The Reminder Opens Clarkston Office

Hi, I'm Mike Wilcox, new owner of the Independence-Springfield Reminder. I'm the same guy that has been editor of the Reminder for two years. The only difference now is that I am entirely responsible for the financial well-being of the paper as well as editorial matter.

I'm making a few changes -- changes we hope you will like.

A new office in the Hargreaves-Pilarcik Real Estate building just north of I-75 is open five days a week. Here you can place your want ad, order all types of printing, look at wedding invitations or have a cup of coffee and converse with the editor.

A new format in which we hope to categorize editorial matter for easier reading. We've got more stories and cover a wider variety of activities.

For the most part, the staff will remain the same. Carol Balzarini will continue her excellent reporting. Betty Good features and Leona Hutchings will be behind her trusty camera.

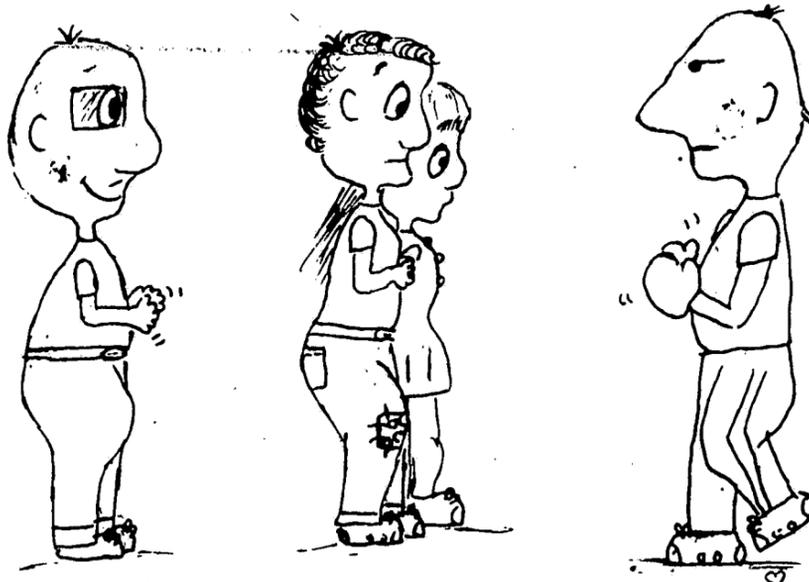

Kathy McReynolds has a somewhat expanded role, being robbed from the composition room to office manager and sales counselor. Betty Kratt will continue in her sales role as will Marilyn Bridgeman as Sales Manager.

If you like what you see (or dislike) drop us a line and let us know. Likewise, you're welcome to stop by and visit our new office. The staff is excited about our expanded efforts and we hope you'll continue to support The Reminder as well as you have in the past.

Jumbo's a Star Attraction

What do you do with a 1600 pound mechanical elephant that stands 8 feet tall and measures 12 feet in length? If you're Larry Gavette of Waterford, you haul him through the Labor Day parade in Clarkston and take him to the SCAMP Crazy Carnival the following weekend.

Gavette said Jumbo was designed and built in England in 1950. He was used in this country by a chain drugstore for promotional purposes. Gavette purchased Jumbo from a riding stable owner who himself had purchased the creature in a Channel 56 auction.

Jumbo originally moved at a rather spritely pace of 27 mph but Gavette, with the help of a 1936 English Ford engine, has governed him down to a more stately 6 mph. Jumbo also comes equipped with hydraulic brakes.

Gavette said Jumbo was in terrible condition when he first saw him with his head missing. "The mechanics of it was too much to resist" for him, so Gavette purchased Jumbo and his trailer for the sum of $125. Since then he has spent an estimated $3,200 to refurbish his mechanical creature and to insure him.

Gavette said he is looking for as much exposure as possible for Jumbo because he feels his commercial possibilities are endless particularly with the national Republican convention coming to Detroit next year.

For a start, he's doing parades and carnivals like Clarkston's.

The SCAMP Crazy Carnival will be held Saturday, September 8, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Andersonville School on Andersonville Road in Davisburg. Jumbo will be available for rides and Gavette said you have to see him in motion to believe it!

LaLeche to Meet

Clarkston LaLeche League will hold its fourth series of meetings September 5th at 8 o'clock p.m. at 49 W. Washington in Clarkston. The topic for discussion will be nutrition and weaning. For further information, call Justine at 634-7957.

LaLeche League offers mother-to-mother sharing of information and experience in breast-feeding. A loan library included books on Child Birth, Breast-feeding, Child Care and nutrition.

Senior Picture Session

Picture I.D. cards for senior citizens, age 60 years or older, are scheduled to be taken at the Senior Citizen Activity Center on Thursday, September 27, from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

The Senior Citizen Activity Center is located at the Clintonwood Park off of Clarkston Road, between Sashabaw Road and M-15. Camera locations are scheduled throughout the month at different facilities in the area. If you are unable to make this time or date, call 625-8231.

The picture I.D. card entitles senior citizens to discounts at various stores throughout Oakland County. The I.D. card can also be used as valid identification.

"The Phantom" Opens

"The Phantom," an original musical based on the classic film "The Phantom of the Opera," will be presented at the Barn Theatre of Oakland University starting September 7.

The comedy received its world premiere performance at the university last season, and it is being repeated on three straight weekends, September 7-8-9, 14-15-16, and 21-22-23.

Friday and Saturday curtains are at 8:30 with 6:30 p.m. shows on Sundays. There will be special 99 cent matinees on the 16th and 23rd at 2:30 p.m.

For additional information call 377-2000.

With

Funeral Director

Lewis E. Wint
Funeral Home
Clarkston

WHAT IS A FUNERAL TRUST FUND?

It is an interest bearing fund set aside at a bank or S & L for use specifically to pay for funeral and burial expenses for one or more members of your family. It is an investment, too, since it earns interest and acts as a hedge against continued inflation.

As the fund grows, with its interest accumulating, it can even provide MORE than the amount you have pre-arranged to pay for funeral expenses. This depends on factors such as the rate of interest paid, items and services to be covered, and how great was the inflationary effect during the duration of the funding.

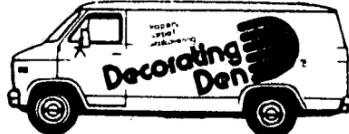

Most states have laws governing the pre-financing of funerals and burial expenses. We are experienced in handling these matters, having conducted many such arrangements. We can advise and assist you in setting up a Funeral Trust Fund for you and your family. You might want to stop by and discuss this in full detail.

Pine Knob Manor Homes

Out of This World Luxury - Space - Price

by Mike Wilcox

The house has got an indoor swimming pool, four balconies and two magnificent fireplaces. Next door, a four hundred square foot master bedroom with a bath that includes a sauna and exercise room makes this neighboring home an architectural classic. They set with eighteen other homes of similar design and size along the fairway of one of the area's most exclusive golf courses.

They are Pine Knob Manor Homes and they can cost anywhere from $229,000.00 upwards.

But, according to Manager of Sales, Trish Walker, price is of very little concern to most of the buyers. Rather, she said potential buyers were more interested in the quality of workmanship, the exclusiveness of the homes and the surrounding country club and the recreational opportunities available.

In describing what she would consider a typical buyer, Ms. Walker said it usually is a couple middle-aged or slightly older who has built up equity in other homes.

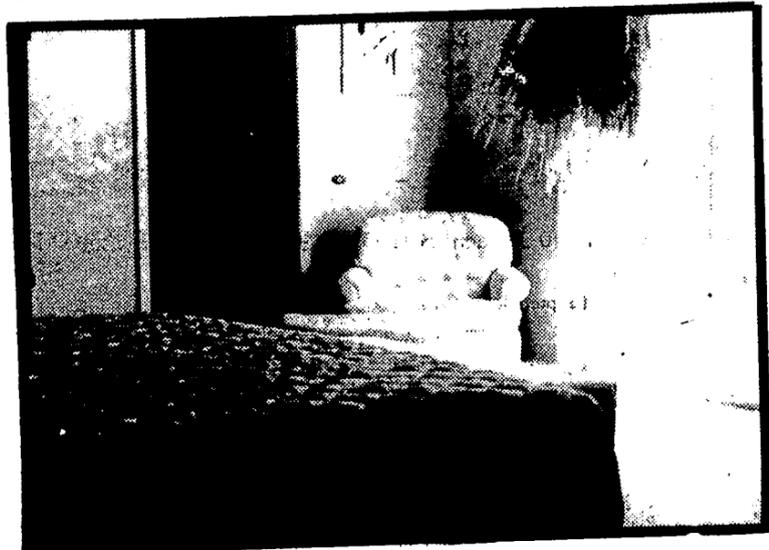

"You know...the type who are tired of shoveling the snow and mowing the lawn. They want to come home and enjoy the Country Club," said Ms. Walker. She added that although they've advertised in national

Independence Board Decides Not to Decide Fate of Millages

by Carol Balzarini

The Independence Township Board held a special meeting last week to discuss possible millage requests, but no official action was taken. In addition to the six board members present, the meeting was attended by three department heads, two reporters and one citizen.

It was established at the outset that the community center committee, the safety path committee and the library would not be seeking millage at the present time.

The first millage proposal discussed was Fire Chief Frank Ronk's made last April but not acted on by the board. Ronk is looking for two mills for two years in addition to the present two mills levied for fire protection.

Those new mills would buy the land and build a new station to replace the one in the village plus equip it with a new tanker and a new aerial or platform truck. Two bays would be added to station #2 plus the purchase of a new pumper and a new pickup to carry new equipment. Station #3 would have one bay added and living quarters in addition to a new pumper and a training building.

Ronk's estimated cost for all of these additions and improvements was an estimated $900,000 which could be paid for with two mills for two years.

The fire chief was definitely opposed to any fire millage proposal being placed on the October 16 ballot with the two referendum questions he considered to be negative issues.

Ronk preferred a spring vote giving him enough time to convince people this was a need and not a want. Any fall election would be too late to get the new millage on this year's tax rolls anyway.

Trustee Jerry Powell wanted reassurance the additional millage would be labeled strictly for construction and equipment and not for operation. He reminded Ronk he was at nearly two mills now just for operation.

In response to Treasurer Fred Ritter's suggestion that a half mill for ten years might be better "sold" and help the other millage issues, Ronk admitted he was not interested in millages other than his own. Ritter contended they had to protect other items on the ballot.

Rus Buller, the only citizen who attended the meeting, said, "Special millages tie the board's hands...the surplus shows you're not loose with our money...ask for a general millage instead." That would allow the board to spend it where it's needed although, he reminded the board, the surplus also could have been put where it was needed.

Buller asked Ronk if the building and equipment resulting from the extra millage would be able to operate without additional millage for that, too. Ronk said it would be "tight," adding "probably not."

Ronk told board members there was another "avenue" to consider. Fees can be collected for services. "You either belong or your house burns...you have a choice."

Ritter reminded him that people "belong" now by virtue of the present millage.

Powell and Trustee Mike Thayer agreed to work with Ronk on fire specifics looking toward a possible spring millage request.

Attention shifted from fire to police millage. Charles Kimbel, head of Independence Township Police Services, echoed Ronk's feeling the October special election was a negative vote he wanted no part of. He asked what suggestions the board had.

Powell said, "I have a new (police) monitor...to say we have no daytime protection is a fallacy. There seems to be a helluva lot more protection."

Kimbel admitted the twenty new state-funded sheriff's deputies in the county gave the township more coverage.

Ritter reminded Kimbel additional police millage had been defeated on three previous occasions because "no one knew what they were going to get for their money."

Kimbel agreed but added that lack of complete board support was also a factor. "We don't need a cut," he said. "We need more. It's harder to catch up than to stay ahead."

Ritter was unwilling to make any decisions on additional police millage prior to the specially scheduled September 11 meeting to discuss the long-ignored report of the Police Advisory Board.

He reiterated, however, his "inclination to disband the local department and go with the county...it's money better spent." He would not support a police millage to expand the township department.

Supervisor Floyd Tower objected to Ritter's argument of waiting for a discussion of the Police Advisory Board report, saying, "Cash flow priorities must be set by this board...our responsibility is to address the millage issue."

Tower did not agree with the validity of the figures on that advisory report saying he felt personal preferences

Millage Fate

"You can't dump it on the public every time we can't make a decision."

--Fred Ritter

took over after the board members were selected. Powell said he had changed his mind about having a local department because the situation with the county had improved considerably. He saw nothing wrong with continuing with the present situation.

Trustee Rudy Lozano said, "We all agree more police protection is in order." He then suggested citizen input in the form of an advisory question on the October ballot asking if all county, all township or half and half was preferred; and include a two-mill request.

Thayer refused to go along with an advisory question and a millage request on the same ballot.

Ritter said, "You can't dump it on the public every time we can't make a decision...look at what's cost effective and forget personalities."

Kimbel was sent back to the drawing board to come up with more than just a request for one additional mill for ten years with no plans accompanying the request and to wait for the September 11 meeting.

Ritter proposed condemnation of 80 acres adjacent to Clintonwood Park on Clarkston Road for future use as a park, community center site, eventual use as a municipal complex, or simply to save it from being mined.

The property was purchased earlier this month by the Edward Levy Company which is in the process of acquiring many acres in that area for a gravel operation vigorously protested by local, county and state interests who want it left in its natural state. The acreage includes the flood plain of the Clinton River.

Financing ability must be shown before any court would proceed with condemnation, Ritter told board members. He proposed asking for .2 mills for five years plus $100,000 in surplus funds, or .3 mill for the same period with no surplus money, or just using the surplus alone to pay for the land.

Ritter said he had no specific ballot date in mind but felt it was important for the township to pursue this course and let the state and the county acquire the rest of the acreage.

Powell called it "an excellent proposal," one that would provide land for township use and maybe stop the gravel mine or at least make it smaller.

Clerk Chris Rose opposed the use of surplus funds but not the land acquisition itself. He favored the .3 mill route giving voters a chance to voice an opinion on the project.

Ritter will come to the September 4 meeting with a specific proposal after consulting with the township attorney.

Tower had his own suggestion for a possible millage request saying it was becoming more and more difficult to get roadwork done by the county. Some townships have already gone for small millages for road improvement, he said.

Tim Doyle, head of the recreation department, told board members he was currently operating on general fund dollars and may need more money in the future than provided now by that fund.

Increased fees this year have helped, he said, but he can't continue to increase them to the point of losing participation in the programs.

He cited "keen competition" for grant money as another factor.

People Anxious to See School Start

by Carol Balzarini

Person to Person debuts this week in The Reminder will be featured on a regular basis. It allows the reporter personal contact with the people of the community and not with just the "newsmakers." Questions posed by the reporter will be serious at times, more often on the light side, but may even become controversial.

This week, due to the Labor Day weekend coming up and the traditional opening of school, it was only natural to ask people if they were anxious for school to start.

The reporter was stationed outside the Pontiac State Bank in Clarkston on a damp and foggy Tuesday. Most of the questions were directed at parents and children and their answers were pretty predictable.

Kate Germuska, Clarkston Junior High School teacher: "I always like going back to school. There's a feeling of anticipation, especially about new kids."

Marsha Peel: "I'm definitely anxious for school to start. They're (the kids) getting bored. You'll probably hear a sigh of relief from all mothers."

Greg Peel's answer was "not really." The twelve-year old was leaving the Clarkston school system for a new one. His five-year old sister Courteney was too shy to tell how she felt.

Carolyn Thibert said everybody in the family was looking forward to the start of school. "Matt's counting the days."

A feeling of anticipation

Kids getting bored

Six-year old Matt nodded and said, "Six more days." He'll be a first grader at Clarkston Elementary.

Carol Grech: "Oh, yes! I have three children all ages and I'm ready!"

Her fifteen-year old daughter Jamie did not agree, however. "Nope! I don't ever want to go back. I still want summer here. I don't want to get up early."

Twelve-year old Tracy said, "Sorta. I'm afraid I'll get lost." She will be a seventh grader at Clarkston Junior High.

Charlie, 5, was definitely glad to go to Clarkston Elementary where he'll be in the first grade.

Sarah Harthun: "Yeah...kind of." She'll be a seventh grader at CJH and was looking forward to gym and chorus.

Janet Enczur's children were going back before Labor Day to the Springfield Christian Academy. "I'm ready but so are my kids."

Five-year old Jeff was on his way to get a haircut, his little sister Audra will go to a day care nursery.

Susan DePoorter, 12, was anxious to go back but a little nervous because she'll be going to Sashabaw Junior High for the first time.

Her mother Pat said she wasn't too anxious to see Susan go to school any more. "She's a lot of help around the house."

Judy O'Brien: "Of course! What a question!"

Greg Thayer who will be a senior at CHS said, "Sort of," but said his favorite class is the building trades class. Last year he helped build the house on the corner of M-15 and Paramus. This year he'll be working on another one nearby.

His sister Michelle had already graduated but said she would probably be taking night classes at Oakland Community College. She was "kinda" looking forward to that "if it gets me a better job."

Tim Doyle, head of the township parks and recreation department, said "Yes" he was looking forward to school starting.

Jane Loechtenfeldt: "Yes, I am. My son is ready. He has said he is."

Eight-year old Greg wasn't quite so positive. "Not very much...well, sort of. I want to eat with my new football lunchbox."

Liz Shore: "Not really. I like having the kids home. Who'd harass me if they weren't here?"

Ten-year old Gabrielle said she didn't want to go back to school. "I hate school," she frowned. She didn't want her picture taken either.

a bag lunch the first days. The afternoon will follow with distribution of the Student Handbook, the year calendar and the wallet size sports calendar. An assembly will be held to hear the nominees for class officers speak, followed by class elections. The second day, September 7, students will attend their 4, 5 and 6 hour classes, their afternoon classes, also with the opportunity to buy books. After lunch, the new officers will be introduced. The opening school Mass will be celebrated in the afternoon. The day will end in the gym with a Pep Rally to introduce the football, golf and girls' basketball which start their season on the weekend.

Holly to Recreate Carry Nation's Visit

Holly will host its 6th Carry Nation Festival on Saturday, September 8, 10 a.m. to midnight and Sunday, September 9, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Committees are finalizing plans for the many activities which will take place to celebrate Carry Nation's infamous visit to Holly in 1908.

Holly at the time was a reflection of much of the United States. Iron rails had lifted our country out of its birthing stages and had cast it full blast into a rip-roaring era charged with growth and expansion.

As the first railroad junction of the State of Michigan, Holly saw over 20 trains pass through its village in a given day.

Eighteen bars overflowed with revelling customers and tinkling music. The street came alive with the battling, brawling, fisticuffs of this brave new breed; hence the name Battle Alley.

On August 29, 1908 Carry Amelia Nation, a woman bent on leading the country out of "drunken soddenness" charged into the saloons lining Battle Alley. Using her umbrella like the sword of an avenging angel she attacked the bars. Bottles and booze flew in every direction.

For the saloon owners it was a day of degradation; for the Temperance Crusader and her followers it was a bright shining victory.

Charging down Battle Alley, Carry roared headlong into Governor Fred Warner. "Why sir, are you not enforcing the law" and she thrust a list into his face that contained the licenses granted by the State of Michigan to Holly Saloon Keepers. Her protest was made because Oakland County was dry.

This occasion is recreated in the Carry Nation Pageant which on Saturday and Sunday at 4 p.m. on center stage at the Old Mill. A leading and awarding winning Dance and Drama Group from CJ's Dance Studio will reenact Carry's visit.

Festivities will commence with the crowning of the Festival Queen, Kitty Goodwin, at the reviewing stand on Saginaw and Maple at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

In addition the Festival Parade '79 will be Saturday, September 9 at 1:30 p.m.

Parade coordinator, Bobby Bencoter, reports that Festival goers will be treated to a parade presided over by Channel 12's TV news anchorman, Rich Fisher as Parade Marshall and highlighted by the presence of Miss Michigan, Susan James; Kitty Goodwin, and 4-H King and Queen Gordon McKay and Paula Howard.

Nine high school bands will march in judged competition and unicyclists will perform daring feats high above the crowds on their one wheelers.

Clowns, floats, antique cars, horses and specialty entries round out this year's parade.

The parade route starts at Holly High School on Baird to Corbin, Corbin to Maple, Maple to Saginaw to Elm where the parade will disband in the area of the Village offices and cool drinks will be provided to the participants courtesy of Diehls Orchards and Freemans Super Market.

The Holly JC's will sponsor a wide variety of activities for children with a 1890's flavor. The activities include a frog race, penny scramble, loose goose and many more.

magazines like Time and Sports Illustrated, most of the buyers come from the Detroit Area.

And what they see when they come are twenty of the most luxurious homes (some attached as condominiums) that they will find in the area. Architecturally, they are designed in the French Chateau mode reminiscent of the chateaus found in the Loire Valley of France.

The architect had a flair for spaciousness with the smallest home consisting of 3000 square feet and the largest a whopping 4600 square feet. Large and unusual fireplaces, french doors, bay windows and cathedral ceilings are part of each home.

A combination of stone and stucco with cedar shake roofing make the exteriors blend perfectly with the breathtaking landscape on which they stand.

In describing the manor homes, which were once owned by Pine Knob, but recently sold to Borg-Warner Equities, Ms. Walker said, "There's none typical. They are all different. It's not like any kind of living you'll ever see."

She added that Borg-Warner has bought approximately 200 acres of Pine Knob property and expect to build more condominiums across the street from their present site soon. The new phase would be built right along the Number One Fairway and feature a different type of architecture.

the best in business

This Week Clarkston Pharmacy

No it's not a bank. Nor is it a hamburger chain. Rather, that beautiful brick building with the drive-in window at the corner of Ortonville Road and Paramus in Clarkston is a professional pharmacy.

According to co-owner Ron Chrovian, the brick building and drive-in window sometimes fools people.

"We've had one call for depositing money and three calls for hamburgers," said Chrovian.

Despite its peculiarity in the pharmacy business, Chrovian claims the drive-in window has been a boom to his store. It's worth 25% of our business, he said.

Chrovian added, "It's fun to drive up to a window and get your prescription filled. Mothers with little children really like it." It's also convenient for older people and when weather's snowy or rainy.

"We try to make it very minimal waiting," said Chrovian. It usually takes five minutes at the most to get a prescription filled with the drive-in window.

Helping to speed up the prescription filling process is a computer that is used to detect drug allergies and interactions as well as store customer information and simplify billing procedures.

"Our computer is really doing its job," said Chrovian. It was one of the first used in the pharmacy industry, although now they're quite common.

Clarkston Pharmacy is owned by Vahram Fantazian and Chrovian. They bought it from original owner Tom Lufkin nearly 1 1/2 years ago.

The two got their start in business as managers of drug stores in the same chain. They both were called to fill their National Guard obligations, and afterwards decided to open their own pharmacy. It was called Smith Rexall Drugs, beginning twelve years ago in Farmington. The two still own that pharmacy as well as their Clarkston store.

About the Clarkston Pharmacy, Chrovian said, "It's very professional. We're really geared to prescriptions and prescription items." Because it's not a full service drug store, Chrovian and his employees can spend more time offering personalized service.

And personalized service is a major part of Clarkston Pharmacy's customer philosophy.

"We don't have any magic. We just treat our customers the way we would like to be treated as customers," said Chrovian.

The word "generic" has thrown the drug world in a state of controversy. Generics are drugs without brand names, but of the same quality as their higher priced counterparts.

Chrovian doesn't shy away from the issue. Utilizing his customer oriented philosophy, he said we'll usually inform a customer when a cheaper generic substitute is available to the brand name they've requested. He added however that only about one in ten name brand drugs have a generic equivalent.

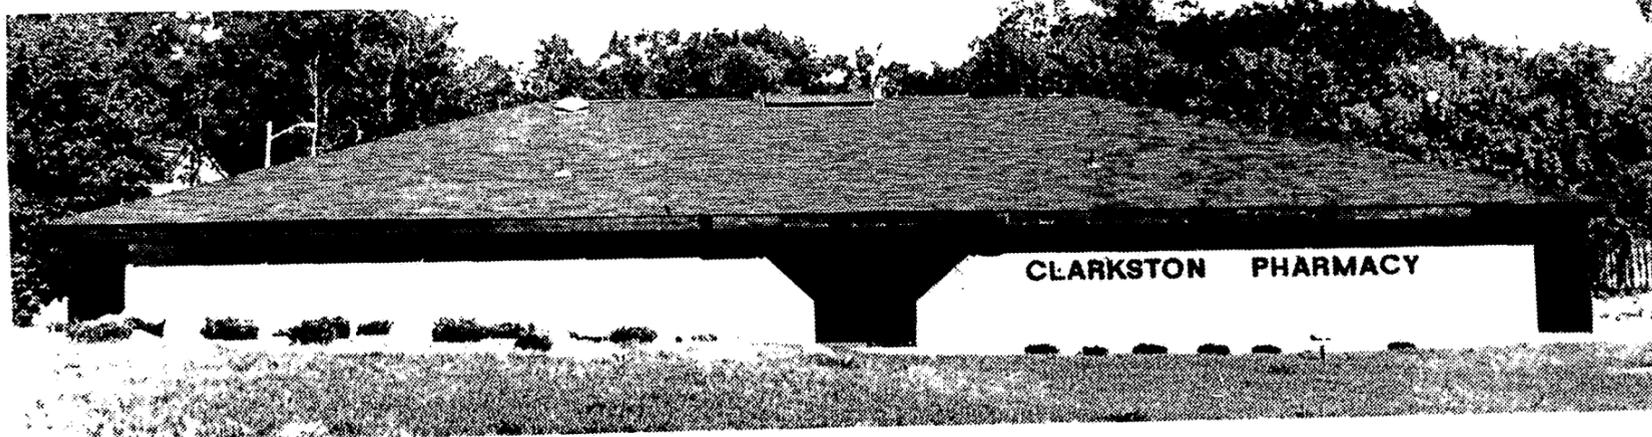

Chrovian is looking forward to increased sales in months to come. "Every month seems to be increasing," he said. "The people here have been pretty good to us."

"There's no time to get into a rut. I'll tell you that," Jan Gabier said with a laugh. Gabier has been an assistant principal at Clarkston High School for the past ten years and is responsible for such areas of school life as attendance, discipline, adult and driver education to name the primary ones.

Her many school-related tasks leave her little time for leisure activities but Gabier said she loves to play golf. She also has season tickets for Michigan State football games. She loves the theatre going to plays at Meadowbrook whenever possible.

She used to ski in her hometown of Traverse City taking part in races at the ski area near her home. She proudly said she was the first woman on the ski patrol there.

Gabier doesn't ski now because she only has the time on weekends and most ski areas are just too crowded then.

What would she like to do if she had the time? "I'd like to get a pilot's license like John (Kirchgeßner) but again it's a matter of time."

Her feelings about flying, she said, are pretty well summed up in the poem "High Flight" which explains the lure of flying. "It's thrilling, daring maybe. I don't know."

Gabier admitted a person could find the time to do what he wanted to do up to a certain point. That point won't allow flying school because it conflicts with night classes at the high school which she oversees.

Adult education, Gabier explained, has grown from some three or four classes to four areas with over three dozen classes offered.

Night classes at Clarkston High School include adult basic education, college courses, non-credit classes, and those for high school completion. Preparation and scheduling of those classes Gabier simply termed "time consuming," but she wasn't complaining.

"This building is used a lot in the evening and that's good. It really is. We have Girl and Boy Scouts, 4-H, Jaycees, Youth Assistance and donkey basketball, a church group on Sunday, and so on."

Making sure the event is properly insured and checking on custodial set-up and clean-up are also part of her job.

One regret she has is that the high school doesn't have another gym just for intramural sports and an auditorium. The present auditorium seats 350 with chairs added. With this year's senior class at 570 students, they can't even have a meeting-of the entire class.

Pine Knob Gabier said has made graduation a "family affair" because of its size allowing unlimited family members to attend the ceremonies as opposed to two tickets per graduate when they had to use the gym.

Another area of responsibility for Gabier is driver education. Despite numerous articles about problems encountered by the program, she said Clarkston has few except for the expense.

She has had no trouble getting cars from two local dealers, Haupt Pontiac and Rademacher Chevrolet. They have both been "super," she said, adding that some districts have been forced to buy their own fleets of cars.

Fuel problems were encountered this summer as the allotment would not stretch to the end of the program forcing the road cars to buy their fuel in local gas stations, an additional expense.

Gabier explained schools pay no taxes on gasoline. At one time, it was 15 cents per gallon, last year it was about 40 cents and this year it was more than double that. Also insurance costs are up, as are repair costs and wages.

Statewide the cost of a driver education student is $70-80, Gabier said, and the reimbursement by the state is only $28 leaving "a sizeable cost to the school district."

She feels either the requirement that someone under 18 take driver education to obtain a license will have to be changed or additional funds will have to be provided. The price and availability of gasoline may also force a change in the state law.

Gabier said she didn't feel the requirement was justified because of the expense. She personally would rather see the money spent for "reading and writing."

An interesting sidelight to the driver education program for Gabier is dealing with a company which provides adaptors for handicapped students. These are paid for under the rehabilitation act. This summer special hand controls and special adaptors were installed in one of the cars for a wheelchair student.

Teacher evaluation is another aspect of Gabier's job as assistant principal. The process generally involves a pre-conference, at least two observations, and a post-conference. The high school has 75 teachers.

In dealing with attendance and discipline problems, a great deal of time can be spent with parent conferences, usually the first item seen to each day.

Two or three years ago, Gabier said, both administrators and teachers began contacting parents on a positive basis in addition to the usual problem contacts. These contacts are in addition to the progress reports in the middle of each marking period.

Gabier also takes part in Educational Planning and Placement Committee meetings for special services students. State law has mandated that parents of these students have some input. They meet with a counselor, anyone from special services the student needs, maybe several teachers and an administrator to plan the student's school program.

Another part of the job is meeting with student clubs and groups, their projects need Gabier's approval. Details need to be worked out, a dance, for example, requires a band, chaperones, etc. Still more time spent.

More time will be required this year as the high school tackles the target goal adopted by the school board of greater proficiency in speaking and writing skills.

What's a "typical" day for Gabier?

Teachers Say "No Contract, No Work"

A general membership meeting of the Clarkston Education Association was held last Thursday with less than a week to go before the scheduled opening day of school on September 4.

In a nearly unanimous vote, the teachers authorized the negotiating team led by Uniserve Director Ed Meissner and CEA President Al Bartlett to make the decision of "no contract, no work" based on the outcome of the final scheduled negotiating session on Friday. No further sessions had been set for the weekend.

Bartlett said early Friday morning a "work stoppage was not impossible" at that point. There were still four major items left unsettled: salary, insurance, teaching conditions, and retirement incentives.

"We want a contract, but not a sellout...we're not asking for unreasonable things," Bartlett said.

Friday's meeting was to begin at 8 a.m., nothing had been said about closure time or recess time, according to Bartlett. The CEA team was willing to meet as long as progress was being made.

Mall Flower Show

Enthusiasm is running high as 23 branches of the Michigan Division of Women's National Farm & Garden Association prepare for their 14th Annual Flower Show to be held at The Pontiac Mall September 17 through 22. Commemorating the United Nations proclamation of 1979 as "International Year of the Child", the six-day event is entitled "Portrait of the Child in Flowers".

More than 130 artistic arrangements will be entered in what is considered one of the largest such flower shows in the country. The shows purpose is two-fold - to gain support for the Drayton Plains Nature Center and to make the community more aware of the grace and beauty in flowers.

Children will be the subject of creative and imaginative interpretation through flowers. "My favorite Teacher", "Tantrums", "Family Portraits", "The Circus comes to Town" are just a few of the many child-related categories in which W.N.F. & G.A. members will be entering fresh and dried floral arrangements for competition and display.

FREE LECTURES AND DEMONSTRATIONS will be held each day at 2:00 and 7:00 p.m.

Restaurant Management in the Utica Area

Maybe You've Never Thought About The Restaurant Business in The Career Sense, But...

It is a very large and exciting field to be in. Some think the restaurant field is a sub-professional area which doesn't require the highest standard of business professionals. This thinking may have been partially acceptable in the past, but certainly not so of the present and the future.

It is a vibrant and dynamic business which requires the involvement of top caliber professional talent. Of course, you must get started by learning the fundamentals. But moving into middle to upper management need not be an extended period and is usually not more than two years with our organization. We provide an excellent starting salary while you go through the basics and expect you to increase your salary progressively by 50% within 6 to 12 months, and 100% within 24 months. If you're looking for higher earnings, we'll provide examples of individuals in upper level management who have only been with our company from 3-5 years. Join us at our new Utica location at VanDyke and 23 Mile, and other Oakland and Macomb County locations. Please forward your resumes for prompt consideration to:

QUALIFIED

I'm a woman with ambition
Responsibilities few
Now that my children
Have all started school.
Experienced, I am
In all fields of life
For that comes with being
A mother and wife.
A cook, and a maid,
A defense attorney,
I've been a map reader
On many a journey.
A housekeeper, financier,
Teacher, and nurse,
A walking drug store
By the looks of my purse.
A strict dietitian
For many years
A referee daily
A dryer of tears.
A hostess, and waitress,
A painter, and more
I'm even the butler
At my own front door.
A home decorator,
A barber, a vet,
A seamstress, a psychic
And lest we forget
A chauffeur, a lover,
A learner of life,
A brick, I've been told
Through trials and strife.
Assured, without doubt
A smile on my face
Decided to find
Me a job out someplace.
The interviews all-
Got me straight to the core
They pitifully hustled me
Back out the door.
I don't understand it
I just never will
They say I'm unqualified
I don't fit the bill.
I guess all my talents
At home must remain
But world, It's your loss
And my family's gain...

PLEASE, LISTEN
Slowly, ever so slowly, I turn the child-proof cap
And pour the tiny white tablets into my lap.
20 is needed, that is all...
Then why, why? do my hands tremble and stall?

I look closely at these tiny white pills.
Made only for curing my ills.
I clutch at a large glass full of water and begin to cry.
So many pains and hurts, and oh, the lies.

I've tried so hard and for so long.
But it just seems like everyone is deaf to my song.
The pressure of life is choking me.
And no one, no one, hears my plea.

The Whole Story....

Rochester Street Fair Sept. 15-16

So I'll swallow the pills and my misery will come to an end.
 But before I do, just one last cry to a friend,
 My shaking fingers dial the phone,
 Once...twice...six...ten, no answer. I'm all alone.

Tears are blinding me as I swallow these blessed pills.
 Blessed? Oh yes, they'll cure all my ills.
 So down they go, and I'll brush away the tears.
 But along with them go my hopes, dreams, and fears.

Oh, I'm so tired, so tired, I go and lie down.
 It seems like I am like a tired old clown.
 They've pulled down the tents and the crowds have all gone.
 Now he can take off the mask he has worn so long.

Only a little while now,
 And like the clown I'll take a last bow.
 Darkness folds over me spreading its comfort
 The lies and the pain are all gone, even the hurt.

Death is so very, very near and there is nothing that I fear,
 But before I am gone I'll whisper one last prayer.
 Somewhere, someone cries out for help. Please, listen.
 Take the time to care. Before it is too late...
 Too late.

Arlette Cook
 To Teri, Much Thanx & Love

The Rochester Street Art Fair is set for Saturday and Sunday, September 15 and 16. Sponsored by the Rochester Arts Commission, the Fair will be held on Fourth Street in downtown Rochester between Main and Water Streets from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Approximately 90 artists, some of whom have exhibited nationally and internationally, will participate at the invitation of the Arts Commission. The media mix will include oil painting, water-colors, ceramics and pottery, weaving, wood and metal crafts, prints, photography, leather, lapidary, sculpture and stained glass.

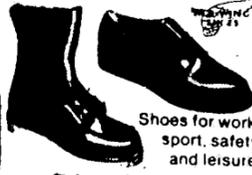

Performing arts events on Saturday will include the Rochester - Adams High School Marching Band at 11:00 a.m. and the Rochester Symphony Brass Ensemble at 2:00 p.m. On Sunday, the Oakland University Mime Group will perform at 11:30 a.m. and the Paint Creek Folklore Society at 2:00 p.m. Cider and doughnuts will be available at the Fair.

The Rochester Street Art Fair is a biennial event held in alternating years with the Rochester Arts 'n' Apples Festival. Proceeds from the various activities of the Arts Commission have been used to support the arts in the schools and in the community overall. This year's Fair is expected to draw an estimated 50-60,000 people.

FIREPLACE IN FAMILY ROOM

COLONIAL HOME FEATURES LARGE ROOMS

FEATURE HOMES

By W. D. Farmer

This home for pleasant living has five bedrooms and oversized rooms in each part of the house. The foyer leads through a cased opening into the spacious formal living area with two floor length windows to let in light. Another cased opening leads to the dining area also with floor length window.

The adjacent U-shaped kitchen offers the ultimate convenience. The design allows for a lot of time saving, has direct access to both the dining and breakfast areas, and includes a dishwasher, double sink, and built-in desk.

Next to the kitchen are the breakfast room with two windows over-looking the back yard, and the laundry room with a pantry, laundry tub and washer-dryer connections. The breakfast room also has an entrance from the oversized garage which was designed to allow for ample walking space around today's larger automobiles.

Access to the kitchen is through the huge family room. This room has two big windows for light, sliding glass doors to the rear terrace and a brick fireplace.

The remainder of the house is devoted to the sleeping area. A unique feature of this house is that all three baths have a separate powder room with a vanity. The spacious master bedroom suite, isolated from the other bedrooms has two full length windows to fill the room with sunlight. For storage it has two big closets, one a walk-in. Included also are a dressing area with double sinks in the vanity and a private bath.

The other two down-stairs bedrooms have ample closet space and access to a full bath and powder room. The up-stairs bedrooms are approached by an open rail stair from the family room. An interesting note is that these two bedrooms can be eliminated when building if they are not needed and finished later. When finished they provide privacy for older children or guests and have access to a full bath and powder room as well as large closets including attic storage.

The attractive colonial exterior of this home is highlighted by the symmetrical design, gable roof with dentils, frame siding and glass sidelights around the door. The house contains a total of 2,832 square feet. Front wall changes for B front pictured are included on actual working drawings.

All W. D. Farmer plans include energy conservation construction details.

For further information on plan Number 2816-B write W. D. Farmer Residence Designer, P. O. Box 49463, Atlanta, Georgia 30359.
