WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR?

by Mike Wilcox

What is going on with the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment that voters approved last fall?

From my particular vantage point, all I've heard lately is how complex this amendment is and that it will take the legislature a long time to unravel it. In the mean time schools and local governments, idly wait, for someone to tell them how it is to be implemented.

Well, if you're like me, I think the government has had plenty of time to come to a decision and I'm getting pretty upset with delay after delay. Furthermore, I don't like officials telling me that decisions can't be made until they are told how the Headlee amendment will effect their particular unit of government.

Richard Headlee, author of the amendment, seems to also be running out of patience. He was on television newscasts last week proclaiming his disappointment. Here are some of the things he had to say:

"For over five months the legislature has given the Tax Limitation Amendment low priority while the Michigan Education Association continued its shell game in the legislature by urging House and Senate members to introduce a confusing barrage of bills all supposedly implementing the Tax Limitation Amendment. Meanwhile, a coordinated number of politicians were calling the Tax Limitation Amendment "confusing," claimed Headlee.

Headlee continued, "We are disturbed by the red tape, the delays and unmitigated connivance of some members of the Legislature to circumvent the constitutional right of the people of Michigan to effectively amend their constitution and implement an amendment which clearly and reasonably limits all 30 different kinds of taxes in Michigan...A higher priority of the nation's best-paid legislature was devoted to a proposed ban on pay toilets in the state."

Maybe that's kind of strong language, but it's time our lawmakers stop dragging their collective feet on this item. Whether you voted for Headlee back in November or not, it's a shame to see an amendment voted in with a large majority, bounced around like a hot potato in Lansing.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Imagine picking up a copy of The Reminder to see this headline: INDEPENDENCE CENTER CLOSES! Fortunately that's not quite a reality yet. Unfortunately, it's very close to becoming a reality. And, we need your help to keep the doors of independence center open.

In case your response to our imaginary headline is not a dismayed, "Oh, no!" but rather, "independence center? What's that?" We'd like to tell you who we are and what we do.

Independence center is a direct, human service agency located in Independence Township that serves northwestern Oakland County's Brandon, Groveland, Holly, Independence, Rose, Springfield and Waterford Townships. We are a private, nonprofit organization that is not connected with Independence Township except that we share the same name. Nor are we connected with the Sashabaw Presbyterian Church, although we are housed in their old church building. We do, however, have the endorsement of both the church and the township. As a nonprofit agency, independence center has no source of funds except the community itself. In addition, we draw our volunteers from a cross-section of our area.

Without charge, independence center offers services that meet a wide range of human needs--appliances, clothing, food, furniture, household items, medical equipment on loan and transportation for senior citizen medical and dental appointments. We also provide "Service With Love" in cooperation with Pontiac General Hospital--a daily telephone calling service that assures the well-being of area senior shut-ins. We have Adult Basic Education weekly. And, we have three health clinics monthly--Immunization Clinic, Well-Child Conference and W.I.C. Clinic (Women, Infants, and Children). Independence center also houses the offices of Garry Pullins, a Clarkston Area Youth Assistance social worker, and John Scharfenkamp, a mental health professional working through Pontiac General Mental Health Clinic. In addition, we serve as the home of the Civitans, a cub scout troop and the Clarkston Women's Club. If you would like to know more about Independence Center, please drop us a line or give us a call. We would be glad to meet with you and your group to give you further information.

Your help as a driver, a financial backer, a fundraiser, a member of our newly-forming Advisory Committee, or a telephone receptionist will enable Independence Center to continue its services to our community. Join with us in meeting the challenge of the wide range of problems that Independence Center helps to solve--giving several days' food to a family of five without income or food stamps; clothing a family victimized by fire; arranging for necessary orthopedic shoes for a two-year-old who would otherwise have to do without them; loaning a hospital bed to a terminally ill Cancer patient; or calling an ill and isolated senior citizen for assurance and friendship.

In brief, Independence Center is dangerously near to closing its doors due to lack of funds and volunteer help. Many needs will go unmet. Use your talents and skills in services to your community. Join with us in uplifting the quality of life in the Independence Center area. Gain a sense of pride and achievement for a job well done.

We don't want that imaginary headline, "INDEPENDENCE CENTER CLOSES!" to become a reality!

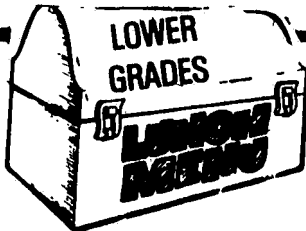

Sincerely,
Rosalind Needham
Chairperson, Board of Directors

THOUGHTS 'N THINGS

A friend and I were having lunch in a restaurant one day recently, and overheard two other women having an argument at a nearby table. It was an argument about the amount of television children should be allowed to watch, and the whole matter of ratings and censorship.

We were amused because we have survived the battle of the television set, and our "children" are old enough to choose their "viewing pleasure" intelligently. The voices we overheard did not sound in the least amused over the subject, however. These mothers were concerned about their children and confused by the conflicting opinions of various "experts."

It wasn't until the ladies in question had finished their lunch and left, that my friend and I started laughing about the "old days" and our own experiences with younger children--and that included the battles of the television set. "You ought to write a column about the whole argument," she said. And so I did.

It was my mother-in-law that told about attending a lecture with a friend who'd promised to attend with her daughter--concerning childhood problems, back in the days when television was not quite as "realistic" as it is today. In the question and answer period that followed the lecture, a young mother asked, "what should we do about our children watching so much television?"

The lecturer had already told the women that they should turn to the more experienced mothers in their communities for help with parent-child relationship problems, and now, seeking to drive home a point, he singled out my mother-in-law's friend, and said, "madam, how many children have you raised?" She answered, "Six." Then he said, "Well, then, you have had a great deal of experience with children, and I bet that you can help this young mother solve her problem.

In this, as in other parental duties, what should be kept always in mind is, "Teach them to take care of themselves!" Taking a little time now can save a lot of time later on! Spend time with the kids; watch what they're watching; teach them how to handle anything they may be exposed to; and then relax.

Tell us, how would you keep your children from watching too much television?"

"Why, I'd turn the blamed thing off!" was the answer that was loud and clear.

Now, those readers who follow my columns know that I believe in doing unto my children as I would have them do unto me--and I would put up rather a big fuss if someone turned the television off in the middle of my favorite programs--so I don't like that advice. On the other hand, there is a great deal of trash on the "tube" that annoys me to no end, and there have been times when I have lost all control, and just pulled the plug, no matter who was watching it. I think there are better ways of handling the situation however.

Parents must realize that the human mind does not always distinguish between pictures and recordings and tapes and real experience, not for children, anyway. They may, as a result, accept (mentally and emotionally) as reality, that which we know is "pretend." There is danger in what we read, what we view, what we hear. It becomes part of us, just as our "real" experiences become part of us. Experience can hurt and distort us, and make us less sensitive to love and beauty and truth. So can these pseudo-experiences that we call drama, whether we see them at the movie theater, on a television, or read about them in books. Knowledge does away with innocence and naivety. On the other hand, to be innocent and naive is to be unprotected.

I figured that all out, back when I had a grapple with the "television" problem, and I think I came up with a workable solution. At least it has worked in our family.

Television viewing is a wonderful way to teach children how to cope with the world of merchandising if parents will teach their children to analyze what their children for up to 21 days, because so many women need a place to take refuge. During the time spent at the shelter, the staff will help locate new housing (if needed), go to court, to the Department of Social Services and a referral to any needed agency will be made.

As of March 6, 1979, the Pontiac-North Oakland YWCA shelter has housed 18 families, including 38 children. There were 122 phone calls with 81 from the victims themselves and 67 of the women requested shelter. Most of the calls came from Pontiac, with one call from Clarkston, one from Brandon and 36 'Jane Doe' calls, all claiming to be from Oakland County residents.

Of all calls received, 58 were related to physical abuse, 22 emotional abuse and 7 sexual abuse. Twenty-five women were approved for admittance to the shelter and of that number, 17 actually followed through, with one drop-in.

Of the 18 admitted to the shelter, 4 belonged to minority groups (3 blacks and 1 Lebanese) and 7 of that number were ADC recipients. The period that this report covers is the 54 days from January 12, 1979 to March 6, 1979.

What does charity mean to you? If it means the same thing to you as it means to me, then it means doing something for the benefit of others, non gratis. Let me give you a hypothetical situation.

Let us say that there was a basketball game held between two teams of superstars in which the proceeds would go to a certain charity. One team plays just for the fun of playing and knowing that they are helping some poor unfortunates. But the other team demands to be paid, let us say $855, just to appear. Let us also say that the game--remember, this is only hypothetical--was not advertised as good as it could have been due to shortage of funds, and that the ticket sales were around 500 tickets. Let us assume that the gate sales bring in $865, of which $855 of this money must go to pay this certain team.

Feature Editor

producers, directors, actors and actresses, and advertising salespersons are attempting to do when any program is aired. What they are attempting to do, whether it is sales or entertainment or persuasion or propagandic or political, is very important. Children should be taught how to take care of themselves throughout life, and analyzing the pressure of television selling is good practice!

The art and skill of the writers, the photographers, the make-up people, stage-crews, costumers, and all the other people who work together in the land of make-believe are things that children should study, and parents can be the very best teachers in this particular classroom situation.

The point is that what goes on on the television is seldom "real"--and even the news is usually presented from someone's point of view. Children must be made aware of that, and they will be, if parents spend a little time in both negative and positive criticism themselves.

If young people are enthralled by a program that you consider in bad taste, let them watch it--while you make comments on why it is in bad taste. That is certainly what you would do if you observed "real" situations! Draw attention to the phony scenery, the overdone make-up job, the poorly structured plot, the unnecessary and ridiculous scenes where the stars are covered with catch (Blood) or have been replaced by gruesome looking dummies. In other words, teach them about illusion.

In this, as in other parental duties, what should be kept always in mind is, "Teach them to take care of themselves!" Taking a little time now can save a lot of time later on! Spend time with the kids; watch what they're watching; teach them how to handle anything they may be exposed to; and then relax.

In case you haven't recognized, this is not a hypothetical situation any more, it is what happened on April 4th at the WABX -vs- Detroit Lions game. The Lions demanded $855 in advance and received it. Which left a mere $10 to go to St. Jude Children's Hospital. Now, I ask you, do you think this is fair?

COMMENTARY

by Sharon Springborn

When there is domestic violence in a home and a woman needs some place to go to get out of danger, the obvious place to go or call is a domestic violence center.

A shelter for these victims of domestic violence is something that is very much needed, but obtaining the necessary funds to make this project a reality was a serious problem. Thus far, about $34,000 has been secured.

Much has been said concerning domestic problems and the type of shelter (both pro and con) that has been opened in the Pontiac-North Oakland County. The belief that domestic violence is frequently homicidal has been supported by all of the experts and statistical data concerned. Also, the victims are most often in very serious danger, and without a place of protection and/or intervention, they will be seriously harmed or have their lives taken.

Many myths surround the phenomenon of domestic abuse. First and foremost is the myth that spouse assault is not a big problem. In actuality, experts agree that spouse assault is the single largest, most underreported crime occurring in this country.

Another myth is that women provoke the beatings because they actually enjoy them, but women report being beaten for very trivial things and report trying to get help but have found their efforts discouraging and unsuccessful.

The most prevalent myth is that spouse assault is a lower class occurrence, when in reality this phenomenon occurs in every race, religion and socio-economic background. In fact, the attacks are perpetrated by men who are doctors, judges, lawyers, police officers, teachers and social workers.

The shelter only takes care of battered women and

WHAT CHORES MUST BE DONE FOLLOWING A FUNERAL?

Prepare yourself to handle phone calls and letters. These can come for many days and weeks following the funeral.

Contact your attorney and/or executor concerning the will. Check with your life insurance agent for any necessary arrangements concerning payments.

Write notes of appreciation for those who showed a special concern for your welfare during the funeral and afterwards. You will receive acknowledgement cards from your funeral director. These are appropriate to be used. You may want to write a lengthier note to those who extended special help, sent mass cards or flowers or were pall bearers.

A grave monument may be ordered and installed. Check with the cemetery official concerning any restrictions.

Check with us about social security, veterans administration and others from whom you might receive death benefits. Naturally it is our desire to help in such matters and others perhaps of an even more personal nature. Always remember, your comfort and ease of mind is our greatest concern.

Just One of Those Days

We know a housewife-mother-volunteer who is really a marvel about getting things done--not only for herself, but for her family and friends too. She even manages to find time to do some babysitting for her daughter and son-in-law between the accomplishment of her other objectives.

This is how it happened that she at her daughter's home when the new wallpaper arrived for the dining room of daughter's house. Mom knew it wasn't expected for a couple of weeks, and knew daughter would be delighted, so she was going to tell her when daughter called to check in--since she and husband were on a week's business trip.

Instead, she decided to wallpaper the dining room herself, and when the couple arrived home, they would not only know that the paper had arrived--but they would see the job all done.

Well, you guess it--the happy couple was appalled! The beautiful new wallpaper on the walls was not what had been ordered--it was only similar and daughter hated it!

It was just one of those days, but not nearly such a bad one as the day the right wallpaper arrived and mom began helping daughter to take down the paper she'd put up! The two women still haven't decided to bury the hatchet, but they're almost done with the re-wallpapering!

INDEPENDENCE BOARD VOTES IN FAVOR, 4-3

POLICE SERVICES WINS PINE KNOB CONTRACT

by Carol Balzarini

Despite the recommendations by the Police Advisory Board and over the objections of three of the township board members, the Independence Township Board voted to accept the Pine Knob Music Theatre contract on behalf of Police Services.

In the recommendations section of the police advisory board report, one paragraph was included about the Pine Knob contract which read "Pine Knob is considering contracting with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for police services. They appear to be having problems similar to the Township with the coordination of dual services. Since the Pine Knob contract appears to be a drain on the police services of the Township, we would recommend that Pine Knob be encouraged to contract with someone else."

Trustee Bill Vandermark, also a member of that advisory board, reiterated its position. He would not deny the township had done a good job the past two years, but was concerned with the physical and mental strain on the department. He said he would also not vote for anything not paying its "full shot," preferring to support an hourly rate than one per show as recommended in Chief Charlie Kimbel's report.

Treasurer Fred Ritter was not willing to enter into a contract "forcing us to maintain a police department we can't afford for four and a half months' work at Pine Knob." He expressed concern with the long-range financial aspects.

Clerk Chris Rose objected on the grounds the cost was too low for the amount of time and effort involved.

Trustee Rudy Lozano expressed concern with the "wear and tear" on daytime services, but would also like to see police personnel paid more comparing it to combat pay in the service. Despite his concerns the township residents might have to sacrifice one hundred percent service during the day, Lozano voted to accept the contract.

Supervisor Floyd Tower and Vandermark disagreed over a question of whether or not the township was subsidizing Pine Knob, Tower was not sure Pine Knob should have to pay one hundred percent. He also theorized the township's fulltime officers could not raise a family on $14,000 a year and would be working two jobs anyway without the contract.

Another reason for contracting with Independence Township, Tower said, was because the number of complaints had decreased since the township had taken over from the Sheriff's Department.

He later stated, "if we're not going to offer Pine Knob services, we're not going to offer them to the schools or the village either."

Trustee Jerry Powell's position was that if the Sheriff's Department was so capable of handling the contract, it would not have been offered to the township.

Reserve officer Charlie Smalley said, "Our reserves are as much entitled to the additional revenue as the deputies."

The Pine Knob contract will be $495 per concert with an estimated one hundred concerts.

With one bonus included in the "break-even" contract, an additional police car. Ritter couldn't see why a new car was needed if there might not be a department. The last of the department's CETA-funded employees will be eliminated October 1.

BUSINESS BEAT

Goin' COCONUTS PROMOTION WINS VACATION, CAR FOR OXFORD CINEMAS

A good promotion for a motion picture sometimes pays off and not only in box office receipts.

Arnold Simmons, the owner of the Oxford Twin Cinemas and the Huron Theater in Pontiac, can testify to the truth of this statement. Both he and his wife, Joyce, just returned from a trip to Orem, Utah, where they picked up the keys to his prize for the best promotion of the Donny and Marie Osmond film Goin' Coconuts—a 1979 Oldsmobile.

The promotional gimmick used by Simmons was the purchase of 600 coconuts, having his staff inscribe different messages on them concerning the movie, and the length and place of its run and sending them to the Osmonds, director Howard Morris and the news media. Another step taken by Simmons was to contact area merchants and have them run specials related to the Hawaiian theme of the movie. For instance, the Big Boy restaurant ran a special on its coconut cream pie, and an area grocery store offered a special on Hawaiian Punch.

Simmons also got together 43 of Oxford's Downtown Merchant's Association to sponsor a contest with him. Fifty thousand people filled out entry blanks, hoping to win one of the prizes—an eight day trip for two to Hawaii, two tickets for shopping sprees worth $300 and tickets to the Detroit Lions football games.

Approximately 10,000 theatre owners from throughout the United States entered the competition for the new Oldsmobile, or one of the 31 other prizes to be given away. The competition's requirements were that the promotion had to involve both the community and the news media, the theatre had to have an attractive lobby display and the receipts from the movie had to be good. Simmons thinks that he probably achieved the highest score in all of the categories judged, but if not, he was at least one of the highest in all of the areas. In order to win the contest, forms had to be filled out and a booklet concerning the promotion, news, displays, etc. had to be made up and sent to the ad agency used by the Osmonds.

Even after doing all of this, Simmons never thought that he'd be a first prize winner in the contest, but did expect to garner one of the lesser prizes.

"This trip was," according to Simmons, "probably one of the best trips that my wife and myself ever had in our lives. We were met at the airport by a chauffeured limosine, that was arranged for by the Osmonds, and taken to our hotel."

The next day, Simmons and his wife were again picked up by the limosine and driven to the studio. It was there that Donny Osmond presented the Simmons with the keys to their new automobile.

The studios at Orem, Utah, were toured by Simmons and his wife, with Mr. Kritchfield, the president of Osmond Studios, as a tour guide.

A bonus of the trip was that both Simmons were able to go to the basketball game between Indiana State and Michigan State, played in Salt Lake City, Utah.

"We sat right there among the Michigan fans," said Simmons.

GOLD CARD BENEFITS EMPLOYEES

The Gold Card Employee Benefit Plan was begun by Brent Agar and his wife Kathy, when they came to Michigan from Florida. While in Florida, Agar was working in the Personnel Department of a furniture store.

He decided that he was tired of having an employer tell him what to do, so he and his wife decided to move to Michigan and form their own business.

The result was the Gold Card Employee Benefit Plan, whose offices are in the Pontiac State Bank Building, in Pontiac.

The employees at participating businesses receive a Gold Card, after their employers pay $65 per year to belong to the plan, plus $2.00 per each card needed. After receiving their card, employees can go to other participating stores, show their card and receive a discount on merchandise bought.

This type of plan is new to the State of Michigan, but Agar is quite confident of its success. Since the employee pays nothing to belong to the plan, motivation on the part of the employee is added when contests and awards are sponsored, since the employer chooses the employee to win it.

Presently, a scholarship is being given, with the employer choosing the name of an outstanding employee to enter the contest. The employee is picked by many outstanding qualities, including those of appearance, ambition, temperament, etc.

A booklet is mailed to members or prospective members, listing the businesses participating in the plan.

CHS Thinclads Get Ready for Track Season

It's time for the runners to take their shoes off the shelf and to start a new track season.

Perhaps Brutus Hamilton, the head coach of the U.S. Olympic Team said it best. "Why run? What fun is it? Why all the exhausting work? What's the good of it? Because they are completely and joyously happy...these are their bouyant, golden days of youth and they are running because they love it. There is something clean and noble about it."

The hard physical work that goes into running also carries over into their diet. A sample pre-event meal would be something like: 1 glass of orange juice (5 oz., 2 waffles or french toast or pancakes, 3 slices of toast with honey, raisins and coffee or tea. Delicious, right?

The team (boys and girls) have been working out for several weeks in anticipation of the season which began on March 31 for the boy's team when they traveled to Eastern Michigan University for the Huron Relays. The official season opener at West Bloomfield on April 10 was canceled because of the weather. Their next scheduled meet was at Lake Orion 2 days later.

Lion's Club Installs New Members

At the Clarkston Lions Club's regular meeting at Howes Lanes on Thursday, April 5, the District 11-A-2 Zone Chairman Ware D. Blough of Holly, installed 5 new members of the Clarkston Lions Club. The names of the new members are Daniel A. Addis, Michael E. Cooper, James R. Navarre, Jr., Donald W. Short and Richard D. Warren.

The club was organized and chartered on March 15, 1978 and since that time, 40 members have become active in the community, identifying and assisting blind and hard-of-hearing people. In the last year, 600 pairs of glasses were donated by area residents and the glasses have been forwarded to World Relief, to be given to those who would not have glasses otherwise.

Support and funding were made by the Clarkston Lions to the Michigan Eye Bank, Leader Dogs for the Blind, CARE, Lions International Foundation, Penrickton Children's Facility and Welcome Home, the Michigan Home for the Blind. Also, Lions of the area have purchased glasses for local residents, as well as distributing special radio receivers to blind individuals so that they can receive special broadcasts for blind persons, through the services of WDET.

Zone Chairman Blough also presented the special Membership Award, the Senior Master Key, to Clarkston Lion Russel A. Schulte, obtained and sponsored 25 new members of the Lions and by doing so rendered outstanding service in the development and maintenance of Lions Club members.

BASICS STRESSED by PARTICIPANTS in CLARKSTON Schools SURVEY

At their April meeting, members of the Clarkston School Board accepted the results of the public survey ranking and rating a set of proposed goals for the school district. They were accepted in their order of priority with the decision to reexamine them in three years.

Of the 11,000 copies of the survey sent to all households in the school district, only 2,258 were returned. Of that number about 70 percent were categorized as parents. The largest number were parents of elementary students, but ranged from those with pre-schoolers to those whose children had graduated. Five percent of the respondents were elementary teachers, 6 percent were secondary, a slightly smaller percentage were school personnel. Some were recent graduates and some non-parent residents.

Those who did respond to the survey ranked obtaining a basic education to insure a mastery of practical skills as number one in importance. Second and third came concepts of self-image, self-worth and self-respect.

Development of special interests, abilities and talents, a problem being addressed by one segment of district parents, was only rated as number nine in importance. This would include such areas as art, music, and dance and programs for gifted students.

Ranked last was the goal of valuing, respecting and appreciating the environment.

EDUCATIONAL GOALS FOR CLARKSTON SCHOOLS (ARRANGED IN ORDER OF PRIORITY)

1. Obtain a Basic Education to Insure Mastery of Practical Skills.
2. Develop a Positive Self-image and a Sense of Self-worth.
3. Be a Self-respecting Citizen Who Values Others and the Law.
4. Develop His/Her Creative, Constructive, and Critical Thinking.
5. Learn to Respect Differences and Get Along With People.
6. Develop Skills Needed for Gaining Employment.
7. Understand the Responsibilities of a Mature and Responsible Citizen.
8. Develop Social Skills Necessary to Establish Positive Inter-personal Relationships and to Participate in Groups.
9. Develop Special Interests, Abilities and Talents.
10. Understand and be Prepared to Respond to the Everchanging Social, Economic and Political Environment.
11. Know and Follow Good Health and Safety Habits.
12. Know the Roles of a Producer, Consumer, and the Principles Involved in the Production of Goods and Services.

13. Value, Respect, and Appreciate the Need for Maintaining, Protecting and Improving Our Physical Environment.

Two Seek Board Re-Election

Janet Thomas and Fernando Sanchez were the only candidates to file petitions for their own expiring four-year terms on the Clarkston School Board.

Thomas, of 5614 Warbler, is seeking her second term on the board. She currently serves as treasurer.

Sanchez, of 5173 Sashabaw Road, was first appointed to complete a term in 1967 and has successfully sought the office since that time.

The school board election is Monday, June 11.

Kids LOVE CRAZY GEORGE

by Betty Good

Not far behind Ronald McDonald and the Harlem Globetrotters and catching up fast as a kids' super hero is Crazy George Schauer of Detroit Pistons and Perry Drug promotion fame.

The young man in the bright red warm-up suit has been showing up everywhere; basketball clinics, schools, church youth meetings, dinners, luncheons, and as game-night entertainment. In just a little more than four years, he has appeared in 43 states and 13 countries.

Closer to home, a Crazy George Basketball Clinic, sponsored by Perry Drugs, in Waterford Township, drew close to 1000 youthful participants. A similar clinic was held in Independence and Davisburg.

One of Crazy George's more recent appearances was at the Cooley Elementary School PTO Basketball Awards Night, in Drayton Plains. (Following that, he went straight to Las Vegas for a prime-time TV appearance.)

Expecting to see a "packaged" advertising and promotion symbol, one comes away from "an evening with "Crazy George" feeling genuine warmth--and tremendous respect--for the talented 26-year-old basketball player.

His personal "electricity" warms not only the stage and gymnasium but the audience as well. His low-key conversational manner and now-famous audience involvement techniques are in contrast to the highly-skilled tricks he performs with as many as three basketballs at a time. Among the feats he is likely to do in the course of a performance, the following are included: spin a basketball on the rim of a glass, while drinking from the glass; juggle two basketballs while eating a cupcake; balance a spinning ball on the end of a six-shooter; balance a spinning ball on one finger while hula-hooping.

George Schauer is from Cleveland, Ohio, he tells the audience, while the basketball tricks go on. He started basketball at age 15 because he was so uncoordinated... "I fell down once and missed the floor."

Practicing outdoors in vacant parking lots, he earned his nickname while wearing gloves in the summer time to develop his ball-handling skills. Likening it to playing the piano with gloves on, he said, "You do it so much better when you take them off!"

The nuns who watched him practice said, "You're crazy, George!"

Schauer attended Ashland (Ohio) College for a year and then transferred to Minnesota, where he was a member of the Golden Gophers' team for three seasons, winning his letter in basketball.

He graduated from Minnesota in 1974, with a BA degree in journalism. Schauer played one year of pro ball in Germany, 1974-75, and was with the San Diego Sails of the ABA in 1975-76.

His "Crazy George" routine pulls together his training in writing, TV commercials production and basketball. Many of his tricks--like spinning a basketball on the end of a razor while a participant from the audience shaves--are done in a TV commercial format.

The monthly newsletter to fan club members includes articles written by Crazy George on "motivation and life"...ie, "being a good sport means keeping your cool."

Mickey Mouse is his own personal favorite hero, he tells the audience, and a stuffed toy version of the legendary favorite goes with him to hospitals where he performs for sick and handicapped children. Crazy George also shares his personal philosophy with the children, "If you really believe something long enough, it will happen."

On April 29, 1979, George Schauer plans to roll a basketball 20 miles for Superwalk. All proceeds will go to the March of Dimes. The months of June, July, August and September will be spent traveling around the United States "teaching kids how to play basketball."

Sinking a basket by bouncing it off the wall and backward over the shoulder can be mastered with practice, as Crazy George demonstrated.

Crazy George's popularity is evident at the end of every performance, when he is mobbed by autograph-seekers.

CLARKSTON Mills WEAVING AND POTTERY Show

Rosemary Christie, owner of Christie's and Philip Movius of the Generator Salon admire the hand-crafted jewelry on display.

Ted Remke, the Timberline's proprietor takes time out to have a look at the pottery artfully arranged in little crates.

Jean Leroux, Clarkston Mills' coffee and cookie lady, sits amid the greenery, pottery and weaving during the pre-Easter show and sale.

The adults play 22 games in comparison to the children's 14. The adults play on better fields with better umpiring and lighted diamonds. They also receive trophies at the end of the playoffs. The children receive none of these.

The fields the young people play on are of poor quality with little or no shade, no bathroom facilities and no drinking fountains.

We have been coaching in Independence Township for seven years. The Recreation Department's policies seem to put the burden of its financing on the youth programs thereby preventing many young people from participating in recreational activities.

Recreation should serve all in the community. However, it is the youth who need proper and effective

PERSONALITY PROFILE

by Leona Hutchings

A friend to many describes Frank Dennis of Clark Road, Davisburg. A man born with the desire to become a minister, a desire he has carried out since being ordained in 1950.

Dennis is also serving in the Youth Assistance Program in Oakland County as director in the Holly Area Schools. Dennis said he is very concerned about youth delinquency and works with the juvenile courts, the township, village council and the board of education.

He is working closely with the general citizens committee, also. As stated by Mr. Dennis, "My main concern and primary job at present is to work with and help organize resources and prevent delinquency."

With many years of youth counseling in camping activities he has a background of working and encouraging youth. In his younger days he recalls district youth work in Iowa, then in Michigan for conference youth now with Oakland County.

Mrs. Bertha Dennis, his wife, also is active with youth. Mrs. Dennis coaches in the county 4-H horse judging and she opens her barn and arena to the Oakland County handicapped horse riding program.

The Dennis's have two sons and 2 daughters and 6 grandchildren who like to visit the rural home with programming which should not gouge the parents' pocketbooks. Citizens are taxed a great deal already and these excessive fees, in essence, are a form of double taxation. We feel the policies must be altered in order for recreation to properly serve all those in the community.

horses, dogs and ducks and a pond large enough for small boats.

Dennis is optimistic about the Youth Assistance program which Oakland County has started to help youth with problems. Dennis said that "When boys and girls do not need my counseling any longer, I feel this a high compliment and to me this is a sense of full completion."

TUMBLERS PRESENT ANNUAL SHOW

by Leona Hutchings

Parents, grandparents and many friends attended the 6th annual tumbling program presented by the 5th and 6th grades of the Davisburg Elementary School under the direction of Miss Nancy Hanes.

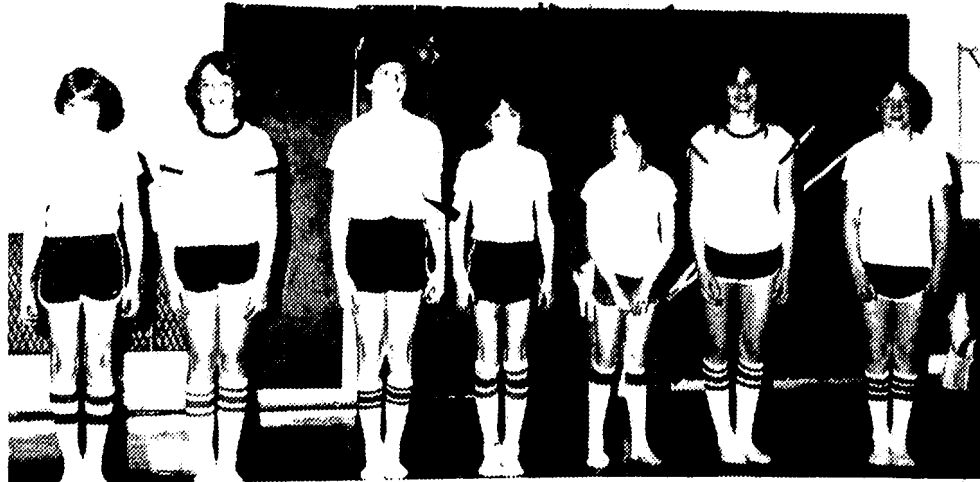

The program was held in the gym of the Holly High School due to the large attendance and room needed for the tumbling.

Each year a theme is chosen by the teacher and students. For this years program it was music from popular TV shows. The group of 64 students presented 36 acts.

At the close the students presented a thank you gift to Miss Hanes as she was about to announce the outstanding tumblers of the year.

In the tumbling program a student must first make the team then he works towards being a captain then the "Top Award of the Year."

DAVISBURG EASTER BUNNY HAS BUSY MORNING

It was a busy place at the Mill Pond Park in Davisburg Saturday forenoon as the preschool through 4th grade took part in the annual egg hunt.

Co-chairman of the event sponsored by the Davisburg Jaycees was Mr. and Mrs. Jim Golden and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Omell. Throughout the morning Jim Golden was acting the part of the Easter Bunny and handed out many eggs and gifts to the children.

The children were divided into 3 groups with eight prizes for each group. Winners were the children who found foil wrapped eggs.

To help with the project a raffle was held and winner drawn at the end of the hunt. Mrs. Elfeda Seivert of Rochester was the winner of a huge basket of Easter Goodies.

12 Die on County Highways

Twelve persons were killed on Oakland County roadways in March bringing the year-to-date total to 37 deaths, according to the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County (TIA).

The March total was four higher than for the same month last year. The January through March figure represents a 27 percent increase over that period last year.

While Oakland's death toll is up, traffic fatalities statewide show a decrease, TIA reported.

Michigan's March fatality total is 114 compared to 128 for 1978—a drop of 11 percent. Year-to-date figures for the state are 313 compared to 330 last year—a decrease of five percent.

HOW DO YOU SEE LOVE???

Do you see love in a spanking?
Do you see love in a kiss?
Do you see love in a smile?
Do you see love in a child?

I see love in a glance.
I see love in a sun shiny day.
I see love in a hug.
I see love in a Poem

There's many ways to See love but,
The most important
Way to see
Love is...
With an Open mind
And
An open heart.

THE SKY!

Stretching out above,
There's nothing to hold it back,
The Sky unending.

SUNSHINE

Waking up happy,
Brightly glowing on this day,
The Sun smiles at us.

STORMY

Angry and scowling,
The heavens take an aura
Of a frightening face.

SUNSET

A red ball of fire
Is saying it's fond farewells,
Until a new day.

AUTUMN

Orange, brown and yellow,
Making the world colorful.
Trees tired of the green.

SNOW

A soft white blanket
Covering the huge, great earth,
Til it wakes with spring.

A week ago last Wednesday, the Student Council of Clarkston High School sponsored the WABX All-Stars -vs- the Detroit Lions Charity Basketball game for St. Jude Children's Hospital.

The WABX All-Stars took an early lead 22-11 at the end of the first period, keeping the Lions scoreless for the final four minutes of the period. At 2:55 in the second period the Lions had fought back to put the score at 33-33. The half ended in favor of Detroit, 45-44.

In the second half the WABX team's mascot, Rocky the X pup, joined in to help with the cheering for WABX. The crowd, about 500 strong, came to life in the third period when they realized that they were watching an extremely close game. WABX had a slim lead, 66-64, going into the fourth period.

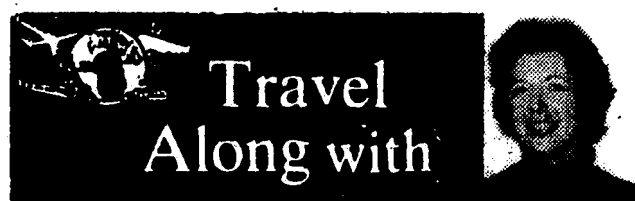

As Steve Lyons of the CHS student council put it, "These guys are taking the game semi-seriously, but they want to win." That feeling was evident in the final period, while they would joke around and goof off, they played tight basketball. The Lions pulled ahead 70-67 early in the period and had enlarged that lead to 76-69, with six minutes to go. But the WABX team wasn't finished yet, closing the lead down to 78-74 with three minutes remaining; and 1:30 minutes later pulled within 2 points, 80-78. With 38 seconds left, the score was 82-80, and with 15 seconds remaining, Tim Berry sank a 20 ft. jump shot to tie the score at 82-82. J.D. Hill tried to shoot with 6 seconds on the clock but was blocked. The game ended 82-82.

For the Lions, J.D. Hill led the scoring for both teams with 32 points and was the most outstanding of the players on the court with his good humor and excellent ball control. Horace King added 17 points, Gary Danielson scored 12 points, Ed O'Neil 11 points, and Luther Blue rounded out the Lion scoring with 10 points.

For the WABX All-Stars, Tim Worth led with 18 points, Tim Berry was right behind him with 17 points, Terry Weise 13 points, Andy Bogdon 9 points, Harry Hier 8 points, Joe Johnson and Zac Burns each with 4 points, and closing out the scoring were Bob Hall and Jim Croy each with 3 points.

A charter is simply an aircraft and crew leased by an airline to an organization or group for a specified price. There are advantages in price to a charter flight, provided everything runs smoothly. Of course, if members of the charter group cancel out for one reason or another, those remaining must pay an increased fare to make up the total price pledged for the aircraft, unless substitute passengers can be found quickly. But charters are inexpensive ways for tightly-knit and committed groups to travel.

If you're interested in a charter, cruise, or some other type of vacation travel, stop in and talk to us at CLARKSTON TRAVEL BUREAU INC. 6 N. MAIN ST. 625-0325. There Are Some Things You Can't Preserve By Putting A Lid On Them

To grow and preserve a vital, thriving community, it takes neighbors working with neighbors.

Better building and zoning codes. More money for home improvements. Adequate health and safety standards for housing. Parks and playgrounds. New buildings and new businesses. No question about it. All of these help to improve an environment.

INDEPENDENCE ASSESSOR SAYS TAXES TIED TO PROPERTY VALUE

by Carol Balzarini

Dave Sherrill, Independence Township Assessor, acknowledged some confusion has resulted from passage of the Headlee tax limitation proposal last November. He can't begin to count the number of calls received by his office after the new tax assessments were mailed out. Many people assumed that once the Headlee proposal was approved, their taxes, including property taxes, would not be increased.

Such is not the case. Basically what Headlee intended was that if property taxes increased at a greater rate than the rate of inflation, the base tax rate would be rolled back. That matter is now in the hands of an apparently reluctant legislature moving ever so cautiously toward interpretation and implementation of the Headlee amendment.

In the meantime property assessments are based solely on market value, what someone is willing to pay for a piece of property or an existing home, that price having been set to a certain extent by how much the owner asks for it once he has decided to sell.

"We look at past sales of that property also," Sherrill said, "in addition to current values."

He went on to explain that every parcel is appraised every year, not necessarily physically reappraised but based on market trends. Except in rare cases in Independence Township, that reassessment is up. Exceptions are burned homes, property becoming swampland, and parcels which will not percolate when tested.

How is the percentage of increased assessment determined?

Sherrill explained he takes the previous year's assessment and compares it with this year's market trends in that area. It's a ratio of market values, not a constant figure, to assessed value which is determined only once a year.

The percentage of the increase varies from one area of the township to another. Some areas are just increasing more rapidly than others, recording sales show the trends.

Sherrill said no one can agree on when market value increases will level off, but he feels there has to be an end somewhere.

"I'd like to see them level off," he said. "It would mean fewer complaints and less work for us. Some increases in the township this year were as high as 30 percent, but the average was in the 10-30 percent range. The increases had to do more with sales increase than market value increase."

The assessment process begins with the township as a whole, comparing the ratio of assessed value to market value increase. Next the same process is extended to each of the thirty-six sections within the township. If one differs from the township as a whole, a closer look is taken as to specifics.

The village is a separate report in addition to the sections. For the past three years, according to Sherrill, it has experienced a smaller ratio of market value to sales although being assessed at the same rate as the township. This year a different rate was used with an average increase of 20 percent. Any additions to existing homes created still larger tax bills for the homeowner. Village residents receive two tax bills, the township assessment and a village assessment called a "summer tax" because the bills come out in June.

Sherrill defended the increased township assessments saying, "If we do not raise our assessments, although it's our job, or do it at a different rate than is required, Oakland County will do it for us by applying an 'equalization factor' to our assessment. Then everyone gets the same rate of increase. We must equalize. If we don't, they will as required by the state."

Sherrill explained the county doesn't have time to check out the township physically so they just multiply by a common factor with no regard for individual situations.

In the last general election, voters abolished the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board which established the tax rate each year. A ceiling on tax rates was established and the rate allocations put in the hands of each municipality.

Independence Township can collect up to 1.40 mills for general operating. Last year they collected 1.33 mills. Sherrill said the board did not wish to raise the level above that figure. Now, he feels, it probably is controlled by the passage of the Headlee proposal.

Tax money generated in the township last year was $151,500,000; this year's figure will be approximately $179,000,000. The general fund gets 1.33 mills of that, fire gets 2 mills, police one, and sewer 1.46 for a total of 5.79 mills, about thirteen cents on the dollar. The remainder goes to the schools (sixty-eight cents) and the county (nineteen cents).

Sherrill's department operates on a timetable. In March the new assessments were established and notices mailed out. Time was allowed to meet with the review board. In October the tax rate again will be established, the bills printed and mailed out. The tax bills are payable December 1. Between now and October a number of factors may or will affect the new tax rate: approved millages, expired millages, and rate adjustment as a result of the Headlee tax limitation proposal.

HAPPENINGS

by Bob & Marvel White

Bob White, Inc.

5856 S. Main Street, Clarkston, 625-5821

This time of year is often house hunting times for many families. We feel it important to once again pass on some tips. Check ventilations. Peeling on the outside of a frame house often indicated poor ventilation in the walls with too much moisture retained. New venting is not a major problem, however. Chimneys that are thin-walled, single-brick-thickness can be dangerous as it is the lack of fireclay lining top to botton. With respect to wiring, an eight to twelve room house needs sixteen to zero circuits and a circuit braker panel for modern operations.

There are many financial considerations involved in any real estate transaction. BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE-5856 S. Main Street, your area broker since 1947, can lend many important financial thoughts and pointers to your financial consideration in your next real estate transaction. For a successful real estate transaction, enlist the aid of a successful real estate broker. Call BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE TODAY. Open 9 a.m.-9 p.m., til 6 Fri. & Sat., 11-5 Sun. Tel. 625-5821.

Consider radiant wall heaters if opening up unused space or adding a wing. It may save installation of a new heating plant.
