editor's note

We're not about to quit talking about the gas shortage. This week The Reminder interviewed area gas station managers and found them to be, on the whole, quite angry with the government and oil companies. One owner, in particular, spewed off a string of vulgar obscenities directed at President Carter.

Interestingly enough, an informed source says across the border in Canada, gas is plentiful and a whole lot cheaper. One station near London, Ontario, was selling gas at 68¢ a gallon. The gas was not self-service...and the price was computed after allowing for the larger Canadian gallon.

A special congratulations to Bill Grobbel, a sports writer for The Reminder. Bill graduates from Clarkston High this week. His articles and photographs have been a welcome addition to The Reminder, and many of our readers have expressed satisfaction in our coverage of school sports since he began to write. We plan to continue that coverage, although it will be much more difficult without Bill Grobbel next fall.

Can you imagine spending nearly two-hundred grand for a health fair?

That's what HEW Secretary Joseph Califano hopes to do. The three day fair would include displays and exhibits in tents spread across the Washington Mall in Washington D.C. The exhibits would provide health related information to visitors of the Capitol. Sounds like another bureaucratic bungle to me!

Sides are lining up for a big battle at the Independence Planning Commission level. No I'm not talking about the proposed Pine Knob hotel, but, rather, a gravel operation in the vicinity of the Independence-Oaks County Park. One of the principals of the Edward Levy Co., owners of the proposed gravel operation, recently pled guilty to mail fraud in connection with an alleged scheme to swindle a New York company out of more than $3 million in a Florida land sale.

Kellogg RECEIVES PROMOTION

Marine Private First Class Stephen M. Kellogg, son of Richard W. Kellogg of 5121 Lake Drive, Clarkston, has been meritoriously promoted to his present rank upon graduation from recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He received the early promotion for his superior performance during all phases of the ten and one-half-week training cycle, which emphasized physical conditioning, self-discipline and team work.

He joined the Marine Corps in December 1978.

SMITH IN DESERT EXERCISE

Marine Corporal William J. Smith, son of Wilfred D. Smith of 6760 Transparent, Clarkston, is currently participating in "Combined Arms Exercise 5-79" in the California desert.

He is serving as a member of the 1st Marine Division, based at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, California.

Conducted at Marine Corps Air/Ground Combat Training Center, Twenty-nine Palms, California, "Combined Arms Exercise 5-79" is designed to test the capability of a battalion landing team to deploy by strategic airlift and to provide realistic live-fire training. The exercise stresses coordinated air and artillery fire support for infantry units.

A 1977 graduate of Pontiac Northern High School, Smith joined the Marine Corps in August 1977.

WOLL STUDENTS RECEIVE AWARDS

At the recent Junior and Senior Awards Banquet, students received honor pins and cords for academic and citizenship accomplishments. Students and their awards are Janine Hanson; Physics, Math and French Honors; Rosemarie LaForge, English Honors; Christine Nuss, Drafting Honors; Nancy Serden, English and Journalism Honors; Linda St Dennis, Accounting and Drafting Honors; Steve VandenBossche, Drafting and Religion Honors; Diane Zurbruggen, Government, Physics, Spanish, Math Honors; Eileen Zurbruggen, French, Physics, Math Honors. Special Honors were given to Christine Nuss, winner of the citizenship award; Janine Hanson and Diane Zurbruggen and Eileen Zurbruggen received the Honors of being Valedictorian and Diane Similuk received the Honor of Salutatorian.

The annual National Honor Society Banquet and Induction of new members was May 16. To be inducted into the NHS, one must be outstanding in academics, character and contribution to the community. Those new members are Lynn Boyd, Rhonda Councilor, Julie Kulick, Rick Similuk, Matt Townsend, Caron Erznosnik, Andy Giglio, Diane Serden, Kathy Ward, Rosemarie LaForge, Diane Similuk, and Lisa Schuster.

THOUGHTS 'N THINGS

It really is unfortunate that we humans so often hide our problems and anxieties from one another, when we could be providing comfort for one another instead—but that's the way it is. Not that I think it is entirely "safe" to leave one's self wide open all the time. There are small-minded people who relish someone else's misfortunes, just as there are sharks in the oceans—it's part of life, this knowledge of the good and the bad. On the other hand, I'm inclined to believe that there are more possible friends than enemies in the world, and looking for them is one of the fun parts of living.

Of course it's easy for me to say—because I never run out of things to say, and people either talk to me or go deaf from listening, so they usually talk. That isn't entirely true, of course, because I go to the other extreme and lapse into long silences when I'm "pondering" something. It's just when I'm with people that I talk a lot.

My father said that I learned to talk late, and then never stopped. He used to tease me about it when I was a child. Then there were other people who didn't tease me about it—they gave me bad marks for it (teachers didn't allow talking when I was a child!) I got the idea though—talking was a "bad" thing to do! Come to think about it, "telling things" was also a "bad" thing to do. I can remember telling my very best friend something that I wasn't supposed to tell, and then feeling guilty about it to the point of depression—and suffering from the fear that she would let it slip out somehow! The only thing that made me feel better about it was that she went through the same thing after sharing some deep dark secret with me. (Those secrets weren't any more important than what one's mother was giving one's father for his birthday, but "telling" was practically a sin.)

Children do not hear what their parents "mean." They hear what their parents say. If a parent teaches a child that breaking a window is BAD under any circumstances, the child may one day waste valuable time in leaving a burning building because he or she will stop to explore alternate means for escaping, if window breaking is the only obvious one.

Worrying about "what the neighbors would say" forced people to hide all sorts of problems that could have been solved, when I was a child. Somehow everyone thought that illness and misunderstandings, conflicts and anxieties were all "faults" of the people who experienced them, and faults of their relatives too. Isn't it great that we are all better educated now, and know that that is ridiculous?

We do know that, don't we?

A friend of mine doesn't. She is having problems with her teenage son, and had to go beyond the family doctor for help. She can't cope with the fact that the boy is having adjustment problems, so has asked that he be placed somewhere else. She told me about it in whispers, as if she was sharing a guilty secret. She was startled when I told her of my respect and admiration for her, for having the courage to do what needed to be done in spite of what "people might say."

Then there are the couples we have known who "didn't know that" either. They hardly admitted to themselves that they were having a problem, much less mentioning it to a spiritual leader, a doctor, a counselor, or anyone else who might have helped them to "take a stitch in time." They were "ashamed" to let anyone know about the quarrels—until after the divorce, when nothing was held back. They somehow felt that "it didn't matter" if they told everything then.

This matter of "talking" and "telling" is confusing to people today, as it was when I was a child, and before that. It is something that parents do need to explain to children, so they don't carry the confusion too far however. There need to be rules, such as, "You may tell things that belong to you." Those are the things the child thinks and feels and knows. "You may not tell things that belong to me, if I ask you not to, or you find them out accidentally." That is also easy for a child to understand, if the parent lives by the same rules! Now those statements are on a simple level. At the extreme opposite level of simple, believe it or not, is another important statement that must be made to children. I will explain my reasons for it.

Children do not hear what their parents "mean." They hear what their parents say. If a parent teaches a child that breaking a window is BAD under any circumstances, the child may one day waste valuable time in leaving a burning building because he or she will stop to explore alternate means for escaping, if window breaking is the only obvious one.

In the case of "talking" or "telling something" that is troubling a child; he or she should not be embarrassed or scared to ask someone for help with a problem because of a fear of parental annoyance or anger. It is not disloyal for a child to feel anxiety. It is a normal human experience, and has nothing to do with parental failure.

In the case of "talking" or "telling something" that is troubling a parent; he or she should not be embarrassed or scared to ask someone for help with a problem because of a fear of children's or spouse's annoyance or anger. It is not disloyal for an adult to feel anxiety. It is a normal human experience, and has nothing to do with children's or spouse's failure.

What it is is a way of thinking out loud; sharing; experiencing; and feeling less alone. It's to enjoy!

Representative Broomfield Reports From Washington

Americans are fast losing ground on a treadmill driven by inflation and taxes, and this is not only hurting each family's lifestyle but also our initiative and productivity as a Nation.

It was recently reported that Americans are now working until May 6, just to pay taxes. This is up from a few years ago when we were working until mid-April.

With this enormous amount taken from our purchasing power, it is no wonder that the American dream of having a comfortable lifestyle is dissolving into thin air. The high rate of inflation—about 13 percent for the first quarter of this year—has shifted our focus to just "trying to get by."

Pay raises and second jobs do not really help much because the added incomes throw people into higher tax brackets, automatically forcing them to pay a higher percentage of their incomes to Uncle Sam.

This heavy tax burden reduces consumer purchasing power, and retards savings and investment in new homes, new factories, and new equipment. All of this slows down productivity and economic growth, and contributes to higher levels of unemployment.

There is also a more insidious impact, one that affects the very spirit and drive of the Nation.

We generally have been a people with a faith in the Horatio Alger success story. It has been a belief that with energy, initiative, creative ideas, and hard work, we could get what we wanted out of life. In general, this has been true.

Yet, inflation and taxes have produced a system that creates a disincentive to working harder and producing more. When a tax system denies to a producer or worker a reasonable share of his earning, then he will no longer have the incentive to produce more, and the country as a whole will be deprived of the product of his increased labors of creative ability.

We have come to the point where it is imperative that we get control of the inflation rate and reduce taxes. Yet, this reality has not been accepted by the majority controlling the House of Representatives.

When the House recently was debating the first of the Congressional budget resolutions setting revenue and expenditure targets, two separate substitutes, which I supported, were offered.

These substitutes would have cut the deficit below either the Administration's or the Budget Committee's recommendations, thereby slowing the inflation rate. They also would have allowed for a reduction in taxes. Unfortunately, both of these substitutes were defeated.

Until the Congress finally comes to grips with the affects of high taxes and high inflation rates, and develops the will to make the hard but necessary choices, we will continue to fall backwards on the economic treadmill.

WHY VISITATIONS?

A Funeral Chapel visitation is not a religious requirement that we know of, but a traditional one. And our traditions are woven into the fabric of society. Aside from tradition, there are meaningfully significant reasons why it is advisable to hold and attend visitations at the funeral chapel or home.

VALUE TO THE BEREAVED

The family of the deceased must have an outlet for their grief; an outpouring, according to Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross and others, is necessary. Sorrow shared is sorrow diminished, and the gathering of friends and relatives at visitations provides an opportunity for this outpouring of grief.

Visitations will also add to the many statements of the very fact of death and will aid in the family's realization of this fact. Furthermore, those attending the visitation are given the chance to console the bereaved personally and offer their assistance to the family.

Other direct and indirect benefits derived from the visitation are numerous. For more information, you may wish to stop by or write to me. I will be pleased to counsel with you.

NWOVEC-Mills Combine in Fashion Show

A cooperative effort involving several programs at the Northwest Oakland Vocation Education Center and four stores at the Clarkston Mills turned Monday, May 21, into a very festive occasion.

The distributive education program provided the student models and a lot of the planning, the printing program took care of tickets and posters, the food services program served a marvelous lunch, and the horticulture program made the table decorations.

From the Clarkston Mills came gorgeous clothes from A Ladies Delight, flattering makeup from Patti's New Image, elegant shoes from the ShoeTree, and glamorous hairstyles from The Generator Salon.

The luncheon and fashion show were considered a great success by all involved and appreciated by all who sat and enjoyed it.

Claudia Lambert wears a print T-shirt, colorful slacks, and the latest in shoes from the ShoeTree.

Tonya Dismuke models one of the casual outfits provided by A Ladies Delight.

School Scrapbook PART V

The Bond Issue: How Much Will It Cost

by Carol Balzarini

On Monday, June 11, registered voters in the Clarkston School District will be asked:

Shall Clarkston Community School District, Oakland County, Michigan, borrow the sum of not to exceed Nine Million One Hundred Thousand Dollars [$9,100,000] and issue its bonds therefore, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing, and equipping a new junior high school building and an addition to the senior high school building, remodeling, improving, refurnishing and re-equipping the senior high school building and developing and improving the site for the new junior high school building, all in the school district?

Previous articles in this series have dealt with an historical view of the present Clarkston Junior High School for its construction as a K-12 facility in 1929 to its current use fifty years later; a comparison of the present two junior high schools, their facilities and their programs; what effect a new junior high school would have on the elementaries; and, lastly, one point of view from the Citizens Advisory Committee which originally proposed building a new junior high school comparable to Sashabaw Junior High.

One can speak of facilities, new buildings versus old, enrichment programs such as art and music, space for special needs programs, teachers and students, but, to coin a current phrase, the "bottom line" for many people is still money. How much will all of this cost the taxpayers? What is an individual share of that $9.1 million?

Take a hypothetical case of a married homeowner with school-age children. Last year his gross income was about $30,000; his home has just been increased in value about 12 percent, average for Independence Township, to $33,000. We applied certain formulae to find out just how much he would have to pay for a new junior high school and a library addition to the high school.

His old property tax based on this year's increased valuation was about $1,525, with the bond issue it would be $1,619, a difference of $94.

Figuring the non-refundable property tax (3.5 percent of household income), subtracting it from the total property tax and multiplying it by 60 percent for a total income tax credit, gave us $285 at the current tax rate and $341 with the bond issue.

The net property tax rate (total property tax minus the rebate) gave us a figure of $1,240 (current) and $1,277 (new).

The difference between the new tax and the current tax was $94. The difference between the new and the current rebate was $56. Support of the bond issue for this taxpayer came to about $38, or just over three dollars a month, four dollars a month if you count the school year alone.

The cost of the proposed bond issue to a senior citizen varies much more than that for a non-senior citizen. There seems to be no "typical" senior citizen in Independence Township to use for a hypothetical case.

However, if his gross household income is $7,000 or less, no matter what the value of his home, he would pay nothing. If his gross income is $19,000 and his home had an equalized valuation of $14,000, he would pay $18. Or if his gross income is $49,000 and his home is valued at $30,000, he would pay $85.

Several points need to be covered in any discussion of tax levies these days. Number one, the Headlee proposal approved by the voters last November has no effect on bonded indebtedness. It only said it must be approved by the voters.

In bonded indebtedness, Clarkston ranks 24th out of 28 school districts in the county with a 62 percent reduction in that figure since 1974 when school districts were no longer allowed to accrue balances and "bank" the unused portion of the amount levied for bonded indebtedness.

In operational levies, Clarkston ranks 22nd of the 28 districts with 29.0 mills. The county average at this time is 32.2. Before last August how much money available for operation depended on the voters and the county tax allocation board. Now that the board no longer exists, the school gets a consistent 9.54 mills each year from the county.

Another fact many people find it difficult to understand is that an increase in their property assessments does not mean more money for the school district. As the amount of local money increases, the amount contributed by the state decreases keeping Clarkston's operational millage rate at 29.0 mills.

The finance subcommittee of the Citizens Advisory Committee delved into the existing indebtedness of the school system and found it to be in good shape.

The year ending in June of 1980 shows the highest estimated mills to be levied for the next 16 years when all bonded indebtedness will be paid off, that figure is 2.84. After that, it drops off sharply as building projects are completed. The proposed bond issue for $9.1 million in terms of mills is 3.16, $3.16 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

Now there's a plastic lens that helps reduce scratches.
The Hoya Hi-Quartz Plastic Lens.

The reason is Hoya's Hi-Quartz coating. This hard coating is applied to the front surface of plastic prescription lenses to help reduce scratches—the scratches that occur in normal, everyday use. They're great for very active people. And because Hi-Quartz has all the advantages of lightweight plastic lenses. They're also available in bifocal and tinted lenses too.

Kathy Phillips

New Springfield Librarian Likes Her Work

by Leona Hutchings

Working with books and the opportunity to meet new and interesting people who want information makes Springfield Township librarian Mrs. Bob (Kathy) Phillips enjoy her busy days.

Mrs. Phillips began working for the township in April after attending Oakland Community College two years and working as librarian in an elementary school in Waterford. She is still work on her BA in library technology at Oakland University.

Mrs. Phillips was born on Cape Cod and tries to go east every year to visit relatives. Her knowledge of the coast life and fishing and lobster fishing comes first hand through her grandfather. The life there comes alive with color and details as she describes life along the coast near Provincetown where the replica of the Mayflower was brought in from England when she was just an infant.

On many trips east she enjoys clam hunting when the tide goes out and other types of fishing along the coast.

Among her many interests is caring for the family chocolate colored labrador "Cocoa". New England recipes as well as southern recipes from Bob's family are often on the menu. Travel and camping are a part of their busy life when her husband can get away from General Motors Coach Truck Center, his employer.

Evenings will find Kathy reading, sewing or planning story hours for the groups of 3-5 year olds. With groups of 17-19 children, small projects related to the story are necessary to keep them interested for a short length of time. Since the story hours must be kept to an hour each art project must be simple but educational as well as fun for the children.

As librarian she says, "This is most interesting work and I want to let people know that resource material is available."

Librarian Kathy Phillips.

Two Win Michigan Horse Jamboree Awards

The Annual Michigan Horse Jamboree was held at Michigan State University April 28 - 29. With just over 500 youth from sixty or more counties it was a busy two days with members in judging teams, quiz bowls, speaking contests and demonstrations.

The first of its kind Awards breakfast was held in the Big Ten Room at Kellogg Center. Winning awards from Davisburg were two members of the Hoofbeats 4-H Club with general leader Mrs. Broergeman.

Co-leader of the local club Kathy Carr accompanied the members to the two day event.

In Jr. demonstration, Kim Decker of Neal Road placed 4th, while Vicki Sandage of Willow Way placed 6th in Sr. demonstration.

Just One of Those Days

We know a couple who are past middle-age, and somehow she never heard of women's lib, and he would have covered her ears if she'd tried to. In a long married life, he has given the orders and she has taken them, and people have wondered about her patience.

There was a wedding last weekend. They were invited, and she laid out her lord and master's clothes for him while he fiddled around in his garden. Then she drew him a hot tub, and called him in to get ready.

He complained that the water was too hot, and asked if she was trying to scald him to death. He then complained that she had forgotten that he didn't like that tie with those socks. His mutterings, in fact, kept on while she took her own bath and got herself dressed. Finally they were ready, and she had just put on her white gloves and picked up her purse when he mentioned that he'd left the hose in the yard and wanted to put it in the garage. She started for the car.

He called her back. He was across the yard from the house, and had discovered that the water was still on a little bit. He told her to shut it all the way off. Her mind was on her white gloves and the fact that she was probably going to get them dirty as she took hold of the faucet handle and gave it a good turn--in the wrong direction.

It was such a good turn that the force made the hose jump and jerk, and her astonished spouse got the full force of the spurting water. It was cold, and he shouted with rage! She laughed so hard she couldn't turn the handle the other way, and hurried to the car where she sat until her red-faced husband appeared in an outfit that he had hastily assembled for himself. (She was thankful that it was a wedding he had to attend!) They were only slightly late and arrived before the bride made her entrance.

On the way home, he said, "I've had just one of those days!"

She said, "Yes, wasn't it just the loveliest ever?"

If you won't read these 7 signals of cancer... You probably have the 8th.

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits
2. A sore that does not heal
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge
4. Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere
5. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing
6. Obvious change in wart or mole
7. Nagging cough or hoarseness

8. A fear of cancer that can prevent you from detecting cancer at an early stage. A stage when it is highly curable. Everyone's afraid of cancer, but don't let it scare you to death

Air Show to Benefit Muscular Dystrophy

The Second Annual Pontiac Air Show to be held at Oakland Pontiac Airport on Saturday and Sunday, June 2nd and 3rd, will feature a "Celebrity Fly High" preview to benefit Muscular Dystrophy Association. This mini Fly High will involve local celebrities who are pilots and who will be flying the general public in private planes. Monies collected for these rides will go to help in the fight against Muscular Dystrophy.

The gates will open at 11:00 a.m. both days. Rides will be offered for a couple of hours before and after the Air Show with pilots like Joe Glover of WJBK-TV, Honorary Chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of MDA, Bob Hynes from WJR and Tom Dean from WXYZ. Many other local celebrities will be there to greet the public and sell tickets for the rides.

Because the pilots are donating their time and the planes are being provided free of charge, all of the money donated will go directly to Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The Air Show will run from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. on both days and will feature world champion aerobatic and precision flying, the U.S. Army parachuting team, a wing rider and hang glider demonstrations. There will also be ground shows and exhibits including military displays, model airplane demonstrations, an art show, hot air balloons and for music fans, a special Blue Grass Festival. M.C. for the Air Show will be John Kelly of WXYZ-TV.

(Share a ride with a friend.)

Why drive alone, when you can take a friend or two along? All across the country, folks are finding that carpooling pays. It saves effort. It saves fuel.

And it sure saves money. So carpool America! Share a ride with a friend.

If It's Too Good To Be True, It Probably Is!

by Sharon Springborn

If you're reading the classifieds in the newspaper and come upon an offer to work at home for big bucks that's too good to refuse, take the time to consider refusing it.

You may find the words "work at your own pace", "no limit to your earnings" or "simple and pleasant, no experience required!" too hard to overlook, so the hunt for pen, paper, stamps and an envelope is on.

After an appropriate, but short, letter is written to the Village Press, Quinn Miller Enterprises or whatever company is listed in the ad, the envelope is duly stamped, addressed and ultimately mailed.

Then come the days-or weeks-of running out to the mailbox every day, expecting, or hoping, for a reply. Finally, one day all the mad dashes to the mailbox are rewarded by the arrival of one nondescript envelope.

The envelope's brought into the house and opened at a leisurely, rather than breakneck, pace. The contents are perused, somewhat to the consumer's dismay. Instead of just listing the manner in which one can make the pile of money described in the original ad, another "small sum" is requested in order to cover the costs of sending you a kit that will contain all of the necessary items to put you squarely on the road to monetary success.

Trying to decide whether or not to lay out the extra money required is probably more difficult than sending off the original letter. If the "enterprise" follows the usual course, the original letter doesn't require the sending of any cash, but any subsequent answers do.

The Better Business Bureau, in its booklet Facts You Should Know About Earn Money at Home Schemes states that "the one common denominator in all these...promotions is the requirement that the prospect buy something from the advertiser."

The B.B.B. also states that none of the companies that have come to their attention actually offers any real employment or a guaranteed market for the finished product, with a set payment established.

The B.B.B. has for many years been checking into and initiating inquiries into work-at-home schemes. C. Lane Breidenstein, the B.B.B. President, feels that "broadly work at home schemes are just that--schemes," but the Bureau's hands are tied in many of these cases because complaints are required before an investigation can be launched and many people don't complain.

Most of those taken in by these schemes are those who can least afford to lose their money--housewives, shut-ins, elderly persons, widows and others. One envelope addressing scheme took in $40,000 in 1 year and another scheme to promote the idea of decorating and selling Christmas cards took in $100,000 before the promoter closed down.

Those taken in many times take the attitude of "Well, I spent my money and I guess I just learned my lesson." What should be done, to help the Bureau out, is to register a complaint against the company.

One woman from this area did respond to one of these company's ad. Betty Bouchard, of Bouchard's Party Shoppe in Clarkston, mailed a letter in answer to an ad placed in the paper by Dynamic R.E.M., in Newark, N.J. She said that she never had replied to such an ad before, but "it just happened that I had an eye operation and figured that since I'd be home a while, it would be good money."

At the time of the reply, Ms. Bouchard didn't know that she'd receive no response at all from Dynamic R.E.M. She sent 2 replies originally--1 from her apartment and 1 from the Party Shoppe. Neither reply received a letter, post card, or anything in return.

Originally, Ms. Bouchard told no one of her response to such a dubious ad, and preferred to just accept whatever losses were incurred and forget the whole incident.

Even though she didn't register a complaint with the B.B.B., Ms. Bouchard began telling others of her experience, in hopes that they wouldn't repeat it. In fact, others wrote in response to that particular ad, but got no replies, either.

To protect oneself against being defrauded by these companies, stop to ask yourself a few questions, such as 'Do I receive a salary', 'Is there a demand for the items I manufacture, or must I find my own market for them?' and 'Can I get a list of others who have bought the company's product, so that I may contact them concerning the offer?'

The bottom line of this whole article is to report the incident to the postal authorities and the B.B.B. if any fraud is encountered after you invest. You may be helping someone else to not be defrauded.

Children's Art Adorns Store

The "picture ladies" at Bailey Lake introduced students to realistic art through Andrew Wyeth, abstract art through Picasso and impressionism through Rousseau. The kids were so enthusiastic they decided to create their own works of art along those same lines. The results of their efforts have been displayed in Country Cords, the new children's shop in the Emporium. The art work was done in Mrs. Thomas' third grade and Mrs.

New Book Store Opens

The Village Book Store is a new full service book store located in Clarkston at 26 South Main Street (next to Morgan's Gas Station). They will carry "in stock" titles on over 45 subjects, along with best sellers, classics and quality paperbacks.

The manager of the store, Nancy Bennett, is very friendly and enthused about her new venture. "Out-of-Print" title search is another service offered.

Nancy brings lots of experience with her from her previous job at the Bookworm which was owned by John Woch, who also owns the Village Book Store.

Nancy is the wife of Bob Bennett who owns Hallman's Apothecary.

Lady Wolves Take Second in Softball Tournament

Clarkston's varsity softball team won six consecutive games and brought home second place honors in the Annual Pontiac Parks and Recreation Tournament.

Clarkston started the double elimination tournament with an 8-4 loss to Rochester Adams. This put Clarkston in the loser's bracket and created a softball marathon situation for Clarkston. After losing to Adams, the Wolves defeated Rochester 7-4 and Royal Oak St. Mary's 27-1 to end the first day's competition.

Next day, the Wolves played five consecutive games. Clarkston defeated Farmington Harrison 9-4, Pontiac Catholic 9-3, Rochester Adams 8-5 and Troy Athens 13-7. The Wolves had to settle for second place as they ran out of gas and lost to Troy Athens 10-9 in the final inning of the fifth game.

Clarkston played more games and won more games than any of the eleven teams in the tournament.

Pine Knob owner Joe Locricchio

INDEPENDENCE PLANNERS VOTE 6-2 IN FAVOR OF PINE KNOB HOTEL

by Mark Wilson

The controversial proposed Pine Knob hotel moved one step closer to reality last week as the Independence Township Planning Commission approved, by a six to two margin, a zoning amendment raising the township building height limitations.

The amendment now allows convention-resort facilities on a minimum of ten acres to reach a height of 200 ft., according to Tod Kilroy, township planner. Previous zoning only allowed structures of two stories or 35 ft.

Some 150 people also saw the commission approve a rezoning for a retail building but deny a rezoning request for a gravel mine.

The reason for the amendment is a 21-story hotel to be constructed adjacent to the ski slope. The plans were revealed at an earlier meeting by Pine Knob's principal owners, Joe Locricchio and Gary Francell.

Yet at the commission's May 17th public hearing, many local residents voiced their apprehension that this (amendment) could lead to further high rise development in the area.

Commissioner Rudy Lozano stated that he had received a "deluge of calls" this past week wanting to discourage more structures. "Most people were not opposed to Pine Knob but they are opposed to (other) skyscrapers coming into the area," he said.

Lozano stated that he would like to see the amendment worded to stop further high rise development. "I'd want to make it impossible for another 150 ft. structure in the area," said Lozano.

Chairman James Smith then asked Francell if the hotel could meet the previous height requirements by expanding to the west. But Francell said it wasn't possible because the land is already in use.

"It is not economically possible, we need the new height requirement, since the rest of space is already taken," said Francell. Francell noted that the development was limited by the golf course and a proposed ski slope. The new slope is necessary to attract the northern skiers, according to Francell.

However Smith wasn't convinced, "I like Pine Knob and the hotel idea, but I don't like the height. I think this reflects the thinking of the community," he said. This statement was followed by a burst of applause from the audience.

But James Brennan expressed support for the proposed development. "Pine Knob is something to be proud of," he said. "They're going to put some $20 million into this...we want something successful and not something that could fail and blight the community." He then motioned for the proposal and Lozano seconded.

Joining Brennan and Lozano in support were Commissioners Jean Saile, Mel Vaara, Jean Benzing, and James Gardiner. Smith and John Gray were opposed. Martha Wheeler was not present.

In other action, the Commission approved the rezoning of the northwest corner of Long Lane and Clarkston Roads for the proposed Aldo Bellaver Retail building.

Finally, in a public hearing at the meeting, local residents overwhelmingly voiced disapproval at the gravel mining rezoning request by the Edward Levy Company. After hearing nearly 20 residents and State Senator Kerry Kammer speak against the proposal, citing danger to children, excessive noise, and preservation of wildlife as reasons; the Commission voted 8-0 to turn down the request.

DIXIE HIGHWAY RATES SECOND IN ACCIDENT COUNT

The intersection of Southfield and 10 Mile Roads is still number one in Oakland County in the number of traffic accidents recorded, according to 1978 statistics released by the Traffic Improvement Association of Oakland County (TIA).

The heavy-volume Southfield intersection has headed TIA's intersection frequency rankings for the last four years.

Although it remained at the head of the list, the number of accidents at that location dropped to 87 from the 108 that occurred in 1977, according to TIA.

In a separate 1978 ranking of roadway sections in the county, M59 between Crescent Lake and Telegraph recorded the highest number of accidents with 272. In 1977 that section of M59 listed 220 traffic mishaps.

Authorities pointed to heavy traffic volume as the factor most responsible for the high accident experiences at these locations.

Oakland County recorded a total of 41,390 traffic accidents in 1978, a seven percent increase over the 38,681 in 1977. An increase in the traffic volume in the county has been estimated at from seven to 10 percent a year.

"All of our roadways are having a very difficult time keeping up with the growth in the county," said Paul Riley, district traffic engineer with the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation. "A lot of our roads are carrying far more volumes than they were originally designed for."

1978 Oakland Intersection Frequency Rankings

Oakland County intersection rankings for 1978 follow. Figures in parentheses are for 1977. Calculated costs of the accidents listed on the right are based on National Safety Council figures with specific amounts allotted for wage loss, medical expense, insurance administration and property damage.

Accidents that occur within a 200-foot radius of the center of an intersection are counted.

LOCATION	NO. OF ACCIDENTS	ACCIDENT COSTS
1. Southfield and Ten Mile	87 (108)	$150,980

ADKINS, SWANSON TO PERFORM WITH MICHIGAN HONORS BAND

Randy Adkins and Rich Swanson, Trombonists and Juniors of Holly High School have been selected to perform with the MSBOA HONORS BAND/ORCHESTRA at the 1979 Youth Arts Festival. These 100 musicians were selected by outstanding performance at the recent State Solo and Ensemble Festival sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association. Out of over 3000 entries, only 100 students were chosen for the Honor Band and the Honor Orchestra.

Besides performing at the Youth Arts Festival, the performances will have an opportunity to work with a Michigan Composer, and spend an overnite stay at the CMU campus. This part of the plan is made possible by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Cook Recital JUNE 2

The annual piano-organ recital for the students of Sally J. Cook of Seymour Lake Road will be held Saturday, June 2, at the Seymour Lake United Methodist Church. The recital will be held in two parts. Beginners and intermediate pupils will play at 2:00 p.m., advanced and adults will perform at 7:00 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

POET'S CORNER

SOMEONE WHO CARES

If there's someone who really cares about you.
Someone who's proud of the things you do,
Who's glad when you're happy,
And blue when you're sad.
Who sees all your good points,
and seldom the bad.
If there's someone who shares
All your worries and woes,
And whose always beside you
However life goes;
Who's concerned for your happiness,
Comfort and health.
This is your treasure
This is your wealth.

PRETENDER

She is the Pretender...

...Yes, you know her-the one with the dark mask covering her face, surrounding her true identity.

The one who is fake and phony to all,
and who can't let her feelings flow.

The one who is anywhere, anytime for anyone,
because they "need" her.

She is the one who is too sweet and thoughtful, and has too many "Thank-you's" and "I'm sorry's".

Everyone thinks she is on the top of the world, without a worry or trouble or burden...

...Yes, she is the Pretender...
...She is you...

LOVE

Something everybody needs to have and enjoy.
This mysterious thing can be blind, enjoying or Sometimes hurtful. It's beautiful to fall in love
With that someone special.

Sometimes love is lost it just slowly disappears.
But like always nature wanted it to happen
For one reason or another.
While it will hurt for a while
There's always another lover around the corner.
And as soon as you get around this corner
You'll have this mysterious thing all over again.

Brian Stuffleben and Sharon Hesse, as Corndoggie and Betsy-Lou, sit on stools at Pop's Pop Shop as their friends gather for the "what's happening?" scene in the musical "Rock-N-Roll."

"Rock-N-Roll" comes to Clarkston Junior High School on Wednesday, May 30, when the student musical celebrating the fabulous fifties will be performed. Two shows for students are scheduled during the day and an evening performance for the public is slated for 7:30 p.m. in the gym.

Corndoggie, called a "typical" high school student of the fifties in the script, will be played by Brian Stuffleben. Betsy-Lou, the object of his interest, is played by Sharon Hesse. Larry Thelmas and Glen Sherman have been cast as Corndoggie's pals, Manfred and Duffy.

Kim Koerber is Bumpers, one of the gang. Greg Roselli is Forrest, the football hero while Joan Stewart plays Betsy-Lou's friend Darlene. Bill Halsey is Pops, proprietor of the local hangout.

The rest of the large student cast includes rally girls, jocks and a motorcycle gang. Nearly all of the school's three chorus classes are involved in some way or another.

The action, except for a telephone scene, takes place in Pop's Pop Shop. The brightly painted set was accomplished with the aid of several parents while other parents donated time to helping the kids learn their lines.

Vocal music teacher Rebecca Harrold has put on operettas in the past two years, this is her first attempt at a full-length musical.

The rally girls form a big letter H for Hoover High with their pompoms.

BATTLE ALLEY TO HOLD KIDNEY FOUNDATION BENEFIT

The merchants of Battle Alley are sponsoring a benefit for the Kidney Foundation of Michigan by having a day of free entertainment, on Sunday June 3rd. The program will start at noon and continue all day.

All of the following entertainers are donating their time for this benefit.

There will be a short fashion show put on by Victoria Clothing Shoppe and Creative Imports and Fashions. Both stores are located in the Battle Alley Arcade.

The Victoria Shoppe will be featuring victoria clothing. Creative Imports and Fashion will be showing a few of their fashions from around the world.

Also the 14-piece Hal James Band, which is renowned for its rendition of the music of the 50's, will be playing well into the evening for dancing.

Auditions ANNOUNCED for "Tobacco"

To start off its third season, Brandon S.T.A.G.E. has announced as its next project the play "Tobacco Road" by Jack Kirkland, based on the book by Erskine Caldwell. The play is set in the back country near Augusta, Georgia and deals with the Lester family and their sad plight during poverty times.

Try outs for the play, which has six male and five female parts with ages ranging from 14 to 68 will be held Tuesday, June 26th and Thursday, June 28th at 7:30 p.m. at the Brandon Township Hall. (Mill Street in Ortonville). Performances are set for September 7th, 8th, 14th, and 15th at Brandon Middle School.

Everyone is welcome to audition. Experience is not necessary.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Can I safely place my house plants on my patio?

D.H.-Clarkston

Dear D.H.:

Nearly all house plants can be placed outside for the summer once we have consistent temperatures of about 60 degrees F and higher. African violets are an exception. Be sure to pick a shady location and watch for insects.

The Plant Doctor

Dear Plant Doctor:

I have hordes of small, greenish beetles in my home. A neighbor said that they are elm beetles that spread Dutch elm disease. What can I do?

M.T.-Clarkston

Dear M.T.:

Your neighbor's diagnosis is only partially correct. This insect, called the elm leaf beetle, does indeed feed on elms, but it is not the insect that spreads the fatal Dutch elm disease. The elm leaf beetle and the small, caterpillar larvae feed on the leaves by eating away the green tissue, which leaves a lacy network of veins. A very small bark beetle spreads the elm disease. You are finding the beetles in your home because they overwinter in attics and walls. When the trees begin to leaf-out, the beetles become active and start to search out nearby elms. They feed briefly and then lay eggs which hatch into the hungry caterpillars. After feeding for about two weeks, they complete their life cycle and more beetles are produced. The whole process is repeated again before fall. To reduce your problem, spray the elms with Sevin in early June when the young larvae are feeding. This spray will drastically reduce the number of insects in the fall. Of course, there are then fewer to enter your home. Spraying indoors is not usually satisfactory in controlling this pest, which is really an outside pest problem. The insects are confused and are really just passing through.

Dear Plant Doctor:

Our peach trees develop a lot of fruit, but they are always very small. How can I increase the size of the peaches?

W.N.-Farmington

Dear W.N.:

When pollination conditions are favorable, most fruit trees will set more fruits than they can mature to a desirable size. In addition to reducing fruit size at harvest, excessive fruit-set retards the development of fruit buds for the next year's crop and increases branch breakage. Alternate year bearing may result. During late May and in June, hand thin the peaches to average six to eight inches apart. If there are two fruits on a branch 12 to 14 inches long, leave both fruits, even if they are close together. Apples and pears should be thinned to the same spacing. Plums and apricots should be thinned to about 2 to 3 inches apart. Most people tend to underthin because once a fruit is removed, it cannot be replaced. I suggest you thin several branches and

Many of those who have traveled abroad have probably experienced the unpleasant shock of finding that, upon arrival, they cannot use their hairdryers, electric razors, and other plug-in gadgets that make life easier. The electrical voltage system in England, British Isles, and Europe is different from ours and the sockets are designed to accommodate 3-pronged plugs. Adaptor kits have been made to solve this problem, but do not waste your money on them: they are often unreliable. Instead have a good electrician rig up an adaptor for you.

You'll find us a reliable source of information for trips to Europe, Asia, Africa or any place on the American continent. Call or stop by and see our knowledgeable people at CLARKSTON TRAVEL BUREAU, INC., 6 N. Main Street, 625-0325. When planning your trip you have the benefit of the combined experience and know-how of our entire staff. All forms of travel are handled. Open: Monday thru Friday 9:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., Saturday 9:30 a.m. - 1 p.m.

TRAVEL TIP:

Two adjusters plugged into an electrical light bulb socket will solve a problem if you can't find a proper plug.

WWI VETS ATTEND ANNUAL CONVENTION

At the 25th Annual Convention for World War I Veterans and Auxiliaries, Vern Ridgeway, Commander of Davisburg Barracks #2803 will be a delegate and Alice Rioux and Iva Leach will be delegates for the Auxiliary. Lucile Gries, Past Department President and Secretary-Treasurer of the local Auxiliary will attend as will Minnie Schneller, President and Eva Lucas, Flag Bearer.

The May meeting was Saturday, the 12th, at the Springfield Township Hall with a pot luck at noon followed by the Annual Memorial Service. Draping of the Charter for Helen E. Crist who passed away last month was done by Eva Boice who also lighted the altar candle in her memory. Minnie Schneller lighted the candle for Amanda Coon the only other member that the Auxiliary lost by death this past year. Soloist was Mr. Ralph Steward of Fenton accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Steward. Jeanette Atkins gave an appropriate reading "World, Take My Son by the Hand."

There being no deaths in the Barracks this past year Vern Ridgeway laid a single red rose on the altar in memory of the Buddies from this Barracks who had answered the final call. Past Commander George Bour gave the reading "In Flanders Field" and John Kliffel Past 5th District Commander gave the answer.

Respective meetings were held following the Memorial Service with Installation of officers being the order of the day.

Flower arrangements were done by Marie Green, Chaplain.

It was voted to take part in the Memorial Parade at Holly.

Louis Hanson is a new member of the Barracks, transferring from Barracks 49. Next meeting is June 9th, the last one before summer picnics take over the July one being held at the home of Alice Rioux on Davisburg Road, Davisburg.

Gas Supply SEEMS TO BE OK

STATION OWNERS DON'T PLAN TO SHUT DOWN

by Sharon Springborn

The Memorial Day weekend-this year May 27-28-traditionally ushers in the beginning of the summer travel season, but with gasoline supplies more than a little tentative, many folks have elected to stay at home.

Most of the Clarkston area stations were closed on Memorial Day, and the one station that remained open, the Clarkston Sunoco station on Ortonville Road, did so on an 'if I can get the tanker to come earlier' basis. Following is some pertinent information on gas stations in the Clarkston area.

The Clarkston Village Total station located on North Main in Clarkston, will be open on Sunday from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. and on week days from 6 a.m.-9 p.m. Since this is a high allocation station, and the amount of gas presently received is based upon the amount of gas sold last year at this time, this station should be able to get through the month with no problem, if things remain stable.

This station did run out of gas on the May 19-20 weekend because the station down the block ran out of gas and their customers came to Total for a fill-up, causing them to sell an extra 4,000 gallons.

In the opinion of the station manager, "The whole country needs to slow up."

The manager of the Clarkston Sunoco station on M-15 has no idea of what his hours will be. If a gas tanker gets in, he'll keep normal hours, but if not, a rough week will be ahead.

This man will limit gas-if it comes to that-of the "outsiders," instead of to his regular customers. The manager also feels the real problem lies with "the turkey we've got now in Washington."

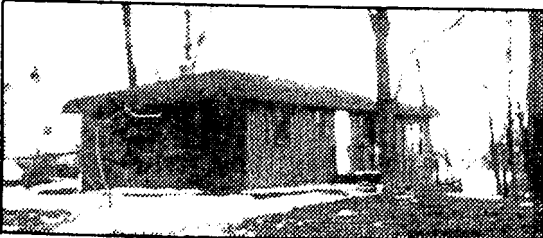

At Bob Clark and Sons, they're keeping the station open from 7:30 a.m.-7:30 p.m., Monday-Friday and sometimes on Saturday. They don't, according to the manager, have enough gas right now to do anything with, but if some system of allocation is called for, they'll switch to it.

Roy Brother's station, on Dixie Hwy., will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m., and the station is running right on target, in reference to the amount of gas allocated them. The manager of the station doesn't advise driving-as little as possible, but driving as you wish. He feels that the stations up North are "probably doing better than we are down here", due to the relatively light amount of traffic through the small towns in the U.P.

"Our (gas) allocations are based on the amount of gas we sold at this time last year, and who did we sell it to? Tourists. If everybody stays home, we'll have a lot of gas and nobody'll buy it. If they (area residents) aren't planning on going anywhere, you won't need it anyway," said the manager.

One gas station that is closed on Sunday and open from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. other days is DDD Texaco on M-15. If you are able to drive in, all the gas wanted (or needed) is sold, but the station, in order to preserve their supplies, is closing 4 hours earlier than they normally do.

Sunday is a bad day for travellers, said the DDD manager, since they will find many gas stations closed. Since this situation does exist, it is best to limit any driving during the weekend, but no such restrictions must be placed on Monday-Friday driving.

At Roy Brothers, Inc. stations on Sashabaw, the manager was unable to predict any hours that he may have to keep, but if things stay as they are, the station will keep to its regular hours of 10-10 on week days and staying open on weekends. But, said the manager, things will get tight toward the end of the month, with the hours being cut. The station may have to close on Sunday, and then, if the motorist is caught around I-75, they'll be pretty much stranded, because the wrecker from Roy Brothers is about the only one running on Sunday. Usually, said the manager, he's been pulling 4 or 5 stranded cars off of I-75 during a weekend.

Payless Gas Station's manager, when called, only stated that "I'm not allowed to talk about that to anyone," and promptly hung up the phone.

Springfield Texaco, on Dixie Hwy, is only open until 6 in the evening. The gas received is on allocation, and the station will be able to remain open through the month's end only if more gas can be found.

Mr. Simeon, of AAA's publicity and news release branch, Motor News, in Dearborn, said that AAA is open 24 hours per day for emergency road service. At the present time, he doesn't foresee the cost of coverage rising. The A.A.A. hasn't received any complaints about stations closing, etc. in this area, so Mr. Simeon can only conclude that no problems are posed so far.

As to the hours kept by station owners, the A.A.A. expects the station, which is an A.A.A. member, to provide aid and service for any individual member living in the area, but they do not set the station's hours.

"The Pill Book" to be Published

Although Americans spend 11 billion dollars a year on prescription drugs, few are aware of what they are putting into their bodies and what adverse side effects can be caused by even the most commonly prescribed medications.

Now, for the first time, there's a book that can help consumers identify medicines quickly, easily and accurately—THE PILL BOOK, to be published as a Bantam Original on June 1.

This illustrated guide to the most common medications in the United States features a 32-page, full-color insert containing photographs of hundreds of pills, for fast identification of virtually any prescribed drug. THE PILL BOOK also includes 320 pages of drug listings by classification (stimulants, depressants, analgesics, etc.), and vital consumer product information such as brand names and generic names, proper dosage, adverse reactions, and how drugs interact.

THE PILL BOOK is by Dr. Harold Silverman and Dr. Gilbert Simon, Directors of New York City's Lenox Hill Hospital Pharmacy.

Tour your house room by room and determine what should be done to put it in good selling order, how much it will cost, who will sell it, and how long it will take. You will have to judge what needs to be done, depending upon the amount of time and money you want to invest in the project. Spend time and money on projects that will produce the most return for your efforts. Make a check list and use it as a planning tool for reconditioning your house as well as recording items of repair as the work is performed.

Have you thought about rent costs today? Come in to BOB WHITE REAL ESTATE, 5856 Main Street, your area broker since 1947, and let us discuss your financial situation. You may well discover what so many other people have learned...that it is far wiser and often times more economical to buy than to rent. Don't let your rent dollars go up in smoke. Consider putting them to their maximum purchasing power today. Open 9 a.m. - 9 p.m., till 6 Friday and Saturday, 11 - 5 Sunday. Telephone 625-5821.

DID YOU KNOW?

A damp basement is not a good selling point; efforts to dry it up should be made immediately.
