Pine Knob Series Quite Revealing

Pine Knob is in the news again. Their summer music theatre is about to begin with more big name acts this year than I can ever recall. The multi-story hotel that is now in its planning stages, has been and probably will continue to be the brunt of public criticism.

But, probably the most notable story concerning the mammoth facility, was the four-part series printed in the Detroit News a couple of weeks ago. If you missed it, try to get a copy. It's interesting reading about Independence Township's world reknown entertainment complex.

In that series, Joseph Locricchio and Gary Francell agreed to tell their story in an effort to clear the air about their alleged mafia connections and shaky financial status.

Here are some notable quotes that came out of the series:

Locricchio on money problems after buying Pine Knob in the early 1970's--"We needed money, for everything from groceries to mortgage payments. We were really living hand-to-mouth."

Locricchio on attorney Fred Gordon, who was responsible for inventing the elaborate scheme that gave them money to operate with--"Freddy's the best deal-maker I've ever met in my life. Freddy could sit down and fashion you a package like no one in the world."

Locricchio on his alleged mafia connections--"Innvendo prevails all over your life. I honestly believe sometimes my mother really thinks that somewhere in the background, maybe there's something to this."

Locricchio on testifying before grand juries--'if you've never experienced it, it's something that you got to see. You walk in, you sit down in front of 16 housewives or postmen or whatever. And I'm not demeaning them, but there's no way they can delineate or be analytic about your financing. You say $17 million in front of them, they think Mafia."

Joseph Nederlander on Locricchio and Francell-"They're finally getting on their feet (despite) all the talk about their so-called Mafia associations. Geez, people will never know what they went through just to make ends meet. Everything is mortgaged to the hilt, I mean everything. They ain't got 20 cents between them."

Locricchio on his current financial status--"We ain't the Rock of Gibralter yet. But let me tell you one thing: Pine Knob and the entities of Pine Knob are so strong that in spite of all, we're going to overcome. There's no doubt now."

Locricchio on the proposed 21-story hotel for Pine Knob--"The hotel is conceptual at best right now. We think we need it to round out Pine Knob. But we're not going to go through living hell...If we get too much flak or too much pressure, I'm going to say, 'See you later' and let somebody else build it. I'll go to another community."

Ode to Sully

Some people are better known in the communities in which they work than the communities in which they live. Such was the case with Howard Sullivan, better known as "Sully," an entertainer in Oakland County nighspots for the past quarter century but who also lived on Ortonville Road here in Independence Township.

Sully died April 17, leaving five children, ten grandchildren, and his dear wife Peg, better known to many in this area as "the Avon lady."

He also left many fans, especially those who enjoyed his piano playing at Brandy's in Bloomfield for the past few years. Perhaps the best tribute to Sully is this poem written by one of his fans while she lay terminally ill in a hospital several years ago.

Ode to Sully Sully's his name and music's his game, And Brandy's is where he is found. Between nine and two, he's there to please you. He'll cheer you if you're feeling down. He thrills you and chills you. Sometimes makes you cry, But just so that you'll understand. He plays the piano, so beautifully, too! You can bet he's some kind of man! If you'd like to take a nostalgia trip, Or if country or rock is your thing, 'll fill your request, always do his best. He'll even invite you to sing. He gives so much pleasure, yet makes no demands, Tho' wary and tired he may be---A toast to you, Sully, good health and good cheer. To our man with the wonderful hands.

The Reminder
Dear Carol:

Yes, "I did see it in The Reminder" and was most pleased with the coverage you gave the Total Office Procedures Systems program at the Northwest Oakland Vocational Education Center in conjunction with National Secretaries' Week.

How you can take so much information (as I really do go on and on) and consolidate it into an interesting, informative new item is a true compliment to your journalistic skills. I felt the article gave the local residents a concise overview of our basic program and special endeavors, such as field study.

Our students were excited about the article, and I am sure, that by being a part of National Secretaries' Week through your publication, their secretarial goals are more meaningful.

Thank you and your fine paper for all your effort on behalf of our Center.

Sincerely, Louise M. Dube

THOUGHTS THINGS

It's just about now that I lose my enthusiasm for spring planting. That's because I always go crazy the first balmy day after Easter, and I go out and buy seeds and those pre-planted tomato seeds, and I start growing seedlings in a sunny window. It's fun--and it somehow seems that it will make spring come sooner. All it does, however, is make our condominium smaller! The seeds are all sprouting and should be separated but not put outdoors yet. So what am I to do?

Some people say that they just thin the sprouts out and throw the excess away. I can't bring myself to do that. I just find it difficult to kill anything. I try to give the excess to friends, relatives, and neighbors. But, I remember, too late, that I ran into them buying their seeds when I was buying mine. I guess the only thing to do is to put them outside. If a frost kills them--it was an act of God. If they survive, I'll have to sneak around planting them in people's flower beds during the night!

For those of you who have considered condominium living, and wonder whether it works out--well, it has for us--even though the two older girls are presently living at home while they pursue further educational goals (that's why there isn't much room for the plants!) Our condo does back up to what used to be a railroad tracks, a stream, and flood-control land--so there will be no building right behind us. That means that we have a "backyard" with a view, and privacy. It really makes a difference to hose of us who have lived in the country and don't want to see brick walls outside our windows. Former city dwellers feel that we have more of a "country atmosphere" and don't mind the units that are closer together, as long as they have a patio and a place to go for a walk.

We have never (in the five years we've lived in a condo) been bothered by noisy neighbors, vandalizing kids, or other people's pets. I have heard complaints from other inhabitants of our area who live closer together though. I guess the point that I'm making is that condo living can be wonderful--if you know yourselves well enough to know just how choosy to be about the location of your unit.

I have never been an anti-social type of person, so I had no concern about moving into a community such as ours. On the other hand, I have become more aware of the human need for space.

We accept as normal, an animal's resistance to other animals that crowd it. We tend to ignore it in people, however, and sometimes become hurt or insulted when those we love seem to need some space of their own. The

I wouldn't even bring this matter up if I didn't believe that winter was well behind us. The lack of space, when everyone is inside trying to keep warm is what makes winter seem so long and miserable at times. But now-with spring getting us outside, it seems to be a good time to suggest that parents take their kids away from the television set (just reruns anyway!) and move out into space together.

closer the quarters, the more need there is for "private" space, though, and parents should see to it that each of their children finds some someplace. Parents should find some of their own too, but have more opportunity to run away to the office or a store than the kids do.

The need for space, and a quiet time to think, to dream, to hope, and to wish, seems like a simple matter to handle--but if you keep a diary of how and where your time is spent you'll gain a clearer picture of reality.

I wouldn't even bring this matter up if I didn't believe that winter was well behind us. But now--with spring getting us outside, it seems to be a good time to suggest that parents take their kids away from the television set (just reruns anyway!) and move out into space together.

With the price of gasoline what it is, we all had better get into shape physically-so how about family bike trips? Long walks, while you look at all the things closely, that you're usually too busy to miss, and long talks, while doing it can really pull the generation together. And while you're out on those walks--how about doing a little bird-watching?

I wouldn't suggest that busy people drop everying and go for walks and bike rides with their kids if I didn't think it would be good for them--all of them--but I think it might revitalize a lot of relationships without hurting anyone--so do it! Take a trip back to reality. Man belongs in a natural setting as much as any other animal and he (and she) need doses of nature regularly. Walking, smelling the spring air, listening to the birds, loving the company of their mates and offspring, and just feeling free to be is a must in the spring--otherwise, it is too soon gone. Spring, after all, is one of the gifts of life, and we should enjoy it as much as we suffer the perils and pitfalls.

There is something interesting in Richard Bach's new book Illusions. (He wrote Jonathon Livingston Seagull too.) He suggests that man accepts all the misery and suffering that life can give because God asks it, but that

IS IT WISE TO PLAN MY OWN FUNERAL?

It was the Earl of Warwick who said there is nothing more certain than death and nothing more uncertain than the time of dying. He would be prepared for death at all times, he states, and his preparedness would not make him die the sooner, but the better.

This individual insight is very enlightening and practical. We have pre-planned funerals with many members of our community who share some of the same sentiments. Many have expressed great relief in their foresightedness. They say it's a comfort to know everything will be well-handled, and will cost no less and no more than you want it to be.

Rather than permit a third party to arrange things or cause your loved ones the anguish and painful burden of funeral details, you may wish to plan your own funeral down to the smallest details.

FORECAST

by Robert Davis

If April showers bring May flowers, then we should have an overabundance of flowers in May. April was much wetter than normal this year, with precipitation totals ranging from 4.22 inches at the offices of Johnson & Anderson, Inc. to 6.34 inches at Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township. Locally, the northern Clarkston station reported 4.77 inches and the eastern Clarkston station reported 4.74 inches of precipitation during April. Most of our 4-township area averaged about 2 inches above normal for precipitation during April.

A large percentage of our monthly total occurred during the first half of the month, with the largest storm occurring during the evening hours of the 13th and early morning hours of the 14th. During this storm, most of our volunteers within our 4-township area recorded between 11/2 and 2 inches of rainfall.

Snowfall during the month was also above normal, with the eastern Clarkston station reporting 41/2 inches during April. This is about 31/2 inches above normal. Assuming (hopefully) that our snowfalls are over for the season, our total snowfall for the 1978-79 winter season was just over 54 inches. Last year we received 63 inches of snowfall; normally, we would expect about 35 inches in this area. One of the most amazing statistics of this winter was the number of days that we held a 1-inch snowcover. The eastern Clarkston station reported 103 days during the winter season with at least a 1-inch snowcover. Sixty-two days is about normal for this area, although there can obviously be a wide variance from this figure from year to year.

Temperatures were below normal in April, averaging about 31/2 degrees below normal per day. Temperatures during April at the eastern Clarkston station ranged from a low of 17 degrees on the mornings of the 6th and 7th, to a high of 73 degrees on the 23rd. Based on statistics for the Pontiac area, there is still a 50 % chance of frost after May 9th, but only a 10% chance after May

Since we will be seeing more and more thunderstorms during the coming months, it might be a good idea to go over some facts about lightning and lightning safety. Although we think of the expression "May lightning strike me down", we can be a good target for a lightning strike under certain conditions. Oddly enough, more people are killed by lightning in a year's time than by tornadoes or hurricanes. It is estimated that there are about 1800 thunderstorms in progress over the earth's surface at any given moment, and that lightning is striking the earth at a rate of about 100 times every second.

During a thunderstorm you should stay indoors unless absolutely necessary; stay away from open doors and windows, fireplaces, and metal objects such as pipes. stoves, and sinks. Don't use plug-in electrical equipment such as hair dryers, electric toothbrushes and electric razors during the storm. If possible, don't use the telephone during the storm, as lightning can strike telephone wires outside. If you are caught outdoors, seek shelter in a building, and when out in the open, try at all costs to avoid being the tallest figure in the landscape. If you are swimming, or in a boat, get out of the water as quickly as possible. Stop tractor work, especially if you are pulling metal equipment, and dismount. Tractors and other implements in metallic contact with the ground are often struck by lightning. Don't handle metallic objects such as golf clubs or fishing rods during a storm-they can become lightning

If you are traveling, stay in your automobile; automobiles offer excellent lightning protection, although some recent evidence suggests that cars with luggage racks and/or steel belted radial tires can be damaged by a lightning stroke.

(The isohyetal map was prepared by Robert C. Davis and Susan E. Rosin, and was sponsored by Johnson & Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers).

Utilities, Pine Knob at Top of Independence Taxpayers List

by Sharon Springborn

On a nice weekend, have you and your family gone for a drive around the township and looked at the various buildings or property around the area and found yourself wondering just which individuals or corporations owned the property worth the greatest number of dollars, and therefore supported the heaviest tax burden?

According to Fred Ritter, the treasurer for Independence Township, the "Top Ten Taxpayers" are, for the most part, corporations run not by a single person, but by a board of directors.

The number one spot is taken by Detroit Edison, with real property totaling $407,800 and personal property of $2,973,700. For those unfamiliar with financial terms, the Webster's Dictionary defines real property as that consisting of permanent, immovable things and personal property as being made up of any property that isn't real property or is movable or not attached to the land.

Pine Knob Investment holds the second position, most probably to no one's surprise. Their real property adds up to the value of $2,095,800 and their personal property (state equalized valuation) is $560,000. Although these figures may seem rather low, if the s.e.v. for the entire Pine Knob complex is computed, the total comes out to $4,184,600. The taxpayers in the Pine Knob complex not valued at enough to be included in the Top Ten list are

Pine Knob Enterprises ($11,900), Pine Knob Ski Resort ($73,900), Pine Knob Ski Shop ($11,000), Pine Knob Theatre ($330,000) and Ogden Confection Corp. ($31,100)

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1979

The state equalized valuation was defined by an informed source as being half of the value of the personal property of the company or individual.

Bringing up the third position is Consumer's Power, with real property adding up to a value of $24,400 and if this doesn't seem to qualify Consumer's as a big taxpayer, wait until their personal property's worth is given--$1,553,900.

The final seven positions are held (in order of their descending property values) by Independence Properties, Greens Lake Development Group, Indusco Corp., Donald Hirschman, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., Robert Tuson and Clark Easley.

Independence Properties, whose real property value totals $1,291,200, is the company that owns the Independence Commons shopping center. Greens Lake Development Group has a total of $1,223,700 in real property and this group owns the Greens Lake Apartment complex.

Indusco Corporation, which is number 6 on the Biggest Taxpayers list, has a real property valuation of $1,070,900, but Indusco is under Pine Knob Investment.

In fact, those people sitting on the board of the one corporation also sit on the board of the other. Also, since both of the companies have virtually the same people on both of their boards, they do almost the same things since both are concerned with Pine Knob and its business.

Next on the list is Donald Hirschman, with real property valued at $749,300. Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. comes in right after Mr. Hirschman, with their total personal property valued at $645,800.

Next in line is Robert Tuson, with a real property total of $604,500. Mr. Tuson is the owner of an apartment complex just off of Andersonville Road.

Tenth on the list is Clark Easley, with a real property value totaling $543,800.

When this list is again read over, two similarities between most of these companies strike the reader--those who wield the monetary 'clout' belong in one of two fields: energy or real estate.

The numbers 1, 3 and 8 on the list are Detroit Edison, Consumer's Power and Michigan Consolidated Gas. These three companies sell energy--in the form of electricity or gas--to those living in the Clarkston area.

Companies numbering 2, 4, 5, 6 and 9 on the list are involved in some type of real estate--buying, selling, development, etc. These payers of large taxes also have to their credit apartment complexes, condominiums, shopping centers and recreational complexes.

Outstanding Clarkston Citizens to be Honored During Michigan WEEK

Plans for the First Annual Community Awards Dinner, to be held at Spring Lake Golf Club on Thursday, May 24, are progressing right on schedule. The purpose of the dinner is to honor citizens of Independence Township who are deserving of special recognition for their efforts in the community.

The affair will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour to be followed by a steak dinner. Guest speaker will be Mel Larson with Lew Wint as toastmaster and Rev. Clancy J. Thompson of the Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church delivering the invocation.

Award categories include Boss of the Year, Outstanding Volunteers, Outstanding Young Citizen, Outstanding Government Official, Outstanding Clarkston Educator, Creative Arts Award, Distinguished Service Award for an individual, group or project, and a Special Award for a "super" person.

Letters pertaining to the award nominations have been sent out to many groups and organizations in the area along with the nominating forms. Anyone who has not received one or would like more information may call Chris Shull at 625-3250. Anyone may nominate an individual he thinks worthy of recognition for contributions to the community.

Tickets for the dinner are available at Tierra Arts and Design, Spring Lake Golf Club, and the Back Court at the Deer Lake Racquet Club. They are also being sold by committee members Clerk Chris Rose at the Township Hall, Chris and Bruce Shull, Carol Balzarini, Jack Hunt, Jim Randall, Don Place, Ron Reynolds, and Bob Cook. There are only 200 tickets available on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The First Annual Community Awards Dinner is a cooperative effort by the North Oakland Civitans, the Clarkston Jaycees and the Michigan Week Committee. Michigan Week is May 19 - 26.

Schutte Explains New Solid WASTE ACT TO Independence Audience

George Schutte from Oakland County appeared before the Independence Township Board recently to explain the state's new solid waste management act passed in

The new act requires the preparation or updating of solid waste management plans by 1981 by a hierarchy of governmental units beginning with the county. Should the county fail to come up with a plan for whatever reason, the responsibility would next lie with the local municipality. Should it fail to implement a plan, the state would take over.

The old act allowed the local governmental unit to formulate its own plan if it did not choose to go along with the county's plan as Independence Township did a number of years ago when the M-15 - Allen Road area was indicated on a map as having ideal soil conditions.

Schutte labeled the new plan a "popular, well-planned piece of legislation" with input from all kinds of interest groups. Although state-mandated the state is only paying 80 percent of the planning costs. In its initial stages, the county wants local municipalities to contract with an engineering firm to show the extent of their participation and commitment.

Basically, the plan would have two components: an incineration facility and transfer stations. Incineration would generate steam which could be sold for use as a power source. The transfer stations would most likely be privately run and contracted with for services.

Whatever plan or method of disposal decided upon, there would be resulting residue. "It can't be denied, it can't be camouflaged," Schutte said. "The resulting residue has to go into a landfill somewhere."

He also told township officials that even proceeding with speed, the project would take some 4-5 years at best to be realized. "It's not tomorrow's solution," he said. Schutte further explained Oakland County's old plan will continue and be meshed with the new requirements.

"Our water conditioner was using 36 lbs. of salt a week, and our water was hard and rusty. We also had to replace a Hot Water Tank every year. Since we installed an AQUA-MAG SYS-TEM we have cut our salt usage by 50%, and we now have rust free, soft water. It took care of our problem and we are very satisfied."

M-275 Alternative Would End in Clarkston Area

The state transportation department is currently studying an alternative route to the controversial M-275 freeway. Called the Vivian alternative, named after state transportation commissioner Weston Vivian, the alternative calls for widening Haggerty-Union Lake-Williams Lake Roads from the I-96 interchange in Novi to a southern extension of M-15 in Clarkston that would provide for a tie in with I-75.

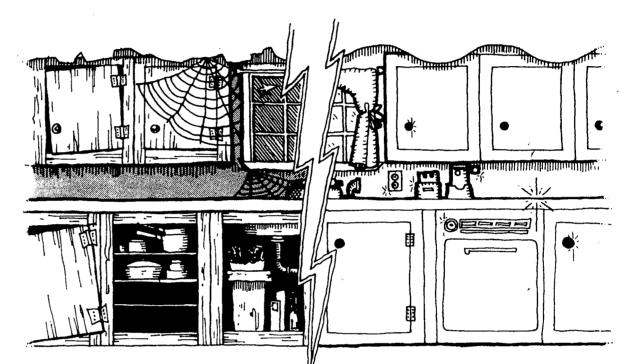

The transportation department is currently checking into the feasibility of the alternative and are expected to conclude their study in mid-May.

The original M-275 met so much citizen opposition that it was cancelled in January 1977. It was to have run from I-96 in Novi to I-75 in Holly, swinging through a good share of Springfield Township.

Since then, a number of alternatives have been studied and discussed without any decisive preferences

The Citizens Advisory Committee was formed in December of 1977. For the next six months thirty-two people studied population projections, construction costs, the financial aspects of building versus remodeling and toured every building in the district. At the end of those six months the committee members were probably as familiar with the Clarkston Schools as anyone could be.

The recommendations they presented to the School Board did not represent a consensus opinion, but rather a majority opinion. Leonard Cotter, Karen Ohrnberger. and Mary Jane Scharfenkamp are three of those members who held the majority opinion.

Cotter, who lives on Edgar Road in Springfield Township, has been a resident of the area for the past seven and a half years. He has two sons in high school and two children who have graduated. Cotter's occupation is a driver-salesman. Cotter said:

Receiving an appointment to the Clarkston School Advisory Committee in December, 1977, I looked forward to learning much about our school system, its administrators, its problems, and, most of all, what were our most pressing needs.

Indeed, I did learn a lot.

Our most pressing needs were, and are, additional

State-mandated programs, mostly special educational classes created most classroom shortages. I had not realized that most special educational classes have only 6 to 12 children. These classes must be housed in comparable classrooms to regular student classrooms. Thus 10 special education classes are taking teachers and rooms that would house approximately 300 regular students.

I believe that we as responsible and fair-minded citizens cannot deprive special education children of a chance to learn and perhaps have enough training to become self-sufficient and responsible people. I, for one, will not be a party to deprive any child, handicapped or normal, of an education.

So, we need more classrooms to prevent overcrowding and workable classrooms to properly educate all of our

Presently the Junior Highs are the most overcrowded and projections show this age group to show the largest increase in enrollment growth.

It would be economic nonsense, in my opinion, to construct new elementary classrooms by building a new elementary school or hodge-podge construction of classrooms at now-overcrowded elementary schools.

The Clarkston Junior High is now, and has been for some time, inadequate in size and facilities to properly educate Junior High age students. To renovate much of this school and add new construction to bring it up to good standards would cost about one-half as much as a new Junior High School. Even then it would have a short life span as an educational facility due to its age and lack of proper maintenance. Note: the appraisal term would be "functional obsolecense."

By converting the new part of the Clarkston Junior High to an elementary school, it would alleviate the elementary classroom shortage at a minimum of cost which probably could be met within normal maintenance and operational costs.

In my opinion, I would very much dislike to spend a lot of good money on an older school when I am convinced it would have to be replaced anyway.

While building a new Junior High would be the most costly now, many people share my opinion that it would be the most economical over a period of years--and the most practical.

I might also add that while it is the responsibility of the taxpayers to provide adequate educational facilities, it is also the responsibility of the School Board and the administration to keep expenses down and not create positions or jobs. Perhaps the administration could consolidate or eliminate some administrative positions to curtail expenses.

It is also the responsibility of educators to accept students as individuals and become dedicated teachers and not 8 to 3 workers. I would recommend the teaching personnel take a long look at their own efforts and actions to gain the respect of both the students and their

Karen Ohrnberger lives on Caberfae Trail; she is a housewife and mother who devotes a great deal of time to school activities. Her older son will graduate from Clarkston High School in June, another son at Sashabaw Junior High, and a daughter who is a fourth grader at Bailey Lake. The Ohrnbergers have been area residents for ten years.

"As a member of the committee," she said, "I supported the need for a new junior high school and renovation of the high school library because going through CJH it is very obvious there is simply not sufficient space for the library-media center, science labs, shop and physical education classes.

Gaining space by renovation or adding on is financially a very expensive solution. The cost of renovation is, per square foot of building, higher than building new. Also as soon as an older building is remodeled, the State law demands that it is made "barrier-free" which would include an elevator for CJH. A "barrier-free" design is far less expensive to achieve in a new building.

In the elementary schools there is a great need for additional space, too. Andersonville's sixth graders are housed in CJH. The Advisory Committee suggested to use the "old" CJH as an elementary school. I wholeheartedly support this solution because it is using our tax dollars with responsibility and helping our

The library-media center at the high school was planned for 1,200 students, now 1,700 attend there. It is impossible to accommodate the needs of these students. If the library-media center is not renovated and brought up to standard, it could result in the loss of accreditation of the North Central Association.

Every voter should do as I have done and go through every school in the Clarkston School System. I had the opportunity to do this as a member of the Advisory Committee.'

Mary Jane Scharfenkamp has lived in DeerWood for the past three years. Although she now classifies herself as a mother and homemaker, she has been an elementary counselor, and both a pre-school and substitute teacher. Her children are in the fourth and sixth grades at Clarkston Elementary where she is a picture lady.

'My interests and concern are beyond personal use." she said. "If the new junior high school were to open in 1982, only one of my children would use it for one year.

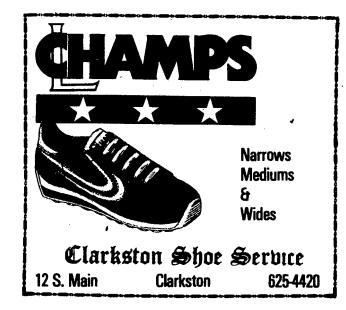

I went into the committee willing to live with poorer and lesser structures but I found that space has a lot to do with programs you can offer. The science room at CJH is one good example. If programs are inadequate, that bothers me more than an old building.

Many people don't understand that rising tax assessments don't bring additional money to the school systems. More money just reduces the state's contribution to the local schools.

The new bond proposal is not really a tremendous additional load because some debts are soon to be retired. Clarkston ranks low in the county in indebtedness. The Clarkston Schools also have a reputation for conservative spending.

We are not overbuilding with a new junior high

(Part III will explore the advantages of a new junior high school over the old and what it means to students in general and handicapped students in particular. We will also examine the changes proposed for the high school.)

New Look Coming to Clarkston Commercial Strip

by Carol Balzarini

The commercial area of Maybee Road, Dixie Highway, and M-15 will soon be taking on a new look. Just how extensive this new look will be depends, in part, on the Independence Township Board.

Plans are underway to convert the former Redford Trailer Sales on the corner of Dixie and Maybee into a branch of the Pontiac State Bank.

The other corner is a possible future site for a branch of Community National Bank.

Opposite both of these sites will be a new shopping center complete with grocery and drug stores plus other Orthodontist Charles Munk will soon break ground for a medical building to be located on M-15 between the shopping center and Dr. James O'Neill's medical building.

The questionable portion of the development involves a proposed widening coupled with a drain on M-15 between Dixie Highway and Paramus.

The Michigan State Highway has proposed widening that section of road to five lanes but will not do so until the township agrees to enter into a drain project with them and the Oakland County Road Commission with shared costs. The township has scheduled a meeting with all interested parties for Tuesday, May 8, at the township hall.

In the meantime, plans continue to progress for the other building projects.

Bill Flury, Pontiac State Bank's vice president of marketing and advertising, told The Reminder the conversion of Redford Trailer to a drive-in facility was in line with the bank's consumer-oriented philosophy. The new bank will supplement their existing facilities in the Village and in the Pine Knob Plaza on Sashabaw Road. He estimated that fifty percent of their business is now drive-in.

'Clarkston is an area we want to pay a great deal of attention to," Flury said. Good locations are determined by the growth of assets in existing banks and by the business climate.

Community National Bank's plans, according to the director of public relations Dennis Swartout, are "pending." He revealed they have applied to the Controller of Currency in Washington, D.C. for a new branch, but that no definite word had been received.

Swartout explained the possibility of rejection was there and did not want to discuss the new branch in any definite terms. He did say, however, it was planned for the vicinity of Dixie and Maybee and that regardless of where it was ultimately located, they were looking for a new location in Clarkston. He also indicated the present facility located in the A & P shopping center on the corner of Dixie and M-15 would no longer be needed if a new one was approved.

Opposite Maybee Road will be a shopping center Danash and Associates have been working on for 31 months. Most of the delay, according to Roger Reynolds, came from hangups with another food chain.

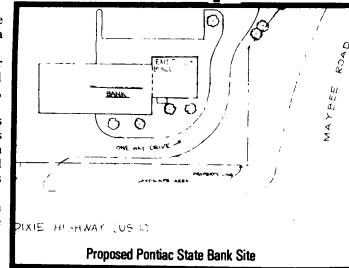

Hamady Food Centers, however, are now the owners of the entire project and have hired Danash as designers and architects. Reynolds and his associates are now in the process of finalizing design plans. The next step will be to gather construction costs. Last, but by no means least, will come tenants.

Reynolds emphasized the project was planned in phases with the food store as phase one, the drug store as phase two and miscellaneous stores as three and four. For economic reasons, he wants the tenants first, then the building.

Groundbreaking for the shopping center to be called the Village Mall, is tentatively set for June with a September opening. The eight-acre site will have 396 parking spaces with nearly 30,000 sq. ft. for the Hamady Food Center, 11,500 for the as-yet unnamed drug store, and 35,000 in miscellaneous rental space.

To the north, Dr. Charles Munk has planned a 22,000 sq. ft. medical building on two floors with an elevator. The large suites have been spoken for, he said, in addition to his own. No definite number of offices has been determined because the interior space is being partitioned to meet the needs of the occupants.

Those committed to occupy the building include specialists in oral surgery, endodonticts, general dentistry, and physicians in the fields of orthopedic surgery, dermatology and internal medicine. Dr. Munk emphasized all but one are new to the community; his goal was to bring in people to fill "voids in the health care area."

Dr. Munk considers the Clarkston area to be an ideal location, nearly equidistant between Birmingham and Flint. He added most of the new medical people are interested in making a commitment to the community. they plan to live here as well as work here.

Already in the midst of the new development is the A & P shopping center, owned by Five Star Investment of Birmingham. Spokesman for the company is Buddy Atchoo who told The Reminder, Wonder Drug was definitely not moving to the new Village Mall as had been rumored for some months.

Currently, he said, they are negotiating with Community National Bank as to future plans. No definite decisions had been made.

When asked about the plans for widening that strip of M-15, Atchoo said, "You can't stop progress. If there is too much traffic, they should widen it. More people mean more traffic." He was not, however, aware of the drain project slated to go along with the widening.

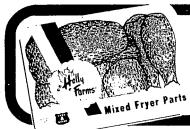

The proposed 22,000 square foot medical building.

Just One of Those Days

It was Friday morning when the call came. Some old neighbors that they hadn't seen in years were going to be "passing through" and wanted to stop and see them. They had their children with them--and they had been best friends of their kids--so the conversation jumped from one possibility to another, and it was finally decided that they would come, and stay for the week-end, and then continue on their journey home.

There was a lot of rushing around to do--beds to be changed and clothering shifted, in order to make room for the guests--and then shopping to do for groceries, and Mom splurged and got a standing rib roast in honor of the occassion.

The house was shining, and so was the family, and dinner was coming along beautifully when the friends arrived that evening. It was right after the adults had thrown their arms around each other and told each other how good it was to see each other-and-and-and----that the visiting guests' daughter said in a loud voice to the hostess' daughter-"I didn't want to come here. I wanted to go straight home and see my friends, but Mom and Dad insisted, and I will not share a bed with you. I'd rather sleep on the floor."

The parents cajoled her, and the host and hostess tried to be civil, but it didn't do any good. The thirteen year old daughter evidently had long since learned how to rule the roost. When nothing could be said or done to save the situation, the guests made hasty apologies, and departed for a motel--without eating dinner!

Luckily, there friends (real friends) close by, who hadn't fixed dinner yet. They were invited, and accepted

Hypnosis Center

A little over 2 years ago, Linda Atkins, Founder of The Hypnosis Center at the corner of Frembes Road and Dixie Highway, in Drayton Plains, realized a life-long interest in helping people cope with or change their attitudes and habits.

Ms. Atkins is a Waterford native and has studied under and worked with Jim Hoke, a reknowned hypnotist. In fact, Linda and Jim graduated from high Linda says, "I have always been interested in dealing with people and the experiences with Jim Hoke wereonly to satisfy my own interest. At that time I hadn't seriously considered working in the field of hypnosis." As time passed and more of her friends and their friends consulted with her about their behavioral attitudes and feelings, Ms. Atkin's appetite was whetted to learn more about the mind's operation.

She studied psychology at Oakland Community College and graduated from the Ethical Hypnosis Traning Center in New Jersey, which altimately led to her professional career.

Ms. Atkins is a vivacious, well-adjusted and happy woman with an air about her of control, compossure and relaxation, so contagious that one puts aside his own problems to capture that serenity.

Most of Ms. Atkins clients are seeking help for weight control or smoking. As a matter of fact, Linda is the only hypnotist she knows who quit smoking through hypnotic therapy. She also consults with the medical profession in helping with emotionally caused physical ailments.

Your whole life is self-prophecy. Every thought you think is self-hypnosis. Either you will or you won't do what your mind thinks. Only you can determine the choice. It's simply a matter of allowing it to happen,"

"People's minds are so impressionable. After the movie, "Jaws" was released, many people consulted with me to help them release their fear of water. Similar situations occurred after viewing the movie, "Airport".

It is interesting to note that 80 percent of us are extremely good hypnotic subjects, but if we don't wish to be hypnotized, we won't be. Our feelings make us behave the way we do. No one can make us change our attitudes and habits unless we want to.

Ms. Atkins is truly a professional in her field and can help you feel better about yourself and others and probably shine new light on your total well-being. Your first step is to call The Hypnosis Center for an appointment with Ms. Atkins. Your second step is actually meeting that engagement. Then you're halfway down that "yellow brick road". It's up to you.

WSU SUMMER THEATRE TO FEATURE AMERICAN Playwrights

Comedy, drama, a murder thriller and an audience participation play for children have been announced for the ninth annual Summer Theatre Festival at Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre, July 3 - August 11. The season, according to University Theatre director Leonard Leone, will feature five eminent modern American and English playwrights: Arthur Miller, Emlyn Williams, Lorraine Hansberry, Alan Ayckbourn and David Mamet.

First play to open, on July 3, will be "Aladdin," a version of the tale from "A Thousand and One Nights," incorporating active participation by children in the audience. Performances are Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10:00 and 11:30 a.m. through July 26, in the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry. However, no performances are scheduled for Wednesday, July 4.

First production to open upstairs on the Hilberry stage is Ayckbourn's comedy "Absurd Person Singular," one of the most successful British comedy imports to come to Broadway in recent years. It will play July 5 through 7 and 11 through 14 at 8:30.

Two openings on July 18 bring "The Price," which marked Arthur Miller's triumphant return to Broadway in 1968, to the Hilberry stage and "A Raisin in the Sun," Lorraine Hansberry's winner of the 1959 Drama Critics Circle Award for best play of the year, to the Studio. Both plays run for two weeks, Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8:30.

They are followed on August 1 by British actor Emlyn Williams' first success as a playwright, the chilling melodrama "Night Must Fall," in the Hilberry, and "American Buffalo" by David Memet, one of America's most successful new playwrights, in the Studio. They continue for two weeks. Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30, closing the Festival on August 11.

Brochures with information, ticket prices and order forms, will be available later in the spring. They may be requested by calling 577-2972 or by writing to the Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Hilberry Theatre, Cass and Hancock, Detroit 48202.

Clarkston Earns First Vistory with 5-4 Win Over Milford

VARSITY BASEBALL

by Bill Grobbel

Well, they finally played a game. For once, it didn't rain. Seven of the Wolves' first ten games have been

Last Wednesday, though, was a perfect day for baseball. A clear, warm and sunny day which Clarkston capitalized on defeating Milford 5-4 in their first league game of the year.

Pitching the full 7 innings and picking up the victory was Scott Himes, allowing only 5 hits. He was helped out by the hot bats of RF Jim Farnsworth, SS Greg Robertson, and CF Tony Hool.

The Wolves struck first and hard scoring 3 in their half of the first inning. Jim Farnsworth hit a solo home run, a tremendous blast over the right field fence. They added one run in the fourth, and another in the fifth.

Milford was held scoreless by Scott Himes' excellent pitching for the first 3 innings, but came up with a run in the fourth and gave Scott a heap of trouble in the fifth, when they scored 3 runs. They threatened again in the sixth, but were stopped cold by an excellent defensive play by SS Greg Robertson, catching a bullet line drive and doubling up the man at first with a rifle shot thrown to Ed Eaglen the first baseman.

The hits for Clarkston were distributed to Jim Farnsworth with 2, one HR, one RBI; Greg Robertson 2, 3 RBI's; Tony Hool 1, 1 RBI; and Scott Himes 1 hit.

This year's Varsity Baseball team is coached by Mr. "Pops" Warner and Mr. Dave Bartlow, who is new at CHS, taking the place of Mr. Valasco who left at the semester change.

Coach Warner was pleased with his team's performance.

"We played a good game. We played with much defensive poise. We had several outstanding plays.'

The Wolves record is now 1-2.

Big 5th Inning Gives CHS Girls Easy Victory

VARSITY SOFTBALL

Last Wednesday, while the Clarkston baseball team was beating Milford's baseball team, Mrs. Kathy Mahrle's girl's Varsity Softball team was beating Milford's team. The girls humiliated Milford 9-5 in their game played at Clintonwood Park in their first league game of the year.

Led by the strong pitching of Michelle Dearborn and big hits from Pam Blower, Mindy Haas, and Kelly Mason the girls posted their second victory in three games and are rated 3rd in the county.

Both teams were scoreless until the top of the fourth when Milford scored a run, Pam Blower tied it up with a solo HR in Clarkston's half of the inning, though. In the bottom of the fifth Clarkston opened the floodgates and scored 5 runs which proved to be the winning scores. They added 3 more in the sixth and gave their regulars a rest in the top of the seventh. Michelle Dearborn gave up 1 run and 4 hits before being given a rest in the seventh. The new players gave up 4 runs, but Clarkston still had more than enough runs to win.

Their coach, Mrs. Kathy Mahrle spoke highly of her

'They've been playing good ball; excellent defense. Even when we lost to Waterford Township, we only gave

The girl's next game will be at Waterford Kettering, weather permitting.

When money is scarce or tight, as conditions this year appear to be, a lender may charge discount 'points' to make a loan. A point is a one-time charge equal to one percent of the loan. Charging points is a method that the lender uses to make up the difference between the legal ceiling on interest rates, where such ceiling exists, and the yield that can be obtained elsewhere on the market. Thus, the cost of financing a home may be higher because of discount points. The length of time one takes to repay a loan may also have a bearing on the amount of interest to be paid.

by Marilyn Bridgeman

"A Thousand Clowns" has only 6 cast members, but director, Verne Vackaro did an excellent job casting the Mark Patterson, a teacher at Waterford Mott High School, plays the lead Murray Burns. Patterson is very effective as the sloppy, unemployed television writer who is guardian of his 12 "going on 35" year old nephew (Jim Curry, an eighth grader at Pierce Junior High).

This relationship is the basis of "A Thousand Clowns". The Children's Welfare Department gets wind of the kind of lifestyle Murray and his nephew lead. Not that it is entirely sordid, but the efficiency apartment in which they live is pretty messy and occasionally Murray's nephew spends the evening at the neighbors so his uncle can have overnight guests.

One of the funniest parts of the play is when the Child Welfare workers (played by John Fowler and Diane Patterson) arrive to investigate. Fowler, a newcomer to Lakeland, has a natural comic talent and is superb as the pretenious Albert Amundson.

Diane Patterson, a veteran of Lakeland, is perky and delightful as the child psychologist who is finally won over by Murray Burns.

The 21/2 hour production flows very smoothly with the help of Jack McCaffrey (Arnold Burns) and Dave Hunt as Leo Herman otherwise known as Chuckles the Chipmunk. This last bit of information I will not elaborate on because the acting talents of Dave (Chuckles) Hunt have to be seen to be believed.

Tickets can be purchased at the door of Mason Junior High on the 11th and 12th. Get there about 20 minutes early to be insured of a good seat. Mason Junior High is on Walton in Waterford.

Mark Patterson Plays Lead.

Schmaltz Wants Noise Level Cut

by Carol Balzarini

Dick Schmaltz, who lives on Stowe Trail near the Pine Knob Resort complex, appeared before the Independence Township Board recently looking for a solution to an "old dilemma," as he phrased it. Schmaltz has been a spokesman for some of his neighbors in the past who have been unhappy with the noice from the Music

He quoted a section of the zoning ordinance and its decibel limit and asked for stricter enforcement of that ordinance. His question was "Who enforces it?"

Schmaltz went on to count some "40-50 evenings when normal conversation in the yard was impossible.' He explained last year his complaints went from George White, Pine Knob's community relations person, to Charlie Kimbel, head of the township's Police Services, to Tim Palulian, head of the building department and former ordinance enforcement officer, and finally to the Oakland County Prosecutor's office. There he was told he'd have to go to court himself if he wanted something Schmaltz's idea of "something done" was either a new ordinance or new sound equipment at Pine Knob.

Schmaltz also quoted studies by the Environmental Protection Agency as saying people could not be subjected to more than 85 decibels for longer than three hours without actual measurable effects on the body such as blood pressure. There was, he said, such a thing as noise pollution.

Other complaints included lack of control over the entertainers' sound equipment and non-observation of the curfew.

George White, also present at the meeting, assured Schmaltz Pine Knob did have control over outside sound equipment and that speakers had been shut down before if the noise was excessive. He cited continual improvement of sound control each year. Curfews, he said, had been violated on one or two occasions only.

White went on to explain limiters have been installed on Pine Knob speakers which will automatically shut them off when the decibel limit is reached.

Palulian agreed they have been working on the problem of noise, but that often weather conditions play a part in carrying sound; some problems were impossible to avoid. He also remarked that not all groups 'and sounds that were pleasing to all ears.

A p 'ic hearing has been tentatively scheduled for Tuesday, May 22, at the Township Hall so that all comments both pro and con may be heard.

The arbre, the arbre It stands so tall, And drops its leaves In the fall.

Way back then, when men first came, They cut them down, felled and lamed.

They sent them down the rivers you see And the arbre became history.

Could the nation blindly see What thing it holds, its victory.

The future, the future Oh what could it tell, But the plain brown earth That some call hell.
