Community shows support for National Bullying Prevention Day

BY NATHAN MUELLER STAFF WRITER

It pains Callie Wright to know that some of her classmates skip school because they are tired of being made fun of and picked on.

So it's no surprise that as the community recognized National Bullying Prevention Day by encouraging everyone to wear pink, Wright was soliciting her peers to sign a banner pledging to put an end to the actions that cause pain to many students. "It's one thing to acknowledge a problem but another to have the courage to step up and stop it," she said. "I would like to hope that bringing the topic to the forefront will help, but really it is all in the student's hands."

Novi is the first community in Michigan to participate in National Bullying Prevention Day, according to city of Novi community relations Director Sheryl Walsh, and pink was seen throughout the school district, at the civic center and police and fire departments and even in Novi businesses. Walsh was instrumental in bringing the idea to Novi after hearing about a high school freshman in Nova Scotia, Canada, who was bullied in 2007 for wearing a pink shirt. Two seniors decided to stand

There is no end in sight to the alarmingly high unemployment rate in Michigan. But for one day, unemployed job seekers can meet with employers hiring for more than 3,000 jobs by attending a free career expo Nov. 4 at the Rock Financial Showplace. The career expo, presented by a new website called hiredMYway.com, is the second one the company has had this year, and organizpeople to attend and interview with the more than 36 companies that will be look-and we could not do it as fast with a private firm." The first career expo in July helped 380 people get interviews and more than 200 were hired within a couple of weeks.

O'Connor said the website is unique in that it is resultsdriven, and operates like a matching service to find job seekers the right match in a more efficient way.

School district encouraging healthy eating Village Oaks students test group for new foods

BY NATHAN MUELLER STAFF WRITER

Hometown Weeklies | Thursday, October 28, 2010

It's no peanut butter and jelly sandwich, but the whole wheat wraps with sunflower seed butter and raisins were a minor hit for kindergartners at Village Oaks Elementary. The healthy alternative to a favorite treat was offered to the students as part of an initiative by the School Nutrition Action Committee to give kids healthier options at school. Kindergartners at Village Oaks were the pilot group for the program, which will take place every month with a new grade level at the school. "Our goal is to increase awareness of other foods that are out there," said JoAnn Clements, director of nutrition and food services for the Novi Community Schools District. "This is when children are forming their habits, good or bad, and we feel it is very important to stress this with the kids in (elementary school)."

With the help of local chef Ina Cheatem and parent volunteers, the students got to learn how to make the wraps themselves, and according to Clements, "some liked it and some didn't.'

Aaron Klenke, who has a daughter at Village Oaks, is passionate about providing students with healthy food choices and is glad the school district is on board with giving them more options

He said he wants to see the district incorporate more fresh and local products, which will not only be better for kids but help the Michigan economy. "If we can get students involved by getting them accustomed to more local nmueller@gannett.com | (248) 437-2011, ext. 255

fruits and vegetables we can work better health into our community and our country," he said. "And if we can introduce them to it when they are young, we can keep doing it as they grow up and slowly improve their entire diet." Next up for the program is squash made by the first graders. Clements said the food item made by SNAC will be featured on the school lunch menu for the entire month so kids get reinforcement of having it every week. The program will end in February with the fourth graders. "As a school district we feel we have to start modeling the change we want to see in the kids," she said. She also stressed that the district can only do so much and it "has to start at home too."

Chef Ina Cheatem supervises Village Oaks kindergartners Josse Drouin-Bain and Tyler Curtis, right, as they prepare a healthy snack of pita bread, sunflower butter, cinnamon and raisins during an assembly on Oct. 19. The school will continue this program of introducing nutritious foods to its students and even allow students in the upper grades the opportunity to cook in the kitchen.

Library owes 'Friends' for 50 years of success

Volunteers help library prosper

BY NATHAN MUELLER STAFF WRITER

A small group of visionaries, dubbed the "Friends of the Novi Library," brought the first library to the Novi area

50 years ago. And that same group, while many of the names and faces have changed since then, has helped shape what the Novi Public Library is today. It was the initial group of Friends that saw a need for a library, securing an old bank building on Novi Road near Grand River Avenue in Novi Township in 1960 to house their operation. They borrowed books, raised money and staffed the facility themselves on a volunteer basis. Within three years, a half-mill tax was approved by township residents to improve and support library operations, Dorothy Flattery was

"There has always been a core group of people who were focused and dedicated a great deal of their time and efforts into keeping it a viable place," said Pam Van Houten (Schneemann), who began her volunteer work as a Friend in 1978. "The Friends did what they could at the scale then could do it in, and we always did our best to come up with ways to generate money." In 1976, a new Novi Public Library was built at Ten Mile and Taft roads, operating with an independent one-mill tax. Half of the building was then leased to the city in 1978 for administrative offices at the cost of $1 per year. Van Houten said the community was a rural farming community at that time and the needs of the residents "weren't nearly as great as they are now."

There was no technology to work with, and the group focused a great deal of time on children's books and programs.

"It was much more small scale at that time," she said. By 1980 the Friends had increased in size to 20 members, and in 1987, the library once again had the building to itself as the city offices moved into its own facility.

Pauline Druschel started as a part-time reference librarian in 1983 and was part of a group that developed and outreach program for those who could not come to the library. She eventually became an assistant

OCC board candidates share their views at forum

BY STACY JENKINS OBSERVER STAFF WRITER

Five of the 11 candidates for the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees shared their views at a recent candidate forum, hosted by the League of Women Voters. Participants were Deborah Macon, of West Bloomfield; Amber Patterson, of Southfield; Anne Scott, of Clarkston; Michele Scott, of Southfield; and Thomas Sullivan, of Oakland Township. There are three six-year seats up for grabs in the Nov. 2 election. Incumbents are Thomas Kuhn, of Troy; Anne Scott; and Sullivan. The seven trustees serve as nonpartisan volunteers and are not compensated.

Macon is a regular at the OCC board meetings and an active member of several community outreach groups. She's a former classroom teacher, former West Bloomfield Township board member and former Bloomfield Hills school

ONLINE CLASSES

Because OCC is facing their thoughts on why the OCC record enrollment levels, online classes are an option that's becoming popular and necessary. Patterson said online learning is a way to bring students who are not local to the school and could even bring students from around the country to OCC.

"Online learning is the future," she said.

> vital because that is the standard by which community colleges are measured," she said, noting the courses must be high quality and relevant. Sullivan said online courses, if they're done properly, are

"extremely important," especially with the challenges the school faces with high enrollment, currently. Macon said anything to make education more accessible and flexible is a good thing.

HIGH ENROLLMENT OCC is experiencing high enrollment lately, largely due to the economy. Many people who are laid off from their jobs are pursuing other fields, such as health care, and need the course work or degrees. Anne Scott said OCC's administration is "thinking outside of the box" in terms of offering weekend courses at all campuses and determining the best use of space at all build-Michele Scott said all of the Law enforcement to put the scare on drunken drivers this Halloween be the only spooky things on enforcement officers are the streets this Halloween, as drunken drivers will pose the scariest threat of all. That's why more than 200 law enforcement agencies are putting extra officers out on the road through Sunday, Oct. 31

Officers in 35 counties, including Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne, will be conducting drunken driving enforcement through federal traffic safety funds administered by the Office of Highway Safety Planning.

Although there were no traffic fatalities last Halloween, five people died in traffic crashes Oct. 30 and Nov. 1, Two of those deaths were alcohol-related. In 2009, there were 299 alcohol-related traffic deaths, a decrease of 5.7 percent from 2008. Although the number of alcohol-related traffic deaths declined last year, crashes involving alcohol are eight times more likely to be fatal.

"The scariest part of Halloween isn't the costumes or the pranks," said Michael L. Prince, OHSP director. "It's the fact that many drivers don't plan ahead and try to drive while impaired. There isn't a costume clever enough to hide

Last Halloween, 179 drivers were arrested for drunken driving in Michigan and 75 of those motorists had a blood-alcohol content of 0.17 or higher.

A motorist convicted of drunken driving can expect to face serious consequences, including: •Up to 93 days in jail license In addition, they will be subject to a $1.000 fee for two consecutive years, for a total of $2,000 in additional costs. Anyone who refuses a breath test the first time is given an automatic one-year driver's license suspension. As of Oct. 31, Michigan will have enhanced penalties for anyone convicted of drunken driving with a BAC of 0.17 or above. This includes increased fines, longer jail time, a one-year license suspension and the possibility of a restricted driver's license with the use of a Breath Alcohol Ignition Interlock Device.

•Up to a $500 fine •Up to 360 hours of community service •180 days driving suspen-

Which gubernatorial candidate can turn us around fastest?

After watching the gubernatorial debate (Oct. 10), it would seem that voters have to decide the following question: Do they want a competent businessman with no political experience, or do they want a man with political experience from the municipal to the legislative level to lead Michigan in this time of crisis?

In other words, in these dire economic times, do voters want another inexperienced Granholm type who still seems to be learning on the job after eight years, or do they prefer an Engler type off man who thoroughly knows all the bells and whistles of the legislative process and how to operate the levers of change? While both candidates appear sincere in their desire to turn Michigan around, the question for voters now is - Who knows how to do it the fastest?

Manar seeks fiscal responsibility of have been a part of the Nowischool system for over 40 years as a school board member, school administrator, teacher and grandparent of four Novi students. Hopefully, these qualify me as someone knowledgeable of what a school board member should be. During these difficult economic times our schools need leaders that are honest, wise, informed and people of integrity. We have those kind of persons serving now.

Jason Manar fits that description. I know him, have discussed educational issues with him and believe that he would be the best choice for a school board member

John Agosta, who co-owns Gina Agosta Hair Color • Design & Spa, was inducted as a member to Intercoiffure Mondial, a collaborative group of the world's premier salons

Formed in Paris in 1912, Interediffure is an international organization that recognizes the most esteemed artists of the hairdressing profession. Membership is extended based upon talent, visionary sense of style, dedication to providing exceptional service and professionalism within the industry. John co-owns two Gina Agosta salons in Novi and Brighton with Joseph and Gina Agosta, known to many clients in the West Oakland area for their expertise. The three owners are well known locally and regionally. "Our staff at Gina Agosta Salon is committed to bringing clients fun, fresh and modern fashion in all areas of the beauty industry and to all age groups," Gina said. "Let us be your salon of choice, because you deserve the best!"

The Specialists

Celebrating 15 years in Novi and four years in Brighton, Gina Agosta Hair Color • Design & Spa has set itself apart by implementing a concept known as departmentalization. This structure ensures that clients see only a specialist in hair color, cutting, styling, skin care, nails or massage. Only a handful of salons in Michigan are structured this way. "When stylists get a cosmetology license, they are licensed to do

In their commitment to excellence, the Agostas provide their staff with continuous education in the salon and at professional academies and events. Refining their skills in creativity, color technology and styling techniques allows the Agosta staff to provide unequaled personal service.

The Salon

With an expanded location in Novi, another location in Brighton and 70 employees, Gina Agosta is one of the largest salon and spa businesses in the Metro Detroit area. A talented design team works with each client to craft the perfect look — whether that be a shampoo, haircut and blow-dry or a Keratin straightening treatment for a glamprously polished look

Gina, Joseph and John carry more than 100 years of experience compined. Their leadership combined with continual training and education allow Agosta colorists to take the guesswork out of the hair color. Partnering with L'Oréal Professional, the Agostas stay ahead of the trends and offer permanent or demi-permanent color, customized highlights, double process lightening with toner or shading and more. L'Oréal Professional's INOA, the first ammonia-free permanent hair color range, delivers all the benefits of traditional hair color without the smell or irritating itchy scalp.

"We were a preview salon for INOA," John said. "It was tested here before it was released to other salons. We are always embracing new technology"

Hair, skin and massage services are available to men in a private salon setting exclusive to them - located directly next door to the Agosta Novi location.

"I don't know of any other salons that have an area designated strictly for men with stylists that focus on men's haircutting," John said.

A full line of hair care products is available at the salon, including the salon's signature Agosta product line, featuring sulfate- and parabinfree shampoo and best-selling Gina Agosta hair powder. Jewelry, hair accessories, candles, purses and more make shopping and gift-giving fun

Mustangs gallop to boys title

The last time Northville brought home a conference boy cross country title the Mustangs were part of the old Western Lakes Activities Association

On Thursday, the Mustangs earned their first-ever KLAA Kensington Conference crown by edging Plymouth for first place, 63-70, at chilly, windy and overcast Huron Meadows Metropark in Brighton.

Canton placed third with 87 points, while defending champion Novi settled for fifth with 96. The Wildcats were followed by host Livonia Stevenson with 118 and Salem with 119. See complete meet results.

"We figured we had a good chance, but you're always surprised when you run against the kind of competition that's in this conference," Northville coach Chris Cronin said. "We knew who the players were going to be. Plymouth was good, Canton was good. Novi's good. They're good teams, so you have to bring your 'A' game. It was close, a lot closer maybe what people expected, but we expected it to be that close." Senior Chad Cini led the victorious Mustangs

Trio of shutouts leave boys soccer team four wins from state championship

Novi and Detroit Catholic Central's boys soccer teams met in districts for the secondstraight year and, like last year, the Wildcats won and were crowned district champions. The big differences between the two district titles were that No. 13 Novi (19-4-0) dominated in a 2-0 victory last Saturday at Northville, while, last year, CC was stronger, but fell 1-0 in the opening round at Meadows Stadium. "This is probably the biggest game of our season so far," said Novi junior Alex Ferrini, who notched the game-winning goal. "That's what got it started, got the momentum going." Junior Chase Jabbori did a lot of the footwork on Ferrini's goal, taking a ball into CC's zone in the first half before crossing it to Ferrini on the left side for a quick 1-0 lead heading into the half.

"Chase cut wide and checked in with the ball at his feet. Chase got the ball to the end line and sent a great ball over the top, over the goalkeeper, to Ferrini," Novi coach Brian O'Leary said.

Despite the first-half goal, CC netminder Alex Lang kept the Shamrocks in the game for a full 80 minutes with 10 saves.

"The first 15 minutes, we would've been down 4-0 if he didn't make those saves. He was our best player on the field by far. He stood on his head, by far," CC coach Joe Nora said. "We had a game plan and I don't think we followed it very well. We didn't feel com-

The Varsity Bobcats (6-2) beat the Commerce Chargers (5-3) on Sunday to secure their spot in the WLJFL Super Bowl playoff. The Bobcats received the opening kickoff, but fumbled on the return and the Chargers recovered. On the Chargers first play from scrimmage, cornerback Michael Ninkovich intercepted the Chargers quarterback at the 30-yard line. Both teams exchanged punts on their next possessions, with the Chargers pinning the Bobcats deep at their 2-yard line. Jalen Ward earned a first down on three consecutive runs to give the Bobcats' offense breathing room, then broke wide for an electrifying 80-yard touchdown. Jack Pinkerton kicked the PAT for an 8-0 Bobcats lead to end the first quarter.

The Bobcats' defense forced the Chargers' pass oriented offense to punt on their next two possessions. The Bobcats Meadors who was knocked took over at their own 35yard line, and called on Ward line. The phrase "defense wins games" didn't come from nowhere, and Novi's football team proved it last Friday as the defensive line shut out Flint Carman-Ainsworth 25-0 to finish the season.

Two Wildcats (junior Alex King and senior Krister Engja) recorded double-digit tackles on defense and Novi's offense got on the board 20 seconds before halftime to get the offense rolling steady. "Defense played real well again. It's a tribute to our defensive coaches. They shut a Division I recruit down." Novi coach Todd Pennycuff said. "Offensively, I thought we finally put things together." Leading up to the score, the first half was fairly uneventful. Ainsworth (3-6, 3-2 Big Nine) turned over the ball on downs, Novi (5-4, 4-1 KLAA Central) recovered their own fumbles and neither team could move the ball more than nine yards at a time in the first quarter. Novi senior Scotty Stanford missed a 43-yard field goal wide left 1:01 into the second quarter, but, despite a 23-yard run by Ainsworth's NCAA Division I recruit, Shane Barron, the Cardinals turned the ball over on downs 5:14 later at Novi's 42-

Neither team could put together another scoring drive, but the Wildcats got a strong 27-yard rush up the left side by junior Justin Brooks late in the final quarter.

Novi senior Austin Wertheimer put the nail in the coffin when he intercepted an 11-yard pass at the Ainsworth 45 and returned it five yards. A face-masking penalty on Ainsworth put the ball on Ainsworth's 24 and the Wildcats ran out the clock. Masserant's 202 rush-heavy, as many Novi contests have been this season. Overton went 4-for-14 for 53 yards and two interceptions as the Cardinals got 154 yards on 31 rushes. Novi rang up 339 yards on 50 carries, while Ince was 1-for-3 for nine yards. Fighting cancer

Novi-based Premier Relocations, a local agent for Mayflower Transit has partnered with the Karmanos Cancer Institute. If someone moves locally (within 40 miles of their existing home) with Premier during the month of October, Premier will donate 5 percent of the total cost to Karmanos for cancer research. The donation will be made in the customer's name if they desire. The entire crew will be decked out in pink t-shirts to help increase the awareness of breast cancer. "I was watching a YouTube video about a Pink Glove Dance and wondered how we could make a difference in cancer research. Everybody knows at least one person who has been impacted by cancer and this was an opportunity to give to an awesome organization to help fund research for a cure," said Kirk Hensler, general manager of Premier Relocations.
