CLARKSTON JUNIOR High in 1929

SEE RELATED ARTICLE ON PAGE 10

In 1929, the cost of building what is now Clarkston Junior High School was about $5 per sq. ft., fifty years later it's ten times that. The cost of the old Fords shown was about $500, now the average car costs about $5,000. And as costs have multiplied, so have incomes.

School Scrapbook BEGINS

With Carol Balzarini's article this week, we begin our five part series entitled School Scrapbook on the impending $9 million bond issue that faces Clarkston School area voters.

The Reminder has accumulated lots of data and interviews to hopefully make the decision easier for voters as the June 11 election date gets near.

Just for fun, Reminder reporter Sharon Springborn called twenty Clarkston area residents last week to see how they would vote on the issue if the election were to be held right now. She found a surprising number of people were aware of the bond issue. She also found that by a margin of 11-7 (only two were uncommitted), those contacted are in favor of spending more money to build a junior high school.

Those statistics were surprising, but practically meaningless, with five weeks to go before the election. We sincerely hope people will take the time to study the issue. Read the information that is presented in The Reminder. Pay close attention to the literature and information, members of the door-to-door campaign drop off. And make a decision on sound logic, not on hearsay.

Going Up in Gas Fumes?

This gas situation really burns me up. Did you catch the profits made by the major companies during the first quarter of 1979. Seventy percent, fifty percent, forty percent up over the first quarter of 1978. Isn't that unbelievable. It makes you feel like the world is going up in gas fumes.

And I'm not sure a boycott or cut-back at the gas pumps will help. We went around to some gas stations in the area to see what kind of mark-up they had to work with. The average was around 10-11 cents a gallon. Thus if you're being charged 85¢ at the pump, it cost the gas station 75¢. Not a whole lot of money to work with.

Then, in the same week, the oil companies' record profits were announced, I read an interview conducted with an English teacher from Great Britain. He said he couldn't understand why we were so uptight about gas over here. He said they had learned to live with $2.00 a gallon gas prices. America will learn too, he said, when prices become unbearable, people will start demanding smaller cars with better fuel economy. He said instead of buying cars that get 10 M.P.G., consumers will demand cars that get 50 M.P.G.

Makes you wonder, doesn't it?

THOUGHTS 'N THINGS

I sometimes wonder if it is fair to children, to bring them up to be too trusting. I don't mean that in the sense of trusting strangers on dark streets and that sort of thing, but rather the kind of trust that leads to a relaxed attitude towards all people, and life in general.

On the other hand, raising children to be suspicious and mistrusting can destroy the quality of life for them. So what are parents to do?

Perhaps pride and self-respect were used in former generations to hit a happy medium between fear and no self-defense at all! It seems to me that that is what is lacking in the work and behavior of a lot of our younger citizens today--and it worries me. So many young people seem unaware of the "jungle" out there in the big world! They just "trust" that they will get good jobs, and that they will be promoted, and that they will marry, have children, or not marry and have children, or marry and have careers, or marry and have careers and children, etc.

Not only that! They also believe that they are reborn each day, and that yesterday will be forgotten, so it really doesn't matter if they goof off today. Some, in fact, have never thought about the necessity of building a good reputation. (Some in fact, have never heard of the term!)

I had an opportunity to talk with a group of high school

These same students refuse to "squeal" on each other; though the students they will not "squeal on", may siphon the gas out of their cars next week, and in the meantime, are vandalizing their school and their neighborhoods! Our society could not survive a day if that attitude spread. Crime would run rampant because the victims would refuse to "squeal" on the criminals.

seniors recently and wondered, when we were done, if I was out of line in my thinking--we were so far apart in our views of "reality."

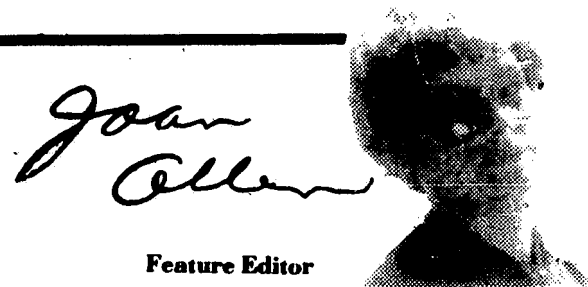

In the first place, the students were in disagreement themselves about what constituted honesty and responsibility. They talked more about "getting caught" as if it were a cat and mouse game with parents and teachers, when they skipped school or a class. They did not regard it as "cheating on someone" or being undependable, when they were not where they were supposed to be, or expected to be by parents or teachers.

To make matters worse, in my estimation, was the fact that even if they were habitually missing from the place they were supposed to be--or caught where they weren't supposed to be, they thought they were being "picked on" if they were bawled out or punished in any way, for their behavior.

These same students refuse to "squeal" on each other; though the students they will not "squeal on", may siphon the gas out of their cars next week, and in the meantime, are vandalizing their school and their neighborhoods! Our society could not survive a day if that attitude spread. Crime would run rampant because the victims would refuse to "squeal" on the criminals.

"Now you're exaggerating," said one young man.

I was not exaggerating, but he is not perceiving himself or his friends in a realistic light. Adulthood is a never, never land that is off in the distance someplace, as far as that young man is concerned. He doesn't want to think about it now--even though he is already an adult by law.

My attempts to convince some of the young people that they started to become adults when they were born fell on deaf ears. My attempts to get them to try to imagine an ongoing record of their failures and achievements from kindergarten through 12th grade brought laughter--as if the whole idea of someone keeping records on anyone else was absolutely ridiculous. Building a reputation for honesty, integrity, dependability, responsibility, was to them, something that would come later in life. They did not see those things as habits that should be formed early in life.

These young people were not being "smart-alecky" in our conversation. They really are trusting that spouses and bosses will understand their casual attitudes, as long as they have nice personalities and/or are attractive, well-dressed, and well-groomed!

Perhaps I have moved into that generation that the young used to refer to as "old fogies" but I am worried about such trust and faith in the "understanding" of the world in general, when faced with employees, or neighbors, or spouses, who are that casual about what is expected of them. In fact, I wonder if they themselves will want to hire, marry, or live next door to someone like themselves. I left them with that question.

APPRAISERS HIGHLIGHTS HERITAGE DAYS

The Clarkston Community Historical Society invites the public to attend Heritage Days at the Clarkston High School (entrance on Waldon Road, east of Main Street) in Clarkston. Stalker and Boos, estate appraisers from Birmingham, will offer appraisals on any items other than furs and jewelry. Hours will be from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturday, May 12.

STORY TIME TO BEGIN MAY 4

Springfield Township Library assisted by the Davisburg Jayettes will be holding Story Time for pre-schoolers for 6 consecutive Fridays, starting May 4. The time is 12 noon to 12:45 p.m. for all 3, 4 and 5 year olds and the cost is 25¢ to cover art materials.

Songs, finger plays, artwork and stories will be featured. Kristy Rice, a pre-school teacher and library assistant along with Cathy Phillips, librarian, have the days planned. You may pre-register your pre-schooler by calling the library at 625-0595 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday 12 - 8 and Saturday 9-5.

Due to power failure, the last Story Time conducted by the Davisburg Jayettes could not be held. On May 4, projects will be returned.

BAND DAY MAY 19

The 2nd Annual Clarkston Band Day, sponsored by the Clarkston Band Boosters, will be held Saturday, May 19th. Among the activities scheduled are a pancake breakfast at the Masonic Temple, a morning parade, and a barbeque in the park during which the various Clarkston bands will perform lawn concerts. Anyone interested in participating in the parade should contact Sandy Freely, 625-5209 by Monday, May 7th.

A raffle will be one of the main events with prizes including a stereo system, assorted tickets to Pine Knob and Meadowbrook, and a performance by the Clarkston High School Jazz Ensemble.

All proceeds will benefit the instrumental music programs of the Clarkston Community Schools.

GARDEN CLUB TO ELECT OFFICERS

Members of the Clarkston Garden Club will tour Meadowbrook Hall on the campus of Oakland University and stay for lunch and a business meeting. The occasion is the group's annual meeting highlighted by an election of officers.

In conjunction with Michigan Week and in cooperation with the Friends of the Independence Township Library, the Garden Club is sponsoring James Babcock of Stalker and Boos, who will appraise some rare, and maybe not so rare, books at Clarkston Mills on Thursday, May 24, from 1 - 4 p.m. The proceeds from the appraisals will be used to buy garden-related books for the library. SHOULD I CONSIDER ANYTHING LESS THAN A FULL-SERVICE FUNERAL?

Generally, the full-service funeral best meets the needs of the bereaved, as well as providing for the deceased. It is a declaration of death, as well as a testimonial to a life.

The full-service funeral is also a ritual of deeply profound psychological significance in our civilized society.

It was Gladstone, the famous English statesman, who wisely said, "Show me the manner in which a nation or community cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people, their respect for the law of the land, and their loyalty to high ideals."

We are living in an age of great change and progress. While many customs are influenced by the times, the full-service funeral has not been much altered. Progress has refined techniques and procedures, but the high ideals to which Gladstone refers have not been minimized or compromised. Man still buries his dead with ceremony and dignity.

Your choice of a full-service funeral demonstrates the tender sympathy and respect for the high ideals of which Gladstone would greatly approve.

Call or stop by for our literature concerning our full-service capabilities and counseling.

ARCHITECTURAL STUDENTS TO PRESENT RESULTS TO VILLAGE MAY 7

Students of Betty-Lee Francis' preservation architecture class at Lawrence Institute of Technology will present the results of their recent research in the Village of Clarkston to the Village Planning Commission on Monday, May 7, at 7:30 in the Village Hall.

The presentation will consist of sketches, photographs both old and new, and roof plans of some of the homes showing additions to the original buildings.

The work the students have done will provide the basis for application to the Michigan History Division for eventual establishment as a historic district if approved by the village council.

Trustee Ruth Basinger, also a member of the Clarkston Community Historical Society, was understandably enthusiastic about the project. She hoped this would not be the end of the research but only the beginning.

"Many homes in the township and the village should be researched," she said. "These (the original twenty) were only selected as being either geographically or architecturally representative of the village."

Members of the Village Planning Commission include chairman Ted Thomson, Virginia Walter, Nancy Prucher, Doug Roeser, Bob Sanderson, Steve Himburg, Dean Smith, Charles Galbraith and Jim McArthur.

Luggage tags, with name and address printed or engraved, are a great idea, especially since the airlines require identification on all checked baggage. How about colorful luggage straps to help quickly identify bags on the baggage-carousel? Plastic cosmetic cases, first-aid travel kits which contain a thermometer, portable chess, checkers, dominoes, backgammon sets, and even a nice deck of cards, are all useful gifts for the traveler and will be much appreciated.

Whether you travel a good deal or just occasionally, you'll benefit from the knowledge and the personalized service of our staff at CLARKSTON TRAVEL BUREAU INC., 6 N. Main Street, 625-0325. TO A FRIEND IN NEED

What aches your heart, my precious friend?
I know there's something wrong.
You just aren't your cheerful self,
Humming a carefree song.

Tell me of your sorrows friend;
Of your troubles now,
The Lord will help you with your burdens
If your head in prayer you'll bow.

It matters not the length of them
Nor how big or small,
The Good Lord is a mighty God,
He will hear them all.

The Lord God is a loving God
He comes in your time of need.
So, swallow your pride and bow your head,
I hope this advice you'll heed.

OLD CHARLIE

I once knew an old man,
Us kids called him old Charlie.
He was a part of my dreams and hopes for the future.
Old Charlie lived by the railroad tracks.
In a old torn up shack.
He said, "Always do your best and your best will do."
When I was getting older,
I remembered what he said.
I based my life on this,
Even though Old Charlie is gone.

THE TREASURE

I showed her my wallet.
I showed her my soul.
She said, "You have no money but I still see gold."
Then she took me down, deep inside.
I saw what they were digging for,
And I knew it was mine.

School Scrapbook PART 1-The Way We Were

by Carol Balzarini

The building now known as Clarkston Junior High School (CJHS) is composed of two sections, one old, one new.

The older two-story section was the original Clarkston High School built fifty years ago in 1929. The single story addition was constructed twenty-five years later in 1954 while still a high school facility. The present high school opened in 1959.

Today, after the passage of still another quarter century, the Clarkston School District is considering a all-new junior high school facility comparable to Sashabaw Junior High School (SJHS) built in 1969. If the new building is approved by the taxpayers in June, the old one would be used as an elementary facility to alleviate current overcrowding at that level.

About six years ago, school administrators felt the time had come to assess the system's priorities as far as buildings were concerned to determine future needs particularly in terms of new building versus remodeling.

During the 1973-74 school year, then-assistant superintendent Milford Mason conducted an informal feasibility study of CJHS. The basic areas were covered: the site, the building and the environment.

Site problems most notably were with traffic flow before and after school. The safety of students outside during school hours in good weather was another. The size of the play area was described as "limited."

The exterior of the building was in "good" condition, the roof considered "adequate." The interior, in general, was described in much the same terms.

Classroom size varied from 423 sq. ft. to 696 sq. ft. adequate in 1929 terms but not at the present time with a 900 sq. ft. room recommended for 30 students. The one science room had little storage space and no work room. The library was described as "inadequate." Space problems also existed in the gym and the music room.

Although no professional engineering observations had been made of the electrical, heating, and other physical aspects of the building, it was concluded that certain items needed replacement, while others were termed "sufficient" or needed "improvement."

Mason's study concluded that major renovation or building additions would lock the school district into using the facility for an extended period of time. He also called attention to rising standards of education which made the present building less than adequate. Costs of replacement, his report said, must be weighed with that of renovation.

The following year the Board decided to completely renovate the school's locker rooms, called "an absolute necessity" by then-principal William Potvin. The $60,000 spent included some other improvements to ceilings, lighting and fire safety features. This was the largest expenditure at CJHS since $25,000 was spent in 1961 to replace the wood windows in the old section with aluminum.

At the same time, the decision was made to engage an architectural firm to do a full feasibility study assessing the present building with renovation in mind but also to provide cost estimates for a new building comparable to SJHS.

The firm of Denyes and Freeman conducted a study along the same basic lines as the previous one but in much greater detail and taking into consideration such additional problems as "barrier-free" requirements involved in any major renovation.

Briefly, it was concluded, the existing structure was found to be in good condition based on its years of usage. "Substantial" improvements were recommended. At the time of construction, the life expectancy of both the old and the new sections was 25 to 30 years. Combined, the architects concluded, they had an additional 3-10 years if no substantial improvements were made.

Recommendations for modernization of the existing building were put into three categories: required, desirable, and optional. Cost estimates at that time ranged from some $300,000 for the required work to over $700,000 for all three categories.

Expansion, including use of the courtyard area for new instructional facilities, and other improvements would cost around a half million dollars in 1975 terms. A new building comparable to SJHS was estimated at $35 per sq. ft. or just over $4 million. The construction timetable was 27 months with a new building ready for the fall of 1978.

The report concluded: "The building will always have undesirable features and will never provide services which are comparable to SJHS. If an equality of educational programs and facilities is a major consideration in evaluating the Junior High School program for the School District, then a new facility should be considered." The report also stated an expanded facility would be a "tremendous asset" although classrooms would still be of a "less than desirable" size as would the gym and the library.

investing in older buildings not to exceed between 25 and 40 percent of replacement cost, the architects estimated the costs of renovation or expansion of the present facility were in the upper range of these limits. "Further investment would favor the development of a new facility," they concluded.

The Board of Education decided to make only necessary repairs in the present building and to build a new one in the future, a study committee to be appointed by 1979-80.

In December of 1976, three priorities were established by the Board: media centers in each elementary, multi-purpose rooms in each elementary, and a new CJHS, in that order.

In June of 1977, three proposals were presented to the taxpayers: a new elementary school, multi-purpose rooms in the existing ones and operating millage. All were defeated. Two months later, operating millage only was approved minus the amount a new elementary would have required.

Later that year the Citizens Advisory Committee was appointed to study the school and to make recommendations. Those recommendations, presented last June, included the construction of a new junior high school comparable to SJHS, the use of the present junior high as an elementary facility to alleviate overcrowding, and expansion of the high school library or media center. The summation termed these recommendations "bare bones" to meet the needs of the school district.

Since that time, plans for a new junior high school have been drawn up and a site selected, plans have been prepared for the high school improvements, and a $9.1 million bond issue approved by the Board of Education. The final decision will be made by the taxpayers on June 11.

(This concludes the first in a series of articles designed to present all facets of the situation existing in the Clarkston School District.)

Just One of Those Days

A teen-ager, who shall remain nameless, had a bad day at school recently, and returned home in a bad mood. His mood worsened when he realized he'd been inadvertently locked out of the house by his mother, who didn't realize that he'd worn his tightest jeans, and so had left his own keys at home.

He finally gained entry by an unlocked dining room window (and made a note to read his mother out for leaving it unlocked!) and settled down with a snack, to watch his favorite soap-opera.

All went well--he was beginning to relax, when he suddenly realized that something was wrong. He turned down the sound on the television--and sure enough--he could hear the sound of running water, as if a toilet had just been flushed. There was no other sound, though he strained to hear one. Finally, just a little bit "spooked" he walked to the bottom of the stairs to listen again--and suddenly, the toilet was flushed again. With that, he bolted from the house and ran next door to get his buddy. Then the two boys re-entered the house with baseball bats, and crept upstairs--just as the toilet flushed again.

They reached the bathroom door just in time to see the family pet--a large gray cat, reach up and flush the toilet one more time, and dissolved in laughter on the floor in the hall. The cat bolted, his game ended, and his owner embarrassed. His friend? Well, he'll be telling the story about his buddy's feline "burglar" for weeks to come. It was just one of those days for our hero!

Tuesday Treaders Spin for Fun

During this past winter two groups of women and men from Brandon and Independence Townships have had Yvonne Hess of Holly meet with them in their homes to teach the art of spinning wool. Several of the families raise sheep and thus have the raw wool to work with. There are twenty people either working on their own wheels or assembling spinning wheels.

Mrs. George (Gloria) Bellairs of Clarkston for many years had wanted to see a group learn this art and through her continued efforts such a group was organized. Mrs. Wm. McLaughlin of Reese Road invited the spinners from both groups to her historical home last Tuesday evening.

Anyone interested in joining this group are welcome. They decided to be known as the Tuesday Treaders. Mrs. Bellairs invited anyone interested in buying wool to the Bellairs Farm Open House with sack lunch on May 12. Spinners will have wheels set up on the lawn during the middle of the day.

DAVISBURG JAYCETTES Hold Third Annual Safety Town

The Davisburg Area Jaycee Auxiliary will hold its Safety Town program at Davisburg Elementary School on Davisburg Road beginning each week day July 30 - August 8 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Safety Town is offered for children ages 4½ to 6 to instruct them in basic safety rules for the home, school, and play areas. The program teaches children to know their addresses and phone numbers; how to cross safely streets and railroad tracks; proper behavior and safety on school buses and cars; what to do when approached by strangers; the importance of water safety, and much more.

In addition to a certified teacher presenting lessons, the children will be involved with art projects, movies, songs, and practice in navigating a miniature town constructed for Safety Town, all to reinforce Safety Town goals.

Programs will also be available for parents regarding poison prevention, first aid in the home, and ways to help their children learn safety rules. Dates for the parent programs will be announced the first day of Safety Town.

The classes are planned for 25 children planning to enter kindergarten this fall.

Parents wishing further information may contact Cindy Carr at 625-9631 or Eileen Stills at 634-5013.

HEARTWORM SEASON IS HERE for Dog Population VETERINARIANS Advise Check-up

By Leona Hutchings

Long awaited warm weather is a welcomed sight, but it signals the start of another heartworm season for dogs.

"By early spring all the heartworms that have been developing from the previous summer and fall will have reached the adult stage in a dog," says Dr. Cunningham and Dr. Bruggeman of Springfield Veterinary Clinic.

Until recently canine heartworm disease was considered to be a problem only in warm climates, but in the past few years it has been found in many parts of the Northern United States and Canada.

Although outdoor dogs are most susceptible to heartworm infection, even dogs kept indoors seldom can be completely protected from mosquitoes.

The disease is mosquito borne and is primarily found in dogs. Tests run at this time of year will have the greatest accuracy.

Pet owners should not forget the protection offered for distemper. Other things to think about in spring is respiratory diseases in cats and kennel cough in dogs, said the veterinarians.

For the best chance of your pet's recovery from any disease is to have your animals checked early.

May is High Blood Pressure Month

High Blood Pressure Misconceptions Answered

People who have high blood pressure, about 1 in every 6 Americans, often have questions about their disease, and they should talk to their physicians in order to get specific answers. The questions below focus on common misunderstandings people may have about high blood pressure.

Q. I feel OK and my blood pressure reading is normal again because I'm taking pills the doctor prescribed. I've been cured, right?

A. No! Most high blood pressure can be controlled but not cured. If you stop the pills your blood pressure will most likely go up again. Take your medication every day. Keep your blood pressure down and under control.

Q. Is it possible to have high blood pressure and not feel symptoms?

A. You can't feel high blood pressure. Some people mistakenly take their high blood pressure medication only when they feel tense, dizzy, or have a headache. People with high blood pressure should control it every day by taking their medication regularly, following their diet, and doing what the doctor recommends.

Q. I'm not nervous or uptight, so how can I have high blood pressure?

A. Don't confuse hypertension, another word for high blood pressure, with nervous tension. Staying calm won't control high blood pressure. If you've been told you have the disease you should follow the doctor's treatment recommendations, whether you feel upset or whether you feel terrific.

Q. Taking pills for high blood pressure--isn't there another way to treat it?

A. If your doctor has prescribed medicine for you, he or she may advise other things (losing weight, reducing the amount of salt in your diet) to help the medication work better. Sometimes this may reduce the amount of medication you need and occasionally even allow you to stop taking medicine. The plan the doctor recommends is designed especially for you. Discuss the plan with your doctor and follow his or her advice.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE Claude Trim AT HOME

by Leona Hutchings

60th District State Representative Claude A. Trim and family live in a lovely home in Davisburg.

This reporter visited the Trim family on Easter weekend. With a busy schedule including visiting those on the not too well list, attending church with the family Easter morning, answering phone calls from electors, hosting the family for Sunday dinner and trying to plan his week schedule in the legislature, Trim still found time to talk and pose for pictures.

The Trim family has lived on the present property since the early thirties. Claude's mother lives in the original home and a sister lives close, while a son Jeff is a few rods away towards the main highway.

Trim said he is proud of many things about his life and being able to service the public. He has added two small acreages to the original 40 acres and being conservation minded has spent years improving the land he and the family bought years ago.

He was appointed trustee of the Springfield Township Board and then served as Supervisor two terms. He is serving his fifth year for this district in the state legislature.

Locally he has taken an active part and drew the plans for his church when it was built in Davisburg. He also helped build it. He belongs to the Lions Club, is President of the local Cemetery Association and a board member of the Springfield Township Historical Society.

Trim is on several House committees. He was appointed to the Mental Health Committee as chairman; is a member of the Taxation Committee and sits on the Township and County, State of Affairs, Agriculture and Public Health committees.

Springfield-Oaks Humming with Activities During Month of May

by Betty Good

At the Springfield-Oaks Youth Activity Center, on Andersonville Road, the tempo is disco every Thursday night--as 72 Clarkston and Davisburg area people take disco dancing lessons under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Kopka, of Birmingham.

The Kopkas are internationally-known dance instructors who spend much time aboard cruise ships--such as the Princess Line--teaching the most popular dance steps. The class, which runs a total of five weeks, has proven so popular "it will probably be repeated in the Fall," said Anne Clinton-Cirocco, Director of the Center.

On May 6, the grounds of Springfield-Oaks will wear a more familiar look as Oakland County 4-H Youth Organization presents its first Spring horse show of the year. Wolverine Riders Club is sponsoring the EMHA-sanctioned event which will last from 9:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. Approximately 200 people are expected to participate.

The newly-organized Northwest Oakland County Council for the Arts will hold its first membership meeting at the Youth Activity Center, on Andersonville Road, on May 9, at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to this meeting, according to Sandy Webster, Springfield representative to the Oakland County Cultural Council, as input is needed regarding the cultural needs of the areas served and to develop ideas for an arts program.

On May 23, the annual meeting of the group will be held at Springfield-Oaks to elect officers, board members and to approve by-laws. The Northwest Oakland County Council for the Arts represents the townships of Springfield, Groveland, Holly and Rose--including the communities of Davisburg and Holly.

The entire fifth grade of Davisburg Elementary School will spend the day at Springfield-Oaks Park on May 9th, continuing a seasonal program begun in the Fall. The Nature Education program will make use of both indoor and outdoor facilities, with Youth Center personnel assisting.

May 23rd and 24th, the center will host a study group for youth leaders entitled "New Games", said Anne Clinton-Cirocco. The Oakland County Coalition of Youth Service Agencies--which includes such groups as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Big Brothers, etc.--sponsors cooperative training sessions throughout the year for leaders of youth activities in Oakland County.

On the 23rd, instructors from the New Games Foundation, in California, will be present to teach activities which will be practiced in a workshop involving youngsters on the 24th.

"The New Games approach emphasizes non-competitive group games and sports," advised Ms. Clinton-Cirocco. The group's motto is "play hard, play fair--no one gets hurt."

The games have already been integrated into physical education programs in some areas of the county.

Fourteen of the twenty cast members of "The Man Who Came to Dinner" assemble in costume for a formal portrait.

CVP PRESENTS "THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER" May 11 - 13, 17 - 19

by Carol Balzarini

The Clarkston Village Players are up to their favorite old tricks again--zany comedy--this time with the old Kaufman-Hart favorite "The Man Who Came to Dinner," to run May 11 - 13, 17 - 19 at the Depot Theatre on White Lake Road. Although the last play of the season it promises to be one of the best.

Director Cheri Broome has her hands full with a cast nearly as large as the seating capacity of the Depot itself. She is assisted by Judy Rood with Denny Colwell producing.

The comedy centers around the sharp-tongued radio personality Sheridan Whiteside (Pete Rose) who comes to dinner at the home of the Stanley family in a small Ohio town. Slipping on the ice and breaking his hip, Whiteside must remain in their home for some weeks.

What started out as an honor having a famous guest suddenly becomes a nightmare for the Stanleys (Bob Cook and Marlene Sewick) as Whiteside's arrogance and bad temper, plus an ever-increasing entourage of characters, turn their home and their lives upside down.

Cast as Whiteside's long-time secretary is Linda McDonald who finds romance with the local newspaper editor, Norm Hunt. Judd Dotson and Mary Corr are the Stanley children. Judy Tower is a famous but predatory actress and Al Bartlett is a thinly-disguised Marx brother, while John Matheus' character can be recognized as Noel Coward.

Janet Rose and Mike Kaul are the doctor and nurse who attend the ever-insulting invalid. Sally Inman and Bill Richards are the Stanleys' cook and butler.

Other cast members include Nancy Osmun, Bruce Dudley, John Holzer, Pat Beach and Lee Noyes. Some of the actors play more than one part.

Russ Inman and Denny Colwell designed and built the play's single setting of the Stanley living room, comfortable but not elegant, and described by Whiteside as a "moldy mortuary" and a "drafty sewer."

Performances begin at 8:30 on all nights except Sunday at 7:30. Tickets may be obtained at Tierra Arts and Design in Clarkston or by calling 625-5716. The Thursday, May 17, performance is a benefit for Youth Assistance. Benefit tickets are also available at Tierra or by calling 625-3441.

DAVISBURG TEENAGER YOUNGEST DOGSLEDDER TO COMPLETE A CROSS COUNTRY RACE

by Leona Hutchings

The Jay Tindall family of Holly Road, Davisburg are among the more than 200 members of the Great Lakes Sled Dog Association. The club offers many types of racing from 1 dog for children five years or more to teams of 10 dogs or more known as unlimited. Also in this club a class of about 20 racers each weekend during the winter compete in what is known as cross-country with trails not as well groomed as sprint racers enjoy. Too, the cross-country folks must carry freight on their sled depending on number of dogs on a team and the driver's weight.

Jay Tindall Sr. and Jay, the son known as Jay II, take part in cross country with the big time of the year a Newberry race covering 150 miles north and east of Newberry.

With snow gone one might ask, "What do sled dog racers do in the spring and summer?" For Jay II the answer is keeping up with school as he is just sixteen and caring for a litter of new pups.

When asked about his team he speaks about his lead dog Nanook like she and Kaiyuk the mother of the new pups were close kin. The dogs are all Siberian Huskies and Jay was presented last year with a special plaque from the Siberian Husky Club of Detroit for his awards in cross-country driving Siberians.

Jay II is the only teenager in the United States to complete a cross-country race without adults. Others have started on races in the eastern states but have not completed. For several years he was not allowed to travel with his team without an adult driving with him. The year 1979 means many new experiences to Jay II.

At Newberry he left the starting line with over 600 hard miles on his team. Two were only ten month old pups, Yukon and Kodiak, which he raised last season.

Drawing number 12, this meant that the Tindall team leaving Newberry was known as number 12 from then on. Leaving with 7 dogs and a sled packed with gear including tent, sleeping bag, hand ax, snow shoes, food for dogs and driver, compass, extra harness, dog boots, and a long list of smaller necessary equipment, Tindall began the grueling run.

The teams leave the starting point in 2 minute intervals so with few problems the first few miles on that bright Saturday of February with the first check point at Pine Stump Junction twenty-five miles north of Newberry, all was going well.

In the first 25 miles Jay overtook and passed five teams. Jay headed east towards Pike Lake about 15 miles away. Arriving at sunset in Pike Lake, the dogs were still wanting to go on so deciding to drive at night the team headed for Vermillion another 20 miles towards Lake Superior. This part of the trip was in total darkness, but by wearing a battery operated light on his head similar to a miner's light, Jay and the team drove on into the darkness. It was a night with no moon and very overcast.

Not knowing where any other drivers were camping it was a surprise to find another musher camped just before reaching the old lighthouse at Vermillion. Knowing there would be a warm place to stay at the headquarters at the lighthouse in Vermillion it took little time to bed the dogs down and to unroll the sleeping bag in a warm place. Several other mushers were already staying here and all was quiet when the dogs starting barking and a team had broken loose and was fighting amongst themselves.

Jay recalls how he set his alarm but did not hear it and awakening to find daylight and all mushers gone. He broke up camp around the dogs fast and headed for Paradise. Having rested so long we set a good pace often catching one or more mushers that day, said Jay.

As the race continued there were many exciting moments when the dogs would encounter steep drops in the trail, meet birds flying over where they often

The purchase price of a home can sometimes be met by paying cash even in this era of inflated prices. However, it is generally not the wisest course of action. It is still necessary to consider occupancy costs in relation to income. Usually, the higher the price of the house, the higher will be the taxes, insurance, repairs, and operating expenses. This may become particularly significant to an older family that may now have the resources to pay cash but faces a tight income situation in the not too distant future because of retirement of fewer family members making contribution.

When you have BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 S. Main Street, your area broker since 1947, by your side in a real estate transaction, you can rest assured that all the important points have been covered. Sam, Lawrence and Nabi Sefa and Jean Bridson, Manager of Swanson and Associates.

Sefa Family Joins Bob Swanson & Assoc.

Bob Swanson and Associates, Inc. would like to announce the addition of the Sefa family, an award winning real estate sales team, to their Ortonville and Clarkston offices. Sam, Nabhia (Nabi) Sefa and their son Lawrence, are joining Swanson and Assoc., Inc. after selling real estate in the Fenton area for over 4 years.

Jean Bridson, associate broker and manager of Swanson and Assoc., says "We are proud to have such a talented family join our company."

The Sefas were a million dollar sales team many times in Fenton and have been granted many top awards for their success in selling property. Bridson stated "The Sefas have their goal to sell a million each month. Mr. Sefa specializes in commercial and investment real estate and has made many people very good investments."

Jean Bridson also commented "The Sefas could be considered investment consultants because of commercial sales they handle." The Sefas set a sales record in 1977 when they sold more than a million dollars in May of that year. They also broke their own record in January 1978 by selling 1,600,000 that month.

Sefa says that the key to their success is that they are honest with their customers. "Honesty, integrity, and following the Golden Rule is our belief."

Sam Sefa worked in the grocery business since 1940. His last store was in Davison. Sam and his brother Fred own Sefa's Market in Goodrich.

Sefa, American born, was raised in the Middle East. His father owned a taxi company in Beirut.

In 1940 Sefa came to the Flint area. He and his brother opened the Goodrich grocery, then known as Hamady's Pure Food. In 1952, Sefa returned to Lebanon where he met Nabi and subsequently married her.

This was the beginning of the successful Sefa team!

Lawrence (Larry) Sefa is at 25 the oldest of Sam and Nabi's 5 children. Larry is a '71 graduate of Davison High School and graduated from Lansing Community College in '75 with an Assoc. Arts degree. He also attended MSU where he graduated in June of '78 with a BA degree.

Larry is presently attending Russell Business School in Southfield where he is working towards his real estate brokers license. He plans on attending law school in the Fall "with a slant towards real estate and income tax law."

Larry is not the only accomplished off-spring of Nabi and Sam's. Marc Sefa, 22, is currently in Hollywood cutting a record for Warner-Curb Productions which will be released soon. His music specialty is pop and country according to his parents. Marc's first record was "I Can't Help Myself" which received air play on many local radio stations and coast to coast.

Monee' Sefa, 17, a senior at Fenton High recently won the Voice of Democracy contest in Fenton and she placed 16th in the state for her presentation with the theme of "Fellow Citizens represent the heart of American democracy and since all men are created equally, they have the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Monee' credits her parents for much of her success. "My parents have raised me to think positive. They are the most inspirational people to be around, always thinking positive and constantly being able to motivate themselves."

Terry Sefa, 20, a graduate of Fenton High is now in the Army stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas.

watched the sky instead of the trail.

Going south out of Paradise then west and stopping at campgrounds which were check points on the third day, Jay II reached the last highway crossing which was west of the Tahquamenon Falls.

The last 26 miles out of Newberry seemed like the longest but since this is quite a straight and easy part of the race Jay felt he was doing well. He finished 4th among the 20 entries which came from as far away as Minnesota, New Hampshire and Ohio. All other racers were adults and most drove with more dogs on their teams. All of the dogs Jay II drove he has worked with or raised from pups.

In just a few weeks Jay II will start working with the small pups and train them on wheels or rigs in the fall to be part of his team.
