Don't Pass Up This Opportunity To Tell the School What You Think!

Poor Bill Potvin.

He's lived with this survey, that every resident in the Clarkston School District was supposed to have been mailed last week, for close to six months now. He had high expectations that he and his volunteers would get a good return rate, and thus the school could use them to evaluate future plans for the school district.

But a funny (or in this case, not so funny) thing happened on the way to a successful survey. When it came time for volunteers to pick up the surveys, many many people claimed they had not gotten the survey in the first place. Potvin estimates that possibly 25% of the people did not receive their survey in the mail, or so they claim.

Thus, Potvin, came with his sad tale of woe to The Reminder. Would we print the survey and circulate it in The Reminder so that those who did not have a chance to fill one out could? Wanting to say you should have done this in the first place, but not having enough nerve, I said sure, why not? Anything to help our school system, right?

So the survey, complete and ready for your pencil or pen, is on the back page. Please take time to fill it out and send it into the Board of Education, Clarkston Community Schools, 6389 Clarkston Road, Clarkston 48016. If you don't particularly care to spend the fifteen cents on a postage stamp, call one of the Clarkston schools, and they will send a volunteer out to pick it up.

If you're like me (I think there are far too many surveys being distributed these days), think again, on this one. It really is important. Through the use of complex evaluation methods, school officials can zero in on what you (the public) consider to be the most important goals of this system. By knowing this, they can steer their efforts to achieve these goals.

By the way, the survey is being sponsored by Rademacher Chevrolet, who have shown a great deal of community spirit by "forking out" a lot of money to partially pay for the space taken up by the survey.

These People Have a Whole Lotta Heart!

Norma Bigger, Crossing Guard

For my "Hearts" entry I chose to write about Mrs. Norma Bigger, the crossing guard at M-15 and Middle Lake in Clarkston.

I don't know anyone more dedicated to their job than Mrs. Bigger. She gets up at extremely early hours and waits out in the cold and rain watching people wave from their car windows.

But she still always greets us with a friendly, welcoming smile.

Sometimes the kids (including myself) are late, but Mrs. Bigger is just too polite to admit she dislikes standing out in the below zero weather.

At holidays she always gives us gifts (most handmade).

We could have a lot of crossing guards, but I don't know anyone nicer than Mrs. Bigger.

Martha Burton, Volunteer

I wish to nominate Martha Burton, Canter Lane, Holly, MI 48442, a lady with lots of "heart". Martha is the first to offer a prayer, meal, or her energies to people with need. Martha is active in Fish, Holly Food Co-op, the Sharing-Prayer Group of her church--Davisburg Methodist, Young People's Fellowship, and an active foster parent. I sometimes wonder where Martha finds time for all this with raising a family, but she does, and well! Martha Burton shares her head and heart on a year-round basis and I am pleased to nominate her.

Lynn Johnston, Junior Miss

During the past year, I've become acquainted with a young, gracious lady whose most important goal in life is giving of herself by helping others. At school, she's a reading aid, student council member, chairperson for the musical publicity, and secretary of the Drama Club. In her community, this dedicated achiever is active in youth assistance, district chairperson for Muscular Dystrophy, and also president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship. Because of her many unselfishly given contributions, this girl hardly has time for herself and, consequently, homework and other activities are sometimes done in the late hours of the night.

The young lady who I have been referring to is Lynn E. Johnston, Clarkston's 1979 Junior Miss. Her priceless gifts of time and effort have been greatly appreciated by us all and I am proud to be able to publically thank her at this time.

The Eagles, Helping People

The Fraternal Order of Eagles was first organized in 1898 in Seattle, Washington, by a group of actors deemed "unacceptable" to society in those days. Since that time, the FOE has become an international fraternal organization not limited to actors alone. Their purpose and their motto are the same...people helping people.

Nationwide the FOE supports four major charities, the

Just One of Those Days

It was reminiscing time for a group of sixteen year olds. They were talking about their childhood experiences, and comparing "just one of those day's" experiences. One of the girls topped them all with her "horrible experience!"

Seems that as a child the young lady was a television addict. She watched whatever happened to be on TV with an impartial attitude, and was as interested in the commercials and their heroes and heroines as she was with the lead characters on the shows. Needless to say, she opted for parental purchasing of products she saw advertised daily.

Though there was plenty of shampoo on hand, our heroine made an absolute pest of herself, nagging her mother to buy a particular brand. It was expensive, but it promised to do wonders for hair.

Finally, mom saw the much touted shampoo--and wonder of wonders, it was on sale. She decided to surprise daughter, and bought a bottle of it.

Daughter was thrilled, and decided to shower and shampoo immediately.

Mom was glad to have made daughter so happy, and dad was pleased that both females were happy. He settled down to read his paper, and mom had headed for the kitchen to start dinner when they both were startled by a loud crash, and then dead silence.

Mom was the first one upstairs, and found daughter quickly moving toward hysteria. The bottle of the much wanted shampoo was smashed all over the tub, and the shampoo was just disappearing down the drain.

When daughter was calmed finally, and the tears wiped away, she finally answered her parent's "what happened?"

It seems that in the shampoo commercials for that particular product, the heroine always tossed the bottle of shampoo into the bathtub or shower. So, that's what daughter did. She just didn't stop to think about the fact that the commercials were for the "new and improved" product -- in the plastic bottle. The reason mom had been able to purchase it on sale was because it was in the old glass bottle. "It was bad enough that the shampoo was gone," says our heroine, "but I had to clean up the glass too--And I was really scared by the sound of that bottle breaking! It was just like an explosion!"

THOUGHTS 'N THINGS

One of the advantages of writing a column is that you can get something off your chest without being personal about it! We all make observations that we must keep to ourselves simply because the subject of our observation is none of our business, and yet it is frustrating to hold one's tongue while watching someone make the same mistakes over and over again! A writer can relieve some of that frustration by dealing with the subject in general, and tossing it to the wind. That is my intention here.

I'm certain that there is no deliberate intent on the part of parents who put their children "between the devil and the deep blue sea" (so to speak), so how does it happen that that is so often the case when it comes to the child's learning experiences? If knowledge is power, and power leads to security, and security leads to successful living, then every parent should want as much knowledge stuffed into a child's head as possible.

Assuming that that is what most parent's want, why do we as a society feel that each generation is less well-educated than the last?

Our schools, and the books and materials that are used in the schools, are the product of an advanced society. Colors, designs, materials, form and structures, have all been considered in regard to the catching and holding of a child's imagination and interest. Eminent psychologists, pediatricians, and educators have worked together to plan curricula which is suitable for physical, psychological, and chronological age groups, and all exceptions to these "average" groups. Then the schools and classrooms have been staffed with well-educated adults who have learned how people learn, and how to teach people all kinds of subjects, and these people have been given recourse to all kinds of resource people and materials, and equipment that is guaranteed to teach

Or, how about, "Hey stupid, bet you didn't know that..." "You're really dumb, you know it, I thought everybody knew that!" or "You must have been hiding behind the door when the brains were passed out!"

What all of these expressions are, are put-downs. Unfortunately, they are used by adults as often as they are used by other children. They tell a child that he or she is dumb, bothersome, worthless, and certainly far below the level of anyone and everyone else.

even the most boring subject in a painless manner. And what is the result? Test scores are down, and parents are screaming because education is costing more, but the kids are learning less.

The big question should not concern itself with why all children are not learning what is offered in these marvelous education factories, but how they are managing to not learn. Most of us would like to know their secrets of resistance so we could apply them to our shopping sprees. On one hand, we have all those educated adults with all their equipment and studies, just waiting for the little kids to come and absorb the secrets of civilization and mankind. The child is exposed to sight and sound at the same time, so even if he covers his eyes, he gets educated through his ears. How does he not learn? Obviously, he has set up an emotional resistance to it. His mind goes blank. He refuses to let himself think of anything but his name, rank, and serial number. Obviously, his loyalty to an alternate "government" is stronger than the fear of the present situation. That "government" is an alternate truth. It is a truth which he has experienced emotionally, and it gives him security.

A normal, healthy, young animal, human or otherwise, is curious. This curiosity leads to the discovery of what is comfortable and pleasant, and what is frightening or unpleasant. Each time a puppy, a kitten, or a small child investigates something, and the result is a pleasant experience, the experience is emotionally "filed" away under "good" things. Negative results get emotionally "filed" under "bad" things. Needless to say, the good things will be repeat experiences. The bad things will be avoided, and in some cases, feared.

Joan Allen

Feature Editor

Something has to happen then, to cause a child to connect "learning" with the "bad" file of truths.

Unfortunately, some of the very parents who blame the schools for their children's lack of success there, are the very ones who taught the child the negative truth about learning in the first place.

It doesn't take much to hurt a child's feelings, or to shake a child's confidence in himself.

Consider these thoughtless remarks. "Curiosity killed the cat!"... "Hey, big ears, get lost...this is none of your business!"... "Quit asking questions, and go do something worthwhile!"... "Bug off, kid!"

Or, how about, "Hey stupid, bet you didn't know that..." "You're really dumb, you know it, I thought everybody knew that!" or "You must have been hiding behind the door when the brains were passed out!"

What all of these expressions are, are put-downs. Unfortunately, they are used by adults as often as they are used by other children. They tell a child that he or she is dumb, bothersome, worthless, and certainly far below the level of anyone and everyone else.

In a way, it is an excuse for failure. If one cannot learn, it eliminates the pain of failure or competition. In other words, it is a "cop-out" which is just as effective as liquor or drugs. The real tragedy is that it is often given to the kids by their parents.

Pushing kids to achieve, driving them to perfection for the parent's sake, setting standards beyond normal levels of achievement are certainly negative ways to approach learning. On the other hand, the reminder that "you're too smart to settle for a C in the class" suggests that the child's self-respect is on the line because of under achievement--not inability!

Commentary

by Steve Dice

Children being bumped, bruised, and injured from horse play is a problem that can't be stopped. But the likelihood of serious injury can be lessened through supervision, discipline, and an established line of communication.

Painful experiences on the playground can be reduced to mostly scratches, bruises, and broken hearts if there exists the proper supervisor to student ratio. And those supervisors must be working at doing their job.

Two teachers for six classes is not enough supervisors, two teachers huddled next to a building to keep warm are not supervisors doing their job.

The American educational system is all too eager to get children to spend more and more time away from home--and American parents are all too willing to let that happen. When little Billy beats somebody's brains out playing "Baretta", teacher and parents should be made aware that little Billy has a misconception, and they should work together to make little Billy aware that beating somebody's brains out is naughty, naughty.

Students should be made aware of who to contact in case they get hurt. There should be an established line of communication so that all reported injuries (and school children have a million that are mostly minor) are checked out by trained personnel. The teacher, child's parents, school principal, and the parents of the student who caused the injury, should be notified if the seriousness of the injury warrants such action.

Injuries to school children can't be eliminated. But they can be made less frequent and less serious if those responsible - parents, teachers and administrators - cooperate and concentrate on doing their individual and collective duties.

an artist-- is "born, not made." Others would side with the proponents of a new method of teaching music that assumes we are born with no talent; it is learned, through practice.

On this point there is no argument, however; in order to write, there are two absolutely essential elements--(1) a "story" and (2) a typewriter ribbon (or ribbon cartridge).

Well-supplied with the former, this writer "ran out" of the latter one snowy morning shortly before deadline. A quick check of the ribbon cartridge revealed it was not rewindable--and there were no more on hand.

A call to the office machines firm from which the typewriter was purchased affirmed that they carried that type of ribbon cartridge in stock, and I was told they were located at Dixie Highway and M-15. (on M-15, I assumed.)

Making the familiar right-hand turn off Dixie on to M-15, it soon became apparent that my directions were incomplete. Backtracking to a local party store, I explained to the cashier that I was trying to find a certain office machines firm. She informed me that it was on Dixie Highway, not M-15. A chorus of friendly customers stocking up on milk and bread for the predicted winter storm joined in to give me directions on how to get there. ("There" the business at the intersection of Dixie and M-15. Their suggestions were varied.)

(1) "Cut through the A & P parking lot, everybody does!"

(2) "Make a right turn on Dixie; then a left turn off."

(3) "Shoot straight across the intersection and into the driveway."

(4) (Men and women in unison) "Good luck! Come back and let us know if you made it!"

To that helpful band of Clarkstonites, I would like to relate the following:

(1) Was ruled out by a very prominent "No Right Turn" sign by the A & P.

(2) The traffic flow looked too intimidating; this plan also scratched.

(3) I decided to go with the "straight-shooter's" advice, all the time wondering which directional signal, if any, I should use.

(4) I made it! I was richer for the experience with the friendly and helpful people of Clarkston; whom I assume familiar with the "growing pains" of the area--considered it nothing more than all in a day's work!"

What is "Retirement Planning"

Planning for retirement, like planning for a career, requires careful consideration and calls for many decisions to be made. Retirement planning can be summed up in the answers you provide to these four questions:

1. When should I retire? (At 60? at 65? or at 67?)
2. What shall I do after I retire? (Here's a clue: be useful, help others, stay mentally and physically alert, be active.)
3. With how much income can I comfortably retire? Will I have it? If not, how do I plan now, to attain it?
4. Where will I live? (Consider climate, type of residence, desired lifestyle, economics, health.)

If you would like more information on retirement, stop in or phone us.

FORECAST

by Robert Davis

A rather cold and snowy setting persisted over our 4-township area during January. Precipitation totals (including the melted equivalent of snowfall) for the month ranged from 0.75 of an inch in Ann Arbor to 2.79 inches at Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township. Locally, the northern Clarkston station recorded 2.62 inches of precipitation during January, and the eastern Clarkston station recorded 2.50 inches.

Precipitation and snowfall were both above normal in January over most of northern Oakland County. The eastern Clarkston station reported about 21 inches of snowfall during the month, including 11 inches which fell during the snowstorm of January 13-14. The total seasonal snowfall through January now stands at almost 40 inches, which is already about 5 inches more than our total yearly average. Comparing this year's snowfall totals to last year's however, we find that last year we had received 51 inches of snowfall through the end of January. Our snow cover continued through the month of January, with a maximum snowcover of 14 inches during the middle of the month. The eastern Clarkston station has held at least a 2-inch snowcover now since November 27.

Temperatures during January held well below normal, with the mean temperature being about 17 degrees. This averages out to about 6 degrees below normal per day for this area, producing 1485 heating degree-days during the month. Temperatures at the eastern Clarkston station ranged from a low of 11 degrees below zero on the morning of the 11th, to a high of 37 degrees on the 27th. Early morning temperatures dropped to below zero readings on 8 days during January, and the daily highs broke the 32 degree melting barrier on only 4 days during the month.

You should notice that I wrote "melting" instead of "freezing" barrier of 32 degrees. Interestingly enough, experiments have shown that water in any form does not necessarily freeze at 32 degrees Fahrenheit (zero degrees Celsius). Cloud physics experiments on droplets of pure water in a laboratory have shown that only a very small minority of pure water droplets will freeze if the temperature of the liquid water is lowered into the range of 14 to 32 degrees Fahrenheit. The vast majority of droplets freeze at lower temperatures. These same experiments have shown that some droplets can remain in liquid form down to a temperature of 40 degrees below zero. At this temperature, freezing always occurs. So the lesson to be learned here is that we should consider 32 degrees Fahrenheit to be the melting point of solid ice, not the freezing point of water! (The isohyetal map was prepared by Robert C. Davis and Susan E. Rosin, and was sponsored by Johnson & Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers).

People With Heart

Max Baer Heart Fund, the Jimmy Durante Cripple Children's Fund, the Diabetes Fund and the Golden Eagles Fund for retirees. The total number of charities supported locally is some 8-10. At their last convention held in Spokane, the Eagles contributed one and a quarter million dollars to various charities.

On a national level, the Eagles have united to support such social legislation as the establishment of the social security system. They also claim responsibility for having Mother's Day made a national holiday.

The Eagles have an annual banquet, usually held in February called "Liberty Under the Law" and honoring the law enforcement person of the year, which includes both police and fire personnel. Those honored in the past include long-time Oakland County Sheriff Frank Irons, Ray Hoopengartner, formerly with the Michigan State Police, the late fire chief Don Beach and present chief Tink Ronk.

This annual affair stemmed from the 1957 riots in Milwaukee, home of the national headquarters of the FOE. The Grand Aerie had been threatened with destruction by rioters but saved by local police and fire personnel. Since that time local aeries have shown their appreciation by honoring those in this line of work each year.

Present officers of the FOE are president John Bilbey, vice president LeRoy Sargent, treasurer Gil Warden and Secretary Les Purslow. The five trustees include Ward Neddo, Orville MacDonald, Jay Stiff, Lowell Foster, and Parker Bates. Pete Katus is inside guard. Those interested in joining the organization should contact the secretary Les Purslow at the Aerie, 625-3898.

Much of the local charitable fund raising is done through social events such as dinner dances, raffles and Sunday afternoon dinners. Recently a dinner was held and $2,000.00 raised for a member suffering from a terminal illness.

February 11 is Heart Fund Day with a smorgasbord dinner planned open to the public. All of the dishes will be donated any every cent raised given to the Heart Fund. John Mayo is chairman of that particular charity and responsible for each fund-raiser as are other chairmen for other charities.

Two regularly scheduled activities at the Aerie include Wednesday night bingo, with proceeds going to the building fund, and the Friday night fish fry.

The fish fry, which is open to the public, is a function of the Eagles auxiliary. Proceeds from the weekly dinner have been used to pay for the new kitchen at the Aerie.

The auxiliary supports the same charities as the Eagles assisting them in their fund-raising efforts conducting a few of their own and occasionally making more money than the men. President Peggy Sargent explained that since all of the money raised goes to charity, they rely heavily on donations and credits local merchants with being extremely generous and cooperative.

Other auxiliary officers include vice president Heli Krzeminski, treasurer Chris Bilbey, secretary Ruth Purslow, chaplain Sharon Landsbager, conductor Theresea Csiki, inside guard Debbie Bilbey, and outside guard Doris Foster. Current trustees are Hilda Bilbey and Sally Warden.

Randy and Donna Cross are the leaders of a third group called Lads and Lassies, children of Eagle members ranging in age from 5-17, who are children helping children. This group also conducts fund-raisers for such establishments as Girls and Boys Ranches located in other states and for some local charities as well. They also prepare baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

A Poor Man's Great Escape--Into the Seed Catalog

by Carol Balzarini

For some of us, the arrival of the seed catalogs in January represents the lights at the end of winter's long tunnel. Just looking at the pictures of lush fruit, perfectly-formed vegetables and brilliant flowers is enough to make us forget we are surrounded by mountainous snowbanks, slushy streets and icy sidewalks. Seed catalogs can, indeed, be a great escape.

CAROL BALZARINI

If possible this year's editions are more colorful than ever. Sometimes there seems to be as much, if not more, time and effort spent in producing the catalogs as was spent producing the seeds and plants advertised within.

Each year each company features some new and different varieties of old favorites, particularly the Burpee Company. This year their cover pictures dew-kissed peas complete with blossoms, leaves and vines. Called sugar snap peas, the pod is edible just as snow peas are but the difference is these are edible when the peas inside are mature.

For those who would love to make pumpkin pie from "scratch," but don't have the garden space for both squash and pumpkins, plant butternuts. Next fall, substitute mashed squash in your favorite pumpkin pie recipe and no one will know the difference. As a matter of fact, you may have more compliments than usual.

Two varieties of corn found in the Burpee catalog and guaranteed to delight corn-lovers are Early X-tra Sweet and Illini X-tra Sweet. One starts producing about two weeks before the other for a summer of good eating. Last year's growing season produced the sweetest corn ever and a larger crop than usual with even enough to make corn relish.

Also on the recommended list are Burpee's Ambrosia canteloupes, a fantastic fruit when growing conditions are right. It seems, however, that successful melon-growing is mainly a matter of planting the seeds and crossing your fingers.

Kelly Brothers Nursery in Dansville, New York, is one of the few offering Rhode Island Greening trees, a variety of winter apple not easily found. Aside from the Greening, Kelly offers standard types of apple trees in addition to many other fruit trees including hardy apricots which can be grown in Michigan.

Two of Kelly's new fruits this year are a dark seedless grape and a purple raspberry called Brandywine, a cross between red and black varieties.

Hard-to-find items found in this catalog include bittersweet plants, Juneberry bushes, and edible nut trees in addition to the usual flowers, ground covers, house plants and bulbs.

Jackson & Perkins, probably best known for their roses, put out a small catalog offering flowers, of course, but also including a small variety of vegetable seeds and/or plants, bulbs, indoor plants and dwarf fruit trees.

J&P has several new ideas this year such as a cucumber variety called Pot Luck, a dwarf plant producing regular-sized cucumbers. It is ideal for a small garden or for growing in a pot on the patio. Or try Giant Elephant, a new variety of garlic they call a "must" for gourmet gardeners. It produces giant bulbs up to four inches across weighing a pound or more. The flavor is milder than regular garlic and can even be stir-fried oriental style, they claim. It doesn't sound as though it is capable of warding off evil spirits the way the old-fashioned kind does, however.

Stark Brothers, noted for their high quality fruit trees, also puts out a garden catalog which includes a variety of berries, roses and decorative shrubbery. For prolific, early-bearing fruit trees, the amateur gardener can't beat Stark's dwarf trees.

The peach trees produce so heavily in the spring that if the tiny fruits are not thinned extensively two things will happen. The mature peaches will be smaller than usual and their weight will cause the tree branches to break.

Stark also specializes in "money-saving assortments," packets designed for a particular purpose and to save a little money such as Hardy Fruits for the North or Home Canners Special or the Beginner's Planting Special.

Something new to try is the SweetHeart Apricot, an edible fruit combined with an edible seed, the almond. Although patented and somewhat expensive, with ours the northern-most zone recommended for planting, it would seem worth the work and expense if the tree thrived. It is also self-pollinating.

The tabloid of the catalogs is Gurney's which seems to specialize in strange vegetables such as novelty colored popcorn, "burpless" cucumbers, black radishes, white tomatoes or spaghetti and banana squash. They also offer dwarf trees that produce two-pound apples and a single tree with five different varieties of apples on it.

If your taste in exotic plants includes chocolate pudding trees, white-skinned cucumbers or a single plant that produces tomatoes, peppers and potatoes, all in one, look for them in the Lakeland Nursery catalog. They advertise Licorice Stick sweet corn with, you guessed it, black kernels. Try, also, to imagine white strawberries.

The next time you start thinking that winter will never end, just grab a handy seed catalog and read it. Soon you will be lost in dreams of spring and summer, fresh fruits and vegetables, warm weather and sunshine...See how easy it is to make a great escape?

Ski Race Draws 447

The cross-country ski race held at the Independence Oaks County Parks gave skiers from this area, and beyond, a chance to show off their skills on January 28.

Approximately 447 people registered for the 3 separate races that were held. The U.S. Ski Association ski meet, and the meet for advanced skiers were held in the morning, while the race for novices was held in the afternoon.

The course, which was about 2.4 miles long, ran the distance around the lake at the park. The ski race was a timed race, and the difference between competitors was often measured in seconds or parts of a second. Several area people did place in their age or proficiency groups, but the competition came from outside of Michigan as well as from the southeast portion of the state.

This ski race has been held the last 3 winters, but this was the first time it was held in conjunction with the Detroit News. Plans to hold the race again next year, on the last Sunday in January, 1980, are being made.

Clarkston Routs Lakers, 69-50

The Wolfpack struck again last Friday as they defeated the Lakers of West Bloomfield 69-50.

Clarkston's offense was too much for the Lakers, who trailed at the end of the first period 19-7.

In the second period, West Bloomfield started to fight back, outscoring the Wolfpack 12-8. They succeeded in cutting the Clarkston lead to 8 points, 27-19. After that it was defense all the way, except for one "minor" detail.

"Minor," such as 8 points in just over a minute by the Wolfpack! But West Bloomfield regained all but 2 of those 8 points and trailed 44-34 at the end of the third period. Then again, Clarkston exploded, outscoring (and outrunning) the Lakers 13-4 in the first 3:30 minutes of the final period. Then, with 2 minutes to go, Clarkston sealed West Bloomfield's doom by scoring 6 points in a surge; this finally shut the door on the Lakers. The final score was Clarkston 69, West Bloomfield 50.

Heading up the score column was Tim McCormick with a whopping 34 points and 18 rebounds.

Other scorers were John Sheldon with 9 points and 6 assists, Ed "the Ice-Man" Haddad with 8 points, Greg Robertson also with 8 points, Ruebon Hutchons with 4 points, and Scott Curry, Chuck Nicolai and John Pappas each with 2 points.

Coach Nustad was visibly pleased by his team's performance. He said, "We played a super game; very, very well. When you play a defense good, that creates a good offense, and we did it."

JV Grabs League Lead

Clarkston's Junior Varsity is now in the lead in the race for the league championship (they're shooting for 2 straight, having won last year) after beating West Bloomfield, the team that they were tied with going into the game, 56-41 last Friday evening.

The first period started with fierce determination on the part of both teams, keeping the score tied until mid-way through the period. At 5:00 minutes into the game, Rick Schebor sank a shot to give the Wolves a 8-6 lead. They never lost it. From then on, the Lakers just couldn't keep up with the tempo of the game and fell quickly behind. The half ended with Clarkston leading 35-14.

In the third period, West Bloomfield seemed to recover somewhat, but were still not playing to potential. They played very ragged, and were out of it for the remainder of the game. They did not get the rebounds, and the shots they took were mostly low percentage.

But the tough Clarkston defense should take the credit for this. They did an excellent job in controlling West Bloomfield's offense. But defense wasn't doing all the work, as Coach Mahrle said, "We ran our offense very well, creating foul situations. We made 22 of 33 free throws, but still, our defense was the key."

Leading the team in scoring were Scott McKoin with 27 points, Doug Hagyard with 11 points, Rich Schebor with 6, Craig Schnabel and Jerry Tatu each with 4, and Grene Wilson and Scott Weaver each with 2 points.

Clarkston Madrigal Singers Tops at District Contest

On February 3, the Clarkston Senior High School Madrigal Singers took top honors at the district Solo and Ensemble Festival of the Michigan School Vocal Association. Director Miss Grayce Warren and the sixteen member ensemble competed with other schools of District #11 of the association to receive the highest possible score of a "I" rating (superior). Selections performed were "He is Good and Handsome" (a traditional madrigal style of music sung in French) by the composer Passereau, and "The Lord's Prayer" by Leroy Robertson.

The Madrigal Singers received numerous praise from the competing ensembles and school directors for their performance. The group now advances to the state competition, March 31, in Farmington, where five finalists of the state will be selected to compete for the State Title in ensemble work.

Russo Wood
Stove Mfg. Corp.
Holbrook, Mass.

Efficient Wood Heat You Can See, and Circulated Hot Air you Can't

The air-tight Russo High-Heat Series wood stove has a special glass window that lets you watch the fire as it heats your home. But you can't see the draft-free hot air the stove circulates. Here's how it works: A baffle deflects hot gases within the fire, swirling them around two internal heat exchange tubes. Cool floor air is heated in these tubes then circulated in all directions by a quiet blower for efficient draft-free heating. To make the fire burn hotter and cleaner, the fire chamber is lined with fire brick and fed pre-heated air through a separate air-intake system. Internal, folding steel doors can also be closed for an even more efficient overnight burn. Several Radiant models are also available. With a Russo Glass-View wood stove, you can get warm just by watching it burn wood...not money.

Real Estate HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

Bob White, Inc.
5856 S. Main Street, Clarkston, 625-5821

Aside from home prices and swinging mortgage money, the most difficult part of moving for many home buyers is the business of relocation. Sizing up a new community in a new metropolitan area takes more than simply checking in with the local mortgage banker and looking over the local school system. In selecting a town: Visit three or four towns in the new area in which your family may expect to live. Then narrow your choice down to one town before you start looking at houses. As experts in the communities we serve and live in, we can give you an intelligent guidance based on your needs and personal preferences.

Make your next move easier by letting BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main Street, your area broker since 1947, assist you. Our knowledge of the community and business institutions allows us to wisely recommend steps and procedures that will greatly assist you in concluding a successful and happy real estate transaction. Meeting needs and personal preferences of our clients is what has made us a success in the real estate field. Telephone 625-5821.

Helpful Hint:

Ask your real estate broker the dollar amount of taxes last paid on the house you're considering, and if there has been a tax boost since.

Mt. Grampian Adds Restaurant

Owners of Grampian Mountain, east of Oxford, have undertaken an expansion program that includes a new restaurant and four lighted outdoor tennis courts.

The restaurant has already earned a good reputation, with full houses almost every Friday and Saturday. The menu includes sandwiches with exotic names like the Wayne Wong Special and the Slalom Pole.

Steaks are a major item at the new restaurant with New York Strip and Filet Mignon featured. A special treat are a trio of fondues that taste especially good after

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, entertainment plays for the dinner and cocktail crowds. Easy Pickins, a bluegrass group, plays on Friday and Saturday. A featured artist performs on Thursday.

The decor provides a homey atmosphere. That atmosphere is highlighted by a huge walk-in fireplace that was made out of Belgium paving stones that were imported from the streets of Detroit, back in the 1930's.

Owner Robert Pillsworth (his family has operated Mt. Grampian since 1964) said four tennis courts that were completed last September will be available to the public in the spring.

Like their highly successful ski schools in the winter, Pillsworth hopes to hold tennis camps in the summer.

Skiing, which has been Mt. Grampian's livelihood for the past fifteen years will also be upgraded. Pillsworth hopes to build a new hill over the summer.

Project Directions - Planning For The Future

Dear Clarkston Schools Resident:

Project Directions is a Clarkston Board of Education program designed to obtain information about the Clarkston Schools for use in planning for the future.

In order for us to get a complete picture of our school system, we are asking all residents of the school district (parents, non-parents, retirees, young adults) to fill out the attached survey.

We realize that you are busy and that this will take some of your time to complete; however, WE WANT AND NEED TO KNOW HOW YOU FEEL ABOUT OUR SCHOOL SYSTEM. Each person's opinion will be counted on an equal basis, so it is important that everyone participate.

You are being asked to do two things:

1. TELL US HOW IMPORTANT YOU THINK EACH GOAL IS.

2. TELL US HOW YOU THINK THE SCHOOL SYSTEM IS DOING ON THE GOALS.

If you wish any additional information concerning this project, please contact Mr. William Potvin, Director, Planning and Evaluation at 625-4402.

Thank you for your cooperation.

INSTRUCTIONS

1. How Important is Each Goal?

Read each of the 13 main goal statements and find the one that you think is THE MOST IMPORTANT GOAL. Place the number 1 on the line to the left of the goal. Next, find the goal that you think is the second most important and place the number 2 on the line next to it. Continue until all 13 main goal statements are placed in your order of importance.

2. How is Our System Doing on Each of Our Goals?

This is your opportunity to "grade" the school system. Using the scale below, please circle the appropriate number to the right of the sub goals that best describes how you feel the school system is doing.

- |               |                                                                       |
|---------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 4 Very Good   | I believe the schools are doing a very good job of meeting this goal. |
