ballet talent demonstration. Runners-up were Hiawatha Lewis, Pontiac; Sandy Brown, Marshall; Diane Scott, Oxford; and Nancy King, Lansing.

Death, Riches or Failure Waits in Superstitions For Men With Gold Fever

A fortune or disappointing failure or even death could be waiting for four Northville prospectors when they return next month to Arizona's treacherous Superstition Mountains.

But not even the threat of accidental or violent death will deter these four amateurs who, like so many who have made the same perilous journey, have gold fever and only a dream of fortune.

"It's more than just the thought of finding gold; it's solving a mystery that has haunted men for nearly two centuries," said the pharmacist, Al Laux, in explaining what drives men like himself and his three companions, police Corporal Phil Young, businessman Craig Rathbun, and salesman Walt Strohbe.

What's more the four, after years of research and search, are confident they now have the key to solving that mystery and finding the infamous lost Dutchman Goldmine. "Oh, it's there... it's there right and we're going to find it," declared Rathbun.

The corollaries, however, that others have said the very same thing. And many of them have died — some from accidental falls, some in fights over disputed claims, and some mysteriously as in the case of two men who were last seen while searching the Superstitions.

The lost Dutchman mystery is perhaps the most widely acclaimed story of its kind. Men have spent lifetimes investigating it. Numerous books and articles have been written about it; a movie, starring Glenn Ford, dramatized it; and the state of Arizona promotes it as a major tourist attraction.

The story is a long, complex one, but the four give this shortened version:

It began with the Spanish Conquistadors who explored

Mountain Prospectors

Four Northville amateur prospectors look the part on recent adventure in Arizona's Superstition Mountains. Going back for still another adventure — and perhaps a fortune — next month will be the (l to r) Phil Young, Walt Strohbe, Craig Rathbun and Al Laux.

the mountains. Arizona region lying some 45 miles from what is now Phoenix and who brought back stories about this land of gold. In 1746, Don Miguel Mier y Teran de Bertha was granted the land by the king of Spain.

The Bertha family was a wealthy one having secured their riches by mining in the Chihuahuan region. Eventually, however, their mines were worked out and, seeking the stories of gold potential in Arizona, they sent a party to investigate their unexplored holdings. The party was headed by Pedro Bertha, eldest son and mining engineer.

Many weeks later the party discovered gold and mined some of it before covering their workings and returning to Chihuahua. During succeeding years the Berthas uncovered many rich deposits of gold and at one time had 18 mines in operation.

As the Apache Indians began harassment of these intruders of their lands, the Berthas hurriedly mapped the region, pinpointing their mines and caches of gold by signs on barrel staves, on cactus, on mountain rocks, etc., and meticulously covered their mines and disguised their trails before fleeing the Superstitions. By 1846, their work was completed but they had left behind a long and on their way home the party of nearly 100, mostly men, were attacked and killed by the Apaches. Among the dead were Don Miguel Bertha and his son Pedro.

Twelve years later, the youngest son, Erwin, realized the aid of his cousins, members of the Gonzales family, and set out for the mountains. They failed to find the signs and the covered mines but by 1864 they discovered their own rich deposit of gold. Meanwhile, the Apache raids grew intense and the Spaniards fled again with their lives.

In 1880 Erwin returned to the mountains with two disbelieving miners named Sam Walter and Henry Weaver who were convinced not to find the rich mine did in fact exist. Within just a few days they had unearthed $60,000 in gold. In exchange for all of the gold from that trip, Erwin gave them enough of risk-taking life against Apaches, gave Walter — the Dutchman — and Weaver the family title to the land.

The two men returned and found the gold deposit, so the story goes, but they ran out of supplies and the Dutchman went off for food leaving Weaver behind. The Dutchman was believed to have died in the mountains, attacked by Indians and half-crazed by starvation, wandered onto the Florence ranch of Colonel J. D. Walker, told his story and died. The Dutchman eventually moved to what is now Phoenix and in 1877 died at age 69 — but not before exhibiting high grade gold ore and revealing startling directions to a fantastic gold deposit in the mountains.

In the years that followed many tried to find it. Some did. But in the search many of the signs left by the Berthas have been discovered as well as some of their early workings. They are there to be seen today for those rugged enough to pack into the mountains interior.

Death or failure has accompanied most who searched the mountains. Perhaps the most famous unsolved murder was that of Edwin Ruth, a 66-year-old — named government employee from Washington, D. C.

Ruth's son, Dr. Erwin Ruth, while inspecting cattle for importation into the United States, befriended a relative of the Bertha family who told him of the family's early gold expeditions and then gave him a map that had been in the family possession for many years. Erwin gave it to his father, an amateur prospector who spent his summers searching for lost treasures.

Finally, Al Laux publicly proclaimed it as the map to the Lost Dutchman Goldmine and packed off alone into the mountains. Months later his bullet-pierced head was found by a search party. The body was found later some four miles away.

The map turned up later in the hands of a man who maintained he had found it in the mountains.

Erwin, however, had another copy of the map. And that's where the story picks up with the Northville prospectors.

"I was in the hospital for a couple weeks seven or eight years ago," explained Rathbun, "and read a story in the newspaper about the Lost Dutchman. It was fascinating so I started reading some books about it. By the time I was out I knew a heck of a lot about the Superstitions but I wasn't satisfied. I joined a couple prospecting clubs, wrote letters and got this and pieces of information in other books."

I WISH to let the person or persons, who shot our dog two times with a 22 in the hip and leg, know that he is suffering unmercifully as a result of their dastardly deed. Our veterinarian conceded that it is one of the ugliest actions taken against an animal that he has ever seen. I hope that the person or persons responsible for this cruel act can sleep with his conscience.

Far Greater Issue: Moral Pollution

Pastor Ross Winters
People's Church, Pinckney

An armchair general is one who sits back and views the scene and is an expert on how to run the whole show. They have the answer to every situation or problem.

To consider the complexities of the problems that our nation faces as well as the world is to try to put a million—piece crossword puzzle of all one color together.

Social reforms—urban renewal—environmental controls—expansionary federal budgets—revenue sharing programs—creation of new named U.S. government departments are certainly steps to be taken so that our nation can survive and possibly become great in deed as well as word.

These are only a few parts to the puzzle of what is needed to help our country. Let us consider another piece to the puzzle. Although we need to be concerned in all these areas of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; although we hear much about our polluted environment and some things are being done to bring about a change, there is a far greater issue that most of our nation show little concern regarding, and that is the pollution of our moral and religious environment.

The only way the fibers of the problems that our nation faces as well as the world is to try to put a million—piece crossword puzzle of all one color together.

Let us consider his standards as the only way the fibers of the problems that our nation faces as well as the world is to try to put a million—piece crossword puzzle of all one color together.

This verse was given at a high point in Jewish history, when the people had just dedicated their lives and temple to the Lord. It was a time when God also greatly blessed that nation under King Solomon, but it should be noted that Israel went off after other things and God turned his face from her—leaving the country in turmoil.

Many times we look to the President and political reforms for the answers to the problems of this nation, but what are we personally doing to strengthen the spiritual fibers and halt the moral decay of this country?

Any spiritual and moral change in this nation must begin with those who believe in God—those who have acknowledged Jesus Christ as their Saviour.

Not as an armchair general, but as a minister, I see the crying need in America today of a personal relationship and dedication of every Christian to Jesus Christ. There needs to be worship and prayer as a family unit in the home as well as in the Church.

MIGHTY IS THE NATION;
WHOSE GOD IS THE LORD!

Send your questions, comments, and those who show news to "Kathy's World," care of South Lynch Herald, South Lynch, W.V. 46776.

There will be a message showing show at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club February 6 and 7, beginning at 8 a.m.

Colgate's Champion, from Sweden, will be the judge for this show. Colgate's Champion has won more Olympic Champion medals than any other country. He has also held several successful clinics and shows in this country and was one of the judges at the recent National Dressage Finals.

For further information, contact: Mrs. S.M. Conn, Bloomfield Open Hunt, 405 E. Long Lake Road, Bloomfield, Ill., 61810.

The Midwest Dressage Association is very pleased to announce that Colgate's Champion will conduct a Teaching Clinic at Bloomfield Open Hunt, from Monday through Friday, February 8 through 12. Riding positions will be limited to those persons who have shown or are now showing at the Third Level or above. However, there will be the excellent spectator facilities, with a loud speaker system, along with films and discussion periods. These sessions will be held at 10 a.m. every morning and at 8 p.m. each evening. The cost for spectators will be $3.00 per day or $18.00 for the entire session.

The cooperative Extension Service will sponsor a horse show at the Ramoth Farm on Jackson Road during February 10 and 11, each Wednesday for five weeks.

Sessions will be held from 7:30 to 10 p.m. except the first session when registration will start at 7 p.m.

A brochure with the registration blank attached, is available from the Extension Office. The registration fee for all five sessions is $7.50. This fee includes a program, printed materials, refreshments, and refreshments.

Participation will be limited to the first 125 persons. The application with registration fee should be sent to the Western County Extension Office, 106 County Building, 300 Ave. N.W., 46006. All registrations must be in by January 29.

The topics and their instructors are: "Breeding and Feeding" - February 10, Dr. Wesley Luckhart, a veterinarian and Quarter Horse breeder from Fortson; "Selecting a Saddle Horse" - February 11, Dr. Ken Gallagher, instructor in large animal surgery and medicine, Michigan State University, "Equine Nutrition" - February 12, Dr. W. L. Tyznik, professor of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Ohio State University. Management of these sessions - March 3, Bill Ames, county extension agricultural agent, also March 3, "First and Last Care" - Bob Reame, farmer from Howell; "Diseases and Parasites" - March 10, Dr. Tom Marlett, extension veterinarian, M.S.U.; "S.V.P. Puppy Addition" - shown by Davis Kauter, placed first in the puppy class at Baiterock Farms on Sunday, January 17; and "Mistral" also owned by Davis Kauter, placed second in puppy class. Novi Police, Volunteers Search for Kathy...

Thirty-six hours after 17-year old Kathy Radtke was reported missing a search party of more than 100 policemen, local volunteers, and fellow employees of the girl's father launched an extensive search of the Northville Township area where the body of Kathy's boyfriend was found. Led by Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, the search party was aided by helicopters and police dogs. Kathy was still missing Wednesday morning.

Parents Wait and Pray 'Perfect' Girl Missing

She's just the most perfect daughter - that's about all you can say, a tearful Novi mother said Tuesday afternoon while praying that her missing 17-year-old daughter will be found alive. "All we can do is wait and pray," repeated Mrs. Robert Radtke as she, her husband, their son Ron, relatives and neighbors waited at their Willowbrook home for word about their daughter, Kathy. Mrs. Radtke, a secretary at Novi Elementary School, last saw her daughter Sunday night when she left the house with her boyfriend, Jack Keyes of Northville, whose body was found the following day in Northville Township. He had been shot twice. (See story on Northville, Page 1).

Kathy was expected to return to her home with Jack about 8 p.m. to have supper with her parents. "We didn't really start worrying until about midnight because she usually was in by 11 p.m.," Mrs. Radtke explained.

They telephoned their son, a college student, to see if he might have any idea where she might have gone. He, too, was mystified and returned home to be with his parents.

It was noon Monday when the Radtkes learned that Jack's body had been found.

When their daughter, a Novi 11th grader, was last seen she was wearing bell bottom pants, a long-sleeved T-shirt with Mickey Mouse drawing on the front, her 1972 Novi class ring, and Jack's ring.

Kathy was one-year-old when the Radtkes moved to Novi from Kansas. Mr. Radtke is employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Company in Farmington.

Tuesday afternoon fellow Bell employees of Mr. Radtke joined Novi police and others in launching an intensive search of the township area where Jack's body was found.

Meanwhile, the parents waited and prayed... in a house, said Mrs. Radtke, that Kathy had "always filled with happiness."

As a result of statements made recently by Guardian Photo President Warren J. Coville, Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi felt it necessary Monday night, to deliver "a clarification of the situation the city is in with Guardian Photo for the benefit of the press and public."

Crupi referred to a discrepancy between city authorities and Coville as to the number of sewer taps the Nine Mile plant should be paying for.

Currently the facility, which uses over 30 million gallons of water a year, is operating under a permit for six sewer taps as per an agreement Coville claims he has with the city.

Crupi, who said Monday night he had been unable to find such an agreement, or any record of it, claims the company should be charged for "in the neighborhood of 100 taps."

"I don't know anybody in their right mind," said Crupi "who would grant six taps to Guardian Photo. Even on the surface, it seems another 100 taps are necessary regardless of their claim to be dumping only 30-percent of their water into the sewer."

Coville said, in an interview last week, that prior to June 21, 1967 "Harold Ackley," (then village manager) "agreed that the village would charge our company for six sewer taps... in consideration of our bringing a water line from Meadowbrook Lake."

According to Coville, the water line, to which his company owns a pay-back agreement, was built in the latter part of 1967 as Guardian Industries were building their photographic plant on Nine Mile east of Novi Road.

The line cost $46,000 according to Coville's figures, and serves residents and industry in the area. Coville admitted, however, that he only knew of one industry to tap into the line and he charged that the city had undercharged it for sewer taps.

"We're lucky if we realize 50-percent of our investment in that line," said Coville.

"We have a $44,000 water treatment plant, approved by the state," continued Coville. "It's

SERVING THE CITY OF NOVI AND THE CITY OF WIXOM

Vol. 16, No. 38, 24 Pages, Two Sections Novi, Michigan — Thursday, February 4, 1971 15c Per Copy, $5 Per Year, In Advance

Rose Requests Wixom Verdict

Wixom councilmen will consider the change of a zoning stipulation which limits apartment buildings to 25 feet at a public hearing February 23.

Councilmen will grant either the ordinance change, a variance, or a flat denial to the petition from Edward Rose and Sons of Detroit for the right to build apartment buildings in excess of the two stories mentioned in Wixom ordinances.

The Rose petition concerns a multi-million dollar apartment complex planned for the area south of Pontiac Trail and Beck Road.

Wixom planners passed the matter on to the Board of Appeals in their January meeting. The board, upon the recommendation of City Attorney Gene Schnelz, denied the request on the basis that they did not have sufficient authority to grant the variance.

At the time, conversation between the board and planners indicated to grant a variance was to "virtually rewrite the ordinance" in that it would provide precedent for cases to appear in the future.

"All we ask," said Edward Sheehan of the Rose Company, before council Thursday night, "is to get about the task at hand, which is development."

Sheehan said that his company would build either two stories or 2 1/2 - whichever the council directed - but that he wanted to start the development as soon as possible.

"If we go to two story buildings," said Sheehan, "we will lose much of the open space currently planned for the development. As it is, there are 18 to 20 acres of park area provided, and a person can walk from the farthest extremity of the development to the community building, which is in the center, without leaving an open area."

In other business Thursday night, councilmen:

— Tabled the December budget report until Mayoral Assistant Robert Case can explain certain questions raised by Councilman Robert Dingley. Dingley questioned various items pertaining to salary and supply bills.

— Granted $250 to the Walled Lake program of Youth Assistance.

The money according to Case will be used along with similar amounts contributed from neighboring communities, to rent office space.

— Appointed Lloyd Croft to a renewed term on the Board of Review. Croft, whose term will run for three years, is currently serving on the board.

NEW LOOK - The Novi council sat Monday night in redecorated chambers thanks to the weekend efforts of Novi Mayor Joseph Crupi, Councilmen Louie Campbell, Denis Berry and Edwin Presnell as well as several area Jaycees. The oak-like paneling cost $150 including trim and, of course, labor was free to the city.
