

Novi balks at proposal to buy 'ambulance'

By KATHY JENNINGS

The City of Novi will not be getting into the ambulance business, council members told Fire Chief Arthur Lenaghan in no uncertain terms in a budget hearing Monday.

The council reached a consensus to budget $50,000 for a new fire department vehicle but asked for alternatives to the "rescue" vehicle proposed by the fire department before a purchase is made.

The council is considering a $575,500 budget for the fire department as part of the city's proposed $4.9 million budget.

Faced with the request to purchase a vehicle which looks suspiciously like an ambulance in pictures presented as back-up material to budget requests, council members expressed objections to such a move. Because of the high cost of running a fire department with full-time personnel the council has consistently opposed hiring full-time fire fighters and those trained in EMS.

Lenaghan said providing Emergency Medical Service (EMS) was not the motivation for requesting the vehicle.

"Transportation would be a secondary use," he said. "This is not a backdoor method of going into the ambulance business. We're not instituting an ambulance business in the city without your knowing about it."

Lenaghan said the vehicle has been requested because a "mini-pumper" now being used to carry special equipment has outlived its usefulness. The requested vehicle would replace the "mini-pumper."

Lenaghan explained the vehicle would be used to carry equipment that cannot be carried on the mini-pumper. He said the mini-pumper is now carrying as much equipment as possible.

Extrication equipment, a 5,000 watt generator, a cascade system, cribbing blocks and special tools are the types of things that would be carried on the truck, Lenaghan said.

"This vehicle would be designed to carry special equipment found on a utility vehicle. It would be enclosed where people could get out of the elements. It has the capability to transport, but it would be a truck in every respect," Lenaghan said.

"The problem is we're seeing this projected in two different ways," said Council Member James Shaw. "Your back-up information shows this as a supplement to private ambulance service, but you're telling us verbally that this is an equipment truck."

Shaw said he also is concerned that the vehicle would look like an ambulance and the city would receive EMS calls.

Lenaghan responded that the truck would be marked as a standard City of Novi fire department truck.

Council Member Patricia Karevich questioned the amount of money budgeted for education and training.

"Are we going into emergency medical training?" she asked. Lenaghan said the $3,000 proposed for education a training covered ongoing training for fire fighters. Fire fighters seeking emergency training beyond advanced first aid must obtain it on their own, the chief said.

"This reminds me of the federal grants where we get the money, the money runs out, then we decide that since we've got the program we're forced to continue it," said Mayor Robert Schmid. "It sounds like we could be hearing 'now we have an ambulance we might as well proceed with the service.' My endorsement of an equipment truck is in no way to encourage EMS for the City of Novi. I think it can be hired out cheaper. That's my only problem with this."

Karevich agreed with the mayor's "reluctance to support the truck." "I understand that you have outgrown the use of the attack pumper which responds to emergencies, rescue calls and that type of thing. But it has

Fourth fire hall okayed

By KATHY JENNINGS

Tentative approval for the construction of Fire Station Four at Eleven Mile and Beck roads has been granted by the Novi City Council during budget deliberations for the 1982-83 fiscal year.

But there were differences of opinion on how to pay for the station.

Construction costs are expected to run near $205,000. Additionally, the city expects to pay $80,000 next year to purchase a pumper for the fourth fire station.

Operating costs for the department are expected to increase approximately $17,000 annually after the building is opened.

Under the plan tentatively approved by the council Monday, some $205,000 of the city's $1.5 million fund balance will be used to pay for constructing the fire station.

Council members also asked that the city use remaining funds in the Fire Bond Fund and the One Mill Fire Fund, two separate financing methods previously approved by Novi voters, to cover the cost of purchasing office equipment and vehicles for the fire department.

Originally, it was proposed general fund monies be used for the equipment and vehicle purchases.

By using funds specifically approved by voters for use by the fire department, the city will be able to earmark approximately $80,000 in general fund monies to purchase a pumper for the new fire station during the 1983-84 fiscal year.

Justification for constructing Fire Station Four was questioned by Mayor Robert Schmid.

"When we envisioned this in the past we were talking about a fast growing community and the western part of the city was growing rapidly. That has stopped. What is your basis for recom-

Clean-up planned

Plans are shaping up for the first week specifically set aside for everyone who wants to show they are proud of Novi by cleaning it up - Novi Pride Week, May 1-8.

Novi Jaycees and Jayettes have agreed to work in the Novi Cemetery on Novi Road. Rotary members plan to paint Township Hall. And Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will be cleaning the Community Center and the Lakeshore Beach.

Many trash collectors working the city also have agreed to cooperate. Some will collect items not normally accepted. But residents are encouraged to call the contractor ahead of time before placing out items not normally collected.

Contractors participating in Pride Week include: AAA American Disposal Company, Colony Disposal Service, Duncan Disposal Service, Healthway Disposal, Henning Brothers and Hornback Sanitation. Sentry Supply has donated 100 trash bags.

"We'd like people to get out and do their part to clean-up and fix-up. Each individual effort will make the city look better," urged Novi City Administrator John Hazelroth.

Volunteers still are needed for Pride Week activities. Call 349-4300 for further information.

Practice make perfect

Leslie Crowell finds that practice is all it takes to perfect her French horn performance as she and other Novi High School symphony band members rehearse for the today's (Wednesday's) spring concert. The free concert will be in Fuerst Auditorium at 8 p.m. and will feature student Michael Kamish on the trombone. (News photo by Phil Jerome)

Cow deaths still under study

Further tests have revealed no conclusive findings as to what may have killed three cows on a farm at Eleven Mile and Meadowbrook Road, according to officials from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Agriculture.

Meanwhile, Oakland County Health officials lifted a health advisory cautioning people to stay out of water in Bishop Creek between 1-96 and Meadowbrook Lake dam on Thursday.

"Bishop Creek is now back in the same shape it was before this happened," said Michael Nieman of Oakland County.

State agencies still are investigating an ammonia dumping from D&K Construction Company on Eleven Mile.

"We are still getting together the evidence we need to proceed," said

Richard Lehman, chief information officer for the DNR. "We are still waiting for test results before we can piece all the evidence together."

Edwin Renkie, emergency services coordinator of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, said "we have not received any positive, conclusive results to say what has killed those animals."

He noted that bacteria, which at first was believed might have killed the animals, has since been proven to have attacked after the animals died. Pathological tests of the cows' muscles has shown bacteria grew after death, Renkie said.

"We have not come up with a great amount of solid, conclusive results. Everyday we seem to run up against a dead end. There are so many things that kill these animals and then are gone; many toxic substances are like that too. But we're still looking," Renkie said.

Although officials will not elaborate on the investigation it appears 75-100 gallons of ammonia were dumped in Bishop Creek along the western edge of property where the cattle were kept.

Upon investigating the incident officials reportedly found a semi-trailer parked on the west side of the fenced yard of the D&K Construction Corporation.

According to official reports, a large cylinder tank allegedly was observed inside the trailer with a plastic pipe leading from the tank, through the fence, into the stream.

The DNR is continuing its investigation of the incident.

Schools reverse teacher's firing

A Novi Middle School South teacher, who was to be dismissed June 14 after the school board voted to fire him instead of giving him a third year of probation, has been reinstated.

Novi school board members voted unanimously to place Douglas Holder on third year probation following an executive session at Thursday's school board meeting.

Superintendent Robert Pivko had no comment on the board's reversal of its earlier decision to fire Holder in accordance with a policy not to discuss personnel matters.

Board President Joel Colliu also would not explain the board's action.

Zan Alley, UniServ director of the Farmington-Nowi coordinating council of the Michigan Education Association, said the teachers "are obviously excited the school board has decided to offer (Holder) his due process, as was his right. We believe the board examined this and determined that due to lack of documentation (in his personnel file) they would reinstate him. The teachers are pleased to see that an arbitrary action won't be tolerated."

The matter was discussed with school administrators, but School Board Attorney Frederick Knauer said he made no specific recommendations that the school board should reverse its action.

"I did not advise against them pursuing this, the law is clearly on their side. I can speculate that the board thinks there are better ways to spend taxpayers' money than on lawsuits, but that is speculation on my part," Knauer said.

Board members were split on their original decision to fire Holder.

The three board members who favored offering him a third year of probation said at the time that he should be offered probation on the grounds that he had taught just one year at the middle school.

Four board members voted to fire the teacher. Comments made at that time indicated their decision was based on recommendations from the administration and a concern that "good managers will make difficult decisions" such as firing individuals when necessary.

The board decided to reconsider its action after realizing it granted tenure to a number of teachers, placed others on second year probation and fired Holder with a single vote, which was a 4-3 decision.

Board members apparently felt the teachers receiving tenure and second year probation should have been dealt with individually, and it was not appropriate that their tenure was approved on a 4-3 vote.

Attorneys representing Holder personally and legal counsel retained by the Novi Education Association both had contacted the board informing it that they were prepared to go to arbitration or court seeking Holder's reinstatement.

Harvey Wax, an attorney representing the NEA, charged that "someone decided before the fact that Mr. Holder must go, and then later saw to it that the official evaluative record supported that decision, and that Mr. Holder would have no meaningful opportunity to correct that record and save his job."

"Neither the contract, the Tenure Act nor the constitution permits the Novi Board of Education, as a public employer, to treat Mr. Holder in such an unfair fashion," the attorney said.

"Mr. Holder...was given no opportunity to correct the situation, no opportunity for evaluation by another administrator, all of which are guaranteed to him (in contract provisions). Furthermore, Mr. Holder was denied his right to "progressive correction" as guaranteed (in the contract). The intended purposes underlying the evaluation procedure - to bring deficiencies to the attention of a teacher and afford a fair opportunity to overcome them before determination as to continued employment is made - were wholly ignored in Mr. Holder's situation," Wax stated.

No cuts foreseen in teaching staff

Some 137 teachers in the Walled Lake School District have received pink slips.

And the number of teachers in the Northville School District to receive pink slips is 47.

So how many teachers in the Novi School District will be pink slipped this year?

The answer to that question is zero.

Calvin Schmucker, president of the Novi Education Association (NEA), said last week that it looks as if it will not be necessary to lay-off teachers for the 1982-83 school year, and his report was verified Friday by Superintendent Robert Pivko.

Novi presently employs some 139 classroom teachers and anticipates that it will continue to employ the same number next year, Pivko told the Novi school board in a report on staffing projections last week.

Pivko added, however, that some realignment of classroom teachers will be necessary because of the anticipated enrollment decline at Novi Middle School North. The two teachers to be cut at middle school north will be reassigned to middle school south and the high school where enrollment is expected to increase.

In addition to the 139 classroom teachers, Novi also employs 14 1/2 special education teachers.

The reason that it won't be necessary to pink slip teachers is that student enrollment is expected to remain virtually unchanged in 1982-83, according to the district's projections.

A steady student population is also somewhat unusual in light of the fact that many suburban school districts are experiencing substantial declines in enrollment figures.

According to preliminary enrollment projections, Novi will have some 3,176 students next year, a net loss of just four students from 1981-82 levels of 3,180 students.

Student enrollment at all three elementary schools is expected to remain just about the same: an increase of three students is anticipated at Orchard Hills Elementary School and an increase of four students is expected at Novi Woods. Village Oaks is expected to suffer a net loss of eight students next year.

Major changes in student distribution are anticipated at the secondary level, however. Novi Middle School South is expected to lose some 87 students next year, but the loss will be virtually made up through increased enrollment at middle school north and the high school.

Enrollment at middle school north is expected to increase by 42 students to 591, while high school enrollment also is expected to climb 42 students to 1,025.

Skater requests waiver of phys ed requirement

By PHILIP JEROME
A request from Douglas and Laura Clary that their daughter be excused from physical education classes next year is being reviewed carefully by the Novi Board of Education.

The Clarys' request is not based on any misgivings about the value of physical education; their concern is that their daughter could get substantially more physical education if excused from the high school requirement. The Clarys' daughter, Laura, will be a freshman at Novi High School next year. And she's also an accomplished figure skater who has been skating seriously for the past 6 1/2 years.

As a middle school student she has been training in 18 to 20 hours of ice time per week, even though that means she must get up at 5 a.m. to get practice before school.

Currently, she puts in approximately four hours per day, five to six days per week. She also participates in five major competitions during the year, one of which could eventually lead to national-level competition.

In asking that Laura be allowed to substitute figure skating for the physical education requirement, the Clarys emphasized they are not trying "to get out of" anything.

Because of the early starting time of high school classes, Laura no longer will be able to take advantage of the early morning ice time, they explained. By substituting ice skating for physical education, her schedule could be arranged so that the last hour of the day would be "phys ed" and she could be on the ice in Plymouth that much earlier in the afternoon.

The Clarys also said their daughter may be forced to substitute an elective (either Spanish I or Typing) if the board won't allow her to substitute ice skating for physical education.

"Laura has always been a high achiever and an honor student," they noted. "She will be taking both the advanced math and advanced English programs offered to freshmen, plus as many other courses throughout high school as she can to help her prepare for college."

'What we need is a consistent guideline so we don't open up a can of worms.'

Robert Piwko, Superintendent Novi Schools

Trustee Robert Schram, referring to cutbacks in state funding, responded that the state does not meet its obligations to local school districts. "I would love not to meet our requirements of them," he stated. "I don't think there's a darn thing they could do about it."

Noting that state law requires all students to take physical education and government courses, Trustee Ron Miliam said he did not mind bending local rules for the benefit of individual students but was reluctant to attempt to bend state law.

Trustee Joan Daley added that students have been permitted to attend a shortened school day to pursue other interests in the past.

Trustee Robert Schram, referring to cutbacks in state funding, responded that the state does not meet its obligations to local school districts. "I would love not to meet our requirements of them," he stated. "I don't think there's a darn thing they could do about it."

New driver's ed program under study

Would you let your child drive the family car without having passed a state-certified driver's education course?

Would you like to share space on the road with drivers who have not passed a state-certified driver's education course?

Both these possibilities may come to pass under a new "Competency-based Driver Education Program" set forth by the State Department of Education. The program is currently being considered by the Novi Board of Education.

Calvin Schmucker, head of Novi's driver education program, told the school board last week that the state has proposed the competency-based driver education program as an attempt to cut the costs of driver's education.

Currently, everyone is required to take a driver's education course before receiving a driver's license from the Michigan Secretary of State. The program consists of 30 in the classroom and six hours behind the wheel.

The state is currently conducting a six-month trial of the competency-based driver education program.

According to Schmucker, all students enrolled in driver's education will have an opportunity to pass a written test. Students who pass the written test will be able to receive their driver's license, Schmucker explained. Students who fail either the written or road tests must take the certified driver's education course, however.

Schmucker also said that students will have a second opportunity to pass the written and road tests midway through the drivers' education program.

"It's an emergency measure designed to save money by reducing the number of students in driver's education," Schmucker said. "The state has approved it on a trial basis; I'm not sure if they'll do it again."

Before competency-based drivers' education can be offered through the Novi schools, however, the program must be approved by the school board which then must notify the Department of Education of its desire to utilize the program.

Schmucker noted that the written test is extremely difficult. He said 25 students in one suburban school district had taken the test and all 25 had failed to reach the 90th percentile required to be eligible for the road test.

Concrete law faces hurdle

It appears that Novi's ordinance regulating installation of concrete work will be overturned by the Michigan Court of Appeals, but future homeowners may yet benefit from the city's legal battle to uphold the regulations.

After arguing the matter before the appeals court, Novi City Attorney David Fried informed the city council that it looks like the ordinance will not uphold.

The ordinance — enacted after residents complained that driveways were flaking, chipping and sinking — was struck down in Okla. and County Circuit Court last year. Fried appealed that decision, but now says it looks like the circuit court decision will stand.

However, Fried said he expects the court to "put pressure on the State Construction Commission to legislate in this area and protect homeowners from faulty concrete."

"This case has major significance as far as the court is concerned, because the state construction commission administrative staff believed they had no right to regulate the installation of concrete," Fried said.

He said that his perception of the argument before the appeal court was that the court would decide the construction commission, rather than individual communities, should regulate the installation of concrete.

Fried is not disheartened by the arguments before the appeal court because he believes that regardless of the decision concrete work will be better regulated as a result of the case.

"The court faced the problem that there is no regulation in this area and will fill that vacuum," Fried said.

Novi was the first community in the state to attempt to regulate installation of flatwork. The ordinance was adopted in 1979 and subsequently contested by 10 builders who declared the regulations were unconstitutional.

MAIL ORDER DENTURES

Q. I purchased some mail order dentures. Now I am really dissatisfied with the fit and the adhesives aren't helping. What can I do?

A. The construction and repair of dentures is an area where Americans spend millions of dollars and not always wisely. Unfortunately there is a lot of quackery connected with dentures. Mail order dentures are a waste of your time and money, and because of improper fit they can actually damage the tissues of the mouth. If dentures irritate the tissues over a long period of time open sores can result. Improper dentures can even lead to destruction of the underlying bone needed for support. See your dentist and have a well fitting denture made.

No progress seen on city's wage request

Attempts by the City of Walled Lake to seek wage concessions from its four employees unions are not meeting with success, according to City Manager J. Michael Dorman.

The city council recently authorized Dorman to look into the possibility of asking the unions to forego some promised raises during fiscal 1982-83 in order to help balance the budget.

But Dorman said he has not had much luck with the city's union stewards in negotiating concessions.

The bulk of Walled Lake's 30-plus employees belong to the AFSCME locals of clerical, police and department of public works, and the Walled Lake Command Officers Association.

Of these four groups, only DPW employees are currently working without a contract. Their old pact expired June 30, 1981, and members have not ratified an offer the city extended last fall.

Policemen and union firefighters, as well as command officers, are about to enter the last year of their three-year contract and clerical workers are in the first year of a three-year agreement.

Although one classification of city employees — Walled Lake dispatchers — has been budgeted for a six percent raise, Walled Lake's management has already been slated to pass up raises next year.

Raises for the coming year have been deferred by the city manager, police and fire chiefs and DPW supervisor, and the position of building inspector has been reduced to three days. The city's clerk-treasurer is budgeted to receive a raise in order to bring her salary in line with other department heads.

However, Dorman said he is hopeful the unions will be willing to negotiate moderate changes in the contracts for the coming budget year.

Decker, Oakley Park schools won't close

By PHILIP JEROME
 Union Lake Elementary is the only school in the Walled Lake School District which will be closed next year. Meeting before a room filled with concerned parents, the Walled Lake Board of Education voted 6-1 Monday not to close any additional elementary schools for the 1982-83 school year. The lone dissenting vote was cast by Janet Callahan.

accepted the recommendation of a three-member board committee composed of Patricia Jackman, Mario Tozzi and Robert Cooper. The committee also recommended, however, that the board continue to study the possibility of closing another elementary school and reach a decision by "late fall."

"We felt the decision to close another school was too rushed and that there is need for additional information," said Cooper in announcing the committee's recommendation. The decision not to close a second elementary school during the 1982-83 school year came as good news to parents of students at both Decker and Oakley Park elementary schools. Both schools had been identified as possibilities for closing if a second elementary was to have been closed. The committee's recommendation to continue to study the possibility of closing another elementary was strongly criticized by Callahan, however. Noting that parents have been extremely upset over the possibility that either Decker or Oakley Park might be closed, Callahan said the rest of the board has achieved "dividing a community, creating a lot of dissension and pitting neighborhood against neighborhood." The recommendation to continue studying the possibility merely extends that situation, she said. Two factors have been paramount in the board's decision to close Union Lake Elementary and study the possibility of closing a second school—financial problems and declining enrollment. Although final State Equalized Valuation (SEV) figures are not yet final, the district is anticipating a budget deficit of some $3.2 million for the 1982-83 school year. Closing an elementary school is anticipated to save approximately $150,000.

Added to the budget problems is a sharp decline in student enrollment over the past six years. Some 11,600 students were enrolled in Walled Lake schools during 1976-77, but the official 1981-82 student count has dropped to 5,600—a loss of 2,000 students.

Principals resign; trustees worried.

By PHILIP JEROME
 Six of the 12 elementary school principals in the Walled Lake School District will not be returning to their jobs when school resumes in September. William Ligon, principal of Keith Elementary, petitioned the school board Monday to be reassigned as a classroom teacher. The board voted unanimously to honor his request. Ligon's request for reassignment to the classroom is the fifth that has been received and approved by the school board so far this year. The board previously has granted requests for reassignment to the classroom from Decker Elementary Principal Lloyd Anteau, Walled Lake Elementary Principal William Brown, Wixom Elementary Principal Bruce Moody and Oakley Park Principal William Doggett. In addition to the five reassignments, Union Lake Elementary Principal Nancy Weston has decided to retire at the end of the 1981-82 school year.

"We now have more principal vacancies than teacher vacancies," —Patricia Jackman, Walled Lake schools trustee

Although approving Ligon's request for reassignment, school board members expressed concern Monday about the number of principals who have asked to return to the classroom and directed administration to attempt to determine the reason behind the requests. Trustee Betty Campion said she did not know of any other school districts which have lost half their elementary school principals.

Stonecrest, Tiffin dedications slated

May 23 will be an historic day in Walled Lake and Wixom, where two landmark buildings will be formally dedicated. Stonecrest in Walled Lake and the Tiffin House in Wixom, both operated by area historical groups, will be the focus of separate ceremonies May 23, kicking off a week of festivities in conjunction with Michigan Week (May 23-29).

Holland Langerman, former deputy superintendent of the Walled Lake Consolidated Schools, will give the keynote address when Stonecrest is dedicated with the unveiling of a bronze historical marker. Langerman is considered something of an expert on the history of the Walled Lake school district, according to society spokesman Robert Tuttle.

Governor William Milliken was invited to attend the ceremony but is unable to attend due to prior commitments during Michigan Week, one of the governor's busiest times. Stonecrest was named last summer to the Michigan Register of Historic Buildings after a drive by members of the Commerce Township Area Historical Society to have the site of one of Walled Lake's first schools honored in state annals.

The historical society is beginning preparations to restore and preserve the 122-year-old building. Additionally, society members and the city are planning to improve the point east of Stonecrest when Liberty Street and Walled Lake Drive are improved this summer.

Meanwhile in Wixom, the Wixom Historical Society will see one of its dreams realized May 23 with the formal dedication of the Tiffin House, one of the first homes built in Wixom. Plans for the dedication ceremony are not yet complete.

The historic marker for Stonecrest (above) will be dedicated May 23.

Volunteers answer mayor's call for help

By KAREN RICE
 Walled Lake Mayor Gaspare LaMarca's call for volunteers apparently came through loud and clear. "We're getting a lot of response. We've got quite a number of volunteers," LaMarca said after meeting with a group of 11 men who may become the nucleus of the mayor's plan to expand the city's volunteer force. "We've even got some from Novi, Wixom and Commerce Township as well as Walled Lake." Offers of assistance have poured in from construction workers interested in helping renovate city hall and individuals planning to join the city's annual clean-up May 8. But primarily they have come from a group of retired men who want to keep Walled Lake itself free of litter. LaMarca, who accepted applications from the men Monday to join a proposition. The city commission, plans to ask the city council next week to approve the concept of a city board patrolling the lake. "The council will have to decide whether to accept volunteers," LaMarca said, adding, "Most of this country grew on volunteers." LaMarca stated the group would not enforce any city ordinances should council approve formation of a commission. "We don't want them to enforce the law," he said. "We only want them to report violations to the police or to the city manager." The mayor said he anticipated members of the commission would be involved in educating residents about the effects of littering on the lake. Rolin Tuttle, a lifelong resident of

Fire chief may give up post

Clarence Kuttkuhn, chief of Commerce Township's fire department for more than 20 years, may give up his position as Commerce's top firefighter and become a regular full-time fireman, possibly as early as July. Township Supervisor Robert Long confirmed yesterday that Kuttkuhn might hang up his fire chief's hat should the Commerce Township Board of Trustees approve his request to step down.

Long said Kuttkuhn "has written a letter to the board with certain stipulations" requesting the change. If the unspecified stipulations are agreed on, Kuttkuhn could be put on firefighter's status by July 1.

The supervisor said no decision on Kuttkuhn's request has yet been made. "It is being considered," Long said, referring to Kuttkuhn's step down from management.

But Kuttkuhn, who refused to comment on the matter because "things are still up in the wind," said, "Who knows, it may not happen after all."

Kuttkuhn said he preferred not to talk about the change until the matter was settled.

"He (Kuttkuhn) has suggested he would like to give up being chief," Long said. "I think he would rather not have the responsibility. There are certain advantages to just doing your job and not having to worry about other things."

Long said Kuttkuhn could have decided to retire "as far as his pension is concerned" rather than rejoin firefighters' ranks. Kuttkuhn has been head of the Commerce fire department for 22 years. He has a force of seven paid firefighters and 29 volunteers.

Officials hear cable group bids

Representatives from five companies told the West Oakland County Cable Study Group why their firms should be selected to serve as consultants for bringing cable television services to the area at a special meeting Friday at Walled Lake Western High School.

Selection of a consultant is an important first step toward bringing cable television services to Walled Lake, Wixom, Wolverine Lake and Commerce Township which represent four of the 12 groups involved in the West Oakland consortium.

Other members of the group are Lyon Township, Milford Township, White Lake, Highland, Orchard Lake Village, Sylvan Lake and Keego Harbor.

The 12 communities banded together to form a consortium under the belief that they will be able to attract more and better bids as a group than as individual entities since the total number of potential subscribers is an important consideration to companies bidding for the franchise.

After the consultant has been selected, he will be responsible for guiding consortium members through the process of awarding the cable franchise for the 12 communities.

State law requires each community to award a franchise for cable television services. The franchise permits cable companies to install lines in the public right-of-way.

Presentations by five firms were heard by West Oakland consortium members at last week's hearing. A sixth firm, Cable Communications Consultants of Bloomfield Hills, had submitted a bid to serve as consultants but withdrew prior to Friday's meeting. Presentations were heard from the following firms:

- Kalbe-Bowen Associates, Inc., of Cambridge, Massachusetts.
- Television Information Center of Arlington, Virginia. CTCIC served as consultants to the Novi-Farmington-Farmington Hills consortium.
- Cooper Associates, Inc., of Marlton, New Jersey.
- Communications Media Center of New York City.
- Telecommunications Management Corporation of Los Angeles, California.

The firm served as consultants to the Oakland County consortium in eastern Oakland County. Coordinators of the West Oakland consortium asked the companies to bid on a four-phase approach. The first phase involves a report on system design and franchise configuration. Consortium members are scheduled to meet again tonight (Wednesday) at Walled Lake Western High School at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the selection of a consulting firm.

No change in East Lake traffic regulations seen

Concerns of East Lake Drive residents with heavy, high-speed traffic—especially truck traffic—and the pot-hole condition of the road have been presented to the Oakland County Road Commission.

But a road commission representative has responded that neither the speed nor load limits on East Lake Drive should be lowered.

"We believe the existing speed and weight limits are proper, fair, enforceable and consistent with other similar situations. We do not plan any changes," said county highway engineer Paul Van Roekel in response to an inquiry from city officials about the possibility of reducing speed and weight limits on East Lake.

Van Roekel noted that the posted speed limit on East Lake is 30 miles per hour, just five miles per hour higher than the limit on residential streets.

"If residents are correct that a speeding problem exists, it indicates that enforcement is not adequate," Van Roekel said.

He added that "East Lake Drive never has been and may never be just a residential street with only local traffic."

Van Roekel noted that East Lake Drive is classified as a "Class A" truck route which means the normal three-axle truck carrying a gross load of 20,000 pounds and a five-axle truck carrying 66,000 pounds are allowed to use the road.

Van Roekel explained there is only 6,000 pounds difference between the weight of trucks allowed on East Lake and the lowest load limit allowed on most public roads, including Novi side streets.

"Since there is so little difference, we believe it is wise to have this roadway section as consistent as possible with other main routes in the area."

Van Roekel also said that there is a springtime load restriction on East Lake Drive, because of the

"less than good condition of the East Lake Drive pavement," while other major routes in the area with "somewhat better pavements" do not have springtime weight restrictions.

"One resident, dissatisfied with the Road Commission response, wrote the Road Commission seeking further information.

Barry Jay of 1229 East Lake Drive wrote: "While Mr. Van Roekel answered my question about whether trucks could be banned from East Lake Drive, he did not address the issue of what the Oakland County Road Commission was going to do about rectifying this dangerous situation."

"I am requesting that the speed limit on this road be reduced, but this would be only a partial remedy. This road obviously carries a higher volume of traffic than it was designed for and is unsafe. I would like a written response from your department about your plans to make East Lake Drive less dangerous."

Van Roekel responded: "...We can understand your preference that this section of East Lake Drive be purely residential with no through traffic, but the fact remains it always has been and probably always will be a route that is used by considerable through traffic which is not local in origin or destination."

Van Roekel added that traffic statistics show the number of accidents on East Lake on the section of roadway in question—7.54 accidents per 1 million miles of travel—is "about average for the entire county road system and is not considered unusually high."

Van Roekel also indicated East Lake may not be as dangerous as residents believe. He said that between 1976 and 1979 there were no fatal accidents on East Lake and only 25 percent of the accidents involved personal injuries—a figure which is low compared to most other roads.

"This indicates that high speed accidents are uncommon and that many (accidents) are of the fender bender type."

The exchange of letters between city officials, the road commission and Jay began after the city informed the commission of residents' concerns after they turned out to review plans for constructing a curve at Thirteen Mile and Novi Road to encourage drivers to take Thirteen Mile and Decker roads instead of East Lake.

Residents were highly critical of the condition of East Lake Drive at the session and complained that they had been unable to get a response from the road commission regarding traffic problems on the road.

Police apprehend juveniles in shooting incident

In Novi
Two runaway juveniles were taken into custody in conjunction with an incident in which one of the youths allegedly shot at Novi police.

Police were called to Old Dutch Farms Mobile Home Park with a report of two armed youths inside one of the mobile homes and threatening to shoot. Officers took positions around the mobile home and observed both subjects inside, according to reports.

A short time later one of the subjects opened a window, pointed a gun at the police and fired a shot, police said. The youths subsequently fled through a window in the back of the home. Police said they later received a call from one of the youth's parents, who said both youths wished to surrender to police.

The woman brought the two youths into police headquarters where they were taken into custody.

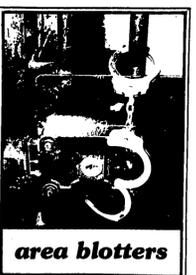

One youth was detained in Children's Village. He was charged with reckless use of a firearm. Bond was set at $10,000 with 10 percent which was posted pending examination.

The second youth was placed under house arrest and released to the custody of his parents.

Nearly $500 worth of camping equipment worth approximately $1,200 was reportedly stolen from Novi Elementary School on Novi Road where it had been stored. League officials told police the equipment could have been taken anytime between November and April.

Taken were nine duffel bags containing miscellaneous baseball equipment, including bats, balls, pads and mitts.

A Dearborn man reported the theft of a 1974 Oldsmobile Cutlass from the Dunkin' Donuts parking lot on Grand area blotters

Wixom Fire Department. Several hours later, another grass fire began when a 12-year-old girl and seven-year-old boy were playing with matches and lighting campfires in a field north of Grand River and west of Wixom Road.

Michigan State Police are asking cashiers at area stores to watch for anyone trying to return large numbers of empty pop cans and bottles for deposit refunds.

About 5,000 empty cans and bottles were allegedly stolen from a Salem Township party store at the corner of Seven Mile and Pontiac Trail April 7 state police said. The refundable containers, stored in 20 plastic bags, are worth about $500, police said.

"Someone will be trying to dump a lot of cans," said a spokesman at the Northville State Police Post.

Individuals with information on the stolen cans and bottles are asked to call Bob Garcia at the post, 348-1505.

Ten gallons of gasoline were allegedly siphoned from the tank of a 1979 Chevrolet pickup truck parked off Pontiac Trail, according to Wixom police. The gas was apparently stolen between April 21 and April 23, police said.

Six principals to resign

"I'm very, very distressed," she said. "I'm not at all comfortable with this situation."

Trustee Patricia Jackson also said she was concerned with "the growing problem" and asked administration to determine the reason for it and proposals to remedy the situation.

"We now have more principal vacancies than teacher vacancies," she observed. "It is not a desirable situation."

Although all the principals who have requested reassignment have cited personal reasons for the action, there is reason to believe the requests are linked to the district's current financial plight.

The Walled Lake Schools are projecting a deficit of some $3.2 million for the 1982-83 school year, and the school board already has voted to close one elementary school (Union Lake).

Although the board stated Monday that no further elementary school closings will occur in the 1982-83 school year, there is some feeling that the principals have requested reassignment to the classroom in order to be protected from possible lay-off by seniority rules.

Three of the principals—Doggett, Ligon and Brown—were targeted for lay-off notices by the school board in March of 1980, but the notices were later retracted.

Volunteers assist mayor

have gone out there and picked things up," Tuttle said. "One year, we called up seven or eight guys with shanties and they all came down and took them off (the ice)."

Tuttle described the men who are interested in working on the commission as "all old Walled Lakers. Most of us were born in Walled Lake, went through all the schools in Walled Lake. We grew up together."

Ernie Campion, Ed Welch and Ray Greening are among those who have volunteered along with Tuttle.

Some of those who volunteered are regular ice fishermen on Walled Lake but live outside the city limits. LaMarca said. He suggested those men could be either back-up helpers on the city's proposed Lake Commission if possible or could be used to organize similar commissions in nearby communities, particularly Novi, which includes about two-thirds of Walled Lake in its boundaries.

If Novi was interested in forming a lake commission, LaMarca said, "these commissions could cooperate and take care of the lake together."

Tuttle agreed a commission in Walled Lake couldn't do a complete job by itself. Said he: "We're just starting this out and we will take care of our end of it, but we've only got about a third of the lake to patrol. South of the point (at North Haven) and Fourteen Mile in Novi, we can't do anything about that."

But LaMarca remains optimistic that Tuttle's group of volunteers will make an impression—hopefully encouraging other volunteers to contact the city as well as cleaning up the lake.

"They want to come and we're going to open the doors as wide as we can," LaMarca said.

Services for Judson O. Ross of Walled Lake were held April 17 at the Bell Chapel of The William R. Hamilton Company in Birmingham. Dr. William R. Stahl of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth officiated.

Mr. Ross died April 14 at William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak. Born December 28, 1905, in Battle Creek, he was 76.

A Walled Lake resident for 22 years, Mr. Ross was a commercial artist with Cunningham & Limp; an architectural, construction and engineering firm in Bloomfield Hills for the last nine years of his life. Prior to joining Cunningham & Limp in 1973, he was self-employed as a commercial artist.

An advocate of the sport of rowing, he started rowing in 1939 as coxswain at the Detroit Boat Club under the tutelage of Jim Rice and later served as coach at the Detroit Boat Club until 1952. He then served as rowing coach at Wayne State University until 1975 when he organized a rowing team at St. Mary's. He remained active in the sport of rowing throughout his life.

He is survived by his wife, Helen, and three children.

As We See It

Equitable formula may yield answer

Walled Lake's school board very possibly made some people happy Monday by voting not to close another elementary school next year. All things considered, it was the right decision — at this point in time.

The process of closing an elementary school is rarely accomplished without a great deal of criticism from the parents of students at the school targeted for closing. Parents of students at Union Lake were a unique exception. Recognizing that enrollment has dropped some 2,000 students over the past six years and the age of the facility, they were more concerned that steps be taken to provide a smooth transition from one school to another for their youngsters.

Parents of students at Oakley Park and Decker — the two schools considered for closing and possible conversion to an administrative center — were less cooperative. Citing the relatively sound quality of the buildings and the "neighborhood" school concept, they opposed strongly any consideration of closing the schools.

The decision not to close a second elementary was sound, particularly in light of the uncertainty of the district's financial situation. Although officials currently project a $3.2 million deficit for 1982-83, the figure is subject to change depending on final determination of the district's State Equalized Valuation (SEV). If the SEV comes in at the present projected level, the $3.2 million deficit will stand — and the board will have to investigate even more severe measures for balancing the budget.

If the final SEV shows a 10 percent increase over last year's levels (as state equalization officials believe it should), the size of the $3.2 million deficit will be diminished accordingly.

The one fact which nobody can overlook, however, is the extent of the enrollment decline. Walled Lake Schools have lost 2,000 students over the past six years, and, if projections are correct, there will be a further decline of 400 students in 1982-83. Although the decision may not be popular, it is simply bad management, as Board President Kenneth Tucker has suggested, to operate 12 schools if only 10 are needed to do the job.

The questions which the board should now address are how to determine if another school needs to be closed and, if the answer is yes, how to determine which school will be closed.

We believe that residents can appreciate the fact that it is a waste of their tax dollars to operate facilities which are not needed. The trick may well be to develop a fair and equitable formula that will yield an objective answer when and if it becomes necessary to close another school.

'Portable' symbol

One of the occupational hazards of being an administrator in the public sector is that you're a readily accessible and highly visible candidate for target practice.

When times get bad, administrators — also called bureaucrats — usually bear the brunt of the attack. When expenditures exceed revenues, irate citizens usually call for cutbacks in administrative staff.

Taking potshots at administrators is not entirely unjustified. As the individuals responsible for making sure things go right, they also are responsible when things go wrong. That's one of the reasons they usually make more than other employees.

Walled Lake Superintendent Don Sheldon has come in for some abuse lately because his management team last year negotiated the union settlements that have now contributed to a projected $3.2 million deficit in the 1982-83 fiscal year. Certainly, Sheldon deserves a portion of the blame for those settlements which, in retrospect, have proven to be more than the district was capable of paying.

In all fairness, however, it also should be noted that the Walled Lake School District is not the only employer in this country which overestimated revenues when it came time to sign contracts with unions. The presidents (chairmen of the board) of GM, Ford, Chrysler, A&P, Krogers, Chatham's, Farmer Jacks, American Motors and just about every other major company you can think of made the same mistake.

Union negotiators should not be excused from responsibility either. The adversarial "get everything you can get" philosophy is now undergoing a radical change which recognizes that everybody — labor and management — has to work together. Contracts which provide high wages aren't much good if the company can't afford to pay.

All of which brings us to the point of this rambling discourse which is the Walled Lake school board's consideration of closing an elementary school and creating an administrative service center.

Popular public opinion has it that administrators, or bureaucrats, are always looking to feather their own nests at the expense of the poor taxpayer. Sometimes it's true, sometimes it's not.

And any discussion of administrative service centers brings to mind the administrative service center of the Novi School District. The center consists of a small group of portable classrooms clustered together on Taft Road near Eleven Mile.

Former Superintendent Gerald Kratz, who set up the administrative building, was a master of public relations. "The Novi Schools," he always maintained, "are run on one guiding principle — 'Is it good for kids?'"

Novi's humble administrative building stands in stark contrast to the beautiful, new high school less than a mile away at the corner of Ten Mile and Taft Road.

Although Kratz had his detractors in Novi, the two buildings — the high school and the portable classrooms used as an administrative center — emanated a subliminal message that never had to be expressed.

Opening up

By Stephen Cvengros

David Cvengros might have discovered the cure for cancer, except for one thing — he only lived an hour and a half.

A couple weeks back my brother Bob and his wife Carol were running through the rituals of expectant parents, my parents were prepping for their first grandchild and David was growing away. But after about five and a half months of pregnancy, complications set in and Carol and Bob thought they had lost the baby. Carol went to an east side hospital and doctors informed her that David was no longer alive.

Her options were to follow through on childbirth procedures or have him surgically removed the following day.

After all of the letdown, David surprised everyone and came out breathing. Doctors and nurses struggled with the little guy for an hour and a half, before he gave out.

But David wasn't the first or the last child to die at such a young age. And soon after the tragic event, I found myself in cemetery babyland.

Bob and Carol had been given a remarkably cold option by hospital officials shortly after David died. They could "pay $40 and have him sent to Wayne County (where he would be dissected) or pay $500 and have him buried," according to a hospital official.

(The first choice is really some kind of option, eh?)
Aside from the hospital attitude, my brother next encountered the funeral director, who suggested they not make such a big deal out of this. "You'll have more children," he informed my brother. The funeral director was a gynecologist now, too.

The casket wasn't really much of a casket at all. It was made of some type of styrofoam. It was large enough to place a corsage upon.

We followed the Cadillac that carried David's casket in the back seat out to babyland. Weaving around this cemetery, nearing babyland was like a step into "The Twilight Zone."

The grounds were an area of grass with no upright grave markers. Purple, yellow and pink inflatable Easter bunnies were tied to stakes and scattered all over the area.

And in the center was a concrete sculpture of Jesus with kids climbing all over him.

There were markers, which we discovered as we walked near where David's body was going to be laid, that were flat and small — separated by about two or three feet of grass.

"God sent us an angel and then he took her away."
"April 10, 1978 - April 12, 1978."
Or worse yet, just "May 17, 1979."
That's when I really cried.

A generation of scientists, artists, parents and probably even murderers was here. Stripped of their potential, never given a chance.

You feel bad when someone has died. No matter how jovial the Irish try to make the event — you still feel depressed. Someone you knew and shared with has gone away. And no matter what the outcome after death, you're just not going to get to have those times again.

Well, I'll probably still cry at funerals. And I'll probably still feel bad and if it's someone very close to me, reach some very low moments.

But I don't think I'll ever feel quite as bad or as low again. At least most of the people, who have stopped this chemical function we call life, had their moments of glory, their chance to shine in the sunlight.

David and all the others resting in babyland never even got to smile. I'm always going to remember that. It will help me work a little harder, enjoy life a little more and not feel quite so bad about others that will die in the future.

And now I know why David Cvengros was born. Steep well, my friend.

After the fact

By PHILIP JEROME

Joe Brett's got me worried. All because of an undefined reference to "phase two."

Joe Brett is a member of the Novi Planning Board, one of the various boards which I cover to earn my paycheck. And he expressed concern about my physical well-being last week after hearing my response to the question — "How's everything?"

"Fine," I responded. And that's what got Brett concerned.

"What's wrong?" he wanted to know.

"Nothing," I answered. "Everything's fine."

"I heard you the first time," he responded. "That's why I'm worried. Usually when I ask how you're doing, you say, 'Fantastic. Terrific. Couldn't be better.' All you said tonight was 'fine.'"

"Well, I guess it's old age," I answered truthfully. "My mind still pops out of bed when the alarm sounds in the morning, but my body remains in a prone position."

"I used to be able to cover city council on Monday night, school board on Tuesday, planning commission on Wednesday, board of appeals on Thursday and still show up at the office bright and early on Friday, ready to take on the world and hammer out several hundred inches of copy."

"But my body just doesn't work as well as it used to," I continued. "I'm not as quick on the racquetball court, it's taking me a little longer to write my stories and I find that I prefer to go home after meetings instead of heading out for a drink."

Brett shook his head knowingly. "You're lucky," he said. "That's phase one. Wait till you hit phase two."

"Phase two?" I asked. "What's that like?"

"It's hard to explain," he said. "But you'll know when you get there."

Schools being run on 'whim'

To the Editor: Recently the Walled Lake school board foolishly overspent the taxpayers' money for outrageous employee raises for two years. Now they "discover" that they don't have the money to pay for the raises. Instead of publicly taking a strong, intelligent stand for rolling back the wages, the school board pretended to try to renegotiate the mistake by sending the superintendent to talk to the unions — an employee who wants the other employees to have the raises. The teachers' union declined to give back the raises. However, the real problem is not their greed, but an unstable school board not capable of properly managing the district or representing the public's interest.

Now that the school board has given the money away, the children and the community will be left to suffer for it. The board has been planning to make enormous programs cuts to make money available for the raises. Instead, they are considering closing elementary schools under the pretense of saving money. Actually, this is to satisfy the whims of the superintendent, Dr. Sheldon, even though it is at the expense of the children. For years, he has been wanting a new office building for himself and his administrators and has been waiting for a chance to grab one of the elementary schools.

It is sad to see the school board dividing the community. They have pitted neighborhood against neighborhood, each citizen willing to see someone else's school closed as long as it's not their own. The board has created a situation where everyone is sitting through the ashes trying to save their own personal interests. No one is looking out for the school district as a whole.

The staff at Oakley Park has worked very well together for the betterment of the student. They have helped the "special ed" students, they have helped the regular students and the advanced students.

The staff has worked with parents to help them understand and aid their children. Under Mr. Doggett's leadership I feel my children have a very well-rounded education and this is verified by their Michigan Assessment Test scores.

Here, although he is leaving, I want to say a word about Mr. Doggett. I think Mr. Doggett is a fine principal. What other principal knows almost every child's name? What other principal is always available at every school function or any time you need help with a problem? What other school principal takes groups of children for nature walks?

What other school principal makes the children feel confident that he will solve a problem fairly? I could go on and on but I must get back to the issue at hand... our school.

I, as a parent, cannot understand why at this time a special administration building is needed when we have gotten along without one... could it be to complete with another district such as Wayne-Westland? If we have got along all this time... why now?

Why displace 300 students so administration can have fancy offices? Why the nicest school in our district? It seems that a small office building somewhere would put everyone under the same roof. Why waste beautiful classrooms for offices? Why waste lovely playgrounds for parking? Why get rid of or displace good teachers?

I really feel that our school is a good school with good teachers. I think a school board that would take this away from the children does not seem to be thinking of the children first. Maybe we

To the Editor: I write in support of "National Volunteers Week," April 18-24. It is a very real fact that without the efforts of volunteers, we would not see so many excellent programs that take out city, country and the world a better place to live. Nobody recognizes this more than the Novi Parks and Recreation Department.

Throughout the year, hundreds of volunteers from our community assist in providing leisure activities for you, your family and your friends. The support of these volunteers makes your recreation program a success.

Be assured that we greatly appreciate the efforts of anyone who has volunteered their time and services for the betterment of the parks and recreation program. If you believe you have gone unnoticed, you have not. You have been and will continue to be a vital part of the effort to make Novi a more enjoyable place to live.

On behalf of the parks and recreation staff and the community of Novi — "Thank you all!"

Tom O'Branovic, Director
Novi Parks & Recreation

To the Editor:

The week of April 18 to 25 is National Volunteer Week, a time set aside to thank volunteers all over America. During the past year, we at Beverly Manor have been blessed with having many people volunteer. We have some people that are so familiar to all the residents because they volunteer every week. We also have people who come in on a weekly or monthly basis to volunteer. I know by saying "Thank You" I still cannot express how much of a help volunteers are to the residents at Beverly Manor.

I would not be able to run many of my activity programs if it was not for you. Volunteers help by shopping for residents, reading to them, helping at Bingo, bowling, church services, sing-alongs, family days, visiting and most of all letting the residents know you care about them.

I cannot possibly name all the people who have helped me during the year because many have. I can only say "Thank you" to those who have helped. I know I speak for myself and everyone else at Beverly Manor. "Volunteers are Special." More volunteers are always needed, if you would like to volunteer, stop by to see me.

The seamstress who makes garments from the beginning as well as doing hemming and restyling has the small third bedroom in the family's ranch-style home for her workshop.

"I have a lot of repeat customers and some new ones and I get to set my own hours." Although her overhead is small, Collick has two sewing machines in case one should break down and also has invested in a $2,500 blind-stitch machine for hems. She buys needles 50 at a time and large quantities of thread even though many customers bring their own materials and patterns. "This is ideal," she says looking around her home with satisfaction. "I like to sew and I can do it mostly when I'm home by myself when my son is in school. I'd be bored without something to do when he and my husband are away."

Collick says if she ever decides to expand her operation, she will rent a building and hire extra help, but it is something she would not consider now as she finds her present set-up satisfying both financially and personally.

Convenience is major appeal in container gardening

Even vegetable growers with a back to the garden attitude are finding that the convenience of container gardening is a major appeal. Reason? Convenience, for one, where salad fixings next to the kitchen makes it so easy to get to the garden. But for gardeners new to the game or tight on space, container gardening is the way to ease into gardening.

Virtually any vegetable can be grown in containers, but special favorites include all the salad vegetables. Herbs and ornamental secure plants like eggplants and root crops such as carrots and beets are practical as long as they have enough soil depth to develop the root.

Making garden space where it doesn't exist is a primary reason for container gardening—and they're turning up on balconies, patios, decks, even in matched containers at the front door where guests can pick their own tomatoes while waiting for you to answer the door.

The ultimate container garden fits on a kitchen windowsill but is perhaps more for effect than for practical, productive value.

Containers can be anything from handsome wood or cedar planting tubs to specially designed containers, such as Vegi-Tubs from Carefree Garden Products. Big enough to grow up to three tomato plants or 300 carrots, it's a handy, yet handsome planter.

Home Grown

of weed seed and plant disease organisms and they're lightweight for easy moving of plant containers. Some tomato varieties do well in hanging baskets with vines hanging down from overhead. Small-fruit, determinate types of tomatoes, like 'Champion' continue to grow, blossom and set fruit at one time will need no staking. Indeterminate varieties such as Ball Seed Company's tomato 'Champion' continue to grow, blossom and set fruit and will need staking or caging.

There's no rule that says you can't plant more than one variety in a container, so long as they're fed and watered well. A tall-growing tomato footed with a pepper and an eggplant makes a productive planting that's sure to be a conversation piece, too.

All the salad basics — onions, radishes and lettuce — can be planted in the same container. Just remember that once planted the roots of many vegetables grow together. Plant to harvest without disturbing the roots of nearby plants.

And don't forget to provide for drainage. Drill holes along the side at the bottom so the soil mix doesn't flow out the bottom.

Several herbs can be combined in the same container. Fresh herbs are the ultimate in flavoring, compared with dried.

Some other advantages of container gardening appeal to the vegetable producer. Close at-hand container gardens make it easy for succession planting of radishes, lettuce, onions and other short season crops, compared to planting in the ground where gardeners often don't get around to replanting. Packaged soil mixes are clean, free though general temperatures are too low for outdoor growth. Early varieties of plants grown in containers will normally mature faster than if they were grown in the ground, assuming there's no shortage of water and fertilizer. Peppers and eggplant need at least 60 degree nights to flower and set fruit.

For an extra early boost to production, you can even move containers inside at night, until outdoor night temperatures reach the optimum.

K mart celebrating 20 years of success

K mart customers throughout the United States can celebrate and maintain a celebrating the 20th anniversary of the first K mart discount department store with the largest sales in K mart Corporation's history.

Every department in each K mart is offering specials during the three-week sale which is expected to ring up more than $1 billion in transactions.

The first K mart store opened March 1, 1962, in a Detroit suburb and was quickly followed by 17 others in seven states.

Before 1962, the company had a foothold in retailing through Kresge variety stores. With 777 units, sales in 1961 were $426 million.

In fiscal 1981, the more than 2,000 K mart stores accounted for more than 96 percent of K mart Corporation's revenues of $16.5 billion. Today there are K marts in all 48 continental United States, Canada and Puerto Rico. K mart serves practically every large city in the United States as well as many smaller communities.

Reflecting changes in lifestyles and customer preference, merchandise has been continuously refined through the years. But the original K mart philosophy is intact: sell a department store range of first-quality national brands and private-label goods, all at discount prices.

Although the company has diversified modestly into retail-related areas, the primary emphasis remains on K mart stores. The K mart expansion program continued with 171 openings in 1981. Meanwhile, K mart is modernizing displays and freshening interiors of existing stores to highlight the quality of merchandise.

K mart Corporation management attributes the strength of the organization to its people and personnel policies. Company founder Sebastian S. Kresge believed in promoting from within based on merit. Kresge managers were tapped to launch the K mart program, proving their adaptability.

Harry B. Cunningham, chief executive officer of the company when the K mart program began, is still active on the board of directors today. Robert E. Dewar guided K mart through its second decade and now serves as chairman of two key board committees. Current chairman Bernard M. Fauber was elected in 1980.

Founded in 1899 as the S.S. Kresge Company, K mart Corporation is now the second largest general merchandise retailer in the United States.

ASK THE LAWYER

Questions? Write to Attorney Larry Korn, care of Silger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Questions will be answered on a space-available basis. Answers in this column are directed at specific facts and may not apply in all situations.

Q. Could you tell me if the tax assessors can tax our homes any way we want. I have a home on a canal in a small town. In 1979 I paid $108.35 in taxes. In 1980 I paid $108.08 and in 1981 paid $305.28. They always send me an assessment notice increasing my taxes too late for me to appeal. Is there something I can do about it?

out to the assessor. If you still feel that you are being assessed too high, you should hire an attorney who is knowledgeable in lowering property assessments.

Q. My husband and I moved from California to Detroit. In moving our household goods, the moving company damaged my Steinway piano and broke a valuable antique lamp. The moving company and I cannot agree on the amount of damages. I feel that my damages are more than $1,000. What is the best way to recover what I am entitled to from the moving company?

A. Had your damages been less than $500, I might suggest that you start suit on your own in small claims court and let the judge evaluate the damages that you would have been entitled to recover.

Since your damages are upwards of $1,000, I would suggest that you write the American Movers Conference, Attention: Dispute Settlement Program, 400 Army-Navy Drive, Arlington, Virginia, 22202. Your letter should request an arbitration of the dispute through the American Arbitration Association.

A shipper who has a loss-damage claim against the participating moving company may request that the American Arbitration Association appoint an impartial arbitrator from its national panel to decide the case.

While the decision to arbitrate is voluntary and must be agreed to by both parties, the arbitrator's decision is legally binding and enforceable.

Q. I heard that the Federal Gift Tax Exclusion was raised from $3,000 to $10,000. Would you please explain how this works?

A. Under present law, if a donor gives to a recipient no more than $10,000 worth of property in a calendar year, the Gift Tax Annual Exclusion applies and no taxable gift is involved.

Also, under the present law, when a married person makes a gift of his or her separate property and the donor's spouse consents to the gift, the annual exclusion of each spouse is available and the amount of the non-taxable gift can be doubled to $20,000. This is accomplished by the spouse's consenting to "splitting" the gift, having one-half of gift attributed to him/her by signing the donor spouse's gift tax return on the date provided for that purpose. Thus, by using the split-gift privilege, a husband or wife can give $20,000 worth of his or her separate property each year to each of as many recipients as he or she chooses.

Q. What are Municipal Bonds and what are the advantages of owning Municipal Bonds?

A. Municipal Bonds are the debt instruments that local governments sell to raise the needed capital to build roads, water systems, sewage disposal services, schools, airports and the like.

By investing in Municipal Bonds you earn income that you can keep without incurring liability for federal income taxes. Also, if you buy a Municipal Bond issued by state, county or other form of local government, in Michigan your interest earned on these Municipal Bonds would be state tax exempt as well as federal tax exempt.

Q. I am a landlord. When a certain tenant moved into my four-family flat, he signed a lease and also signed a statement of the condition of the flat that he was renting. When the tenant moved out, he left over $250 damage in the flat he had occupied. I gave him an itemized list of the damages and the cost of repairing same.

The tenant had a $200 security deposit and he sued in small claims court for the return of the security deposit. He is asking double damages saying that I did not return his security deposit in the 45 days after his demand. However, he has signed the statement of the condition of his apartment which I delivered to him the day he moved.

Q. I was suing me in small claims court for $400. What should I do?

A. File a motion with small claims court to move your case to district court. This will give you the opportunity to have a transcript of the trial on record.

Under the Security Deposits Act of 1973, the landlord at the termination of the tenancy must complete a termination inventory checklist of all damages claimed. Further the landlord must mail to the tenant within 30 days after termination a list and amount of claimed damages along with a notice in 12 point type that the tenant must raise any objections within seven days after the list of claimed damages.

If you have complied with the Security Deposit Act, then it is quite likely the judge will decide you do not have to return the security deposit. If any return wishes a free copy of "A Guide to the Security Deposit Act of 1973," please mail a self-addressed stamped envelope to Ask the Lawyer, 212 Travelers Tower, Southfield, 48075.

Q. I was driving my car in a recent snowstorm on a main artery. The snow got so heavy that traffic was blocked off of me and behind me. I made a left turn onto a one-way street. However, I was going the wrong way on the one-way street.

A car came from the other direction. Just my luck it was a police car. The officer gave me a ticket. Since this was an emergency and I had no other way to get over the snow, should I have a defense?

Q. What are the benefits of an IRA or Keogh plan?

A. To begin with, contributions are sheltered from taxation. If you contribute $2,000 to an IRA or Keogh plan in 1982 and are in the 26 percent tax bracket, this reduces your income tax from 1982 by 26 percent of $2,000 which is $520.

Equally important, the money you IRA or Keogh plan continues to earn over the years is also sheltered from taxation until you begin drawing on it.

Q. I have a medical question or problem? Write to Woodland Medical Center/Novi, care of Silger-Livingston Publications, Post Office Box 160, Northville, Michigan 48167. Personal replies are not possible.

Woodland Medical Center/Novi stresses that individual treatment begins with a physician's first-hand diagnosis; information in this column is not a substitute for a physician's first-hand diagnosis. Woodland provides the information in this column in conjunction with Silger-Livingston Publications as a public service only; no physician-patient relationship is created.

Q. I am an elderly woman who has severe leg cramps. They seem to come on at night when I am in bed. Frequently, I am awakened by them and have to walk around to get relief. I've tried some medicine to prevent these?

A. A muscle cramp is a sustained and painful contraction of a particular muscle or group of muscles. In leg cramps, the calf or the underside of the foot is the area usually affected. It feels hard to the touch. These cramps are frequent, especially elderly ones, nighttime leg cramps can become a real problem.

It is important to investigate some of the more important causes of such muscle cramping. Probably the most common cause of all is mechanical. There may be subtle irregularity in the structure of the foot or ankle, or one leg might be the tiniest bit longer than the other one, causing abnormal structural stresses when walking, for example.

Other factors to be assessed are neurological problems, which can produce cramping while standing or walking. Fatigue is another cause of cramping. Sometimes nocturnal cramping can be related to aging itself.

Finally, there is the matter of body chemistry. A common example of this as a cause of cramping is the loss of

Novi's Wildcat nine off to shakey start

By JOHN MYERS

It was not a good week for Novi's baseball team last week.

The Wildcats have a streak going, but it's not the kind of streak coach Bob Weinburger would like as the Wildcats dropped five straight decisions and the prospects of snapping the losing skid this week are not good.

Novi dropped an 8-6 decision to Willow Run on Monday, a 7-4 decision to Northville on Tuesday and a 9-2 decision to Oak Park on Thursday before dropping a twinbill to Taylor Kennedy, 8-6 and 9-3, on Saturday.

The Wildcats opened play in the Kensington Valley Conference yesterday (Tuesday) against Howell and travel to South Lyon on Thursday at 4 p.m. for another KVC clash.

"These teams are as tough or tougher than the ones we played last week," Weinburger observed.

One of the problems in the Wildcats' five-game losing streak has been coming up with the key hit with men on base or scoring position.

"We had a lot of men on with two out. It's kind of hard to drive in runs that way," said Weinburger, who believes the hitting is not that bad.

Pitching still is a question mark, according to Weinburger, who noted the team will be working on the mental aspects of the game this week — such as hitting the cutoff man and not taking the called third strike.

Novi was only able to touch Taylor Kennedy pitching for 13 hits — nine in the first game and four in the second. One of those hits was a Steve Kramer two-run homer in the seventh inning of the first game.

Novi pushed across a run in the first inning against Taylor in the first game, added two more in the third and three in the seventh. Tim Bunker lasted four innings in the opener allowing four runs, while Todd Faulkner also allowed four

Warrior hurlers sweep twinbill against Central

Four excellent pitching performances were turned in by Waller Lake Central and Western hurlers when the two teams went head-to-head Saturday, but two were slightly better than the others.

Western's Guy Whittington and Dan Gabriel outdueled the Vikings' Tom Nicklin and Jerry Woelkers as the Warriors grabbed a pair of 6-4 and 4-1 triumphs.

"There was great pitching," Western coach Steve DeMar added.

Both Whittington and Gabriel combined to strike out 21 Viking batters and host non-league opponent North Farmington for an 11 a.m. doubleheader Saturday. Central's overall mark now stands at 2-4.

Whittington flirted with a no-hitter against the Vikings in the opener of the twinbill before Central finally broke through for three hits in the top of the seventh. Also, the junior moundsman whiffed 11 Viking batsmen.

"He pitched extremely well, but he got a little tired in the seventh," DeMar explained. "Defensively, we did a pretty good job."

The Warriors scored three times in both the first and sixth innings. Mitch Panczyk had a RBI single to highlight the opening frame, inspiring wild Oakland Vikings' single in six-sixth highlighted that rally.

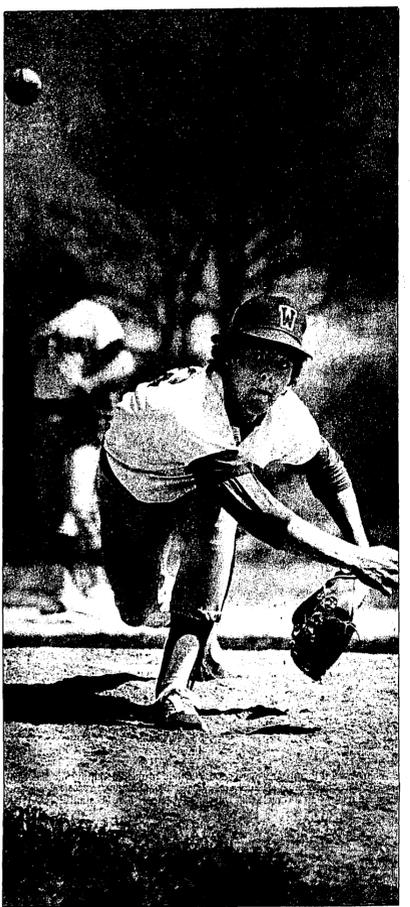

Central played good defense except for those two innings," DeMar noted. Nicklin went the distance in the opener for Central and allowed only three hits.

The Vikings scored single runs in the third and fifth innings and tallied two more in the seventh when Whittington began to tire.

"Dan Gabriel was the show" in the nightcap, according to DeMar. The freshman righthander fanned 10 batters in going the distance. He allowed one run on just two hits.

Shankel's hurling sparks Novi girls

Strong pitching by Cheryl Shankel and lusty hitting by Sue Beckman lifted the Novi softball team to three victories in five outings last week.

In fact, if coach Jim Tinsley had used the strategy he plans to use this week, the Wildcats would probably be sporting a perfect 6-0 record.

Novi split a doubleheader with Livonia Ladywood Saturday, winning the first game 8-1 but losing the nightcap, 7-2. Novi also picked up a 1-0 win over Willow Run on Tuesday and a 1-0 verdict over Clarendonville on Wednesday. The only other loss of the week was to Northville, 5-3, Friday.

The Wildcats opened Kensington Valley Conference play Tuesday against Howell and will host KVC foe South Lyon at 4 p.m. on Thursday.

Because both league contests are doubleheaders, Tinsley plans to throw pitcher Cheryl Shankel in both games. If the Wildcats get big leads in any of the games, Tinsley said he will bring in a new pitcher to let Shankel rest.

The fifth-year mentor believes the Wildcats might still be undefeated if he had used the strategy last week.

Against Ladywood in the nightcap, Tinsley started Leslie Crowell who only went two innings and gave up four runs. He then brought in Shankel who struck out the side in the third and fourth before running into some control problems in the fifth.

Ladywood scored two runs after two were out on two wild pitches and a passed ball. Shankel settled down to get out of the inning with a strikeout and then struckout five of the final six Ladywood batters.

Novi scored one run in the second on a run-batted-in single by Beth Planta and added another run in the third on a RBI single by Vicki Tipping, a foreign exchange student from Australia.

In the loss to Northville, Sue Beckman, who also has been Novi's hottest hitter, went the first four innings giving up a single run in the second and a grand slam in the fifth.

Tinsley again made the call to Shankel, who struckout seven of the final nine batters.

Novi scored a run in the sixth on a RBI single by Beckman and added two more in the seventh as Peggy Wilson and Linda Nagrant collected the RBI's.

If Shankel had started both of games instead of coming in relief, Tinsley believes his team could have won both games.

Even with all of the pitching, Shankel has done, Tinsley believes the senior righthander can handle the large workload.

Shankel could not have started the year any better as she threw a perfect game against Willow Run, which was called after five innings because of the 10-run mercy rule.

The hard-throwing hurler fanned 11 of a possible 15 batters and assisted on the other four outs as Willow Run batters tapped the ball back to the mound.

"She looked pretty good," Tinsley understated. "She went to 3-2 counts only twice. She was just pumping them (pitches) over."

Shankel limited Clarendonville to only two hits in the tight 1-0 triumph. She had a little control problem as she walked four batters, but struckout 12.

Beckman singled home the lone run of the game in the third inning. It was only one of five hits all day.

Q. I am an elderly woman who has severe leg cramps. They seem to come on at night when I am in bed. Frequently, I am awakened by them and have to walk around to get relief. I've tried some medicine to prevent these?

A. A muscle cramp is a sustained and painful contraction of a particular muscle or group of muscles. In leg cramps, the calf or the underside of the foot is the area usually affected. It feels hard to the touch. These cramps are frequent, especially elderly ones, nighttime leg cramps can become a real problem.

It is important to investigate some of the more important causes of such muscle cramping. Probably the most common cause of all is mechanical. There may be subtle irregularity in the structure of the foot or ankle, or one leg might be the tiniest bit longer than the other one, causing abnormal structural stresses when walking, for example.

Other factors to be assessed are neurological problems, which can produce cramping while standing or walking. Fatigue is another cause of cramping. Sometimes nocturnal cramping can be related to aging itself.

Finally, there is the matter of body chemistry. A common example of this as a cause of cramping is the loss of

Western girls swamp Canton in season opener

"Awesome" is about the only word that describes Walled Lake Western's talent-laden girls' track team as the Warriors opened the 1982 season last week with a well-awarded 105-18 triumph over Plymouth Canton.

The Warriors won all 15 events (including all three relays), swept three places in the individual events and took first and second in three more.

But despite the overpowering performance, Sharon Young, coach of the Warriors, thins, "I don't like to beat anybody that badly, but it was the first meet of the season and I didn't know how well we could do or how well Canton would do," offered the Western coach. "Besides, it was only fair that the girls who've won the top spots in practice be allowed to go out and get their points."

In terms of individual performances, there were many of them. The meet's only double winner in the individual events was sophomore sprinter Cherie Welch who won both the 100 and 200 yard dashes.

Actually, Welch was a winner every time she stepped on the track as she won the 100 and 200 yard dashes and also relay teams. But any discussion of relay teams has to involve the VanPutten sisters — Kris and Beth — who ran on all three victorious relay quartets. The VanPutten sisters joined Welch and Sheri Davis to win the 400 relay (54.5); they then joined forces with Lisa Roselle and Fran Cullen to win the 800 relay (1:54.0); and finally got together with Davis and Cullen to win the mile relay (4:38.4).

It was that kind of afternoon. Tracey Hopek got the Warriors off to a good start by leading a 1-2-3 sweep in the high jump. Hopek won it at 5-4, while Heather Gillespie and Kris VanPutten came in second and third.

It was Lisa Roselle who led another sweep in the long jump. Roselle's 16-6 effort led the field, while Nancy Leach and Beth VanPutten garnered second and third place points.

Pearl Maguire and Jodi Yarnack sparked Western in the weight events. Maguire won the discus at 88-5 with Yarnack in third place. Then Yarnack came back to win the shot put at 31-2, with Maguire in third place.

The other Warrior sweeps came in the distance events. Chris Maher won the mile in 5:54.1 with Nancy Giagola and Jennifer Stefanou taking second and third. And Nancy Giagola won the two mile in 13:02.2 with Betsy Giagola and Jennifer Stefanou in second and third.

Young said after the meet that she was pleased with her team's performance despite the lopsided score. "Canton's not a strong team so you can't put too much emphasis on the final score," she offered. "The thing that pleased me was that the girls did well despite the lack of competition."

"Hopek and Roselle were close to their personal bests in the high jump and long jumps even though it was only the first meet of the season. And Cherie Welch did a good job in the sprints as well as both relays."

"I just wish we could run into some harder dual meet competition." The Warriors were slated to travel to Northville yesterday (Tuesday) and will then head for the West Bloomfield Invitational on Saturday.

Novi girls drop two close ones

By JOHN MYERS

What a difference one runner makes, and Novi's girls' track team found out twice last week what it can mean the difference between winning and losing.

The Wildcats lost three dual meets, two by the slimmest of margins, to run their overall mark to 0-4 for the season. Farmington Harrison thumped the Novi thinclads 92-41 Monday, while Willow Run slipped past the Wildcats 33-40 Thursday and Livonia Clarenceville nipped them 65-58 Friday.

Novi began Kensington Valley Conference action Tuesday against Howell and entertains KVC foe South Lyon Thursday at 4 p.m.

It came down to the last event — the mile relay — against Clarenceville with the victor winning the meet. Novi was unable to pull out the victory, but it may have avoided such a fate if two of its better runners were not absent due to previous commitments.

Coach Laurie Stasiak said her two best hurdlers, Amy Traynor and Jenny Christman, were absent, thus forcing her to find anyone who could run the hurdles Friday against Clarenceville.

"That really hurt us because we could have swept both hurdle events," she said.

Beth Tabaka took first in the 100-meter low hurdles with a time of 19.4, while Kathy Mackey was third with a time of 20.9. In the 200-meter low hurdles, Tabaka was second with a 37.4 clocking and Mackey was third.

Stasiak was pleased with how Tabaka and Mackey performed in the hurdles on such short notice.

In the Harrison meet, Traynor was first in the 200 low hurdles (34.3), while Christman was second (35.3). Traynor was second in the 100 low hurdles (17.0) and Christman was third (18.0).

Traynor won both the 200 and 100 hurdles against Willow Run, while Christman was second in both events. Such facts only made Stasiak sure about what would have been against Clarenceville.

Other top Novi finishes in the Clarenceville meet were by shot putter Lynn McLaughlin (23-11), Deanna Huotari in the mile (6:24.7) and two mile (14:03.6) and Mindy Paris in the 400-meter dash (69.3).

"It was a real seesaw meet," Stasiak said. "It was a real competitive meet."

Willow Run was one of the few teams Novi defeated last year, but because of a foreign exchange student, it turned the tables.

"The key was they (Willow Run) picked up a foreign exchange student who runs the mile, two mile and 800 (meter run) and she took all firsts in those events," Stasiak noted.

By doing so, the Willow Run thinclad took 15 points which was the margin of defeat last year to Novi.

Despite the loss, Stasiak was pleased with the spirit and team unity displayed by her squad at the Willow Run meet.

In addition to winning both hurdles events, Traynor also ran on the winning mile relay team with Jenette Lemieux, Krista Borsvold and Parks with a time of 4:38.4.

McLaughlin won the discus with a toss of 89-3, while Christman won the shot put with a toss of 27-7. Against Harrison, Novi could only muster three first-place finishes. Traynor took top honors in both the long jump (13-5/8) and 200 hurdles, while Huotari won the two mile with a time of 13:00.57.

Central's Caryn Lamb broke shotput record

Lamb breaks Viking's shotput record

It was a meet the Walled Lake Central girls' track team should have won, but coach Brian McKenna was not overly disappointed with a 72-51 Inter-Lakes Conference loss to Livonia Stevenson any way.

"Overall, I thought it was a good meet. I thought we had a lot of kids do well, but we were weak in a few areas where we should not have been," McKenna explained.

"The Vikings were strong in the field events, but came up short in some of the running events."

"We're going to do some damage in the field events all year to people," McKenna warned.

And opposing teams better take notice as the Vikings swept both the discus and shot put, took first and third in the high jump and second in the long jump.

Caryn Lamb set a school record in the shot put with a winning toss of 33-11, which broke her previous record of 32-11. Sandy Kaufman was second with a toss of 32-3 and Shana Anderson took third with a throw of 30-10 1/2.

In fact, the Vikings took five of the top six spots in the shot put. Helen Detrich was fifth with a toss of 28-10 and Patty Fitzgerald was sixth at 27-1.

In the discus, Karen Frey was first with a throw of 96-1, while Kaufman was second at 94-2. Detrich was third at 89-6.

"We had six people over 75 feet in the discus," noted McKenna, again showing the strength of Central in these two events.

Stout performer Kathi Harris was second in the long jump with a leap of 16-3/4, while Andrea Moenahan was first in the high jump at 4-11 and Fitzgerald was second at 4-5.

However, things did not go as well for Central in the running events as it took only two first-place finishes by, who else, Harris.

She took top honors in the 400-meter run with a time of 60.29 and was first in the 800-meter run with a 2:28.4 clocking.

Novi's thinclads still impressive

By JOHN MYERS

Thus far, the season is turning out a better than Novi boys' track coach Bob Smith had anticipated.

"We're doing a little better than I thought. We're doing rather well," Smith observed after his Wildcats had won two of three dual meets last week to raise their overall record to 3-1 as they begin Kensington Valley Conference action.

Both Farmington Harrison and Livonia Clarenceville fell to the youthful Novi squad, while Willow Run is the only team currently to hold the distinction of beating the Wildcats.

KVC foe Howell was Novi's first league opponent Tuesday. The Wildcats host South Lyon at 4 p.m. Thursday.

"It's going to be interesting," Smith said. "Howell and South Lyon were two of the weaker teams in the league last year, but we can't discount them."

Smith would like to win one of two meets this week before his squads goes up against such KVC powers as Brighton, Milan and Livonia.

The Wildcats topped Clarenceville, 78-63, Friday for their second win of the week.

Carmy Stahr was the team's only double winner as he took the shot put with a throw of 37-6 and the discus with a toss of 104-10.

Other firsts in the meet were taken by Dave Whitehead in the long jump (18-8 1/2), John Kim in the 110-meter high hurdles (18.4), Jim Kohli in the mile (5:02.7), Paul Boyd in the 400-meter dash (53.9), John Whitney in the 300-meter low hurdles (44.39), Perry in the (35-7/8) and discus (97-8). Smith the pole vault (10-0), Lonergan the high jump (5-4) and Serra the long jump (18-5/8).

Kohli was a double winner by taking the mile (5:02.3) and the 800 run (2:16). Other individual firsts were taken by Paul Boyd in the 400 dash (56.7) and Mark Olson in the two mile (11:27.1).

The 400 relay team of Serra, Whitehead, Greg Prost and Craig Cleary; the 800 relay team of Serra, Whitehead, Williams and Paul Boyd; and the mile relay team of Matt Hammond, Kohli, Williams and Paul Boyd also took firsts.

big victors against Novi last season. The Wildcats took first in all field events with Stahr winning the shot put two mile (11:11.0) and the 800-meter relay team of Mike Serra, Dave Williams, Whitehead and Boyd (1:39.2). The difference in the 78-63 loss to Willow Run was sprinters and relay teams. (Willow Run) had remarkable sprinters and relay teams. They really went far with them," Smith noted.

The Wildcats led after the field events thanks to top performances by Stahr in the shot put (37-6 1/4) and discus (104-9), Chris Lonergan in the high jump (5-10) and Eric Smith in the pole vault (10-6). Bruce Boyd also helped in the field events by taking second in the shot (36-6) and third in the discus (91-1).

However, victories were few and far between in the running events. Kohli was a double winner, however, as he took the mile (5:02.04) and the 800 run (2:16.0). In the mile, Kohli was pushed by teammate Bob Peery, who was second just tenths of a second behind.

The only other first was scored by Paul Boyd in the 400 dash with a time of 51.95.

The Wildcats reversed the score against Harrison, as the Hawks were

Graves' no-hitter leads Warriors past Lakeland

So much for the preliminaries. Walled Lake Western's softball team opened the season last week by splitting a pair of non-conference decisions — clubbing Lakeland 10-0 on Tuesday before dropping a 7-3 decision to West Bloomfield on Thursday.

But Tom Szocinski, coach of the Warrior squad, is considerably more concerned about this week's activities, particularly Monday's contest against Canton and Wednesday's clash with Northville.

"I still think it's going to be between us and Canton for the Western Six championship," said the Warrior mentor. "We're 1-1 on the season but we're 0-0 in the Western Six and I'd like nothing better than to see us get off to a 2-0 start in the conference."

Senior hurler Tammy Graves was the star of the Warriors' 10-0 victory over Lakeland in the season opener as she recorded the first no-hitter of her career while striking out four and yielding just one walk.

"Tammy did an outstanding job," said Szocinski in something of an understatement. "She just keeps getting better and better every time she up the mound."

The Warriors backed up Graves' hurling gem by collecting six hits. Graves had two of those hits all by herself, while Peggy Hathaway also clipped in with a pair of hits. Kelly Hunter and Renee Kane each ripped a double to account for the rest of the Warrior hits.

Kane doubled home a run in the first as the Warriors jumped off to a 2-0 lead, and Hathaway added a four-bagger in the second as the Warriors extended their lead to 5-0, and the Warriors upped their lead to 6-0 in the third as Graves singled home

Community ed classes offer travel opportunities

Spring is here and it's not too early to start making plans for that summer vacation.

So, the Novi Community Education Department is helping out by offering a special five-week course entitled "Travel with Kim" which will provide insights into such popular vacation spots as Toronto, Walt Disney World, Las Vegas, Hawaii and cruise lines.

It's just one of the new courses offered by the department in its new spring/summer brochure of classes. Brochures have been mailed to all residents in the Novi School District, and the deadline for registration is this Thursday. Individuals may register by mail, at any Novi area school or at community education offices in the School Administration Building at 25375 Taft Road.

Community ed offices will be open for registrations tonight (Wednesday) and tomorrow from 2-6 p.m.

Only checks or money orders will be accepted after 5 p.m. during registration. Call 349-1200 for more information on the spring classes and registration procedures.

Additional information about the Novi Community Education Department's spring classes should be addressed to Porter at 348-1200.

Young Novi netters gain experience

Dave Haywood wasn't expecting miracles. And he didn't get them either as his young Novi tennis squad dropped decisions to Howell, Walled Lake Western and Northville before salvaging the week with a victory against Clarenceville on Friday.

But the 1-3 start just wasn't all that upsetting for the veteran Novi net mentor, not when you consider that seven of his top 10 players are only sophomores.

"All four of our singles players were over .500 for the week and I thought I saw steady improvement in our sophomore doubles teams," commented Haywood. "You have to remember that 70 percent of our team is only sophomores, so on the whole I was pleased with our first week's performance."

In the only Kensington Valley Conference (KVC) match of the week, the Wildcats dropped a narrow 4-3 decision to Howell. Greg McComas won 6-3, 7-5 at first singles, Mike Fritz netted a 6-4, 6-3 victory at second singles and Rusty Benoit won 6-1, 6-3 at third singles.

But Howell won the rest of the matches to take a 4-3 victory, even though Eric Henderson pushed his opponent to three sets before succumbing at fourth singles.

Ironically, Henderson registered the lone Novi victory against Walled Lake Western on Wednesday as the Wildcats fell 6-1. Henderson topped his fourth singles' opponent 6-7, 6-3.

Novi fared only slightly better in a 5-2 loss to Northville on Thursday. This time the victories came at first and second singles as McComas prevailed 6-1, 6-4 at first singles and Fritz won 4-6, 6-2, 7-5 at second singles.

After three straight setbacks, the Wildcats finally registered their first victory of the season on Friday by dumping Clarenceville 6-1.

McComas lost in straight sets at first singles, but everyone else came through with victories.

Fritz won 8-6, 6-2 at second singles, Benoit prevailed 6-0, 6-2 at third singles and Henderson won with a pair of 6-1 victories at fourth singles.

The first doubles team of Tim Haynes and Wayne Beyea won 6-2, 6-6, 6-3; Chris Viers and Hasnain Punja took a 6-0, 6-1 victory at second doubles; and Doug Palmer and Mike Brewster won 6-0, 6-1 at third doubles.

"Basically it was a pretty good week considering we lost three of four matches," offered Haywood. "All our singles players are over .500 and our young doubles teams showed that they are adjusting to varsity competition and learning to play together."

Whittington and registered the win. Western used some late inning explosives to beat Lakeland, 11-5. The Warriors scored four times in the sixth and six more in the seventh to seal the triumph.

Watkins belted a homer in the sixth, while Johnson had a run-scoring sacrifice fly. Gabriel aided his own cause with a two-run single with two out in the four-run inning.

Johnson, who came off the bench in the Lakeland contest, blasted a three-run triple in the seventh to guide the Warriors to victory.

Central split a doubleheader with Lakeland Monday, losing the opener 3-1, but winning the nightcap 7-4. Mark Landry was the winning pitcher for Central in the second contest, while Eric Endis Aubert took the loss in the opener.

The only other win of the week for Central came against Bloomfield Hills

Adolescence to be subject of meeting

Have you wondered why your 12-year-old has become so moody lately? Why is it that in fifth grade children already are insisting that they have decision makers?

How come your sixth grade daughter seems to be always competing with her mother?

Dr. J. Harold Ellens, a Farmington psychologist and Presbyterian minister, will speak on the topic "Understanding Your Children's Changes in Puberty and Adolescence" at the Faith Community United Presbyterian Church in Novi on Tuesday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Infant restraint law is topic of course

The leading cause of death of children ages 1 to 15 is not cancer, Reyes Syndrome or any other disease. It is the automobile accident that claims most lives in this age group, according to Pam Ashworth, Registered Nurse and community health education coordinator at Providence Hospital in Southfield.

A state law effective April 1 was designed to lower those statistics by requiring use of approved restraints for infants under one year of age and toddlers up to four years.

Ashworth has scheduled a class called "Don't Risk Your Child's Life" at Providence's Ambulatory Care Center in Novi to inform parents and others who transport children in motor vehicles about the new law.

She will show a film which details the use and misuse of restraint systems.

The film also gives safety tips for car travel and shows what can happen to unrestrained children during a crash. Brochures and other literature will be distributed.

The class is scheduled for Wednesday, May 12, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the community education classroom of Providence Hospital's Novi Ambulatory Care Center at Ten Mile and Haggerty Road.

There is no charge, but enrollment is limited. Call 424-3088 for information and registration.

"As a nurse, I have seen the tragic consequences to children in car accidents — the needless deaths, the injuries, epilepsies, paralysis, crippling — most of it preventable," Ashworth said. "This new law will help, but only if we adults recognize our responsibilities and protect our precious cargo."

Parson to Person...

Fellowship
Dr. James H. Luther

With the approach of summer, many thoughts in our church turn to increased Christian fellowship. Some have defined fellowship as "two fellows in the same ship". However we define it, we need it.

We need fellowship in prayer. Jesus spoke of the great value of two or three being gathered in prayer. Heaven is moved when believers agree in prayer.

We need fellowship in worship. Scripture commands us not to forsake gathering together for worship (Heb. 10:25). The need for church fellowship increases as the day of Christ's return draws nearer.

True fellowship will encourage others and develop real love. The strength, support and sheer enjoyment received in spiritual fellowship will give us what is necessary to face the daily grind and occasional crises that is part of life.

Are you seeking new fellowship? Are you expanding existing fellowship or walking in an unbroken circle of old friends? It may mean introducing yourself to those you do not know. It may mean bearing the burdens of new friends. It may mean effort. It will be worth it.

Church Women United plan fellowship service

Church Women United in Novi and Northville will celebrate May Fellowship Day at the Holy Cross Episcopal Church in Novi on Friday, May 7, at 10 a.m.

Holy Cross Episcopal is located at 46200 Ten Mile, west of Taft Road.

Guest speaker Sister Rochelle Harper, pastoral minister of Our Lady of Mercy High School in Farmington, will discuss "The Power of Words." Soloist for the day will be Mabel Arvo, 1981 Mrs. Michigan.

A potluck salad luncheon will follow the service. Participants are asked to bring their own table settings. Babysitting services will be provided.

May Fellowship Day, first observed in 1933, is the occasion when Church Women United reflects upon, celebrates and commits itself to the work of Christian ecumenism, reconciliation and peace in the local community.

This year's theme, "The Power of Words," invites the community to recognize the potential of words to be both helpful and harmful and to resolve to use words to bring understanding and unity.

The text was written by Church Women United from the states of Oregon and Washington, convened by Sue Gordon, president of the State Unit of Church Women United in Oregon, and Dorothy Kuntz, president of the State Unit of Church Women United in Washington.

As part of May Fellowship Day, 1,920 local units of Church Women United will seek practical and flexible ways to carry out programs of pressing need in the local community.

Local churches involved in the May Fellowship Day celebration include Church of the Holy Family in Novi, First United Methodist Church of Northville, Novi United Methodist Church, Church of the Holy Cross in Novi, Faith Community United Presbyterian Church in Novi, Our Lady of Victory in Northville, First Presbyterian Church of Northville and St. Williams Catholic Church in Walled Lake.

CARE & HANDLING

Shop for berries with a natural shine, bright green, fresh looking caps, and rich red color. Strawberries do not ripen after being picked.

Never wash strawberries or remove caps until just before using. Washing removes the natural protective outer layer. The caps protect the strawberries and help preserve flavor, texture and nutrients.

Use strawberries as soon after purchase as possible to insure the most delectable flavor and appearance and highest nutritional value. Strawberries are high in Vitamin C and iron. Only 60 calories in one cup too!
