The Clarkston Community Schools District has a serious shortage of bus drivers. This shortage is an area of concern for everyone involved, including Superintendent Al Roberts,

"This shortage isn't a problem just in Clarkston. It's throughout southeast Michigan," he said. The issue is complicated with low unemployment mixed with the stringent licensing restrictions for school bus drivers.

"Hiring qualified bus drivers is not a role we take lightly," he added. "Hiring qualified people does become a real ssue.

Roberts said bus drivers in the district earn from $10.80 to $14.67 an hour. Drivers who work six hours a day receive full benefits.

These include health, dental, vision, long term disability, sick days, emergency days, personal business days, life insurance and more.

"We think we've been fair in what e're offering," Robert added.

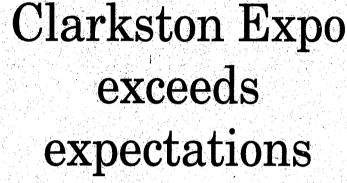

The district also provides training on school bus driving for those who quali-

The three black kittens from Independence Animal Hospital didn't find an adoptive home at Thursday's Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce Business and Community Expo.

They were likely the only ones who didn't find what they were looking for at the 13th annual event.

The Expo had a new venue and a record number crowd of at least 1,800 people. The number of exhibitors was up from 67 to 103, Chamber executive director Penny Shanks said. With the community's growth, the demand for more expo booths was not surprising, she added. Clarkston High School's cafeteria offered more space and high ceilings for better air circulation, Shanks said.

The expo started out years ago at the Deer Lake Athletic Club and its last location was Clarkston Creek Golf Course. Shanks said the expo could have expanded a couple of years age, but there was no place any bigger than Clarkston Creek.

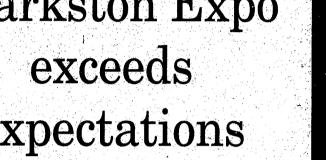

The high school, with its ample parking and lighting, was perfect, Shanks said. "It's a challenge to go somewhere else. I think the exhibitors were happy.

Julie Cornell, service manager for AutoLab said the new venue was nice.

Mystery contest winner

Tammy Maley of Clarkston won the Guess the Detective contest organized by the Independence Township Library.

Librarian Patience Beers put together 10 clues. Library users had the whole month of October to identify the sleuth. Eight correct entries were received. Two of them knew the bonus question - the first name of Inspector Morse, which is of course, Endeayour. Beer had a drawing to pick the winner. The Inspector Morse series by Colin Dexter is popular with readers and has been on the PBS series, "Mys-

Children can do amazing things if they're given the chance, and that includes performing Shakespeare.

Class Act Drama, a 4-H Club with about 50 members mostly from northern Oakland County, has been performing works by William Shakespeare and other playwrights for seven years. The group is becoming more well-known and has several local performances planned.

"The hardest part is we don't have theater space," said Marcey Walsh, a parent volunteer who serves as producer for the troupe. Walsh's daughter, 16-year-old Leah Walsh, said all the work that goes into these productions is well worth it. Leah has been involved with Class Act since it started in 1992. The group will present "The Taming of the Shrew" this month. It also per-

At the turn of the century, many shopkeepers lived above their stores and as the 20th century closes people are once again working from home, but in a different way.

Small entrepreneurs are turn ing their spare time into extra cash or just shunning the regular 9-5 routine for something that works better for them and their families.

Several home-based business people are gathering for a Holi-day Expo Nov. 20 to tout their products and services and net-work with others. In addition, the expo will serve as a drop-off site for the Marine Corps Toys for Tots.campaign. People also may bring non-perishable food items, which will be donated to Lighthouse.

The gathering is from 12:30 -4:30 p.m. at the Carriage House at Clintonwood Park, 6000 Clarkston Road. Door prizes and giveaways will be a part of the festivities.

Angela Hawke of Independence Township organized the expo. She said says she thinks working this way is becoming more and more popular. "I like being home. I like that flexibility," Hawke said.

A mother of a 4-year-old and an infant, she didn't want to leave her children to go to work each day, but the family, like everyone else's, could use the extra income.

She has sold Herbalife products from her home since April. Like many people who sell products by hosting parties, she decided to get involved after trying the product. She started when her baby was 3 months old and she was still trying to take off the last of the weight she had gained carrying him. A month after starting on the supplement, she was back down to her desired weight.

"That confirmed it for me." she said

Herbalife has products that claim to help with weight reduction and many other ailments such as allergies, high blood pressure and anxiety. Hawke said she has been busy trying to build business. "It's not something you can just sit back and expect it to grow," she said. Eventually she would like to set up her own store front. The expo will have between 12 and 15 business represented, including Republic Bancorp. Although the bank is a major corporation, Lisa Coffel of Rochester will attend the expo as a way to get additional customers.

Coffel is a loan officer at the downtown Rochester branch. She said she chose Republic as an employer because of its reputation to customer service.

She spends most of her time on the road, helping people with loans at their home or business es. She said her schedule includes nights and weekends because often that is when peo-ple have time to sit down and discuss their needs. It works well for families because children don't have to sit in a bank with mom and dad.

"We concentrate on the cus-tomer and what's best for them," she said. She will have educational booklets and tapes to give away at the expo. She said they would be helpful for first-time home buyers who might not know a lot of the terminology or the process involved in getting a mortgage. Coffel's mother, Elsie Coffel of Auburn Hills, has been a consultant for Oxford-based The Good Nature Co. for three years, Like Hawke, the products first piqued her interest. She never thought she would like selling anything. I was drawn to the product. I love bird feeders and the out-doors," Coffel said.

The Good Nature Co. sells bird feeders, sun dials and other outdoor accessories. All the wood products come from salvaged wood, she said: "We don't deal with companies who cut down trees," Coffel said. Coffel worked full time at Crittenton Hospital before she became involved with The Good Nature Co. She said she makes more money now working fewer hours as her own boss.

She said she gets a lot of plea-sure out of talking with people about their hobbies. Gardening and bird watching are two of the nation's most popular pastimes, she said.

Many of Coffel's clients are men. Especially popular with the guys are bat houses. Coffel said bats are even better than bug zappers — they eat up to 1,000 insects an hour. And her male customers are just as enthusiastic as the ladies.

"They'll call you back and say 'I've got bats in my bat house,' she said.

The exhibits and giveaways were joined by disc jockey music and live performances by the Clarkston High School Madrigal Singers and the Wolves Pack, the school's pep band. Attendees devoured food prepared by the Oakland Technical Center's culinary arts program. People also lined up to try

Clarkston Middle School observes Mexican holiday

BY SUSAN B. TAUBER STAFF WRITER stauber@oe.homecomm.net

The smells of incense mixed with cooking oil permeated a back hall of Clarkston Middle School Tuesday as 175 art and Spanish students celebrat-ed the Mexican holiday "El Día de los Muertos" or Day of the Dead.

Art teachers Claudia Keglovitz and Marilyn Ormiston and Spanish teachers Daryl Biallas and Marie Hannifin worked to create a whole cultural experience for their students — complete with a graveyard in a school courtyard - based on this holiday. El Dia de los Muertos, according to the students' packet, is a Mexican holiday celebrated Nov. 1-2 to remember and commemorate the lives of Mexican people who have died. It's filled with tradi-

People spend Nov. 1 cleaning the graves and tombstones of their loved ones. On Nov. 2, they celebrate the lives of the deceased. Celebrations include parades, candles, incense, marigolds, putting out the dead person's favorite foods at the grave sites, using skeletons and masks as decorations and even staying at the grave all night in hopes of enticing the person's spirit to visit. In order to celebrate as authentically as possi-

Tree farm, Lighthouse team up

BY SUBAN B. TAUBER STAFF WRITER stauber@oe.homecomm.net

Two local organizations are providing a way for residents to extend the warm glow of their Christmas trees throughout the community. Lighthouse Emergency Services of Clarkston and Pontiac, a non-profit organization, and the choose-and-cut Candy Cane Christmas Tree Farm, a for-profit business, have a plan for putting more money into the Lighthouse Emergency Services coffers.

Customers who bring a can of food or a nonperishable food item to Candy Cane Christmas Tree Farm when they buy their Christmas tree will help Lighthouse Emergency Services, a subsidiary of Lighthouse of Oakland County.

The tree farm at 4780 Seymour Lake Road is donating a portion of every tree sale to the Clarkston-based Lighthouse.

"We'll use that money to help supplement the food baskets we provide to the local community," said Kathleen Carolin, branch manager of both the Clarkston and Pontiac Lighthouse offices.

Another way to donate a portion of the Christmas tree sale to Lighthouse is by bringing in a special coupon.

Carolin said these will be available from the Lighthouse building at 5331 Maybee Road in Independence Township and from the tree farm. The farm opens for Christmas tree choose-and-cut sales on Saturday, Nov. 20. Lighthouse and Candy Cane Christmas Tree Farm will keep a record of all who helped the non-profit organization.

"We'll publicly thank everyone in the newspa-pers after the Christmas season," Carolin added. Cathy Genovese, an owner of the Brandon Township Christmas tree farm, said she is pleased with the partnership of the two organizations. "We were brought together by mutual friends," she explained. "The farm adopts a charity every year. We always contribute to different groups and schools. Our goal is to give back to the community because most of our business comes from the communities. It's a way for us to tie in to the spirit of giving.

The farm and Lighthouse have another way to garner extra funding for Lighthouse.

STATT PHOTO BY STEVE CA For others: Kathleen Carolin of Lighthouse and Cathy Genovese of Candy Cane Christmas Tree Farm overlook the trees that will benefit both organizations.

It's going to put up a Tree of Giving on its front lawn. People can "buy" (support) lights of different colors in memory or honor of a special person. All of this money goes directly to Lighthouse to assist residents of Oxford and Brandon townships. Individuals can sponsor lights on the trees. Prices range from $5 -$50 for the lights and $100 for the tree-top star. For more information on this program, contact Clarkston Lighthouse at (248) 673-4949.

Santa will light the tree at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 27. Refreshments will be provided.

The Clarkston Rotary Club is supporting a Tree of Caring on behalf of Lighthouse for the fifth year. The tree-lighting ceremony will be at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 26. The tree will be in downtown Clarkston.

"None of the money we raise through the trees of caring and the tree donations goes into administrative costs. It all goes directly back to the community," Carolin stressed.

Lighthouse Emergency Services provides food, medicine, transportation or temporary shelters for families and seniors in emergency situations. Last year, the Clarkston and Pontiac branches helped more than 74,500 people.

Board pay dialogue delayed

Discussion about compensation for Independence Town-ship's full-time elected officials has been postponed again. The item was on the township board's Nov. 2 agenda, but was pulled at the suggestion of Trustee Neil Wallace. He said he thought the group should wait until all members were present to discuss the issue. Trustee Dan Travis is still recuperating from a severe case of pneumonia and was not at the Nov. 2 meeting.

Wallace said brying to take action without seven members resent could end in a stalemate. Supervisor Dale Stuart pro-deferred compensation and retirement medical benefits.

"There's so much more we can do now," she said.

Class Act performs two or three plays per year, plus the Dickens' Festival between Thanksgiving and Christmas, Walsh, who lives in Independence Township, said she would like to start a repertoire theater. That group would be veteran cast members who could take one-hour versions of Shakespeare classics to schools and other community groups.

Many members of Class Act have been doing this for seven years and their presentation is that much more sophisticated. Not only that, the intense rehearsal schedules make lasting friendships.

"You get close to everyone in the group. My best friends are there," Leah said.

The students love Shakespeare, Leah said, because his writing is so good and his themes are so real. Also, Shakespeare realized that no one wants a boring part "Shakespeare was an actor so every part, every actor has a good scene," added Walsh.

She calls Kander the "miracle" behind the plays. Kander stud-She said the smallest part can steal the show. Walsh and group founder Lisa Kander of Holly are able to handle casting little children because there are always plenty of servants or other small parts available, Walsh said one production had shepherds and they ended up using 3- and 4-year-olds as sheep.

"The kids at Pontiac Northern (where they were performing) went wild," she said.

They loved the little live sheep. Walsh said the group becomes a family affair for many families and the younger broth ers and sisters want to do what their older siblings are doing She said it's wonderful to watch the children blossom.

What's incredible, she said, is that children are not only able to memorize complex and often archaic lines, but understand the stories, they are telling and convey that to the audience.

have a permanent home, possi-bly as a theater in-residence group. She said currently they perform with a basic set since it is a mobile group. Rehearsals are held wherever they can find a space, including in members homes.

Former Oakland Clerk Lynn Allen leaves legacy of leadership

BY PAT MURPHY STAFF WRITER pmurphy@oe.homeco omm.nei

As colleagues, friends and loved ones prepared to say good-bye to Lynn D. Allen, their thoughts and stories focused on the person as much as the man who had been the longest serv-ing county clerk in Oakland history

Allen, who died Wednesday after a battle with pancreatic and liver cancer, was 74. He had been county clerk for an eventful 30 years before retiring last year. His accomplishments were many, according to hundreds of friends and admirers who gathered Thursday and Friday at the Donelson, Johns and Evans Funeral Home in Waterford.

But it was Lynn Allen the person who was most fondly remembered as mourners prepared for his burial services Saturday in the Oakland County Board of Commissioners Auditorium,

"Lynn had been sick for some time," said Martha "Duffie" Schreiber, one of 125 people or so who worked in the clerk's office during Allen's tenure. "So his death wasn't a surprise. But we loved him, and we'll miss him.

Allen retired in October 1998, when he said he wanted to play golf and otherwise enjoy his fam-ily and friends. Less than a year later, he was diagnosed with cancer and hospitalized in the Tawas area where he retired.

He was subsequently transferred to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac where he remained — except for a few "field trips" — until his death. One of those field trips was for a for a surprise party he planned for his wife Mary Ann.

"Lynn accepted the fact he had inoperable cancer," said circuit Judge Denise Langford Morris, one of the many friends and associates who visited him in the hospital. Langford Morris got to know and like Allen when she was an Oakland assistant prose cutor.

"But it didn't stop him from being what he was," she said, an unassuming person who genuinely cared about people."

Allen had been an exceptional public servant, who left Oakland County with an impressive lega-cy, she said. "He brought technology and efficiency to the office, while keeping it user-friendly to the public."

One of those who agreed is Genesee County Clerk Michael J. Carr, who knew Allen person-ally and professionally for more than two decades. "Lynn was first class," said Carr, "always looking for new technology, always looking to ways to make the office more efficient.'

Oakland leader

Under Allen's direction, Oakland was the first county to computerize court records and to put campaign financing records on-line. In 1993, the office was among the first in the nation to turn to "imaging," a method that literally takes an electronic picture of a deed or document that can later be called up and viewed on the computer.

"Lynn was a leader in imaging," said Carr. "We (Genesee County) are just going to imaging."

II 'He was a patriotic war veteran, he was a dedicated and innovative public servant who set the standard for all of us and he was a devoted husband, family man and friend.'

L. Brooks Patterson Oakland County executive

Carr said he was planning to attend Saturday's burial service. "I wouldn't be surprised if that place (the commissioner's auditorium) is packed," he said. "Lynn was highly respected throughout the state."

Allen was known for the way he went about his business, according to those who knew him well - professionally, yet friendly and unassuming. "We used to play Name that Tune'," recalled Pam Agelink, a secretary. "He'd whistle a tune as he was working in his office, and I'd guess the name."

Schreiber recalled the time coworkers threw her a shower in honor of Amber - her 4-year-old grandniece who was coming to live with her. One of the gifts was a Barney Car, with some assembly required, naturally. "Mr. Allen was on the floor of the office assembling every screw and bolt," said Schreiber, "and Amber was right next to him. The rest of us continued working, but Mr. Allen took the time to assemble that car. "I never could have done it," she said.

Karen Dedenbach, who was Allen's secretary until the day he retired, remembers her old boss and friend as someone who never hesitated to pitch in when things got husy. "Many time I've seen him at the counter date-stamping documents as they came in, she said.

Air Force veteran

Allen graduated from what was the old Pontiac High School where he was a star on the championship football team. In 1943, he enlisted in the Air Force and became a machine gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber stationed in England part of the air group that included the actor Jimmy Stewart, for whom Allen had considerable respect

The Allies had air superiority when he was flying over Europe, Allen recalled during an interview at his retirement. Thus his combat missions were somewhat less hazardous than earlier in the war, he said.

Nonetheless, when his plane returned from one mission, the ground crew counted 127 holes from bullets or anti-aircraft fire.

"There are so many things to say about Lynn Allen," said county Executive L. Brooks Patterson who was to deliver the eulogy Saturday. "He was a patriotic war veteran, he was a dedicated and innovative public servant — who set the standard for all of us — and he was a devoted husband, family man and friend."

After the war, Allen attended the University of Detroit and what was Central Michigan College before transferring to Northern Illinois College of Optometry where he graduated. He was practicing optometry in Pontiac in the mid-1960s when public life beckoned. He ran for state senate as a Republican in 1964, and he lost in Lyndon B. Johnson's landslide over Barry Goldwater.

In 1968, Allen was considering a fall bid for county clerk when the incumbent, Democrat John D. Murphy, died unexpectedly. He was appointed county clerk that summer, and faced re-elec-tion that November as the incumbent.

The county clerk's position was nothing new to Allen. His father, also Lynn D. Allen, was county clerk from 1933 until he died in 1958. Florence Allen - Lynn's mother — was appointed to fill her late husband's unexpired term.

In the fall of 1968, as Richard Nixon was defeating Hubert Humphrey, Allen beat his Democratic challenger by a relatively narrow margin. It was the first in a string of election victories that lasted almost three decades. "Lynn could have stayed forevsaid Judge Langford Morris.

"He loved public service. But he stepped away because he wanted to enjoy life." Even when hospitalized, Allen enjoyed life — at least as much as he could — according to G. William Gaddell, who succeeded him as county clerk. Caddell was a practicing chiropractor and a county commissioner in 1993 when Allen hired him as deputy clerk.

It was on Allen's recommendation that Caddell was appointed to succeed him.

As a friend and confidant, Caddell visited the retired clerk in the hospital and offered comfort to him and the family.

"It was amazing," said Caddell. "One day Lynn appeared to be close to death, and the next day he was chipper and making jokes (one of Allen's trade-marks). "But he always thought about others."

The visits of Caddell and other friends and admirers --- along with flowers, prayers, cards and phone calls — were a tremen-dous source of comfort to Allen, according to a statement released by the family, and were "truly his best medicine.

Allen is survived by his wife Mary Ann; two daughters and sons-in-law, Susan and John Sturza and Zoanne "Bunny" and David Stone; four grandchildren, John and Chelsea Sturza and David and Andrew Stone; and a

Arrangements were handled by the Donelson, Johns and Evans Funeral Home in Water-ford, with services scheduled for 11 a.m. at the commissioner's auditorium.

The family asks that memorials be made to the Lynn D. Allen Fund at St. Joseph Mercy-Oak-land in Pontiac or Mercy Cranbrook Hospice Care.

Sequins, beads and crystals visit day wear and accessories Sparkle has always

All types of cloth-ing pieces and accessories are gleaming this season, from sweater sets to evening bags. Familiar daytime clothing like cardigans, bangles, mules and belts are showing up adorned with sequins, beads and crystals.

While there's been much talk about minimalist style, a dash of shimmer may be just the "oomph!" your basic black staples need.

Besides, shiny details surely will come in handy during the holiday party season.

The next time you find yourself in a panic, saying, "I have nothing to wear," think sequins While sequins may seem excessive for day wear, small doses of such embellishments serve to add luxury and playfulness to casual outfits, rather than drama and extravagance.

A wool sweater or cardigan adorned with beading is one of the easiest ways to give ordinary skirts and pants sophistication and playfulness. Jacobson's, for example, sells a simple beaded snowflake sweater in pale blue and pink for $

If adding sparkle in the form of accessories sounds more your speed, shop for an ornate hand bag or shiny piece of jewelry.

Necklaces you can layer and beaded chokers are suitable for most outfits and occasions, especially if you'd like something light-catching around the While these pieces are available in major department stores and many small retail boutiques, I recommend stopping by Presence II in Birmingham. The store has a nice selection of these types of necklaces.

If you're looking for a piece of gleaming jewelry at a bargain price, visit Elizabeth Green Boutique on Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. The store's jewel-colored, crystal bead bracelets sell for only $10.

"(They're) perfect with blue jeans or a black ball gown," insists boutique owner Elizabeth Green, And, at $10, you can indulge yourself. Wear one or two in the same shade; or mix colors and stack upwards of three around your wrist.

Beaded purses, a season must-have for party attire, can be purchased just about anywhere at any price. I spotted interesting and affordable versions at two local stores. Imajica in Pleasant Ridge has vintage-inspired, sequined purses for about $62. At Bellissima in downtown Rochester, I found gray flannel purses with sequin details priced at about $42. Holiday apparel shoppers beware: the line between dressy and casual wear looks fuzzy these days, Fuzzy like a sweater. Designers and retailers are pushing sweaters and long skirts, rather than fussy dresses, to wear to holiday balls, as well as the plethora of semi-formal and informal occasions that come with the season.

Cardigans, funnel-neck and spaghetti-strap knit tops, even hooded sweatshirt-style sweaters, are being toted as the model party look for the holidays. Just add one of a variety of long skirt designs: ball gown, ball-style, parachute, to-the-floor and to-the ankle

While the notion of wearing a sweater and a long skirt to either a black-tie ball or casual dinner party might confuse some fashion followers, the trend has its advantages.

"It wardrobe stretches," said Somerset Collection Fashion Manager Amanda Turner. Not only can women wear the same skirt to both formal and informal affairs during the holiday season, but also the sweater they purchased for the look can be donned with jeans on a Sunday afternoon or paired with pants and jacket in the workplace.

Bren Hillis, Select Personal Shopping manager for Hudson's at Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi couldn't agree more, "You can wear sweater sets with a pair of dress slacks or a ball skirt through the seasons, but it's very unusual that a woman would wear a spectacular evening gown more than once. This way, they're, what is the saying? ... Getting more bang for their buck."

Another benefit of the trend, women can mix fabrics and colors in their evening wear. They also don't have to settle for less-than-flattering neck lines or styles on top.

Many designers, including Anne Klein and DKNY, offer up to three sweater and top styles to pair with their full-length skirts, said Hillis.

Sizing is less of a problem, too, said Andy Szkry-balo, Parisian Room and Dresses selling manager at Laurel Park Place's Parisian store in Livonia. Not to mention, she said, "it seems to take away the emphasis on your bottom."

Sweater-sets and shrugs also give women the option of hiding their arms but don't constrict movement like jackets do. More revealing sweater styles sleeveless funnel-neck and spaghetti-strap tops, are being shown with shawls and Pashmina wraps, which also hide the arms

While ball gown and parachute skirts may require alterations, sweaters rarely do, said Hillis. Most importantly, special occasion sweater and skirt separates are a thousand times more mal-leable than a formal, or even semi-formal, dress,

Legislators see insurers misusing genetic screening lt's no longer science fiction – medical science can determine the likelihood that an individual will fall victim to one of about 4,000 different diseases through genetic testing. And health insurance compa-nies in Michigan have already begun the practice of screening customers based on genetic test-ing, according to state Sen. John Schwarz (R.Battle Creek). "Don't let them kid you," he said, "they are already doing it."

But the practice will have to end under legislation, an eight bill package led by Senate Bill 815, sponsored by Schwarz and approved by the senate Wednesday, Oct 27, in a 37-0 vote.

Schwarz believes the testing would make it impossible for some, with genes that make them susceptible to certain diseases, to get insurance.

Insurers argue testing would save money by weeding out those likely to file costly claims, said Schwarz. "What is the definition of insurance?" he asked. "It's shared risk."

The bills would prohibit genetic testing for insurance, require the destruction records of genetic tests, and assure the

Saké basics surely add to enjoyment

Saké (sah-KAY) production has reached the U.S. just as more Americans are discovering how well the intriguing taste of sake goes with a variety of light, fresh cuisines Hand-crafted sake brewing tech-niques were brought to Oregon from the Momokawa Brewery in Japan and are being overseen by a Toji or master saké brewer. Sake is a fermented rice product. Rice is polished and steamed, and in a single process, the starch is converted to sugar and simultaneously fermented to alcohol. Most saké contains 15-18 percent alcohol. No sulfites or preservatives are used, a fact that appeals to the health-conscious consumer.

Shelf life

Land a

On the other side of the coin, the lack of preservatives means a shelf life of only six months to one year. It is important, then, to pay attention to the saké label since it's best when fresh.

Momokawa sakés are easily identifiable in retail shops and restaurants by their distinctive cobalt blue bottles. We had the opportunity to taste a flight of Momokawa sakes at the Little Tree Sushi Bar in Royal Oak (11 Mile Road and Main St.) where you can try these new sakes with Japanese, Filipino, and Thai dishes as well as sushi. The super-premium Millennium Series sakes are labeled Diamond $24 (dry, complex for delicate foods), Sil-ver $20 (dry, assertive for robust foods), Pearl $24 (for dessert) and Ruby $16 (soft and smooth to accompany spicier foods). They range from very dry and light to slightly sweet and are best enjoyed well chilled. Although you may have heard that saké is consumed warm, the best sakés should be at least slightly chilled.

Momokawa's Moonstone series represents sakés infused with natural fruit essence such as Asian Pear, Yuzu (Japanese Citron), Black Raspberry, and Hazelnut. Depending on your preference, this may be a great way for you to experiment with the taste of saké.

Attributes

Saké should be colorless and bright. except for some specialty products that are produced unfiltered. Yellow or amber sakes are top old and will taste like it. Sakés exhibit clean, delicate aromas, and mild intensity.

The finest examples have low acidi-y, less than half of most wines.

Swedes love to eat, drink and be merry

God-Jull For the food- and fun-loving Swedes, it's never too early to get into the holiday spirit. Members of the Swedish Women's Educational Associa-tion Michigan Chapter are getting ready for the group's ninth annual Swedish Christmas Fair Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Finnish Center in Farmington Hills.

Of course, that means making lots of Kottullar, those delicate tasting Swedish meatballs made with finely ground beef, pork and veal and seasoned with sauteed onions and cream. The meatballs, served with mashed potatoes and lingonberries, will be sold at the fair, along with a variety of Swedish open-faced sandwiches.

To wash down all the goodies, fair-goers can sample glogg, a delicious and sometimes potent Swedish hot drink that extends a warm welcome on a wintry evening.

The cooks

Five SWEA members recently gathered in the kitchen of Elisabeth Maxe of Livonia to prepare a traditional Swedish meal: meatballs, mashed potatoes, sliced cucumbers with vinegar and parsley, lingonberries, Swedish farmer's cheese, and two kinds of bread.

Maxe broke several large rounds of crisp, flat, hard bread known as knackebrod into pieces and cut thick slices of limpa, an aromatic rye bread flavored with anise.

"The two breads are an absolute must," said Ebba Belfrage-Slomeana of Redford. "Swedes would get shocked if they

Celebrate Thanksgiving the vegetarian way

My daughter Elana LIVING BETTER SENSIBLY came home from nursery school last year and apprehensively told me, "There is a turkey that will be coming to visit my school next week." Concerned about her fear. I validated her feelings, but reassured her that turkeys are very nice animals. When the turkey made its visit just before Thanksgiving, Elana excitedly told me about her positive experience with the turkey. As I tucked her into bed that evening, she asked, "Mommy, that's not the same turkey that people eat on Thanksgiving, is it?"

Well, I thought maybe it was time to have a little talk. Not that we did not already have several "vegetarian" talks in the past as Elana had a good sense at this point of why our family practiced vegetarianism, but this question was a little different.

I explained to her that, "yes," the animal that visited her school was the same kind of turkey that people eat on Thanksgiving. Her eyes became larger than they already were, as she exclaimed, "No, they put the blood and feathers in their mouths, too?"

So, I continued to explain how people go about eating turkey. "You mean the turkey has to be killed before people eat it?" Élana continued quizzing me. I proceeded to address all of her concerns She finished our conversation, by saying, "People don't eat each other, so we shouldn't eat turkeys." I left it at that. The following day, Elana went to dance class. At the conclusion of the class, the instructor had the young girls gather around in a circle and exchange with each other what their favorite food was to eat at Thanksgiving. Miss Heather explained, "Some people like the mashed potatoes, some people like the stuffing, some people like the turkey With this, Elana looked at me sitting in the audience and gave me her saucer-eyed look again. I knew our talk hit home.

This whole scenario reminds me of a former issue of the Vegetarian Times. A full-page cartoon of a classroom was highlighted. The teacher stood in front of the room with a picture of a large cow on her blackboard. Using a pointer, she was showing how different parts of the cow were used for food. The kids sat in the classroom with either their eyes popping out of their heads or their hands over their mouths ready to become sick.

Elana is now in kindergarten and still proud to be a vegetarian. We celebrate Thanksgiving with all of the trimmings, but the lonely turkey sits in the corner for our few meat-eating relatives. Highlighted are the colorful vegetables squash, corn, cranberries, pepper and veet potatoes. Non-traditional Thanksgiving dishes are featured such as vegetarian lasagna and cold salads of mixed greens. If you want to forgo the meat, but want a similar substitute, many health food stores in the area now offer "tofurkey" (turkey made out of tofu) or meatless turkey made out of seitan, a wheat gluten.

Last year at this time, I was departing for Boston to see a rheumatologist, Dr. Trentham, for a revolutionary cure for my scleroderma. I am still receiving calls from compassionate readers asking how my treatment is going, if it is working, and to please keep us posted. I thank everyone greatly for your concern. After one-year on minocin, a benign tetracycline drug, I feel like a new person and have put the bulk of my illness behind me. I still attribute a major contributor to the success of how quickly the medication worked to my lifestyle including a vegetarian diet. As I get ready for my 20th year high school reunion from Oak Park High School this Thanksgiving weekend, I will also be celebrating my 10-year anniversary as a vegetarian.

Like many other products, the quality of the water used to produce sake is as important as the quality of the rice. The degree of rice polishing also has an effect on quality. The outer part of the rice contains proteins that cloud the sake and produce off flavors. As a matter of fact, 50-60 percent of the rice is removed dur-ing polishing since the desirable part is in the middle of the grain. Like any other beverage, you can spend as much or little as you want, but excellent examples that will enhance your dining experience can be found between $15-30.

Did you do this?

So far, we have received just one response (from State Rep. John Pappageorge, R-Troy) to a number of interest groups affected by the issue of direct shipment of wines. He cites the Michigan Liquor Control Com-mission, Michigan Beer & Wine Wholesalers Association, Michigan Licensed Beverage Associa-tion, and the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan. SWEDISH MEATBALLS

- (KOTTULLAR)
- 1 cup boneless beef
- 1/2 cup veal
- 1/2 cup boneless pork,
- preferably with fat 1/2 cup crushed rusks or
- white bread
- 3/4 cup cream

- 1/2 onion, finely chopped 1 egg
- Salt and white pepper to taste Butter or margarine for frying Water

Soak the bread in the cream. Grind the meat three or four times through the finest disc of the meat grinder or use the blender. Add the bread and cream mixture for the last two grinds.

Brown the onion in a little butter. Add the onion and egg to the meat mixture and work until smooth.

Add some water to give a smooth consistency, seasoning with salt and pepper as you go. Fry a sample of two balls in butter until golden brown to check the seasoning. If they taste good, roll the remaining meat into balls using the wet palm of your hand. For a smorgasbord, make the meatballs walnut-sized; for a main dish, make them the size of Ping-Pong balls.

Place meatballs on flat plates rinsed in cold water or on a wet cutting board.

Melt a fairly large amount of butter or margarine in a not-too large frying pan and leave it to brown until it stops hissing. Depending on their size, fry 10-20 meatballs at a time. Let them brown, shaking the pan now and then so they roll around.

If the meatballs are to be served with a sauce, pour thick or thin cream into the pan after the last frying.

Serve meatballs with mashed potatoes, lingonberries and pickled cucumber. For a smorgasbord, meatballs may be served either cold without sauce or hot in the

"The heart of jazz is improvisation," said Sansom, a board member of the Jazz Alliance of Michigan.

Sansom is quick to point out that she doesn't play an instrument. Nor has she ever.

But that doesn't mean the music hasn't touched her soul. "Count Basie said, 'If you can't pat

This Saturday, JAM will present "Women In Jazz," a symposium and concert at the First Baptist Church of Birmingham, home of the monthly B'Jazz Vespers series that features local jazz musicians.

The event is intended to reach out to women jazz musicians, teach them about developing a jazz style and how to deal with the business side of being a musician.

"Women musicians, in general, have had to overcome a lot," said Sansom. "Even in jazz, you don't find a lot of women other than as vocalists or pianists."

The upcoming symposium, according to Sansom, also presents an opportunity whereby many established female jazz musicians can mentor up-and-comers. Last year, about 150 people showed up for the symposium and concert. With this year's event at a new site and word-of-mouth slowly spreading, Sansom wonders how many will show ois Beznos gets high marks for resourcefulness. She finds ways to attract some of the most acclaimed international chamber groups, and now she has found a diamond of a performance stage amid what seems like the heavy rough of high-quality venues. Last year, while driving along 18 Mile Road near Labser, Beznos, president of the nomadic Chamber Music Society of Detroit, noticed the construction of a perform-ing arts center on the Detroit Country Day School campus in Beverly Hills.

She did that '90s thing and went cyber. Plugged into the Internet. Called up www.dcds.edu. Learned about plans for the exquisite acoustics and 700-plus seats of the center.

Soon Beznos was meeting regularly with Headmaster Gerald Hansen and his staff to discuss the possibility of presenting chamber music concerts at the $20-million newly named Seligman Performing Arts Center.

"There's no other venue (in the area) of this size, scope and caliber," said Beznos of Franklin Village. "Besides our audience is primarily in Oakland County, So coming to the center is certainly more convenient?

And perhaps equally important, the Chamber Music Society has found a home on weekends at one of the region's quality venues.

It won't take long to figure out that. Unlike most other high school audioriums, the Seligman Performing Arts Center has the distinctive flavor of an entertainment complex. A mural by local artist Robert Schefman greets visitors in the entryway. The hallways are spacious and flow unimpeded into the auditorium. State of the art rehearsal rooms are located across a hallway on the side of the stage.

The 40,000-square-foot center has the type of load-in, backstage areas and orchestra pit that could easily commodate medium-size Broadway productions.

The transition from the classroom wing to the center is a tastefully designed foyer lined with specially made Pewabic tiles, imprinted with the Detroit Country Day insignia.

Kasdan to receive International Achievement Award

BY FRANK PROVENZANO STAFF WRITER fprovenzano@oe.homecomm.net

There isn't a hint of the cooler-thanthou West Coast attitude with Lawrence Kasdan, whose films over the last 20 years are among the most popular and critically acclaimed in the American repertoire.

Kasdan, who speaks with an unmis-takable West Virginia twang, is neither fazed nor taken by his own success. His subtle assuredness, however, could be the source of one of his most famous characters, Indiana Jones. Kasdan wrote the screenplay for the 1981 film "Raiders of the Lost Ark." The 1999 Governors' Awards for Arts & Culture will be held at the Henry Ford Museum. The awards are orga-nized by Southfield-based ArtServe of Michigan.

For two decades, Kasdan has been among the most acclaimed screenwriters and directors, whose films have been widely distributed throughout the world.

His landmark collaboration with Stephen Speilberg in the early 1980s preceded his screenwriting debut, "Body Heat," and was followed with a "Body Heat," and was followed with a string of unforgettable movies, includ-ing "The Big Chill," "The Empire Strikes Back," and "Return of the Jedi," "The Accidental Tourist," "Silverado," "Grand Canyon," "Wyatt Earp," and most recently "Mumford."

"As you succeed, you're continually faced with how you can keep your career going," said Kasdan from the Hollywood office of Kasdan Films.

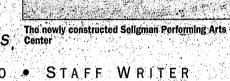

"Filmmaking is very democratic, and an incredibly expensive art." Although many of his films deal with a distinctive American sensibility, Kasdan's work is typically infused with a universal theme.

No, she's not thinking about taking up the bassoon. It's just Sansom's way of gaining a deeper appreciation of the art form.

In less than a month on the job, Beal has already demonstrated the political savvy and administrative marksmanship that made worthwhile the twoyear wait to fill the top post, which had been vacated by former director Samuel Sachs.

But don't expect sudden or sweeping changes any time soon. Except for exhibits of provocative works, changes are imperceptibly subtle and, for the most part, conservative in tone in the museum world.

Beal is a meticulous planner who characterizes his style as "consultative leadership." It's a style he's honed during his career as director for the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and the Joslyn Art Museum in Omaha, Neb., and stints as curator at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art and the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis.

Over the last several weeks at the DIA, Beal has made headway on meeting with a long list of corporate and civic lead-ers, although he admits that he isn't quite used to those "Midwestern earlymorning break-fast meetings." Preferring not to speak in spe-laid out his vision for the DIA. Graham W.J. Beal

"There's an opportunity for me to make a contribution in reconfiguring a great cultural institution to make it more relevant and accessible.

By "more accessible," Beal means making the DIA a place where multiculturalism is celebrated, not just given a passing nod. He pointed to his effort to make the LA County Museum of Art more accessible to Latinos and Asians by developing exhibits that examined Mexican and Korean art.

Quite likely, he said, the DIA will broaden its exhibits and collection of African-American art since the metro area has one of the largest collector bases of that art in the world. Of course, Beal is acutely aware of the DIA's strength. "Our collection is our currency," he said.

Indeed, Beal expects that by loaning pieces from the museum's expansive collection, there will be opportunities to gain, in return, other historically significant pieces, such as the van Gogh paintings that will be exhibited in March.

Another sometimes-controversial topic is the DIA's role in promoting local artists. For many, the museum should offer display works by contemporary Michigan artists. Beal contends that the quality of the art, not the resi-dency of the artist, should be the determining factor.

Not surprisingly, it was parents of students and alumni who basically donated $14 million to help finance the center.

Clearly, the availability of the venue doesn't mean that the Seligman Center is to be used as a community performing arts stage.

The emphasis, according to Nahan, is more on quality than accessibility.

"The reputation of this institution has to be reflected in what is (professionally) performed in the space."

Convincing the general public of the need for a tri-county cultural tax to help support the operating budget of the museum and other regional cultural institutions will be eventually one of Beal's top priorities.

"The purpose of culture should override parochial issues," he said. "We can't be seen as arrogant or complacent but need to an integral part of the culture of this region."

Mystery writer throws fans a 'Hanging Curve' in newest book

"Hanging Curve" by Troy Soos (Kensington, $22)

For readers who aren't yet VICTORIA familiar with DIAZ Soos'

Hanging Curve" is a good place to begin your relationship. Though this unpretentious, slightly off-beat whodunit marks another adventure in the life of fictitious major leaguer Mickey Rawlings, it's not necessary to read Soos' previous stories to find real pleasure in this one.

It's also not necessary to be a sports fan, or even a mystery maven, for that matter. If you simply enjoy a thought-provok-ing story, propelled briskly forward by some colorful characters and played out against an authentic, finely-etched background, you'll find "Hanging Curve" a real winner.

As the story opens, we find ourselves in St. Louis, Mo. It is 1922, the beginning of spring, that "exhilarating time of year when .200 hitters imagine winning the batting championship, dead-armed pitchers feel strong enough to win thirty games, and St. Louis baseball fans believe that this will be the year the Browns finally capture an American League pennant

At 30, veteran utility infielder Rawlings (recently traded to the Browns from the Cincinnati Reds) isn't particularly dreamyeyed about his own abilities. Still, he hangs in there, never really losing hope that this year he'll get the chance to do something other than warm the bench and that, somehow, he'll become an integral, heroic part of a championship season.

Life does throw him a curve, however, and we're around to see how he handles it. One night, a talented pitcher for a semi-pro team called the East St. Louis Cubs meets an especially cruel fate. He is hanged from the backstop at Cubs Park. The Cubs are an all-black team which handily defeated an all-white semi-pro team the day before, while a gun-toting group from the local Ku Klux Klan looked on.

Who murdered the Negro pitcher? Was it certain members of the all-white team who had been embarrassed at the plate that day by the young pitcher's prowess? Was his death a lynch-ing, instigated by the Klan? Or was his life snuffed out for reasons that had nothing to do with the game of baseball?

Mainly because he has played in the game against the Cubs (as an illegal "ringer"), Rawlings soon finds himself involved in tracking down the killer or killers. Assisting in his efforts is his old pal Karl Landfors, a distinctly unathletic journalist and "diehard socialist" dedicated to championing the rights of the underdog.

Also joining the fray this time around is new acquaintance Franklin Aubury, a highly knowledgeable Negro attorney who goes to bat for the cause of justice. Rawlings' live-in lover, former actress and Hollywood stuntwoman Margie Turner, rounds out the main cast (and also reveals a dark secret of her own before the story is played out)

As they try to run the villains into the ground and stave off further bloodshed, Rawlings and crew take us on a kind of tour of the Midwest in the Roaring '20s. Here, encountered on a road trip,

Couple take anything but an easy ride

By Doug Johnson STAFF WRITER

B8(No)

This July, Jeff and Kim Dold of Garden City rode their 1999 Harley-Davidson Electroglide Classic on a little cross country jaunt that was a classic in its own right.

Eighteen states. Eighteen days. More than 7,200 miles. Four-hour summer downpours in Chicago. Death Valley at the

They started in Michigan, went down to Interstate 80 and across Indiana and Illinois into the Chicago area in search of the legendary Route 66.

Sector and second

The route that John Steinbeck called "The Mother Road" starts outside of Chicago, In many places it is no longer there, it's just simply covered by freeways. In other places it can be driven on.

The duo went down to St.

south of I-40 six miles west of Amarillo, where old US-66 rejoins the interstate, the rusty hulks of 10 classic Caddies are front end-down in the dirt. In August 1997 the Cadillacs got another 15 minutes of fame when the artist decided to dig them up and move them a mile west from where they'd been to escape Amarillo sprawl.

On to New Mexico where they stayed in Albuquerque, saw the Petrified Forest National Park in Arizona and took a side trip north up to Four Corners.

The corners of New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Colorado meet and a small monument marks the spot.

Supposedly if you are limber enough you can use two feet and two hands and have part of yourself in four states.

We stayed on an Indian reservation that night," Jeff said. That was after a visit to Monu-ment Valley. Then they went into Grand Canyon National Park, stayed in the park at a lodge and got fogged in.

The next day brought the Arizona weather known as monsoon, a short season of powerful rain and thunderstorms that arrives every summer. "The temperature was about 100," Kim said. Near Seligman, Ariz., they got back on a part of old Route

From Kingman, on the western edge of Arizona, into Las Vegas is one of the more desolate drives in America.

"That's where we ran out of gas." Jeff Dold said. No one stopped to help and they sat for several hours, Kim said. Eventu-ally it was the cops at Hoover Dam that came out and rescued them

It was in Vegas they relied on their only real advanced reservation, for the Mirage. They came go and L.A. Two hundred yards in at 11 p.m. and were lucky enough to be upgraded to a pent-house suite for $75.

Proventing the second states of the second

On into California they rode, where they visited San Francis-co, Fisherman's Wharf, Chinatown and then closed the day at a blues bar.

Turning eastward, they went to Yosemite ("our favorite spot" says Jeff) and then zipped to Mono Lake (directly east of the park) and saw the calcium formations, then drove to Lake Tahoe.

The next day they were off to Idaho to see the spectacular Shoshone Falls at the city of Twin Falls.

"Yellowstone was a quick drive through. We saw snow at the higher elevations, and we went through some of it at night," Jeff said.

They stayed in Cody outside the eastern edge of Yellowstone Park , then drove to Gillette and on up to Deadwood, S.D., then made a nostalgic stop at Sturgis, S.D., where bikers meet for a Bikers' Bash every summer.

From there they traveled to Mount Rushmore National Memorial, the Badlands National Park, and famous Wall Drugs whose ubiquitous highway signs advertising the store's many supposed charms make it difficult not to get curious enough to stop

At this point Kim had to fly home to return to work.

Then, it was a dash across southern Minnesota, and sum-mer rainstorm ordeal in Chicago, then back home to Michigan.

Family was not forgotten. They took a pager and a cell phone in case Kim's son wanted to call.

The couple have been in 26 states in their travels, and hope to see 10 new ones on the next big ride, this time out east.

Some things are definitely different traveling on a bike, Kim explains:

"You can't pack a lot. You have to do laundry often. You need plenty of sunscreen. There are a lot of stops. The bike gets good mileage but it has a five gallon tank. After 120 miles you need gas."

Kim works for McKesson, a pharmaceutical computer systems company; Jeff is a produc-tion worker at General Motors' power train plant in Ypsilanti.

Ridealong buddies were another couple on another Harley, Tony and Debbie Knierim of Newport, Mich.

Jeff did all the driving for the Dolds, while Kim concentrated on photography, including pictures of everyone holding up the Garden City Observer.

when the temperature is 126°. It was all part of their summer vacation and a longtime dream to go cross country on Jeff's Harley.

DJ Cochran also has love for golf

Each morning, residents of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Troy, Clarkston and other Detroit-area suburbs tune their radio in search of information, music, news, weather, traffic, interviews and sometimes they even like to wake up with a bit of humor.

Thirty-eight-year-old Steve Cochran's WKQI morning radio show on Q95.5 seems to give listeners everything they are looking for, with healthy portions of humor to wash it all down.

Cochran is certainly qualified in the humor department, having served as the opening act for funnymen like Jerry Seinfeld, Jay Leno, and Garry Shandling.

Cochran has performed stand-up comedy on HBO and Showtime, and appeared in the feature films "Drop appeared in the feature films "Drop Dead Fred" and "Grumpy Old Men. ("The first one...the funny one," Cochran savs.)

His 15-year radio career has taken him to stations in New York, Los. Angeles, Minneapolis, Baltimore, St. Louis and Miami, and along the way he laughed his way to two Billboard Magazine nominations for "Air Personality of the Year."

Cochran, a Northville resident, commutes to the Oak Park studios each morning with one thing on his mind: golf. MPS: Steve, your morning show hits the air at 5 a.m. each day. Have you ever tried to squeeze in nineholes before work?

"I wake up at 2:45 a.m. as it SC: is! You're right, though. If golf courses had lights, I'd probably try to do it." MPS: Do you keep any golf clubs in the radio studio with you while you do your show? SC: "I always have a putter around me. I don't have a smoking habit. Instead, I am constantly fiddling with my grip. It's like an adult teething Like a 'binky' for grown-ups." MPS: You're a comedian. Is golf a laughing matter?

SC: "The older you get, the funnier it gets. I don't play for money, but rather for enjoyment. When I go out and see a guy cursing beyond the acceptable U.S.G.A. limit for cursing, I think it is funny. I understand that missing three-foot putts is not funny, but when I follow up a really great shot with a totally awful one, I just can't help but giggle.'

MPS: You've worked with Jerry Seinfeld. Do you think Seinfeld would be much of a golfer? SC: "Jerry Seinfeld has reached the money limit. He is not allowed to

Wolves stop Benton, Bobcats

Clarkston senior Chris Mitchell was at it again, running for 178 yards and outdueling Grand Blanc's Reggie Benton as the Wolves won the first football district title in school history with a 35-14 win over the Bobcats.

BY BRAD KADRICH SPORTS EDITOR bkadrich@oe.homecomm.net

Grand Blanc came into Friday's district football final with record-setting running back Reggie Benton. But it was senior Chris Mitchell and the Clarkston Wolves who worked the ground game to perfection, and the result was history in the making. Mitchell, the Wolves' 5-foot-9, 175pound running back, rushed for 178 yards, and the Clarkston defense shut down Benton and won the first district championship in school history with a stunningly-easy 35-14 pounding of the Bobcats

The Wolves (10-1) took the lead with a touchdown on their second possession of the second half, then took Benton completely out of the game with a swarming defensive effort

Benton, the Big Nine's all-time lead-ing rusher who ran for 383 yards last week against Lake Orion, gained 109 yards, but 59 of them came on a single touchdown run. After that, there was irtually nowhere for him to run.

"You just have to focus on what you've got to do," defensive tackle Chris mereka said. "You have to pay attention to what he's doing." Clarkston drove 71 yards with its cond possession in the third quarter, getting the go-ahead touchdown on a four-yard run by Rob Conley, Mitchell's backfield mate. Conley's run capped a 12-play drive that took 4:37and includa 12-yard pass from junior quarterback Ryan Kaul to Adam Gebus.

Clarkston

Eccentric INSIDE:

After that, the going got tough for Benton. Ryan Lucken stuffed him on a first-down carry with the ensuing pos-session. After Grand Blanc got to the Clarkston 33, Bubba Clement and Matt Piersall chased Benton down on a sweep and, two plays later, Smereka led the charge to hold Benton to a twovard gain on a draw play. That forced a fourth-down incompletion from Jason McInally to Matt Duso.

Holbrook scores 22 as Oxford wins Flint Metro

xford basketball coach Ian Smith was hoping to get at least one more test before next week's district tournament gets started.

After withstanding a couple of Fenton rallies and holding off the Tigers 56-38 in a Flint Metro League basketball game Thursday, Smith was convinced he'd gotten his wish.

Senior center Liz Holbrook scored, 22 points and hauled down 18 rebounds and senior point guard Beth Drake overcame a bout with the flu to lead the Wildcats to the deceptive victory, which wasn't as easy as it looked and handed Smith and his Wildcats an outright championship in the Flint Metro League race. Oxford, ranked fifth in the latest Associated Press girls basketball poll, is now 18-0 overall, 12-0 in the Flint Metro League.

"I think it was the most intense game we've seen all year," Smith said. "I thought we played outstanding all game,

The Wildcats had to hold off a couple of Tigers rallies before pulling away to the victory. Oxford led 29-10 after a steal and layup by junior guard Dana Millard, but the Tigers the next 10 points, four of them from Erin Kirkland, to pull within nine,

But the Wildcats got a jumper from the lane by Drake, a pair of free throws from Holbrook and an offensive rebound by senior forward Tonya

After Fenton cut it to 35-24, sophomore Payge Salquist hit a jumper from just inside the 3-point line, then perfectly-executed 2-on-1 fast break with Drake.

Defensive gem helps Wolves cage Colts, 35-28

BY MIKE SCOTT SPECIAL WRITER

Without question Troy was the site of a defensive struggle Thursday night.

But Clarkston was the only team to find its scoring touch and that proved to be the difference in a 35-28 Oakland Activities Association Division I girls basketball victory for the Wolves.

Post defense was the key to the victory down the stretch as Troy (12-6, 5-5 OAA I) was unable to get the ball inside to its forwards.

Clarkston junior center Sarah Mor-gan in particular posed a strong defensive presence in the middle, holding senior Samantha Essian, who led all scorers in the first half with nine points, scoreless in the final 16 minutes.

"I told the girls at halftime that Essian was killing us and that some-one had to stop her," said Clarkston head coach Ann Lowney, who's team improved to 9-10 overall and 3-8 in league play. "Sarah was our defensive stopper tonight but this was a real team effort all around

The Colts led 24-20 heading into the fourth quarter but they committed their seventh team foul one minute into the final period, allowing Clark-ston to visit the free-throw line often down the stretch.

Senior Candace Morgan and freshman Kira Karlstrom hit two free throws apiece to cut the lead to one and Morgan's only bucket of the game on the fastbreak put Clarkston up for the first time since early in the second quarter, 26-25.

Troy just was unable to get in an offensive flow as Clarkston's guards extended their pressure defense on the perimeter, while Morgan patrolled the Freshman Jenn Carlson and junior Kristen Falck split time at the point lard position Morgan played all eight minutes and virtually threw a blanket around the Colts' offense. Troy went nine minutes without hitting a field goal v itil senior Thea Pappas drilled a lon; three-pointer with 55 seconds left to cut the Clarkston lead to 32-28. But that's as close as the Colts would get the rest of the way. Troy coach Jim Maley partially blamed himself for the fourth quarter collapse and credited the Wolves with an effective game plan. "We just couldn't get into any kind of a groove and that's my responsibility," Maley said. "We wanted to get the hall inside but Clarkston made it tough.

make any more money, so maybe now he'll have time to take up the game. I really don't think he has the temperament for golf, though. It would be a little too slow for him. Jay Leno could be a player if he wanted to. He likes to work on cars and do things with his hands. Garry Shandling could never be a golfer because he is just plain nuts

MPS: Your U.S.G.A. Handicap Index is an impressive 7.0. Can you beat any other radio personality in town?

SC: "First of all, Drew and Mike (Drew Lane and Mike Clark, WRIF) should not be allowed anywhere near a golf course, from what I can tell. Jim Brandstatter (WJR, WXYT) looks like he's got game. I'm not challenging anyone, but I'll accept all comers." MPS: Where do you play golf here in the Detroit area?

SC: On the West Side of town, The Links of Novi, Tanglewood, Cattails, and the Links of Pinewood.

MPS: Do you play in any of the area's charity or celebrity golf outings?

SC: "I've been in Detroit for about a year now, and I like playing in the scramble tournaments. It seems I get invited more and more and am always happy to help a good cause."

MPS: Who would play in your dream foursome?

SC: "My father, Ralph Cochran, with whom I only got to play a couple of time before he passed away in 1990. I would also invite Jack Nick-

Oxford then put together an 8-3 run, including six points from Holbrook, to pull out to a 47-30 lead with six minutes left in the game.

Fenton got consecutive layups from Ali Rivette and Carol Price, who led the Tigers with 13 points, but Drake and Holbrook each sank free throws and Holbrook hit a jumper from the paint with 1:17 left to end any hope of a comeback.

Oxford won the game despite being shut out from 3-point-land for just the second time this season, and without any points from its bench.

Salquist, who played an excellent game, finished with 19 points. Drake, despite being ill, had six assists, nine points and four steals.

No doubt: Oxford senior point guard Beth Drake (20) lets a jumper fly from the lane during the Wildcats' 56-38 win over Fenton Thursday night. The win gave Oxford the Flint Metro League title.

"Our intensity was great, but our defense is so good," Smith said. "Beth Drake was so sick, and to play the way she did was amazing. She just wouldn't come out (of the game)."

Oxford hosts its final game of the season Tuesday with its Parents' Night contest against Holly, then travels to LakeVille to close out the regular season Thursday. Game time both nights is 7 p.m.

The Wildcats then join Clarkston. Romeo, Holly, Lapeer East and Lapeer West in district play at Clarkston Nov. 15. The Wildcats beat the Wolves and Lapeer East to win last year's district championship.

This year, Oxford beat Clarkston in the season-opening Lady Wildcat Invitational, and pounded Lapeer East twice during Flint Metro League play.

Dragons cagers rebound to pound Pontiac Central Steve Roberts knew what type of season to expect at Lake Orion this autumn. But the first-year Dragons coach also knew that eventually the positives would start to outweigh the negatives.

Lake Orion showed such signs Thursday that the hardships on the hardcourt are beginning to fade.

After a lackadaisical first-half, the Dragons outscored host Pontiac Central 33-12 over the final two quarters to post a convincing 51-35 Oakland Activities Association Division II over the Chiefs, which gave them just their second two-game winning streak of the season.

"I think the team chemistry is starting to come together,' said Roberts. "When you have kids in three different classes that haven't played much together in the past, and very little varsity experience, it's going to take some time. But I'm starting to see a lot of positives and improvements from the girls.'

Against Pontiac Central (2-16, 2-10), it took some time for the Dragons to heat up, but Lake Orion caught fire in the second half.

A runner-in-the-lane from junior guard Jodi Dempsey finally tied the game at 25-25 with 5:25 left in the first, and then a base-line jumper from sophomore guard Megan Noll with 2:20 left in the period gave Lake Orion (5-13, 4-6) the lead for good at 29-28.

Noll's bucket help the Drag-ons close the quarter with a 9-0 run, while Central turned the ball over on 10 of their final possessions of the quarter, where the Chiefs only attempted two field goals over the final 3:29.

Lake Orion put the game away with an 11-4 to start the fourth quarter.

We picked it up on defense in the second half and we started to box out much better," said Roberts. "It seemed that every time we got with a couple of points in the first half, they would hit a three-pointer. We didn't give them many good looks in the second

"Our defense did a great job on Benton," Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson said. "We wanted to control the ball and give them as few chances as possible. Our dffensive line did a great job, Chris ran hard again and Ryan hit some big passes." Clarkston took over on its 30 nd drove 70 yards in just eight plays, the biggest one coming on the final one. After a weaving run by Mitchell set Clarkston up at the Bobcats,6 yard line, Kaul threw to Steve Schornak on a fade pattern into the left corner of the end zone. It was a play Lake Orion used at will against Grand Blanc last week, and it vorked like a charm for the Wolves, who claimed a 28-14

lead on the play. | Meanwhile, Mitchell just kept plugging, He ran for 27 yards on first down on the ensuing posses sion, and gained 44 yards on the drive, which stalled when Lund slid a 37-yard field goal try just right

After the game, Mitchell wouldn't compare himself to Benton, but did admit he took some delight in out-performing he Bobcats star.

"Hey, we read the Grand Blanc papers, all saying how Grand Blanc was going to kick our butts," Mitchell said. "But you an't beat a (good) team with just one guy. Coach kept telling us if we hold them and take time off the clock, we're going to win,"

Vardar beat a tough Broadview Heights (Ohio) team in the championship game, which Vardar won 1-0. Defense was the key as Vardar picked up five shutouts. But Central only hit four field goals in the second half, including two triples and a short-range jumper by Cooper, as the Drag-ons overcame their deficit and turned a close game into a rout, Dempsey led the Dragons with a game-high 17 points, including four triples, to go along with four SC: "I've met and interviewed Payne Stewart after he gave a terrific clinic. I met Sam Snead a couple of times. I very much enjoyed meeting Nick Price. The guy was so unbelievably pleas-ant, as opposed to Scott Hoch, who seems to be the unhappiest guy on the planet. Price gets it.

Hoch does not. MPS: Do you have any other golf fantasies?

SC: "I would like to be a golf broadcaster. The popularity of golf is at an all-time high, and yet right now it seems that the golf commentary is at a low. I like the Dunes Club in Myrtle Beach, where they are playing this weekend's Senior Tour Championship. Let me say this, though. Anyone who has the opportunity ought to try to play Oakland Hills CC. Since I moved to the area, I have been lucky enough to play there a few times. There was a huge intimidation factor at first, but I learned that the famous South Course there is very fair. The ultimate status symbol

Classic Packard meant luxury, world-class engineering

BY KEN VAN STEENKISTE

From Woodward Avenue to the pages of F. Scott Fitzgerald's classic novel The Great Gatsby, cars have traditionally been among the ultimate symbols of status.

Throughout the years, many different makes and models of automobiles have been a sign of wealth and power.

Today, names like Mercedes, Bentley and Jaguar connote success. But in the past, a different set of names were the aretakers of prestige — names like Peerless, Pierce Arrow and, of course, Packard.

"Back in the 30's and 40's if you had a Packard, you had arrived," said Don Summer, a member of the Detroit chapter of Packard Auto Classics, a national club for collectors and enthusiasts

Summer is also the founder of the Rochester Concours d'Elegance at Meadow Brook, one of the most extravagant classic car shows in the nation. He owns 20 Packards (among other classics) and will appear in a December special on The History Channel about the Peckard

Summer's 1930 Packard Phaethon went for $3,690 when it first hit the streets; that's a pricey ride as com-pared to a Ford Model A, which went

"That model is very desirable among collectors, it's very hard to get," Summer explained.

Packards were manufactured from 1899 through 1956 at the company's plant on East Grand Boulevard in downtown Detroit.

"They put out a '57 and a '58, but they were really nothing but Studebakers with Packard nameplates on them," explained Neil Porter, an Orion Township resident and club member who owns 11 Packards.

Pride of Packard: Don Summer, a member of the Detroit chapter of Packard Auto Classics stands in front of his 1930 Packard Phaeton.

Porter found his 1930 four-door in Buenos Aires, where it had served as a car for the president of Argentina. It set him back about $280,000 pesos, or $1,900. Of course that was in 1960.

Throughout the years, the luxurious sedans found their way from that Detroit manufacturing plant to presidential motorcades and royal residences through out the world. Even the occasional dictator kept a Packard in his garage, Summer said. It is this mystique, plus world-class engineering, that has lead hundreds of people through out metro Detroit to band together in tribute to the vehicle.

"We've got 275 families in our club, with over 475 Packards in their posses sion." said Roger Luksik, a Bloomfield Hills resident and president of the Detroit chapter.

The group cruises their cars on tours all over the state, and organizes an annual show in Perrysburg, Ohio, which is the largest of its kind in the country.

"This is typical of Detroit — it's no secret that we're really big on car cul-ture here," Summer explained.

And Summer should know makes his living fabricating new replacement parts for classic cars. His Clawson-based company, American Arrow Corporation, got started 25 years ago in his basement as a product of his love for cars.

"I was nine when I got my first car. It was a Model T my dad purchased form a local farmer and kept in our family's barn until I was old enough to drive," he explained.

Summer's son currently does all the down-and-dirty restoration work, using parts designed and manufactured by dad. Summer, an aerospace engineer by trade, admired the Packard engineering quality, which many members of the club say is the best modern auto manufacturing has ever seen.

"Every P-51 Mustang, the fastest piston-driven war plane used in World War II, was powered by a Packard engine," Luksik pointed out. "In fact, the PT boats used by the allies, like the one under the command of John F. Kennedy, were powered by three Packard engines."

Even the U.K. came to Packard during WWII for the design and manufacture of its airborne war machine. A slap in the face to rival English luxury manufacturer Rolls Royce, Luksik explained.

But with all this history and lore, wouldn't actually driving a collectable automobile of such prestige make one a bit nervous?

"Not really. I drive my cars all the time," Luksik said. "Of course you drive a little more carefully, but most of these cars were restored at one point. and you have insurance, so you can always restore them again."

Is Firebird on endangered species list?

BY GREG ZYLA © AUTOWIRE.NET - SAN FRANCISCO

By now, most everyone has seen the Pontiac Trans Am 'Beast" commercial where an all black Pontiac Trans Am Ram Air comes to a stop behind an unsuspecting "other car". When the light turns green, all that's left of the other vehicle are bits and pieces, as the Trans Am speeds away to find yet another "victim." This commercial captures Firebird's muscle car heritage, which dates back to 1967, stressing excitement, power and freedom. However, as good as Trans Am is, the "powers that be" at General Motors aren't as sold on the car as they once were. Sales figures continue to drop, and talk of both Firebird and sibling Camaro demise by the released, yet those on the inside insist the great GM pony car days are numbered. This move leaves the market wide open to Ford's Mustang, the originator of the pony car back in 1964.

Sales figures and demographics are at the center of the Firebird problem, dwindling from 46,499 cars sold in 1994 to a low of 30,459 in 1997. Add the fact that this rear drive sportster attracts the male younger set, where incomes are low and insurance rates are high, and a clearer picture of GM frustration surfaces. Meanwhile, Mustang's additional female sales advantage compounds the problem even more.

Still, the car itself is quite impressive. Few cars produced in the world today offer this scar performance. The new alltype of performance for so few dollars spent Pontiac's Firebird

$19.235 base V-6; a $24,130 Formula; or the $26,175 Trans Am. Firebird also offers two convertibles, a V-6 at about $26,000 and a Trans Am at $31,500. The standard Trans Am V8 includes features like leather seating, 16" Z-rated tires, aluminum wheels, limited slip differential (3:42), Monsoon 10-speaker CD/AM/FM, and, unlike other cars, the automatic transmission. If you want the 6-speed, it's optional. Our test drive Trans Am came in at $30,015, thanks to the $3,000 WS6 Ram Air option. The blueprint for Firebird

Trans Am's popularity is simple. Engineers took Corvette's V8 motor, and bolted it into the Firebird, giving instant superaluminum second-design small block LS1 5.7 liter V8 (which inches) pumps out 305 standard horsepower, and escalates to 320 with the Ram Air WS6 option. New for '99 are a larger fuel tank, better brakes, and traction control.

The overall outward style is certainly not for the conservative. Firebird is bold, beautiful and looks like it's traveling 75mph when it's sitting in the driveway. Others may feel the look is gaudy, overdone and too powerful yet none of the hundreds of well wishes we encountered on a trip to Pocono, Pennsylvania's annual 500-mile NASCAR race thought so. Matter of fact, this car attracted a lot more attention than a Mustang GT we recently tested, especially since it had the rare and hard to obtain WS6 Ram Air option. "Love your car," and "light them knew immediately it was the same car featured in the TV commercial. In short, few cars we've test-driven have resulted in so many nice words and interested eyes. If you want people to know you're around, Trans Am gets the job done.

Behind the wheel, WS6 is fast. Really fast. With muscular, throaty sound, your right foot is in complete control of fun. This 'Bird begs to be driven, and driven hard.

If the death of Firebird and its Trans Am comes to pass, owners who invest in the last generation models (1994-2001) will be sitting on a vehicle that

Jobs of Careers Center puts emphasis on OVM

BY THERESE MCFARLAND SPECIAL WRITER

n September 1999 Michigan's low unemployment rate again "remained below the national rate for the 51st consecutive month.

However, if you have lost your job, been fired, laid off, or you are a dislocated employee, statistics don't really mat-ter much. Fortunately, the focus in Michigan is on employment - not unemployment. And the road back to finding suitable employment might be easier than you imagined at a "one-stop" shop like Southfield Career Center, a pro-gram of Michigan Works Service Centers of Oakland County.

Earlier this year Gov. John Engler split responsibilities of the Michigan Jobs Commission into Michigan's Eco nomic Development Corporation and, on April 5, 1999, officially announced the new Michigan Department of Career Development: With a budget of $469.5 million, the Department of Career Development's goal is to increase skills and provide job information and career path opportunities for Michigan's residents. Under newly hired director Barbara Bolin, Lansing's main office funnels state and federal funds to "host" agencies throughout the state. The Oakland Workforce Development Board oversees the Employment Services for eight Oakland County centers: Ferndale, North Oakland (Highland, Holly, Oxford), Oak Park, Pontiac, Troy, Walled Lake, Waterford and Southfield's Career Center.

"Southfield Service Center is a wellkept secret and wealth of information, services and resources, including a caring, dedicated professional staff," said Gloria Kennedy, SCC manager. She added. "Even if you're unsure of your needs, we'll be able to assess and advise you of what's available, which services

Employment services

Gov. Engler's "No Wrong Door" policy stating that "all major workforce development and economic development services should be available through a single point of entry" was the impetus for the Michigan Works! Program created in 1994.

One-hundred-and-two certified Michigan Works! Service Centers provide free services to job seekers and employers alike. They offer "no fee" comprehensive programs and services through federal and state funds managed locally by agencies like the Southfield Career Center (which operates under the Oakland County Workforce Development Board, sponsored by the City of Southfield in cooperation with the Southfield School System.)

Job seekers can find education, job training, employment support services and job openings - all free of charge. Center resources include career and labor market information, self-assessments tools, resume writing software helpful professionals, a Job Club, and access to Michigan's Talent Bank.

"In February of 1998, the government made it mandatory that those eligible to receive unemployment benefits must also put their resume form on the Michigan Talent Bank, where any employer can review prospective candi-

A. Alas, the practice of acknowledging all resume submissions is in decline. Years ago, it was common for companies to respond to employment inquiries, solicited or not, with a nice form letter thanking applicants for their interest and assuring them that their names would be kept on file if a suitable opening occurred. Of course. these blandly worded rejections didn't convey any real information about

GEORGE HAYES why you weren't suitable for the original opening. There was no constructive criticism. Wouldn't that have been nice? Let's try out a few brutally honest ones:

Dear Mr. Jones:

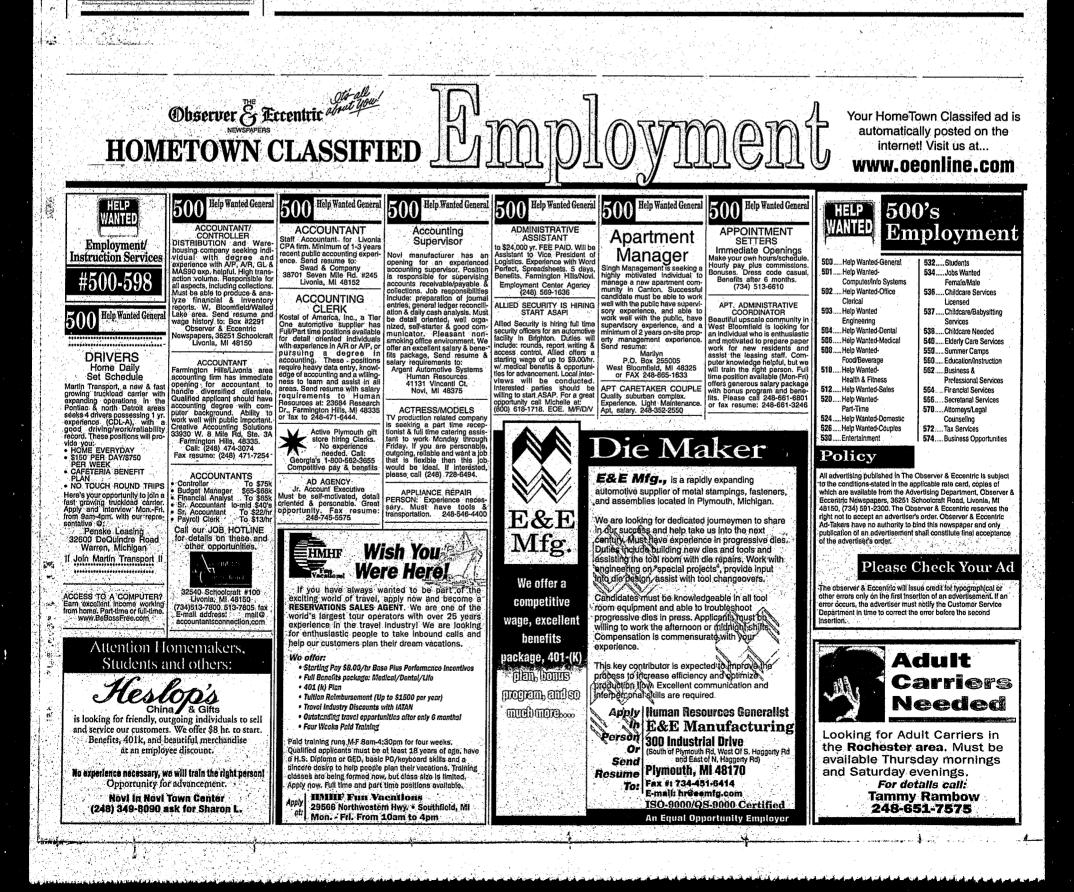

Your qualifications don't even remotely match the job requirements we listed. Are we missing something? Did you get the right address

Dear Ms. Smith:

Thanks for the resume you recently sent to our firm. After a thorough review, nobody here can make any sense of your work history. Dear Ms. Johnson:

It appears that you have had eight jobs in the last three years. Thanks for considering our company for the number nine slot.

dates," said Eileen Bagley, SCC assistant manager The Career Centers' professional staff assists Unem-provide the second staff assists Unem-provide the second staff assists with Michigan's Internet Talent Bank, which is part of an extensive labor exchange system, America's JobBank. In August of this year, more than 217,000 jobs were listed in the Michigan Talent Bank, and over 1.3 million on America's JobBank. Available to the general public and all employers, the 1-year-old system in Michigan provides resumes and jobs postings that can be accessed at www.state.mi.us/career.

Employers are solicited to post jobs on Michigan's Talent Bank, at no charge. Essentially, it's free adver-tising. At the Center, employers can access a local pool of qualified workers, search Talent Bank resumes, use the SCC's interview facilities, or research information on training programs, the labor market, tax credits, or hiring policies. Special services are available for per-sons with disabilities such as vocational rehabilitation, or programs unique to veterans or dislocated employees. Auxiliary services are housed on-site, like crisis counseling or the CHORES services program which provides home and yard maintenance to eligible Southfield seniors. (Next week, a look at the Job Club and other job placement programs at the center.)

Obviously, companies can't tailor a response for every applicant (and these blunt ones would hurt feelings or generate lawsuits). Even sending out form letters requires some time and costs a bit of money.

But the real reason for the demise of the rejection letter is that it would give bolder applicants the name of a manager with whom they could fol-low up. With outplacement consultants and writers like me encouraging the vigorous use of the telephone in job hunting, some employers have become guarded about releasing contact information.

isn't as civil as it once was, but in this case, the result is the same. Silence doesn't mean you are doing anything wrong and it shouldn't affect your volume. You just won't have the fun of collecting company logos on rejection letters.

Q. It looks like I'm going to be forced to get another job after 17 years with one company. To be honest, I've enjoyed my work and lifestyle and I am afraid of the change. How can I look at this situation more positive-

Lv? A. It is easy to type out words about why people should embrace change, avoid stagnation, take risks and explore new paths. However, all of this bold talk presumes that change is incremental or initiated, timed and controlled by the main character. It ignores surprise changes, illogical changes and forced changes. How should we feel? How should we react? We can't manage change until we manage our emotions – at least a

It's important to understand that some fear is justified. It seems to me that when people feel bad or guilty about being afraid, it just makes things worse. Acknowledge the fear Looking for a new job after being relatively secure for seventeen years? Heck yes you're afraid. Worried about meeting obligations, protect-ing your hard-earned assets and con tinuing to achieve family goals? Absolutely natural. In fact, you will likely put some of this fear to good use, It's a great motivator. Know that you will do the right thing, Look, if you have been a responsible and industrious person, you aren't going to suddenly stop being that way. It is simply who you are. And you will now exercise these traits to find another position or make other arrangements. Your integrity is intact and independent of your vocational status. going, your mood will improve. Taking action, whether it is sending out resumes, making networking lists, going to the library to research companies (or franchise opportunities or new disciplines), creating a resume or going on an interview, is a balm for the blues, You'll discover that the apprehension was worse than the reality. Action begets hope. Hope begets excitement. Excitement is the best analgesic. Don't dwell too long on whether the action is a long shot or a sure shot. You can never tell. Trust me on this one: People almost always come to believe that losing a long-term job was one of the best things that ever happened to them.

Sometimes it takes a few interim positions before they find their positions before they and their groove again, but many people -maybe most people - end up happier and richer as a result of the change. Observer & Eccentric about ye New Homes-Real Estate HOMETOWN CLASSIFIED NO Page 1, Section E

Do new homes need inspection?

We just opened escrow on a brand new home and were advised against ordering a home inspection simply because the house is new and was approved by the building department. We'd like your opinion before deciding.

The belief that a new home is flawless, simply because it is new, is an unfortunate piece of popular mythology.

Anyone who has worked in building construction knows that contractors and trades people, as typical members of the human family, are prone to occasional or not-so-occasional errors and oversights.

Even when the builder warrants the work for one full year, such guaranties are of no benefit unless inherent defects are discovered. Unfortunately, many types of building problems and safety violations do not become apparent for many years. A faulty wiring condition might not be revealed until it damages your computer or causes a fire.

The list of faulty conditions that have been found in new homes is extensive and includes such items as, defective roof installation, improper fireplace construction, errors in electrical wiring, excessive water pressure, fire safety violations, unsafe venting of heater exhaust, leaking drains, faulty site drainage, hot water piping connected to the toilet, etc. The cost of an inspection is incidental when compared to the price of a new home

Homes trade value for driving time

Where can you get a two-story home of 2,340 square feet with four bedrooms and 2-1/2 baths on a 100-by-180 foot lot for $209,900?

Grand View Lake, detached-site condominiums in Grand Blanc Township, is the place.

Lennox Custom Homes and Spartan D/L Homes will team to build 57 homes in the first phase of the community just over the Genesee County line (Exit 108. on I-75, right to Cook Road, then left on. Cook)

Much interest in living a little further north has been generated in northern Oakland County, people involved with the development say.

"It's not that far out," said Andrea M. Smith, sales manager. "We're pulling a lot from the Chrysler Tech Center, a lot from Auburn Hills. It's a beautiful scenic drive, about 35 minutes from Troy.

"You get a lot of house for the dollar here." said Mario Giannandrea, vice president with Spartan D/L Homes, "One-hundred-foot lots in Rochester cost about $100,000. Here, less than half. We can pass savings on to the

"The houses are very wide facing the street, and garages don't stick out," Giannandrea said. "People aren't on top of each other. There's daylight lots, wooded lots, walkout lots, preservation of wetland areas.

"We didn't take stock plans. We designed all new from the get-go," said John Sheehan of Lennox. "We don't like the box-on-box look."

"We focus a lot on the kitchen. We want to keep it as large as possible," Giannandrea said. "It's nothing for us to move walls. We'll change plans."

"They're nice, custom homes," said Cosmo DiCicco of Spartan D/L Homes. Look at the gables, elevations. Those attract to the house.

"A lot of people are impressed with our first-floor master," Smith said. They're very impressed with some of the custom look on the exterior, Even on the inside, they just look huge.

And the location - in Grand Blanc, "an up-and-coming" community, according to Giannandrea – a couple of miles from I-75 makes Grand View Lake easily accessible to a variety of job centers and amenities.

Five floor plans are offered. The priciest, a story-and-a-half of 2,830 square feet with four bedrooms, 2-1/2 baths and loft, goes for $252,900 with no upgrades on a base lot.

Glengary: This story-and-a-half at Grand View Lakes has several options for the upstairs including loft, fourth bedroom and a jack-and-jill bath.

A two-car garage, fireplace, first-floor laundry, basement with brick-like walls from concrete forms, separate tub and shower in the master, range and dishwasher, oak foyer and carpeting throughout are included in all plans at standard price.

Two models are under construction. The Glengary, a story-and-a-half of 2,860 square feet, will feature a library, dining room, great room with sloped ceiling, kitchen/ nook with island, desk and walk-in pantry, and master with cathedral ceiling, two separate vanities and a pair of walk-in closets on the first floor.

Three bedrooms, a full bath and a loft will be upstairs Base price is $252,900.

The Grandview, the two-story of 3,014 square feet, will contain a living room with volume ceiling, dining room, library, family room, and an optional second half-bath off the laundry and garage entrance.

The master with cathedral ceiling, two walk-in closets, two-sink vanity, plus three other bedrooms and a full bath are upstairs.

Base price is $249,900 Vinyl siding and brick are the primary exterior materials.

Most lots in phase one carry premiums ranging from $2.500-$12.500. Daylight lots are an additional $7,000,

The initial phase of Grand View Lake, not actually on a lake, is served by city water and sewers. It's within the Grand Blanc school boundaries. There will be sidewalks.

The property tax rate is $28.56 per $1,000 of taxable value, half of sales price for new construction. That means the owners of a $235,000 home would pay $3,400 the first year

The annual association fee is estimated at $150

Get rid of an unwanted tree section by section

BY POPULAR MECHANICS FOR AP SPECIAL FEATURES

Your own yard may have problem trees that present a hazard to property and personal safety, and would be better off removed. Should you attempt the job yourself?

Felling a tree in your yard is not the same as it is in the forest. A tall tree may have to be removed in sections and felled in a precise manner to avoid crashing down on power lines, roadways and nearby homes. Once the tree is down, you'll have to contend with cutting up the trunk and branches and disposing of all the waste wood not to mention removing the stump

Of course, you can rent the equipment that a pro would use to handle the job.

However, it's likely that you'll find the rental costs, specialized knowledge and hard work required make hiring an expert a real bargain.While costs can vary depending on location, you're better off paying a flat rate for the entire job rather than paying on a time-and-materials basis.

and a start and a start of the

This way, you know the total cost before you start and can shop around to find the best deal. As a rule, you can expect to pay about $500 to $600 per 8-hour day, which includes the crew and equipment, You shouldn't have to pay any-thing before the work starts, and it's a good idea to look for a com-pany that's been in business for a while and has references you can check.

Where a tall tree can't easily be felled due to potential damage to property, it's removed in sections.

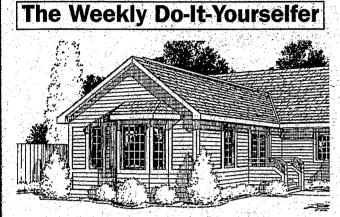

The first step is to remove the branches – working from the bot-tom up to avoid getting the upper branches entangled in the wer ones.

A cherry picker and a chain saw are standard tools for this. work. Large branches are best lowered to the ground with a rope rather than letting them fall. Once the trunk is cleared, sections are cut off starting at the top.

Stump removal is best handled with a stump cutter or grinder.

The cutting wheel is positioned hydraulically, and is in moved back and forth over the v? stump until the wood is ground 42 away to the desired depth. l 13

How to do spot clapboard fixes to look like new

BY POPULAR MECHANICS For AP Special Features

Maintaining an old house's original wood clapboards is one of the major components of a successful restoration.

It's usually not a difficult thing to do. In most cases, you should be able to make spot repairs or replace damaged boards for the end result of a unified period exterior.

As you can imagine, the common problem with lots of old clapboard is that it tends to split and crack over time. If the split or crack is small, often restorers simply glue the board back together again, without causing much disturbance to the rest of the side.

Use a good waterproof glue, then clamp the split together until it dries. You can do this by driving nails below the lower edge of the damaged board, turning them up so they brace the pieces together. Small wood blocks secured with a nail or two will do the same thing. Be careful the nails don't split the siding. If you find boards that are damaged beyond repair, spots where warping, rot and the weather have taken their toll on old wood, you can usually cut out the bad piece and replace it with a freshly milled clapboard.

Use a hacksaw to cut out the freshly damaged section. Angle it carefully while you work to avoid cutting the siding below. After the board is cut, a hammer and sharp chisel are usually all that's needed to remove pieces of the damaged wood. Chances are the board is nailed to the one above it.

If the nail is visible from the surface, try to pull it out. If not, you'll have to insert small wooden wedges or a screwdriver up under the siding to pry it out slightly to cut the nails with a hacksaw.

If you must start from scratch and reside an old (or new) house with clapboard, the following installation tips and techniques will guide you.

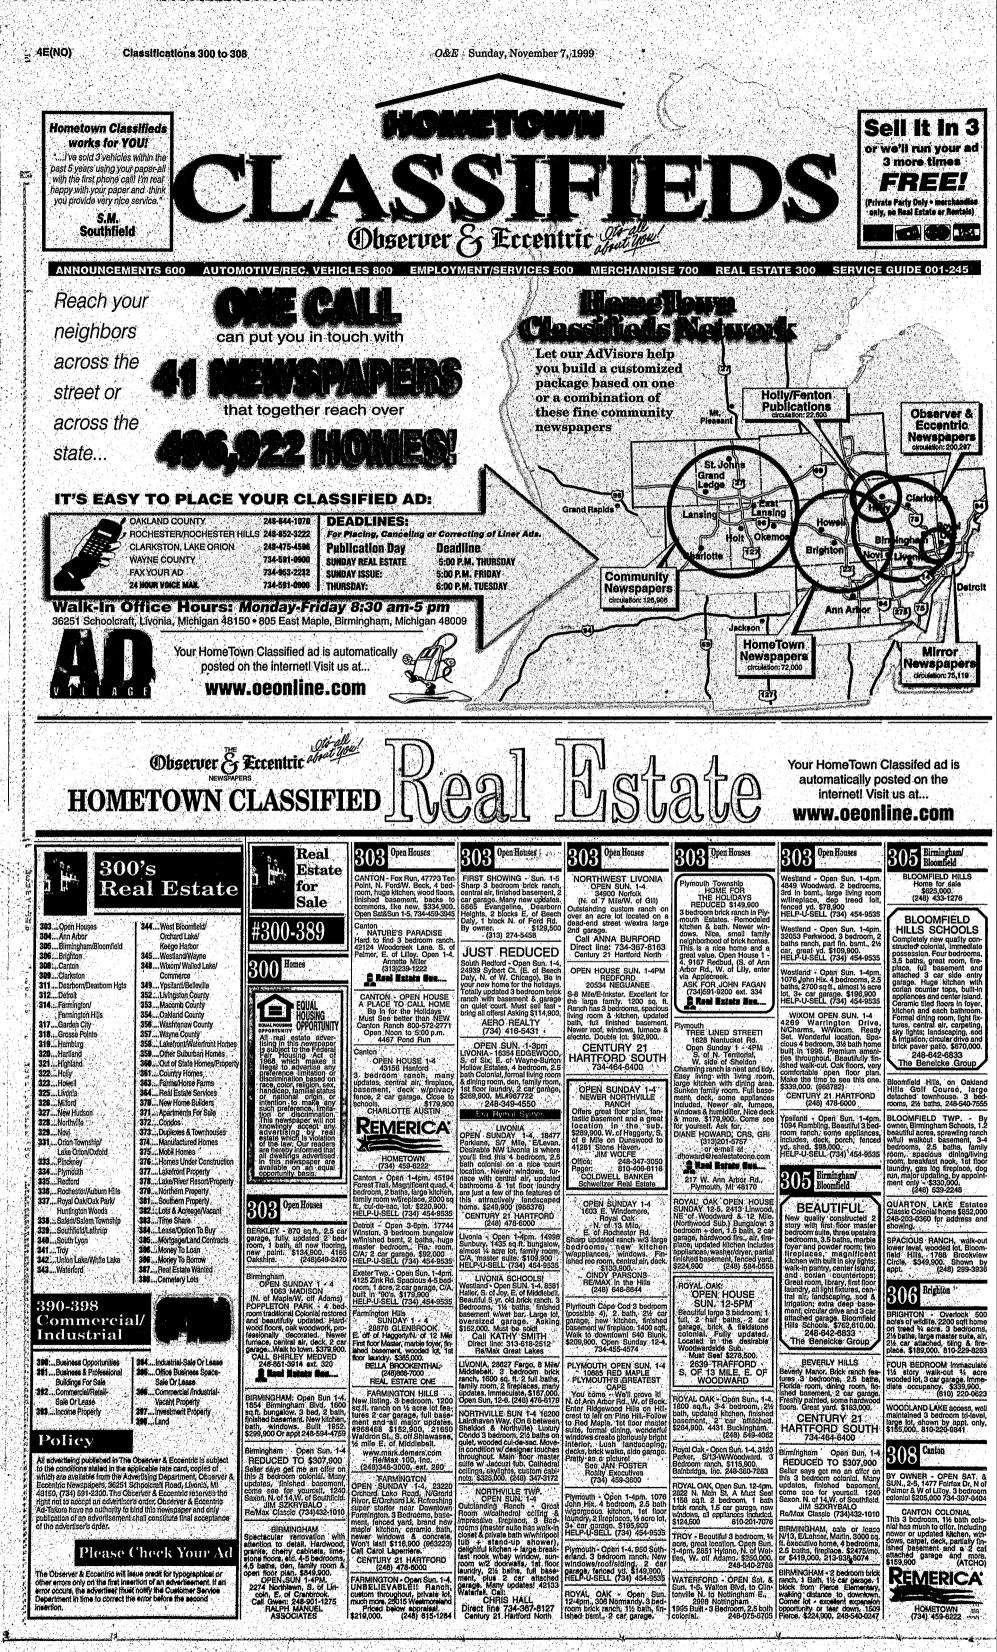

Traditionally, most beveled clapboards were layered from the bottom up. It's still the preferred way to side today.

The historic way the hand-rived boards were secured to the structure is also the one that those milling riftsawn clapboards today recommend - nailing through two
