Pre-School Visits Bakery

The three and four year old classes from Davisburg's Crosshill Community Preschool visited the bakery at Freeman's grocery store in Holly recently. The visit was the highlight of recent awareness activities related to eyes, ears, nose and mouth. The children's senses were all involved as they enjoyed the smells and sights of the bakery kitchen. They listened to bakery personnel tell about the dough and how they braided it or add cinnamon and other flavors to it. They watched the bread slicing machine slice several loaves of bread in a row. Best of all, they had the opportunity to taste some freshly baked cookies compliments of Freeman's. Seconds of the delicious baked goods were then purchased by the preschool and enjoyed at snacktime later in the morning at school.

Gas Tax is Just What the Doctor Ordered to Curb Inflation

The Honorable James Earl Carter
President of the United States
The White House, Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington D.C. 20001

Dear President Carter:

I'm terribly frightened about this thing our economists call inflation. It keeps increasing at a tremendous rate. Neither you nor Congress seem to be able to control it. Furthermore, I get the uneasy feeling you're attempting to divert our attention from these ticklish domestic problems, by creating a nationalistic fever to support your foreign policies. I'm not against emphasis on foreign policy—but I do believe the serious problems we have at home must be confronted.

In case you've forgotten, the oil nemesis continues to be the major cause of our unchecked inflation. Just 8 years ago, it cost the U.S. $5 billion to import the oil our nation consumed that year. In 1979 the price tag was $65 billion. And you know that figures out to $195 for every person in the U.S.

Do you realize just how much $65 billion is, Mr. President? According to Esquire Magazine it's all the gold in Fort Knox ($58 billion) and then some or 32.5 million acres of $2000-an-acre farmland—almost the entire state of Iowa; or the selling price of General Motors, IBM and RCA put together.

And do you realize President Carter, that even though our workers are making much more money than they did ten years ago, we are no longer the richest nation in the world? In fact Switzerland, Kuwait, Denmark, Sweden, West Germany, Belgium and Norway are all better off than us (based on per capita gross national product).

I'm not suggesting our country is on its way to poverty. But it is a fact you and your companions have done virtually nothing constructively to combat inflation.

Here's a suggestion I think merits serious consideration. It's nothing earth-shattering, nor is it something that hasn't been debated from time to time. But as I watch the "gas crunch" get more severe each passing year, I'm now convinced, Mr. President, that we must place a federal tax on gasoline to bring it up to the $2-$3 dollars a gallon price tag that Europeans have grown accustomed to. The federal tax should be near a $1 a gallon and should be mandated in 25c or 33c increments over a period of 3-4 years. I know what you're thinking. The public won't stand for it. My fate would be the same as Canada's Joe Clark—booted out of office for a preposterous tax on gasoline.

But you're wrong. Explain the benefits of the tax and most Americans will embrace it. Tell them they will pay no more (cost per mile) than they do now. Figure it out. A $2 a gallon pump price will force most Americans to seek automobiles that get at least 30 miles per gallon. The average car on the road today gets 14 MPG and costs 7c/a mile to drive. At $2 a gallon and 30 MPG it would cost slightly less than 7c/a mile. All we need is greater production of fuel efficient cars.

Secondly, that $1 a gallon gas tax would be going to our own government's treasury. No longer would we be making wealthy people of the OPEC nations. The gas tax, if it were to be used to lower other taxes (not a bad idea) could cut the personal income taxes every American pays nearly in half!

Mr. President, you really have very few choices. You can continue to depend upon the volatile Arab oil fields for over 50% of your oil needs—which will only lead to serious economical troubles and possibly war in the future—or coerce Americans into oil conservation.

And the most appropriate method of coercion is the federally mandated gas tax. Please act now Mr. President. Americans cannot afford to absorb any more inflation.

Sincerely yours,

Mike Wilcox

Letters

Letter to the Editor,

Thank you editor, Mike Wilcox, for letting me write a guest editorial in your paper last week, about the Detroit and SEMTA.

I received several phone calls...all against the subway and to get out of SEMTA. None were for the subway and SEMTA. It told me what I thought all along...the people of this area don't want to be taxed to build and run Detroit's transportation system.

I will continue to fight, even though my vote is in the minority, against the subway and try to get out of SEMTA.

Michigan Week Plans Underway

With plans for Michigan Week underway, can spring be far behind?

Led by Independence Township Clerk Chris Rose, the Michigan Week Committee is already hard at work encouraging activities and assembling a week of events to take place May 17 - 24.

This year promises to be one of the best ever starting with Band Day on Saturday, May 17, and ending with the second annual Michigan Week 10,000 Meter Run sponsored by the Independence Township Recreation Department on Sunday, May 25.

In the middle of the week is the Presidential Primary slated for Tuesday, May 20 but subject to possible cancellation.

Also that week will be the second annual used book sale sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

A special date to be marked on the calendar is Friday, May 23, the second annual Community Awards Dinner co-sponsored by the Michigan Week Committee, the Clarkston Jaycees and the North Oakland Civitans to be held at the Spring Lake Golf Club.

Nominating forms for outstanding young citizen, educator, government official, creative arts contributor, "super" person, volunteer of the year and distinguished services awards will soon be available at the Clerk's office in the township hall or from any member of the sponsoring groups for the dinner.

In the meantime, the Michigan Week Committee is encouraging any and all groups to plan events for this week whether they be bake sales or something on a much grander scale. All events will be combined in a unified advertising campaign.

Pullins Without a Home

Gary Pullins, social worker for the Clarkston Area Youth Assistance and subject of a recent Reminder special report, will soon be a man without an office again. He was only granted a 30-day extension on his use of office space at the Independence Township Senior Citizens Center.

Office space had been provided for 90 days by the township board with the stipulation that Pullins find a permanent location in that time. However, he has been unable to do so. Not one of his sponsoring groups has a spare, centrally located office for him to use.

Pullins' request for an extension was seconded by Chairman Alex Stewart and Virginia Walter who reminded the board that as one of YA's sponsoring groups they had an obligation to assist them.

YA offices have gone from the basement of the township hall to the special services building next to Clarkston High School to independence center to the senior citizen center.

Offices were moved from the township hall when the seniors took over the basement room prior to acquiring their own center. They were moved again when special services needed that extra space themselves. They were moved again when independence center was closed recently. Pullins said there is no room in any of the Clarkston schools for him either.

Pullins will return to his original location in the basement of the township hall April 1, following use of the room in March by the board of review and census people conducting training sessions.

Under the terms of the barrier-free laws as interpreted by the township, 90 days was all that could be allowed in the senior center for temporary use. No one wanted to jeopardize federal funds but it was felt another 30 days could do no harm.

Pullins has been using upstairs rooms at the center which by law cannot be used by the seniors because the second floor is not barrier-free. The social worker's clients, however, are not handicapped so it presents no problem to them.

The seniors, on the other hand, were very unhappy with the board for allowing the space to be used by someone other than seniors in the first place and were doubly unhappy with the extension even for just 30 days.

"I HAVE NO COMPASS AND NO CHART, NO WAY OF KNOWING WHERE TO END OR WHERE TO START"

Diane and I have been concerned for many years regarding the adjustment period of widows and widowers following the death of their spouse.

Programs have been started in other areas on a trial basis which bring widowed persons together to help each other face the reality of everyday life. Solving problems through rap sessions, personal involvement and outside speakers such as counselors, lawyers and money management experts have proven to be very successful.

We have met with the leaders of several of these groups as well as some core widowed persons in our community in order to begin a program in the Clarkston Area.

Our first meeting of, "WIDOWED COPING TOGETHER", has been scheduled for March 5, 1980 at 7:30 p.m. in the Clarkston Senior High School Library. An evening of relaxed conversation, coffee and an excellent speaker has been planned.

We invite any widowed persons of our area to join us on March 5th.

Sincerely,
Lew and Diane Wint

Special Fire Assessment Vetoed

If Fire Chief Frank Ronk wants to establish a special assessment district for fire protection, he will have to do it without official help from the Independence Township Board which declined to act on his request that it be placed on the ballot in a special election in time for collection in this year's taxes.

A special assessment district, if approved, would allow the township board to levy up to ten mills for fire protection. The amount levied would vary from year to year as needs changed. Currently, the township levies two mills for fire protection subject to renewal at regular intervals. The special assessment district, once established, would never be renewed by the voters.

Since the board declined to take action and place the proposal on a special election ballot, Ronk will have to do it himself through the petition process.

Clerk Chris Rose said the petitions would have to be signed by half the landowners in the township but that the term "landowners" was subject to interpretation.

Of the six board members present at last week's meeting, only Supervisor Floyd Tower and Trustee Mike Thayer appeared willing to go along with Ronk's request. The others did not favor the proposal saying there were other needs in the township equally as important as the fire department's and that they couldn't see spending the money on a special election for this proposal alone.

Is a Subway in Our Future? Some Hope Not

by Sue Stephens

Recently the Michigan Senate voted 20-15 to approve funding for preliminary engineering studies for the proposed subway to be constructed on Woodward Avenue.

If the subway is constructed, it will cost $1.5 billion. The planned subway will run underground East of the Renaissance Center along Woodward Avenue to Six Mile Road. At Six Mile, the subway will surface and run from Six to Ten Mile at ground level. South Eastern Michigan Transit Authority (SEMTA) spokesperson Barbara Murphy said the package will also include many improvements to the current bus and rail service.

Ms. Murphy stated there will be greatly expanded and improved bus service in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland Counties. She said there has been some dissatisfaction in the past with OCART bus service. However, an increase from sixteen to a proposed forty-seven small buses is expected by this summer. Probably by 1985 there will be four hundred and forty-four small buses travelling throughout the county, she added.

Expanded large bus service will include an additional one hundred and twenty in Detroit and one hundred and ninety-five express or park and rides, according to Ms. Murphy.

She said the plan also calls for improved rail service including an additional train from Pontiac to Detroit. Using existing Grand Trunk or AMTRAK rails, passenger service from Mt. Clemens, Pontiac and Ann Arbor will be expanded to include trips during the day as well as the regular commuter runs.

The plan includes a downtown people mover, similar to a monorail, to encircle the core of the central business district.

For Oakland County residents, she said, SEMTA is doing a joint study with Pontiac to improve service within Pontiac and its surrounding areas. Potential park and rides will run from four lots located in Rochester through Troy and culminate in Detroit.

Murphy said the plan is the result of a study by SEMTA which examined places of employment and places of residence for people in the Metropolitan Detroit area. A commuter map of these people was created to pinpoint where they work, where they live

"There is a less expensive, more efficient type of transportation than subway..."

and the most efficient way of transporting them to and from each.

Oakland County Commissioners recently submitted to SEMTA a resolution and a list of needed services for Oakland County residents. According to Murphy, all of the requests, with the exception of light rail service to Sixteen Mile are included in the SEMTA plan. She added that the reason for light rail service stopping at Ten Mile is because the federal government requires that it be completed in minimum usable segments. She added that SEMTA is committed to study the extended plan.

The projected operation cost for the SEMTA plan is $15 per person per year. The federal government will contribute 80% or $1.2 billion of the construction costs while state residents are expected to share 20% or $30.8 million of the construction costs.

Many local citizens expressed negative reactions to the plan stating it will not meet the needs of the local community. Olive Taylor stated, "I think it will cost too much (and) who'd get any good out of it?" Ernest G. Hetzel said, "I think the whole county is against building it for Detroit; yet our people will be paying for it." He added, "With taxes up, how are people going to pay for any more." Margaret Nicol feels bus service, not a subway, is needed for area residents. She continued, "If they ever vote on it (the subway), they'll get no from me."

This week the proposal will be considered by the House of Representatives. In an interview with this reporter, Representative Claude Trim stated, "I can't support the SEMTA package." He stated there are too many unresolved questions in the plan and that it does not fit the needs of his constituents. He added there is a "less expensive, more efficient type of transportation than subway." He suggested the use of Grand Trunk lines in Holly, Durand and Pontiac.

Trim went on to say that "local involvement in the plan is absolutely necessary." He stated he could only support a plan which includes "local people sitting down with SEMTA to work out a service for our people."

County Commissioner Leads Subway Opposition

by Sue Stephens

Oakland County Commissioner Richard Wilcox said he objects primarily to the subway part of the SEMTA plan commenting that it is a "tremendous waste of money to build a subway (and) that a transportation service operating at the surface or elevated level would be 20-30% of the cost of subway construction.

Wilcox went on to say that Oakland County residents "will have to pay a tax to take care of the operational deficit" created by the system and we still "won't have any better transportation service than we have now; what we have now is nothing." Wilcox is concerned that the money will be spent on the subway and not to meet the needs of Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties.

In addition to paying part of the construction costs, Oakland County residents will also be required to pay at least $15 per person per year to operate the system.

Wilcox said he did not support the resolution and list of demands sent by county commissioners to SEMTA officials because, as he stated, "my personal feelings are that Oakland County should immediately withdraw from SEMTA and establish a transportation system of its own to meet the needs of county residents." Wilcox went on to say his constituents also favor a withdrawal from SEMTA.

In response to his recent editorial published in The Reminder, Wilcox, who represents six townships in Northern Oakland County, said he had received many calls from local people who favor withdrawing from SEMTA. He added that none of the calls he had

by Carol Balzarini

The police issue has finally been laid to rest, at least for the time being, by the Independence Township Board and the vote was unanimous as the reserve force was dissolved for the second time effective February 29.

The latest argument over who would protect the township and when was begun in December when Treasurer Fred Ritter made a motion to dissolve the local department, both full-time and reserve, and contract solely with the Oakland County Sheriff's Department for police protection. Ritter contended that was the one way the township could get the most for their money.

Although the motion passed 4-3, at least one member of the board, Bill Vandermark, had second thoughts about the vote and said it was not his intention to dissolve the reserves. Thus they were reinstated after another vote.

In the meantime, a mutual service agreement had been worked out between the township and the OCSD spelling out the extent of their services to the township. One part of the agreement was that the deputies would occupy the township Police Services building leaving their substation at Colombiere.

However, as long as the reserves continued to use the Police Services building as did the animal control officer and the dispatcher, the deputies declined to move in. It had been Ritter's original intent to have the officer and the dispatcher move into the DPW building to be under the supervision of director George Anderson.

Then an opinion was rendered by Township Attorney Richard Campbell that the reserves could not enforce state laws without having a full-time certified police officer in charge of them. That also meant the Pine Knob contract could not be undertaken by them as they had planned.

During the discussion at last week's board meeting, Supervisor Floyd Tower reminded board members that the township already had a full-time certified police officer working for them, his daughter Beth Tower who is now the animal control dispatcher. She could satisfy the terms of Campbell's opinion, he said.

Despite that reminder and Vandermark's remark that the Police Advisory Board, of which he has been a member, had recommended there be a liaison officer to work with the schools, Pine Knob and the county, the board voted to dissolve the reserves and have the Police

Trustee Jerry Powell told the rest of the board "like it or not" it was time they realized the vote to disband was 4-3 even though he himself had voted against the motion.

The reserves, angry and frustrated over their on-again, off-again status, told the board any action was better than no action at all although they preferred keeping the reserves plus a full-time officer. One reservist accused them of "making a mockery of law enforcement in Independence Township". And if the Pine Knob contract had been ruled out by the attorney, they weren't interested in staying around for "a few parades".

Pine Knob Sues Independence for $30 Million

A third law suit has been added to recent ones filed in Federal Court in Detroit involving the Pine Knob resort complex. Last week Pine Knob Investments asked Oakland County Circuit Court for a writ of mandamus to force Independence Township to issue the building permit necessary to construct the 22-story hotel planned for the resort but rejected by a 2-1 margin in a special referendum election last October.

Recently, Pine Knob was sued in Federal Court by the Borg-Warner Equities Corporation of Chicago seeking foreclosure of a $1.3 million mortgage on the Pine Knob Music Theatre. The investment company charged Pine Knob defaulted by failing to pay the annual interest installment due last November 1.

Shortly thereafter, Pine Knob sued Borg-Warner for $15 million essentially charging the investment firm with violating an agreement to not interfere with the development of the remainder of the complex and attempting to gain control of it. Borg-Warner owns about one third of the total acreage.

In the latest suit, filed specifically against Timothy J. Palulian, head of the township building department, and the Zoning Board of Appeals, Pine Knob Investment charged the township with illegally withholding a building permit last October. The $30 million asked is for "compensatory damages". That figure also represents the estimated cost of the proposed hotel.

Pine Knob Investment partners Joseph Locricchio and Gary Francell charge in their suit Township Ordinance 83 allows certain principle uses in areas zoned recreation as Pine Knob is. Those principle uses include ski resorts.

Also allowed, the suit continued, are "accessory buildings" incidental to ski resorts. A hotel, it contends, is an accessory building. Pine Knob's conception of an accessory building is a 22-story hotel with a ski slope built into one side of it.

A major stumbling block to their proposed hotel lies in the township zoning ordinance which only allows 2-story structures. In the October special election voters indicated they were unwilling to change the ordinance to allow taller structures and were not in favor of hotels in recreation districts.

The requested building permit was denied by Palulian following a decision by the ZBA to take no further action because of the outcome of the referendum.

The possible purchase of Pine Knob by Oakland County as an addition to their network of recreational facilities is being investigated in the meantime.

One member of the Parks and Recreation Commission said he did not feel the pending law suits would influence any decisions made by the county. All legal problems, however, would have to be resolved by Pine Knob before the county could gain clear title to the land received favored remaining in SEMTA.

Special Report

Wilcox said a subway can not be built without Oakland County tax revenue support and if Oakland County withdraws, SEMTA officials "will be forced to look at other alternatives which would not include a subway."

Citing studies of Oakland County residents, Commissioner Wilcox stated residents travel primarily within the county itself and as much, if not more, in an East/West direction rather than the proposed North/South route.

Wilcox said a majority of the commissioners in the county are against the subway but not SEMTA itself because they fear they'll lose what little public transportation they already have if the county withdraws from SEMTA.

When asked about his future plans, Wilcox stated he intends to introduce another resolution favoring withdrawal at the next meeting of the commissioners. He said a petition drive has also been initiated to place the issue of Oakland County withdrawal from SEMTA on the November ballot.

He said the only hopes for defeating the plan rest with the House of Representatives who are presently considering funding the preliminary engineering studies at a cost of $950,000 and also with the county commissioners who could decide to withdraw Oakland County from SEMTA.

BOEC to Attend State Convention

The students from Clarkston Senior High School will be attending the 8th Annual State Convention of the Business and Office Education Clubs in Detroit on March 13, 14, and 15. According to Tammi Flood, chapter president, approximately 2,000 high school office education students from around Michigan are expected to attend.

Headquarters will be at the Detroit Plaza Hotel. Students will be attending general sessions, and competitions in both skill and leadership areas. Students will also have opportunities to tour Windsor, Canada, the Detroit Science Center, and Detroit Institute of Arts. The Opening Session will include a keynote address by

Dr. Carl Winters of Oak Park, Illinois.

The BOEC students attending this conference participate in the election of state officers and workshops. The highlight of the three-day conference is an Awards Banquet where all contest winners are announced. First, second, and third place winners in the 33 contest areas will then travel to the National Office Education Association Conference in Minneapolis, Minnesota, to compete for national awards, in April 1980. Mrs. Reeves and Mrs. Eaton, teachers at Clarkston High School, are the BOEC advisors. They also will attend the conference.

The students attending this conference from Clarkston Senior High School are: Pat Bradley, Terri Bennett, Chris Davies, Ann Fairse, Tammi Flood, September Irish, Forta Monroe, Shelley Nelson, Julie Sanders, Sue Saylor, Sue Sutphin, and Jori Verch.

Wolves Clobber Rochester 68 - 41 for Seventeenth Straight Win

The No. 1 state ranked Clarkston Wolves made it a step closer to an undefeated season when they demolished the Rochester Falcons, 68-41. The win was yet another repetitious victory for the Wolves, who have been humiliating their opponents all season long.

When the game started, the Falcons had upset on their minds, but they just couldn't put it together against the powerful defense of the Wolves. Rochester stalled all through the first period, and then employed a numerous amount of other offenses, none of which had an effect on the Wolves.

"We're a better defensive club than most people realize," replied Clarkston Coach Gary Nustad. It showed, too, with a halftime score of 43-14 in Clarkston's favor.

John Sheldon, senior guard, picked up 7 steals in the first half, and he ended up with 16 points. Scott McKoin, junior forward, scored 18 points, and Tim McCormick, the towering senior center, knocked in 21 points to lead both teams. McCormick, as of most of the starters that played for the Wolves, played less than three periods, which gave the fans a look at the depth of both teams.

Following last Wednesday's Southeast Michigan Ski League Championships, better known as the Detroit News Meet, held at Mt. Holly, Angela Balzarini and Rick Emerson were named to the All-Oakland County ski team.

Emerson, a junior at Clarkston High School, finished seventh in the giant slalom and 14th in the slalom overall. He placed fifth and tenth respectively on the all-county team.

Balzarini, a sophomore, finished 13th in the giant slalom and 14th in the slalom overall and placed tenth in both events on the all-county team.

The all-county team is determined by eliminating the skiers in the Detroit News Meet who do not attend Oakland County Schools and taking the top ten of those who do in each event.

Balzarini and Emerson qualified for this meet as a result of their individual performances at the district meet held at Pine Knob February 7.

Bonnie Hartzman: Homemaker, Entertainer, Beauty Consultant

by Betty Good

On a clear day, Bonnie Hartzman can see Colombiere Center—nearly five miles away—from the deck of her hilltop home in Independence Township. The country ranch-style home was built entirely by her husband, Les, a skilled carpenter who, also, works as superintendent for Danash Associates, a commercial construction firm.

With the help of a local interior decorator, Bonnie has transformed the interior of the 1½ year-old home into a country retreat with colorfully papered walls, rich wood furnishings, and plants inside framing a spectacular view of woods and hills and rolling meadows outside.

While doing all this with the enthusiastic approval and help of her family, which includes Joel, 17, a junior at Clarkston High School, and Beth, 11, a fifth grader at Bailey Lake Elementary, Bonnie has finally achieved the balance between home and career which she actively

"Women like me, who want to maintain their current standard of living, with inflation are finding it necessary to supplement the family income. Trying to find a fulfilling career at which I could, also, make money has been the object of my search for five or six years..."

sought for over six years.

Bonnie said, "Women like me, who want to maintain their current standard of living, with inflation are finding it necessary to supplement the family income. Trying to find a fulfilling career at which I could, also, make money has been the object of my search for five or six years..."

"I finally found the career where I could have the balance necessary to maintain my home and work at the same time. As a Mary Kay Cosmetics consultant, I am able to arrange my appointments around my family and other obligations and interests."

Bonnie's other work experiences, which preceded the arrival of her children--and followed a ten-year stay at home with them--have been varied. She attended Olivet College for two years to develop her inborn love of music and vocal talents. This was followed by a term of six years during which she taught music in the Waterford School District, taught nursery school, and substituted at the kindergarten and first grade levels.

Throughout most of this time she was, also active in the church. She served as choir director at Calvary Lutheran Church, Clarkston, for four years. For three years, she was music director at Bethany Baptist Church, Pontiac, and still is a member of the choir.

Her longest involvement in work outside the home, however, has been as lead-singer in a strolling group called "The Hi-Lites", who have sung in the Detroit Metropolitan area for fourteen years. Bonnie and the other two female vocalists sing a wholesome program of "middle-of-the-road" music in three-part harmony with solos. Moving through their audiences at such places as the Hyatt Regency and Raleigh House, they are accompanied by an accordion and bass, in addition to guitar.

Through the years, their agent has booked them on an almost weekly basis at country clubs, company outings for all three "big 3" car companies, and at Pro-Am. golf events. At one point in her entertainment career, Bonnie, also, cut a recording of sacred music, which was well-reviewed in news media throughout the Detroit area. Her years of waitressing at Clarkston Cafe were highlighted by a weekend of performing as an entertainer there in May.

Measuring success in terms of personal satisfaction, Bonnie is now "in her element" giving facials and skin care consultations on an individual and group basis. She stresses that the balance in her home would not be possible if the family did not work so well together as a unit.

Family dining by candlelight is a nightly tradition in the Hartzman's home--"Meals are important to me," Bonnie said,--explaining that working by appointment only allows her the scheduling flexibility to do this. On those rare occasions when she is late, son Joel, an accomplished cook, is apt to fix tasty venison dishes from the deer he bagged while on a hunting trip with his father last fall. Dessert is often prepared by Beth, who loves to bake "from scratch".

MY MOTHER

In my mind's eye, I can see
You there by the apple tree
With your floppy hat, and trowel in hand
Or on your knees, digging in the sand
It seems I can almost see you smile
As you rest there a little while.

The fragrance of flowers, blown with the wind
Makes my heart light and I want to sing.
I see your hair shining in the sun

As you look at the work you've done
Each plant is a special prize-
As you look upon it with your blue eyes.

No one can count the hours
That you've spent there among your flowers
The others look, they can't see
The peace and contentment
You find there beside your apple tree.

The Findlay. It's more than a cozy wood burning friend.

It's as dependable as the Conestogo wagon of old but with new ideas. To begin with it's made of heavy steel plate welded into an efficient airtight unit. We lined the inside with fire bricks and then added Thermocord gaskets to the cast iron doors for a positive airtight seal. Then we built in a baffle system for the most efficient burning up to 12 hours. There's a practical ash catch at the front the doors open wide enough for a 20" log and the 5/16" steel cooktop provides a surface for cooking or warming.

An excellent feature of the Conestogo is that the body of the stove is one piece wrap around body which lessens the chance of weld cracks and air leaks. The decorator, wooden handles, and the cast iron doors are outstanding. The unique Conestogo wagon design is cast in three dimensional detail and the wheels of the wagon are spin type draft controls, which provide for maximum control of the fire for all night burning. The sturdy steel decorator legs add more good looks and, when you open the doors for full enjoyment of the fire, the Conestogo is more than a cheerful wood burning friend — it's an all Canadian made Findlay.
