Inflation Bug-a-Boo Has Multitude of Solutions-But Will They Work?

Our poll (see page 7) to find out what people felt was the solution to our current spiraling inflation rate turned up some interesting results.

Number one is that the general public seems to be as confused as our leaders as to what should be done to halt inflation. No one answer dominated the poll. The disparity of answers was as widespread as the number of potential solutions available.

Very few people went to the foundation of the inflation problem-oil. One person jumped on the oil companies and their huge profits but no one suggested a windfall profits tax or deregulation.

Very few people were critical of President Carter. In fact more supported his actions and felt worry for the predicament he is in.

Even though definitive solutions were hard to come by one aspect was proven time and again--Almost everyone expressed a genuine concern for the inflation problem.

This week The Reminder introduces Guaranteed Action Ads, the first newspaper in Oakland County to offer guaranteed results for users of our want ad section.

The Reminder has long been recognized as an excellent paper as far as want ad readership is concerned. Surveys have indicated our want ad section is the most read portion of the paper.

With Guaranteed Action Ads we hope to offer our readers the best want ad bargain around. We've also added Master Charge/Visa to make it easier to pay for your action ad. All you have to do now is phone it in and we'll add it to your charge card account.

So if you've got an item to sell why not check us out? You'll not find a better deal, anywhere.

Reflections of Independence Board Meeting

To the Editor:

On the night of November 6, I attended the Independence Township Board Meeting. The main subject of the meeting was the Police Question before the Board and the people of the Township. The one question that arose above all others was, why has the board for so long ignored the recommendations of the Police Commission. All five men were very capable and had an authentic capacity to give real and honest recommendations to the members of the township board. In fact in that Police Commission, there exists an approximate total of eighty years in active police work. Their advice and council was apparently ignored as it has been in the past.

Then there was this fine gentleman from the Baptist effort. I was able to understand his implied needs by comparing it with that famous Southern Baptist brother Billy Carter. Brother Billy became famous for his capacity to find an answer, even though confronted with a brick wall.

Then there was the gentleman from the local effort of pedagogy and he was with a fine looking, very white haired quite elderly looking gentleman. This pedagogical individual spoke with great capacity. Plaudits in a laudatory manner were cast into the atmosphere of the meeting. His entire effort was hypercatalytic to say the least.

Somehow through it all they stressed the need for police within the Village of Clarkston. The village needed police for parades and other historical events. The police need was within the village. With regard to the school need, the ingress and the egress to the Clarkston Junior High, the Clarkston High and the Athletic Field, they are within the Village of Clarkston. The school crossing guards are also within the village. It appears that if the school has a problem they should negotiate with the village.

Under the statutes of Michigan the village has no voice in the township police ordinance. Therefore the village and its inhabitants should refrain from an attempt to obtain bargain rate police service from the township. Furthermore, I believe when Trustee Thayer votes on the police matter, he is out of order and is in conflict of interest because he is also on the village board.

Now in checking the Michigan State Statutes that control township police effort, I found the following: 5.46 Section 12 Township police force, power to establish, appoint, make rules, fix powers and duties. (Final sentence.) The township Board shall make all necessary rules for the government of the township police force and its members and shall prescribe the powers and duties of the policeman and watchman, and may invest them with such authority as may be necessary for the preservation of quiet and order and the protection of persons and property within that part of the township not located within the corporate limits of the village. (CL '48, 42.12)

I believe it is time the township seeks its freedom from the Village of Clarkston.

Signed:
Lucky Fletcher

Davisburg Jaycettes Appreciate SCAMP Donations

Dear Editor:

The Davisburg Jaycettes want to take this opportunity to sincerely thank all those who donated their time, money and talents to our Crazy Carnival for SCAMP. The support from the area businesses and SCAMP parents and staff was most heartwarming. A special thank you goes to Jan Seifert who coordinated the SCAMP parent workers and to all those who attended the carnival on a rather cold, rainy day. Because of this continued support, we are proud to donate $1100.00 from this most worthwhile project.

With

 Lewis E. Wint
 Funeral Home
 Clarkston

IS IT IMPORTANT TO ATTEND A FUNERAL?

Yes, it is, and for a variety of reasons.

First, it shows you care. Your being there is appreciated by the members of the family. You can help just by offering to help and meaning it. By attending the funeral, you help share the grieving--and grief-shared is grief-diminished.

Of course, if you were out of town or incapacitated during the funeral period, your not attending is understandable. In such a case, a telegram, letter or phone call helps the family understand your plight.

Visiting the bereaved to offer your assistance and condolences is proper conduct. In fact, many mourners may feel it your obligation to observe this custom out of respect for the family or friendship for the deceased.

If you fail to observe these simple social amenities, you may be unintentionally cutting your ties with the family of the bereaved. It behooves you to attend, to visit, to console the bereaved.

Reminder special report

If You Were President of the United States What Would You Do To Fight Current Inflationary Trends?

by Mike Wilcox, Kathy McReynolds and Kathy Rush

A year ago today people all over the nation were complaining about rapidly rising costs. President Jimmy Carter went on national television to announce a new inflation fighting plan and a new inflation fighter, Alfred E. Kahn.

The annual inflation rate was 8.5 percent, unleaded gas was just over 70¢, home mortgages were at 10 percent and the prime lending rate was 9.5 percent. Gold also had hit an all time high, selling for $233 an ounce.

A year later Alfred Kahn has offered his resignation (Carter convinced him to continue), the inflation rate is 13.2 percent, mortgages go for 14 percent and the prime lending rate seems to increase weekly with it currently at 15 1/4 percent.

Unleaded gasoline is priced between $1.10 and $1.15 a gallon and gold soared to over $425 an ounce before falling back to its current $380 price.

Opinion polls indicate inflation and rising costs are the number one concerns of Americans today. President Carter and The Congress recognize the problem but as of yet have not found a method of stalling or reversing the inflationary trend.

Locally, where the automobile industry reigns, layoffs have been announced starting this week and we're only in the second month of the new model year.

In informal conversations with area car dealers, The Reminder learned that car sales locally, were in sad shape. Other high priced items like carpet and furniture hasn't been selling up to expectations.

To get a feel of what the public felt about current inflation and rising costs The Reminder called over fifty homes in the area and asked the following question:

If you were President of the United States what would you do to fight the current inflationary trends?

Surprisingly the number one answer was to reduce government spending. Over ten percent of the people answering the poll said government spending, especially money going towards welfare programs, should be cut.

Mrs. John King of Laurelton, Clarkston, summed up that position by noting, If we weren't giving so much away, we would not have bankrupted ourselves.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maier of Langle, Clarkston agreed, saying the biggest problem is giant giveaway programs our government has. They also added they were tired of the middle class having to support these programs.

John Paalman, a Clarkston resident and general manager of Danny Paris TV and Appliance also pointed to government spending, but he added "that is very difficult...nobody wants to give anything up but somebody has to."

Mrs. Robert Day of Ortonville Road, Clarkston had a plain and simple answer. "Get these people on welfare working," she insisted.

The second most popular answers were to cut wages and do something about our current Washington leadership.

Carol Thompson of Waumegah, Clarkston was outspoken in her support of wage reductions. She said everyone should hold back on wages, but especially the auto industry. The seven percent Carter wage guidelines should be strictly enforced.

Walter Griffiths of Poplar Court, Clarkston echoed those sentiments saying, the damn high wages (all of them) are the cause of inflation.

Lee Hankins offered this bit of advice. Fire all the bureaucrats in Washington.

There was considerable sentiment, however, from people who didn't envy the position President Carter is in.

Edward Eaglen of Bluegrass, Clarkston said he felt sorry for Carter because he is in a very tough spot.

Robert Kent of Broncho, Clarkston indicated the President had a three-headed dragon on his hands--the heads being inflation, unemployment and the fuel crisis.

Surprisingly, very few of the people polled mentioned the Middle East, the oil companies, or the lack of oil in their solutions. In fact about everything else but oil, was brought out.

Mrs. George Lawson of Clarkston Road said it was up to the people to cut down on everything for prices to come down.

And Mrs. Robert Filbert of Bluegrass said she was doing just that. She claimed she was doing everything she could to restrict traveling and all driving in general.

Mrs. Elwood Johnson of Eastlawn said gas rationing is the answer. She further stated we should quit buying oil from Iran. If we instituted rationing, people would be forced to curb their driving habits.

Bruce Stigall, Farm Bureau Insurance representative from this area, said the only way to stop inflation was to make price controls mandatory.

Of the opposite view, however, was Mrs. John Brown of Hubbard Road. She said, "We should try to have more of a free enterprise system with fewer government controls. The government controls have really hurt the auto companies."

Oakland Parks Studies Offer to Buy Pine Knob Complex

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission announced today that they will investigate the possibility of purchasing Pine Knob. This includes the music theater, golf, and ski facilities.

The Commission, at a regular meeting, was informed that Pine Knob Investment Company had approached Eric Reickel, Manager of the Commission, regarding the purchase. The Commission directed Reickel to continue exploration of this property consisting of approximately 400 acres.

"The only way we would even consider such a purchase is through revenue bonding," Reickel stressed. "I don't want to place any burden on our county taxpayers."

The Commission plans to conduct the investigation as part of its regular procedure to follow up on all offers which they feel would preserve the continuity of acquiring valuable recreation areas. An important consideration in the study will be the potential of such an acquisition to be self-supporting to the extent that it could offset principal interests in revenue bonds and provide a surplus to assist in the operation of other county parks.

In making the proposal to the Commission, Joseph

Locricchio, president of Pine Knob Investment Company, owners of Pine Knob, offered the entire complex rather than a parcel of the operation, explaining that he hopes the entire facility would remain as one piece rather than broken up into various parcels.

On July 23, 1975, the Commission rejected an offer made by Indusco Corporation to purchase Pine Knob. However at that time, speculation that the Commission would some day acquire the complex continued following a recommendation by the Independence Township Board that the county make such a purchase.

The proposed package would include the golf course, ski area and facilities, and outdoor theater. The Nederlander family, who holds a long-term lease on the theater, would continue to operate that portion of Pine Knob.

The Commission is reconsidering this property because of the increased demand for recreation closer to home due to the rising cost of energy and the possibility of revenue bonding.

Motion to Abandon Police Services, Tabled Until December

by Carol Balzarini

The two-year old controversy of county versus township police services found its way back into the headlines as a proposal to dissolve the local department appeared on the agenda of last week's regular meeting of the Independence Township Board. The proposal came from Treasurer Fred Ritter.

In addition to board disagreement over Oakland County Sheriff's Department (OCS) or the township Police Services or a combination of the two, as currently exists, was disagreement over Ritter's handling of the agenda item.

Ritter indicated he had given the item to Clerk Chris Rose just prior to the Friday noon deadline. It had taken that long, he said, to make his decision to put the matter out for consideration.

At Tuesday's meeting Supervisor Floyd Tower expressed "shock" over finding it on the agenda later that day and criticized Ritter's handling of the proposal.

Trustee Jerry Powell called Ritter's motion to dissolve the local department "ill-timed, irresponsible and downright disgusting." He further accused him of making a "blatant attempt to find four votes in the last 48 hours" and said no attempt was made to contact him, Tower or Trustee Mike Thayer.

Ritter admitted later he had not contacted Powell or Tower adding, "Why bother?" indicating he knew their minds were made up in favor of keeping the local department. He said, however, he had talked to Thayer.

Trustee Rudy Lozano said later it was not unusual for any of the three full-time officials to initiate action on key issues nor was it unusual for them to "poll" the rest of the board prior to the meeting.

Lozano was prepared to support Ritter's proposal because he had done some investigating on his own having contacted Billy Nolin at the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. He said a recent editorial on the subject had nothing whatsoever to do with his decision to go along with Ritter.

Lozano said Nolin had indicated a willingness to concur with several items Lozano considered necessary, such as maintaining an office in the village, not at Colombiere, and to enter into a service agreement with the township more specific than the usual blanket contract.

Clerk Chris Rose, the third board member to advocate dissolution of the local department, said, "We all want what is best for the township...this system (dual protection) just isn't working. It's a good idea, but it doesn't work." He defended the action saying, "We've got to take the initiative."

He expressed the need to have the best police protection for the township for the dollars spent. As far as he was concerned, the county could provide just that.

Trustee Bill Vandermark, a member of the Policy Advisory Board (PAB) appointed to investigate all aspects of police services, said he felt the county was the "most cost efficient" but was not prepared to deal with Ritter's proposal that night. He favored community input not possible because so few people were aware this item was even on the agenda.

Note: Attendance at Tuesday's meeting was pretty much limited to police personnel, both local and county, representatives of the Clarkston Community Schools, several PAB members, and families and neighbors of the enforcement officers.

Vandermark also questioned what would happen to school events, parades, and township ordinance enforcement, now all handled locally.

Trustee Mike Thayer, also a member of the Village Council, questioned the status of the village parking enforcement officer and the school crossing guard also handled locally.

Mel Vaara, Assistant Superintendent of Schools and a member of both the Planning Commission and the Zoning Board of Appeals, read a statement supported by a number of other school administrators advocating retention of the local department. He enumerated the services provided to the schools by them and encouraged the board to study other alternatives.

Village Trustee Jack Byers agreed asking for a postponement of the decision giving the Village Council time to meet and formulate opinions.

Charlie Whitlock, another PAB member, supported the local department as the "nucleus" of law enforcement in the township. He also said Ritter's recommendation of two additional deputies was not enough; the township needed ten, not six.

Charlie Kimbel, director of Independence Township Police Services, said he was "astounded" at Ritter's speed and action, calling it a "personal vendetta". He said this was not the time to take such drastic action.

Independence Police Issue Gets November 27 Public Hearing

Robert Nyovich, assured board members their services were there if wanted. Nyovich told them one department was more efficient administratively but his department will work with any local department.

Defeated by a 4-3 vote, Ritter's motion would have repealed the Police Services ordinance "in its entirety" effective January 5, 1980, left one animal control officer and a dispatcher, and increased the number of county deputies from four to six.

A second motion to table the question until December 4, allowing time off for hunting season for some board members, was approved with a public hearing scheduled for November 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall. No official action will be taken at that hearing.

Support for dissolution of the local department appears to stem from the question of economics.

Ritter outlined the police budget in round numbers setting it at $260,000 with $116,000 going for four Oakland County deputies and all other services to be found in that department. The remaining $144,000 provided a chief, two patrolmen, an animal control officer and two secretaries.

The county provides township coverage from 4 p.m. until 8 a.m. The local department works from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Both are now on a seven-day work week.

The one mill levied by the township for police protection brought in some $165,000 this year. Additional income comes from the state, the Village of Clarkston, and Pine Knob. Ritter does not count the $49,500 from the Pine Knob contract calling it "an in an out" account. The village pays five percent of the police budget plus the salaries of the parking enforcement officer and a crossing guard.

For the past three years, Police Services has required $60,000 extra from both the general fund and revenue sharing to stay afloat.

What were Ritter's motives in making this proposal? He said he had wanted to do this several months ago but had to wait until an official meeting with the PAB and then was sidetracked by the October 16 special election.

"Not everything I do is politically motivated," he said. "I'm not running for supervisor...just treasurer right now," indicating he had heard criticism along those lines.

His reason for his action was "strictly financial", the best service for the least amount of money.

Ritter said PAB members indicated to him they had never discussed the possibility of dissolving the local department; they had wanted to retain a public service office. He maintained that just won't work.

Ritter concluded that previous requests for additional police millage had failed because people just didn't know how and where that money was to be spent. Also he wondered where additional funds would be found for the local department next year when no general fund millage will be levied. "If the department is not functioning properly, it's because we don't have the money to make it function properly."

Surprised at Ritter Motion

Supervisor Says Police Personnel Dispute is Settled For Now

Last week's surprising initiative to abolish the Independence Township Police Services even caught township supervisor, Floyd (Whitey) Tower by surprise.

Tower, told The Reminder, he only knew about treasurer Fred Ritter's request to place the item on the agenda the day of the meeting. He rationalized his tiebreaking (the motion failed 4-3) vote to keep the department by insisting the board must have more time to study the township's current police protection and the consequences if police services were abolished.

In his opinion the current coverage, which utilizes both the Oakland County Sheriff's Department and Police Services is working well.

Although he cited problems with communication and the lack of cooperation Clarkston Schools had experienced with the Sheriff's Department, Tower claimed, "I've never pushed for totally our own department. That's like empire building."

Tower said last Wednesday's blow-up at the police department when officer Tom Cavalier was relieved of duty and fellow patrolman Dirk Feneley quit in protest has been settled.

"They're both still there and it has been resolved for the time being," said Tower.

The patrolmen agreed to continue working until a hearing is held. Under the Veterans Act, Cavalier would have to be given a 15 day notice before he could be dismissed.

Consent Judgments Highlight Springfield Meeting

by Carol Balzarini

Discussion of two, possibly three, consent judgments highlighted the November meeting of the Springfield Township Board.

One involved a development on the south side of Waumegah Lake, referred to both as "unique" and a "complicated legal mess" by Supervisor Collin Walls.

The development called "Sisseton" was denied by the appeals board because it includes a private road, not allowed in Springfield zoning, and would result in increased non-conformity. The overall concept is similar to Independence Township's Poquosin.

Property ownership is a problem because the old plat was never approved or recorded. Now one individual has acquired nearly all of the land in question.

Walls told board members the consent judgment asked for approval of the concept. He himself favored it saying it was "good utilization of the property" and that conceptual approval was needed to proceed with engineering. Board members concurred.

Much of the area is low-lying and swampy. Homes and landscaping would be allowed on only a small portion of each lot leaving the majority of its natural state. Some areas would be designated as scenic easements and involve the Independence Land Conservancy.

The second consent judgment Walls termed an "amicable agreement". J.P. Burroughs (Holly Sand and Gravel) will be allowed to continue mining an area north of East Holly Road between Tindall and Oak Hill near the mobile home park. The zoning, however, will remain residential although Burroughs will follow the conditions of the present extractive ordinance and reclaim all of the property according to a submitted plan.

Springfield Township first went to court two years ago when Burroughs began mining the residentially-zoned property adjacent to industrial property already mined for many years. Burroughs maintained it was all right to do so.

Walls said he thought the "trade-off was worth it." Mining will continue with some restrictions.

The third case has not gone to court but attorneys for both parties have met. Walls said the judge asked the board to consider certain conditions in an attempt to avoid litigation.

The case concerns a site plan approved five months ago with the builder now seeking to eliminate both the restroom and paved driveway.

The proposed cement contracting business would be located in Holly Greens Industrial Park #1. Board members felt any change in the requirements would set a precedent for others. Township attorney Gary Dove also suggested testing the ordinance which the plaintiff called "bad".

Walls said later "defending" was a better word to use because "we think we're right."

Under the language of the ordinance, the plaintiff claims he's erecting a storage building (no rest rooms required) while the township contends it is a garage to be used during the day.

avored setting a June 1, 1980 deadline for paving and rest rooms included in construction. That motion was denied.

The township, instead, will require the plaintiff to comply with the zoning ordinance citing greater concern with the overall success of the industrial park than concessions to an individual. Issuance of an occupancy permit will hinge on completion of blacktopping.

Springfield has been notified of a "one-time, non-renewable" extension of the CETA funding for one Oakland County Sheriff's deputy. He will be funded until October 1, 1980.

Township residents may use Pontiac's Collier Road landfill for disposal of trash. Cost will be ten cents per hundred weight, vehicle and trash, per individual. The township's agreement with Marlowe's landfill in Rose Township ran out November 1.

Board members voted to give $400 to the Holly Area Youth Assistance. They also voted to waive the one percent collection fee for this year's tax bills as they have in the past and to waive the four percent penalty fee for senior citizens. The second waiver is good for two-weeks following February 14, 1980.

An "informational" meeting will be held in December with the State Department of Social Services. Louise Hildebrand has applied for a license for an adult foster care facility to be located at 7207 Bridge Lake Road. This is Springfield's fourth request, two facilities exist at present. Those with six people or less are considered single families in local zoning ordinances and not subject to special zoning restrictions.

The developer of the Blue Water Bavarian Village wants to convert the plans for apartments to those for condominiums. The new state condominium ordinance requires the sewage and water systems be owned by the municipality, in this case, Springfield Township. The county would operate it.

Walls said he had no recommendations to make to the board at this time; he was merely presenting it for study by them and the township attorney. He did not want the Department of Natural Resources, however, to allow a temporary permit to sell units pending a township decision.

To Avoid a Chain Saw Headache - Remember!

1. A quality dependable chainsaw may cost a little more initially, but will SAVE money and headaches in the future.
2. What about service, and parts - Nothing is more aggravating than having to wait days or weeks because the dealer you bought your saw from doesn't have a service or parts department.
3. Buy locally - when your saw does need service you can save gas by driving less.
4. What about warranty - what good is a 90 day warranty when you use your saw twice a month (a full year gives you better protection). Does the dealer expect you to buy!?! A warranty?

Avalanche Ski Course to be Taught at Independence Oaks

An avalanche rescue in November? Well not quite yet, and not usually in Michigan, but that's one of the topics nordic skiers will be studying in a course being taught at Independence Oaks County Park near Clarkston November 17 and 18.

The avalanche course and basic ski mountaineering are being offered by the National Ski Patrol System (NSPS) in November and February to "train skiers to use the outdoors safely," says Lynda Parker, a certified ski patroller.

Mrs. Parker and her husband Ted, an NSPS advisor for the Eastern Michigan Region which encompasses the southeastern quarter of the lower peninsula, will teach the courses.

According to Mrs. Parker, they brought the courses to Independence Oaks because they are interested in teaching safety in an area where cross country skiing is becoming increasingly popular.

Relatives of the Parkers own 360 acres of land in Metamora where they live and do most of their skiing. The couple are veteran down hill and nordic skiers. Ted has been cross country touring in Michigan and Canada since the late 1940's.

The NSPS courses are designed primarily for patrollers but are sometimes conducted for the public. In the fall session, they cover theory -- utilizing films, slides and demonstrations. Skiers learn about proper winter gear, long distance searches and how to survive overnight if trapped by snow.

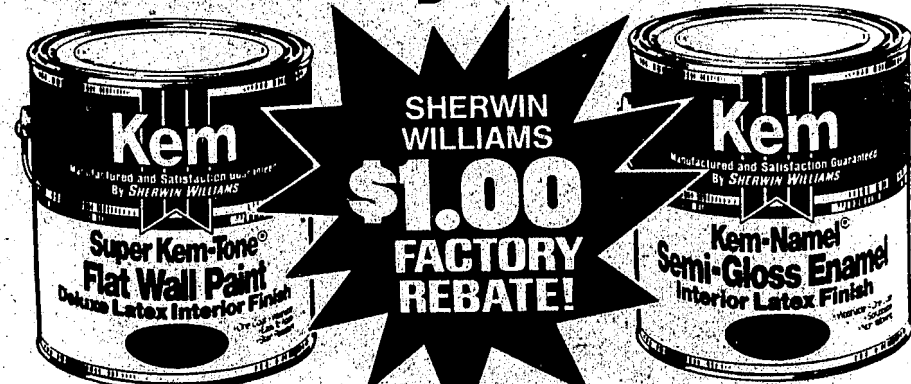

The avalanche course will cover the reason for snow slides, how their danger can be recognized, what to do in an avalanche situation and how to search for and rescue an avalanche victim.

Ted Parker explains that while the occurrence of an avalanche in Michigan is remote, the training is good background for all ski patrol work.

The Nordic Ski Patrol established at Independence Oaks County Park last year has grown to some 25 members who will patrol the park's 16 kilometers of trails and provide assistance to skiers. It is believed to be the first patrol of its kind in Southeast Michigan.

Jeanette Morrison Named Outstanding Young Woman

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Women of America Awards Program announced that Jeanette Kay Morrison of Waterford has been selected for inclusion in the 1979 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

The Outstanding Young Women of America Program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in their homes, the professions and their communities.

FORECAST

by Robert Davis

What a difference a month can make! After enjoying an abundance of sunshine in September, clouds became the dominant weather feature during October. Although measurable precipitation occurred at the eastern Clarkston station on 15 days during the month, precipitation was slightly below normal during October. Monthly rainfall totals for our 4-township and surrounding area ranged from 1.24 inches at Detroit Metropolitan Airport to 2.52 inches at Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township. Locally, the northern Clarkston station recorded 1.99 inches and the eastern Clarkston station 2.12 inches of precipitation during October. Through the end of October, the rainfall for the 1979 calendar year is about 1 inch above normal. The Clarkston area experienced its first snow flurries of the season on the afternoon of the 10th, with no measurable snowfalls occurring during the month.

Temperatures averaged about 3 degrees below normal per day during October, with the eastern Clarkston station recording a mean temperature of 49.4 degrees. Clarkston temperatures in October ranged from a low of 21 degrees on the 27th to a high of 79 degrees on the 22nd. The gardening season ended with our first frost on the morning of the 11th, as the temperature dropped to a low of 27 degrees. The growing season for 1979 lasted only 141 days, which is about 2 weeks shorter than normal. Oddly enough, our first frost occurred exactly on the mean date for that event (there is a 50% chance of frost in our area by October 11).

Once again it is time to think about putting on those snow tires and winterizing your car. For those people interested in snowfall statistics, our chances for a 1" snow depth is 10% by November 6, 50% by November 25, and 90% by December 14. Chances for a 3-inch snow depth are 10% by November 14, 50% by December 10, and 90% by January 5. (The isohyetal map was prepared by Robert C. Davis and was sponsored by Johnson and Anderson, Inc., Consulting Engineers.)

This Week
Timberline Saddlery & Ski Company

You might say diversity has been the key to success for Ted Remke. Remke, owner of Timberline Saddlery and Ski Company of the Clarkston Mills Mall, boasts of merchandise that will fit everyone's taste, from youngsters to adults, male and female.

Although, much of Timberline is devoted to the ski and horse enthusiasts, Remke carries a number of lines of Western clothes. And those clothes are becoming more and more popular everyday, said Remke. A

Dale Adams and Ted Remke

Western shirt, he said, will last much longer than any other shirt and people are beginning to realize that.

Timberline is a major outlet for Levis. Levi pants, shirts, jackets, etc. are stocked in various sizes throughout the store. Boots by Dingo and other famous brand names are also available.

Remke is one person that is looking forward to bad weather—particularly lots of snow. For when winter comes, much of his business turns to the skiing crowd—mainly cross country skiers.

Cross country skiing is the fastest growing sport in America and Remke doesn't expect the growth to peak for several years yet. It has numerous advantages, over downhill skiing, he said, including one major factor—it's far less expensive.

In this area the sport is enjoying its greatest popularity. Independence Oaks with miles and miles of trails and many skiing programs is only a few minutes away.

To accommodate those skiers, Remke has several brands of skis and accessories available for sale and rent. Remke an avid skier since his early teens and assistant manager Dale Adams, a cross-country ski expert, are always available for advice and assistance.

Remke is in his second year of business. He hails from Grosse Pointe and was working on the West Coast for his father's Detroit based truck related business, when he decided to get into his own store.

Clarkston Mills was an obvious choice at that time because it was just about ready to open and Marc Alan, owner, was a friend of the family. Now, Remke, claims he would never have chosen another location, because Clarkston's opportunities for growth and development far surpass other locations.

Diversification comes in the form of a large list of products including the aforementioned plus harness and tack products, hats, day packs, fine jewelry, belts, sport coats and suits, jackets, sweaters and a variety of other merchandise.

Ted shows off some of his cross country ski selection.

The store is of considerable square footage—largest in the Mills. Its decor suits the Western theme quite well and is impeccably decorated with eye appealing displays.

Although Remke and Adams are mainstays at Timberline, several part-timers work on occasion. Remke said high school student Cere Shraw has been of particular help in organizing the business.

Judy Threlloff, of Clarkston, is almost as much a rarity as the koala bears she collects--a working woman who loves to cook and finds time to do it! In this day when restaurants are more popular than ever, and it seems that eating out has almost replaced the family kitchen, The Reminder was surprised when she asked, "Why don't you print more recipes?"

Both she and her husband, Bill, enjoy cooking, Judy explained, and she asked the question because "I like challenges in cooking; I always like to try new recipes."

The Threlloffs like to entertain, and she and Bill really go all out in cooking delectable treats when they do. Their New Year's Eve party--held the Saturday before the holiday last year--is a good example. Combing cooking, she inherited an interesting tradition when she assumed ownership of La Trend last July.

The previous two owners had a custom-going back a dozen years or more-of serving special foods to their co-workers and employees at lunch and dinner time on Christmas Eve...one of the shop's busiest days of the year, and the only one on which food is served. Each year presents a new challenge to the cook, and Judy is presently making out this year's menu.

Of course, all this food preparation necessitates a great deal of grocery shopping. Does Judy like to shop? She replied, "I love to grocery shop...there aren't many people that like to grocery shop." Once she stops at a store, Judy said, "I usually can't get out without spending at least $40.00."

The Threloffs, also, enjoy eating out. Their favorite spot for this is Toronto, "where you can experience true gourmet cooking." They enjoy different international cuisines--French, Italian, Mexican, Chinese--and claim no favorites among the nationalities represented.

Though somewhat restricted by business responsibilities, the Threloffs enjoy traveling. They make annual or bi-annual trips to Toronto, Florida, and Arizona.

In-between, they make frequent trips to the Roscommon area, where they enjoy canoeing and camping.

Judy recently became interested in photography and just completed a course in 35mm photography, through Brandon Community Education. She looks forward to more study in that area.

She says her husband is receptive to her new recipes because he, too, enjoys cooking. In fact, he treats her to dinner waiting on the table when she works late two nights a week.

It works well, Judy says, because "We can't share the kitchen." Bill received a Chinese wok as a gift, and he experiments with that type of cooking when she isn't there.

"If you can print just one recipe," she said, "I would like to share mine for 'Kahlua'--a coffee liqueur. It is so nice to give as a gift for Christmas, and must ferment for 30 days." She says the recipe is a Mexican liqueur using vanilla beans, which is so versatile it can, also, be used over ice cream for parfaits.

Following is Judy Threloff's recipe for "Kahlua:"

KAHLUA

2 oz. freeze-dried coffee
4 cups granulated sugar
2 cups boiling-hot water
Mix and cool
Add 1 pint 100-proof Vodka
Divide into 2 - 26 oz. bottles
Place 1/2 vanilla bean into each bottle
Cap and wait 30 days before opening

Koalas & Kahlua - Judy Threloff adores both

Put a Dragon

...high efficiency with more than a touch of elegance.

in your living room.

Esse stoves. Manufactured in Scotland, continuously since 1854. Famed throughout the world for highest quality, unmatched beauty, solid value. And now available in America through selected dealers.

Esse offers exclusive antique designs. The Dragon, shown here, is made of embellished exterior castings unchanged since the 1880's. The vitreous enamel finish in your choice of burnished copper, blue or black creates an ambient glow that makes the Dragon a conversation piece even when it is not burning.

But Esse beauty is more than skin deep. The Dragon -- and the full line of Esse stoves -- are fine heaters, rated excellent by the United Kingdom's stringent National Coal Board testers. They're fully sealed, very economical. Burn wood or coal, provide steady, even heat.

See Esse before you consider any lesser stove. There's nothing quite like them. Anywhere.

Express Opens Indoor Soccer November 18

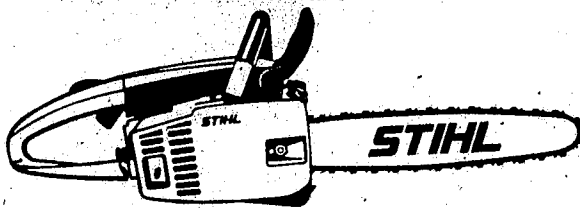

The countdown has begun for the Detroit Express' first season of Indoor Soccer. "Hot" soccer gets underway in the Silverdome's Mini-Dome on Sunday, November 18th at 7:30 p.m. with an exhibition game against one of the top NASL National Conference clubs, the Minnesota Kicks.

Indoor Soccer is a whole new ballgame...it's soccer, "American-style". Played in a hockey size rink with six man teams it provides all the skill and excitement of regular soccer plus a whole lot more. The action is incredibly fast with around a dozen goals per game, the added dimension of lightning-quick carom plays, and complex new strategies based on the game's unlimited substitution.
