CJHS Students Stop Talking and Start Miming

Drama Classes Take to the Stage

Sally Degener, Lisa Young and Sue Ketvertis - the Image/Illusion of Gaiety.

In a recently concluded two night stand at Clarkston Junior High, drama classes from the school performed a series of mime sketches.

The students, directed by CJHS teacher Jan Gleeson, ran through a wide variety of serious and fanciful routines from "Toy Abuse" to "Gray Liberation".

The high number of students involved, over 90, attests to the eternal popularity of drama in general and, for young people, of mime in particular.

editor's note

This week's Reminder breaks a story on a window peeper that has been bugging residents south of Clarkston Village for quite some time. According to eyewitnesses, the voyeur is a male with long blond hair that disguises himself as a jogger.

At first glance, one might expect this to be a rather innocuous story. But for many of the residents who have sighted the peeping tom it is just the opposite.

In fact one of those residents asked The Reminder not to print the story for fear it might hamper investigative efforts to apprehend the voyeur. We waited a week, but because we feel strongly that our efforts are not counterproductive to the investigation, we've decided to go with the story. Hopefully someone out there reading this note will come forth with information leading to the apprehension of the "peeping tom".

Tim McCormick's Big Ten debut was not what many of his Clarkston fans would have hoped for. At least that's the conclusions of Dawson Bell and Mike Wilcox who covered the game for The Reminder last Saturday.

McCormick and his U of M teammates managed a rather unimpressive victory over a game Eastern Michigan University team. McCormick, who led the Wolfpack all the way to the state semi-finals last year scored two points in twelve minutes of playing. One bright spot however, was that Tim led all players with 3 blocked shots, two of which received applause from the 11,000 partisan U of M fans.

The word is not to get down on Tim, however. One game, especially the first of the season means little. Expect McCormick to get better and better as the season goes on.

Also in this week's Reminder, Section B, our Christmas Catalog contains hundreds of Christmas gift-giving ideas from local stores.

Proud of Bailey Lake Elementary
Parents and Teachers

Dear Editor:

~~The Ice Cream Social and Art Fair was a~~ wonderful night out for all. What a great response. Thank you parents and a special thank you to Carol Richardson, Maxine Harper, Pat Hawkins, Sue Shields, Katy Coss and Walter Eidam.

On another note, I would like to point out the many positive things that are happening at Bailey Lake:

1. The Picture-Lady Program
2. Parent-Volunteer Program
3. A bright and cheerful Media Center
4. A television system complete with an antenna system.
5. Pet Computers - on the way to become a part of our "extra" program.
6. A spacious playground
7. Dedicated teachers and staff
8. A principal who is 100 percent positive in promoting new ideas for our children
9. An active P.T.A.

A Thankful Parent
Erika Eidam

Letters about most any subject are welcome. Be sure to include your name. Send them to the address below.

"Simulating Summer"

This is the time of year when a lot of people start missing the warm days of summer. Some people take off to warmer climates when this happens. The rest of us don't. We stay and suffer.

While we can't actually bring summer back, we can pretend and make the upcoming winter more bearable. Here's how to make believe you're spending the day at the beach when you are actually stuck in the house.

To start with invite 800 of your closest friends over. Cover the floor with sand and garbage, put on lots of baby oil and roll around in the sand. Now you are in the mood to play beach.

Next hide some broken glass in the sand and walk around barefooted until you find it.

To create a lake to go along with the beach just fill your bath tub with ice cold swamp water, throw in a dead fish, a diaper and a beer can. If you prefer a pool just substitute tap water for the swamp water and instead of the fish, diaper and beer can throw in a used band-aid and a clump of hair.

After all this fun you'll probably be hungry for a picnic lunch. First set all the paper plates and napkins in front of an electric fan, turn fan on high and then chase them around the room (watch out for the broken glass!). Make sure the hamburgers are burned to a crisp and the mayonaise has turned bad because after all whats a picnic without a little ptomaine poisoning?

If this isn't enough to get rid of the coldrums try these suggestions:

Lock yourself in the bathroom and turn on the shower. Make sure it's turned all the way to hot. After five minutes start saying "It's not the heat it's the humidity."

Spray your back and legs with water and sit in a leather chair.

Turn your car heater on two hours before you go to work. (Make sure you point the blowers towards the seat.)

Before going to bed turn your electric blanket up to 113 degrees.

After doing all this ask yourself if you really miss summer after all if your answer is yes, try one last trick. Put your bathing suit on and stand in front of a mirror. Still miss summer? I thought not.

Rivera Stars at Music Hall

Chita Rivera, star of three of Broadway's biggest hit musicals, will bring her one-woman show to Detroit's Music Hall for one week, December 2 through 7. Julius Wechter and his gold record-winning group, the Baja Marimba Band, will co-star on this Music Hall Headliner program.

Chita Rivera's most recent Broadway success was the musical who-dunnit, "Chicago," which opened in June, 1977, and ran for over two years. Originally discovered in the chorus of "Call Me Madam," Ms. Rivera first gained Broadway star status as Anita in "West Side Story," and scored again with Dick Van Dyke in "Bye Bye Birdie." Other Broadway credits include "Guys and Dolls," "Can Can," "Mr. Wonderful," "Three Penny Opera" and "Sweet Charity."

Performances for this show are at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday through Friday, at 7 and 10 p.m. Saturday and at 2 and 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets can be obtained at the Music Hall box office or any CTC outlet. Telephone purchases are possible by calling 963-7680.

Clarkston to Decorate Tree

A Clarkston Family Celebration of Christmas will be held Friday, December 5th, 6:00 - 9:00 p.m. At that time the tall pine at the corner of Washington and Main, will be decorated. Cider and doughnuts will also be available. The Clarkston Village Merchants will sponsor the event.

Don Juan at Meadow Brook

Although the Meadow Brook Theatre's production of "Don Juan in Hell" will not open until January 1, 1981, a special preview performance will be presented on New Year's Eve at 8:30 p.m. followed by a gala buffet at Meadow Brook Hall.

"Don Juan in Hell" was a triumph from coast to coast when it was first performed by Charles Laughton's drama quartet. Written originally as a dream sequence for "Man and Superman", it is a full-length entertainment on its own. In the play Don Juan is in hell where he is confronted by a woman he betrayed in life and her father whom he murdered. The Devil himself serves as an urbane moderator between Don Juan and his furious enemies. Shaw imbues this dynamic situation with his customary sardonic wit and deep wisdom.

Theatregoers who wish to enjoy "Don Juan in Hell" and the Meadow Brook Hall buffet following the performance must make reservations by calling 377-3316 before December 6. Patrons who wish to see "Don Juan in Hell" but who do not want to attend the buffet may reserve tickets for the special New Year's Eve preview performance by calling either the box office - 377-3300 or the Community Relations Office, 377-3316.

Bazaar this Weekend

The Youth Mission Department of The Trinity Missionary Baptist Church at 123 Wessen Street, Pontiac will have its first Christmas Bazaar, Bake Shop and Rummage Shop beginning Thursday, December 4, thru Saturday, December 6, from 10 a.m. - 7 p.m. Thursday, and 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday. A light lunch from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Santa will be on hand for pictures. Over 20 tables of hand made craft items, baked goods and attic treasures will be available. The church is located 1 block west off Wide Track Drive or 2 blocks south off Orchard Lake Road, In The New Community Educational Building. The public is invited.

TV Star to Speak

Clarkston Family Living Class will have a Christmas gathering Thursday, December 4th 9:30 a.m. at Drayton Heights Free Methodist Church, Maybee at Winell.

T.V. Personality Pat Larson will be the guest speaker. The topic will be "How to get through Christmas gracefully". There will also be a holiday buffet. Guests are asked to bring a Christmas hors'd overve or sweet treat. Punch and babysitters will be provided. For further information call 625-1088.

Music Festival at Cranbrook

Cranbrook and Kingswood Schools will herald the holiday season with two winter music festivals in the Cranbrook Schools Performing Arts Center December 5 and 12 at 8 p.m.

The musical double header will begin December 5 with, holiday music played by the Cranbrook and Kingswood Middle Schools' orchestra, band and chorus.

On December 12 the upper schools' symphony orchestra and concert bands will intersperse with concert choir, Madrigals, Clarions and chamber singers to produce traditional sounds appealing to every musical taste.

For the second consecutive year, there will be continuous, rotating entertainment on four stages. At the conclusion of one act, lights will be beamed to the next stage where another performance will begin immediately. For more information call 645-3440.

Marionettes at Mall

Marionette shows, a Greens Market and two model railroad train exhibits will highlight holiday activities at The Pontiac Mall Shopping Center.

The animated fantasy of marionettes on strings presented by Bob Brown Marionettes, will offer free daily performances through December 7. Show times are daily at 12, 2, 4 and 7 PM and on Sunday at 12, 1, 4, and 6 pm in the south mall.

Fresh evergreen wreaths, door swags, centerpieces and decorating roping will be sold on December 5 and 6 by Waterford Branch of Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. All proceeds benefit Drayton Plains Nature Center.

The "Train Man", Pontiac resident Fred Gibson, will return to The Pontiac Mall with his historical collection of Lionel "O" Gauge model trains December 9 through 13. Periodic demonstrations will be given throughout each day.

WIDOWS ARE EASY PREY — OR ARE THEY?

Widows must be wary of frauds and schemes. C.O.D. deliveries for clothing, appliances, expensive fishing tackle or "telephone ordered" merchandise and subscriptions are suspect and need not be honored by the widow in most instances.

We have seen published an account of one wise widow who was approached by a publisher's "representative" who wished to include her late husband in a scientists' "Who's Who" book. The text would be $500 and the inclusion of a photo brought it to $750.

The widow agreed to meet with the representative at a certain place, date and time...during office hours at her lawyer's place of business! Having a lawyer expose the fraud neatly saved the widow more than just anxiety and annoyance - it saved her $750!

Professional counselling at law or funeral direction is important to bereaved families. We are pleased to be of service professionally, in our area of expertise. Call or stop by for information before the need arises.

Fuel Oil or Propane?

With a Tetco Heating System, it takes a little electricity and a little water from your well, or lake, and you will heat your entire home with a savings of 77% over oil, 70% over propane, 30% over gas, 73% over electricity and you don't need a chimney, and because you are using water, the Federal & State Government will pay for more than 55% of all costs including installation. For more information, stop by our Rochester store and see our working model.

But when in America, if you're German, do as the Germans—or remain as close to your heritage as possible.

For Clarkston residents, Peter and Karen Ohrnberger and their three children, Christmas would not be Christmas without the customary German way of observing it.

The celebration of Christmas at the Ohrnberger home goes something like this:

The tree is never cut before the 22nd or 23rd of December, depending on the weather.

Karen remembers the Christmas tree of her childhood as if it were today. In Germany, the tradition is to decorate with real candles rather than the artificial lighting that we are so accustomed to, thus making a late cutting an absolute must for safety reasons.

"Only a spruce will do. Because of its shape, the branches never overlap one another," Karen said.

On Christmas Eve, the tree is decorated by the family using intricately designed ornaments made by Karen herself; ornaments made of real straw gathered during the summer months and then, through a very tedious process, woven into tree ornaments.

Karen combines a German design with a Swedist accent and comes up with a very unique looking ornament.

"The tree has to be seen rather than hidden," says Karen. This is the reason for the limited amount of ornaments and gold tinsel which adds the finishing touch to the spruce.

When the Ohrnberger children were younger, the tree was off limits for them until Karen and Peter were through decorating, hence upon the ringing of a small bell, the children would come running, full of joy and anticipation.

After some family admiration, the oldest member of the family reads from the Bible in the German language.

Following this, the family sings their favorite German Christmas carols. Then comes the opening of the gifts.

There was a time when several other traditions were practiced to some extent at the Ohrnberger home.

For instance, on the evening of the 5th of December, St. Nicholas Day, the children put a pair of their polished shoes on the window sill in hopes of finding a treat the next morning. If, instead of a treat a piece of coal was found, the children knew he or she had not been good throughout the year.

Another German custom is to cut a few wisps of a spruce tree and display it as a symbol of a whipping switch in case anyone

Clarkston Girls to Perform with Academy Singers

The Academy Singers, from the Academy of Popular Vocal Arts, will be celebrating the holiday season in song and dance at their Third Annual Christmas Concert at Oakland University's Varner Hall on Monday, December 15, 7:30 P.M. Tickets can be obtained by calling 666-3037, or from an Academy member. Tickets will also be available at the door.

The Academy Of Popular Vocal Arts is a continuous high school workshop situation, designed to present unique opportunities for young singers to participate in professional and learning experiences, that will encourage and instruct them in becoming professional singers, entertainers, educators or members of the music industry. This year's traveling group features twenty-four singers and dancers who represent ten different communities. Four of these young people are from Clarkston. They are: Sandy Bullen, Ann Dutton, Molly McGuire, Stacy Nichols

Students of The Academy Of Popular Vocal Arts have recorded three albums and have performed numerous concerts throughout the United States. They most recently appeared in performance at the 1980 Eastern Division ACDA Convention in New York City.

Peeping Tom Worries Area Residents

by Dawson Bell

As a general rule, experts and enthusiasts agree, running is a healthy activity that promotes a sound body and a temperate mind. But for one area jogger, who has been doubling as a peeping tom, exercise is likely to lead to nothing but trouble.

According to residents of neighborhoods south of the Village of Clarkston, for more than two years a tall, blond jogger has been taking his rest stops at their windowsills.

At first, the intrusion was only a nuisance. But recently, as the frequency of the visits and the brazenness of the intrusions have increased, residents have become alarmed.

They have begun to feel that, while occasional incidents are a nuisance, persistent assaults on their privacy are a menace.

At the same time they are frustrated by their inability to catch or control the athletic voyeur.

The disguise, in a neighborhood which has its share of casual joggers, is effective.

Some of the residents suspect they have passed the sweat suit clad intruder on the street; but one can't hardly call the police on that account.

Others say they have spotted him in action and given chase, only to find that, although it may not be his primary passion, the man is clearly a runner.

One thing that is especially aggravating for the neighborhood residents is the audacity their "tom" exhibits. He has been known to borrow a milk can from one home to use to improve a vantage point at another.

Finally deciding that enough was enough, the homeowners recently met with the intention of working out some solution to the problem.

Unfortunately, as they were told by an Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy in attendance, there's not a lot anyone can do about a peeping tom.

According to Deputy Tom Quisenberry,

STORE HOURS: Daily 9 to 9, Sunday 10 to 2

"Legally all we're talking about is a 90-day misdemeanor...and that's if we catch him in the act."

With that end in mind, the Sheriff's Department did dispatch an intelligence unit to patrol the area. They worked undercover for a week; but they too came up empty-handed.

What happens next is anybody's guess. Police and residents alike are worried that what is now an annoyance and an indignity may turn into something worse.

Residents are fearful that, at some point, the thrill of observation will wear off and be channeled into other, less innocent, directions.

Another Oakland County Sheriff's Deputy, Jim Snover, stressed the "usual" non-violence of the voyeuristic criminal.

And he was apprehensive about the possibility of the non-violent act provoking a violent reaction.

"I don't want to get this guy shot," said Snover. "He obviously needs help."

A few of the residents of the area, however, aren't reassured.

One of those said, "We don't know he's non-violent. Nobody ever catches a peeping tom so we don't know very much about them."

Both Sheriff's Deputies said they cautioned the residents against extreme measures.

"Unless an intruder attempts to do harm they don't have the legal right to shoot somebody," Quisenberry said.

Neither deputy seemed optimistic about the chances of apprehending anyone. They say they will continue surveillance by the regular sheriff's units and hope that their luck will improve.

In the meantime, legitimate joggers out for an evening jaunt in neighborhoods south of town would be well advised not to take any backyard shortcuts.

Any information about the window peeper should be relayed to the Oakland County Sheriff at 625-8391 or 858-5000.

Keen Wins at Rabbit Nationals

During the week of November 10-13 the Ronald Keen family of Davisburg, traveled to Milwaukee, Wisconsin for the National Rabbit Breeders Association Convention. Ronald Keen II is a member of the Davisburg Busy Bee 4-H Rabbit Club, Michigan Rabbit Breeders and the National Rabbit Breeders Association Youth Division. Ron took eight rabbits to the Convention and placed no lower than 3rd. He brought home a National Best of Breed trophy and 4 1st place class ribbons for his Standard Chinchillas, 2nd place ribbons for Tans, a 1st place trophy for best Himmie Dwarf and 4 1st place best AOV trophy for his Himmie Dwarf doe. His Himmie buck took a 3rd place ribbon. 860 rabbits were shown in the youth (9-18) division while 4,800 were shown in the adult division.

Ron also participates in the Rabbit Royalty Classes for Youth. Ron was runner up in the Rabbit Prince (9-11 Yr. olds) Contest. The contest consists of 3 sections; a written exam, rabbit showmanship and oral interviews by a panel of judges.

Downs Wins Ham Contest

Ms. Joan Downs, 17090 Kropf Avenue, Davisburg, has parlayed her creative and culinary skills into a winning entry in the recent "Decorate a Polish Ham" contest.

Her design for decorating a ham was selected from more than a thousand entries in the national competition for a third prize. She will receive an electric carving knife from Krfakus, Atlanta and Polka brands of imported Polish hams, sponsors of the contest.

Additionally, she has been presented with an Award of Excellence "in recognition of outstanding artistry and skill" by the Polish Ham Council.

This Week:
Kinetic Systems

Energy Store Changes Name, Adds Bicycle Inventory

A lot of changes are taking place in what used to be called the Energy Station, a relatively new wood heater retail outlet located on Dixie Highway across from Oakhill Estates Mobile Home Park.

One of the most important changes, was the new name. Managers Louise Kasl and Jeff Nofzt are now calling the store Kinetic Systems. The old name, Energy Station, "didn't really pertain to what we're doing," said Ms. Kasl.

Thus they chose Kinetic, which is a principal in physics that deals with motion and energy. Kasl and Nofzt figured the new name was appropriate because the store will now be marketing bicycles as well as wood and coal heaters.

In explaining why they chose to retail bicycles in the same shop that they market heaters, Nofzt said, "Louise and I are nuts about bicycles. We have done extensive touring. It's really a personal love."

The store is currently undergoing major remodeling efforts in anticipation of the bicycle shipments. Two of the brands they expect to sell a lot of are Austro-Daimler, which is manufactured by Mercedes-Benz and Dawes, which are handcrafted touring bikes.

Along with the bicycles, the store will carry all the basic accessories including clothing, packs, helmets, tools and books on bicycling.

"We are also in the process of building our repair shop," added Ms. Kasl. "We expect to be open by January for tuneups and by spring for all types of repair."

Although bicycles may be foremost on their minds right now, Kasl and Nofzt aren't overlooking the other aspect of their business. Ms. Kasl has been involved in the wood heating business long before it became popular and could certainly be considered an expert in the field.

Presently they stock Shenandoah and Super Heat wood and coal stoves, quartz electric heaters and space heaters. They are also hoping to generate interest in solar and wind generation systems. Ms. Kasl claims although these systems are somewhat expensive, the government is offering huge rebates for homeowners who decide to install them.

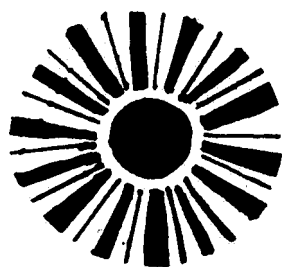

Like the bicycle inventory, their heating accessories are extensive including a substantial parts department.

Ms. Kasl stressed, "Service is our main interest."

"I want this to be a place where people can come in and talk and feel comfortable—almost like an information center," said Ms. Kasl. "We will have information on wind generating systems, bicycles, bicycles tours, etc. We really want to help."

Clarkston Hills to Celebrate Grand Opening

So the prime rate is back up around seven-teen percent again. So the loan officer at your bank said not to call again until you can come up with thirty percent down. So what?

So you need "creative financing" says Jean Bridson, of Clarkston Hills Real Estate.

"We know there are buyers out there," says Bridson, co-owner and broker at Clarkston's newest real estate firm, "but in these times you need to have the background and know how to work out a financing plan."

Bridson obviously feels that she and her staff at Clarkston Hills have that kind of experience.

"We can arrange for buyer assumptions of previous mortgages, land contracts, 'wraps' (an arrangement whereby the seller re-mortgages for the buyer), exchanges--there are a lot of different ways to go."

No question, Jean Bridson and partner, Jack Banycky, believe in what they are doing. Clarkston Hills opened October 8 as a full blown, ready for business operation. Bridson, along with Sales Manager Linda Sutton, Development Sales Manager, Kevin Banycky and Advertising Manager Judy Rosenberger, supervise a staff of twelve.

Their offices, housed in what was formerly a hydro-plane construction facility at the corner of M-15 and Cranberry Lake Road, have been completely remodeled. And, with area builder Bob Elmy of New Image Homes sharing space, Clarkston Hills has become almost overnight a one-stop home building, buying and financing center.

"We think of ourselves as 'professional real-estate counselors', the kind of highly skilled, trained people who can make the right deal for every customer."

Clarkston Hills has a grand opening scheduled for December 5th.

More Bad News for Clarkston School Board

The bad news kept pouring out of Lansing last week as a lame duck legislature tried to put together a budget based on a lot of bills and little income. One of the areas hardest hit by proposed cutbacks is education. With the passage of a budget imminent it appeared that cuts of up to thirty percent might be forthcoming in state aid to schools.

Milford Mason, superintendent of Clarkston Schools, said that "while I haven't received the final figures yet, it looks like we'll get less than we anticipated."

"Most of the cuts are, I think, going to come in the areas of transportation and special education."

"We'll probably be able to run this year pretty much as we planned, without program or teacher cuts. But what happens after that--

Diana Walls Attains GRI Status

Walls Real Estate announces that Diana Walls has now attained the Degree of Graduate of the Realtors Institute. The G.R.I. designation is only granted to those people in the Real Estate Profession who have worked to achieve the Graduate Status by successfully completing all the educational requirements.

Diana is the wife of Collin Walls, Supervisor of Springfield Township. They reside in the village of Davisburg along with their two children, Norris and Heather. Diana is active in the Rotary Anns, the Springfield Township Historical Society and frequently is Chair person of many of the Community projects in the area in addition to her many responsibilities at Walls Real Estate.

I don't know."

Mason is also worried about rumors of another state aid cut forthcoming in January.

Even before this most recent blow, the financial picture for the district was not rosy. The School Board had only in October approved a budget deficit in excess of $650,000 for the 1980-81 school year.

Racquet Club Expands Again

The economy may not be expanding at a generally favorable rate in greater Oakland County, but you could never tell by driving past Forrest Milzow's Deer Lake Racquet Club on White Lake Road, in Clarkston.

Deer Lake Racquet Club is making another major addition, the construction of a banquet room, conference facilities and new outdoor tennis courts. That makes the second time in a little over five years of existence that the club has expanded significantly from its original Back Court restaurant/bar and three indoor tennis courts layout.

The banquet hall is to be large enough for a party of 300 and will extend along the north side of the present building. The outdoor courts will be moved to a new location to accommodate the extra parking needed for the changes.

Back Court manager, Dan Hallman, says that it will now be possible for businessmen "to stop by for lunch, hold a meeting, play tennis and take a sauna, and then stick around for dinner if they feel like it."

The target date for completion of the project is January, 1981.

New Podiatrist Opens Office in Clarkston

The Clarkston area medical corps continues to grow. Most recently with the addition of Dr. Harvey Rose, podiatrist, with offices in the Clarkston Pharmacy Building, 5980 South Main.

Dr. Rose specializes in the treatment of feet and ankles, including surgery. In the past he has acted as sports physician, working with basketball and running related injuries.

Dr. Rose formerly practiced in Warren and in California. He makes his home in Southfield.

Scores 2 in Debut Basketball in the Big 10 -- Big Adjustment for McCormick

Well it's winter basketball time again. For the first time in three years the Wolves of Clarkston High School will be without "the big man in the middle". And for the first time in recent memory the Wolverines of the University of Michigan won't have to go without.

It's a sort of new beginning at both schools because of the departure and arrival of one 6'10" powerhouse of basketball talent, Tim McCormick.

After leading the Wolves into last year's state semi-finals, Tim has moved into the rarified atmosphere of the Big Ten.

Although most fans in the area are probably pleased to think that for another four years they will be able to follow at relatively close hand the big man's progress, there has to be some regret mixed in too over the loss of Clarkston's own two-handed slam gold mine.

It would take a charter membership in the optimists club to believe that the vacancy created by his graduation can be readily filled.

But you won't find too many mourners in Ann Arbor, where year after year the Wolverines have struggled to take on the most powerful college basketball teams in the country without the benefit of a real, bonafide center.

U of M coach, Bill Frieder, obviously feels that Tim McCormick can answer that need. Even after a rather disappointing first outing on Saturday against Eastern Michigan, Frieder said he was still looking to McCormick to control the action around the basket.

In twelve minutes on the floor Saturday, Tim accounted for only two points. That on a hook shot in the third quarter.

But Frieder was quick to dispell any notions that he lacks confidence in McCormick's potential.

"Tim missed a lot of shots inside that I think he'll make later on," said Frieder.

"He didn't play as much as I wanted him to play. Overall, we didn't play well and it was kinda close in the second half so I decided to go with experience."

The Wolverines were definitely not into their game against the Hurons. Mike McGee, who one would almost expect to lead the conference if not the country in scoring this year, was held to twelve mostly second half points.

And Eastern, who had two juniors (Jeff Zatcoff and Jack Brusewitz) playing aggressively inside, managed to disrupt most of Michigan's game in the lane, while scoring 37 points between them.

But Tim did make his presence felt on occasion. He led both teams with three blocked shots. And there was every indication that, when he once becomes comfortable with the physical college game, he will be able to contribute offensively as well.

McCormick himself seemed relatively unfazed by his rude initiation.

"It was like any other game," he said, "once you're out there and the adrenalin starts flowing you don't have time to be nervous."

"I was pleased with the way I played against Windsor (in the Wolverine's first scrimmage), but today I didn't play up to my ability."

To be sure, Tim has a long way to go. And it's not going to get any easier. By the end of this week Michigan will have faced both Arkansas and Kansas.

It goes without saying that that is a long way from West Bloomfield and Milford. Nor does it get any easier when the Wolverines get into Big Ten play. Herb Williams of Ohio State is no slouch, ditto for Michigan State's All American, Jay Vincent. If Tim is to hold his own against that kind of talent he is going to have to learn to do some of the things that come with the territory, like using that angular 230 lb. frame to close off the lane and take the ball up and over anyone who attempts to get in the way.

But Coach Frieder has said all along that he expects his freshman to make freshman mistakes and that no one should expect too much too soon.

Nevertheless, at the press conference following the narrow victory over Eastern, which was also Frieder's first as a head coach, he said of McCormick, "We didn't have much of an inside game today. And he's the guy whose gotta help us get those baskets."

Meanwhile Clarkston will be watching, somewhat wistfully, and with interest.

McCormick looks to pass inside to Thad Garner.

His only attempt at the charity line was a miss.

Where They Are Now

All Books and No Basketball

If you're wondering what happened to the rest of that fairy tale, "white kids from the suburbs" dream team of a year ago: John Sheldon is going to Oakland University and working part-time with a contractor. John considered trying out for the team at OU but opted for intra-murals instead.

Likewise, Larry Bayliss, Clarkston's secret weapon last year, who is taking pre-med at Oakland and says, "Sure, I miss it a lot--it (last season) comes up all the time. But I'm just concentrating on school."

Ed Haddad considered some partial scholarship offers from a few small schools, but ended up at Central Michigan instead.

"They just couldn't offer me enough money to make it financially possible," he said.

"It's really strange (not playing). I never thought I would miss practicing, but I do!"

Not playing basketball, but with an eye on a spot on Eastern Michigan's pitching staff is Chuck Nicolai. Chuck provided that scoring power off the bench for the Wolves last year. But he too, decided to leave the college basketball to McCormick.

Two other starters from the state's number one ranked high school team are back in uniform at Clarkston. Coach Gary Nustad thinks more may have been left behind than a lot of people think.

McKoin, Lane Return from Semi-Final Team

Basketball Team Hopes to Create New Tradition

One man who obviously can't afford to spend too much time in reflection over past achievements is Coach Nustad, now in his fifth year at Clarkston.

Many felt that Nustad would ride the wave of attention surrounding McCormick right out of town. And he admits that he did entertain a few offers. But now he says, "I'm not really looking to go anywhere. I love to teach and I'm kind of settled here."

So what does the season after the season to end all seasons hold for CHS? According to Nustad, lots.

And it starts Friday with a non-league opponent Davison. Playing last year's semi-finalists doesn't mean anything to them--except perhaps a little extra incentive to beat the McCormickless Wolves.

As far as Nustad is concerned, last year's not very important to his team either.

"This is a whole new group. They set their own goals."

Reflecting that philosophy the Wolves have adopted a new motto--We're not resting on tradition, we're creating one.

Even so, Nustad can't deny that much of what makes this team a contender is their ties to the past.

The biggest tie is 6'5" Scott McKoin, who is expected to pick up much of the scoring slack left by the departed McCormick. Along with teammate, Greg Lane, another returning starter, and 6'6" sophomore Ray Kubani, Clarkston will field another tall and strong front line.

Nustad says that in some ways this is the "deepest" team he has ever put together at the school.

"In the past," he says, "I've always had five guys that had to start. This year I have at least six and probably seven or eight kids who will play a lot."

Along with McKoin, Lane and Kubani, Nustad intends to play Greg Schnabel, 6'2" senior, at forward. Further depth will be added by swing man Brad Sheldon (brother of last year's point guard John) at guard and forward.

Taking over the point will be senior Ric

Scott McKoin, at left, will be expected to carry a good share of the scoring load.

Cormick until the end of his junior year. But we have our own goals and we'll do it for ourselves if we have to."

Nustad thinks that fans will be missing a good bet, however, if they don't turn out. He said the league will be very tough this year and gunning for Clarkston.

"We'll probably see a lot of pressing, man-to-man defense and I think (the fans) will see lower scoring, more exciting games."

"Last year doesn't mean anything to us now except in a couple of ways. These kids learned that it takes teamwork to be successful and that no one gives you anything; you have to have the will to win."

Sashabaw Encores Participate in Choir Festival

The Sashabaw Encores participated in the Northern Region Jazz-Show Choir Festival at Macomb Community College in Warren on Saturday, November 22.

They were one of fifteen ensembles - primarily from the high school level - who traveled from Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan to perform a twelve-minute show for a panel of five judges.

The judges this year included Fritz Mountford of the Fred Waring Show; Steve Zegree, director of Western Michigan University's "Gold Company";

"Children of the Lion" Novel About Old Testament

Weaving together myth, legend and impressively researched historical fact, Lyle Kenyon Engel has produced the first in a new series of novels that he says is, "in narrative drive and scope, and background historical scholarship, the most ambitious we've ever done." Written by Peter Danielson, Children of The Lion is an epic novel drawn from the characters and legacies of the Old Testament. An Alternative Selection of the Doubleday Book Club, it will be published for the first time in paperback by Bantam on December 1st. Children Of The Lion tells the story of a family whose destiny is determined by the sign of the lion. Among the characters whose novel are:

Abram. Most believed him mad. But no one could stop him from following his dream to lead his people to their Promised Land.
Hagar. A beautiful young slave on the verge of freedom only to be sold into worse bondage.
Ahuni. Torn from his family as a child, beaten and mistreated by his owners, he trains to become a highly skilled weapon-maker. His salvation will be his birthmark--the imprint of the lion's paw.

Shepset. A tiny slave girl, slim as a reed, her innocence is stolen by Abram's vicious nephew, Lot.
Sneferu. A mercenary soldier who comes to teach the arts of combat to Abram's people only to fall in love and find his thoughts turning from war to marriage and family. These characters, caught in the struggle between two empires, come to flee the fiery destruction of Sodom and to defeat the Canaanites, only to face further struggles for liberation.

Lynn Sommers

Who's Who for Second Year

Lynn Daneen Sommers, 1980 Clarkston High School graduate, has received a Second Year Award in recognition for the unique distinction of having been selected for Who's Who Among American High School Students for the second consecutive year. She is included in the 14th annual edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1979-1980. "Who's Who", published by Educational Communications Inc., Northbrook, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition program in the country. Students are selected on the basis of criteria including high achievement in academics, leadership in school activities, athletics or community service.

Lynn has also received a commemorative award trophy and is recognized in the 1980 International Youth in Achievement, published jointly by the International Biographical Center (IBC) Cambridge, England and the American Biographical Institute (ABI) Raleigh, North Carolina.

Lynn is the daughter of Glenn and Zona Sommers of Davisburg, now a freshman at Oakland University.

Miss Detroit Auto Show Applicants Sought

Chairman of the 1981 Detroit Auto Show, R.F. "Buff" Whelan, announced that applications for the 1981 "Miss Detroit Auto Show" contest are being accepted through December 5.

Winner of the contest will be selected in final judging held on WJBK-TV 2's "Morning Magazine" television show, hosted by Kathy O'Brien and Gary Cubberly the first week in January.

To enter, applications are available from the Detroit Auto Dealers Association, 3290 West Big Beaver, Suite 126, in Troy or from the Detroit Auto Show publicist, Market Response Group, Inc., of Troy, by calling 649-6780.

There is no entry fee.

The 1981 Detroit Auto Show is at Cobo Hall, January 10-18. It has been sponsored by the Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA) since 1908.

The auto show chairman explained the eligibility requirements. A contestant must be:

--18 years of age or older
--full time resident of Michigan

--not under contract as a model or narrator for the 1981 Detroit Auto Show.

--not employed by DADA or Market Response Group.

--available, if selected as the winner, to perform public relations appearances for the show.

Completed application forms must be signed by entrants and accompanied by a 5 X 7 full length recent (six months or less) photo which cannot be returned, then mailed to Market Response Group and postmarked no later than December 5, 1980.

The winner will receive a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

A Kero-Sun Portable Heater

The Gift for Times
Like These

All it takes is a woman's touch to make a room feel warm.

The Radiant 10 is convenient and easy to operate—just press a lever and it's on. It has a clean, modern look that fits any decor. Running up to 37 hours on 1.92 gallons of kerosene, it fills easily with the handy siphon pump that comes with every model. With a Kero-Sun Portable Heater like this U.L. listed Radiant 10 model, you can leave your thermostat turned low and save money in the months ahead.

99.9% fuel efficiency means odorless, smokeless operation. And it needs no chimney. Battery powered ignition system and automatic shut-off device for extra safety. 9 models to choose from. See a demonstration today.
