Voters speak: it's Mayor Clark

 PARKS leader Chuck Tindall is congratulated Tuesday by a supporter on the success of the charter amendment.

City charter change first since 1970s

By B.J. HAMMERSTEIN
 Staff Writer
 With a 5,271 vote in approval to a 1,831 vote against the Novi City Charter amendment, voters have loudly and clearly voiced their opinion that they do not want a golf course on the 500-acre North Novi Park.
 "It's the same thing we said all along," said Chuck Tindall, a leader of People About Reserving Kids Space.

Road bond fails; now on city council are Bononi, DeRoche and Csordas

 With a backing from 66 percent of the voters, Richard Clark has been voted in as Novi's new mayor, along with two new Novi City Council members, Michelle Bononi and Lou Csordas.
 Only one council incumbent, Craig DeRoche, held onto his job after Tuesday's election.
 While 73 percent of the voters threw their weight behind a citizen-initiated city charter amendment, a $28 million road bond proposal was nixed by 53 percent of the voting taxpayers.

Clark said he was very happy he won, but he's looking forward to a day of rest, after a vigorous campaign.
 "I think we have got a lot of work cut out for us," he said late Tuesday night.
 "I'm going to ask the community for their support, ideas, suggestions and above all their patience. We have a lot of issues we need to deal with and they can't all be solved overnight."
 Clark won the election for Novi mayor with 4,825 votes to his challenger Michael Meyer's 2,155 votes. Council Members Kathleen Mutch and Robert

Investigation focuses on sewage dump

By JEREMY MCBAIN and B.J. HAMMERSTEIN

 Novi officials have suspended the sewer and water superintendent indefinitely without pay, after discovering sewage was dumped on municipal property by city employees.
 "We have to investigate further. We've done enough to where we are pretty upset with this event happening," said City Manager Ed Kriewall.
 Director of Public Services Anthony Nowicki verified Tuesday that on at least one occasion, grease taken from city sewers by a city truck was dumped behind a salt shed at the Department of Public Works yard, near the intersection of Eleven Mile and Delwal roads.
 "From my discussions with various individuals in the Sewer and Water Department, it was confirmed..." he said. Nowicki said the practice was contrary to city policies.
 An independent laboratory study commissioned by The Novi News last week found that a water sample taken at the site contained E. coli bacteria at a volume 860 times over the state's maximum contaminant level.
 Sewer and Water Superintendent Bruce Jerome was suspended indefinitely without pay at 5 p.m. Tuesday.
 "He is the only one who was suspended. He is responsible for the training and guidance of his employees," Kriewall said.
 Kriewall said city employees dumped the sewage behind the salt shed on Oct. 27 and 28.
 Jerome said Tuesday morning he was unaware of the dumping and he was conducting an internal investigation.
 However, Kriewall said Jerome was informed by his employees of the incident the day after the grease was dumped at the DFW yard.
 The Michigan Department of Environmental Quality is also investigating the incident.
 Both The Novi News and the MDEQ started looking into the matter after each received a tip that Novi Sewer and Water Department employees had dumped raw sewage at the DFW yard.
 Upon referral from the Oakland County Health Department, The

Sandstone sparring with Vistas residents

By JEREMY MCBAIN
 Staff Writer
 Sandstone Associates is embroiled in another legal battle over its Vistas development, but this time the development company is facing off against its own customers.
 Several people who have bought homes in The Vistas development north of Twelve Mile Road are fighting the company over an estimated $750,000 special assessment district refund from the City of Novi.
 "Sandstone has been trying to get it and the property owners believe they are entitled to it," said Tom Ryan, an attorney for many of the property owners.
 "Somebody is going to have to decide it."
 Residents in about 150 homes in The Vistas development are wrangling with Sandstone for this rebate. If the residents are awarded the money, they could get about $4,600 per house.
 If Sandstone wins, the development company would be issued the entire $750,000.
 According to City Attorney Dennis Watson, the dispute arises over left-over funds from a special assessment imposed on the development when The Vistas was being built.
 The special assessment paid for construction of a road traveling through the development — Decker Road — as well as sanitary sewer systems and a water main.
 Watson said once everything was built, the city discovered it had $750,000 of the special assessment money that was not needed for the project.
 "Now the question is, should the money be refunded to the property-owners or Sandstone," Watson said.
 To resolve this, the city has requested help from the Michigan Tax Tribunal.
 The tribunal dismissed this matter at first, on the ground that it did not have jurisdiction, Watson said. However, recently Watson filed another request contending that the tribunal does have jurisdiction over this case.
 Watson said he is just waiting to hear back from the tribunal before proceeding.
 Ryan said residents believe they are entitled to the refund by city ordinance.
 According to Watson, the city ordinance states any refund from a special assessment will be credited to the owners of the property assessed.
 The owners of the property are

Husky center's a high-tech coup for Novi planners

By B.J. HAMMERSTEIN
 Staff Writer
 The ribbon has been cut and Husky Injection Molding Systems Inc. has officially opened its 100,000 square foot Detroit Technical Center here in Novi.
 Centered around the world's largest dual-plate injection molding machine, which has an 8,800-ton clamp force, Husky, DaimlerChrysler and Decoma International Inc. are all working towards revolutionizing the automotive industry and changing the face of Novi.
 "This is significant because we are showing the state, county and the road commission that we are able to get a job done quickly in Novi," said Novi Economic Development Coordinator Greg Capote.
 "This is the kind of low-impact, high-tax base business the OST District is going to attract. It will offer Novi and the community great jobs and great synergy."

A NEW GOLD STANDARD?
There is a legitimate claim being made that wearing a gold ring helps relieve arthritis. Dr. David Situmayake of the Birmingham City Hospital in England surveyed the hands of 35 British patients with rheumatoid arthritis over two years. He found that the 30 patients who were wearing gold wedding bands had significantly less arthritic involvement in the adjacent joints of the ring fingers of their left hand than they did in the same joints of their right hands. The 25 patients who did not wear gold rings had equally arthritic joints in the fingers of both hands. Whether there is any substance to this healthful benefit to wearing gold rings or not, it certainly cannot hurt.

Gold does come in several shades and purities. At WEINSTEIN JEWELERS OF NOVI you can rely on our professionals for their expert advice, as well as our great selection of gold jewelry. We have one of the largest arrays in the area to meet and fill everyone's needs. Come see us soon at 41990 Grand River Ave. (248-347-0363). Count on us also for repairs of all kinds, including rush and emergency repairs. We are now licensed by the city of Novi to offer loans on jewelry.

Dr. Situmayake also reported that among ring wearers, even the fingers not on the left ring finger showed some benefit, while the joints of the remaining fingers were not spared from arthritic involvement.

Gone, but not forgotten

As their remains are finally identified, Vietnam veterans are added to memorial

By B.J. HAMMERSTEIN Staff Writer

Robert Dale Anderson, Air Force. Robert Curtis Borton, Jr., Marine Corps.

James Devrin Carter, Army. James L. Huard, Air Force. John Andrew Jakovac, Army. Lewis Merritt Robinson, Air Force.

Jynn Ross Jr., Army. David Raymond Wagener, Air Force.

These Michigan men never made it back alive from Vietnam, but in recent years their remains have been identified and sent home.

Last weekend in Novi, their lives and deaths were recognized with a 21-gun salute and Taps.

The commemorative ceremony, Michigan Remembers, was held Oct. 30 at the Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens on Twelve Mile Road.

Mary Eddy, President of the POW Committee of Michigan, said the remains were identified by a complex technique of mitochondrial DNA testing.

The men had been listed as either missing in action or as a prisoner of war.

There are 84 men from Michigan who were or are still remaining POWs or MIAs, Eddy said.

"The memorial is designed to be a symbol of hope for loved ones and family members here in Michigan."

She added that the identification process involved extracting material from bones or teeth and matching the material with a maternal relative in order to properly match names to the remains.

The hour-long service drew more than 250 servicemen, family and community members as background, family and incident information was told about each of the eight individuals.

The ceremony included a Color Guard presentation and the release of eight white doves symbolizing the eight men honored.

The memorial plaque, near the cemetery's Oak Chapel Mausoleum, lists the 84 MIAs and POWs from Michigan, their hometowns, names, branch of service, birth dates and incident dates. As each is sent back to the state, the return date is added to the memorial.

"It was very special day and a beautiful and moving ceremony," Eddy said.

"This is the kind of thing the POW Committee and MIA-POW families work for — closure."

Dan Confer, manager of the Oakland Hills Memorial Gardens, said the ceremony was impressive and the cemetery will continue to hold services to pay tribute to Michigan heroes.

"The ceremony was very moving as it gave closure to the immediate families," Confer said.

"The end was very somber, as it felt as if there was a blanket of unity with all of the attendees of the ceremony."

Confer said these kind of programs help rekindle interest in veteran's programs, after there has been a decline over the last few years.

Confer added that out of the 84 names on the memorial, 65 men are still unaccounted for.

"As a cemetery, we are very supportive of programs helping commemorate and remembering these people," he said.

"We will be having a special Veteran's Day ceremony here and we want to help keep the memories in this particular area in the forefront and keep the spirit alive."

Costumed trick-or-treaters swarm the hallways of Novi's Whitehall Convalescent Center last Wednesday. Residents passed out candy to the children and shared fond memories and stories of Halloween past.

Trick-or-treaters help elderly residents celebrate Halloween

By B.J. HAMMERSTEIN Staff Writer

Pokemons, hippies, Men in Black and more than 25 other children dressed up and participated in Halloween trick-or-treat festivities at the Whitehall Convalescent Home.

Activities director Christine Valley along with her sister Mary Vanzandt, a fifth-grade teacher at St. Fabian's in Farmington Hills, decided to organize the trick-or-treat event after residents at the Whitehall Convalescent Home told Valley they missed Halloween and passing out candy to children.

"The residents approached me and told me this is something they missed and wanted to do," Valley said.

"Many of the people here haven't passed out candy during Halloween for a couple of years — it looks like everyone is having a great time."

With Whitehall Home decorated from ceiling to floor with Halloween goodies, about 70 residents lined up last week outside of their rooms as trick-or-treaters had their bags filled with tasty surprises.

Resident Anna Zink said she hadn't celebrated Halloween since she was a teenager.

"It was a little different back when I was growing up," Zink said.

"When we were children, if we didn't get anything from somebody we would mark up people's windows by putting soap on it."

"We have been preparing for the kids to come here for awhile. All of our children are all grown up — so it is real nice for these kids to come here and celebrate Halloween with us."

Whitehall Administrator Melv Parks said this is the first Halloween being celebrated in the home, but plans are being made to have more activities like this for the residents.

The residents approached

Boxer stolen while owner dining

Somewhere in the town an unknown vehicle around 1:30 a.m. Oct. 26 in the parking lot of Mr. H. of Walled Lake at 1100 East Lake. The owner of the dog, said he stopped at the restaurant for dinner and left his dog in the car with the window cracked. When he returned to his car, his dog was gone. His dog was a 5-year-old tan boxer named Bruta. Bruta was wearing a brown collar at the time of her abduction.

EGGED
A 17-year-old Novi girl was arrested around 2 a.m. Oct. 31 for egging the home of a neighbor. An officer on patrol was directed down by a man claiming his house had been egged. The man said he had witnesses who saw the girl throwing the eggs.

The officer noted a broken egg on the front window of the victim's home. While interviewing the man, the officer saw the girl walking across the road. The officer stopped the girl and asked her why she egged the man's home.

The girl said she egged his home because the man had stolen her friend's jewelry and had her arrested from the subdivision. The man said he desired prosecution and the girl was transported to the Novi Police Department.

BREAK-IN
A Novi man returned home around 5:30 p.m. Oct. 30 on the 4300 block of Fondra to find someone had broken in and taken some jewelry from his bedroom. The man said he left the home around 11 a.m. that day and when he returned he noticed his garage door was open. He said he had closed it before he left. When he discovered someone had gone through it and taken two boxes of jewelry from his bedroom. The jewelry is valued around $2,000. The car window of the man's home had also been smashed.

Police News

PARTY CRASHER
A 15-year-old Novi boy, a 16-year-old Novi girl and a 15-year-old Novi girl were arrested around 10:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at a house party on the 2100 block of Portsmouth. Officers were dispatched to the residence to investigate reports of a party.

When they arrived, one of the officers walked through the open garage and knocked on the back door leading to the home's kitchen. A lot in the kitchen was searched and he did not know where the resident of the home was.

The officer noted two large bottles of alcohol were sitting on a counter in the kitchen. Officers searched the home, but could not find the resident. They did find two young girls upstairs in a bedroom.

The officers ordered the girls out of the bedroom and into the kitchen with the rest of the people in the home. While interviewing the group, the officers learned that the resident of the home ran out the back door when he saw the officers arrive.

Portable breath tests were given to the people in the home and those that tested positive for alcohol were transported to the Novi Police Department.

BUSTED II
A 16-year-old Novi boy was arrested around 8:30 p.m. Oct. 29 at the Novi High School football game for being in possession of alcohol.

Officers on patrol at the football game smelled an odor of intoxicants on the boy's breaths. The boys were given portable breath tests that indicated they had been drinking.

They were all transported to the Novi Police Department. POT BUST
A 20-year-old Westland man was arrested around 9 p.m. Oct. 27 near the intersection of I-96 and Novi Road for possession of marijuana.

An officer on patrol noticed the Westland man's vehicle traveling down the road without a license plate light and a busted brake light. The officer conducted a traffic stop on contact with the man, the officer noticed the man's eyes were bloodshot and glassy.

The officer asked to search the man's car and the man gave him permission. The officer also asked the man if he had smoked marijuana. The man said no.

The officer then asked the man if he had any marijuana on him. The man said, "I won't lie to you, I have a little." The man pulled a cigarette box out of his right front shirt pocket containing a baggy with a small amount of marijuana inside.

Citizens with information about the above incidents are urged to call the Novi Police Department at 348-7100.

Novi Briefs

The Novi News is in the mail
Beginning with the Nov. 18 edition, The Novi News will be mailed to subscribers, rather than brought by paper carriers.

The newspaper will be delivered by the U.S. Postal Service, along with the rest of the customer's mail, as part of a HomeTown Newspapers drive to improve the overall effectiveness and timeliness of home delivery.

Yearly subscription rates will not be impacted by this change.

Studies add up
Walsh College students ranked sixth in the nation among all first-time undergraduate Certified Public Accounting exam candidates who took the test in November 1998.

The results were recently reported by the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy. The association also noted that Walsh students achieved the second highest passing rate in the nation in a section of the four-part test that covers taxation, governmental accounting and cost/managerial accounting.

One year earlier, Walsh students had ranked third nationwide in this category. "Our accounting students continue to have a remarkable success rate on the exam," said Robert Yerkey, chair of the college's accounting department.

"They compete exceptionally well against students from major colleges and universities throughout the country." The schools who ranked ahead of Walsh are all out-state universities. Headquartered in Troy, Walsh has a Novi campus.

Wildcats now consulting
A group of 11th and 12th grade students at Novi High School have formed a consulting group (part of the Making Connections program between schools and businesses) allowing Novi Chamber of Commerce member businesses a chance to receive a free analysis of business problems and challenges during the past year.

By checking the mail for correspondence from Wildcat Consulting House, member businesses can fax back the form allowing the students a chance to consult on projects. Last year, 30 chamber members responded to the students' request for projects.

By responding to Wildcat Consulting House, businesses will gain the insight, creativity and talents of Novi High School students and the students will gain experience with team work and the understanding of business functions.

On camera, the schools

Each month Novi Community School District Cable Channel 10 will show "Kaleidoscope," a program about people, places and events of the district. Each show will highlight a day in the life of a school or department.

November's "Kaleidoscope" will feature Novi Community Education.

Interested in hosting au pair

Homes are needed for international au pairs

This year more American families than ever before will help make the world a little smaller. By choosing to host an au pair exchange visitor, your family can give a young person from overseas a once-in-a-lifetime experience, while gaining culturally enriching care for your child.

European au pairs are carefully screened young adults 18 to 26 years old, seeking the chance to live with an American family and help care for the children in your home. The children learn more about our culture and language.

Au pairs speak English, are healthy, well-educated and are willing to make a year's commitment to live as a member of a family.

FREE "LIVING TRUST" SEMINAR

"What You Ought to Know About Living Trusts"
(What you don't know could cost your family thousands of dollars!)

If you own a home... or you have assets worth at least $100,000... you owe it to yourself—and your family—to get the facts on living trusts. If you think you're protected with a simple Will... think again... A Will guarantees that your estate will go through probate, which means that your family may not be able to take possession of your estate for many months, or even years.

Plus, if your estate is over $650,000, your family may owe estate taxes, which could amount to 37-55%.

This means that your family may have to sell some assets just to pay the estate taxes! A living trust avoids all this by avoiding probate and minimizing estate taxes. Plus, a living trust will protect your estate if you become incapacitated during your lifetime by avoiding a conservatorship. This means your estate will be managed as you see fit, not as a court-appointed guardian sees fit.

To find out more about the benefits of living trusts, attend one of these free seminars...

John Kohl (Tony) and Maureen Sebastian (Alice Sycamore) have the two main romantic leads in "You Can't Take It With You".

The curtain will rise tonight as the Novi High School Drama Club performs their rendition of Hart and Kaufman's play, "You Can't Take It With You."

Directed by Heather McKaig, Novi High drama and science-fiction literature teacher, the three-act play will be performed in the Fuerst Auditorium tonight, Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

"In general, the play is about a very wacky family named the Sycamores," McKaig said.

"None of the family members work outside their home and they all have very eccentric hobbies."

Freshman Matt Britten, who plays Grandpa on Friday night, said his experience with the play and meeting new friends has been lots of fun.

"They give us the stage and we make the art," Britten said.

"It is my first year here and I have already been accepted into the great drama program at Novi High School."

Junior Maureen Sebastian, who plays Alice Sycamore, falls in love with Senior John Kohl, who portrays Tony Kirby.

Complications arise when Tony's very wealthy and upper-class family comes to dinner at the wacky Sycamore household.

"The basic theme of the play is the title, 'You Can't Take It With You,'" McKaig said.

"It is about life experiences — not money or status, but what you do while you are here."

In an attempt to spark interest in drama and performance, McKaig said she double-casted some of the parts, allowing different people to play different characters.

"The play's line-up will be the same for tonight's and Saturday's performances, but on Friday some of the characters will be played by different people."

"This play is so good, you would have thought that (former director) Paula Joyner-Cinard directed it," Kohl said.

"I have been connected with drama all four of my years here. The show will be great if we can remember all of our lines."

Stapleton said the two-and-a-half hour show is going to be a fun time for the audience as this year's performance highlights the Novi High School actors' comedic talents.

"There isn't much drama at all — it's an all-out comedy," Stapleton said.

"There are lots of different side plots — but it is mainly a love story between Alice and Tony and the two different families."

McKaig said the cast auditioned for roles in the play during the second and third weeks of school and have since been practicing every day after school.

The cast and crew worked together in constructing the set and learning their lines, while becoming a tight-knit grip of friends.

In his first high school production, besides the performers who will read the boards this weekend, a crew of 13 people, anchored by student director Jessica Cole, a junior, worked hard at constructing the performance.

Taking on tasks of lighting, programs, props, costumes and sound, Cole said there is awesome power that comes with helping in the production of a play.

"It has been a lot of hard work but it has also been real fun," she said.

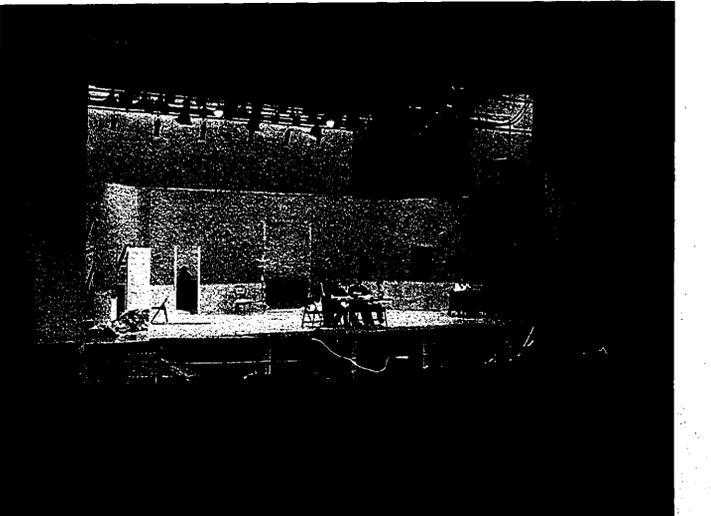

Tickets for "You Can't Take It With You" will be on sale this weekend during the high school lunch period. Adult tickets are $4 and for children and senior citizens tickets will be $3. Tickets will also be sold at the door and will be $5 for adults and $3 for children and senior citizens.

best use for the land. "Personally, I believe we should preserve as much as possible of the nature park. The city should make the park more accessible by adding signs, walk lighting, people know where it is. Stop trying to hide it." People against the charter amendment said the one of the reasons PARKS was formed was because the north end residents had a case of the NIMBYs over the golf course.

But Deborah Southwick, who lives in the Curvius Hill subdivision in the south of the city, said the charter amendment was much more than a north Nov. agenda. "This is a prime example of grassroots democracy," Southwick said. "You can fight city hall and victory was a wonderful piece of property. This was much more than a north end issue." "I want the city to put in picnic shelters, open up the park and improve access for the residents of Nov. Let's have people come out and see what they have."

Local Color brew wins gold medal at beer bash

Not only does it taste good, but it wins awards too. Local Color Brewing Company was awarded the gold medal for its Smooth Talking Pilsner at the 1999 Great American Beer Festival in Denver, the nation's largest beer festival and professional judging forum.

Local Color, in its second year of operation, has captured consecutive medals in this event. "We're honored by this award that recognizes the superior taste and quality of our beer," said Peter Paisley, president of Local Color. "It reinforces what our sales have indicated — Smooth Talking is a great and truly drinkable beer." Among 38 competitors in the German-Style Pilsner category, Smooth Talking brewed at the Nov. microbrewery, was honored as the best tasting and most accurately representative of the style category. Nearly 2,000 American-brewed beers competed for honors awarded to brewers in 54 different categories at this year's competition.

New council to be sworn-in on Monday

 The new mayor and council will be sworn in Monday at 7 p.m. by Judge Brian MacKenzie.

"I believe this is the first time we have had a bond issue not pass. It would appear some of the issues in the community are effecting the road bond issue."

Ed Kriewall, Nov. City Manager

Meyer is one of the most honorable men I have had the privilege to call a friend," he said.

Meyer, who said he was disappointed he won't be mayor, added that the people will benefit with their choice of Clark.

"Clark is thoughtful, logical and assertive when necessary," Meyer said.

"I will continue to be committed to the city while working on the Zoning Board of Appeals and the hospital board."

Meyer added the campaigning process was a bit tiring, but the past six months have been an extremely positive experience in his life.

"I want to thank Mr. Clark for the way in which he followed through with a gentleman's agreement in taking the high road during the campaign — the city definitely wins," he said.

"This is a night to celebrate. The people have had their voice heard."

The total votes for each of the council candidates were: Bononi, 3,507 votes; DeRoche, 3,716 votes; Cordas, 2,610 votes; Brooks Decker, 2,367 votes; Kathleen Mutch, 2,232 votes; Robert Schmidt, 2,063 votes and Steven Reed, 1,902.

According to Nov. City Clerk Tommi Bartholomew, 7,261 voters turned out for the election. This is about 23 percent of the registered voters in Nov. and far less than the 50 percent originally predicted by the clerk in what seemed to be a really hot local race.

"It's right in the norm. I expected it to be higher, but the rain and snow definitely kept voters out," Bartholomew said.

The top vote-getter in the council race, Bononi said she was very glad she won and is looking forward to going to her first council meeting, getting her assignments and working hard.

"I worked very hard. I walked door-to-door. I didn't expect to come out as number one, but I'm glad I did," she said. "I would like to thank each and every voter for their support."

Newly elected City Council Member Lou Cordas said the campaign trail was longer and more tiring than he expected, but the results were definitely worth it.

"I began with very little name recognition and now I am here," Cordas said.

"I feel very good."

Cordas added it was unfortunate the road bond wasn't approved, as it may cost the city more money in the future.

"To keep Nov.'s status as a premier city we need to ensure road improvements keep up with the balanced growth of the city in compliance with the master plan," Cordas said.

"During the campaign I had a chance to meet a lot of nice people and over the next four years I will contribute to the city with no hidden agendas."

DeRoche, as the lone incumbent to be re-elected, said he feels great about the victory, but is happy that the voters' voices were heard loud and clear during this election.

"This was an extremely difficult campaign as people wanted to throw everyone who had anything to do with government out," DeRoche said.

"I had to explain that I had a difference in opinion and the vote tonight indicated the people differentiated myself from the majority of the council."

"The support I received was very flattering and encouraging and I plan to work very hard not to let the voters down and keep the important issues out there."

After 20 years on the job, Schmidt said while he was disappointed with his loss, he has no regrets and believes he is leaving with a good track record of service to the city.

"I think they've got a good council. The new mayor has impressed me quite a bit. If I had to leave, I'm glad most of them got on," he said.

"I am leaving with a good feeling," Schmidt said.

Schmidt said he has no future plans to run for city office again. However, he said there is an "outside" chance he may run for state representative when Rep. Nancy Cassis, R-Nov., reaches her term limit.

Mutch was not available for comment by press-time.

Also leading overwhelmingly Tuesday night was the charter amendment prohibiting the city from building a golf course or banquet facility on city land. The amendment won 5,271 to 1,831.

In a big surprise to city officials, the $28 million road bond proposal failed in a close race of 3,867 votes against the tax increase to 3,295 votes for it.

City Manager Ed Kriewall said the city will probably have to repackage the road bond proposal early next year and bring it back for another vote. He said it will be up to the new city council to decide if the proposal should be recycled for a special election next spring or early summer or if it should wait until the general election next November.

"I believe this is the first time we have had a road bond issue not pass," Kriewall said.

"It would appear some of the issues in the community are effecting the road bond issue."

These issues concerning voters would be the Sandstone lawsuit and the Novi Ice Arena deficit, Kriewall said.

Council Member Hugh Crawford said he was extremely disappointed with the road bond's results.

"This may set the community back years as far as economic development and residents getting around town," he said.

Crawford said the road bond may have failed because there is a sense of negativity in the community lately that is "kind of against anything the current council and any proposals."

Novi's new mayor said he supported the road bond, but thinks it failed because of its packaging.

"People were taking a very conservative tack. What we are getting from the residents is there is just too much on the plate right now," he said.

Clark added one of the early tasks for the new council will be to look at the road bond proposal and create a new one that residents will support.

However, Bononi — who was against the proposal — said she was glad the citizens of Novi acquainted themselves with the issue and looked at the numbers and realized they would not benefit as much as the developers."

As We See It

Revolution at the polls slams once quiet Novi

Was it the $53 million Sandstone judgment? Was it the Novi Ice Arena deficit? Was it the golf course feasibility study for the North Novi Park? Was it the stubbornness of the council majority in not putting the golf course concept on the ballot? Or was it the chilling effect of cold weather and rain?

Novi voters have spoken, admittedly not very many of them, and when the next city council convenes on Monday night, 43 percent of the members will be newcomers.

That big change is ahead for Novi in the next election isn't the surprise. What is, is that only 23 percent of the voters got off their couches, office chairs and car seats to vote.

Going into the election, voter interest seemed so strong that City Clerk Tomni Bartholomew was predicting a 50 percent turnout. Novi didn't make half of that.

And that's a real disappointment. Spin doctors for those who didn't get the top votes might deduce that the nasty weather only inspired the truly disgruntled to head for the polls. That theory would be wrong.

For what appears to be the first time, a road bond issue did not pass in Novi. It seems that voters, not knowing what financial toll may lie ahead with the Sandstone judgment, were unwilling to raise their taxes one penny for a bond issue.

Government

So what's ahead for Novi? Those who will be taking office next week face some formidable challenges, among them making sure Novi gets the money from somewhere to match the state funds for the Beck Road interchange reconstruction.

Serious planning for the future of the North Novi Park is now a pressing need. That gorgeous tract of land must be more accessible to residents. We suggest talking to the folks at Farmington Hills city hall, where that city's beautiful Heritage Park features hiking trails built by the low-cost sweat equity of Boy Scouts and other volunteers.

It's also time for city officials to create some sort of plan for the worst-case scenario of the Sandstone appeal failing. And the public must be kept up to date on this.

Good luck, Mayor Dick Clark and Council Members Michelle Bononi, Craig DeRoche and Lou Corsodas. The voters (at the least the 23 percent of them who care) are looking to you to do your best.

Show off the Baseline Jug

For more than a decade, the (Baseline) Jug sat idle in the athletic trophy cases of Novi and Northville High schools, save for one day each year when the item was up for grabs between the rivals. The Jug never teased the opposition, nor did it defiantly gesture at the crowd. Some — and we emphasize some — players did, however. But the majority of the young men we saw playing for the Jug simply took in the thrill of victory or made silent vows to win the coveted prize the following year.

from The Novi News
Nov. 5, 1998

One year ago, we wrote what appears above, and the Novi varsity football team squeaked by Northville 21-17.

One year later, Novi claimed another victory — also 21-17 — and the Jug is still nowhere to be found at Ten Mile and Taft Roads.

The Jug has been in our office almost every day since it was rebuilt in October 1998. Sure, it looks pretty, and it gets more than its share of compliments when people see it. But the truth of the matter is that the trophy doesn't belong in our office. It belongs at Northville or Novi High school, like any other sports trophy would.

We presented the Jug last year to the Wildcats at their sports banquet. Dressed in shirts and ties and stuffed from a year-ending banquet, the team gathered around the Jug for a few photographs before it was whisked away, not to be seen for another year.

It was a nice gesture and one that put smiles on more than a few faces at the banquet, but it wasn't quite what we had in mind, nor what we think most parents, students and players had in mind.

If you haven't seen the Jug, it's a beautifully-painted milk canister donated by Guernsey Farms Dairy. The scores from each one of the modern-era Jug games have been affixed to either the orange or green side of it to denote the winner for each year.

Did we mention it's durable and weighs slightly less than a battle tank?

Quite honestly, it's not made to be handled with white gloves. It's made to be hoisted by a group of sweaty, muddy, tired and overjoyed players at the end of hard-fought game. Get the idea?

We understand the concern held by administrators that the return of the Jug might mean excessive celebration on the part of spectators and participants, but we don't necessarily believe it. Properly instructed ahead of time, we've convinced players would be able to take in the joy of a victory without getting confrontational with the losing team.

That's called sportsmanship, and it's something both districts have worked diligently to improve.

We've done our part. We've got the Jug here, ready to pass it on to the right people. It's now up to everyone else — particularly school administrators — to come to their senses and allow the Jug's return.

Like the saying goes: ships are safest in the harbor, but that's not where ships are supposed to be.

Best B-day gift is helping others

Mike Malott

Aaron Morehead wanted a birthday party. After all, you only turn 8 once. But mom Joan Morehead was none to thrilled about the idea in the beginning. "Do you really need more toys?" she asked. Aaron said he really didn't care about getting gifts, he just wanted a get-together with his buddies from school. As Joan later put it, kids love to play with their pals, and they love to host parties in their own homes.

What came of the dilemma was a truly unique event. Aaron and Joan hosted a birthday shindig earlier this fall with all the usual trappings — cake, pop, balloons and party games.

Except there was one big difference — no gifts.

Instead, this Walled Lake area family took donations for a favorite charity. They asked guests to bring toys, living necessities — like washcloths and towels — or cash donations to be given to HAVEN, Oakland County's shelter for battered and abused spouses and children.

Joan — Kurt gives her all the credit for coming up with the idea — explained that she tries to get her son involved several times a year in volunteer activities like the CROP Walk and Clean Sweep in Detroit. She wants him to know there are children who are less fortunate and get some hands-on experience helping others.

When it came time to host the birthday party, HAVEN was chosen because kids would get the benefit. Aaron and Joan wanted it to be a matter of "kids helping kids."

When the family headed off to HAVEN to hand over what they had collected — a sizable collection of toys and necessities as well as $90 in donations — Aaron got a tour of the facility. He learned about the shelter, what it does for its users, and why such shelters are needed.

But it still begs the question, did Aaron miss getting gifts? Was his birthday diminished at all by not getting presents from all his pals?

Not at all, reports Joan. The party was big hit with the kids. They got to do all the things party-goers do. And after all, Aaron still got presents from mom and dad, grandpa and grandma.

Aaron's reaction to the idea was one of excitement. Says Kurt, when it was explained to Aaron that they might be doing something unique, untried before, Aaron's responses was that "they couldn't stop him." He was genuinely excited about the prospect of helping out a charity that in turn would help other children.

The party was hit with other parents too. I've heard from a number of those whose boys were at the get-together, and they all have given the idea very positive reviews. Most say they plan to do something similar.

And why not? Most kids these days have toys in great abundance. I know it is certainly true at my house. With three youngsters, our family has bedrooms full of toys, closets full of toys. The garage is half taken over by them, and from time to time they seem to spill out on the lawn.

We live in prosperous times. Parents and relatives lavish gifts on their kids. At Christmas, especially, but during birthdays too, toys arrive at our homes literally by the carload. Of course, they never quite seem to leave in the same volumes.

So when it came time for my son, Charlie, to host his birthday party recently for his eighth birthday, we too talked to him about collecting donations. He eagerly agreed. The charity we chose was Ronald McDonald House of Ann Arbor, which puts up family members so they can be close by when kids are sick and in the hospital at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Did Charlie miss getting gifts? He didn't seem to. He got play time with a bunch of his pals, pizza and a trip with friends to a hockey game. It seems to me that makes life pretty good. And Charlie agrees.

When Aaron and Kurt arrived at Charlie's get-together, I confessed we were stealing their idea, shamelessly ripping off their concept.

"That's OK. We want people to steal it," Kurt said. "Use it cookie-cutter fashion. Just pick your favorite charity, something your child can connect to, and do it."

"This is one time you can steal and not have to worry about being prosecuted," Joan said.

Every once in a while an idea comes along that's worth copying. And this appears to be one of them.

Upgrading education is MEAP's role

Phil Power

Gov. John Engler last week transferred responsibility for (a) adult and vocational education to the Department of Career Development and (b) state education assessment tests (MEAP) to the Department of Treasury. Both programs previously had been run by the Department of Education.

I thought the headline in The Macomb Daily caught it just right: "Is Engler power mad or just for the efficiency school of thought, consider the shift of career and technical services and adult education to the Department of Career Development."

I chaired the Job Training Coordinating Commission during the 1980s. In those days, responsibility for job training and career development was inefficiently splattered all over state government.

That's why I thought it was right for Engler to create the new Department of Career Development: it concentrated responsibility and accountability for career-related programs and job training into one administrative unit.

Now moving staff overseeing adult education and vocational schools, including vocational courses at community colleges, to the Career Development department makes sense for the same reason. It strategically links adult and vocational education together with community colleges in one coherent part of state government. Given how important high skills are for Michigan kids and businesses alike, I can only applaud Engler's move.

As evidence supporting the power mad charge, consider what the governor has done to the MEAP program.

MEAP stands for the Michigan Educational Assessment Program, covering reading, writing, science and math, with social science to be added soon. Eleventh graders who pass all tests can be awarded $2,500 Merit college scholarships, beginning with the June 2000 graduating class.

Responsibility for the MEAP test has been in the hands of the Department of Education for years.

Under its leadership, the test has been one of the most powerful tools for school reform because it assesses what kids actually learn in school and provides solid evidence where individual schools need to do better.

Last year, however, in creating the Merit scholarship program and linking it to MEAP test results, the legislature created a new Michigan Merit Award Board. This provided a convenient rationale for moving oversight of MEAP tests from the education folks to, of all places, the Department of Treasury.

The relevant paragraph from the governor's press release read: "Because the law requires that the Michigan Merit Award Board review and approve the assessment tests before they may be used to determine eligibility under the scholarship program, the responsibility for the administration of MEAP is transferred to the Department of Treasury."

What's that? Transfer responsibility for the biggest tool for school reform from educators to bean counters in the treasury?

As evidence for "power mad," consider that of the seven members of the Merit board, six are Engler appointees: Mark Murray, head of Treasury; Barbara Bolin, director of Career Development; Kathleen Barclay, vice president of global human resources for General Motors; Clark Durant, who recently resigned from the State Board of Education after missing the majority of its meetings during his last three years; Isaiah "Ike" McKinnon, former Detroit police chief; and one person yet to be named. (The seventh board member is Art Ellis, who gets his seat because he is Superintendent of Education.)

Excepting Ellis, who runs the Department of Education, none of the Merit Board members has any background in K-12 administration, curriculum development or education reform. Murray, who chairs the Merit board, is widely regarded as a sane and thoughtful guy, but he doesn't know much about educational assessments.

Members of the State Board of Education, who are elected statewide (and, therefore, not under Engler's thumb) blasted the move.

"It makes no sense at all to pull responsibility for the MEAP test away from educators and give it to people who know nothing about testing," said member Sharon Gire, a former Democratic state representative.

Dorothy Beardmore, a Republican member from Rochester, pointed out that "testing is very technical. It should be based on curriculum standards, which remain in the Department of Education. There is no logic at all in the MEAP move."

Forget all the hot air coming out of the governor's office about better coordination of the MEAP test with the Merit scholarship. The purpose of the MEAP test is not to determine who gets Merit scholarships; the purpose of the MEAP test is to improve education.

It's hard to see anything here other than a pure grab for power.

Scouts scouting for cans on Saturday

To the editor:
 On Saturday, Nov. 6, Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts from all over Novi will be going door-to-door passing out bags for "Scouting for Food."

These bags are to encourage families to donate canned goods to the food banks in Oakland County. These scouts will return on Saturday, Nov. 13 to collect the bags from the porches.

Cub Master Chris Pence of Parkway School's Pack No. 50 has challenged the Cub Scouts and parents of Pack No. 50 to collect 2,000 canned goods. Chris has already donated the first 100, 1,900 to go. If the 2,000 goal is met, Chris will dress up as a woman at the next pack meeting on Nov. 16.

The last cub master that posed the same challenge to the scouts of Pack No. 50 with a goal of 1,500 was surprised when they collected 2,100 that year.

We will be collecting the cans in the parking lot of St. James Church on Ten Mile between Beck and Taft on Saturday, Nov. 13 between 10 a.m. and noon.

CITY ATTORNEYS APOLOGIZE

(Editor's note: This letter was sent to the Novi mayor and council members and is printed here at the request of the city attorneys.)

To the Editor:
 Re: Martin Stoneman/Defamatory Comments

Dear Mayor McAllen and City of Novi Council Members:

On Oct. 13 we forwarded to you a report regarding the Sandstone litigation. The report made reference to attorney Martin Stoneman. We have been advised by an attorney representing Mr. Stoneman that he believes the reference to be defamatory, that the clear implication of the reference to Mr. Stoneman is that he somehow improperly attempted to influence a respected member of the judiciary in connection with a matter pending before that court, even though Mr. Stoneman was neither counsel of record to any of the parties litigant in the pending matter nor a witness in the proceeding.

We do not believe the references either expressly stated or implied that Mr. Stoneman did anything improper. We did not intend to imply improper conduct. Nevertheless, to the extent that any such implication is possible we retract the same and sincerely and unequivocally apologize to Mr. Stoneman.

WINNERS DID HOMEWORK

To the Editor:

Letters

work and the losers are those people who chose to make personal attacks and misquote/interpret the words of others.

I take very seriously the plaque on the wall in my home, which says "in recognition of dedicated volunteer service, which will serve as a lasting reminder and inspiration to others in our community." Therefore, when accused publicly of scurrilous and dirty politics, I think it only fair to make sure that those who don't know me (those who do know me, know me for the person I have always been) understand the manipulation of words which others practiced on these editorial pages.

First, Mr. Davis' statement was very clear. Residents did not show up for the discussion meetings on the North Novi Park even with the required prior notice published in The Novi News. If proper notice had not been given, The Novi News would have brought that to your attention. The truth is that residents didn't show up because they didn't care at that time. It is not unusual for these public hearings to be poorly attended. Mr. Davis and his staff are to be applauded for their patience and professionalism in dealing with the public every day.

Second, I did not say that banning the city from developing a banquet facility would affect the senior housing currently under construction or any other existing city facility. I have spoken with several seniors over the past week, none misunderstood my letters. What I did say was that "if an additional building is needed at the senior housing project," the charter amendment would block the building of said additional building with or without a vote of the people. As for the quote from Assistant City Attorney Dennis Watson, he did not back up what the P.A.R.K.S. representatives have been saying, he said it would "probably not" block additional buildings. "Probably not" is not a definitive statement. A deer will probably not run into my car when I buy home from shopping for groceries in Novi, but it might. With a definition of banquet facility, it is left up to the elected officials at the time the building is needed to define on a case by case basis.

Third, I never mentioned a hot dog stand with a bench nor would my family consider eating at a patio table in the building under construction. A BEG grill in Mr. Tindall's backyard. Just for the record, that would be a Staab party of five. If you can't get that fact right, what other facts were wrong in your letters?

Also, the parents who would have their children believe that a golf course would destroy hundreds of trees and many animal homes should consider a field trip to Kensington Metro Park where a nature center, picnic areas, boating and a golf course without a banquet facility exist successfully together.

Finally, for those who feel that the golf course and ice arena should have been approved by a public vote, why aren't they screaming that they didn't get to vote on the senior housing development of the soccer fields at the Community Sports Park and/or the building of the Tim Hope playstructure. If we must vote on one city development of city-owned property, shouldn't we have to vote on all developments of city-owned property?

Ms. Jeffries, I hope you mean it when you say you hope the letter writing continues. I have no intention of becoming one of your weekly letter writers, but I think that people like Frank Brennan, Jodi Capello, Kathy Mutch, Andrew Mutch and Margaret Schmidt should be applauded for making positive points. People who are an inspiration to others in our community with their volunteer service and positive attitudes should not have to spend time defending themselves against the defamation of character that was allowed by negative letter writers on these editorial pages.

LETTERS PROMPT RESPONSE

To the Editor:
 Having read the letters to the editor column in the last issue, I think there are a few points that demand my response.

Margaret Schmidt accused me of construction or any other existing city facility. I have spoken with several seniors over the past week, none misunderstood my letters. What I did say was that "if an additional building is needed at the senior housing project," the charter amendment would block the building of said additional building with or without a vote of the people. As for the quote from Assistant City Attorney Dennis Watson, he did not back up what the P.A.R.K.S. representatives have been saying, he said it would "probably not" block additional buildings. "Probably not" is not a definitive statement. A deer will probably not run into my car when I buy home from shopping for groceries in Novi, but it might. With a definition of banquet facility, it is left up to the elected officials at the time the building is needed to define on a case by case basis.

As to independence, I can think of no major issue on which Mutch broke ranks (with McAllen). She did run McAllen's campaign — the best — and told another mayor candidate the following election that she'd not run her campaign again. She may well be an independent, but she voted with the mayor and her majority on every major decision in the past four years: taxes, ice arena, golf course, raise for the manager, Andris, the consultants and on and on and on. She chose to run again this year because she wanted to finish what she'd started. We can't afford her. Mr. Hoadley gave Mrs. Mutch the credit (he was to take it for himself, too) for shutting down the lake frontage development by Bristol Corners. No, sir, that was me, citing the state laws and Novi ordinances that were applicable. Interesting that no one else thought to bring them up, or is that because no one else knew about them? Not even our city attorneys or the planning department? Just a "...third writer who ran unsuccessfully for council years ago and has tried to build a constituency ever since using the several configurations of a neighborhood association as her base of operations..." If that was me to whom you were referring, Mrs. Jirasek, you're wrong. My ex-husband ran for council, not I.

Finally, the letter in last week's edition without authorship attributed (in support of the charter amendment) was by me. Was the elimination of my name by accident? Just asking.

SEE THE CITY'S OTHER SIDE

To the Editor:
 First of all, I would like to thank the authors of letters published in last week's issue. They have given me far too much undeserved notoriety. Our city manager once referred to me as a "significant" person. The past week's literary contributions by various citizens has made me realize how truly significant I must be and for that, I thank you all. It seems that it takes little old me to force them to write a letter to the editor. Is there no other problem they see in this city?

These letters make me feel more important that I think the ex-Mayor ever really was. I've every been able to prompt a response from as far away as San Francisco. I don't know if your mayor has been so well-read as I. For that, I personally would like to thank you, Mrs. Jirasek. I hope you realize any negativity in this campaign was nothing compared to several years ago during the campaigns in which you ran the show. Without asking any personal questions, I was able to get personal information of the lifestyle of a current member of the planning commission. I'm so happy, Frank, that your questions on what he does in his free time have been answered.

Only once in the past 18 years did I talk of the personal family of a candidate. It ended up being the only embarrassing campaign — the best — and told another mayor candidate the following election that she'd not run her campaign again. She may well be an independent, but she voted with the mayor and her majority on every major decision in the past four years: taxes, ice arena, golf course, raise for the manager, Andris, the consultants and on and on and on. wherefore and knowledge of the soccer field give innate ability to manage storm water and the impact on our wet and woodlands? Because someone has ability to raise many children, does this guaranty the ability is there to run a city?

Capello, I never said you weren't a good father. I never said you didn't take the time to help out at school. How fortunate you are to be able to live but three minutes from home and school. I never accused you of not paying appropriate rent. The point was: is there nowhere else in the city that you could lease space without the impression of impropriety or conflict of interest?

As usual, Diana Canup has acted like she has in the past. She has again proven that my comments have not challenged her opinion of her own self-worth. As usual, she has come out looking like a lady. I also would presume without getting into her business that she understands her husband's self-worth is not challenged by anything I have to say of their political persuasions.

As to the comments that I call the police too much. "...several times a week..." is totally incorrect. There are, in fact, days when I call them several times an hour. And you'd do the same if you lived with the awful tenant-infested area as I do. Do you get up in the morning and walk to see what damage has been done in your area the night before? Do you have children destroying landscape and flowerbeds alongside the street? Do you watch your neighbors kick raw garbage off their property into the road? Do you listen to the worst vile language screamed by adults and children alike at all hours of the day and night? Do you listen to the squealing of tires and the throwing of stones at all hours?

Do your neighbors put cans and bottles on top of your car and then do target practice toward your home? Do you duck when you hear gunfire because you're not sure at whose windows it's aimed this time? This is the Novi I live in.

What Novi do all you chic, pretty people live in? How many of you pay almost $1,000 a month in taxes to this city to own houses that you could not possibly rent to civilized people? Oh, please, don't think when you dress your children and send them off to school in the morning that they'll even get to the bus stop without getting filthy and dirt-ridden. You didn't have a barricaded gunman near you who has now moved back in. When was the last time the nars cruised your street watching for the cocaine dealers? When was the last time a police sergeant knocked on your door at 6:30 a.m. telling you "...if you see this person, we want him bad." Shall I go on and on or have I made my point? This is my personal business and I really don't think you want to get involved with it now, do you?

RESIDENTS FEEL ABANDONED

To the Editor:

The forgotten corner of Novi and Wixom.

Senior residents in Wixom are voicing loud dissent over their treatment by the city. "We are good, law-abiding citizens who pay our taxes. There are no criminals here, we meet our obligations and are not a burden on the city, but we are neglected seniors, the last to benefit," declared Enima Aiello, vice-president of Phase I, Leisure Cooperative on Grand River.

Letters

"Safety, safety to all concerned is of primary importance," 17-year resident, Don Ebaugh remarked angrily. "Does there have to be a fatal accident here before we get any attention?"

Leisure Co-Op residents are up to 93 years old. Novi borders the complex on the south to Napier Road. The City of Wixom is primarily to the north of Interstate 96. Leisure Co-Op is off Grand River Avenue, northwest of Wixom Road and south of Meijer. The members lived quietly in peaceful surroundings for over 20 years, then "progress" began. The residents now dwell amidst the furor of construction and unrestrained traffic. McDonald's, Arby's, Taco Bell, Burger King, Meijer, Varsity Ford dealership, Mobil and Shell gas stations have erupted, ballooning the traffic to monumental proportions, and is 50 mph from Napier to Wixom Road.

Don Ebaugh continues, "Meijer promised turn-out lanes when they first opened up over two years ago. We finally got one last week after several accidents at this entrance. Just ask Bob Simon about that."

Bob Simon, a recently-shaken

80-year-old resident stated, "I was making a left hand turn onto Grand River from Leisure Co-Op earlier last month. I was going to the pharmacy in New Hudson. I looked both ways and proceeded into the westbound lane when this beat-up 1988 station wagon came tearing into the right side of my car. The fellow who crashed into me didn't want a police report, but I thought it wise to call them. I said to the fellow, "You must have been coming pretty fast" (he was passing me off the road, he was on the shoulder). The fellow replied defensively, "Well, it's 50 mph, you know." Mr. Simon mentioned, "The accident resulted in $1,200 damage to my car."

Mr. Ebaugh continued, "What about Wixom Meadows condominiums? They adjoin us to the west." Three years since construction began, people are living there and still no sod or grass, just blowing dirt and sand. Twenty-one units surrounding a filthy hole that is supposed to be a pool and fountain. Why is the city allowing this?"

Another resident questions Novi's neglect, "Novi leveled the entire parcel at the southwest corner of Wixom and Grand River roads over a year ago. The wetlands were annihilated. The land was stripped clean. They tore down the trees and turned it into a barren dustbowl. The last big rain-storm flooded the intersection. It never flooded there before." Another turn-out lane is badly needed 50 feet east of Leisure Co-Op, where the west entrance to Meijer is located. Traffic jams are created at this point. It is risky to make a left-hand turn into Meijer at this west entrance. Autos streaming east still use the soft shoulder to pass cars making a left-hand turn into Meijer. A screech of tires and a cloud of dust are what often occur.

Leisure Co-Op is an appendage in the lower southeast corner of Wixom, which was previously Novi property. How did this happen, you might ask?

When I moved here in 1971, I called up the Novi city clerk, Mabel Ash and asked her if Novi was a township or a city? She emphatically replied, "You bet your life it's a city. Wixom will never steal any more of Novi's property."

It happened that Wixom had annexed the northwest corner of Novi when Ford Motor Co. came to Wixom. Since then, this has been the forgotten corner of both cities.

CURIOS ABOUT CABLE

To the Editor:

I have not heard a thing about the state of the cable franchise. Everything appears to be "business as usual." The public sees releases from SWOCC which support that, yet things are not at all business as usual.

Novi, Farmington and Farmington Hills are negotiating with Ameritech as an alternate program provider. This may allow some rate adjustments initially, but mark my words — it will not serve us well in the long term.

Further and more importantly, the three cities will watch as the voice of community access television fades off.

It will not serve us well because Ameritech will not provide money for upgrades and if Time Warner fails to see the importance of maintaining the citizens voice, there will indeed be lost hope. Time Warner might not see fit to provide money, either. Community access is the only place where anyone may speak out on issues.

Perhaps, this is too much for SWOCC and the cities to get behind. They can justify and control their city channels, but by definition, community access is meant to be free of these controls.

I have seen access centers around the country change and adapt, and in places with a lot less money.

For community access to thrive, things must change. A champion must be found for community access. SWOCC is not a champion.

We need not only new equipment, but a new way of doing things. Friendlier policies to get people into studios and someone who really cares about growth and making it work in charge.

If you don't like what you see on access TV, go in and change it. Make your own show, speak your mind. Don't be a couch potato, or if you are already involved in access, keep on speaking out on your shows. Keep community access strong. Because if you don't, it may be gone.

Look before you Light

Preparing your fireplace or wood stove before use helps make sure indoor fires are safe as well as warm and cozy.

You'd probably be hard-pressed to find many things more comforting than a roaring fire in your living room fireplace when its 25 degrees outside.

But before it gets too deep into the late fall and winter seasons, officials warn you'd better take extra special care in making sure your fireplace is ready for what you throw at it and that you use your fireplace wisely.

"As soon as the cold weather starts, we get a lot of calls related to fireplace use," said William Zmenda, Northville Township fire chief.

"And most of the time it's because people didn't get their chimney cleaned."

Zmenda said more people are using fireplaces than ever with most Northville area homes being built with one or two fireplaces in them.

And whether or not the fireplaces are for appearance or a main source of heating, caution needs to be used, Zmenda said.

Step one: preparation

"One of the big things is to make sure the chimney is inspected annually," he said. "Most chimneys need to be cleaned and inspected by a professional."

Rick Starling, chief building inspector in the city of Northville, said the first step of getting the fireplace inspected professionally goes a long way toward prevention.

"Because of the fact that a naked eye visual inspection is very limited, we recommend a licensed and insured contractor clean and then perform a video inspection of the entire chimney passage area, smoke chamber and damper assembly," Starling said. "If the inspection indicates a problem such as loose joints, cracked flues or tiles, a smoke test should be performed to locate the location and any leakage within the chimney."

The build up of creosote, a tar-like substance formed by the combination of fire smoke and debris hitting a cold chimney on its way out the chimney, can block off smoke from leaving and catch fire easily.

Additionally, Starling said a visual inspection to determine the condition of the firebox, lintel, hearth, interior wall veneer and exterior of the chimney should be performed. The installation and repair of any type of fireplace in Northville must be inspected by the building department, however, Starling said his department doesn't have the necessary equipment to perform a complete inspection of existing chimneys and fireplace.

However, he said, accommodations may be made to have city staff present during inspections and the review of the inspections.

Step two: more preparation

After the necessary inspections and cleaning have taken place, there are more steps to follow once you get the fire going.

For example, Zmenda said, keep all furniture and other flammables a minimum of three feet from the fire. Don't burn trash, don't use any flammable liquid to get the fire going and always use fireplace doors and screens.

Additionally, short hot fires instead of long, smoldering fires are preferred.

"A short, hot fire will keep the chimney hotter and prevent the build-up of creosote," he said.

Decorations should not be hung from the mantle and chimney, no matter how much care is used, Zmenda said.

"A spark could easily leave the fire and start a fire on any one of those things," he said.

Zmenda said care should be used in selecting what kind of wood to burn and he suggests not using any kind of synthetic logs because of carbon monoxide given off by them.

"I don't really like them because they burn unevenly and release a high level of carbon monoxide," Zmenda said.

When you're done with the fire for the evening, be sure the fire is out completely and don't close the damper if ashes are still hot. Ashes should be removed with a metal container, Zmenda said.

More information may be obtained by calling the Northville Township fire department at (248) 348-5807 or the city of Northville building department at (248) 349-1300.

'Misplaced' cases bring improvements to Novi Police

More than 120 old police cases were found stuffed into a locked file box shoved to the back of the property room at the Lee C. Begole Police Headquarters.

"We did find an old file cabinet with some old cases dated from 1988 to 1991," said chief Douglas Schaeffer earlier this week. "They are in various stages of completion. On some of them, you couldn't tell if any work had been done on any of them."

Although police are unsure who the cases were assigned to, the department has contacted several recently-retired detectives to ask about the files. Five detectives retired in January of 1996.

There was perhaps no one more upset about the discovery of mothballed police cases in 1996 than Novi police chief Doug Schaeffer.

Except for maybe the people who were waiting in limbo for their cases to be attended to by the police.

"I didn't have the privilege of firing the person," Schaeffer said. "It's too bad that individual was gone before I could."

Regardless, the guilty party is no longer working for the Novi police department and probably won't be seen around Ten Mile and Novi roads anytime soon. But what's more important, Schaeffer said, was the improvements that were made in the cataloging of incident reports once they were taken by the Novi police.

"I'm very confident, based on the changes we've made, that what happened before will never happen again," he said.

According to Schaeffer, the cases — which Schaeffer said were hidden from plain view — were discovered by accident when officers were going about their normal course of business. Most of the cases, Schaeffer said, had to do with checks that were returned as having insufficient funds to cover.

Because of the time lapse between when the incidents were originally reported and when police discovered the dated cases, many of the trails were stone cold, Schaeffer said.

"We were able to prosecute a few of the cases, but most of them we weren't," he said. "It was a very frustrating thing for us."

Schaeffer said that after investigations on the cases resumed, police supervisors tried getting in contact with the parties responsible. Schaeffer said those persons declined to speak with their former employer. Prosecutors opted not to take on a case against the ex-cops, he said.

So what's changed since that time? Much, said Schaeffer, including a new tracking system and more streamlined internal approach to handling files.

"Ever since that happened, we've made it a habit to work through cases on a daily basis," Schaeffer said. "We've got a new computer tracking program that makes it virtually impossible to forget about a case. Once it's entered into the system, it's in there forever. It can't go anywhere."

Schaeffer said that though what happened three years ago was disappointing to him, the modifications made in the case-tracking process were made substantially better as a result.

"There's no question we're better off now than where we were," he said. "We definitely don't want a repeat of that again."

Novi Highlights

The Jaycees were busy last month in planning their Halloween Haunted House activities in addition to assisting the South Lyon House and the Bedford group with their Halloween events. They also co-sponsored with the League of Women Voters, a candidates night in the city council chambers. The Jaycees attend council meetings which are held the first Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. and encourage citizens to attend.

The group also participated in the community project "Kid Care ID" Project and fingerprints were taken of the children, then given to the parents as an official document of identification. A Novi police officer administered the fingerprinting segment. The event took place at the Twelve Oaks Mall McDonald's location.

Recent activities included traveling to Wards Apple Orchard in Ypsilanti for an afternoon of candle-making, taking helicopter rides, visiting a haunted house, and taking home apples.

The Jaycees enjoy several fun activities, such as attending a movie as a group, and dinner and decision-making of a movie at the Mongolian Barbecue. Later in the month, Thank Jaycees it's Friday is held.

Future dates include: Nov. 5-7, State

Assembly in Lansing; Nov. 13, 6:30 p.m. and Nov. 14, 12:30 p.m., planning the eighth annual Madrigal Dinner presented by Novi High school choir.

Though there is a change in dates this year, the format is the same: dinner, short play, poets, street dancers, and peddlers. Directors of the event are Paula Joyner-Ginard and Stacey Becker. Tickets are $25. For more information, call (248) 449-1500.

NOVI CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Chamber luncheon this month will be at Too Chez on Nov. 16 with Tom Woodruff, chairman of the Chamber Board of Directors, presenting "Year in Review." Reservations must be made by Nov. 12.

This will also be the kick-off for the $5,000 Holiday Shopping Spree raffle, tickets for which will be $100 each. Only 100 will be sold. If you win, you may use your winnings to shop at any Novi business or chamber member business outside of Novi. You have your choice of what day in January to shop and on your special day, the chamber will furnish transportation and lunch.

The chamber will be accepting canned goods and new unwrapped toys at the Nov. 16 luncheon for the Novi Goodfellows, who will be helping local families in need this year. Cash donations will also be accepted and used to purchase needed items for these families. Please make checks payable to the Novi Goodfellows.

In addition, food or monetary donations for the Goodfellows will be accepted at Novi's annual Main Street Holiday Walk Nov. 23, held from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. inside Main Street Atrium. Santa Claus will be making an appearance. Donations can also be made at the Holiday Open House Dec. 8, from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Fifth Avenue Ballroom.

Lunch and Learn Internet Series will be on Nov. 18, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Walsh College. The topic of the program will be "Internet Basics." The cost of $20 per person will include a box lunch. To register or for more information, call the chamber at (248) 349-3743.

Looking to Christmas gifts, the chamber will present gift certificates to anyone of your choice by purchasing a ticket for them to the "Magical Night to Remember," March 11, 2000. The evening will include dinner, entertainment, raffish, and surprise celebrities.

NOVI UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Auction 1999 is being held at the church on Nov. 6. Doors open at 6 p.m., dinner is slated for 7 p.m., and is followed by the auction. Tickets are still available. Call the church at (248) 349-2652 for information.

Several local businesses are providing menu items as well as auction and sport articles, use of a Florida condo, gift baskets, craft items, Walling's honey, and reserved church parking, among other things.

Also scheduled this month is the plant and bake sale on Nov. 13 and the Dorcas Circle meeting on Nov. 16. JoAnn Doederlein of the American House Senior Complex will be guest speaker at the Dorcas meeting. "Invitation Sunday" followed by an International Potluck is scheduled for Nov. 21. On Nov. 24 at 7 p.m. the church family will be combining attendance at the Thanksgiving community service held at Faith Presbyterian Church, Nov. 28 is the "Hanging of the Greens" and a potluck.

Planned for Dec. 4 is a concert by the Novi Chorales. The annual and very popular program, "Christmas by Candlelight" is set for Dec. 9, with tickets going on sale Nov. 7. Prior to the candlelight program will be the serving of hors d'oeuvres and dessert. All women and young ladies sixth grade and older are invited to attend. Tickets are $5 per person.

Michelle Lynn Parobek and Phillip James Collins were married Sept. 18 at Meadowbrook Christian Church in Rochester Hills. Pastor Mike Washburn officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of David and JoAnn Parobek of Clinton Township. She is a graduate of Michigan State University and is employed with Kimberly Clark. The groom is the son of William and Pat Collins of Novi and Nancy Heaton of Pinekeey. He is also a Michigan State graduate.

The maid of honor was Ann Marie Parobek. Bridesmaids were Amber Bodway, Sue Collins, Kathryn Walder, Robin Posavetz and Melissa Tidwell.

The groom was accompanied by Dan Herman, Jason Mulzer, Brian Parobek, Michael Collins, Scott Ryan and Kirk Bargaquest.

The couple honeymooned in Maui, Hawaii and now reside in Dallas.

THE NOVI JAYCEES

Church News

The First Presbyterian Church of Northville will be hosting harpist Christa Gray and her jazz trio on Nov. 7 at 7 p.m. in the church's sanctuary. A reception will follow the concert where guests may meet the performers. Tickets range from $10 to $40.

Also at First Presbyterian—Single Play Ministries will be hosting several activities on Nov. 6. A growth-in-relationships workshop is slated to run from 8:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., a walk through Heritage Park is set for 10 a.m., and the group will meet for dinner at Mama Mia Restaurant in Farmington Hills at 6:30 p.m. For more information on any of these events, call (248) 349-0911.

Former Hawthorn Center director Harold Wright will be a guest speaker at Faith Community Presbyterian Church of Novi on Nov. 14 at 7:30 p.m. Wright will speak on healthy living during the holidays for youth. For more information, call (248) 349-5666.

He's all shook up, but still rockin'

Elvis impersonator hits Milford stage

A headstone bears Elvis Presley's name, but the legend of the original singing rock and roll star of the 1950s will live on this Friday at Baker's of Milford.

Dave King, an Elvis impersonator, will take stage in Milford at 8:30 p.m. Backed by a 10-piece band, King strikes the familiar poses and duplicates the mannerisms that have become Elvis trademarks, right down to the sweat-soaked sleeves tossed into the crowd.

King began performing with his band in 1974, highlighting Presley's music. The shows have won praise from Rolling Stone critic Dave Marsh.

"His legend gets royal treatment," Marsh wrote. "King's care and excellence to portray the late Presley is uncanny. Other people have rocked, but nobody's done it better."

Tickets for King's show are $17 in advance or $22 at the door. They are available at Baker's, Schaffer's House of Music (Brighton), Read Between the Lines (Milford) and Musi-Go-Round (Novi). Doors to the show open at 7:30 p.m.

Baker's is located at 20225 South Milford Road. For more information, call (248) 685-0505.

Pokemon trainers lured into battle

Ash Ketchum and his fellow Pokemon trainers, Misty and Brock, are about to embark on a great adventure — the continuing quest to become the greatest Pokemon masters of all time!

Pokemon, the worldwide phenomenon which began as a handheld video game and virtually exploded across the globe in every form from trading cards to the number one rated television kids show on the kids' WB!, hits the big screen with an exciting adventure about the greatest Pokemon battle yet.

"Pokemon: The First Movie" follows Ash and Pikachu and their pals to a remote island where they are lured into a massive Pokemon battle which will take all their courage and skill.

In the ultimate showdown on New Island, the rare and legendary Pokemon Mew must do battle with the bio-engineered Mewtwo, a master trainer and the world's most powerful Pokemon.

Let the match begin!

Kids' WB! presents a 4Kids Entertainment Production, the American adaptation of "Pokemon: The First Movie" is written by Norman J. Grossfeld, Michael Haigney and John Touhey with voice direction by Michael Haigney.

Norman J. Grossfeld, President of 4Kids Productions, is the Producer. The animated film is directed by Kunihiko Yuyama and produced by Choji Yoshikawa, Tomoyuki Igarashi and Takemoto Mori.

The film, written by Takeshi Shudo, is based on characters created by Satoshi Tajiri. It is distributed by Warner Bros. Family Entertainment, A Time Warner Entertainment Company.

Ash and his friend Pikachu are surrounded by characters from "Pokemon: The First Movie."

A brand new Pokemon, Donphan, makes his debut in "Mewtwo Strikes Back," the episodic feature of "Pokemon: The First Movie."

Additionally, a short called "Pikachu's Vacation," starring Ash's furry pal Pikachu, the most charming and beloved Pokemon of them all, makes its American debut along with the feature-length film, "Pikachu's Vacation" introduces two new Pokemon, Snubbull and Maril.

"Pokemon: The First Movie" opens nationwide on Nov. 12.

This 'Fight' should not be missed

Chris Sandberg
GUEST MOVIE REVIEW

When you go to the theater in anticipation of seeing "Fight Club" your mind is open. You expect practically everything. As you watch it, the film pulls off everything that you least expected.

Even if you go in expecting a masterpiece you won't be disappointed. The film deserves all the praise it gets. There is no doubt about it. This is going to be the film of the year.

The plot, adapted from the novel by Chuck Palahniuk, is really hard to explain without giving it away so I'll just give the basics of what you already know.

Tyler Durden — projectionist, waiter, and dark anarchist genius — is the creator of the Fight Club. A group that encourages young men with good jobs and absent fathers to take off their shoes and shirts... and fight to the death.

The almost legendary fights draw a political campaign coordinator into a growing pool of insanity that reaches into boardrooms across America.

The acting in the film is not surprising. You have Oscar nominee Brad Pitt, who has been giving great performances like "Seven Years in Tibet" and "12 Monkeys," the film that earned him the nomination.

You also have Edward Norton who basically gives nothing but great performances like "American History X," which, like Pitt, earned him an Oscar nod.

They don't disappoint and they both are a shoe-in at the Oscars.

The cinematography is some of the best I've seen since "Saving Private Ryan" and already probably has the Oscar.

Jeff Cronenweth leads you to believe that when it comes to this kind of stuff he is very experienced when, in fact, this is his first cinematography effort.

For the two hours and 20 minutes that you're in the theater you are trapped in the insanity that Tyler Durden lives in. This film will knock your socks off seven times over.

MOVIE REVIEW

Forget the first 30 minutes of "Saving Private Ryan." This is definitely the most intense film I've ever seen.

When you leave the film you are so worn out and exhausted. You're blood is rushing through every vein in your body and the only word you can say is "WOW!"

This could have been some standard Hollywood thriller/action film. Instead Fincher treats us to almost two and a half hours of the most surreal and absorbing material you're likely to see all year.

He asks questions no other filmmaker has ever dared. He does things with the camera that you and I can only visualize in our wildest and most bizarre dreams.

He creates an utterly original form of narrative that is equal parts unique and disturbing.

Finally, a movie, which accurately depicts the apothosis of a current pervasive American theme: consumerism has become our way of life and has ultimately become our reason for living.

"Fight Club" is truly a theatrical marvel.

Novi suffers worst defeat of the season, 24-6 to Farmington in playoff opener

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Over almost as quickly as it started, Novi's first playoff game in 11 years ended on a sour note in a 24-6 loss to Farmington last Friday night.

The Falcons took it straight at the Wildcats both on offense and defense, and accomplished perhaps its biggest goal: to keep Mitch Maier off the field. Novi was limited to just 10 yards of offense on 11 offensive plays in the first half, whereas Farmington grounded out 73 yards on 18 plays in an opening drive that gave the team a 7-0 lead 8:58 into the first quarter.

"I was very disappointed we could never get into this game," Novi coach John Osborne said. "Normally we can make up for early mistakes in games, but here our mistakes finally caught up to us. And they played a mistake-free game."

One of the mistakes Novi made came on its first play from scrimmage. Maier's option pitch attempt was behind running back Dan Jilg and dropped to the ground. Farmington plopped on the ball at Novi's 18 yard line. Six plays later, all on the ground, the Falcon's Scott Rycer scored from three yards out to give his team a 14-0 lead with 11:22 left in the half.

Novi's lack of offense continued for the rest of the half, as the 'Cats went three and out on three consecutive possessions and ended the half with Maier taking a knee.

On Novi's first possession of the second half, the team picked up a pair of first downs. But a loss on a Maier rush, a deflected pass attempt and a sack of Maier again forced a punt from Andy Christofferson.

Farmington went two and four yards on their next two rushes before quarterback Grant Weber broke loose and scrambled 34 yards for a first down. On the next play, Brian Brinsden went 36 yards to all but ensure the first-ever playoff win for Farmington.

The Falcons would complete their scoring on a Stephen Wayne 25-yard field goal with 10:12 left in the fourth quarter.

Novi did save face with a late scoring drive to get on the scoreboard. Maier hit Jon Cervi for a five-yard touchdown pass with 3:08 remaining.

The 2-point conversion attempt was no good. Maier was 6 for 7 on the drive for 51 yards.

"We fought them off, but they kept knocking at our door all night," Osborne said. "They were very opportunistic that night."

Osborne said one of the biggest differences between the first game of the season and the last (both played against the Falcons) was that Farmington played more of a pressure defense, with more blitzes.

"We traded tapes with them, and they saw something in the Hartland and South Lyon games that worked against us," the coach said. "They didn't blitz us in the first game."

In the end, the Wildcats ended up with 178 yards of offense. Maier led the team with 31 yards rushing and completed 10 of 23 passes for 113 yards. Muston was hit main target, hauling in four catches for 40 yards. Matt Gorman had a pair of receptions for 47 yards and Jilg and Cervi each caught two balls.

Defensively, Maier had a monster game with 11 solo tackles and six assists for 17 points. Adam Borashko had 11 first hits and three assists. Matt Luschas, David Tardella, Scott Minke and Aaron Harbin had eight total points in tackles each.

"We played ugly and it was discouraging," Osborne said. "We had a great practice week coming into the game and we thought everything was going good."

All that's left for the Wildcats is the season-ending banquet Monday night at Vladimir's in Farmington Hills.

Cagers near KVC title

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

With only a pair of Kensington Valley Conference games remaining on its schedule, the Novi varsity basketball team is looking to finish unblemished and wrap up its first KVC title since 1992.

The Wildcats (10-0 KVC, 16-1 overall) scraped their way to a 60-54 win over Milford last Thursday, knocking the Redskins from the title chase and setting up a conference championship showdown with Howell tonight at Novi High School.

The Highlanders (9-1, 15-2) are the only team that can challenge Novi for the title. Howell played Milford in an important game Tuesday night (after The Novi News' deadline). If the Highlanders lost, Novi would gain at least a share of the league title and would win it outright with a win against either Howell tonight, or Lakeland this upcoming Tuesday.

"We're just gonna go into this game as we have all the other," Novi coach Dennis Cichonski said of tonight's Howell contest. "Why change what's been successful for us?"

The last time Novi squared off against the Highlanders, Howell guard Sarah Piepho was not in the lineup. This time she will be back for the game.

"I think they'll be a little more of a point-guard oriented team this time around,"

Cichonski said. "They'll use her as a half-court weapon."

The coach said he'll start senior guard Erin Rice on the Highlander's best player, while fellow senior Erin Quinn will have her hands full with Stephanie Benaar. Kristen McGlennen will be matched up against Kate Reed and Jessica Gilbert will cover Carrie Morrow.

Cichonski said his team has a slight size advantage, but he expects the Highlanders to play a physical, aggressive game.

"We want to control the tempo of the game," he said. "And we'll need to rebound well."

NOVI 60, MILFORD 54

They don't make high school games much better than this one. Novi overcame a 26-24 halftime deficit to knock off and eliminate the Redskins from the KVC hunt.

Bendernagel, Quinn, Rice and Gilbert hit 8 of 10 free throws in the final 57.1 seconds of the game to seal the win. Milford's Christie Schumacher hit a 22-foot three pointer with 23.0 remaining to pull the 'Skins to within a point at 55-54, but Gilbert hit one of two free throws and Rice rebounded the second miss to retain a two-point lead. Rice proceeded to hit a free throw and Bendernagel added two more for the final margin of victory.

"We've been able to play a pressure-type defense without fouling," Cichonski said.

"We've been going to the line more than our opponents, and that stems from our discipline."

Novi hit 24 of 34 free throws in the game, and were 12 for 16 in the fourth quarter alone. Bendernagel led the team with 16 points.

Schumacher was "limited" to 28 points and 13 rebounds, although at times she had free reign in the paint.

"At first we tried to double team her too early, and she was able to find other players," Cichonski said.

Novi's current record of 16-1 is the best start in school history, and the team's perfect record of 10-0 in the KVC is also a school record.

"The kid's slogan is 'It's time,'" the coach said. "They've got that determination about them now."

NOVI 47, HARTLAND 34

The Wildcat's pressure defense led to a 24-2 lead after one quarter and a 37-6 halftime lead.

"It was our ability to defend against their flex (offense) that helped us out," Cichonski said. "It was one shot and out for them, and we were able to play everybody in the game and put many different combinations out there."

Bendernagel led the team with a 10 points.

Novi boys advance, Moore wins regional

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

Over the last few weeks, the Novi boys' cross country team has had its share of health problems. And thus the team has seen the number of doubters grow when it comes to asking the question: can this Novi team repeat as state champions?

For a select group of Saline runners, the answer was obvious this past weekend at the regional meet held at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

The Hornets raced to a regional title, knocking the Wildcats off the pedestal, at least for a week. Saline scored a meet low 42 points, well below Novi's 74. Livonia Churchill had 112 points, which was good enough for third place and an automatic trip to this weekend's state championships at Michigan Speedway.

Despite a second-place finish, there were no runners better than Tim Moore and Chris Toloff, who took the top two spots overall. Moore won the race in 15 minutes, 36 seconds, while Toloff was second in 15:44.

Tim Moore

Both of them beat out the defending regional champion, Paul Niedzwiecki of Adrian, who last year beat Kevin Avenius out for the title.

"They're really running fast right now," an excited coach Bob Smith said. "As fast as anyone in the state. They've really blossomed this year, and I think their best is yet to come."

Moore joined Avenius as the only two Novi boys ever to win an individual regional title. And the 1-2 finish by Moore and Toloff is unprecedented in school history.

Eric Walle continued his impressive string of races, finishing eighth in a time of 16:37. Senior Nick Bassitt was 27th overall in 17:14 and Evan Foster rounded out the scoring with a 36th-place finish in 17:33.

With Mark Avenius missing the race due to illness and a sore calf, Mitch Erickson (41st in 17:36) and Steve Szawst (42nd in 17:38) were Novi's last two varsity runners.

"We're a big meet team this year," Smith said. "When you have two guys in the front like we do, you like the bigger invites. The better the field, the better team we are."

Smith said that although Saline's top five easily outdistanced Novi's, the points his top two runners will gain over Saline's top two will be greater at a bigger meet, like this weekend's state finals.

"At this meet, we only gained a few points on them, but at a bigger meet, there'll be a lot more placers in between us," he explained. "We're gonna have everyone healthy and fast for this meet. We'll be ready."

Rockford is the favorite to win the state title this season, as it was last year. Novi was able to knock off the Rams thanks to their fourth and fifth runners: Jason Hartmann and Dathan Ritzenhein nabbed one and two, and Kevin Avenius and Dan Christopherson were seventh and eighth. But Novi more than made up the difference with Toloff and Mike Burns easily outdistancing

Schmitt, Echols advance to states

By JASON SCHMITT
Sports Editor

For the second-straight year, the Novi girls' cross country team will not go to the state finals as a team.

This comes after the Wildcats qualified and placed among the top-10 teams at the state meet for five consecutive years. This season the team was snubbed by a tremendously-strong field of teams at the Ann Arbor High School regional.

Novi finished fourth out of 18 teams, but only the top three teams and 25 individual runners advance to the state meet. Therefore, Novi freshman Nina Schmitt and senior Kristin Echols will be the lone representatives from their team at Brooklyn this weekend.

Schmitt finished fourth overall in a time of 19 minutes, 45 seconds. Only Stevenson's Andrea Parker (19:03), Pioneer's Amber Culp (19:14) and Ypsilanti's Danielle Chase (19:37) finished ahead of Schmitt.

"Nina's quite a unique person," her coach Norm Norgren said. "She loves the competition. She thrives on competition. I told her going into the race that there were two other top girls (Parker and Culp). All she said was 'okay'. And she finished that well."

Echols started off the race, too slowly, according to her coach. But she came back to qualify for the state finals with her 21st place finish in 20:29. It will be her third-straight appearance at the finals.

"I'm hoping at the state meet that she'll say to herself, 'This is my last shot,'" Norgren said.

Despite Schmitt and Echols' strong performances, Novi (148 points) was still a distant fourth to Stevenson, which was the third and final qualifier with 97 points. Pioneer was first with 51 points and Saline was second with 86 points.

Val Stefanson was third on her team and 37th overall in a time of 21:09. Bethany Kittle and Margo Wolowicz were 44th and 45th to round out the scoring for their team: Kittle came in at 21:11.5 and Wolowicz was right behind at 21:11.9.

Brittany Albright was 53rd overall and Cat Waller was Novi's seventh runner in 97th.

Norgren wasn't disappointed with his team's efforts, but said he was disappointed that his team was placed in a very tough regional with so many other solid programs.

"It's not just us, but Salem (5th), Churchill (6th) and Franklin (13th) are all great teams and they're not going either," he said. "I was talking with some of the other coaches before the meet and we were talking about how things are, and how we could change things."

The state finals will be held at the Michigan Speedway in Brooklyn on Saturday. The Class A girls race will be held at 2:30 p.m. Tickets to the event are $5 and includes parking.

Kobylarek among the area's best

Novi's Matt Kobylarek, who finished 3rd at the Oakland County tournament, was one of the best players in the state. He finished with a 75 and was named MVP of the tournament. Kobylarek will be in the top 10 in the state next year.

Tom Borda Northville sophomore

Tom Borda, a sophomore at Northville, was one of the best players in the state. He finished with a 75 and was named MVP of the tournament. Borda will be in the top 10 in the state next year.

Brian Cervin, a junior at Milford, was one of the best players in the state. He finished with a 75 and was named MVP of the tournament. Cervin will be in the top 10 in the state next year.

The Novi junior varsity football team (above) finished the 1999 season with an 8-1 record. It's only loss was to Northville, 14-7.

JV gridders complete fine 8-1 season

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor
What started off so great ended on a bit of a sour note for the Novi junior varsity football team. The team's dominance throughout the 1999 season, The Wildcats put together an 8-1 record and were a perfect 6-0 in Kearsington Valley Conference action.

The JV gridders played for this year's team, which was a considerable increase from past seasons. "I think that's what made this team so good, that this class had a really high involvement," head coach Rand Helmkamp said. "Another reason was that we had five guys who played up as freshmen a year ago. They're experience really helped this team out."

That experience started at quarterback, where Drew Doll finished up his second-straight year as a starter. Joining him on the offense was Aaron Marton (QB), Jake Ray (RB), Joe Harris (OT) and Adam Lienhardt (C), all of whom saw their second year of junior-varsity action. Marion and Ray also started defensively.

They, along with two-way starters Scott Kortlandt (FB/LB), Mike Vehlewald (G/LB) and Trey Simpson (RB/FS) formed the nucleus of this year's team. Added to the tremendous amount of returning talent was the deep, deep bench the 'Cats had, especially on the lines. "We had officials come up to us after some of the games saying how impressed they were with our offensive line and how they dominated," Helmkamp said. "We had good size, and good skill players to make it all work."

Lienhardt, Marion, Joe Harris and Vehlewald were mainstays on the line and Denny Hundt and Matt Kolch shared duties and starting time. "When we had a shortage, it was at running back and not at the line," Helmkamp said. "Top to bottom, leftside to rightside, was the best group I've ever coached. Our second team, our white team as we called them, were better than most other team's starters. Other teams would have loved to have them on their team."

Offensively, Kortlandt, Ray and Simpson shared the load in the rushing department whereas Tyson Franz was the team's top receiver. Defensively, the team did a tremendous job, led by Marion, who stood above the rest. "It was mostly a team effort, but he really dominated the opponents," Helmkamp said. "Along the way to an .889 winning percentage, the team crushed KVC powerhouse Brighton, play-off-bound Farmington as well as other solid conference squads. Their only two tough games came against South Lyon (won 27-20) and Northville. "(Northville) got after us pretty good," the coach said. "It was hard for our kids because they weren't used to that kind of adversity."

The Michigan cross country state finals are being held at the Michigan Speedway in Brooklyn Saturday morning and afternoon. The boys' Class A race will begin at 1:30 p.m. Tickets to the event are $5 and includes parking.

NOVI SECOND AT JV INVITE
Led by Tim Kava's first-place finish, the Novi JV team took second at the Redford Union JV regional last Friday night. Detroit Catholic Central won the race handily, with 21 points. Novi was second with 81 points. Churchill was third with 129 points and Farmington (147) and Salem (164) rounded out the top five in the 11-team field. Dan Stevens finished second on the team and 14th overall in 18:32. Derek BuWald was 18th (18:39), Ken Delgreco was 23rd (18:53) and Steve Schubert was 25th in 18:55 to complete the scoring.

Mercy too much for Novi swimmers

By JASON SCHMITT Sports Editor
Usually it's Novi that has all the depth, all the talent, all the big names. But for one meet a year, the Wildcats are on the other side of the spectrum. Near the end of each season, the Novi swimmers face a team from Farmington, one that highly excels at the sport of swimming. One night each year, Mercy comes to town.

But no matter how mighty the Marlins may have been, Novi made the meet respectable. Mercy has tremendous depth, and for the Wildcats to score 69 points means the team fared quite well in several different events.

The Marlins led throughout the entire meet, and took first and third in each of the three relays. They won eight of the 12 events, and outscored Novi in 11 of 12.

Kristina Utley, Amy Hardard, Laurel Weiss and Lindsay Vermilion each won an individual event for Novi. Utley finished atop the 100 freestyle field in a time of 56.69 seconds. Unfortunately for Novi, that was an event where Mercy snatched 2nd, 3rd and 4th place to outscore the Cats.

Hardard followed that up with a win in the 500 freestyle. The senior raced to the victory in 5:18.21. But again, the Marlins captured the next three spots. Weiss did her best to help the Wildcats stay alive in the diving competition, winning the event with 191.1 points. Mercy grabbed the next three spots to outscore Novi 9-7 in the event.

The Wildcats' lone event win came in the 100 backstroke, where Vermilion walked away the winner in 1:04.91. Krysta Lynch was third in 1:07.19 and Leslie Nimer nabbed fifth to give Novi a 10-6 win in that event.

The Wildcats did have a few runnerup finishes, including Amanda Smith in the 200 free and 100 breast, Andrea Vocum in the 200 IM and 100 breast, and each of the three relay teams.

JV SQUAD FOURTH AT MERCY INVITE
Facing stiff competition, including some of the top-notch variety from the host squad, Novi's junior varsity swim team captured fourth place at the Farmington Mercy JV invitational last Saturday.

Novi did not have any first-place finishers, but did grab a pair of runnerups. The 400 medley team of Jovon Lee, Meredith Greer, Colleen O'Neill and Melissa Schneider finished second in a time of 5:10.14.

Lauren Haslett, Lindsay Ochab, Schneider and Tiffany Kelly were runnerup in the crescendo relay. The quartet finished in 10:01.89. Three more teams took third place. Ochab, Haslett, Kelly and Bridget Daly teamed up in the 800 freestyle to take third in 9:45.07.

O'Neill, Sara Dzwonkowski, Stephanie Wegyn and Lindsay Block were third in the 200 butterfly (2:32.77). Prinity Varshney, Greer, Dzwonkowski and Betsy Lewis were third in the 200 medley relay (2:23.84).

Kickers win districts

Playing the same style soccer it has displayed over the past two months of the regular season, The Novi soccer team won the Division I soccer district title Saturday.

The Wildcats topped West Bloomfield 4-0, thanks in part to a pair of Brandon Davis' goals and one each from Joe Irmesuc and Scott Jettie. Goalie Nick Sloan made three stops in goal to record yet another shutout.

The win came just three days after Novi shut out Walled Lake Western 3-0. In that game, Davis also scored two goals and Kevin Callender added the other. Ryan Rzepka picked up two assists and Sloan was there to record the win in goal.

"We'll take 'em," Novi coach Brian O'Leary said of two more shutouts. "It works out good for us, with everything being turned around as far as districts are concerned."

In the past, Novi would be placed in the same district as the Livonia and Plymouth schools. Novi was scheduled to face Dearborn Tuesday (after The Novi News deadline) at South Lyon with the winner taking on either Livonia, Stevenson or Monroe tomorrow night at South Lyon Middle School. O'Leary was confident his team could beat Dearborn, and expected Stevenson to get by Monroe.

Currently, there are just eight teams remaining in the Division I playoffs.

Peurach leads 2nd team

It may look as if the sport of golf is growing younger, and it is. Just look at this year's all-area team, which includes just three seniors and two juniors among the 10 selections.

There is a freshmen and four sophomores among the elite, including a combined three on the second team alone. Professional golf's marketing to youngsters has really paid off.

Here's a look at HomeTown Newspaper's all-area second team for 1999.

Ryan Duff Milford junior
"He was up and down all year," Milford coach Jim Sander, "but he played really well in some big matches."

The biggest being the Division I state finals. Milford qualified as a team and though it didn't make the cut, Duff shot well enough — 77 — to play the second day. He also came through at the Oakland County tournament, shooting a 76. Duff's 18-hole average was 84.

Pat Kerekes South Lyon sophomore
No South Lyon player improved more over the summer Kerekes, and he became a key contributor on a team which finished seventh in Oakland County and fourth at its regional. With Brian Downing and Justin Goyt, not to mention coach Bill Thomas, Kerekes' role will be even greater.

Kerekes' nine-hole average was 42. Over 18 holes, he shot 73 at the regional and 83 at the KVC press-on tournament.

Brent LaLonde Milford senior
He'll be the only player not returning to the Milford five which made the state finals, and coach Jim Hill said he expects LaLonde to be a key contributor on a team which finished seventh in Oakland County and fourth at its regional. With Brian Downing and Justin Goyt, not to mention coach Bill Thomas, Kerekes' role will be even greater.

Kerekes' nine-hole average was 42. Over 18 holes, he shot 73 at the regional and 83 at the KVC press-on tournament.

Sander said the team will miss his consistency. LaLonde's 18-hole average was 81.7, his nine-hole average was 40. He shot 79 at the Oakland County tournament, and in KVC duals had low games of 37 against both Howell and Novi.

Dave Ojace Northville freshman
You couldn't find him stop Northville's scorecard anytime cut, but it was difficult to find a scorecard without his name scoring for the team.

Ojace made a great impression in his first year of high school golf, averaging 41.7 in match play. He was the lone member of the Mustang squad to earn all-Western Lakes Activities Association first-team honors, just one of six players chosen in the 12-team conference. He fired a 38 against both South Lyon and Novi.

"Even if he played number six for us on a given day, it didn't mean he was our sixth-best player," Northville coach Brad Siedley said. "Dave really came through and fired some good rounds for us."

Matt Peurach Novi sophomore
All Peurach did was golf his best at big invitational.

The sophomore finished an impressive third at the Oakland County meet after firing a 73. His 74 at the Farmington Invite placed him second and contributed to his 18-hole average of 82. He averaged 40 in all matches.

He and first-team selection Pete Kobylarek along with fellow sophomore Rob Overfield give Novi one of the more promising teams next year in the Kearsington Valley Conference.

"They know now, it's time to make something happen," the trio's coach said. "I'm really looking forward to it."

Hot Picks

The second season of football picks has begun, and everyone will be trying to top the defending champion, Jason Schmitt. This year we've even given the coin a chance, so hopefully everyone has at least a 50 percent chance of finishing out of last place...we hope!

McDONALD FORD SALUTES NOVI ATHLETES OF THE WEEK

Kristina Utley - Senior
It's not easy to pick up a win over one of the state's elite teams, but that's exactly what Utley did last Thursday against Farmington Mercy. The senior won the 100 freestyle in a time of 56:69 seconds, helping the team's 300 freestyle relay team finish in both the 200 and 400 freestyle relays.

Kelly Bendermager - Senior
Kelly Bendermager, a senior at Novi, was named Athlete of the Week for her performance in the 100 freestyle at the Mercy Invitational. She finished with a time of 56:69, helping the team secure a second-place finish in the 300 freestyle relay.

Prepare now for "The Great Smokeout"

It can make your breath, hair, car and home smell bad. It will make you look older than your years. It will stain your teeth and hands. It is associated with heart disease, cancer, stroke, asthma, emphysema, gum disease and osteoporosis, to name just a few health problems. About 430,000 people die from diseases related to it in the United States annually, 15,000 deaths each year in Michigan alone. But, you don't catch it - you choose to participate. Yes, those are some of the risks you live with when you choose to smoke.

Clearly, smoking is a dangerous habit. Every time you smoke a cigarette, you're taking minutes off your life. But, even with that information, 23.2 percent of people in the United States smoke - and the rate for Michigan residents is even higher, at 26.1 percent.

If it is time for you or a loved one to quit, the time to start is now. "The Great American Smokeout" is Nov. 18. "The Smokeout allows us to quit for a day to gain confidence in preparation to quit permanently," said Sharon Sheldon, M-Fit health educator University of Michigan Health system.

She says the most important ways to succeed are to mark the quit date on your calendar, then build a support network by telling your family and friends the date that you plan to quit. If you're helping someone else to kick the habit, start reminding them of the day now.

Next, prepare by reducing the amount of nicotine in your body. After all, the United States Surgeon General has concluded that nicotine is a high-powered stimulant with an addiction comparable to that of heroin or morphine. Cut back on the number of cigarettes smoked per day. "This allows your body to get more used to a lower level of nicotine in the body so that on your quit date your body will be able to acclimate to not having nicotine at all," said Sheldon.

Many non-smoking aids are available on the market, both nicotine and non-nicotine pharmacological therapies. Sheldon says it is best to discuss the aids with your primary care physician to determine the most appropriate approach. "Combining a pharmacological aid with behavioral change has shown to be the most successful approach to quitting smoking," she said. "People will use chewing gum, mints, carrots, celery sticks, and pretzel sticks that allow you to get that oral and manual gratification that perhaps you used to get from cigarettes."

If you've already quit, or you don't smoke, the Smokeout is a time to help others lose the tobacco habit. Every day about 3,000 kids are taking up the smoking habit. The message that smoking is a very dangerous habit is not getting through. Sheldon encouraged young people and educators to use "The Great American Smokeout" in schools and community centers to help kids quit before it really takes hold of their lives.
