Of Investigations, Oil and Accountability...

Becky Roberts Reminder Special Report beginning on Page 7 is one of the most comprehensive pieces of community investigative reporting I have ever seen. She was relentless in her pursuit-interviewing dozens of people, some angry and unafraid, most wishing to remain anonymous for fear of repercussions.

Speaking of repercussions, Ms. Roberts, while conducting her investigation was the target of a threatening phone call that she figures was related to her work. Ah, the perils of reporting.

The story was first released in the Ortonville Reminder in September. Because, we feel it is an exceptional study with far-reaching ramifications, we bring it to you this week.

Texaco over 200%. Chevron, Mobil, Exxon, Conoco, Sun over 100%. It's the end of the third quarter and the percentages represent profits over the third quarter in 1978.

OPEC is proclaimed by most everyone as the villain in our so-called oil crisis. But with profits of this magnitude, one has to wonder whether the real blame should be placed on the shoulders of the giant oil conglomerates.

I'm sick and tired of high gas prices and potential heating oil shortages. It doesn't have to be if we could only get some of those money hungry oil companies to shake loose part of those profits.

A report in a daily newspaper quotes Joseph Gorka of Shindler Road saying clean-up proceedings at the toxic waste site was moving at a snail's pace. He reported receiving little satisfaction when voicing his concerns to state agencies.

It would seem to me our government agencies, especially the DNR have been embarrassed enough to last a lifetime over this issue. But if you believe Gorka, and he was appointed citizen liaison for this mess several weeks ago, proceedings and communications are breaking down. And that's sad-another testimonial for ineffective government.

Citizen Questions Woodhull Variances

Dear Editor:

Last week I attended an appeal board meeting. Conducted by an individual named Vaara alleged to be with the Clarkston System, Mason's right hand man.

The case I was interested in was one where an owner of a lot in Woodhull was seeking a variance. Why was he seeking a variance? Last April the 25th, 1979 he went to Palulian with a sketch showing 20' by 24' garage set back 40' from right of way. He was given a permit. Three weeks later the job was about done. What was the building like? It was a building set back approximately 16' instead of 40'. The garage instead of 24' long was approximately 40' long on the side. What else did he have? A breezeway, enclosed porch with electric in. The building department has never shown me a record of any inspections, footing, electrical or otherwise. If it would have been the average person, some allowances could be made, but this individual is alleged to be a carpenter. Now what did Palulian do with the man? Did he sight him for violation of ordinance? Prosecute for procurement by fraud or check for all non-conformities and then sight. No he sent him to the Appeal Board so Vaara could grant the variance. Is that the way our township board wants things done? Tower will have to answer that one.

The part that shocked me most was Vaara tolerating the following abuse that was directed toward the complainant. One individual called me a liar, three times I was called Gestapo and as they left one female hissed, "You old son of a bitch!" This I am sure is to be expected from people like Vaara. If he wasn't like that I doubt if Mason would keep him around. Why did Vaara condone and apparently support the name calling and harassment toward a Senior Citizen? The next question is, is Vaara and Palulian guilty of non-finance of office and is the individual guilty of a felony through failure to comply with original permit?

In closing, do you think the board will do anything about this failure or will it take action by prosecutor?

Is A Traditional Service Needed?

It is - if we are to retain the dignity and pride as set by our national character.

It was Blackstone, the noted English statesman, who put it so well when he said: "Show me the manner in which a nation or community cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people, their respect for the law of the land, and their loyalty to high ideals."

Whole nations are saddened and go into mourning when their leaders die. Recently, the United States mourned one of its favorite senators, Minnesota's Hubert H. Humphrey - whose traditional and full-service funeral was of national significance.

On Memorial Day and Veterans Day and to render tribute to national leaders who have died, we fly our American flags at half-staff. We observe these traditions with patriotic and religious ceremonies. They are, in effect, national funeral ceremonies, indicates Dr. Arthur Freese ("Help for your grief" 1977). He feels these national rituals periodically help our country deal with death, and we agree. We will be glad to discuss this in detail with you.

A Classic Confrontation: Builder vs. Tenant

Editor's Note:

Reminder reporter Rebecca Roberts and editor Mike Wilcox spent a month investigating alleged improprieties carried out by a giant Detroit area construction firm that has several holdings between Ortonville and Clarkston. Here are their findings.

by Becky Roberts

Patricia Cook was born thirty-one years ago, in Tennessee. She remembers that her father had tuberculosis, making it necessary for the family to subsist on welfare. She says, "We got $105 a month. I scrubbed houses for fifty cents a day, just enough to buy a pair of shoes. My cousin used to send me clothes from up here, and I'd take 'em apart and make my own clothes. So I learned how to sew, and then I started work. I had to quit school. I started working in a factory. Then I got married. I ain't had no easy life."

She married at sixteen, and bore four children by the time she was twenty-two. One of those children died at the age of three, of cerebral palsy. She lived, up until this year, with her three children, in the ghettos of Detroit. She receives ADC.

Michael Chernick has various real estate holdings in the area, as well as government contracts for post offices, in Michigan and other states, and various holdings in Warren, Royal Oak and other southeastern Michigan cities. The main office for his companies, Michaels Realty, Jerome Building Company and Detroit Construction, is on Twelve Mile Road in Southfield.

The company's holdings in the area include: the Plaza Mall; the now-defunct Food Ranch; the building which at present houses Century-21 Real Estate; the Belle Ann Falls subdivision; property on Lake Louise; and more.

In the Ortonville area, offices for Michaels Realty, Jerome Building Company, and Detroit Construction, are housed in the building owned by Michaels Realty, the Plaza Mall, on M-15.

Following is a report involving many people, and many claims. The Reminder attempted, on four separate occasions, to reach Mr. Chernick for comment on the issues involved. On three of those occasions, The Reminder was told he was not in; on one occasion, the second, The Reminder was told, by the person answering the phone at the Southfield number, that Mr. Chernick did not wish to comment. In every instance, The Reminder identified itself immediately, and when asked to do so, revealed the intent of the call, which was to elicit a response to the issues raised in this report.

In controversies such as the one you are about to read, risks of legal problems are always a possibility. Such risks are a regrettable, but necessary part of reporting. To minimize the chance that anything contained in this report be misunderstood, The Reminder has, whenever possible, drawn on a considerable number of documents, to clarify and/or to substantiate, certain points. We ask that our readers bear with us through those portions of this account which, for their legal jargon, may be rather dry.

It should also be noted from the outset that Mrs. Cook is currently in litigation with Michaels Realty Company.

Earlier this year, Patricia Cook moved into a tri-level at 187 Viola Court, Ortonville. At that time, Mrs. Cook received the keys to a residence she believed would be a permanent home for herself and her three children, April, 13, Scott, 10 and Isaac, who is 8.

"It was January 1, or Christmas Eve, really, when I moved in, that they gave me the keys," says Mrs. Cook.

Approximately eight months later, Mrs. Cook and her children are facing eviction, in a maze of legal question marks. These questions begin with a key receipt: The receipt reads, in part: "This receipt is valid only when witnessed by an officer of the Michaels Realty Company." No signature appears in the space "witnessed by."

Another paper reads, "the undersigned Lessee(s) hereby irrevocably waive (s) the right to receive any notice or notices provided by statute for termination of tenancy for either non-payment of rent or other causes."

That paper is signed "Nick Crowder," (Nicholas Crowder, an acquaintance of Mrs. Cook), by "Pat Cook" and by "Robert E. Crews and Diane M. Crews." Again, there is no signature of witness in the space provided.

Robert and Diane Crew, according to Crowder, leased the Viola Court residence initially, with full intent to reassign the lease to Mrs. Cook, because, Crowder said, Mrs. Cook "had no credit of her own, so needed to borrow" the Crews' credit in order to rent the house. The Crews reassigned the lease to Mrs. Cook, on January 5.

The lease reassignment reads, in part... "as of January 5th, we have not seen this property or investigated for prior damage. That we have been informed that it is in a 'rundown state,' but will be repaired at the expense of Michaels Realty." On that date, the lease was reassigned to Patricia Cook "for the sale price of one dollar." The agreement reads further that "This reassignment is done in the presence of, and in the full knowledge of, Michaels Realty."

It is signed by the Crews, and by Nicholas Crowder and Pat Cook.

"He couldn't hang them—they didn't fit. They're all on tracks, the inside doors. The same with doorwalls. When it rains, all the water just comes right through the doorwall. It's ruined all her furniture." Crowder went on to say, "You cannot live in a home like that. You gotta buy dry ice because the lights don't work."

A Statement of Residency and Responsibility, dated January 4, "1978" ("1979"), signed by Nicholas "Cook" and Patty Cook, states that the signers "are currently occupying the residence known as 187 Viola Ct. with the full knowledge and consent of Robert and Diane Crews..." That agreement was witnessed by Kathy Rebh, an employee of the Jerome Building Co. It predates the lease reassignment agreement by one day.

A letter bearing the letterhead of Michaels Realty Company, dated May 23, 1979, and addressed to Robert and Diane Crews, 187 Viola Court, states the following: "On or about Jan. 1, 1979, you signed a lease for (sic) a house of ours at the above number - 187 Viola Ct., Ortonville, Mich."

The letter continues, "Please note you have violated the lease by putting in an additional family and three kids. We consider this as an imposition on the contract and forthwith demand that you cease and desist occupancy of the people who are trespassing with their three children. There has been remarks of the property being damaged."

The letter concludes, "This is notice that within ten days if such matter is not straightened out, necessary steps will be taken to protect our interests." The certified letter is signed "Michael Chernick."

At the bottom, Nicholas Crowder has added a note: "Today, August 13th, we received our option payments back in the mail. Without court action she has lost home."

A three-page letter, dated June 1, 1979, addressed to Michaels Realty Company, which is signed by Patricia Cook and by a representative of the Tenants Rights Association, Warren, is in effect a rebuttal to the letter of May 23rd. In addressing Michaels Realty, it states, "Had you even acquired the slightest knowledge as to the alleged 'Rent with Option to buy' contract and supplemental papers you would be well aware Mr. and Mrs. Crews were never prospective tenants in regard to the residence at 187 Viola Ct."

The letter continues, "...the only 'damage' you erroneously pledged to repair, and that (damage) was apparent prior to tenancy."

Then the letter lists "Mrs. Cook's terms," which read

"Mrs. Cook had to use the bed in the master bedroom to put in the fireplace... because when the electricity goes, the heat goes," Crowder said. "This place has caught fire twice because whoever put the chimney in didn't build it high enough... all the stuff goes out of the chimney and onto the roof and catches the house on fire."

in part: "Repair of the electrical system; reimbursement for the screens she was forced to purchase; return and repair of the porch removed by your company; repair of all leaks in the roof; repair of the falling ceilings resulting from those lead" and so on. There are fifteen items listed in all. (There also exists among the papers a list titled "Michaels Realty Will Repair" listing eleven items for repair, including the final "generally renovate the home and make it habitable." That list is dated December 28, 1979, a few days prior to Mrs. Cook's occupancy. It is signed Randall James, Michaels Realty Company. James, acting as an agent for Michaels Realty was the person who showed the house to Nicholas Crowder and Patricia Cook, and who was directly involved in the leasing that followed.)

Crowder's letter to Michaels Realty includes this pronouncement: "As of this date, June 1st, 1979, all payments will be withheld until the listed repairs are made by Michaels Realty."

A "Notice to Quit," dated July 16, served to Patricia Cook, but addressed to "Robert and Diane Crews" at Viola Ct., among other things states "...from and after the service of this notice, you will be liable for double damages..." It is signed by Michael Chernick, and the names Robert and Diane Crews, and Nicholas and Patty Cook, appear in type at the bottom.

On July 27th, a hearing was held in the District Court, regarding the complaint for possession. Patricia Cook, in her own words, was ill that day and unable to attend. Nicholas Crowder went to the hearing as her representative. Judge Gerald McNally presided over the hearing. Crowder says the Judge told her she was evicted and would have to pay $1,300. (The "$1,300" refers to monies withheld by Mrs. Cook) Then, Crowder says, "At that time, we started arguing. He (McNally) started to listen."

"The next time we came in was the third of August, and he granted us a jury trial," Crowder said that he and two other parties contribute $100 each per month to subsidize the $475 monthly payments on the Viola Court residence. $450 of that sum goes for the rent portion of the alleged contract, the remaining $25 being a monthly option fee.

"When I went in with (Mrs. Cook) to look at the home, Crowder said 'I said 'how come the doors aren't hung? He said, 'well, we painted... we'll get to those later.'"

Crowder now alleges that "He couldn't hang them—they didn't fit. They're all on tracks, the inside doors. The same with the doorwalls. When it rains, all the water just comes right through the doorwall. It's ruined all her furniture." Crowder went on to say, "You cannot live in a home like that. You gotta buy dry ice because the lights don't work."

"Rats had chewed through the wall, through the electrical wiring," alleges Crowder. The rats, he claims, were there before Mrs. Cook took occupancy. "The freezer doesn't work. The electrical burned up— all of her appliances. They came over and said 'we're fixin' that.' The next day, everything went. The television caught right on fire." Crowder then added, "The next door neighbor saw the fire, or it would've burned the house down." He said, "The water pump goes all the time. There's surges of electricity, because they haven't got the correct... relays in there."

"Mrs. Cook had to use the bed in the master bedroom to put in the fireplace... because when the electricity goes, the heat goes," Crowder said. "This place has caught fire twice because whoever put the chimney in didn't build it high enough... all the stuff goes out of the chimney and onto the roof, and catches the house on fire, so she can't use (the fireplace) anymore."

Crowder claims that workmen "came out and removed a redwood deck. "They just tore it to pieces and threw it all around the property. Then they came and dumped big piles of lumber that had nothing to do with her home."

Crowder alleges "They tore the decking out and put the tar over the tracks for the doors, let it run down the windows, took the eavestroughs off where water ruined the doorwalls, came and took all the storm sash off. They took the storm windows and screens and put them in another house."

Advised by Judge McNally whom Crowder quoted as saying "Do not let the option slide," not to withhold the option portion of payment, Mrs. Cook paid by check $75, to cover the option for June, July and August. There is a copy of a receipt for that check, dated August 9, 1979. After the space prefaced "For rent of" are the hand written words "op. Deposit;" the receipt is signed "Tina Madrigal."

The letter dated August 10, and addressed to Patricia Cook reads, "Enclosed please find your check for payment of option money in the amount of $75.00 for the months of June, July and August."

"This payment," the letter reads, "was taken in error in our Ortonville office by a new employee."

It concluded, "Option money cannot be accepted because rent monies for the above mentioned months has not been received." The letter is signed "Kathy Rebh."

Kathy Rebh is a Jerome Building Co. employee who works in an office in the Plaza Mall on M-15, Ortonville. Appearing over the office doors are the names "Jerome Building Company", "Michaels Realty" and "Detroit Construction". Following is an interview with Ms. Rebh:

Ms. Rebh was asked other questions specifically regarding the Cook case, to which she invariably responded: "In reference to that particular case, I would have no comment at all, because there is a lawsuit pending." The Reminder asked her a question in regard to the Fabians, who live in the house next to 187 Viola Ct., and who hold a rent with option to buy contract with Michaels Realty. Ms. Rebh said she didn't wish to comment on that either, since she had "heard a rumor" that a lawsuit was pending in that case as well.

ZBA Changes Map, Pine Knob Benefits

The Independence Township Zoning Board of Appeals met once again in special session to attempt to sort through the confusion relating to Pine Knob's developmental plans begun some seven years ago.

Since the referendum on October 16 wiped out the need to consider the questions of both use and the height of a proposed hotel, the only item left to be resolved was the various discrepancies in the maps relating to the entire Pine Knob development.

The ZBA voted unanimously to change the official map to coincide with the legal descriptions approved by the township in 1973 but not reflected in the zoning map redrawn in 1975.

Appeals board members agreed they had to assume there was an error on the part of the township. The five acres in question thus became commercial recreation and not multiple zoning.

In the discussion preceding official action, building director Tim Palulian told appeals board members he had been in contact with former planner Larry Burkhart who was able to give no "definitive answers" to the question of map discrepancies.

Palulian explained further that no previous descriptions show that one area in question as being zoned multiple, only the township zoning map. He said he felt the multiple zoning should not have been in that area because Pine Knob never expressed any plans for building multiples there. There may have been an error on the township's part, he said.

Township attorney Richard Campbell told ZBA members they must determine the township map does not reflect the intentions of either the planning commission or the township board; "scrivener's error" must be determined. The map was "presumed" to be valid.

Township planner Tod Kilroy said the easements within the development "comport" with Pine Knob's map but he agreed with Campbell they had to assume the township map reflected the intentions of the township. He had no explanation for the discrepancies, but said the area was zoned commercial recreation although the map never reflected it. Many Pine Knob changes were included but not this particular one for whatever reason.

After the vote was taken on the motion to change the zoning map, Anthony Locricchio, Pine Knob's representative, attempted to reopen discussion of the other two issues, but was stopped by chairman Mel Vaara who said he would rely on the advice of counsel and adjourned the meeting.

Revised Springfield Master Plan Has Many Proposed Changes

by Mike Wilcox

An update to the Springfield Township Master Plan will be discussed at the November meeting of the planning commission. The changes in the 1972 plan are rather extensive and reflect the ever changing economic conditions and the booming development that is taking place in the township.

According to Supervisor Collin Walls, the revised master plan "represents a great deal of work and thought." Planners, said Walls, have been working for two years on the revisions and three to four months on the new map.

As to why the need for a revised plan, Walls answered, "The planning process is one that is continual. There really wasn't much happening in 1972-73. Very few changes were taking place."

But now look at the township, he added. Population projections included in the revised master plan report are already surpassed, claimed Walls.

Some of the features of the revised plan include new zoning categories and a change in minimum lot sizes.

The latter offers a 1.5 acre minimum for low density areas, a 1 acre minimum for medium density and a 1/2 acre for high density.

Walls said the new lot minimums "are a reflection as to the way development is going in the area."

The planners added a new category-multiple-that covers existing complexes like Bluewater Bavarian and Springfield Estates plus adds acreage at I-75 and East Holly and Dixie Highway near Bridge Lake.

The commercial category has been split into two types-local and general. General commercial are those areas large enough to support a major business and includes several spots on the Dixie.

The reasoning for the split, according to Walls, was "so you can have centers for development rather than a strip."

In other action the planners eliminated much of the area presently zoned industrial. Explained Walls, "If all developed according to the old plan...we could handle all of Oakland County's industrial needs for twenty years."

Another new category added is called "Extractive to be Reclaimed Residential." The new category gives the township more control over gravel mining operations said Walls.

Planners were careful to consider the effects of M-275 if it ever becomes a reality. "The plan is developed in such a matter that if M-275 was put in, it would not necessitate any changes," said Walls.

If the planning commission approves the plan in November, it will likely be discussed by the township board in December and hopefully adopted by that body in January, said Walls.

Police Reserves Receive Pay Raise, Attorney Campbell Steps Down

by Carol Balzarini

November 29 has been set by the Oakland County Drain Commission for a public hearing at the Independence Township Hall on the matter of the much-disputed Hi-Wood drain, sought by the developers of Chestnut Hills and fought by the residents of Hi-Wood subdivision next to it on Maybee Road.

A representative of Buckerfield Engineering and an attorney representing the developers of Pebble Hills Estates were unsuccessful in their attempts to gain preliminary plat approval from the Independence Board last week.

The proposed development of 19 lots on 22 acres on Stickney Road would be on the site of the gravel operation currently being phased out.

Plat approval was tabled on the advice of township attorney Richard Campbell because final restoration had not, as yet, been completed. The gravel company has failed to abide by the township gravel ordinance in the past and has been in court a number of times over the issue. Campbell said tabling the matter until restoration is complete would give the township the leverage it needs to make sure the consent judgment terms are complied with.

A preliminary petition was presented to the board by residents of Thendara Park who are renewing their efforts to gain some sort of maintenance for their private roads.

Campbell advised the board the township may contract for improvement and maintenance of private roads with the establishment of a special assessment district if certain procedures are followed.

The first step is a petition signed by 51 percent of the property owners and certified by the township clerk.

Second, the clerk can authorize engineering to determine costs involved in improvement and maintenance.

Third, on the basis of costs, the residents must decide whether or not they want a special assessment district set up.

If authorized, the township would collect the fees and contract for services.

Thendara Park residents did not seem anxious to have the roads taken over by the county, made public and then maintained by the county as provided for in a fairly new public act, as explained by Campbell.

A request for raises for the township police reserves made by Chief Charlie Kimbel was approved for the three classifications. These fees will be in effect for township and school functions, but not for Pine Knob which has a separate and higher rate.

Kimbel was authorized to enter into a new school contract for the next year with one change. The present contract will be amended to include a 60-day notice for termination due to the "doubtful" future of the department.

A letter of resignation was read from attorney Richard Campbell saying he could no longer serve the township as prosecutor or ordinance enforcement officer because of his ownership of a liquor license. He added, however, he had not acted in that capacity for some years.

He recommended Peter Keenan as his replacement because of Keenan's previous experience in the county prosecutor's office. Keenan recently represented the township in several court hearings stemming from the proposed Pine Knob hotel.

The board approved Keenan as the new prosecutor while Campbell remains as the township attorney.

Liquor license transfers for the Nickelodeon were approved eliminating the name of Ed Krause and adding that of Leonard Peres to that of Keanette Krause. The transfers include the licenses for both the restaurant and the party store on Ortonville Road. The transfers had been tabled previously because the consent judgment had not been signed.

Since the rejection of a park in the Woodhull area by the property owners a number of weeks ago, Recreation Department head Tim Doyle has been out scouting for other suitable property in areas acceptable to the Community Development Agency which funds would be used for its purchase.

Doyle proposed purchase of a portion of a 39-acre parcel on Maybee Road near Sashabaw with an asking price of $8,000 per acre. Doyle said his long-term park plan called for a park in this area.

The Clarkston High School drama students will present Tim Kelly's version of "Dracula" on Thursday, November 1 at 7:30 p.m. and Friday, November 2 at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre at the school.

Starring as Dracula is senior John Slavo. Out to thwart his efforts at recruiting "new blood" is Todd Royce as Professor Van Helsing.

Cast as Lucy is Debbie Foote, Tammy Degener is Mina. Lucy's fiance Arthur is played by Bill VanEtten while Chris Bisha is Jonathan. The two young couples are menaced by Count Dracula, their mysterious neighbor.

This version of Dracula is set in England in a private sanatorium run by Dr. Quincy (Don Sylvester). Count Dracula lives in the castle on the adjoining estate.

The remaining cast members include Jon Hill, Shelly Sokol, Cheryl Maxam, Billee Hampshire, Sharon Hesse and Forta Monroe. Richard Harken is cast as Renfield, a patient who has the delightful habit of eating flies and spiders. Diane Ridley, Kathy Hasselbalch, and Sheryl Mawhinney are the three vampire wives.

Tickets for the production, directed by Barbara Gibson are available at the school.

Majority Agree Depression Isn't Likely

by Carol Balzarini

This week's interviews were conducted outside Food Town market in the Pine Knob Plaza on Maybee and Sashabaw Roads.

"October marks the fiftieth anniversary of 'Black Thursday' in 1929 signaling the beginning of the Great Depression. Do you think we're due for another one?"

Betty Garrett, Pine Knob Lane - It's hard to tell, the way interest rates are going up...cost of groceries, everything's up. Gasoline's going to be $2 a gallon, they say. People on fixed incomes are having a hard time. My husband's going to retire next year.

Carol Thousand, Hummingbird Street - No, I don't think we will. I just think we're too intelligent a society and we could prevent a tragedy like that now. We're more aware.

Mattie Harl, Frankwill Street - I don't think the economy is good, but I don't think we'll have another one. Another president would help. This one doesn't seem to know what he's doing. He's made too many promises. And I'm a southerner and so is he!

Marie Wilmot, Clarkston Road - I don't know, I really don't. It scares you to think what might happen.

Mrs. William Saranen, Whipple Lake - It won't be that bad, but we may have one.

Holly Hotel Grand Opening November 4

The Historic Holly Hotel, 110 Battle Alley, Holly, is holding its Grand Opening Celebration Sunday, November 4 from 2:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

The general public is invited to this celebration in which there will be buffet-style dining.

SAY

THE REMINDER

Daniel Hubarth, Dubuque Street - Definitely, the way the government's running. If you want to stop inflation, stop the government. There's a proposal 23 that would wipe out the income tax. Government just keeps printing money as they need it. It's all their fault. You know, taxes are against the Constitution. Federal taxes are the whole problem.

Fred Vassallo, Clarkston - We can't afford a depression like the one in '29. There's too much government control now, financing, etc. The solution is a problem. Stop higher wages maybe, they just make higher prices.

Robin Hagen, Davisburg - All I know is that it's getting harder and harder to manage. I just got married and it takes both of us working. We stay home a lot and don't go out as much as we used to.

Judy Smith, Ortonville - It seems like it's possible with prices and all. There has to be some end and I think that will be it.

Rose Noell - I don't know but I hope it's not like that one. I remember it well. We went without a lot of food, they were a hard time. My dad worked in a hay field for fifty cents a day. He and my mother picked up potatoes for five cents a bushel. I helped them and helped around the house too.

Ralph O'Neal, Whipple Lake Road - I don't really know. I think we're going to have a revolution instead. People are demonstrating more and more. Something's going to happen. It's not freedom anymore. We're being dictated to by the big people. That's what I think and I don't care who knows it.

James Glennie, Cranberry Lake - No. They can't allow another one like the old one. Too much people response, they're more active, more aware of what's going on. It (the depression) snuck up on us gradually, there was gradual deterioration. It was tight, we ate a lot of potatoes, beans and potatoes because they were cheap. My folks got us through it. I'm not sure I could go through one, now, we're a different breed of people than our parents. We need some old-time blood in us.

Why Not Ask Carolyn?

Carolyn Veresh

Dear Carolyn,

I'm 31 years old and have been married ten years. I have a son who is five. We have a lovely home and a husband who is very hard working. He doesn't drink or gamble his money away. I like and respect my husband, but I don't know if I love him. He can have a very violent temper and it sometimes scares me. Another thing that bothers me very much is that our sex life is terrible. There are other problems, too. I've talked to him and told him how unhappy I am. He listens, but a week later, it's as though I never said a word. I'm so unhappy and so confused. I seem to be going nowhere, our marriage seems to be going nowhere. I've even thought about leaving. What should I do?

Help

Dear Help,

Your letter indicates you have attempted to talk to your husband. It also indicates you feel he denies there are problems and/or refuses to work on problem areas. I ask you to consider carefully the following:

A. Have you done everything in your power to express fully the depth and breadth of your unhappiness?

B. Do you understand clearly exactly what you want in a marriage?

C. Have you considered he may be happy with marriage just the way it is?

There are some alternatives open to you.

A. You could continue on the way you are, accepting the relationship and your husband as is.

B. Stay in your marriage, but fill your own life with satisfying and fulfilling endeavors, such as a career, volunteer work or hobbies.

C. Convince him the two of you need marriage counseling.

D. You could divorce.

I encourage you to first look within yourself in an attempt to understand why you are so unhappy. The marriage can be the scapegoat for personal unhappiness. Look at your priorities for marriage. What is really important to you in a relationship. Next, go to your husband and get his attention, in whatever way you need to. You have little to lose and everything to gain. Remember, the court of last resort is the divorce court.

Thoughtfully,

Carolyn

IT'S GRAND

Waterfall Plaza's Phase Two

Let's go on a grand tour of Waterfall Plaza's (phase two) shopping center on Dixie Highway in Waterford. Start your day with a hearty breakfast at Ram's Horn with their breakfast special or if you're watching your waistline choose something from Ram's Horn's legal low-cal menu. Andy Rio, the manager, will probably greet you at the door to seat you comfortably and a friendly waitress will serve you an aromatic cup of coffee and take your order. Ram's Horn specializes in moderately priced palate pleasing foods for breakfast, lunch and dinner 24 hours a day. (The Gyro sandwich is a real taste treat!!)

Papes' House of Gifts is just the place to choose that special gift for your loved one or friend. They have a beautiful selection of wood, crystal and glassware and all occasion cards and gift wrapping. You'll notice a pleasant fragrance when you walk through the door from their huge selection of candles in all shapes and sizes. The baby gift section is unique with many professionally handcrafted items. Oh, and for the bride, new or not-so-new, their custom silk floral arrangements are exquisite. Mrs. Reigle can also help the bride with other needed wedding accessories.

Curtis Draperies is a name you may recognize. The Hood family just celebrated its 16th anniversary in the custom window treatment business. Gary Hood worked alongside his father for many years and has now opened his own shop in Waterfall. There are hundreds of woven wood shade samples and some exquisite vertical blinds in an array of colors and fabrics to fit every decor. You may choose a custom-made or ready-made bedspread with matching drapes or to coordinate with a seamless sheer or casement fabric. Curtis has a full line of Kirsch window hardware, mini-blinds in dozens of colors and a line of unique wooden blinds. Don't miss the roman shade sample in the window near the door.

Now that you have your window treatments, it's time to get those walls in shape. Interior Expressions will show you how. It's a new business with an old and proven philosophy: Quality merchandise with personal, reliable service. Interior Expressions has the area's largest selection of quality wallcovering sample books and whenever possible offer legitimate sale prices. They have a full line of custom-mix Fuller-O'Brien paints, stains and finishes in over 1000 fashion-structured colors. Interior Expressions personnel is trained and experienced to help you find exactly what you're looking for and suggest solutions to painting and decorating problems. To accent your finished rooms, you may choose a framed mirror or other wall accessory and accessories for the bathroom. Best of all, they're open until 9 p.m. weekdays for your shopping convenience.

Okay, let's relax and have lunch at Wing Lauk. It's the new Chinese/American restaurant in Waterfall Plaza. Get your tast buds humming with their excellent Won Ton soup or Egg Drop soup. Have a cup of Chinese tea while the chef prepares the finest Chinese dish of your choice. The breast of chicken with Chinese vegetables and toasted almonds is very popular. They also feature a low calorie luncheon menu that is very filling. Top it all off with an almond cookie and, of course, your fortune hidden in a crunchy fortune cookie. Take a dozen or so of each home for the family.

Frame-Art is Russ Klatt's second successful store. As the name explains it is a frame shop of ultimate magnitude. There are 1000 samples of every kind of picture frame available. The experienced personnel will help you select the right frame for your print, photo, needlework or whatever else you wish to frame. If Mr. Klatt can frame an Andy Warhol shopping bag you know he has expertise. Frame-Art's selection includes from the smallest 1"x1" to anything up to 12 feet. They offer a selection of oils, prints and graphics for framing. If you have difficulty hanging your framed art, Mr. Klatt will offer his assistant in positioning it in the proper location.

You'll feel exquisite after shopping at Waterfall Jewelers. They have a glamorous selection of 14K Italian plum gold jewelry—bracelets, necklaces, anklets. Tom Brown, Sr. and Tom Brown, Jr. will win your confidence through their excellent total jewelry service including watch and jewelry repair, Timex repair service, bonafide jewelry appraisals and advice on gold and diamond investments. Their diamonds carry the quality Jewelfire brand along with other names such as Seiko and Bulova watches and Speidel watchbands to name only a few. Brown's reputation in the jewelry business has been undaunted for 25 years.

How about a new album, 8 track or cassette tape. The Record Bin can fill your desire whether it be classical, rock, disco or smooth listening. Owners Estelle and Irv Gladstone will help you with your selection or special order if not in stock. Along with the music of your favorite artist, you can also choose a poster to enhance your decor. If you would like to tape an old favorite album, Record Bin has blank tapes and a good selection of tape storage cases. Estelle and Irv can also equip you with good stereo equipment maintenance materials and parts.

Now that you've spent your whole day at Waterfall Plaza, it's time to get home to get dinner on the table. Wait! Don't leave yet. Stop into Captain Dick's Seafood Market for the finest in fresh seafood. Take home a couple of live Maine lobsters or select from fresh scallop, scrod, cod, haddock, shrimp, king crab, oysters, clams, or red snapper. Seafood is very nutritious, high in protein and low in calories. Owners Dick Linenges and Chuck Raisanen can help you in the proper preparation of your seafood selection. Captain Dick's motto is, "If we don't have it, we'll get it. If we can't get it, it can't be gotten." Captain Dick can cater your party or prepare a party tray of your selection too!

This Week THE CARPET SHOPPE

If experience is of primary importance to you in selecting carpet then The Carpet Shoppe on M-15 in Ortonville ought to be consulted.

Owner Ray Terry has worked with floorcovering for over twenty years with large Detroit area firms like Michigan Floorcovering and Main Floorcovering of Royal Oak.

Salesman Don Auten, who joined the firm in February, has twenty-seven years in the business, having owned his own store as well as working for Thomas Furniture and Ethan Allen.

Together they make a formidable sales team, but the experience doesn't end there. Said Terry, "Our carpet installer has been fifteen years in the business. In fact he too has owned his own carpet store."

The Carpet Shoppe's only product is floorcovering--over two thousand samples plus roll stock for immediate installation. Unlike similar stores, The Carpet Shoppe does not sell paint, drapes or wallpapers.

"We're a carpet specialty house," said Terry. "We strictly sell floorcoverings. We're specialists in the floorcovering field." Because of this, Terry claimed, they can buy in bigger quantities thus offer more variety for less cost.

Their specialty has given them the opportunity to do a lot of custom work, also. Terry said they had just finished an executive's house in Holly that had carpet (coordinated) everywhere--on the floor, on chairs, on the wall, etc. He said most carpet stores won't do that type of custom work because it is a real chore to install.

The Carpet Shoppe, only in existence for four years, moved to a new building and location earlier in the year. Terry said the move was necessitated by the tremendous growth his business has shown. Now he's got twice the floor space and a larger inventory.

Terry carries most brand names including Mohawk, Mannington, Armstrong, GAF. Periodically, the store also makes special purchases from Southern mills.

Terry services a large area having customers from as far away as Berkley and Warren and north to Lapeer. His work can be found in many commercial establishments, as well as residential homes.

As a special savings to new residents, Terry offers a builder's discount to anyone buying their floorcovering from Terry for their new home.

Both Terry and Auten are looking forward to the shopping complex that is being built next to The Carpet Shoppe. Although Auten will remain with The Carpet Shoppe, his wife will operate a lighting, wallpaper and drapery store in that complex. That in combination with The Carpet Shoppe will make this corner, "a complete shopping complex for the home," said Auten.

Mary Roy: Getting Her Education in High Gear

by Betty Good

You would expect to find her on a college campus—not a gasoline pump island.

Her blond, wholesome beauty somehow seems incongruous with the greasy jeans and tattered sweatshirt she often wears.

But Mary Roy, of Holly, is a member of the locally well-known and respected Roy family, operators of Roy Brothers Standard Service, Dixie and M-15, for nearly twenty years.

And Roy believes in offering his five daughters the same opportunities—and responsibilities—he does his five sons.

Mary's two older sisters are married. She is the first girl in the family to work in the business. She claims it was a natural thing to do because of her birth order in the family. She is "in the middle" between two older brothers and one younger; and "the four of us always did everything together."

Mary left a job as a ward clerk at a Fenton geriatric facility to accept employment at the station, with flexible hours which allowed her to go to college part-time.

She is now a full-time student at University of Michigan-Flint, where she is a sophomore majoring in medical technology.

Her 55-hour-a-week schedule at the station—worked the past two summers—has been cut down to two mornings a week. Mary's on-the-job apprenticeship at the station worked out so successfully that Roy brothers Mark, Mike, and Chris are presently training their younger sister, Collette, to take Mary's place.

Mary's leaving to become a full-time college student, coupled with brother Dennis' enlistment in the service marked another turning point for the family, also. For the first time, it became necessary to hire help from outside the family.

The Roys—including Mrs. Roy, who keeps the books—have always been a close-knit family. Mary says, "When we go home, we don't leave the business behind. We talk about it...We all know all facts of the

Wolves Cash In On Adams Turnovers for 14-6 Win

The Clarkston Wolves played their last home game Friday night, when they defeated Rochester Adams by a score of 14-6. Clarkston finished their home season at a record of 3-1, compared to their 0-4 away record.

Clarkston scored first in the game when they recovered a fumble on the Rochester 26 yard line. Quarterback Nick Lekas ran it in from the 2 and Ron Feneley added the kick for a 7-0 lead that Clarkston kept until the third quarter. Lekas ran the ball in again from the 2 and Nick Hool converted on the kick to run the score up to 14-0. Then in the fourth quarter, Adams fullback Jim Swain sprinted 59 yards for the lone Rochester touchdown. A 2 point conversion failed and the game ended at 14-6.

Total rushing for Clarkston was 110, with Jim Farnsworth running for 66 of them. Clarkston picked up 56 yards passing, Lekas completing 7 out of 13.

The Wolves last game of the season pits them against the Brighton Bobcats at Brighton. Kick-off time is 7:30.

Coach's Record 23-1-1 JV Clobbers Kettering for GOAL Title

The Clarkston Wolves J.V. football team won the GOAL Championship Thursday when they clobbered the Waterford Kettering Captains 35-15. The Wolves were in complete control of the game.

Tim Ellis was the first Wolfe to score. Ellis scored twice in the first quarter. They were on runs of 10 and 72 yards. In the second quarter it was Wolfe running-back Bruce Burwitz who ran the ball in from the 4 yard line.

But the Wolves failed to shut out the Captains in the first half. Kettering scored with a run of 7 yards to put the half-time score at 20-7. In the third quarter Tim Brennan pushed the Wolves score up 6 when he took off on a 13 yard run. Mike Stefanski added 2 points on the conversion which made the score 28-7.

Right after the touchdown, Todd Thompson of the Wolves picked off a pass to set up the next Wolves touchdown. Dave Fulcher, fullback for Clarkston, scored the Wolves last touchdown on a 2 yard run. Kettering scored once more in the game. It came on a 7 yard run to make the final score 35-15.

J.V. head coach Gordie Richardson's Clarkston J.V. record goes to 23-1-1. The Wolves record this year is presently 8-1. The Wolves last game of the season is Thursday, when they play the Brighton Bobcats.

Trim Introduces Bill for Dump Clean-Up Funds

Representative Claude A. Trim (D-Davisburg) introduced a supplemental appropriations bill totaling some $3.9 million for the toxic waste clean-up in Springfield and Rose Townships in Oakland County. He said he is very apprehensive about the total cost because of the large amount of monies involved and feels it is necessary in the bill to spell out exactly where the monies will be spent. He stated that for removal and disposition of surface drum barrels, no more than $179,000 will be spent; for subsurface excavation, no more than $960,000; for hydrogeological study, no more than $130,000, and for excavation disposal, no more than $2,620,000.

Trim stated that any monies not expended would be returned to the state treasurer and be deposited in the general fund. He said he felt that endeavors should be made to assure the financing of the operation and to assure citizens of the area that it would, in fact, be completed. He added that he concurred with letter dated October 11, signed by Dr. Jerry Miller, Director of the Department of Management and Budget, which also sets forth the amount of $3.9 million as the amount needed initially.

Representative Trim stated that his biggest concern lies in the area of excavation disposal, with a total of $2,620,000, saying that he feels that this operation should be studied very closely before any monies are expended in that area.

hay, care for animals, and raise crops during the years the family lived on an 80-acre farm out Dixie Highway. She shakes her head in disbelief when telling of the male customers who insist on pouring their own oil at the full-service island or pointing out the location of the dipstick under the hood to her. She feels her brothers high standards--and her father's--were the ones she had to meet; and, if she couldn't do the job well, she wouldn't be doing it at all.

The blond coed's vitality and energy are evident in the activities she pursues in her leisure time. She swims in the summer and plays racquetball locally in the fall/winter/spring. Together with her mother, sisters and sister-in-law, she participates in a women's bowling league at Clarkston.

The interview inevitably had to get around to the subject of clothes...Mary confesses, "I love clothes...I love to dress up! When I get ready to go to school, my brothers ask 'Where are you going?' My wardrobe has more skirts in it than slacks."

Her friends at school--in Flint--can't believe she dons greasy overalls and works at a gas station, says the very altogether "now" young woman--adding, "Boots are my passion."

Then, impulsively grabbing her huge German Shepherd, "Bear", by the neck, she says, "Here, meet another liberated female member of our family."

With Mary and Collette working at the station now, and a younger sister coming along, who knows? It may someday be known as "Roy Brothers and Sisters!"

"The women in my family have been liberated forever," Mary says, adding that they all learned to bale

Thank You

To all of Ed's friends:

You've been super to Ed's memory, to Jay and to his family. We love you all for the outpouring of support, friendship and caring you have shown and continue to demonstrate. It made death a bit easier for everyone to bear.

To all the teachers, counselors and administrators from Sashabaw High, Clarkston High, Holy Rosary and Brandon, thank you so much. To the football squads and coaches Keefer, Skauge and Mastrantoni especially, thanks for working with Ed. Football was one of Ed's focused interests. We could see the improvement in his abilities and the team's performance. One memory we will cherish is of Ed leaping into the air to grab a pass from Doug and scoring with three Goodrich defensemen hanging onto him.

To Tim Bean, Scott Baker, Al Diem, Doug Purdy, Don Simmons, Larry St. Croix and Craig Dellowe, thanks for bearing Ed to the cemetery. Yvonne, thanks.

To all the ministers who offered the use of their facilities, thanks.

Ed will be in all of our thoughts. He was loved by his family and a host of friends and had a promising future. We will miss him but will recover from his untimely death. Ed's friends must begin to turn their attention back to preparing for their own futures; it can be very promising.

Ed's father & mother; Connie and Tom Howard; John & Jay Vanderlind.
