Board Votes 3-2 to Renew Sheriff's Contract

By Kathy Greenfield

Independence Township will continue to have Oakland County Sheriff's Department deputies patrol the area for another year.

The decision to allow the automatic renewal of the sheriff's department contract on April 1 was decided by a majority vote of the Independence Township board at their meeting last week after an almost two hour long discussion on the issue.

Support for Independence police services was voiced by members of the board as well as several of the over 180 citizens at the meeting.

Treasurer Betty Hallman, Trustee Fred Ritter and Clerk Chris Rose voted yes. Supervisor Floyd Tower and Trustee Jerry Powell voted against renewing the contract.

"I cannot sit here and tolerate citizens and the sheriff's department bad mouthing Jack McCall," said Hallman. "He's done a terrific job in the township."

Hallman said she believed the township would be "further ahead by going with our own department," but "you people are telling me you want the sheriff's contract, so that's the way I have to vote."

Rose said the issue came up because of the number of complaints against the sheriff's department.

After the issue hit the newspapers, Rose said he had numerous calls praising the sheriff's department.

"Our problem has not been with the (sheriff's) deputies," Rose said. "It has been with the higher-ups."

As elected officials, the board had to consider "the most service for the least amount of money," Rose said. "I'd be hard pressed to vote against a (sheriff's) contract at this time."

Powell said he's been in favor of a local department since 1971. "I think that now is the time to go with our own police force," he said. "It's going to cost me more money no matter which way we go."

"This is not a very popular decision," he continued, adding that he believed a local department would provide the best service for the best cost.

Ritter said he wanted "the best deal for the least amount of money."

"There's absolutely no disputing that we've had an excellent job done by Chief McCall in the areas he's working," Ritter said. "I feel we can continue forward like we have in the past (with both police departments)."

Getting along is the most important goal, Ritter said. "I think if we work on that, we're going to be golden."

Supervisor Tower said the decision on whether to renew the sheriff's contract was not going to a vote of the people at this time.

As elected officials, the board members are responsible for such decisions, he said, and "this particular contract won't be thrown out to the people."

Better relations between police services and the sheriff's department was frequently mentioned during the meeting.

"I want to compliment both of the services," Mrs. Iva Caverly said, but "it seems to me there should be more communication between departments."

Tom Boothby also praised both police departments, but said he was concerned about "this terrible deviousness."

Sheriff's deputy Lee Squires said, "Since the last meeting, I think there is a large amount more cooperation than there was in the past."

The local department provides animal control, local ordinance enforcement, a meter maid, school services and traffic control as well as the Pine Knob traffic and

Senior Citizen Coordinator Back on Job

by Kathy Greenfield

For a while, it looked like Senior Citizen Coordinator Darlene Bringard had lost her job.

But last week, she was back to work. "The people that worked with Darlene the past year are real pleased that she has come back," said Claude Daniels, co-chairman of the Senior Advisory Board.

Last month, Bringard submitted her resignation to the Independence Township Board to take another job.

"When I got there, I realized that I was more happy with the seniors," she said.

Her original request to be reinstated was tabled at last month's board meeting when two members were absent.

At a special board meeting, one member was absent and the 2-2 tie vote meant she would not be reinstated.

The question was back on the agenda for last week's board meeting by requests from Trustees Fred Ritter and Jerry Powell so the entire board could decide on the outcome.

Daniels read a letter at the meeting from the Senior Advisory Board asking that Bringard be reinstated.

"We all feel she has done an excellent job," he read. "She has shown us by her past performance that she is the one for the position."

The tribute described Bringard as "kind, friendly and helpful" and credited her with the volleyball, softball, bowling, cards and craft projects the seniors enjoy.

Bringard said she was moved to tears by the positive support of the group.

"I voted no on this at the last meeting," Treasurer Betty Hallman said. "However, since then I have talked with the Senior Advisory Board, and her department head has said nothing but good things about her."

Trustee Jerry Powell moved that Bringard's resignation not be accepted and to reinstate her on February 7, treating the absence as an unpaid leave.

The board approved the motion 4-1.

Springfield Parks Commission Wants Citizen Input

On February 20, the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission will meet beginning at 8:00 p.m. to finalize the 1978-79 Parks and Recreation budget.

Preliminary discussions to date have indicated a renewed interest in development and expansion of facilities and programs, said Stephen Dice, Secretary of the Parks and Recreation Commission. However, the commission would prefer to have additional citizen input before the budget is submitted to the township for approval.

Organized under law in the middle 1950's, the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission's initial responsibility was operation of the golf course in Davisburg. After Oakland County assumed golf course operation in the late 1960's, the commission remained in limbo until about 1972. At that time, a program of behind-the-scenes support, both financial and otherwise, was initiated. (Those receiving support at times included a local senior citizens' group, local Little League organization, recreation activities at the Davisburg Millpond and local elementary schools).

Compared to neighboring townships offering parks and recreation facilities, Springfield provides very little for its residents, said Dice. Springfield Township is also considerably below national standards for parks and recreation.

He continued, "For these reasons and more, the Springfield Township Parks and Recreation Commission hopes to get started this year on an accelerated five to ten year development program. It is hoped that township residents will assist by providing input regarding the park and recreation needs and desires of their families and neighborhoods."

If you are a township resident and you do have something to say about parks and recreation in Springfield Township, call the township offices at 634-3111 or 625-4802, or come to the next township parks and recreation commission meeting Monday, February 20 at 8:00 p.m. in the Springfield Township Hall.

Charter Night March 11 for Clarkston Lions Club

Charter Night for the recently organized Clarkston Lions Club will be March 11 at Spring Lake Country Club.

D'Arcy Gonzales, manager of the Pine Knob branch of Pontiac State Bank, is charter president. He is a past officer with the Pontiac Lions Club. John Moreau is secretary and Dr. Jack Shader treasurer. Additional officers will be elected before charter night.

Dr. Bruce Harlton has been appointed charter night chairman and Julius Dael membership chairman. The club has scheduled dinner meetings the first and third Thursday of each month at Howe's Lanes.

Lions are well-known for their work in sight conservation. In addition to assisting the blind, they provide eye examinations and glasses for the needy, conduct eye screening and glaucoma test clinics and promote the Michigan Eye Bank. Financial support is given Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester and Welcome Home for the Blind in Grand Rapids.

During the next year, special emphasis will be placed by Michigan Lions on the deaf and hearing impairments. Lions also carry out a large number of community activities not related to sight or hearing conservation.

Lions International is the largest service organization in the free world. There are more than 1.3 million Lions in 30,000 clubs in 149 countries and geographical areas. The Clarkston club is the 31st in Oakland County.

Assisting in organizing the new club were Don Vogel of the Ortonville club, district new clubs chairman, and Bruce Robertson of the sponsoring Drayton Plains club.

20-25 Stores Planned for Dixie - I-75 Center

If all goes according to plans, there will be a new shopping center in the Independence-Springfield area. Ten acres at the intersection of I-75 and the Dixie Highway may provide some 20-25 stores for local residents.

The property, owned and developed by M.E. Arden Company of Southfield, is currently in the preliminary stages of development with no tenants confirmed as of yet.

Harold Lawson, spokesman for Arden, told The Reminder that everything is still in the planning stages and negotiations are underway for leases.

He visualizes some two dozen "quality specialty shops for a rapidly growing area." There are no plans for large retail chain stores, only a supermarket and drug store plus the retail shops.

Ground-breaking is tentatively scheduled for the fall of 1978 if leases are signed as planned.

THOUGHTS 'N THINGS

by Joan Allen

Every once in a while, I wonder if teachers are still teaching that negative and positive are opposite ends of a straight line. It has taken me years to discover that that is a false idea, and that everything in the universe is fashioned in circles, and that straight lines are simply segments of those circles. Granted, the human eye may only "see" the segment, but the rest of the circle is there.

If one draws a circle, and puts negative at the northernmost point of it, and positive at the southernmost point of it, with moderation at the eastern and western points, it is easier to understand "new theories and old theories," as they affect human behavior and trends of society. That is, if one follows the negative line far enough, one will run into positive, and vice-versa. That explains "it's always darkest before the dawn." Things can just get so bad before they get better!

In fact, I keep telling myself that the dawn is soon to come, but it just gets darker, and I am impatient.

This all came about because our fifteen-year-old daughter sold magazine subscriptions as a junior high school project. We, of course, bought several of them. "Time" magazine was one of them, though not a magazine which I have often read. I had somehow been impressed with the idea that it was a good current events type of magazine though, so I figured it was a good family choice.

That is, I thought it was until the other day, when that same fifteen-year-old daughter brought me a current issue of "Time" magazine, and showed me an article she had just finished reading. She said it was "gross." I read it, and said that the writer had to be sick. He somehow made a humorous article out of his observation of a group of emotionally sick and very sad people. The experience he wrote about was a visit to a "swinger's club," and his descriptions of the people there were about as "funny" as a fatal accident. I sincerely hope that this kind of stupidity is the most negative point our society can stoop to, and that the dawn is soon to come, but I've thought that before, and it is still getting darker!

When I was a child, I was fond of a story called "The Emperor's New Clothes." In the story, the Emperor was convinced by some rascals, that a new set of clothes had been made for him. However, only the pure of heart could see them. The Emperor, of course, couldn't see them, but neither could he admit that he wasn't pure of heart.

All the rest of the adults had the same problem, so they all praised and admired the Emperor's "new outfit." It wasn't until a child (all children are pure of heart) pointed out that the Emperor was attired only in his underwear, that the adults realized that they and their Emperor had been tricked.

Today, we have a great many people who won't admit that they are surrounded by trash in communications, because they believe that only the stupid or the ignorant are unable to recognize that which is "sophistication." Frankly, I prefer to be considered stupid or ignorant rather than ignore the gutter level quality of many of today's magazines, movies, and television programs.

Under the guise of "realism" we are allowing ourselves and, more importantly, our children, to be subjected to every sickness of the mind and spirit; by exposing our families to the negative creations of the money-worshippers. As a society we are paying a terrible price for our interpretation of "freedom of speech." It's like granting freedom to contagious disease. That "freedom" combined with the lack of conscience of those who believe that "the buyer beware," can destroy us faster than any war can. The time to worry about it is now!

The quality of human relationships is not dependant on physical relationships. The quality of physical relationships is dependant on mental and emotional relationships. The need for a quantity of physical relationships is a dead giveaway that quality in human relationships is lacking. All the "alternate" relationships that have sprung up in the last years are nothing but "cop-outs" by people who don't believe in, or can't tolerate the responsibility of a quality relationship. There is nothing "new" about human behavior. The solutions to problems have just become more bizarre, and better reported, than ever before.

The key word to a quality relationship, with anyone, and under any circumstances, is responsibility. Parents and children who take responsibility for each other's happiness and well-being, develop quality relationships. Husbands and wives who take that same responsibility for each other develop quality relationships, too. Those who refuse to accept the difficulties imposed in responsibility for another person's happiness and well-being never reap the rewards of a quality relationship either. The person who "runs away" when life gets difficult, spends a lifetime in running away. One cannot run away from the self, and running away from difficulty is running away from life and the self.

Failure in any human relationship has a destructive affect on human beings. Having the courage to stand and fight for success is constructive. When a problem exists, every effort should be made to solve it. Human beings gain strength and confidence from tackling problems. They lose self-respect when they run away.

What of problems that can't be solved? What about the battered housewife? Now that is at the bottom of all the "new" ideas that have come about. There always have been people who "bet on the wrong horse," and lived to regret it.

The solution to that problem does not lie in "easier ways out" of bad situations. The solution lies in preventative medicine. Children taught to accept responsibility for their actions will generally consider consequences before taking action. That is the time to "get out of a bad situation" - before one gets into one.

Now I was recently accused of having "old-fashioned" ideas. That may be due to the fact that I was raised by parents who had a lot of common sense, and who understood cause and effect. When I studied psychology, I questioned everything that I had been taught. I learned, however, that psychology teaches the same things that religious philosophy teaches, in terms of being happy and healthy. Man makes mistakes. Man runs into difficulties. Man can find "forgiveness" and turn things around with effort. Turning things around is worthwhile. Education and experience simply reinforced what I had learned as a child. If that is "old fashioned" - I'm guilty.

Now, back to the positive-negative circle. I cannot protect my children from all the negative things in the world. I cannot control the experiences that they will have. I can teach them to be selective, however. By teaching them to be selective, I hope to teach them to protect themselves. If we all learned to do that, those who get rich by prey on human weakness would soon go broke. I would enjoy that!

Carol Balzarini To Clean or Not To Clean!

Carol Balzarini

With the blizzard past and spring just around the corner, can spring cleaning be far behind? For some women, housework is done only at certain times of the year. And spring is one of those times.

Another occasion is a notice of condemnation by the health department. And still another is precipitated by a visit from a mother-in-law. This situation can be further complicated if the mother-in-law happens to be from the Upper Peninsula.

There, the success of a housewife is measured by the number of gallons of bleach and other laundry additives she buys each month and by the whiteness of the wash she hangs outside on the line in all kinds of weather. Hanging them in the basement or using the dryer is an indication to the neighbors that she has something to hide.

Another measure of success is the state of her floors, best described by the phrase, "you could eat off them." Now this presents no real problem for some women, because entire meals may be found on them at any given time. One woman very cleverly avoided being accused of having dirty floors by having brown tile installed.

Many housewives do not subscribe to any sort of dedication to cleanliness. As a matter of fact, they are willing to do almost anything to avoid housework. One woman even went so far as to get a job!

But even the least dedicated women get around to dusting and polishing once in a while. Usually their in-laws will make fairly regular visits enabling them to keep a relatively tidy house.

The best laid plans, however, can often go astray. One pair was unable to make their usual autumn visit for a variety of reasons. Consequently, fall housecleaning was no longer a necessity and, subscribing to the philosophy of always putting off until tomorrow what could easily be done today, it was not accomplished.

As a result, the home was eventually turned into a haunted house for Halloween, merely by turning out the lights and lighting candles in jack-o-lanterns. It's not every woman who can turn dust and cobwebs into assets.

One local and less than conscientious haus frau has yet another problem that interferes with housework... she's short. As a result, she tends to dust only that which is at eye-level or below.

Her family has a dear friend who is well over six feet tall and who has a passion for cleanliness. He is also well aware of this poor short woman's cleaning habits.

During a Christmas party, he wrote "Merry Christmas" on the top of the refrigerator and "Happy New Year" on the range hood. When he came back for the families' annual Labor Day picnic, his messages were still there!

But this woman is not a typical housewife...homemaker, if you're liberated or sensitive. Just look at the ads on television. Modern women everywhere have crawled out of the oven and into tennis clothes leaving Mr. Muscle to do the work. (Note that it's Mr. and not Mrs.).

Heaven help these women if their husbands ever find out who Mr. Muscle really is...or Mr. Clean...or Big Wally...or the Man from Glad! As the song once phrased it, "It's so nice to have a man around the house."

Perhaps the greatest result of this modern revolution is that these secret slobs can come out of the closet and stand before the world unafraid and unashamed. Thanks to Betty Friedan and her followers, they can burn their ruffled aprons and write their names in the dust for posterity.

Dear Reminder,

I wish to express my delayed thanks for the return of my class ring which I thought a great deal of. It was returned by the Post Office at Clarkston where it turned in and thanks to your found ad in turn to me. I have had it a long time and am very proud of it. Many thanks.

I am also enclosing a poem for your Poet's Corner which I enjoy.

Yours Sincerely or Gratefully,

Questions Drinking Statistics

TO: Elaine Thornton

I know that you are only quoting one person's views and statistics but in your article on Claude Trim and the lowering of the drinking age, there are some distorted facts that should be questioned, i.e.:

1. The number of 18-20 year olds involved in fatal accidents has NOT increased 132%...wow, what a lie! It has decreased! Even with the number of young drivers increasing! The facts are available from the Secretary of State's Office.

2. The percentage of 18-19 year olds involved in all accidents has DECREASED.

3. And the figures do not indicate that they were the cause of the accidents but were involved.

4. Mr. Trim is obviously representing the dry forces, formerly called "The Anti-Saloon League," now changed to the "Alcohol Control Counsel" or some such name to confuse the public. If these people succeed they will want to curb more gains that we have made over the past 20 years. We can get out petitions, too!

Yours Truly,
John Humphries

State Junior Miss Pageant Has Three Area Contestants

Three area high school girls will compete in the 20th annual Junior Miss 1978 contest to be held this week. The competition will be held February 16, 17 and 18 at Pontiac Northern High School Auditorium.

Beth Nall of Davisburg, representing Holly, will present a dramatic reading on Thursday evening; Linda Jaffke, for Springfield, will demonstrate her ability with the baton on Friday night; and Kathy Wyckoff, representing Clarkston, will demonstrate her talent on the piano on Saturday night.

Thirty-six contestants from all over Michigan will be representing 900 candidates statewide, and will vie for over $45,000 worth of college scholarships and awards. This contest is a nationwide project which honors and rewards girls for achievement in scholastics, creative talents, and community betterment.

The new winner in Michigan's contest will join 49 winners from the other states in Mobile, Alabama, when the Junior Miss finals are held in May. The crowning of America's new Junior Miss will be seen on CBS-TV network.

The 1976 Michigan winner was Cheryl Lynn Davis of Clarkston.

Senior Citizens Must Provide Proof to Avoid Tax Penalty

To avoid a late tax penalty, any senior citizen who has applied for a Michigan property tax exemption or rebate, but has not received a check from the state, must bring proof of application to the Township Treasurer's Office, 90 N. Main Street before February 15.

A 3%-late penalty will be charged until February 28 when a 1% collection fee is also added.

The tax penalties are added automatically, said Treasurer Betty Hallman, and they must be paid for unless the proof of application is presented before the February 15 deadline.

FORECAST:

BY ROBERT C. DAVIS

Our weatherman is Robert C. Davis. Bob, an Ohio State graduate in Geology, makes meteorology [the study of the earth's atmosphere, especially weather conditions] an almost full-time hobby. Bob has generously agreed to share his knowledge with Reminder readers, so watch this column for the latest FORECAST.

by Robert C. Davis

January 1978 will long be remembered as the month of the "Blizzard of '78." The storm of January 1978 truly deserves recognition as the most severe storm in Michigan's history. During the course of the storm, the barometric pressure at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport dropped to an all-time record low of 28.34 inches on the morning of the 26th. While this is extremely low, the atmosphere pressure in the center of the storm as it passed over Cleveland was 28.12 inches. Just for comparison purposes, the "eyes" of well-developed hurricanes generally have atmospheric pressures below 28.50 inches.

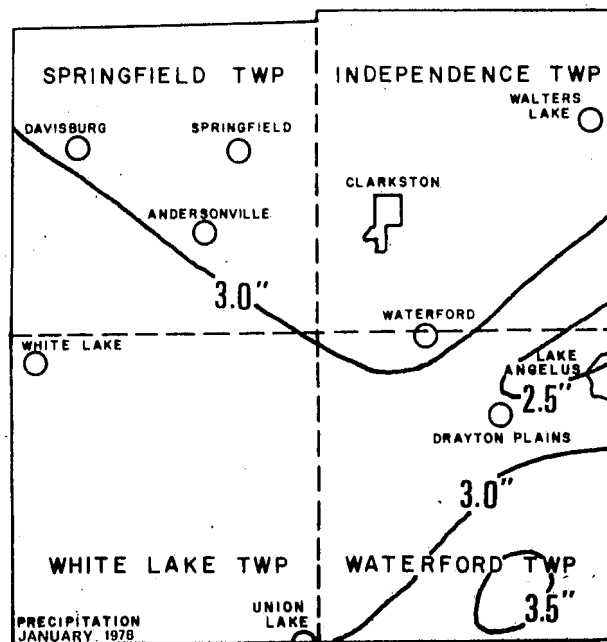

And if the blizzard wasn't enough, consider the fact that we actually received more than our yearly average of snowfall just in this past January. Our nearest National Weather Service climatological station at Pontiac receives an average of about 32 inches of snow each season. The Clarkston area received approximately 33 inches of snow during the month of January, with about 12 inches of that total coming during "the blizzard." That now gives the Clarkston area a 1977-78 seasonal snowfall total of approximately 51 inches through the end of January.

Precipitation (including rainfall and the melted equivalent of snowfall) in our 4-townships and the surrounding area during January was above normal at most stations. Totals ranged from a low of 2.42 inches at Drayton Plains/Oakland Lake to a high of 3.67 inches at Pontiac/Elizabeth Lake. The northern Clarkston station reported 3.18 inches and the eastern Clarkston station reported 3.16 inches for the month.

Temperatures during January were well below normal in our area, averaging about 5 degrees below normal per day. Based on data from the eastern Clarkston station, the highest temperature recorded during the month was only 35 degrees on the 5th; the lowest was 5 degrees below zero on the morning of the 15th. We also held a snow cover over our area during the entire month of January with the greatest depth recorded as 17 inches on the 26th. Much to the delight of local skiers and snowmobilers, we have held a snow cover in our area since December 20, and have only experienced about 7 days without a snow cover since November 24 of last year.

Even though this past January was quite cold, let us not forget what our January was like one year ago. This year our January mean temperature for the month was about 18 degrees; in January 1977, our mean temperature was only about 12 degrees. One major problem that could arise this year though is flooding. Our large snow depths could be a potential flood source if we should get a rapid thaw or some heavy rainfall combined with a thaw. So two words of caution should be sufficient: BE PREPARED! (The map was prepared by Robert C. Davis and Susan E. Rosin, and was sponsored by Johnson and Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers).

Mr. and Mrs. William Heatley Jr.

Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church of Waterford was decorated with white snapdragons and white chrysanthemums tinged with blue, for the 11:00 a.m. wedding of Sandra Ann Nureberg and William F. Heatley, Jr., on January 21.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Nureberg of Ellis Road, Clarkston and the groom is the son of Mrs. Genevieve Heatley of Pontiac, and Dr. William F. Heatley Sr. of Clarkston.

The bride's gown was fashioned of Chantilly lace, and her attendants gowns were of powder-blue taffeta overlaid with Eilon lace. The Matron of Honor was the bride's cousin, Karen Wormnest. Bridesmaids were Linda Robenault and the bride's cousin, Carrie LaBlance, as well as Junior Bridesmaid Bridged Heatley, the groom's sister.

Attending the groom was James Jarouszel of Pontiac, as best man. Bob Heatley, the groom's brother, Tim and Mike Nureberg, brothers of the bride, and Scott Orth of Waterford served as ushers.

Christine Corcoran, another cousin of the bride was the flower girl, and Paul Stafford of Pontiac, nephew of the groom, served as ringbearer. They, like the other attendants, wore blue.

A buffet dinner for 250 guests was served at the reception which was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Clarkston.

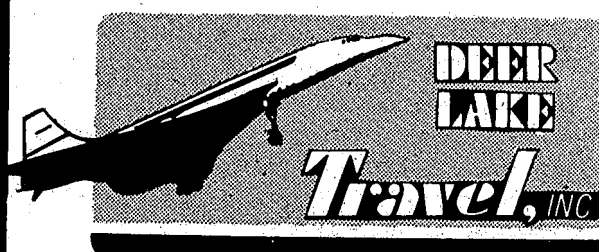

The 5-tier wedding cake was created by the Matron of Honor, Karen Wormnest, and featured two feathered doves, a bride and groom, and sugar bells and blue roses.

A two-week honeymoon at Marco Island, Florida was planned after which the couple will make their home in Las Vegas, where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Air Force.

The bride is a 1977 graduate of Clarkston High School. The groom graduated from Pontiac Catholic High School in 1976.

Mr. Eugene K. Pool, J.D. of Holly, and Ms. Roberta L. McIntosh of Orion Township are proud to announce the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne Marie to Douglas Charles Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Rogers, Jr. of Union Lake. A November 4 wedding is being planned.

Rotarians Help Senior Citizens During Blizzard

"I never had anything in my life like this. I was so happy," said Betty Minton. "They are taking care of old people."

Mrs. Minton is a senior citizen. She was talking about a telephone call she received from a Clarkston Rotary Club member during the Great Blizzard of '78.

Although she had enough food in the house, the call assured her that somebody cared.

It was a good feeling to know she could call someone for help. "I had friends, but nobody could get out," she explained.

The Rotarians have been planning a senior citizen's Awareness program.

"After the storm, we thought it would be a good time to start," said Dick Logan, president of Rotary.

Logan, Del Lohff, Jim Vollbach and Dick Greenfield telephoned 115 senior citizens from a list provided by Tim Doyle, Independence Township Parks and Recreation director.

The Rotarians had the fire department and police services on stand-by in case there were any serious problems. Most people were prepared for the storm, Logan said.

They were able to direct the county plow to clear roads in one area where people were low on food.

"They really perked up," Logan said, "and were just very, very grateful" to get the calls offering help.

The next step for the Rotary senior Awareness program will be a dinner for seniors. Then when they get a complete list of area seniors, each Rotary member will have five or six people they'll get in touch with time to time so they can direct them to sources for help with any problems.

Rotary requests that any area senior citizens not registered with Independence Township send their names, addresses and phone numbers to: Clarkston Rotary Club, 6789 Deerhill Drive, Clarkston 48016.

Chrysler Executive Named Clarkston Jaycee "Boss of the Year"

The sixteenth annual Bosses Night and Distinguished Service Award Banquet was held Friday, February 10 at the Old Mill in Waterford.

Alan R. Stuart of Birmingham was the Boss of the Year. Stuart is manager of personnel and industrial Relations for Chrysler Corporation.

The Outstanding Young Educator Award went to Larry Rosso, government teacher at Clarkston High School. Rosso has served on the board for the Jaycees in the past and has been involved in their candidates' nights for both school and township elections. He is a former president of the CEA and is currently a member of the state board of directors for the Michigan Education Association.

Jim Butzine, social worker for Clarkston Schools Special Services, received the distinguished Service Award for community involvement. Butzine is a member of the Jaycee board, has been treasurer of Independence Center for the past two years, and is, most notably, director of the SCAMP program.

Also honored at the banquet was Mike Luchenback who was presened with a J.C.I. senatorship for outstanding service to the chapter.

The evening of cocktails, dinner and the awards presentation was capped by speaker Dick Vitale, former coach of the University of Detroit basketball team and current athletic director. The topic of his speech was self-motivation. A question and answer period followed the hour-long speech presented in the Vitale style without a microphone.

Bonds Named SCAMP Chairman

WXYZ Channel 7's Bill Bonds has been named honorary chairman for the 2nd Annual John Laffrey's SCAMP Benefit.

The date has been set for Sunday, June 25.

Forrest and Jacqui Milzow have again donated the full use of Deer Lake Racquet Club for the event.

Last year's benefit earned $8,500 and the group hopes to earn more this year. SCAMP is a day camp program for special children.

Emphasis at the camp is social, academic and recreational. Operated by Clarkston Schools, the camp philosophy is to create positive life feelings for the SCAMPers.

Ticket sales will start later this year. Watch the Reminder for details.

Friends and Neighbors McVety's Have the Perfect Love Story

Valentine's Day is the perfect time for a Friends and Neighbors story with romance in it.

The Vernon McVetys live in Independence Township with their nine children. Recently two of their daughters were married in a double wedding. In three months, a third daughter is also scheduled to be married.

Eighteen year old twins Patty and Peggy spoke their vows in a double ring candlelight service in the Apostolic Church of Christ in Pontiac. They wore identical gowns and each had a maid of honor and four bridesmaids, all wearing identical gowns of peach or mint green.

With a family as large as theirs, it is only natural that many of them should make up the wedding party.

The bride's older sister Cheryl Asbury was a bridesmaid, her husband Jack a groomsman, and their two children Kirk, 6, and Kelly, 4, were ringbearer and flower girl.

The girls' nineteen-year-old sister Cindy was a bridesmaid as were thirteen-year-old twins Julie and Judy. Youngest sister Mattie Lou, 5, was a miniature bride. Brother Ron, 21, was a groomsman. Their cousin Tammy Freeman of Clarkston was another bridesmaid.

The wedding, with over 500 guests present, was the first double ceremony ever performed by the minister. It was also the largest for the McVety family as Cheryl had chosen a smaller one.

Since Peggy, now Mrs. Thomas Jadwin, and Patty, now Mrs. David Irwin, were both students at Clarkston High School at the time, honeymoon plans were put off until this summer. There is a possibility, however, that the two couples may be going to the same place at the same time!

Now that the twins' wedding is over, Mr. and Mrs. McVety can sigh with relief and relax but not for long.

Cindy and her fiance Rick Gurley have set a May 12 wedding date. The wedding will be in the same church and her sisters Cheryl, Patty, and Peggy will be bridesmaids. However, twins Julie and Judy won't be in this wedding party.

After the May wedding, the McVetys will have a few years ahead of them before the next daughters start thinking of getting married. But if Julie and Judy should decide to have a double wedding, their parents will be able to depend on past experience to plan that one.

Peggy Jean McVety and Thomas Jadwin were married recently at Apostolic Church of Christ, Pontiac. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McVety of Clarkston and John Jadwin of Rochester and Mrs. Douglas Young of Pontiac Township. Honor attendants were Ellen Hammond and Bruce Jones.

Patricia Alice McVety and David Irwin were married recently at Apostolic Church of Christ, Pontiac. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon McVety of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Irwin of Bloomfield Hills. Honor attendants were Sue McClure and Ron Holland.

CLARKSTON IN SCRAMBLE FOR GOAL TITLE
 Clarkston B-ballers traveled to Rochester Friday, February 10 for another tough GOAL contest only to meet with defeat.
 It was a close contest between the two evenly matched teams. Clarkston's Steve Evans led the attack on Rochester and the team was ahead by 3 points at one minute left on the clock. Clarkston pressed with the four-corner stall causing Rochester to foul. The Wolves missed two one or ones which "could have iced the game if we'd have gotten the shots," commented Coach Nustad.
 Rochester fouled again with 16 seconds left in the game and they ran away with the rebound. Clarkston called time with 5 seconds left. Kit Pappas went up for a basket but it bounced off the rim, ending the game with Rochester 54, Clarkston, 53. Evans popped in 16 points in the game with McCormick and Czinder contributing 14 and 10 points.

 Coach Nustad reevaluated by saying, "We've come too far to pull up the nets and go home. Our destiny is in our own hands now." Clarkston, Rochester and West Bloomfield are all 5-2 in league play.

In Tuesday's game with Lapeer West, Clarkston started slow, but scored 46 points in the second half to take the victory, 68-56.
 Clarkston was down by 5 points at the half. Coach Nustad enlightened the team with a few words in the locker room to inspire them to go to war in the second half. They did just that. The Wolves held Lapeer to only 29 points in the second half.
 Tim McCormick, Clarkston's 6'7" sophomore led the team with 17 points and grabbed 7 rebounds. Chief warrior Steve Evans scored 12 points, a low for him, and took down 7 rebounds to join the Wolves attack.

CLARKSTON BUILT UP FOR THE KILL
 "One of the best outcomes of the match was that the gals really worked together and began to gel as a team," surmised Clarkston Volleyball coach, Linda Denstadet. Clarkston met Rochester across the net on their home floor Monday, February 6 with Clarkston the victor, 16-15, 15-10, 15-13. The Clarkston volleys ran a consistent attack coming back from a 6-point deficit in the third game to win.
 Clarkston retained the team work accomplished Monday when they traveled to West Bloomfield to bring home a 15-8, 15-9, two-game match win, Wednesday, February 8. Coach Denstadet commented, "We showed a stronger offense which resulted in some nice play." Anne Vaara and Jane Tatu surprised West Bloomfield with their 4 and 2 ace serves respectively. Six kill spikes were also vital in snatching the victory.
 Clarkston is 2-3 in GOAL play and 4-3 overall.
 Clarkston was host to six schools in the Volleyball Invitational February 4. The Wolves were eliminated in the first round by first place taker, Clarenceville High School. Second spot was filled by Kimball High School.

FOUR MATTERS QUALIFY FOR REGIONALS
 At the Class A District Wrestling play-offs at Pontiac Northern High School February 4, Coach Toby Carter's team took sixth place out of 16 schools participating. Four Clarkston matters qualified for the Regionals held at Davison February 11.
 Brad Griggs, a senior, took 1st place in the 132 lb. weight class. Sophomore Claude Gourand took the second spot at 138 lbs. Third in the 145's and fourth in the 155's were grabbed by senior Bill McClusky and junior Tim Detkowski.
 The wrestling finals will be held at Western Michigan University February 18.

Heather Brown, ninth grader at Sashabaw Junior High, holds the winning ticket and the autographed basketball she won at last week's SCAMP-Detroit Tigers charity game.

Jim Butzine [24] and Tim Doyle [10] watch Tiger Jim Crawford dunk the ball as Vern Ruhle charges in to help.

The Tigers' cheering section was small but loyal. From left are Darlene Ruhle, Wanda Wilcox and Jane Sykes. They told the Reminder they went to most of the fund-raising games because it was "a night out away from the kids."

Skiers Finish 7th

Nine Clarkston skiers and coach Gary Griffiths turned out for the annual district meet held at Pine Knob on Thursday, February 9. The boys' team finished in seventh place of ten teams participating while the girls finished ninth of nine. The whole team's standing was also seventh of ten in the league.

Individual scores are as follows:

Brad Viergever finished 21st in the slalom event and 28th in the giant slalom.

Seth Scott was 27th in the slalom and 30th in the giant slalom.

Bill Cattin was right behind him in the slalom finishing 28th and ended up 33rd in the giant slalom.

Mike Evans was in 39th position in the slalom and 46th in the giant slalom.

Mike Latimer was disqualified in the slalom but finished in 29th place in the giant slalom.

There were approximately 60 boys participating in the district meet. The total number of girl skiers was slightly less.

Sally Hitchcock placed 33rd in the slalom and 36th in the giant slalom.

Jill Ashton was not too far behind finishing 37th in the first event and 40th in the giant slalom.

Chris Blumenschein and Cheryl McLeod were both disqualified in the slalom event but Cheryl finished 37th in the giant slalom and Chris was 45th.

The fledgling Clarkston team will participate in the all-day regional ski meet, also to be held at Pine Knob, on Thursday, February 16.

Conte and Wolfe Face 2nd Murder Charge

The murder trial of Augustino Conte and Gary Wolfe for the September slaying of two employees of the Arts and Gems Gallery, ended in Waterford Township with the two being found guilty of first degree murder.

Though the trial is over, both of the men will next face a preliminary trial in front of District Judge Gene Schnelz, Walled Lake District Court, for the July, 1977 murder of Barbara Lunsford. It is charged that the Independence Township woman was gunned down in front of a bowling alley by Conte and Wolfe, who were hired by David Ovegian. Conte also faces charges in the murder of two Orion Township men.

The Arts and Gems murder trial lasted six days, with the jury deliberating for about four hours before a guilty verdict was reached.

Key testimony came from Mrs. Kathleen Stevenson, who was living with Conte at the time of the jewelry store hold-up and killings. She told the court that Conte returned with what appeared to be blood stains on his and Wolfe drove her yellow Opel on the day of the slayings, and that Conte returned with what appeared to be blood stains on his trousers.

All three then drove to the Union Lake Motel where Mrs. Stevenson disposed of checks from the Arts and Gems store. Next, the group drove to the Wonderland Shopping Center in Livonia where Wolfe placed two garbage bags, containing wrapped guns, in a garbage dumpster.

After driving to the Hilltop Motel in Redford Township, Mrs. Stevenson bought some personal items for the pair before driving to a girlfriend's home. The next morning, Conte and Wolfe were picked up at the motel by police.

Carl Pardon

We The People

by Joan Allen

Carl Pardon, Director of Oakland County's Veterans Services, can be counted on to keep the Veteran's best interests in mind. He was left fatherless at the age of five when his father was killed on Okinawa at the end of World War II. That left him with a personal interest in the men and women who shouldered the responsibility of protecting the rights and property of the rest of us.

Pardon was born and raised in Ann Arbor, as were his father, grandfather and great-grandfather. He attended elementary school and high school there, and after graduation, attended Ferris College in Big Rapids for a year. He quit college at the end of that first year (though his mother hoped he would go into a profession) "because," he said, "I didn't enjoy school academically (or it didn't enjoy me) so I left. Not being mature enough for college at the time, I entered the Air Force."

He spent four years in the Air Force as a surgical technician and lifeguard. Much of that time was spent in Morocco. He also spent time in Spain, and used the opportunity and time to take a number of side-trips before he returned to the United States. He finished his time in service in Columbus, Ohio.

"As a surgical technician, I assisted doctors in surgery," Pardon said. "I was a scrub-nurse, although in Morocco and Spain, I did surgery. The Air Force trained us. We spent 16 weeks in school and a year in on-the-job training learning anatomy, physiology, chemistry, prescription-reading, the instruments themselves, and anything else involved with surgery." They also learned sterile techniques and scrubbing and other things which prepared them for their main function; that of assisting the doctors.

"It was very interesting work, and it has paid off in my work here," Pardon said. "We deal with anatomy and physiology here every day (when determining benefits) and I've been able to utilize my background myself, and to train my people."

Pardon got out of the Air Force in January of 1964, and married his wife, Priscilla on July 4 of that year. He had first met her in Ann Arbor when he was 16, and working as a soda jerk there. The Pardons settled down in Ann Arbor, and at that time, "I decided that school was probably the thing I wanted to do," he said.

He began driving to Jackson to the Community College there, and found out that he was ready for college then. He finished his year there, and then transferred to Eastern Michigan University. At the same time, he took a job as a security guard and night-watchman. That enabled him to study on-the-job. His wife also worked until their first child was born in March of 1967. That meant going to school part-time, and working full-time for Pardon.

Since he had been eligible for some veteran's benefits (because of his father's death while in service) Pardon had become well-acquainted with his home country's veteran's office, and he was able to work there while he finished school, as a veteran's counselor.

Upon graduation from Eastern in 1968, he took a position with Chrysler Corporation as a Quality Analyst. He worked there for two years, but had decided to leave because "there was no place to go in terms of promotion at Chryslers." About that time, he was invited to return to the Veterans Administration office in Washtenaw, as Assistant Director, and he accepted the job. He remained in that position until 1974, when the Oakland County position was opened up. He applied, and was the best qualified applicant for the job, and has been in Oakland County ever since.

The Veterans Services Department of the County was originally set up to help men getting out of services during World War II. It was mainly concerned with hospitalization benefits at that time. Due to a hard working lobby group, however, the veterans worked for, and succeeded in getting a lot of legislation passed, to give them additional benefits in the fields of education, home loans and insurance.

They needed a local place to go, according to Pardon, and they needed help in determining the types of benefits which were due them. The County offices set up under different State laws have provided that service. "We don't have any Federal funding," Pardon said, "it's all County financing. Our main thrust is to make sure Oakland County veterans get what's coming to them in the way of benefits."

Oakland County has the biggest Veteran's office in Michigan and has a staff of twenty-six. Besides the County offices, there are local offices in Royal Oak and Pontiac, and one at the Auburn Hills campus of Oakland Community College. The counselors help veterans, their widows, children and parents, when benefits are due the estate of a deceased veteran. According to Pardon, approximately 130 thousand veterans in Oakland County received over 54 million dollars last year.

One of the veteran's problems that Pardon has had to deal with has been a higher unemployment rate for veterans than for other groups. He feels that the World War II veteran was regarded as a hero when he returned from service, because of the fact that we had been attacked made it a popular war. The Korean veteran received little attention because he simply fought a continuation of World War II. "It was a weird war," Pardon said, "and the Korean vet was not considered a bad guy, but he wasn't regarded as a hero, either." On the other hand, the Vietnam veteran, fighting an unpopular battle, was somehow tarred with the same brush as the war itself. He was unpopular.

In November of 1975, the general unemployment rate was 11.6% but it was 16.8% for the Vietnam veteran. "We started a program in June of 1976, in answer to the very serious unemployment problem among veterans, specifically Vietnam veterans," said Pardon. At that time, he had applied for some CETA funds, and was able to hire more people who concentrated on the unemployment problem. By December of 1977, the unemployment rate for veterans had dropped by 9%.

Since there were more Vietnam veterans by that time, that percentage drop is even better than it appears, according to Pardon. The Veteran's Services program has been the biggest driving force which has made that happen.

The Pardons have three children, Tom, who is 10, Cindy, 9 and Julie, who is 7 years old. Their father marvels at their attitudes toward school. "School is not the way I remember it," he said. "I remember not wanting to go to school, but my kids will cry if they are sick and can't go! They even do their homework for Friday on Monday!" he added. "I didn't want to go into a profession, because I didn't want to go to school that long. I wanted to get out in the world and make my mark before then. In retrospect, I probably could have gone on - and I might still go on," he added.

He summed up his philosophy, and what he wants to teach his children. "The golden rule is it! No matter what religion you live by - or if you don't live by one at all - if nothing else - you have to live by the golden rule! If you're nice to people, you're going to get your reward."

Pardon has served as a Cub Master for three years. His other interests are his home and his yard.

Joe Falls Featured Speaker

Thursday, February 6 at 6:30 Joe Falls, sports columnist with the Detroit Free Press will be speaking at Calvary Lutheran Church on Bluegrass Drive at the Father and Son Banquet.

Pete Jidas had recently bought a house on Clarkston Road. When he decided to plow the driveway, he got more than he bargained for...a deep culvert buried under all that snow. Neighbor Bill Warden (left) came out to give him a hand in the digging operation.

I love to socialize and I love Chinese food. What better way to combine the two, than to spend Chinese New Years Eve at the Oceania Inn in Rochester.

The Oceania Inn had given out free passes for a dinner, so even though it was a Monday night, the Meadowbrook Mall (where the Inn is located) was packed. My party waited in line two hours for a table, but the wait was well worth it. The all-you-can-eat Chinese buffet was delicious and the rose and white wines flowed freely.

Before dinner there was entertainment in the Mall area. A Lion Dance was conducted by the American Chinese Athletic Association, plus movies, slides and musical performances. The air was filled with gaiety

Brandon Stage's "Play It Again, Sam" cast wound up their final shows this weekend. I may be a bit prejudiced, but the show was excellent and well received. The price is right for a fun evening out. So next time you're without anyplace to go on the weekend, try Community Theatre. You'll be pleasantly surprised!

Old-Fashioned Valentines Were Often Humorous

by Carol Balzarini

Valentine's Day always seems to be an appropriate time for sentiment and nostalgia even in this fast-paced modern world in which we live. Maybe that's because it's the only day out of the 365 in the year set aside to commemorate romantic love.

An important part of that day is the valentine card, sometimes elaborate, sometimes simple, with messages ranging from the ridiculous to the sublime.

Although today's valentines are certainly pretty and sometimes funny, they just can't compare with the ones Grandma used to receive - ones like those collected by Clarkston antique dealer Daisy Dowling.

Mrs. Dowling has a collection of cards that truly epitomize the concept of an old-fashioned valentine - heavily embossed, loaded with doves and bluebirds, forget-me-nots and pansies, hearts and Cupids.

One heart-shaped card is embossed with golden scrolls topped with a layer of pastel pansies followed by another layer of lace and foil and centered by a golden Cupid in garlands of flowers.

Another card has seven hearts strung on a silk cord and dedicated "To my Valentine, The Queen of Hearts." Its message reads:

"Not content with the hearts you have captured
 And strung on Love's silken line -
 I still find you out on the warpath,
 For now you have captured mine."

Some of Mrs. Dowling's prized valentines include those by Rapheal Tuck and Sons. They are humorous, articulate cards, their hinged parts manipulated by pulling the attached strings. Their subjects range from a mischievous little boy in knickers to a North Pole explorer to a little girl in high buttoned shoes.

One of the humorous cards in her collection shows a small boy in knee pants carrying a huge salt shaker and the message inside reads:

I'm salting down my money
 Don't think it fresh of me
 If, when I get it salted,
 I should propose to thee.

Still another shows a cupid surrounded by blue daisies and pink clover bringing the message that "just to be loved by one so pure is an honor rich enough for me."

Inside the card, sentiment reigns supreme with:

Dear one, life's a lonely pathway,
 Wilt thou walk in it with me?
 Wilt thou let me love and cherish
 And be all in all to thee?
 Wilt thou let me call thee darling?
 O, for thee I yearn, I pine,
 Pity him who sends this message
 Be, oh, be his Valentine.

My Valentine.

Verses such as that must have melted the coldest heart.

One which combines both humor and the slang of the day pictures a girl in a yellow dress stating:

Were I a lemon, you'd be the geezer,
I'd appoint as a lemon squeezer.

Even modern verse-makers would have a tough time topping that little ditty.

Cupid, clad only in a smile, wings, and a quiver of arrows, is the main attraction in this old-fashioned, heavily embossed valentine laden with hearts and flowers.

Board Renews Sheriff's Contract

selective road patrol in areas with problems.

The sheriff's department is contracted for road patrol services on an around-the-clock basis. Deputies who must appear in court are replaced by another car. Back up services of the OCSD are readily available including maintenance for police cars, radios and easy access to the detective division.

In other action, the board:

- Appointed local realtor Rudy Lozano to the township Board of Review. The board reviews property tax assessments to make sure they are "accurate and reasonable," Rose said.

- Reappointed John Gray and Ed Manley for three years to the township Commission.

- Approved a proposed Community Development Act (CDA) budget which must be submitted by February 15. Although the township isn't sure how much money they will receive, CDA recommended they budget for the $92,000 received last year.

Included in the proposal were $20,000 for lighting the Senior Citizen's Center driveway and parking lot, $5,000 for safety walks, $15,000 for low income home owner grants for repairs and improvements; $10,000 for a drainage study, $10,000 for land acquisition for a park in the southwest corner of the township, $1,000 for administration and $9,000 for a fund to supplement proposed figures in case expenses were higher than projected.

- Approved a tentative preliminary plat for Keatington#1 located at the southwest corner of Clarkston-Orion Road and Eston. The 32-acre and one-half lots are the first phase of a larger development. Mr. Keatington said he hopes to start construction this summer.

- Joined a program with the Juvenile Court that allows junior high and high school age first offenders to repay with community service. The participants would work for the Parks and Recreation Department for 10 weeks under Juvenile Court supervision.

- Approved a $6,962 cost report to be submitted to the county for expenses caused by the blizzard. The civil defense department will determine if federal assistance is available for the added costs which covered overtime, snow removal by private contracts and other expenses.

- Approved deletion of section 2.2 of the township's criminal code. A new state law was in conflict with the local ordinance which stated that persons who were intoxicated were committing a criminal offense. The police officer now can take the person home or to the hospital at his/her discretion.

- Waived the 1% collection penalty on property taxes

1. Bill Vandermark questioned the possibility of cuts in other township departments to pay for expanded police services.

2. A representative of the Marantha Baptist Church read a letter from Reverend Phillip Sommers praising Jack McCall's ability in dealing with the "counter culture crowds" at Pine Knob during the summer.

3. A pensive Fred Ritter listens to the debate over police protection in Independence Township. His vote in favor of the contract with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department was also a vote to keep police services as they are now.

4. Supervisor Floyd Tower, with cigarette in hand despite the no smoking signs, questioned, "How long do we keep on accepting automatic percentage increases?"

paid between February 14th and 28th at the township offices. The 3% late penalty will be charged. After the 28th, the taxes must be paid at the county and a 4% penalty is charged.

- Denied the Hillview Estates petition to delay construction on Hillview Estates #2 by delaying plat approval.

Township lawyer Dick Campbell said to delay the action already approved except for the formality of a final vote "exposes the board to liability they shouldn't undertake." The board decided to pass the petition with a cover letter to the County Board of Commissioners where any action to halt construction would have to be taken.

This elegant example of Carpenter Gothic architecture found on North Main Street displays vertical emphasis in the steeply-pitched roof (as opposed to the gentler pitch of a Greek Revival roof). The windows are also taller and narrower. Delicate, lace-like ornamentation in the gable uses quatrefoils [similar to four-leaf clovers] and pinnacles [projections on the bargeboards] common to many houses of this style. Turned posts and brackets used to support the roof over the front door are also common as are the pointed arches over the second-story windows.

by Carol Balzarini and Sue Basinger

Gothic Revival architecture, dating from about 1835-1880, is only one of several styles which make up the period of architecture commonly referred to as Victorian.

Gothic styles were a negative reaction to the prevailing feeling that only Greek architecture was correct. There was at that time an ecclesiastical movement carrying with it the notion that American churches should resemble European Gothic cathedrals. Greek Revival architecture was now thought to have "pagan" overtones.

There was also an increased interest in romantic literature. Gothic Revival was picturesque, mysterious and romantic. Atmosphere became an important as style.

This architectural style also flourished because of the availability of pattern books, some existing even now as reprints.

Archeological discoveries at the time made people more aware of other cultures and, too, more Americans were touring Europe.

Advances in industry and in building techniques allowed for the use of more elaborate ornamentation.

Early Gothic Revival was usually used for public buildings or large houses. The style used for smaller houses (and the one which applies to those in this area) is called Gothic Cottage or, more commonly, Carpenter Gothic. This style, which began in the 1840's lasted as late as the turn of the century.

Like the "pure" Gothic Revival, Carpenter Gothic emphasized verticality, used pointed, arched windows, and steep pointed roofs.

Unlike the "pure" style, Carpenter Gothic houses were usually built of wood or brick (covered with stucco) instead of stone.

This architectural style produced picturesque homes through the use of elaborate, delicate ornamentation - sawn lace-like patterns in the gables and on the bargeboards under the eaves. These bargeboards were usually decorative boards which ran the full length of the eave. Also typical was porch decoration, brackets and posts.

Not used as extensively were leaded glass windows, pointed arches and medieval motifs, such as quatrefoils, found in the purer styles.

This home, also on North Main Street in the village, has similar patterns in the gables and the same window treatment on the second floor. Note also the steep pitch of the roof.

It Pleases Us  To Please You

This lovely old home on Davisburg Road in Davisburg is a classic example of what can be done with sawn wood. The bargeboards in both the front and end gables have pierced details. Lace-like decorations are above the porches and windows. Elaborate pierced brackets are used to support the porch roof. The details of the porch over the main entrance are very unusual.

This detail of Carpenter Gothic sawn ornamentation is all that is left on a house on North Holcomb. There may have been more detail at one time and it is possible that some of it has been removed through the years.

This window detail of the house on Buffalo is a typically Gothic in style but in "pure" Gothic, the window would have been leaded rather than divided by wood mullions into four lights or panes. Note the matching pointed shutters.

Not everyone had a Gothic-styled barn to go with his house as did the Ellis family. The building features peaked gables and pointed windows. The barn, located on the Dixie Highway in Springfield Township, is one of the largest ever built.

Gorsline Announces Office Hours

The Holly Village Council chambers will be the site of constituent "office hours" being conducted on February 18 by Oakland County Commissioner Robert H. Gorsline (R-2nd District). The site is located at 504 E. Maple, Holly.

Residents of northwest Oakland County, including

Holly Township and Village, Rose Township and Springfield Township, are invited to bring complaints and problems to Gorsline beginning at 9:00 a.m. on that date.

Gorsline will also be at the Springfield Township Hall, 650 Broadway in Davisburg beginning at 10:30 on February 18.

The freshman commissioner is conducting these "office hours" in an effort to make it easier for his constituents to talk with him personally about complaints against county government and any other problems involving government.

The "office hour" sessions will be conducted on the third Thursday of each month. No appointments are necessary.

ENERGY-MATE
WOOD BURNERS
THAT WILL SAVE YOU
DOLLARS IN FUEL COSTS

The ENERGY-MATE is designed to be a supplement to your present heating system. It utilizes the same air ducts and chimney that your present gas or oil furnace uses. The forced-air from the ENERGY-MATE activates the blower of your present furnace and circulates the warm air through your present furnace heat ducts.

When the temperature between the inter-lining of the stove reaches 150° Fahrenheit, blower will engage and continue to transfer the heat produced by the wood burner until the fire distinguishes and the inter-jacket temperature goes below 120° Fahrenheit. At this time the blower will shut off.
